

Airport Work To Begin Monday

Major operations were to be launched Monday on the municipal airport project. Back from a conference with State Works Projects Administration officials at San Antonio where he submitted a completed and revised application, City Engineer Boyd J. McDaniel said Saturday that authorization had been given for starting the titanic task of excavating for four runways, all of them considerably more than a mile in length.

REVIEWING THE BIG SPRING WEEK BY JOE PICKLE

The best Father's Day yarn coming to this department occurred late Saturday evening. A motorist returned a neatly wrapped package to a man's store with the very formal explanation that "my husband's made me mad and under the circumstances I couldn't possibly give him a Father's Day gift."

If you owe back taxes and can lay your hands on money, it's a good idea to pay all you can between now and Nov. 1 when interest (but not the six per cent penalty) will be remitted. Incidentally, the delinquent tax bill, which was opposed, was prefaced by legislators with the astute observation that such practices were bad. But they passed the bill, so take advantage of it.

It's good to see the airport project merging into a new stage. This week should see some big operations get underway and as they progress, more than the 145 men assigned may be needed. Here's hoping that all major hitches are past.

As one of the more commendable projects for organizations, we point to the 1930 Hyperion library at the ABC park. Here is something really worthwhile accounting on small investment and wholehearted cooperation.

Instead of simplifying matters, we understand the additional office space in the federal postoffice building may complicate things. It's the shift to vacated office spaces together with increased demands on the AAA unit, which is presenting a perplexing problem.

Perhaps unsung but none-the-less important is the defense training program being carried on by local schools. Monday aircraft metal work will be added and around 250 men in all phases of the work may be getting experience for contributing to national preparedness.

In the month since city commissioners ordered the old clump-down on speeders, 39 persons paid 55 fines in corporate court. A friend suggests, and we think rightly so, that the clamor at last Sunday's ball game against a player of Mexican extraction because he figured in an injury to a local player was ill-advised. As he said, such things as that can tear down a million dollars worth of good will toward Latin-Americans.

Here's hoping that the county and city do get together on a jointly supported police radio. Not only will it make more efficient the operations within this county, but in adjoining counties. And that will help us here at home.

Around 20,000 game fish have been put into Moss Creek lake during the past year, and there ought to be good fishing there next season. All are agreed the spot will be a pretty one for sportsmen and boat enthusiasts if and when it is filled.

Bond Sale Campaign To Go All Out

Drive Scheduled In Business Area To Sell Clerks The local campaign for purchases of defense bonds and savings stamps assumes "all-out" proportions this week, as a special drive will be made in the business district to enlist store personnel on a 100 per cent basis. J. B. Collins, director of the campaign for Howard county, said Saturday that the American Business club had taken over the canvassing task, and that several members of the club would begin Monday to contact employers and employees, urging their participation in the defense financing program. They will also ask, Collins said, that stores keep on hand a supply of savings stamps in varying denominations, so that patrons and others may make purchases at anytime without inconvenience. Several downtown points already have the stamps available. Bonds may be purchased at either of the banks or at the postoffice.

C. A. Amos and Roy Reeder are directing the program for the Business club. This group, incidentally, has gone 100 per cent on purchases, every member having obtained a bond or stamps. During the first month of the treasury offering—or until June 1—Big Spring people had purchased $22,522.50 in bonds and stamps. The figures for the month of May were as follows: Postoffice (bonds) $11,756.25. Postoffice (stamps) 941.25. First National, $60,375.00. State National $19,750.00.

Bible Schools Report Good First Week

Simultaneous Vacation Bible Schools, being conducted in three Big Spring churches, closed out their initial week with an aggregate enrollment of 538. Equally gratifying to leaders was the 84 per cent attendance recorded Friday in the schools being conducted by the First Methodist church, the East Fourth Street Baptist church, and the First Baptist church. Friday the gross attendance was 462.

East Fourth Baptist ranked first in both divisions with 277 listed and 178 attending. The First Baptist, third in enrollment with 150, was second with attendance at 144. First Methodist's 101 enrollment ranked second and 140 attendance third.

Plans call for conclusion of the joint effort of the three churches Friday evening with commencement exercises in the churches. Picnics or refreshment hours will be staged on the last day for pupils. At the end of the first week, the First Baptist and East Fourth Baptist groups held separate picnics.

Central theme of the school at the First Methodist is "Our Bible" and leaders declare an unbelievable interest has been manifested. A competent corps of leaders is handling this phase of the work. Intermediate girls are beautifying classrooms with curtains and boys of this age are painting the rooms. Junior girls are knitting for the Red Cross and boys are making things with coping saws. Good attendance has been noted in the beginner and primary groups.

From the East Fourth Baptist church came the news Friday that 15 answered the call Friday with professions of faith.

Arming Of Merchant Vessels Predicted

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—Arming of American merchant vessels was predicted in well-informed congressional circles today after Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, declared the United States would maintain its insistence on freedom of the seas despite German "bluster and threats." One legislator, unwilling to be quoted by name but high in administration confidence, said that in view of the circumstances of the sinking of the freighter Robin Moor "the president is going to have to arm our merchant ships and tell them to protect themselves."

Supreme Court Justice Visitor In Big Spring

Few people at the Lyndon Johnson rally were aware of the presence of a distinguished visitor—a member of the supreme court of the United States. He was William Orville Douglas, associate justice since April of 1939. Justice Douglas, with his wife and children, was enroute west to Silver City, N. M., when he

Roosevelt Freezes Axis Funds In USA; Italy Promises Reprisal

Italy was reported ready Saturday night to seize American property in Italy in quick reprisal for President Roosevelt's order freezing German and Italian assets in the United States. Some fascists in Rome branded the Roosevelt move as "another example of gangsterism" following American "piracy" in previously seizing axis ships in United States ports.

WASHINGTON, June 14 (AP)—At President Roosevelt's direction, the treasury today froze the American assets of Germany and Italy and simultaneously imposed a strict supervision upon all financial transactions with Soviet Russia or its citizens. How much the freezing order might accomplish was brought into question, however, by those who recalled that Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau recently said the axis powers, acting in anticipation of such a move, had already withdrawn sizeable portions of their American funds. "The barn is empty," was Morgenthau's comment.

Nevertheless, to determine the extent of whatever German and Italian holdings remain, and to acquire information of general usefulness in the present situation, the president also ordered an immediate census of all foreign-owned property in the United States. In view of the sweeping geographical nature of the order and of the fact that Japan is an axis partner, some surprise was expressed that that country was not included. Some saw in it additional indications that this country's diplomacy is now directed at improving relations with the Tokyo government and possibly weaning it away from the axis. The Russian aspect of the development aroused extensive speculation. Technically, Mr. Roosevelt included all the countries of Continental Europe in the freezing order. But an accompanying explanatory statement said that in the cases of Russia, Finland, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, and Switzerland transactions would be permitted under a general licensing system. Thus, the president made it clear to Russia that her American funds may be frozen, if it is found that they are being used to finance the purchase of food and materials intended for transportation to Germany or used to finance sabotage and other subversive activities here.

The freezing order means, in effect, that the treasury has taken German and Italian funds and property and the American holdings of all invaded countries into protective custody, to prevent their use for purchases harmful to this nation and the objectives of its foreign policy. No accurate figures on the holdings of the countries involved was available, but the total of German-Italian holdings was estimated at more than $500,000,000. Russian holdings were described as small, and Swiss holdings as very extensive.

The insignia of the laughing cow described on the submarine that sank the Robin Moor caused conjecture as to whether her skipper may have been a comrade-at-arms of Frien.

LONDON, June 14 (AP)—A rift has developed in Soviet Russia in the matter of unstated demands while officers of the Red army are opposed, diplomatic quarters in Helsinki reported tonight. Helsinki dispatches said diplomats there had heard that Defense Commissar S. K. Timoshenko was leading the internal opposition to Stalin's "policy of German appeasement."

Four Charged With Felonies

Friday the 13th brought bad luck to several persons in Big Spring. Four persons were arrested in a drive beginning Friday afternoon by the sheriff's department, to face felony complaints. Alton Wolcott was placed in jail on a warrant issued in Bosque county on a charge of burglary. The sheriff of that county is expected here soon to take him into custody.

In the evening, the pastor will speak on "The Romantic Story of Ruth" at 8 o'clock and E. B. Bethell will be heard in a vocal solo.

Tax Hearing Set For June 30

The Howard county board of equalization has set its regular hearing of tax assessments for June 30, not June 23. Originally the date was set for the 23rd, but was legally changed to the 30th. Friday afternoon's Herald was in error in reporting the date for the 23rd. The correct date again: June 30.

Brief Flag Day Program Staged Here

A young minister, who soon may be assigned to the U. S. army as chaplain, Friday led Big Spring people in a rededication to the principles for which the nation's flag stands. He was the Rev. Bill Taggart, chief speaker at a brief, impressive Flag Day ceremony sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars cooperation with other service and civic organizations. The ceremony was held around the standard on the courthouse lawn before a good crowd and with many United States flags forming the background for the speaker.

Reviewing the history of the emblem, the Rev. Taggart observed that "no matter how long I live, I want to live under it (the American flag)." "It is in great danger today, and the greatest danger is from within." Surest way to protect it, he said, was for the upholding of high moral living, freedom of speech and freedom of action. This calls for contributions in character, thought, laughter, happiness and allegiance, and "an earnest and conscientious effort to combat those who would destroy it," asserted the Rev. Taggart.

Tyrone Power in Valentino Role

'Blood And Sand' At Ritz Theatre Today

Ibanez Story Is Filmed In Technicolor

A well-executed and beautifully mounted film which is a repeat performance of the sensational success made by Rodol Valentino years ago in "Blood and Sand," which headlines the program for today and Monday at the Ritz Theatre.

Starring Tyrone Power who contributes an inspired performance, the film was produced by Darryl F. Zanuck in blazing Technicolor.

Based on the famous novel by Vicente Blasco Ibanez, "Blood and Sand" features Linda Darnell and Rita Hayworth at the head of a star-studded cast.

Depicting the story of a matador who is torn between the love of beautiful wife (Linda Darnell) and the allure of a fiery temptress (Rita Hayworth), "Blood and Sand" is a drama of contrasts. Contrast between the grinding poverty of young Juan Gallardo, the reckless bullfighter before he became the most famous matador of Spain, and the overflowing wealth he achieved afterwards. The contrast between the devotion and the fidelity of Juan's wife, and the callous fickleness of the beautiful siren. All of which makes it one of the most moving and exciting films to come out of Hollywood.

Director Rouben Mamoulian is an artist as well as a realist. It wasn't enough for him to know that the background material filmed in Mexico City would lend an authentic Spanish atmosphere to the picture—he went a step further. He used the Technicolor camera to "paint" instead of merely to photograph the scenes. The result, a creation combining action and art—an impressive screen achievement. It is as if the paintings of the great masters have come to life. Against a lavish setting of vibrant colors, you see unfolded the passions, the love, and the hatreds of a fearless matador. He conquers a nation, but is in turn conquered by a woman who throws him off when she is attracted by another. Thousands of extras and hundreds of actors were employed to bring this sensational story to the screen. "Blood and Sand" combines all the sweep of a panorama with the sensitivity of a great love story.

The outstanding supporting cast includes Nazimova, Anthony Quinn, J. Carroll Nash, John Carradine, Lynn Bari, Laird Craig and Vicente Gomez. Robert T. Kane was the associate producer and Jo Swerling wrote the outstanding screen play.

Sweet Potato Called Texas' Finishing Feed

DENTON, June 14—The sweet potato is the "grain" for which Texas has been looking to solve the "finishing" process in cattle feeding, a "grain" which will permit Texas to compete successfully with the nation's corn belt in meat production, Victor H. Schoffelmeyer, agricultural editor of the Dallas Morning News, declared in an address delivered recently at the North Texas State Teachers College.

The lecture was the first in the "America Today" series being given as an auditorium course at the Denton Teachers College during the first six weeks term this summer.

Paying the highest tribute to the work done by Gilbert Wilson, college chemurgist, on the sweet potato, Schoffelmeyer termed the young NTSU scientist "a leader in the South" in yam research whose experiments have not only made possible sweet potato dehydration but have produced a yam stock feed that "is as good as corn practically any day in the year."

Feeding tests conducted over a 180-day period at Texas A. & M. have established this fact, and have shown that this stock food can be stored indefinitely and fed over a period of time like any other food, the visiting journalist said.

"What a marvelous thing for Texas," he continued, adding that the day will come when the new stock food will be a standard product for the state.

Legislation To Lead A.R.C. COLUMBUS, O.—When the 1942 American Bowling Congress opens here a year hence, the No. 1 team in the tournament will be composed of members of the Ohio General Assembly. The five-man team will be led by Lieut.-Gov. Paul M. Herbert, who was instrumental in bringing the event here, and two democratic and two republican legislators.

Mississippi "Corn" seized JACKSON, Miss.—The dry state of Mississippi, where the farmers and mountaineers make their own "corn," yielded 16 illicit distilleries and 6,702 gallons of mash in one week to federal agents. The agents, in confiscating 394 gallons of "bootleg" whiskey, arrested 21 persons and captured three automobiles.

Latin Love—Maureen O'Hara and James Ellison are the principals in "They Met In Argentina," the Lyric theatre's Sunday-Monday feature and a gay romance with a South American background.

Three Loves—Two lady loves has Tyrone Power in the new Technicolor film, "Blood and Sand"—but he also has another love. The ladies are Linda Darnell and Rita Hayworth. The third love is the bull ring, for Power appears as the mighty matador in the story by Ibanez. "Blood and Sand" is a new version of the picture which made Rodol Valentino famous years ago.

Stanton Man Gets Job With A.A.A.

STANTON, June 14 (Sp)—Henry Houston, who has been employed as bookkeeper at the Stanton Implement Co., leaves Sunday for Dalhart, where he has employment with the A.A.A. agency for that section. Henry just returned from Dalhart where he had gone to see about the new position, and reported that a very light crop prospect was in evidence in that section due to drought, and from Stanton to Amarillo, the crop prospects were bad due to too much rain, hail and wind. No section of country from Stanton to Dalhart could anywhere compare with the fine prospects for all crops that Martin county has in evidence.

S. American Background For Musical

Romantic Comedy, 'They Met In Argentina' At The Lyric

Weaving its sparkling story about the stormy romance of a young American engineer and an imperious Latin heiress, "They Met In Argentina" brings Maureen O'Hara and James Ellison to the screen along with the new South American favorite, Alberto Vila, in what is said to be one of the season's gayest offerings, enacted against the colorful background of Buenos Aires and the gaucho country. The picture is at the Lyric today and Monday.

A wealth of songs and picturesque native dances is linked with the progress of the story, with most of the action taking place at a fashionable Buenos Aires race track, a waterfront bar and a baronial "estancia" on the pampas. Lolita O'Shea, the daughter of a haughty Irish-Argentine grandee, meets Tim Kelly, a young American oil man, at the race meeting. Kelly's American employer orders him to buy Lucero, a noted race horse owned by Lolita's father, and knowing that the proud girl has no intention of selling the animal, Kelly persuades Santiago, the Don's chief gaucho, to introduce him to the estancia as a cattle buyer.

The sentimental Santiago leads Lolita to believe the handsome young Yankee has followed her for personal reasons. When she learns the truth, things begin to happen; further complicated by the arrival of a young Argentine sportsman, Alberto, who is in love with the girl. Kelly's purchasing scheme and the romantic triangle develop when the American suddenly discovers that Lolita is more important to him than Lucero.

Ten catchy songs written especially for the picture by Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart, and several dance numbers of which the most exciting is a gaucho dance, the "Chaco," provides the musical and terpsichorean highlights of the romance.

A special feature of the picture is the introduction of the world's most dangerous game, "El Pato," a gaucho pastime that was outlawed for many years by the Argentine government because of its menace to life and limb. Two versions of the game are shown, an exhibition match in Buenos Aires and a thrilling rough-and-tumble affair among the pampas gauchos after the old fashion. They add plenty of excitement to the offering.

Teamed with Miss O'Hara and Ellison, the Argentine star Vila, well known below the equator for his radio and screen work as an actor and singer, makes his debut to American audiences as Ellison's native rival. Buddy Ebsen, Broadway dance star, as Ellison's companion, and Diana Costello, New York entertainer, are co-featured with them.

The price of imported oil has increased more than 40 per cent in the United States since start of the war.

Reading Room Shows Rapid Year's Growth

Growth in size and popularity has greeted the reading room at the American Business club park in the western part of Big Spring in the year it has been in operation.

A year ago this month, the 1930 Hyperion club started sponsorship of the project with 54 books and 250 magazines. Response was so great that in four months volume of turn-over was so great that the slip method of checking books out had to be abandoned for a stamp and card index system.

Today the library has 565 books on the shelves and 30 more in hands of readers. The magazine total is around 1,200. During the year only two books were lost and they were replaced by the losers.

At the start a total of 44 attended in a day's time, and on June 11 of this year, approximately 12 months later, the reading room accommodated 101 people.

Scouts Portray Wild 'Spy' Hunts

Boy Scouts of Troop No. 1 presented a radio playlet over KEST Saturday at 8:45 a. m., in which they built up an object lesson in passing judgment on suspected "spies."

The play was entitled "The Spy." Theme of the play was the snap conclusion of a boys' organization called the Secret Seven that a merchant of foreign extraction was a spy. Through their scoutmaster they got to the bottom of the case, found the man was simply trying to get his brother out of a concentration camp, and that he was a good American citizen. In the end, the scoutmaster showed them how to ferret out facts and then how to report cases to proper authorities when there was grounds for action.

Participating were Billy Bob McDonald, Red Hull, Bobby Sisson, Bobby Barron, Jimmy Yelvin, Lad Smith, Pat McCarty, and the troop's scoutmaster, Fred Mitchell.

Come on! Drive a Car with "Second Wind"!

You say a racehorse has "heart" when he can turn on the drive coming into the stretch and bring the crowd to its feet with an all-out finish.

Okeh—come try a car that can turn on extra wallop like water from a tap—and see what you would say about Compound Carburetion!

For this stunning Buick straight-eight swings you along sweetly on only half-carburetion as long as you're taking it easy in everyday sort of travel.

But step down on the gas treadle—and things happen.

A second carburetor opens up. Air supply as well as gas supply is increased. Power rises instanter. You get your "stretch drive" any time you give the word.

But—this isn't only for thrill.

This engine's actually more efficient because it has this "second wind."

It gives you a car that has the life and lift you like—and still delivers (on owners' say-so) as much as 10% to 15% more miles per gallon than previous Buicks did.

That would be important any time; it's all the more important now—at the low delivered prices your Buick dealer is asking.

Lyndon Johnson Speaks To Responsive Audience Here

Support Of President In Crisis Vowed

Tall and dynamic Lyndon B. Johnson, a Texan who at the age of 33 occupies an eminent place in the national councils, talked frankly of the need for American action and American unity, in an address in Big Spring Friday night.

It was Johnson's formal bid here for support in his campaign for the U. S. senate; and, many observers said, it was a bid that enlisted quick and extensive response.

The rally, staged on Main street adjacent to the courthouse, drew a crowd estimated at well over 2,000 and was called one of the most spirited such affairs ever held in Big Spring. Seldom, if ever, has a senatorial candidate had such a responsive audience here.

Johnson spoke for 15 minutes on a statewide radio hookup; then deviated about that much more time to an extemporaneous talk with his Howard county listeners. He wound up with a prolonged session of friendly handshaking.

The personable young congressman who entered the Texas contest with the good wishes of President Roosevelt, pounded at the fact that his experience and standing in Washington make him the most useful and effective candidate, he said:

"On June 28 you are going to vote for a Texas senator—whose principal job will be to hitch up and pull with these men (the president, his cabinet and the business leaders) who must do the job if it is done. A kicking horse, an unbroken colt, a bickering animal cannot pull its part of the load and help get the load out of the mud. A trained, experienced mule pulling with the team for four years can!"

Johnson stressed the need for action, if American democracy is to remain secure:

"If freedom loving America is to be saved it must be saved in the next 12 months. There are many things we must do as individuals to contribute our part to saving this land. Unless President Roosevelt and his cabinet, our House of Representatives and your Senate with your support function quickly and efficiently during the next 12 months we cannot meet Nazi efficiency, organization and determination.

"We love peace and hate war. All of us want to keep out of war and if we are to do so we must unite and hurry with our one-for-all and all-for-one program. Unless President Roosevelt, Secretary Hull and the other cabinet members are able to go full steam ahead without interruption we cannot keep out.

"Full and quick preparation is the only way we can avert war. We have bottlenecks all over this country. But as I speak to you tonight, the greatest bottleneck we have is caused by a little group of senators, some of whom were elected as friends of President Roosevelt but who now are making headlines by opposing his foreign policy.

"Because of this opposition your president tonight has to do things by proclamation and persuasion and prestige that he would do by legislation if the team were pulling together.

"Your new senator, speaking the voice of Texas, must say to the people's president and to the people's senate on June 28 'we must keep out of war and to keep out of war we must occupy the strategic point the world's assassins have marked to use for striking at us. We must draft every unemployed man and youth in this country and train them for skilled work. We must have an effective home set-up. We must increase our army to two million. We must stop lockouts, slowdowns or shutdowns, and strikes."

"As a voice of Texas in the United States senate Lyndon Johnson will say to the Lindberghs and Wheelers and the Nyes 'the people elected, and approved the leader-

Wool Market

BOSTON, June 14 (U-P)—(U-P) Worst type wools of both domestic and foreign production were rather slow on the Boston market in the last week. A few types of woolen wools were relatively more active than the combing wools.

The few small sales of three eights and quarter blood bright fleeces were mostly at 46 to 47 cents, in the grease, with an occasional carload selling slightly under 46 cents. Combing half blood bright fleeces were sold at 43 to 45 cents, in the grease, but fine delaine bright fleeces were quiet, with quotations mostly 43 to 44 cents, in the grease.

US-Canadian Relations Discussed By Writer

By LESLIE ROBERTS

Although Canada is at war in Europe as Britain's partner, the Dominion is also Uncle Sam's chief partner in the defense of the Western Hemisphere. Soldiers of both nations jointly occupy Newfoundland. Neutral Uncle Sam underwrites the security of Jack Canuck as the latter goes off to the wars. A strange relationship, judged by our former concepts, but we live in a day when only the strange is normal.

In their memorable meeting in a railway car at Ogdensburg, N. Y., on a September weekend in 1940, president and prime minister pledged their countries to mutual defense. The meeting was typical of the North American way of doing things in its straightforward simplicity and its absence of military pomp. Mr. King left the Canadian capital by automobile and sped along a highway thronged with the cars of well-wishers, without escort or armed guard. Arriving at the Canadian bank of the St. Lawrence he was ferried across to the American shore and was escorted to the president's private car. The two men dined and talked. Their conclusions reached, they passed them along to the waiting press. No censorship was imposed. Nothing withheld. This was an open covenant, arrived at openly.

Core of their conclusions was the immediate appointment of a Permanent Joint Defense Board to coordinate Canadian and American effort for the protection of our continent. The important word is permanent in that it signifies the two nations henceforth will act as one in defending their mutual home, and it is important because it signifies a permanence of association reaching far beyond the borders of defense, indicating a realization that our two ways are one economically and spiritually as well as in the matters of arms. Since then policy has been translated into action and North American defense has become a fact. It has not yet reached the acme of perfection, perhaps, but it is well on its way. The world knows now where North America stands.

On Other Fronts
As in defense, so do these two countries march on other fronts. Scarcely was Lease-Lend's ink dry when Washington and Ottawa initiated an agreement to develop together the St. Lawrence seaway which, flowing east from the Great Lakes through international waters, crosses more than 1,000 miles of Canadian soil to reach the Atlantic. Together Republic and Dominion may proceed to create a canal system enabling ocean-going ships to penetrate into the heart of the continent. Together they may harness the river's great storehouse of latent electric energy. Strange things happen indeed in a world at war. The Seaway plan lay for years in the realm of insoluble problem. No political group cared to risk its life by taking on anything so contentious. But under the driving force of wartime necessity the two countries' leaders could meet and agree between themselves upon policy involving the economic future of a whole continent, within the space of hours!

These are not the only milestones passed on the highway of the New Order in North America. Just the other Sunday president and prime minister met again on the front porch at Hyde Park and brought into being an agreement which makes the defense production of the two countries interchangeable. Now Canada will send Uncle Sam material of which the United States has need and of which the Dominion has a surplus and Uncle Sam will ship defense goods from his huge factories to fill Canadian requirements. Yet a few brief years ago each of these two countries was striving to keep the other's goods out of the domestic market! Our ability to weigh values has improved sharply these last twenty months. We were not always so trusting of one another.

To an American probably the word TROUBLE, used in description of events in North America, takes his mind to I776 or to 1812, to the Oregon dispute or the argument over Alaska, but to Canadians it brings back other acrimonious debates, some of which have occurred within the memory of today's middle-aged voters. In 1911, for example, a great to-do occurred north of the border over a question of a reciprocal trade agreement. Canadian patriots howled "No Truck or Trade with the Yankees!" President Taft added fuel to the fire by using the term annexation in a speech. A Canadian government was defeated at the polls on the strength of its friendly attitude to the neighbors and Reciprocity went into the wastebasket. Again, shortly after the last war, the Smoot-Hawley Tariff, designed to drive Canadian producers out of what they had come to regard as their natural market, gave rise to much anti-American feeling in Canada and that sure espouser of ill-will, a brick-for-brick tariff policy, in reply. Chicago's diversion of a huge volume of Great Lakes water, with consequent lowering of the St. Lawrence in Canada, brought new mutterings in the north. So did the activities of prohibition enforcement agents, who sometimes pursued good Canadian bootleggers on sacred Canadian soil and attempted to drag them back across the line without so much as a by-your-leave to Canada. In point of fact, Canadians were always extremely touchy about encroachments on their vested rights, whereas Americans have sometimes been thoughtless of the convenience and rights of their neighbors. That is simply the age-old story of the Big Fellow and the Little Fellow, the latter inclined to nurse grievances largely imaginary, the former appearing to ride rough-shod without always realizing what he is doing. Overnight, however, petty differences have disappeared under the impact of our mutual need. Who wants to squabble when the house is on fire?

Time Will Tell
What the nature of the final association between these two good neighbors is to be only time can tell. At the moment the details do not seem important. Great principles are all that matter in the Here and Now. The details can be worked out later, when we have time on our hands again. All that will be needed to assure the working out of a successful permanent association is the continuance of today's friendly warmth and generosity, both ways.

Although Canada is not a direct beneficiary, Lease-Lend has warmed the cockles of every Canadian heart. The brave words of Franklin Roosevelt and his defeated opponent, Wendell Willkie, have lifted Canadians to new emotional heights. They talk the Canadian language, give voice to ideals vaguely shaped in Canadian thoughts. Today Canadians and Americans walk hand in hand, better friends than any previous time in their history.

No matter what may happen, the signs are writ large that the two great nations which share North America will be united in even closer bonds after Peace returns. Democracy has learned its lesson at last, and has learned it the hard way. In North America the way is open to a complete and permanent accord such as we have never known before. Such a partnership need affect no other partnerships may even strengthen them. All the old barriers are down. Indivisible in ideals, impregnable in defense, the two great American nations may yet be the means of leading mankind to a new concept of brotherhood and peace. God speed the day! That, at least, is the hope of every true Canadian. (This is the first article by Mr. Roberts on Uncle Sam's northern neighbor, Canada.)

Non-Coms To Pilot Planes

Impetus to enlistment was expected to result from a new ruling which will permit non-coms to pilot army aircraft. Sgt. Gibson, U. S. army recruiting officer, observed today in reference to an announcement carried in the Army Times, national weekly newspaper for the United States army.
According to the Times announcement, high school graduates ambitious to become army pilots now have their chance. "Even if their educational qualifications do not admit of their becoming officers, they may still fly army airplanes and may look forward to careers as pilots."

It was added that the flying non-com has been a part of the British and German air forces for years, but "he is something new in the U. S. A." for the policy has been to permit only officers to pilot craft.
However, under the existing regulations, recruiting for the air corps continued at a brisk pace. Two more enlistments were reported for the air corps Friday by the sergeant. They were A. C. Akins, Snyder, whose nearest kin is his sister, Viola DeWeese of Dunbar, Calif., and Burnie L. Williams, Lamesa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burnie Williams. Both were assigned to Kelly Field at San Antonio. This week he has reported seven enlistments for the air corps.
A wind velocity of 231 miles an hour was reported in 1934 atop Mount Washington, New Hampshire.

Poll Shows Johnson In Lead In Senate Race

WACO, June 14 — From 24,200 Texans questioned on their choice for senator this week, ending Friday noon, the actual figures show Johnson first, Mann second, O'Daniel third and Dies fourth. These ballots have been adjusted to conform with the fact that Houston has 64,000 poll taxes, and because relatively too few persons were questioned in that city as against relatively too many polled in the smaller cities such as Amarillo, Texarkana, Waco, Austin, Corpus Christi, Wichita Falls and San Angelo. The cities of Dallas and Fort Worth were not polled adequately, but an arbitrary number of ballots were allotted to the Dallas-Tarrant county area in the proportion of 40 per cent Mann, 25 per cent O'Daniel, 20 per cent Johnson and 15 per cent Dies.

It is believed these adjustments representing 24,200 actual ballots and arbitrary corrections which would make them represent some 30,000 ballots does reflect the probable proportion of the city and near city vote. Even this poll would be subject to correction as it has been difficult to reach the correct proportion of the voters in the extremely isolated districts.
So, as the senate race reaches the turn and swings next week into the home stretch, it is fair to assume that Dies is not a serious contender against the other three—Mann, O'Daniel, and Johnson—are hunched so closely that it may be a photo finish with only the factor of brains and drive to determine the last minute victor.
Gamblers betting odds which started out three to one for O'Daniel to win against the field, and almost 10 to one against Johnson, then called the newswriter candidate, have changed to about even money on O'Daniel and three to two against Johnson and Mann. But it is notorious that book makers are conservative and are slow to change odds.
Percentage results, therefore, show the following (persons actually questioned, 24,200, arbitrarily added for adjustment in Dallas and Tarrant, 1,900):
Lyndon Johnson 25.50
Gerald Mann 25.15
W. Lee O'Daniel 17.84
Martin Dies 15.87
Undecided 15.84
The El Paso vote has not been estimated and is not included in this poll. Telephone advice indicates Johnson leads there through a combination of newspaper and political support. The situation in Fort Worth and Tarrant county seems to be improving for Johnson with O'Daniel showing losses.
The northwest, north and northeast polls show impressively for Mann, and include such towns as Amarillo, Paris and Texarkana. In the extreme north are Denison and Sherman. The territory from the Red river to Wichita Falls down through the central West Texas belt and including San Angelo has switched from Mann leadership to Johnson leadership within the past week, possibly due to Johnson's personal appearances and large crowds and his all-out Roosevelt addresses. Johnson's 44 percent of the San Angelo poll as against 14 percent for Mann and 28 percent for O'Daniel is very impressive as indicating the sharpness of the whirl away gains that Johnson has made since leaving the hospital.
It must be noted that both Johnson and O'Daniel have not been campaigning as long or as consistently as Dies and Mann. On a straight handshaking basis Mann for two years has thoroughly covered the state and was the first to announce. Johnson started two weeks late, was in bed with throat trouble for almost two weeks and has actually been campaigning less than one month. Just what these factors mean when translated in terms of a state campaign poll is any reader's guess. It is to be expected that all candidates, with the possible exception of O'Daniel, will be 300 per cent active from now until the 28th. While not so many votes are made in the last two weeks of a campaign, it is true that the enthusiasm of candidates' workers grows if the candidate is on the rise.

Refrigerator Prices Reduced

The average price of an electric refrigerator 20 years ago was $600.

The average price today is $154—for a lot better product.

One thing that made this price reduction possible was that millions of people bought electric refrigerators. Volume brought prices down.

And one thing that made volume possible was advertising, which taught people to want electric refrigerators. That's how advertising helps bring prices down.

Lookin 'em Over

WEEK JACK DOUGLAS

Truly 'tis an astounding day and locality in which Big Springers reside. Where else but in Big Spring could the following whacky happening be pulled off in the light of day.

Horace Wallin, a local divotering hopeful who surely must have been born under the sign of a screwball star, made a hole on the number nine unit of the Munny golf course—holed in we say, but look where he did it. Horace, he of the truthful word, dropped his tee shot into a pocket—a pocket belonging to Tom Belcher, course employee.

What happened was this—Belcher owns a full jumper coat, one with voluminous side pockets. He was busily engaged in his duties near a small break that bisects the number nine fairway, when he was startled by a ball, the same belonging to the aforesaid Wallin, popping against his arm, rolling downward, and nestling peacefully in his pocket.

All doubting Thomases are referred to Wallin's companions on the particular occasion, Bill Sandridge and A. Wiggins.

Jack Smith, golfer visiting Big Spring's Munny setup during the over-abundance of water on Midland fairways, turned in the hottest card of the day, Saturday, putting 74 on the book over the 73 par course.

A mob of Midlanders have been given the Munny course a big play since the recent heavy rains, and, according to them, the course is sporting enough for the most exacting follower of the good Saint Andrew.

Jodie Tate came back to Big Spring Saturday morning, bloody but unbowed. He affirmed that the Big Spring Bombers came near to suffering mayhem at the hands of Berger and Pampa but was also stout in his claim that it is a healthy condition for a club to run into slow spots. He's right, too.

+ BETTER + + TENNIS +

By DICK SKEEN
Professional Tennis Star

Win your own serve and you'll never lose! That tennis axiom states fully the importance of service. It's a difficult stroke but once you master it you don't lose the knack. Some things to remember about service.

Don't pitch the ball any higher than you can reach with the center of your racket. Hit it at that point since, for a fraction of a second, it is at a stationary position before beginning to drop—and a stationary object is much easier to hit than a moving one.

Keep your eye on the ball all the time and keep your target in your mind's eye only.

Throw the ball slightly toward the net and a little in front of you to allow full hitting power. Keep the left foot behind the line and in contact with the court. Whether you move the right foot is a matter of individual choice.

Starting the swing with the head of the racket at a low point behind your back gives a longer swing at the ball.

In the picture I'm using the continental grip, generally accepted as the service grip.

At first, try merely to get the ball in the proper court with enough forward spin for control. Later try for placement on both sides of the service court near the service line, then work for different spins on the ball. Let speed wait until last.

You aren't expected to win many points outright on your service but you should force your opponent into many weak returns from which you can win the point.

Bomber Album

HANK POITRAS

Hank Poitras, Big Spring Bombers' stellar guardian of the hot corner, has come a long way and traveled a devious route to land on the Bomber roster.

The six-foot, 180-pound, right-handed third-baseman, first saw the light of day in Salem, Mass., the city of witch-burning fame. But, Hank wasted little time, burning anything but the road and the opposition so far as he was concerned, hitting the trail to baseball, hitting the trail to baseballistic reward when he was little more than a tad in knee pants.

In his 22-years Hank has seen a lot of country and has played a lot of baseball, although this year is his first in regularly organized pro circles.

Way back in 1935 Hank performed in the Provincial League of Canada under the Drummondville, Quebec, colors. Hank prefers to exclude that from his regular playing history, because the circuit was strictly on an outlaw basis.

He first started out as a pitcher while in high school, but, feeling the urge to compete every day instead of every fourth one or so, decided that he had the makings of a third-baseman. Following this line of thought, he has played with semi-pro clubs in Massachusetts, and for a while performed in the Southern California baseball association, rated just about the tops in winter loops. Last winter he worked for the Vultee Aircraft plant to add to his store of coffee and cake money. While in California, he became one of the members of the Brooklyn Dodger organization, and so came to Big Spring from the Santa Barbara training camp as one of Uncle Jodie Tate's prize finds.

What else has Hank done in a life that, despite the lack of years, has been crowded with a lot of baseball and a lot of living? He put in a hitch with Uncle Sam's navy, thereby being less liable to immediate call for military service.

As for what he is, Hank is of good French-Canadian stock and plenty proud of it.

What gives the best estimate of Hank's playing ability? Well, when he muffs a play the fans do not give a sigh of resignation, they explode—meaning, Big Springers, that Hank Poitras, a gentleman off the field, a demon on it, is one of those baseballers who's mis-takes are a rarity instead of a common occurrence. In other words, he's a bloody good player and one who, if something untoward doesn't stop him, has a bang-up career ahead of him.

OLDSMOBILE'S HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE PUTS CLUTCH PEDAL ON THE BENCH!

Clutch Pedal Gets "Unconditional Release"—In an Olds Hydra-Matic, the conventional clutch is replaced by fluid coupling. This is made possible by use of a fully automatic transmission.

Gear Shifting Goes "Back To The Mirrors"—From first to second, second to third and third to fourth—all shifting is automatic in a Hydra-Matic Oldsmobile.

A CLUTCH pedal plays no part in the game, when you drive a Hydra-Matic Oldsmobile. Hydra-Matic Drive eliminates the clutch pedal completely—and it's the only drive in the world that does. Hydra-Matic eliminates manual gear shifting in the forward speeds, too—and that, again, is an exclusive Hydra-Matic feature.

Other devices have names that imply automatic driving—make claims to "no-clutch, no-shift" operation, under certain conditions. Yet, no matter what the others say, these facts remain undisputed: Only Hydra-Matic is completely automatic! Hydra-Matic steps up get-away, saves gasoline and enlivens all-round performance.

Try Hydra-Matic and you'll quickly conclude it's the only drive for you!

Father's Day

Dad is coming into his own at last and gradually. The institution of Father's Day is at least a beginning for a genuine appreciation of the part Father plays in the lives of his children. Throughout the ages much has been said about Mother but Father felt he was mainly a meal ticket whose opinions in the rearing of his children seldom had weight. Father's Day can fittingly be symbolized by the fathers and sons here shown—fathers who have played the double role of father and mother to their sons. O. F. Priest is pictured with two of his three sons, O. F. Priest, Jr., age 18, a high school student whose spare time is taken up in work for the Ritz theatre, and D-Eon, 15-year-old youngest son, who has shown considerable talent in art and has carried off "a few prizes in art" to quote his father. Mr. Priest's oldest son, Norman F., is in the first medical squadron in the army and stationed at Fort Bliss. Mother of the children died in April 1933. Shown below are Burke Summers, Sr., and Jr. Mr. Summers is an exceptional father in that he believes his son "just a boy"—at least that is what he says. The lad is 13 years old and a sophomore in high school. Mr. Summers has played a double role in the life of his son for about six years. (Photos by Kelsey.)

Cooperative Wheat Shipping Plan Formed

A dozen wheat growers of Howard county have organized a plan for shipping of the wheat crop to storage for securing the government loan.

They have formed the Howard County Grain committee, members of which are W. B. Puckett, W. H. Ummer and J. D. Garlington, to have charge of the cooperative project.

All wheat farmers so desiring may ship wheat through the cooperative, at no cost other than actual expenses. County Agent O. P. Griffin explained that by shipping the wheat by rail to elevator, a loan of $1.11 instead of $1.00, the amount which could be obtained if the wheat were trucked to Fort Worth. This will reimburse the shipper for all except four cents per bushel of the freight he pays.

The wheat farmers will not have to advance freight costs or other costs, a plan having been worked out to avoid this difficulty. The farmer will simply bring his wheat to cars on the siding in Big Spring, receive his loan as soon as papers are returned, and pay the committee the costs of freight and loading.
