The sudden and alarming increase in the number of small-pox cases reported in New York City, has caused the board of health to take steps looking to an increase of the facilities for the treatment of cases of infectious diseases. There are now over 60 cases there, many of them in temporary structures, and the authorities are alarmed at the increase, since the cases reported last year averaged only one a month.

NATIONAL CAPITAL NEWS.

A High-Toned Colloquy Between Butler, of S. C., and Conkling.

Mr. Reagan Failed to Have the River and Harbor Bill Passed Under Suspension of the Rules, Etc.

Senate.

Washington, February 7.—Cameron, of Pennsylvania, presented a remonstrance from the association of National banks of Eastern Pennsylvania against the passage of the house funding bill.

Lamar, from the judiciary committee, reported favorably, with amendments, making it operative after May first, 1881, the house bill to change the time for holding U. S. circuit and district courts for the western district of Virginia, held at Danville. Passed.

On motion of Morgan, Senators Hamlin and Thurman were appointed tellers for the senators in the electoral count meeting.

Butler, of South Carolina, spoke at considerable length on alleged census frauds in South Carolina, and criticised severely the speeches made by certain stump orators, understood to be Conkling, in New York, during the late presidential campaign, in which that stump orator insulted and vilified the people of South Carolina, accused them of conspiracy to fraudulently increase the enumeration in order to obtain greater political power. The falsity and vagueness of the accusations, Butler said, were shown by the results of the recent enumeration under direction of Gen. Walker, who was a republican and also a gentleman. At the conclusion of Butler's remarks, Conkling said he was informed from the little he heard of the gentleman's speech, that it was designed as an attack on himself, and he had only to say that the vaporing of the senator from South Carolina gave him little concern. If he had done injustice to the people of South Carolina he would find seasonable occasion to correct it.

Butler—The senator has said the vaporings of the senator from South Carolina are matters of no concern to him. He will pardon me for saying that his swaggering insolence is of no consequence.

Conkling—I do not need to have heard the senator in order to ascertain that he is a person with whom I do not choose to bandy epithets here or elsewhere, least of all here; therefore I have nothing to add to that which I have before said.

The colloquy here ended and the subject was dropped.

The senate then resumed consideration of the pension appropriation bill, the question being on the amendment reported by Withers from the pensions committee for local pension courts.

The senate decided without division that the amendment was not in order and ruled it out.

Mr. Plumb moved an amendment appropriating $20,000 to provide pensions for the adjutant general's and surgeon general's office, to render effective the work of said examinations. Without action on this amendment the senate adjourned.

House.

Washington, February 7.—After personal explanations by Speer and Hammond, of Georgia, relative to some remarks by the latter on Saturday, the speaker proceeded to call states for bills, etc.

At the conclusion of the call of the states, the speaker announced the appointment of Crowley, of New York, as teller on the part of the house to make tests of the vote declared for president and vice-president on Wednesday next.

Among the bills introduced and referred under call of states, were the following:

By Robeson, of New Jersey: expressing sympathy with the Boers of the Transvaal in their endeavors to regain their independence.

By Gillett, of Iowa: expressong sympathy with the Irish people.

McLane, of Indiana, asked and obtained consent to present for printing and reference to the committee on Pacific railways, the report from the auditor of railroad affairs, prepared in compliance to his request made on the 18th of last June.

Aiken of South Carolina, moved to suspend the rules and pass the bill making the agricultural department an executive department.

The house, however, refused to suspend the rules for this purpose.

On motion of Frye, of Maine, the rules were suspended and the senate bill was passed amending the laws relative to seizure and forfeiture of vessels for breach of revenue laws.

Reagan, of Texas, moved to suspend the rules and pass the river and harbor appropriation bill.

The question was raised whether Reagan, in his official capacity, has the right to ask suspension of the rules on this bill.

The speaker decided that he had.

The demand for suspension of the rules was then seconded by 122 to 75.

Cox spoke in opposition to the bill, charging that more than half of the eleven million dollars appropriated by it was given to states represented by members of the commerce committee who reported it. He said he was opposed to national appropriations for improvement of every little creek in the country.

Reagan closed the debate in a five minutes' speech, in which he asserted that the bill appropriated less than 40 per cent. of the estimates. Referring to Cox's remark that states represented on the commerce committee had obtained a large portion of the appropriation, he called attention to the fact that fifteen states were represented on that committee, and that those states were the ones in which the largest rivers and harbors were situated.

The motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill was then rejected by yeas 180, nays, 86, not the necessary two-thirds in the affirmative.

Whitehall, of Tennessee, introduced a bill appropriating $175,000 to be expended by the navy department for the purpose of prosecuting search for the Jeannette. Referred.

The house then adjourned.

IRISH-AMERICANS

Enthusiastic Land League Meetings—Stirring Address by Rev Father Mackey.

New York, February 7.—The land league excitement was high in Brooklyn this evening. The fourteenth ward branch league held a large meeting at Hancock hall. The meeting was addressed by Rev Father Mackey, Catholic priest, who has lately arrived from Ireland. He said he was glad to find that Parnell, Dillon, Davitt and all other Irish representatives in parliament have acted nobly and well. When Davitt was arrested they stood up like men and gave representatives of the English government to understand that they were not only representatives of the Irish nation, but they were heard and soul Irishmen—the Irish never will go back on men. Mackey declared the Irish will never submit to coercion, and they will yet secure national independence—if Mr. Gladstone was wise, he would yield in time. Mackey further said they were driven, and to use Peter Cooper's words, "they might as well die fighting as die starving."

The applause and excitement that followed this remark was so great the speaker was forced to pause.

The thirteenth ward league held a meeting and appointed a committee, which reported a resolution denouncing the arrest of Davitt by the British government as an act of vindictive tyranny, deserving the execration of the civilized world.

Fire Record.

St. Louis, February 7.—The extensive wholesale house of the Greeley, Burnham Grocery Co., on the southeast corner of Second street and Christy Avenue, caught fire last night, and within fifteen minutes the building was totally destroyed. The fire extended to the large candy factory of Peckham & Co., which was also totally destroyed, and the paint and oil store of Leon Blocker, adjoining the store, badly damaged. The south of the Greeley, Burnham house were saved. The estimated loss on stock of the Greeley, Burnham Co., was raised at $250,000, and insured for $190,000. The building, which was entirely new and had been occupied only about a month, cost $6,000; insured for $15,000. It was owned by Carlos S. Greeley. Sole & Co. estimate their loss at $60,000; Long & Hall had about $15,000 worth of coffee, rice, molasses, etc., in storage; insurance not known; Bausch's loss will not be large. The fire was caused by the falling of a platform erected about midway between the ceiling and the floor of the shipping room, in the rear of the building, upon which were piled about a thousand cases of matches. These ignited, when they fell, and in two minutes the whole building was in flames.

Safe Blowers—A Bad Job.

New Orleans, February 5.—At 11:15 to-night an explosion occurred in the front portion of E. C. Palmer and Co.'s paper and printers' warehouse, 93 and 95 Camp street, blowing fragments of the window entirely across the street and setting fire to the building. The cause of the explosion and extent of the damage is unknown. It is apparently the work of inexperienced burglars, as the safe doors were open. The concussion was so great that it completely wrecked the front windows on the second floor and opened all the doors of the building, shattering glass and splinters of wood work. A number of windows across the street were also badly broken. The place was at first thought to be on fire, but the damage resulted from it. The alarm created by the explosion probably prevented the burglars getting anything.

FROM GALVESTON

Heavy Gale on the Island City—Total Wreck of the British Ship Adriance—Crew Saved.

Together with a Batch of Miscellaneous Criminalities.

Special Dispatch to the DAILY EXPRESS.

Galveston, February 7—During the prevalence of a strong easterly gale and heavy sea Saturday evening, the British ship Adriance, lying in the outer roads, parted her second cable and dragged the first, drifting upon the bar, knocking away the rudder and otherwise brewing a disaster. She laid on the bar at the mercy of the waves, with decks above water, until yesterday morning, when tug Evilie went to her assistance, taking off the crew, mate and other officers, refusing to leave the ship until all hopes of saving her were gone. The heavy seas that surged and broke over her soon settled her in the yielding sand, and it was thought that by this evening she would be entirely submerged. The Adriance belonged to F. F. & G. W. Roberts, Liverpool, for which point she was loading and will prove a total loss. She was staunchly built, of 1,305 tons burthen, had a capacity for 4,700 bales of cotton, and at the time of the disaster had on board 2,906 bales, most of which will be recovered in a damaged condition. The cotton was all consigned to one firm at Liverpool, and was insured with Tyler & Pierce, of this city, in English companies. Nothing was saved except a portion of the luggage of the crew, Captain Wats and other officers losing all their baggage and personal effects, Captain Spry, the commander, being the heaviest loser, saving absolutely nothing. He estimates his loss on personal effects at $1,000. Captain Spry and surveyors went out to the wreck this morning, but were unable to get alongside, the sea being too rough. The Adriance had been at anchor in the outer roads two months, receiving cargo, and was about half loaded when she foundered. She was consigned to Messrs. Walthew & Co.

The wreck, Saturday night, of a train on the Central, by which a number of members of the Strakosch opera troupe were passengers, excited the gravest alarm for their safety, and the city yesterday was filled with the wildest rumors. To-day's dispatches dispelled them and universal satisfaction prevails that casualties are less grave than first reported.

Rogers who knocked Kelve Fille senseless with a brick about a week ago, had a preliminary examination to-day before the recorder, and was discharged, the evidence showing it was done in self-defense.

William Ross, a mulatto thief, was arrested to-day for pilfering coal, and sent to jail in default of bail of $250 for appearance at the next term of the criminal court.

Nothing of importance transpired in the courts to-day.

Last night, about 2 a. m., an effort was made by burglars to enter the residence of Hon. M. Kopperl, corner Twenty-fourth and Broadway, but were frightened off by being fired at by the housemaid. The house was immediately surrounded by police, but the cracksmen eluded them through the darkness then prevailing. The police are sharply on the alert, and are quiet and reticent.

A Boomerang.

Philadelphia, February 7.—In October last a criminal prosecution for libel was instituted by Thos. Lawson against Chas. E. Smith, editor of the Philadelphia Press, for publishing a statement that at the democratic parade, in Oxford, Lawson had exhibited a rebel flag. He was brought to trial at West Chester Friday. After examining many witnesses the case was given to the jury on Saturday. The defence rested on the truth of publication and absence of malice. The jury rendered a verdict in favor of Mr. Smith, the prosecutor to pay all costs.

A Busted Lottery Concern.

Louisville, February 7.—The owners of the franchise of the Frankfort school funds lottery announced that their drawing has been suspended and will not be again resumed. It is understood that lottery vendors are still selling tickets of the concern, which are now utterly worthless.

FROM HOUSTON.

Train Accident on the Central R. R.—A Badly Bruised Opera Troupe—Fire—Col. Owen Brown Drowned.

Special Dispatch to the DAILY EXPRESS.

Houston, February 7.—Seven members of the Strakosch-Hess opera troupe, injured in the accident at Cedar Creek, on the Central railroad, Saturday night, are here in the hospital, under care of Drs. Stuart and Larendon. Three are ladies, Miss Rose Marion, Miss Delano and Miss Hubesch. The last named had her nose cut across and badly injured. Miss Rose was cut in the side by a piece of glass. Your correspondent interviewed them this evening. Miss Marion said, when the accident occurred, she and some of the troupe were singing, "Nearer my God to Thee," when she felt the car going over. She thought her last hour had come. Miss Delano was knocked senseless. Mr. Laronge says that when the car fell over the embankment, he knocked a glass out of the window, thinking the engine would set fire to the wreck. Failing to get out through the window, he rushed for the door and grabbed one of the ladies of the troupe, who refused to go, saying she must get her baggage. The following is a list of the Strakosch-Hess troupe injured and now at the hospital here: Miss Rose Marion, cut in the side; Miss Agnes Delano, cut about the face and head; Mrs. Hubesch, cut about the head and face, nose bone broken; James Laronge, right hand cut; Louis Toby, cut about the head and face; Col. Jasper, same; Otto Schukardt, same; besides these there were J. W. Middlebrook, assistant superintendent of the penitentiary, slightly injured; conductor Littage, badly bruised; Charles Mansbooh, resident of Houston, finger broken, and half a dozen other names not ascertained. None are seriously hurt, and nobody killed. The train was running slowly, and a washout was the cause.

Guzelmann's barrel factory burned here this morning. Loss, two thousand dollars; insured for one thousand dollars.

A Post special from Navasota says Col. Owen Brown was drowned while attempting to cross a swollen creek.

FROM DALLAS.

Railroad Extension—Stabbing Affray—Probable Suicide.

The Damaged Opera Troupe Will Sue for Big Money.

Special Dispatch to the DAILY EXPRESS.

The information received here of the probable extension of the St. Louis and San Francisco road to Paris, Texas, and thence to Dallas, was the subject of much interest on 'change to-day, and the project meets with hearty approval.

At Plano, late Saturday night, J. C. Kenly, a saloon keeper, and a relative of Otis Kenley, the young highway robber shot and killed here in this city recently, had an altercation with J. M. Wilcox, Esq., ex-county judge, and stabbed him in the left side, the knife penetrating the lung, and inflicting a severe wound. Wilcox deals in lumber and sold Kenley a bill on credit. Unable to collect the claim, it was put in the hands of a lawyer, who attached Kenley's property. Kenley got drunk over the affair and attacked Wilcox on the street with the above result. There was great excitement at Plano over the affair. Friends of Wilcox threatened to lynch Kenley, had Wilcox died.

W. B. Dockstaden, aged 45 years, originally from New York, but recently employed on the T. & P. R. R. took poison at a hotel here to-day, supposed to be laudanum, with suicidal intent, and at last accounts was thought to be dying. He was a sufferer from hernia, which he gives in a letter as the cause.

The Strackosch Hess opera company passed north this afternoon, en route to Kansas City. Seven of the troupe are now in the Central railroad infirmary at Houston, wounded by the wreck on that road near Hempstead Saturday night. Mr. Strakosch says he intends to put the Central through to the fullest extent, to use his own language, meaning thereby that he will sue for heavy damages. Maria Rose is the most seriously wounded of the unfortunate members. The miserable condition of the Central track from one end to the other, the length of time it has been in that condition, and the apparent indifference of the management to this state of affairs, is severely condemned by the traveling public. It is claimed that travel is absolutely dangerous.

WIND AND WATER

Great Damage to New Orleans and Vicinity by the Recent Storm—Part of City Submerged—Tracks Torn up and Houses Blown Down—Crevasses, Etc.

New Orleans, February 6.—The gale which set in yesterday continued all night, wind east. At 6 o'clock this morning the wind changed to southeast, and at 7 a. m. it reached a velocity of 43 miles; at 10 it changed to east, velocity 46; at 10:45 it veered again to southeast, and had increased to 12 miles per hour. At this city but little damage was done, as far as known. About 11 o'clock this morning Firemen's lookout tower, at 162, Julia street, fell, crushing in the roofs of buildings Nos. 164 and 166, Julia street, being five thousand dollars damaged.

Over the lower coast the gale was from south to southeast, which had continued for twenty-four hours, and carried the waters of the gulf over the low lands along the route of the New Orleans and Mobile railroad. It is reported to-night that a portion of the track between Michoud and Lookout station is submerged, and several miles washed out, and no trains passed over the road since two o'clock this morning.

A freight train is reported wrecked between Michoud and Chef Mentaur. Telegraph wires are nearly all down.

New Orleans February 7.—The storm yesterday was the heaviest recorded at this signal office. Cautionary signals and danger flags, displayed at the custom-house were torn to pieces. Several breaks are reported in the levee along the bayou St. John and old basin. This morning the water was pouring through the French market, and that quarter of the city was partly flooded.

New Orleans, February 7—Instead of Valleria street, in the earlier report, insert Johnston, and north as far as Embroline street. Within the last mentioned district, embracing 100 squares, streets and sidewalks, are entirely covered with water. Strenuous efforts are being made by the city authorities. Breaks in canal levees, New Orleans, and crevasses in the new and old canal levees have occurred, submerging nearly all that portion west of Villes street and north of the old basin; also from the new basin to Carrolton, west of Magnolia street. The water at all parts is still rising. The shell road from New Lake to the half-way house, is two feet under water. The police report over 300 fences blown down in the city yesterday by the storm. The roof of the south end of Drysdale market was blown out and carried several hundred feet to the air by the wind. Morgan's wharf at the foot of Esplanade street was severely damaged, preventing the ferry from running. The roof of one wing of the state house, in which the offices of the state superintendent of education and the commissioner of immigration are located, blew off in the storm and the records received a wetting.

Algiers suffered terribly. Nearly every fence in the town was blown down, together with several smoke-stacks and roofs. A house being erected on Valleie street was blown to pieces. The signal officer reports threatening weather with brisk easterly winds, which will have the effect of forcing more water into the city from the lake and gulf. Water along the line of the Mobile road is much higher to-day, with indications that the entire road-bed from Michoud to Lookout station is submerged.

Steamer Camelia left the West End at noon for Bay St. Louis, and will convey passengers of the Louisville and Nashville road to and from that point. No train passed over this road since early this morning.

Later.—The Artic Company are detained beyond the breaking of the Mobile railroad; also the J. R. Emmett's company. The same cause prevented Lotta and Oliver Doud Byron from leaving the city. Sara Bernhardt's pictures and statuary are also delayed.

The water in the rear of the city is rising and spreading rapidly in this direction. By Tuesday noon all that portion of the city west of Claiborne street from Carrolton street to Elysian Fields street, will be submerged.

Pensacola, Fla., February 7.—The heaviest gale known for years has been blowing for 24 hours. Several vessels have lost their moorings and fouled each other in the harbor. One large barque broke through three wharves and is now ashore, flying a signal of distress. It is impossible to obtain full particulars until the storm lulls.

Havana, February 7.—The steamship Admiral did not sail last night, but will await fair weather.

Irish National Land League.

New York, February 7.—The Irish nationa land league, which it is proposed to amalgamate with the Parnell league, held a large meeting here to-day, when the secretary reported that since March 28, last year, $4,750 had been received, of which $2,265 had been sent to Ireland, and there was a balance of $611 on hand after deducting expenses.

At the meeting of the national land league in Brooklyn, it was reported $1,000 had recently been raised from various leagues.

State senator McCarthy, of New York, from the special committee to investigate the affairs of New York city for the purpose of securing an economical government for it, has reported a bill to the legislature at Albany. He recommends that the election for mayor and alderman be held in April, that the mayor have power to appoint the heads of departments, police justices and marshals without the approval of the board of alderman, and of removing the same officers without the approval of the governor.

Miss Alice Blaine, daughter of senator Blaine, made her debut in Washington society, at a reception of general Sherman, last week.

A MR. WILLIAM LEVY, of Sherman, suggests a plan in the Courier by which that city can get a cotton factory. It is to get two hundred men to subscribe a payment of ten dollars each, monthly, for two years, which would amount to forty-eight thousand dollars, and enable men of small means to invest. Why cannot some such plan as this be tried in San Antonio?

THE New York Graphic says: "There is a street story in circulation that Fred Vanderbilt lost $500,000 on the rise in Western Union from eighty to par on his short contracts, but William H. Vanderbilt, who realized about $2,500,000 on the long side, made up the young man's losses out of his personal profits. But he couldn't give Freddy the tip for the fear of frightening away the game."

THE business prophets, unmindful of the direful disasters predicted by the perihelion prophets, are now predicting a general movement of northern capitalists seeking investments in Mexico. As San Antonio will gain much more from the development of Mexican possibilities than from the perihelion boom, THE EXPRESS hails the Mexican movement with genuine delight, and hopes that the planets will not shed any unfavorable light on the subject.

A CHINAMAN who lives in Boston says that the children of people who have most to say against the Chinese are generally ignorant ruffians who know nothing of the Bible, and who when they become husbands are idle and desert their wives. He says also that white Chinamen in this country are abused from the White House to the laundry, the meanest, dirtiest and wickedest savages of the plains, who rob, destroy and murder all summer, are housed, fed and clothed all winter by the government, and then given a reservation as a headquarters from which to commit further depredations.

SIR JOHN LUBBOCK, the great English naturalist, has put the telephone to a novel use. Sir John discovered some time ago that ants, which insect he has made his special study, spoke a language, or at least made a noise that they seemed to understand. Desirous of investigating the subject further he placed a colony of ants in one end of a telephone and located the other end in a neighboring ant-hill. Immediately the wildest scene of confusion ensued, and it became evident that the telephonic wires were carrying the voices of the distant ants and that the occupants of the hill were unable to understand the phenomenon. The New York Sun thinks it is the height of cruelty to subject the industrious ant to the horrors of the telephone.

AN association known as the "anti-monopoly league" was organized in Cooper institute, New York, last week. The meeting was merely a preliminary one to start the organization, and another and larger one will be held in a short time. Its purpose is to oppose the gigantic monopolies that, by their management of the railroads and telegraph wires, are ruining trade and commerce. The league will endeavor to secure laws to prevent pooling and combinations and discrimination against any citizen to obtain railroad commissioners, laws against "watering stocks," against bribery and free passes, and finally laws restricting the rights and powers of corporations. It is proposed to organize state and county leagues throughout the country, and to endeavor to force the question prominently into politics.

A PARIS journal, in referring to the memorable quarrel between the Duke de Fitz-James and M. Greffulhe, both of them expert swordsmen, says the difference of opinion was extremely slight, but, as usual, public opinion intervened, and the two gentlemen were compelled to appoint seconds and consider the affair as an exceptionally serious one. The question at issue was a political one, and had been warmly discussed at the jockey club. An encounter was declared inevitable. The duke, who was the intimate friend of M. Greffulhe, determined, if possible, to prevent any regrettable consequences. He had been out over and over again, consequently no one could doubt his courage. When the two parties met on the ground, the duke went up to Greffulhe and said: "We are making ourselves most ridiculous; give me your hand, my dear fellow, and let our quarrel drop." "Never," replied Greffulhe, "the insult was grave, and one or other of us must remain here." "Is that so?" rejoined the duke with a smile, "well, so be it. You can remain; I am off." He turned his back and marched off in an opposite direction, but before he had gone a dozen yards Greffulhe ran after him and said, "Look here, Robert, my good fellow, you are the most reasonable. You are quite right; give me your hand!" The two shook hands, and the champagne breakfast which followed reconciled all parties.

AN IMMIGRATION DOCUMENT WORTH HAVING.

After all our efforts in establishing immigration societies and kindred associations, except, perhaps, a bureau of statistics, the greatest benefit which our state can receive in foreign lands is to be derived from the immigrants themselves in writing to their friends in their old homes and telling their friends of the benefits offered all newcomers to our section of the country. Such a letter was published in the Sunderland, England, Weekly Echo, of the 14th of January, and has such a sterling ring to it that we take pleasure in presenting it to the readers of THE EXPRESS:

Editor Sunderland Weekly Echo:

SIR.—In a letter in the Sunderland Weekly Times of September 10th last, I notice a paragraph headed "An English Colony for Tennessee," the promoter for the same being Mr. T. Hughes, Q. C. In the paragraph there is a few words speaking ill of Texas, a state which ought to be the last to be spoken ill of, as it has no superior on the American continent. In Texas law and order are respected and well maintained, in every way equal to that of of Tennessee. There are as few drinking-hells; and schools and churches are as numerous, and better supported. Men who are seeking reckless, fast-living habits or drinking saloons can find them quite as well in Tennessee as in any part of Texas. It would appear that Mr. Hughes' statements that the land he and others have purchased as an investment, to double tenfold its value, is some part of the Holy Land, so pure that it will make even young men live a moral and spotless life if they located upon it. However, I take this opportunity of warning my fellow country-men against going to Tennessee, or having anything to do with the T. Hughes colony, and of stating that Texas is not, (as Mr. T. Hughes states it to be) a bad state to go to. I am an Englishman, and this is my third winter here. I, along with hundreds more of my fellow-countrymen, am doing well, and am well satisfied that Texas is the garden-spot of the United States. My family consists of eleven, and all have good homes and employment at good wages. During the time I have been here I have seen scores of families come from Tennessee, in fact during the last two months no less than 15 persons whom I have seen and known have come to this locality in Texas and settled, stating they could not live on the land in Tennessee, it was so poor and worn out. And what little they had raised this season was wasting in the fields through constant wet weather. They all state Texas to be a far superior state, a finer climate, and much healthier than Tennessee. Our products are of better quality, and as a consequence command a much higher price. Wages are also much higher in Texas, game more abundant, and our settlers more loyal. These facts I now propose to prove to the reader by figures copied from the last Report of Agriculture, published at Washington, U. S. A., December 1st, 1878. I will first compare the cash value per acre on the farm where grown of the principal crops produced in each state during the year 1878:—Tennessee—Cash value per acre, $9 30-100. Texas—Cash value per acre $16 20-100. I will next give the cash value of each crop, as copied from the same report:—Tennessee—Corn, $7 91-100; wheat, $4 20-100; rye, $7 32-100; oats, $6 73-100; potatoes, $28 08-100; hay, $14 95-100; cotton, $21 46-100. Texas—Corn, $11 44-100; wheat, $12 76-100; rye, $12 96-100; oats, $15 54-100; potatoes, $83 16-100; hay, $15 50-100; cotton $22 55-100. I will now give the price per month, by the year, paid for the different kinds of labor, also copied from the same report:—Tennessee—Farmers without board, $12 73-100; farmers with board, $8 96-100; carpenters without board, $1 77-100; blacksmiths without board, $1 71-100; wheelwrights without board, $1 62-100; machine making without board, $1 94-100; shoemakers without board, $1 41-100. Texas—Farmers without board, $18 27-100; farmers with board, $11 49-100; carpenters without board, $3 27-100; blacksmiths without board, $2 34-100; wheelwrights without board, $2 34-100; machine making without board, $3 00-100; shoemakers without board, $2 07-100. I defy contradiction of the above figures, and leave the reader to form his own conclusions. Whether is Mr. Hughes studying his own or the general public's interest by trying to pack together a lot of his fellow-countrymen on a poor piece of ground, in the midst of a poor country, where there is only a poor market for the little they can raise? T. Hughes has an interest of his own to serve, and that alone is he faithfully carrying out. Tennessee is well known to be a very hilly country; the land is poor and worn out, needing much manure, thus making it unprofitable in such a hot climate. Quite the reverse is Texas, where the land is too rich, if anything, for some crops. Texas, however, will benefit by the colony, as many of the duped purchasers will eventually find their way to Texas. Yours, etc., THOMAS WILSON.

LULING, Caldwell Co., Texas, U. S. A.

ARTESIAN WELLS.

No more important subject was ever brought before the legislature of this state than that now presented, looking to the encouragement of those engaged in boring artesian wells. We speak of the importance and merit of the subject, but not of the bill now presented, of which we have not been able to obtain a copy. There may be objections to the law as now presented, and if so, these objections should be carefully weeded out, so that no one will be able to be enriched at the expense of the many, without giving the state some practical benefit for the aid given under the law.

Throughout the vast expanse of territory popularly known as Western Texas, there are hundreds of thousands of acres of land that have now but little value, and pay only nominal taxes to the state, merely because of the lack of water. If any means can be devised to make this land of more value and thus increase the revenues of the state, it appears to us to be the duty of the legislature to lend its aid in every reasonable manner. At the same time the state solons should prepare the law so that it cannot be made the means of taking from the state its public domain without making some adequate return.

As we said before, we have not seen the text of the law proposed to aid in the boring of artesian wells, and cannot speak of its merit as a law, but the general tendency of such a law, if properly drawn, is a good one, and will add many thousands of dollars to the revenue of the state, besides attracting an increased immigration to our now vacant lands, and thus aid in building up and developing our vast empire state. This subject is one that concerns not only our particular section, but every portion of our territory, and the passage of a suitable law on this important subject will lead to greater results in the development of our natural resources than any other measure that has yet been brought before the present legislature.

PROF. REILY, the entomologist of the agricultural department, has conceived a new plan to destroy the cotton worm, which is nothing more or less than the use of an Asiatic beetle which is a voracious carnivora, and prefers cotton worms to other food. By all means let us import the oriental worm-eater.

THE Luling Signal is getting proud and says: In order to show how Luling is growing we will state that the railroad company made eighteen deeds to lots in the city between the 27th and 31st of January, the aggregate value of which is $2,900.

ST. LOUIS is agitated over a project to construct a locomotive works within the limits of the city, to have a capacity for building five hundred engines a year. A company has organized for this object, with a working capital of $2,500,000.

ABOUT 11,514 bales of cotton have been shipped by rail from Luling thus far this season.

LETTER FROM WASHINGTON.

What is Said of Texas in Washington—How the Politicians See It—What Hancock and Torockmorton are Going to Do About It—Coming Greatness of Texas—How to Maintain Its Unity.

Special Correspondence San Antonio EXPRESS.

Washington, D. C. February 2.—The appointment of Capt. Bowman to the office of secretary of state was one of the events at Austin unanimously approved by Texans in Washington. I am authorized to tender him the congratulations of that intellectual body in newspaper literature as the "Texas colony." Senator Maxey's friends were, of course, delighted that his triumph was so marked and unquestioned that they assume his to be an estate for life in the senatorship. Another development of facts causes not a little sober reflection wherever the political, industrial and commercial fortunes of Texas are deemed concurrent and identical. The democratic vote of the state, as parties are now organized, is one hundred and fifty-six thousand, a loss of fifty thousand since Coke made his last race against Davis. Republican and greenback votes sum up eighty-four thousand. If the followers of John Bell and of Stephen A. Douglas and of Sam Houston, who have supported Throckmorton and Hancock and opposed the secession democracy, of whom Gov. Roberts is the impersonation, co-operate with these 86,000 voters, there is a clearly ascertained majority in Texas hostile to the party that elected Senator Maxey. It is stated here and in private letters from Texas that the defeat of Hancock by Wash Jones and of Throckmorton by Maxey, caused by the solidity of the secession democracy, will beget steady defections from this dominant force in the party as now organized, and the creation of another led by men concurring in political history and sympathy with Throckmorton and Hancock and differing ab initio from Gov. Roberts, who was president of the seceding state convention of 1861 that deposed Sam Houston, and would now, most grudgingly, give 30,000 acres of non-existent land to rear his monument.

HOW HANCOCK AND THROCKMORTON DELIBERED.

Hancock and Throckmorton have sought to be overrighteous democrats. Both have been forced to conduct terrific warfare against the stalwart radicals of Gov. Davis' sort. This was necessary in order to make it palpable to the Roberts faction, selfish and exacting as it was, that they were exceedingly sound. Davis was thus so offended and so harshly repelled by Hancock and Throckmorton that he stood prepared, when Maxey and Throckmorton were rivals last week, to cast his consolidated strength for Maxey. Hancock and Throckmorton and all men of their peculiar history have learned, at last, that they can win no honors within an organization of whose prejudice, traditions, history and theories of government, Gov. Roberts is an exponent. Hancock and Throckmorton have been slow because most unwilling to accept the lesson, but they can no longer remain silent. Having a proper sense of self-respect they will hardly humiliate themselves a second and third time by asking preferment and approval at the hands of the democratic organization as it exists to-day. Their friends and followers will not suffer these men to place them again and again in this false attitude. They are not of the ultra red-republican secession democracy and are not of the stalwart Davis republicans commonly termed "radicals." They can only stand aloof. Doing this they will have allied, making them omnipotent. The figures I have given, and Thockmorton's and Hancock's strength in the legislature show that I am not misled.

THE RESULT.

Personally I have no interest in these possible and probable changes. I only know that the revolutions contemplated would be signally promotive of the prosperity of Texas. The state's condition, though it has such wealth in land and in climatic laws and heavy taxation, is that begotten of retrogressive mossbackism. Its railway system is due to its late republican masters. The present constitution, luckily for Texas, was enacted after schools and railways became indestructible. Republican opinion and policy were so fastened on the state and so accepted by the masses that the mossback democracy was impotent to extirpate the schools or repress railway extension or materially retard immigration. Even Gov. Roberts is forced at last to commend the school system to the fostering care of the legislature.

A THEORY OF MINE.

When a people have once learned to look to the government for bread or for money, or education, they are at once incapable of providing for themselves. The meanest free schools render it impossible, even in a city, to maintain private schools. The people are made helpless by dancers from the state. Austin is fed on public pap, and Austin can't feed itself. It can't build a narrow gauge railway fifty miles to meet Dick Hubbard's coming from Texarkana to Brownwood. Austin can't even struggle for its own existence. To remain the state capital it must be accessible to the northwest. The people are made impotent by the presence of government, and all capitals are inhabited by just such people as own and trade and dwell and dicker for pennies instead of dollars in Austin. When the capital is removed and the present generation extinct, Austin will become a charming city. Meanwhile the conduct and fate of Austin demonstrates the fact that having begun the work, the state must continue to educate the people, and to the prosecution of this task the simon-pure original moss-back democracy are religiously opposed. I may think them right in ultimate theory, but a practical necessity has been forced upon us and progressive liberal democracy, concurring with republicanism, would see that every child of Texas, white or black, is taught to "read, write and cipher"—the three "R's," with which alone George Washington said the government should concern itself.

But it was only proposed to be stated, when I began this letter, that Texas becomes rapidly conspicuous and potent in the Union. When the next census is taken the state, if wisely governed, will boast of a population as great as that of Pennsylvania. Its unity can only be maintained by railways contracting its confines to the dimensions of Massachusetts. Austin cannot understand this fact, but everybody else does. The very growth in wealth and population of the vast commonwealth causes multitudes, besides the "Texas colony" in this capitol, to note the course of events and congratulate Senator Maxey that he has been approved by such a commonwealth. L. J. D.

Improvement in Bandera County.

Bandera Bugle.

There has been a marked improvement going on in Bandera county in the last year; in fact the strides towards progress and advancement have been immense. New industries have sprung up. More land has been fenced and cultivated and a larger acreage of cotton was planted in the county than was ever known before. Four new gins have been erected and in all have turned out over 250 bales of cotton during the season, about four times as much as the county ever produced before. Two or three new grist mills have been put in operation, and besides furnishing the local demand are furnishing a number of western counties. New stores have been opened in different parts of the county. The carpenters and builders have all the work they can do. This is surely a new era for Bandera county, and the citizens should be contented and happy at the prospect they have before them.

THE GENUINE

are not recommended as a remedy "for all the ills that flesh is heir to," but in affections of the Liver, and in all Bilious Complaints, Dyspepsia, and Sick Headache, or diseases of that character, they stand without a rival.

ACUE AND FEVER.

No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking quinine.

As a simple purgative they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar-coated.

Each box has a red-wax seal on the lid with the impression, McLANE'S LIVER PILL.

Each wrapper bears the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by FLEMING BROS., Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE.

WHEREAS, Wm. VerBryck, of the county of Jefferson, State of Kentucky, for the purpose of securing the payment of his two certain promissory notes, one for the sum of Twelve Hundred and Thirty-Eight and 50-100 Dollars Currency, and one for the sum of Seven Hundred and Ninety Silver Dollars, both of said notes dated at San Antonio, Texas, July 25th, 1877, and due Twelve Months after date, in favor of Ed. Dillon, did convey unto N. A. Young, in trust, by deed duly recorded in the records of Bexar county, in Book Vol. No. 7, on pages 301 & 302, all those certain tracts or parcels of land lying and being in the county of Bexar and in the corporate limits of the city of San Antonio, and severally described as follows, to-wit: First Block No. One (1), three acres of ground, bounded on the east by Laredo street, and West First street, north by South Ninth street, west by West Second street and south by South Tenth street.

Second: Block No. 2, containing three acres bounded east by West Second street, north by North Ninth street, west by West Third street, and south by South Tenth street.

Third: Block No. 4, containing three acres, bounded east by West Second street, north by North Eigth street, west by West Third street, and south by South Ninth street, for more particular description as to title of said property, reference is hereby made to said deed of trust.

And whereas, the said Wm. VerBryck has made default in the payment of said two promissory notes when the same became due and payable;

MALARIA!

Holman's Pad.

CURES WITHOUT MEDICINE. SIMPLY BY Absorption

TRADE MARK.

THE only true MALARIAL Antidote.

DR. HOLMAN'S PAD is no-guess work remedy—no female imitative experiment—no purloined hodge-podge of some other inventor's ideas; it is the original and only genuine curative Pad, the only remedy that has an honestly-acquired right to use the title-word, "Pad," in connection with a treatment for chronic diseases of the stomach, liver and spleen.

By a recently perfected improvement Dr. Holman has greatly increased the scope of the Pad's usefulness and appreciably augmented its active curative power.

This great improvement gives Holman's Pad (with its adjuvants) complete and unfailing control over the most persistent and unyielding forms of Chronic Disease of the Stomach and Liver, as well as Malarial Blood-poisoning.

Holman's Pads have cured—and are daily curing—diseases of so many kinds, that the list is well-nigh interminable. It includes Malarial Poison of every type, from aching bones and low fevers to chills and dumb ague; Stomach Diseases, such as dyspepsia, indigestion, sour stomach, chronic diarrhoea, nationsy, heartburn, etc., etc.; Liver Diseases, like biliousness, bilious colic, dangerous fevers, torpid liver, etc, etc. Well does this mighty remedy justify the eminent Prof. Loomis' high encomium: "It is nearer a universal panacea than anything in medicine."

The success of Holman's Pads has inspired imitators who offer Pads similar in form and order to the genuine Holman Pad. Beware of these bogus and imitation Pads, gotten up only to sell on the reputation of the GENUINE Holman Pad.

Each genuine Holman Pad bears the Private Revenue Stamp of the Holman Pad Company, with the above trade mark, printed in green.

For sale by all first-class druggists, or sent by mail post-paid, on receipt of $2.00.

DAY'S Kidney PAD

A DISCOVERY BY ACCIDENT which supplies a want men of eminent ability have devoted years of study and experiment to find—a specific for diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary Organs and Nervous System—and from the time of its discovery has rapidly increased in favor, gaining the approval and confidence of medical men and those who have used it; it has become a favorite with all classes and wherever introduced has superseded all other treatment. In short, such is its intrinsic merit and superiority that it is now the only recognized reliable remedy.

DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS.

are the most prevalent, dangerous and fatal affections that afflict mankind, and so varied and insidious in their character, that persons often suffer for a long time before knowing what ails them. The most characteristic symptoms are gradual wasting away of the whole body, pain in the back, side or joins; a weak, feeble, exhausted feeling; loss of appetite and dread of exercise; scanty and painful discharge of variously colored urine; inability to retain or expel the urine; minute shreds or casts in the urine; and, when the disease is of long duration there is much emaciation and general nervous prostration.

THE ONLY CURE.

We say positively, and without fear of contradiction, that Day's Kidney Pad is the first and only infallible cure for every form of Kidney disease. It is the best remedy yet discovered for this complaint, and more efficacious in its operation than any other treatment. By using faithfully and persistently no case will be found so inveterate as not to yield to its powerful remedial virtues.

IS STRONGLY ENDORSED.

We have the most unequivocal testimony to its curative powers from many persons of high character, intelligence and responsibility. Our book, "How a Life was Saved," giving the history of this new discovery, and a large record of most remarkable cures sent free. Write for it.

DAY'S KIDNEY PADS are sold by druggists, or will be sent by mail (free of postage) on receipt of their price—Regular $2.00; Special, for obstinate cases of long standing, $3.0; Children's, $1.50. Address DAY KIDNEY PAD CO. Toledo, O.

CAUTON. Owing to the many worthless Kidney Pads now seeking a sale on our reputation, we deem it due the afflicted to warn them. Ask for Day's Kidney Pad, take no other, and you will not be deceived. For sale by F. Kalteyer & Son.

Assassination of Father Gillett

From the Mobile Register.

The news of the dastardly shooting of Rev. Father Henry Gillet by governmental authority in Guatemala has created a profound sensation here among the Jesuits, to whom he was well known, and by whom he was greatly beloved. Father Gautrilet said yesterday, when interrogated on the subject by a Register reporter: "It is dreadful! dreadful! I knew him well. He was in New Orleans about this time last year on business connected with some of the sisters. He was a most zealous, able and amiable father." Father Butler, president pro tem., of Spring Hill college said:

"Father Gillet was a native of England, where he was born in 1842. He studied for the ministry in the Stonyhurst college, Lancashire, England, the Yale of that country, and entered the order of the Jesuits in 1861. In 1878 he was sent out to labor in British Honduras, and for that purpose established his headquarters in Belize, its principal city. He was a very delicate man, of weak physical constitution, and went to Guatemala solely for the benefit of his health. He did not go there as a clergyman, although in our order, but as a private individual, and his execution is an outrage."

"What will England do?"

"That remains to be seen. England has a great deal on her hands at present, but as she has generally been vigorous in the protection of her citizens, it is possible the English government may take some action, because there certainly never was an act that demanded such a course more strenuously than this one does. It matters not that he was a Jesuit, and the Jesuits had been barbarously driven out of the country and inhibited from living there, if the most enlightened and Christian governments of the world allow such an act to go unpunished in the severest manner, other orders, denominations and natives may be treated in a similar manner until, at last, it may become not only dangerous but certain death for any Englishman, or American even, to visit that country on any business whatsoever. Not only the Jesuits, but also nuns, were expelled from Guatemala during the last few years. You may have read, if I remember rightly, of their arrival in San Francisco some two or three years ago."

"Was not Father Cornette, who died here, one of the expelled priests from Guatemala?"

"Yes; and he was afterwards an eminent professor of physics and natural philosophy in this very institution."

"What is the number of Jesuits in North America?"

"There are one thousand six hundred members of the order laboring in the United States."

"What is the number of members in the world at large?"

"About 10,500."

"How many first-class colleges are there under the tuition of the order in the United States?"

"One in Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati, Detroit, Fordham, N. Y., Washington, D. C., Georgetown, D. C., Grand Coteau, La., New Orleans, New York City, San Francisco, Santa Clara, Cal., Worcester, Mass., Woodstock, Md., Spring Hill—I believe somewhere in the neighborhood of twenty or thereabouts."

Other Catholic clergymen also expressed strong views against the outrage, and one Protestant clergyman said it was a disgrace to any country pretending to be civilized to sanction any such proceeding, and that it called for thorough investigation and severe punishment.

MEN OF MILLIONS.

Americans Who Are Rolling in Boundless Wealth.

The richest man in America, and nearly the richest man in the world, is William H. Vanderbilt. His fortune is set at about $ 00,000,000. Next to him comes Jay Gould, who is reaching toward $100,000,000. The immense estate of John Astors is worth much over $50,000,000. Fortunes ranging from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000 are almost commonplace frequent. Indeed, in the form mentioned has almost lost its immensity as a figure of speech, and is employed now where that of thousands used to be. Our fathers spoke of a man worth his hundreds of thousands, and we, the children, heard them with the same awe as that with which we listened to the description of the fabled treasures of a fairy tale. Our children to-day do not call a man rich until he has passed the goal their grandsires only considered in such names as the Rothschilds, who were regarded as types of wealth no man would ever peer. Even David Jones, the brewer, who died last year worth $10,000,000, did not receive a half column obituary notice in any morning paper.

The man who wanted to make a census of the millionaires of New York for the year just would almost need a whole newspaper to do it in. Their names is literally legion. There are scores of them whose wealth cannot be known because it is invested in such a way that it is not required to pay taxes and leaves no annual record of itself that can be arrived at. Dennis Kearney called these men bloated bondholders, and they are, in so far as the latter clause is concerned. They are men who invest their vast accumulations in government bonds, draw the interest regularly, and add it to the principal, and so go on heaping up a monstrous capital with no labor on their part, and no expenditures except the original one. But they are lavish with their wealth in spite of all that may be said to the contrary, and that lavishness has made New York a synonym for the open-handed benefaction which marks it in charity, science, arts and commerce the metropolis of the western hemisphere. Apart from the fluctuating fortunes of the speculative rich men, the Jim Keenes and his like, which may be millions to-day or thousands to-morrow, there are merchant princes and quiet men of fortune, who, when they die, will leave wills to run into the seven figures, and make people wonder why they never heard of such rich men before.

Nor are these colossal capitals restricted to the metropolis. Cincinnati has several well-to-do people, although forty years ago she had but three who counted their fortunes by millions. These were Nicholas Longworth, who died in 1869, leaving about $10,000,000, and Jacob Burnett and James Ferguson, who died in 1856, each leaving about $2,000,000. Of the opulent people now residents of Cincinnati, David Sinton is said to be worth $10,000,000; G. H. Shoenberger, $5,000,000; A. D. Reed, $5,000,000; estate of James W. Goff, $6,000,000; estate of Oliver Perin, $5,000,000; R. R. Springer, $5,000,000; Joseph Longworth, $3,000,000; estate of N. Pike, at 00,000; Emory Brothers, $3,000,000; A. D. Bullock, Charles and John Kilgour, W. F. Bullert, Samuel Foedick, William S. Groesbeck, Jacob Sesselmann, Frieberg & Workum, John Shillito's estate, Timothy Kirby's estate, Robert Mitchell, S. M. Barrett, B. B. Cowler's estate, Samuel Wiggins' estate, Judge D. K. Este's estate, J. C. Short's estate, Gen. James Taylor's estate, and R. B. Hopple are each worth $2,000,000, while the list of single millionaires is too numerous to mention.

Philadelphia, Chicago, Pittsburg, Boston, all make a similarly splendid showing in the matter of figures. Philadelphia and Boston are very much alike in the fact that, though there are fewer millionaires in them in proportion to their population than there are in our other great cities, there are proportionately more men of solid fortune. That is to say, while the business man in New York and Chicago, having won his $100,000, tries to double it, and, having doubled, to duplicate it again, the sober sided citizens of the Hub and the Quaker city are content to settle when they find themselves at ease financially. It would quite start these conservative commercial persons to think of a collateral investment of from $1,000,000 to $6,000,000 in mines to get coal from, to run iron foundries with capitals of much greater bulk, as a score of Pittsburg iron founders do, or to hold a reserve of $2,000,000 for grain operations, like half a hundred Chicagoans.

THE VENDETTA.

The Stiletto Laid Aside and Poison Substituted as a Means of Revenge.

N. O. Democrat.

Last night a deadly drug took the place of the stiletto, and Natal Bonfon now sleeps his last sleep through the agency of the vendetta.

The death of this Italian is another illustration of one of the characteristics of his peculiar race. The poison that broke away his life is supposed to have been administered as a means of revenge for his action on the twenty-ninth of November, when he stabbed and dangerously wounded one of his race, Tony Mango, at the Globe ball-room, corner of St. Claude and St. Peter streets.

Italians never resort to the law as a means of redress for wrongs among themselves, and the rule did not prove an exception in this case. There have long been when men have performed themselves in order to take personal revenge on their enemies, and in this particular case the witnesses, when brought into court, pleaded ignorance of all knowledge of the affair.

When Tony Mango was removed to his home, bleeding and supposed to be dying, he informed the authorities that Bonfon had stabbed him, but when brought to testify on Thursday, before Judge Mittenberger, he denied that he was the man, and, to use his own language, "He was my best friend."

Yesterday at half-past two o'clock, half intoxicated, Bonfon returned to his home on Orleans street, between Robertson and Villere, and informed his wife that he had a pain in his chest, and as the words, "They have given me something," fell from his lips, he fell over on the bed on which he was sitting, and from that moment became speechless in this condition he remained until half-past 6 o'clock, when he died.

Coroner Dr. J. C. Beard being notified repaired to the house and proceeded to hold an inquest. He found every organ perfect except the stomach, which was slightly congested, but no apparent natural cause of death or ocular sign of poison. The doctor removed the stomach, heart and liver, and some of the intestines from the body for the purpose of analyzing them.

To trace the rambles of this man from the time of the difficulty up to his death would be a hard matter, for, when he buried his stiletto in the left shoulder of Mango he fled the scene and was not heard of until last Monday, when he was arrested by officer Zambelle and locked up, until subsequently released on bonds by Judge Mittenberger.

After the trial on Thursday, Bonfon and Mango, in company with Capt. Gill, shook hands and took a drink together. Yesterday both men were seen drinking together in the Italian drinking saloon, corner St. Claude and St. Peter street.

Yesterday morning Bonfon left home and went to work on the Old Basin, his usual place of business. Now it is supposed that he was induced to leave work, made drunk and then poisoned. An investigation as to his rambles revealed the fact that he had visited several barrooms during the day and some of the police stations.

The deceased was forty years of age, a native of Palermo, and leaves a wife and one child to mourn his sad end.

As he is an exempt member of Phoenix Fire Co., No. 8, he will be buried by that company to-day.

How to Make Out a Bill.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Syracuse Herald tells the following good story, which was originally from the lips of a well known sexton and undertaker. He had a funeral to conduct for the family of Mr. M., a wealthy but eccentric merchant. When it was over he handed in his bill, made out after the usual custom. Mr. M. put on his eyeglasses, opened the bill and read it clean through. "I see you have a charge of $30 for kid gloves here," said he; "how many pair did you buy?"

"A dozen," was the reply.

"And here again you have charged $50 for scarfs used in the pro-cession. How many scarfs were there, and what did they cost?"

"I had to have a dozen of them—two new and the rest cleaned and made over. Their entire cost was about $35."

"And you have put down carriage hire at $5. How many carriages had you?"

"Eight in all."

"Well, sir, I decline to pay your bill."

The sexton was thunder-struck. The gentleman had never before been known to dispute a reasonable account with any one, and he was reputed very rich.

"I could have gone to the store and bought all those gloves for $2 a pair myself," the millionaire went on, "for $24 for the lot. I could have hired ten scarfs and had the other two made for $25. I could have got the carriages at the livery stable for $23. Twenty-four and thirty-two are fifty-six, and thirty-five makes ninety-one. You have charged me $136 for articles I could have purchased for myself for $91. I presume there are other items of the same sort elsewhere in the account."

"But, Mr. M., I—"

"I decline to pay the bill, sir; take it back and make it out right."

"But, M., I must make something on these affairs; this is the only means I have of gaining a livelihood."

"Make your bill out as you should, I say."

Sadly crestfallen, the sexton was about to turn away, when the merchant pointed to a seat at his writing table.

"Sit down there," said he, "and I will teach you how to make out a bill. In the first place, enter the hearse, coffin, advertisement, &c., as you have them. Then write: 'One dozen pairs black kid gloves at $2—$24; to making two scarfs and repairing ten old ones, $35; to hire of eight carriages at $4—$32.' Now you have your account correct as far as it goes. But you have said nothing about your services, so write: 'To sexton's service, $100.' Is that satisfactory? If not make it $150—$200—whatever you consider a fair sum. We shall not dispute about that. What I object to is not the amount I am called upon to pay, but the pretext under which it is demanded. Your first bill wasn't business-like; your second will do. Do you see the difference?"

The sexton both saw and admitted it. He learned a lesson from that interview which he never afterward forgot.

Grave Robbing at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Pa., February 2.—Information was lodged with the coroner to-day that the body of Mrs. Alice Donohugh, 61 years of age, had mysteriously disappeared from the coffin which had been temporarily deposited at the Cathedral cemetery. Mrs. Donohugh died suddenly on Friday, and by request of her friends allowed the remains to be taken to the cemetery until the inquest was held. The keeper of the burial ground made the discovery on Sunday that the coffin was untenanted. That such things have occurred before in Philadelphia, in fact, that they have been and probably are still of frequent occurrence, is evinced by the statement of "Dean" Buchanan, the bogus medical college man now in Moyamensing prison, giving an account of how graves have been robbed. A special act of the assembly authorizes the coroner to furnish to the medical colleges such dead bodies of known persons as are not claimed by relatives of the deceased. To secure an equitable distribution the anatomists organized themselves into a society and agreed to apportion the bodies according to the number of pupils in attendance at the various schools. This is a legitimate business. The bodies are taken out boldly and delivered in open day. It is the delivering of the graves, which outrages humane instincts; usually there were cases only recently Buchanan declares that nearly all the burial places in the city are robbed, including even the Roman Catholic cemeteries, where the church discipline is most rigid. Buchanan says: "One day, I drove the City Resurrectionist, James Campbell, over to one of the cemeteries. I saw him point out the grave, saw the cash and saw him show the grave-digger where to place the body so that he could get it at a specified hour. We got one body from him which seemed recent, it was a case of putrefaction during life."

Campbell keeps a tavern near Nineteenth and Fitzwater streets. The medical faculty would not be complete without a resurrectionist. I was with Campbell one night in Mount Moriah cemetery when the dogs got after him. Campbell never opened the empty grave. He usually struck for the head of the child, and putting a rope around the head would pull up the dead body. The man, who keeps a colored nursing ground in west Philadelphia, actually takes the bodies out and keeps them. When the last trumpet blows, you mark my words, there will be mighty few rally in Blockly hospital yard or potter's field to get up in a overcrowding there that is certain. For months in the alms house the last twenty-three years have averaged thirty per week. Now, suppose only one-third of these, or ten a week, were delivered to the anatomists, that would make 520 a year, in twenty-three years at least 11,960 dead bodies would be cut up. To tell the truth, there is not a bone nor the vestige of a body in Blackly's. A pit sixty or a hundred feet long and of variable depth is dug on the brow of the hill facing the Schuylkill. Wednesdays and Saturdays were burial days. The bodies were laid in this pit in rows, one pine coffin lying on top of another, the lids on but not screwed down. Usually Campbell arrived early with one or two wagons. The coffin lids would be taken off one by one, the bodies drawn up with ropes, then taken down to the edge of a little creek and loaded up. I have been there often and taken what he wanted before Campbell arrived. It is different now. The bodies are taken out in broad daylight. The coroner's subjects and others were taken to a livery stable on Cherry street, above Eighth, and delivered after night. I have known of bodies that were raised right in the heart of the city. We always had plenty of subjects because when Campbell did not give enough I could get them from Baltimore, and once in a while we 'raised' one. On one Saturday morning Campbell told me he had five in the pit in Blockly. We went out at 7 o'clock before Campbell and took them. One of these bodies was sent as a present to Trail, the university man at Florence, N. J. We shipped it as apples in sawdust."

Charles King, 48 years old, was crushed to death in the rolling mills at Milwaukee, Wis., on the 2nd, by being caught between the rollers.

Daily Review of the San Antonio Market.

OFFICE OF DAILY AND WEEKLY EXPRESS, Monday, February 7, 1881.

The week opens with fine weather and the market fully supplied with the variety expected at this season.

Wool remains quiet with no very great increase in quantity. What remains on the market is held at Saturday's figures.

Cotton continues to come in in small quantity, and is taker up by purchasers at remunerative prices, and as ordered forwarded to the manufacturers, accumulating but slightly in the hands of the merchants or shippers.

Wood is brought in the market in moderate quantity, but continues to be of the fresh cut, not sufficiently seasoned for the ordinary domestic purposes, without a large amount of coaxing in order to please those who desire quick fires, and the question is often asked us by the new comers who come to settle among us: Why do they not season the wood here?

Hay is abundant and of excellent quality for the season, and retains its price unchanged.

Corn fodder comes in in small lots, and the price remains at last week's quotations for the best quality. The mildewed or damaged finds no favour.

Corn remains at last quotations and is taken as soon as brought upon the market, if of the best quality; none other is wanted.

Game and venison—We are astonished to see so little offering on the plaza, as the weather now is good to bring it in, and when offered it brings good fair prices and a ready sale.

Eggs are in good supply, but hold their prices to a remarkable degree, bringing from 20 to 25c per dozen, or six dozen for a dollar at wholesale.

Among the receipts by rail to-day we mention seven cars of mixed merchandise, two of salt, two of coal, one of potatoes, one of beer, one of grain, and one of wheat.

The shipments by rail: sixty-one bales of cotton, five thousand pounds hides, two thousand pounds mixed merchandise, three cars cattle to Galveston, one car mules to Vermillionville, Georgia, one car sheep to New Orleans.

—Mayor French, acting under instructions from the public school committee of the city council, has gone to Austin to labor in behalf of the establishment of a normal school at this place by the state. It is hoped by many that he may succeed, and will, if our legislators act fairly, as San Antonio can offer better inducements than any other city of Texas. It is estimated that such a school established here would increase the revenue to our business men about $50,000 per annum.

—August Biesenbach, corner of Commerce and Alamo streets, is selling family groceries of the best quality at lower rates than any one else. Mr. Biesenbach will make the retail grocery business a specialty, and deliver goods free to any part of the city. He invites the public to inspect his goods, and learn prices, before purchasing elsewhere. feb6 1m —Yesterday afternoon a young man with a walking cane in his right hand mounted the river wall near Burns' lime depot, and walked along it to Commerce street bridge. He then mounted the railing of the bridge, and to the amazement, and against the admonition of lookers-on, mounted and walked it, too. Probably a hundred persons were attracted by and witnessed his conduct. Who was he, and was he crazy? And where was the policeman?

—Mr. Louis Bergstrom will probably depart to-day for St. Louis. After finishing up his business in that city, he will return to Fort Worth and take a run out on the Texas Pacific, to a point north of Fort Concho, where he has a large number of men engaged gathering up the bleaching bones of the bison slaughtered upon the vast prairies of that country for his hide. Mr. Bergstrom now has about five hundred car-loads of these bones collected, and will reap a rich harvest from them.

Railway Racket.

The Houston Post of the 5th says:

"The I. & G. N. road is daily receiving supplies for the further construction of the line beyond San Antonio. Several car loads passed through from Galveston yesterday, and the company has still nearly one thousand cars of iron at Galveston and to arrive there within the next few days."

A postal to THE EXPRESS from Rossville, Atascoso county, dated 5th inst., says: "Gov. Hunt and party are here, en route for Howard Lake, Fort Ewell, and from there to the end of the Corpus Christi railroad near Mesquite." Another postal says the party have been rained on almost constantly, and have been delayed by mud and swollen streams.

It is now determined, beyond doubt, that the International will push on to Laredo without delay. The company is receiving a large amount of supplies at this place for the extension, and much more is on the way. Steel ties and bridge material are embraced.

It is reported that the International and G. H. & S. A. railway officials held a meeting last Saturday to arrive at some mutual understanding as to the fixing of tariff rates. Whether the meeting was held or what was done, the reporter is unable to learn, as the officials are reticent. There will, undoubtedly, be some agreement, however.

Last Sunday morning Samuelson's forces departed for work on the Sunset extension. They will work on through to the Rio Grande, commencing, for the present, at the Medio.

Ross & Harris, the popular contractors of the International, have leased for an office the large room over Groos's bank, which is being neatly fitted up for their purposes by Mr. L. P. Boettler.

Yesterday an EXPRESS representative visited the vicinity of the International depot, and found the scene more busy than ever. Hands were busy laying the main track of the road, which is to pass and is passing just east of the track that was first laid. The passenger depot will be constructed of pine boards, or be of frame, just as you please, and will be located between the main and west side track, fronting on Presidio street, convenient to the street cars, the cross-ties and stringers of which have been buried beneath the bed of crushed gravel with which the street is macademized for weeks. The freight depot will be an extensive frame building, and will be constructed by Mr. Nugent, who is now finishing the turn-table. These buildings will be put up as soon as the material with which to construct them can arrive.

The International company, from what the reporter gathers from the most reliable sources, have determined to beat the Peirce road to the Rio Grande. To this end, they will do cheap work. They will construct five Howe truss bridges, which will be of lumber, and the streams they will span will be the Leon, Medina, Hondo, Frio and Nueces. The bridge over the Frio will be 158 feet span, and the average of the five streams 125 feet.

The false work on the Colorado bridge is not yet up, and this structure will not be completed until about July. The Post combination on the Blanco bridge will be commenced next week by the Delaware Bridge company at the Blanco, and will be completed, it is thought, in about a month.

Many persons are interested in the matter of knowing the date at which passenger trains will be run into this city by the International. The reporter has devoted no little effort to find out when this desirable thing would take place. Last Saturday he was informed that the trains would run into the depot site during the present week. Yesterday the reporter learned from a prominent contractor on the road that regular trains could not possibly be run into the city before the 20th of the present month. The principal cause of delay is the work of ballasting the track, while the absence, still, of freight and passenger depots, is also some reason for tardiness on the part of the company. Still, preparations are being made by some for the running out of passenger trains from next Sunday on.

The bridges of the International from San Antonio to the Rio Grande will for the present be supported by piles. Afterwards, rock will be put into the places of the piles. There is much trouble, at present, in getting rock, and the race can best be won, to the Mexican border, by doing the work on the most convenient principles.

The Sunset has as yet, the reporter is told, made no contracts for bridging, but will ere, so the present week. No one knows, even, who will bridge the San Antonio river. Major Converse departed yesterday a distance of twenty miles along the right-of-way, and contractors were awaiting his return. Reticence avails little, and the reporter will let the public know what the R. R.'s are doing at the earliest possible date.

The International will stop at this point, so far as its track-laying is concerned, until the road is completed and accepted to San Antonio, and the depots built to this point. Grading will go on as vigorously as ever, notwithstanding this, and a vast amount of ties and general supplies will be accumulated here.

Anniversary Ball.

Some time ago, the good people of our neighboring town of Seguin organized a fire company, which has done valuable service in battling with the fiend. The company has met with the fullest encouragement from the people of Seguin, and is now on the broad road to prosperity. On the 25th inst., this company will give its first anniversary ball, for an invitation to which we return thanks. The following are the committees:

Committee on invitation—J. C. Ehringhaus, A. G. Swope, R. P. Rainey, H. Erkel, J. A. Wassenich, G. A. Neill.

Floor managers—P. J. Burges, A. G. Swope, F. Klein, D. A. Winter, R. P. Rainey, M. E. Maney, J. A. Wassenich, S. Maney, J. C. Ehringhaus.

A Pity, If True.

Dr. Loomis, the great consulting physician of New York, to whom the majority of consumptive patients apply, and who has sent many persons to our city, according to a letter just received by one of our prominent business men, says he is advising persons not to come to San Antonio, because persons returning report they can not get a meal fit to eat, or a bed fit to lie on. Hundreds of the wealthier classes of New York are said to be deterred from coming here on this account.

Sailed for Mexico.

Col. George W. Brackenridge, Hon. Russell Howard and Mr. Frank Grice, of this city, sailed for the city of Mexico last Thursday, on the steamer Whitney, of the Morgan line. There were sixteen cabin passengers on the vessel. Col. Brackenridge visits Mexico, it may be mentioned, to look after the purchase of 2,300,000 acres of land, offered him at a low rate, and if things are found as they were represented to him, he will make the purchase.

Matrimonial.

Mr. Max Mayer and Miss Eliza Veith, both of this city, were at 1 p. m. yesterday bound in the holy bonds of wedlock by Rabbi Lewenthal. The happy couple departed on the afternoon train for a tour to New Orleans and other cities. Their host of friends here, including THE EXPRESS, wish them a prosperous life, and one invested with the fullest degree of love and joy.

Will There be Special Premiums?

The fair committee are now engaged preparing the programme, and we are requested by a member of the committee to inform our citizens that if there are any who desire to offer special premiums they should at once notify the secretary, N. J. Petrich, thereof, so that their offers may be published with the programme.

On next Friday and Saturday the ladies of the Independent order of Good Templars will give a splendid entertainment in Paucoast hall, Commerce street. —Parties have been engaged to grub forty-eight acres of ground north of the G., H. & S. A. railway round-house. The amount at stake is not over eight dollars fee for each section of 640 acres, which may be recovered by Locke from the deputy surveyor of Navarro. The locations are valid, and titles to the land can not in any way be affected. It is merely a question of fee.

—An aged Mexican residing west of the San Pedro last night took the shrill whistle of an International locomotive for the yell of a Comanche, and came near yelling himself to death crying for police. The old man had heard many a yell from the savage in the same quarter many years ago, but he forgot that he had been, like Rip Van Winkle, sleeping a long sleep.

Cattle Driving.

Mr. A. Conkle, of Kansas City, is again at the Menger, and being met last evening was questioned concerning the coming cattle drive, about which business he is always well posted. Mr. Conkle stated that the drive the present year would not be half so large as last, when 340,000 head of cattle were headed for the great northwest. He says that the price of stock in this state is advancing so rapidly that men can not afford to buy and drive to Kansas and Colorado
