Salvage for Victory

"Salvage Consciousness should be present in every home in Schleicher County, states Miss Mary Lewis, County Home Demonstration Agent and Woman Chairman of the County Salvage Committee. The men have surely done their part in the collection of scrap iron and other materials, and now is the time for the women to come to the front. The Collection of waste fats, tin cans, silk Woman's job.

If you have old silk or nylon hose, bring them in to Home Demonstration Agents office, Coulter's Tailor Shop or Ratliff's Store. These hose are to make powder bags.

Are you saving old tin cans? These cannot be collected now as the plants have all that can be handled at this time, but now is the time to begin saving them. Remove both ends, wash and dry well, step on them to mash them flat and store in a dry place in boxes or paper sacks.

If every housewife in the U. S. were to cooperate in the Waste Fats Program for one week to the extent of saving four ounces of household fats, they would produce enough glycerine to manufacture 13,000,000 pounds of gun powder. For every housewife who does not cooperate in this program, deduction must be made from this figure. How many deductions must be made in Schleicher County?

Do save all your old fats by straining fat drippings to remove jar or metal container even an old coffee can and keep in a cool place. This can be brought in to your butcher who will pay you 4c per pound. Do not bring in less than a pound at the time and bring it in a metal container to Wheeler Grocery, the Red and White, The City Grocery, or Wrights Grocery. These stores will buy your fats.

What will Schleicher County do in this Salvage Campaign Women, this is a job you can do. Lets see just how much fat and how many hose we can collect during January.

The Red Cross women are bask at work. They want to thank Mrs. Harry Freund and Mrs. M. M. Reynolds for the cloths they sent to the Red Cross.

It Takes Both, War Bonds and Taxes, to Win — Victory Tax Special Direct Levy Asked to Help Meet Heavy War Costs

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Approximately 50,000,000 American workers began to make an added contribution to the War cost this month in the form of a 5% Victory tax.

For many millions of Americans the Victory tax and the 1943 income tax are the first direct levies to be made by the Government to meet the staggering War costs. And it will take both . . . taxes and War Bonds . . . to provide the supplies and materials to win the War and the peace afterwards.

The Treasury Department estimates that the Victory tax will raise approximately $2,000,000,000. Every person receiving more than $12 per week must pay the Victory tax upon that part of his income over and above the $12. For example, a married man with a salary of $50 per week, with two dependents, would make only a net payment of $1.06 per week after allowance for post-war credit.

The Government has made every effort to make the impact of the new tax as light as possible. The law, in effect, provides that in the case of married persons whose sole income is from wages or salary, 40 percent of the Victory tax paid (up to a maximum of $1,000) plus 2 percent for each dependent (up to a maximum of $100) may be used as a credit against whatever Federal income taxes the individual may owe at the end of the year—provided he has purchased certain War Bonds, or paid old debts or paid life insurance premiums equal to the amount of this credit. In the case of single persons this credit will be 25 percent of the Victory tax paid (up to a maximum of $500). Should the Victory tax credit exceed the individual's Federal income tax, the unused portion of the credit may be refundable to the taxpayer.

Even with the Victory tax, the 1943 income tax, and all other taxes paid by individuals, the average American will have more money with which to buy War Bonds than he has ever had before. Here are the statistics which explain that statement:

In 1940 the total income payments made to the American people amounted to about 76 billion dollars. In that same year the total personal taxes paid, Federal, State and local, were roughly 2.5 billion dollars, leaving 73.5 billion dollars of disposable income. During 1943 total income payments are expected to rise to 125 billion dollars and total personal taxes under existing revenue legislation will be 15 billion dollars—leaving 110 billion dollars of income at our disposal as against only 73.5 billion dollars in 1940.

In 1943 Mr. Average American will still be carrying a much lighter tax load than his Canadian or English brothers-in-arms. In Great Britain total national and local taxes paid by individuals at present amount to 31 percent of the national income. In Canada, total individual taxes amount to 25 percent of the national income. In the United States, total personal taxes, Federal, State and local, will amount in 1943 to 18 percent of national income. Our English allies invest an additional 10 percent of national income in War savings. Our Canadian allies invest an additional 11 percent of national income in War savings. We Americans, to match the record of our Canadian neighbors, would have to invest this year 20 percent of our national income in War savings. To match the English record we would have to invest 23 percent of national income in War savings.

The City Council is to be commended for changing the water rates to encourage the planting of gardens. It is the time of all times that every home should produce as many vegetables as possible. This will prevent the drain of vegetables on the commercial market, thus enabling those products to be used elsewhere. At the same time it will afford the home with vegetables that are fresher and more nutritious. Laboratory tests have proven that vegetables lose a great part of their vitamins and food value a few hours after they are harvested. Prospective garden raisers should arrange for their seed early as there will definitely be a shortage of good seed this spring.

To get the most eggs from your hens, feed all the laying mash they will eat and in addition feed one gollon of grain per hundred birds each day. The grain may be corn chops maize, hegari or kafer corn.

In drenching cattle for stomach worms the following doses of Phenothazine is recommended:
3 1-2 to 4 ounces for grown cows
2 ounces for yearlings and one ounce for calves. Cattle do not require as much drench per pound of body weight as does sheep. The drench may be given with a 4 oz. sheep drenching syringe or with a bottle.

Payroll Savings Plan. At least 10% of your salary every payday. Not 6%, or 7% or 8% — but at least 10%. And more, if possible.

Many Americans who ought to be buying War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan every payday, aren't. They just haven't yet STOPPED TO THINK what it means to Johnny.

Don't be like that, lady. Invest your 10% with Uncle Sam — payday after payday. You'll get a big kick out of it.
Knowing that you, personally, are sending him the guns, planes, bombs, tanks — whatever it is he needs!

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO

If you are . . .

1. Already investing 10% of your pay in War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan — boost that 10% if you can.
2. Working in a plant where the Plan is installed, but haven't signed up yet — sign up tomorrow.
3. Working in a plant where the Payroll Savings Plan hasn't been installed, talk to your union head, foreman, or plant manager — and see if it can't be installed right away. The local bank will be glad to help.
4. Unable to get in on the Payroll Savings Plan for any reason, go to your local bank, or wherever bonds are sold. They will be glad to help you start a plan of your own.

Rosebud

Rosebud is eight, and the most beautiful shade of caramel fudge. To her loving Mammy and Pappy she is known, on approximately alternate days, as "Angel" and "You devil child". It was on her devil child days that Rosebud tied the knots in the shirts that Mammy had taken in for washing, and poured the whole of the vanilla bottle into the lamb stew, just, she said later through bitter tears, to "flavor it up some".

On her angel days Rosebud is equally imaginative even if a more restful occupant of the little shack down on Vinegar Hill. Once when Mammy was out doing day work, Rosebud got a wave of cleaning fever and scoured every pot and pan in the kitchen so that they literally glistened. Another day, left alone, she tidied up Mammy's and Pappy's room to such a point of apple-pie order that it was a week before Pappy could find an undershirt.

Rosebud is a great reader of the newspapers. Mammy and Pappy don't take one, but there are plenty of perfectly good newspapers blowing round Vinegar Hill. It was out of one of them that Rosebud got her idea for spending the ten cents the Bunny had put under her pillow the night her tooth came out. After breakfast Rosebud disappeared down the Hill and reappeared soon after with a beautiful ten-cent War Stamp pasted firmly into a brand-new book with neat little squares for more stamps. She displayed her investment to Mammy. "I declare you're an angel child," Mammy said. Rosebud went on sitting on the kitchen floor staring with large brown eyes at the empty squares in her book. From time to time she took hold of one or another of her teeth and wiggled it, gently.

Mammy was engrossed in a particularly big washing. Rosebud was as quiet as a mouse and Mammy forgot about her until, coming in from the yard with her arms full of dry sheets, she encountered her child with a large hammer in her hand. Scenting the devil in her angel child, Mammy shouted at her, "Rosebud! Come yere with that hammer! What you planning on doing?"

But what was done was done. In Rosebud's other hand was another tooth. Her mouth was stretched in a broad if slightly bloody smile. "I ain't doing nothing, Mammy," she said. "I'm just filling up my stamp book."

Half-Effort Will Not Defeat Japan

By JOSEPH C. GREW

United States Ambassador to Japan until the outbreak of war, and author of "Report From Tokio."

(Written for the Treasury Department in connection with the Retailers' "SAY YES" campaign to complete the nation's 100,000,000 partially filled War Stamp albums.)

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In describing one of the big air battles over Guadalcanal a recent newspaper account tells of an American flyer who parachuted from his crippled plane to the waters of Lunga Bay. The Navy craft which picked him up next went to the rescue of a Japanese pilot seen struggling in the water nearby. As the rescue boat reached the Japanese flyer he suddenly pulled out his revolver, aimed it at the drenched American pilot and pulled the trigger. The cartridge failed to explode. Then the Japanese officer turned the gun on himself with suicidal intent. Again he pulled the trigger and again his revolver failed him. At this point an American sailor knocked him out with a boat hook and pulled him aboard the American craft a prisoner.

a warrior caste which is ruthless and cruel beyond comprehension. From the flood of eye witness accounts of atrocity and bestiality one

JOSEPH C. GREW

Says It's Fight to Finish

Almost daily one reads eye-witness stories such as this one, and all of them clearly demonstrate that war with our enemy in the Pacific cannot end in compromise.

For ten years I lived in Japan. The truth as I know it from close observation is this: Nothing less than the exertion of our maximum capacities, individually and collectively, in a war of offense will bring our beloved country safely to the longed-for haven of victorious peace.

The Japanese are pawns of a senseless but mighty militarism—fact shines clear. We must utterly crush that machine and caste and system. If, however, we Americans think that collectively and individually we can continue to lead our normal lives, leaving the spirit of self-sacrifice to our soldiers and sailors, we shall unquestionably run the risk of a stalemate with Japan. I do not have the slightest doubt of our eventual victory. But I do not wish to see the period of our blood, sweat and tears indefinitely and unnecessarily prolonged. We must not fail to realize that we are up against a powerful fighting machine, a people whose morale cannot be broken even by successive defeats and untold economic hardship, a people who gladly sacrifice their lives for their Emperor and their nation. We must also remember that Japan did not start this war without carefully laid military plans for victory over the United States and a peace dictated by their war lords at the White House.

This is a total war, the only answer to which is a total American victory. It is a war in which half measures of any kind mean incredible waste of material, energy and human life. In this sense a half-filled War Savings Stamp album is symbolic of a half effort. There are, I am told, roughly 100 million partially complete War Stamp albums now in circulation. These uncompleted Stamp albums are, in a measure, like a 100 million threats to a speedy and victorious peace. On the other hand, for every War Savings album completed and cashed in for a Bond, you the owner have helped some soldier or sailor take a forward step on the uphill road to total victory. U. S. ### POWER

By M. R. FRISKEY
McClure Syndicate—WNU Features.

STEVE pushed his heavy white coffee cup across the table toward his wife. Silently, she poured the steaming black liquid into it. Steve was a big man—always knew what he wanted, and had nerve enough to go out after it.

The glare of the single light bulb suspended above them was diffused by the haze of the room where hung the mingled odors of coffee, strong soap on linoleum, unpainted pine boards. None of the one-room shacks along the river which housed the power-house employees had been painted.

Ann brushed her hair back off her forehead and rose to cross the room, moving as though fatigue had eaten into her body like a disease. She studied the flushed face of the child on the pillow.

"Steve, she's worse!"
"Ah, she'll be alright. But I'll send the Doc over on my way to the plant."

Something in his manner arrested his wife. She turned quickly. "You're not going—to do any damage tonight, Steve?"
"Why not?"

She knew by the set of his chin and the glint in his eyes, that she could as easily change the course of the swirling river outside, as stop him.

"But, Steve," she pleaded, holding onto the lapels of his rough wool jacket, "violence won't get you anywhere. You're strong and brave and big, but Steve, you gotta be smart to get anywhere. You gotta be smart!"

"Don't worry, kid, I'm smart. I'm just going to talk to those birds in a language they can understand."
"But, Steve! Twenty-three thousand volts!"

But despite her deeply appealing look she seemed to sense that her entreaty was of no avail.

"Didn't I just tell you I was smart? Well, I ain't planning to toast myself to a cinder with the voltage in that place." He lowered his voice.

"There's an easier way to blow up the works. Stop the flow of pulverized coal, see? Flame goes out. Start the flow again, and when the furnace is full—the coal ignites from the hot walls . . . that's all. No more furnace. Why, it's just the kind of thing that's apt to happen any day, in the best plants. That'll show 'em! Think they can get us guys to come down to live in this hole on the chance that we'll make enough money to live right some day. And what do they do? Cut our pay! Lay men off! Cut our pay some more, and leave us stuck in this hole, the dirty—I'll show 'em!"

Steve's face softened as he looked at his little girl. He lifted a wisp of curl on his clumsy finger. The heavy eyelids stirred a little.

"I went out this morning to tell you rabbits you was better," the big man said softly, "but they was so disappointed it wasn't you, that they wouldn't have a thing to do with me."

A breath of cold, fresh air blew into the little room as the door was opened, and he was gone.

Doc Jones and Ann sat watching the child in silence as the long hours dragged by. Her noisy breathing

HOW DO YOU USE YOUR MILK QUOTA?

Source of data — U. S. D. A.

An Average Person Consumes the Equivalent of 390 Quarts of Milk Each Year

More milk is consumed in fluid form in the United States than in any other way. As milk and cream, the average person consumes the equivalent of 159 quarts of milk a year. Milk is the nation's No. 1 protective food. "To achieve optimum health, consumption should be greatly increased," states Mrs. Ethel Austin Martin, Director of Nutrition for the National Dairy Council. The minimum recommendation of one pint of milk for each adult and one quart of milk for each child calls for an average per capita consumption of about 270 quarts of milk in fluid form.

Butter is the best natural food source of vitamin A. It also contains certain other growth factors not found in most fats. The average person in the United States consumes 16.6 pounds of butter a year which is much less than is desirable for optimum health. To make this amount of butter, 157 quarts of milk are required.

Because cheese contains nearly all the ingredients of milk, it is considered one of the most important of the protective foods. From the standpoint of both economy and food value, it deserves a much more important place in the American diet. The 5.7 pounds of cheese which the average American consumes in a year requires 26 quarts of milk in its manufacture.

Ice cream is rapidly coming to be appreciated for its palatability, food value and economy. Consumption of ice cream is more than double that of eight years ago and is increasing rapidly. Nineteen quarts of milk are needed to make the 10.8 quarts of ice cream that the average person consumes in a year.

In addition to the above well-known products, 29 quarts of milk go into the manufacture of concentrated and dry milk products.

and the ticking of the clock were the only sounds.

Suddenly electrified into activity, the doctor said: "Get me a blanket on that kitchen table! Cover it with a clean sheet. Put on a big apron and tie your hair back with a clean napkin."

"Doc," gasped Ann. "You don't mean?" Her knees dissolved into putty.

"Gotta open up her throat and put a tube in. Sometimes happens in diphtheria. Work fast there. Boil some water for me."

He picked up a coarse brush and scrubbed his hands until they were raw.

Swiftly and silently the doctor and Ann transformed the kitchen into an operating room.

"Don't worry, Ann," he assured her. "Heart is strong. Got to get her some air. Steady now, Ann. Stick it out. Lose one minute now and we would be too late!"

The doctor leaned over his little patient, his hand steady with the assurance that he could save the child with his skill.

Suddenly the light went out! There was the distant thud of an explosion at the power plant. Only darkness remained and the smell of strong soap on linoleum, unpainted pine boards.

Ann crushed the small form, to her, vainly trying to do by sheer force of will and prayer what science had no chance to do. "Dear God," she prayed. "Dear God!" And the pain within her numbed her whole body as though her own heart had been cut out in that improvised operating room.

The noisy breathing of the child and the hollow ticking of the kitchen clock continued for a few minutes and then there was just the clock.

Hours later, Ann was conscious of cold air on her face as the front door was flung open. Steve's gruff voice filled the house.

"Hi, girl," he called into the darkness. "Done a swell job, all right. Don't tell me I ain't smart!"
