School board initiates some necessary school renovation

Schleicher County School Trustees considered several items involving renovation work of school properties at their regular monthly meeting Monday night. Reports were received on the repair of the elementary school building, the football field and some of the school teacherages as well as other various items of business.

Mr Gary Donaldson presented an estimate of cost to repair a portion of the old elementary building hallway. Donaldson indicated that their investigation showed that there was not any major problem with the building itself and that a faulty pipe or some other possible source of moisture caused the ground to move which then caused a portion of the hall to buckle up.

Donaldson submitted an approximate cost to repair the floor of $3362.00 and the board unanimously passed the motion to accept the proposal. Donaldson stated that the hallway renovation and other related work could easily be completed during the summer months. Other work will involve replacing electrical fuse boxes, replacing water and steam pipes and replacing some of the doors at the entrance of the old elementary building.

Board members Earl Lloyd, Kenneth Homer and Billy Williams brought the remaining trustees up to date on work being done on the football field. Lloyd stated that the field had been plowed, humus material added as well as fertilizer, and with the recent rains stated the field is in real good shape. According to this committee, plans are to purchase grass sprigs of Tex-Turf 10, a grass specifically designed for football fields.

No more Santa Fe trains through Eldorado!

by Nell Edmiston

There will be no more trains coming through Eldorado, no more whistles and no more merchandise going out or coming into the town by rail.

The announcement was made by the Santa Fe railroad officials last month and the last carload went down the lonely tracks April 5.

The Interstate Commerce Commission issued a certificate and order March 10, 1977 which authorized abandonment of the 64.8 miles of line in the Santa Fe Sonora District between San Angelo and Sonora, according to Santa Fe representative, Susan Metcalf.

She said that arrangements have been made to remove empty cars from the line and disconnect track at the beginning of abandonment at San Angelo.

Nugent holds "rap" session

by Jim McWilliams

State Representative Jim Nugent held an hour and a half informal information sharing session with local citizens in the Schleicher County Courthouse last Saturday, April 16.

Fourteen local residents expressed their views and asked questions about pending state legislation.

School Superintendent Guy Whitaker and school board member Dr Jim Brame asked for some clarification of the pending school bill.

Nugent said that property taxes will possibly be frozen or lowered; but the school system could still raise the evaluation of property, and in effect raise additional revenue.

He also favors the addition of 3 more steps in teacher pay scales. This, he hopes, will keep the competent teachers in the classroom, rather than looking to private industry for higher salaries.

Nugent said, "Our entire public education situation will have to be redone. The land owner cannot sustain the cost of public education."

The Texas highway program needs to have another means of increasing revenue.

"Our highway department is operating on a 5 cents a gallon tax. If this is true in 1981, then they will have money only for maintenance. No money will be available for improvements on existing roads or new construction."

One way of having more available money would be Nugent's proposal for a 5 cent per barrel tax on all oil going into Texas Refineries. Three fourths of that money would be earmarked for public education. The remaining 1/4 would be allocated for highways. Nugent commended the school board.

There's a rainbow in Eldorado, and it's around "Aunt Claudie!"

Jannette Wilkerson

Did you ever wonder what was really at the end of a rainbow? I found that 'pot of gold' today. She's Mrs Claudie Galbreath, and has lived in our county since 1914. She was born Claudie Mae McDonald in Gillispie County in 1894, married Clyde Galbreath in 1912, and for the past nine years has been confined to a wheelchair. "When my knees collapsed, I knew I would never walk again, but I thank God every day for this beautiful world I live in, and through this window I enjoy each season, day by day."

Aunt Claudie, as she is referred to by her friends and family, was the seventh daughter of a family of ten children, and though she had no children of her own, she has a rare understanding of children and people that has made her life a beautiful testimony of Christian love. She taught the beginners for many years in the First Baptist Church. "They taught me, really," a bright smile illuminated the room, as she recalled the years filled with antics of small children in her Sunday School groups. Her work in the Church has been a great source of joy and fulfillment, and even now, being unable to attend the services, she looks forward to the taped Sermons and music every week. "I know God knows what He's doing, and I guess I had to be 'sit down' before I 'woke up.' I'm so lucky! I have so many good friends, relatives, and blessings. I have time to pray and meditate. My eyes allow me to watch the world outside and I can read the Scripture. One time I had to go to the hospital in the ambulance and I sure enjoyed the ride, it was nice seeing the things I hadn't seen in a long time." That's the kind of attitude that has made Aunt Claudie a person to be envied, and not pitied.

Her beauty is not only physical, it's also spiritual. Her smooth, pretty face is framed by soft silver curls and her voice you seem to hear with your heart. Her words are filled with the wisdom and faith few people are ever blessed with. "God has given me 83 years, and I'm grateful for every day. I sit here and watch the quail come up in my yard and there's always something to see." She glanced around the sunny, spotless room, and laughed, "I call this old house my 'Mansion,' I've lived here 35 years and I love it. Clyde and I always wanted a big family, I wanted five or six daughters, but I never get lonesome and I do so love company."

"I've had a very good and busy life, for 12 years I baked pies for the Cafe, sometimes I would bake 20 pies a day. It sure made me feel good when someone told me they were the 'best' pies they ever tasted." While visiting with Mrs Galbreath it was evident her greatest pleasure came from making someone happy. "I have made a lot of quilts, crochet, and tating and gave it to my friends and family. I'm glad I know who has the things I made."

As I left Aunt Claudie, I looked back at the beautiful old house, surrounded by a screened-in porch and a large shady yard, and I could plainly see it really was a Mansion, filled with the riches all the money in the world couldn't buy. Mrs Claudie Galbreath is an inspiration, and like a rainbow, she belongs to us all and is our special gift from God....

Something To Think About
by Jannette Wilkerson

[Rabies Assaulted by Science and Humor]

At least once in everyone's life they should have an unforgettable adventure. Last Wednesday was such a day! The Pet Vaccination Clinic was a successful and worthy effort to make our community a safer place to live. However, I never realized how much fun it would be or what an education in human and animal nature I was in for.

Dr Johnny Fields came equipped with confidence, knowledge, two lovely assistants, plenty of vaccine, and an "all in a day's work" attitude. He didn't get the least bit rattled when the 100 pound German Shepherd ate the tail gate off the pickup and dragged the chain leash attached to the owner up to the table for his shot; nor did he flinch when a suicidal Chihuahua charged four half grown Siamese cats. He didn't even hit me when my neighbor's dog, Harvey, which I had bragged on all day, went for his throat. He is truly a remarkable person, and a 'Heck' of a good vet.

My job, along with three good friends, Linda, Kay, and Janis I was able to blackmail into helping me with the Clinic, was to fill out the required information on the pets and owners. This proved to be an interesting experience. There is probably a government study going on somewhere called, "The Psychological Reasons Behind Your Pets Name." Most of them were pretty obvious, like the poodles named Fifi, Bridget, and Poopsy. I can also see why a doberman would have a name like Satan, Killer, and Eat Your Face. But my favorites were the mutts named Socked Eye, Ralph, Louie, and Rain Gauge. There was even a dog named Spot.

Now the cats were really the highlight of the day. The only "house call" the Doctor made was to Lynn Meador's pickup, where the family cat was flying around inside the cab, honking the horn and turning on the windshield wipers. (Frankly, I don't think even a rabid skunk would bother that cat), but he got his, anyway. It was easy to spot the cars coming to the clinic. They were weaving from one side of the street to the other, and usually ran up on the curb, the door would fly open, slam quickly shut again, and the proud pet owner would slump, scratched and bleeding against the car, while their upholstery was being shredded.

By the end of the day, 122 dogs and cats had been vaccinated against rabies, and actually the animals behaved better than children, even without a 'sucker.' With the exception of "Fancy" Walling, who limped around for sympathy when she thought someone was watching. It 'was' an adventure! We'll do it again in May.....I can't wait.....

And that's something to think about!!!!

JUST JOGGIN' ALONG!

By Express News Publisher, ED MEADOR

Well, what do you know...the rains came....in the greatest style, and along with them came not only spring flowers but a lot of smiling faces just as we had predicted. In another ten days, this old West Texas will have on her Sunday clothes, and we will all be totally convinced that we live in the prettiest part of the US of A.

If you have a hankerin' to see just what kind of a floral display can be found around here when the conditions get "just right." I suggest that you take a minute and drive about two miles north of town on the Mertzon highway and have a look at the bluebonnet scene playing out at Bascom Hartgraves. It will rival any spot in Texas, and it could be a while before you see the likes of those beautiful flowers so abundantly offering themselves. In a few more days there'll be other varieties coming forth and adding to the beauty surrounding us, but those bluebonnets you've got to see.

It hasn't been all roses for some of our neighbors, though, since Mother Nature has been putting on her bout of spring weather. Monahans took a terrific blow Tuesday afternoon, and other communities have been under severe weather threats. I guess we all know by now that there has to be good and bad in all situations. Eldorado and the area have been lucky for a long time. Let's hope it continues.

In all my talk about people walking and jogging around here, I have failed to mention Lewis Stockton. That guy has been walking around our block before sun-up mostly, for years. I guess Lewis gave me my first store-bought haircut about fifty-two years ago...nearly scared me to death, and had me wondering if he really knew how to use those clippers and scissors....but he has maintained his youthful appearance since those days, and I really can't tell much difference. That regular exercise has to be the pay-off.

You can tell that Spring has come to Washington too. President Carter burst forth with his energy plan Wednesday night. Like a bunch of early-blooming flowers, some of those proposals will take root and survive, and a lot of them will be doomed to fall by the wayside. It's hard to understand why our government leaders can't get away from trying to add more and more controls on us, instead of letting the valid economic law of supply and demand do its magic work. If the facets of the President's plan concerning the production of oil and gas take root, you can bet it won't be to the good of Texas. And a lot of people in Detroit don't relish the prospects either. Well, maybe we can sift out the good points, and throw away the bad ones, and help the situation along. You can be sure that Texas will be doing its best to work in the national interest, regardless.

Keep your eye on the clock Saturday night, as it is the night to turn your clocks forward one hour to switch back into Daylight Savings Time. Officially, clocks are supposed to be turned forward at 2 a.m.

However, if you're extra tired from a long week of work or recreation, you can change your clock before you retire Saturday night.

The clue to remembering which way your clock is to be turned is -- "Spring forward in the spring and fall one hour behind in the fall" when clocks will be turned back one hour to return to normal hours.

COUNTRY WISDOM

Secrets of a Kitchen Beautician.

How to use honey, lemon juice, vinegar, oatmeal, mild and mayonnaise, in ways you never imagined.

Go now and feed your hands, feet and hair, too, while you are at it.

Liken it, if you will, your body works by balance -- of fluids, organs, and muscles, and when the balance is disturbed for some reason, you're in for a pimple, lack of lusture hair, crocodile skin and other tattle-tail imperfections you try to hide.

Restoring your balance will help, you will find real aid in the natural substances in your kitchen.

Why weaken your beauty treatment by devouring it through your stomach.

Lemon juice; when rinsed over freshly washed hair gives locks shiny highlights.

Lemon is an instant deodorizer if your hands wear tell tale smells. Lemon juice can also work as an astringent facial cleaner.

Mayonnaise is a splendid hair conditioner because of its ingredients, the egg nourishes the hair, feeding it protein, that most hair lacks.

Vinegar gives your hair shine and bounce.

Mixing four ounces of apple cider vinegar, one teaspoon brewers yeast, yields a terrific after-the-washing rinse.

Leaves hair pliable and lustrous.

Oily hair, add one teaspoon of baking soda and your favorite shampoo, it works as an alkali to absorb excess oil.

Wherever you apply soda it will quietly absorb oil.

Fetch some honey. Pour in brown sugar. Stick close to the basin. Rub the honey and sugar all over your face, don't forget your nose, and do it thoroughly. The abrasive will remove dry, scaly skin while the honey steps in as a moisturizer. Rinse very carefully, pat your face dry.

It should leave your skin baby soft, and a glowing pink.

Alternate this treatment with just plain honey.

Plain honey left on your lips at night has the same effects as petroleum jelly. Only honey makes for tastier dreams.

Next time some one mentions feeding your face, just smile.

Olive oil makes for a great moisturizer. Rub it all over your body prior to a bath or shower.

Substitute may be peanut, sesame or sunflower oil.

Used tea bags can become eye cosmetics. You merely drain it and place one on each eye, hold there for a few minutes. When you remove it, you'll have the shiniest pupils and the clearest eyes to gaze into any place.

NURSING HOME NEWS

Wasn't the rain wonderful? Dear old Schleicher can always use a good rain, as all we old timers know so well. I can remember how worried my dear Father would be when we would have a long dry spell. It looked like it just couldn't rain. We would get clouds but no rain. Our own Ruthie Dacy was a Co-chairman of the Arts and Crafts Show at the Memorial Building Saturday all day and Sunday afternoon. Every person who saw it thoroughly enjoyed it, no doubt. The display was beautiful and it proved that we have great talent in our town as well as in other West Texas communities.

There were none of our residents ill last week and Frank Reed and your truly are gradually recovering from their seige.

The Presbyterians were supposed to conduct the service Sunday afternoon in our dining room, but they are without a Pastor at this time, so Gene Stark, Pastor of the First Baptist Church conducted the service. We enjoyed it very much and appreciated the fact that quite a few from the Baptist Church were here for our service. So many Sundays there are very few of the members of the church that has the service who come and we would enjoy it

So far as I could find out there were no visitors to our home last week, which is unusual. We wish that more people would realize how very much we all enjoy company and come to see us.

Let us beautify Your Walls or do it yourself and Save!

School renovation

which will be planted within the next few weeks. Homer stated that the grass sprigs will be purchased from a grower from Bay City, Texas.

In another area concerning renovation work, the board gave Supt Whitaker authority to renovate units of the Shugart Apartment property given to the school for teacherages several years ago. Little work has been done on these units since the school acquired them according to Whitaker.

The board canvassed the votes of the school trustee election held April 2. The board officially confirmed the election results which found Lynn Meador with 230 votes, Billy Williams 196, Ted Short 90 and Kay Patton 57. Officers for the 1977-78 year were elected. Mort Mertz, Jim Brame and Lynn Meador were all re-elected to their posts which were President, Vice-President and Secretary respectively.

Mrs Myrta Rathbone presented a report to the board on the Right to Read program, currently a part of the elementary curriculum. Mrs Rathbone is a first grade teacher in the local system and is the director for the Right to Read program locally. She stated that the program has been in operation for grades K-3 for about 4 years, and that Eldorado School had been one of 44 pilot schools using the federally funded program when it was first instituted in 1973. Mrs Rathbone also stated that the guidelines for the program are pretty flexible so that each school system can adapt it to its own needs which are determined by teacher committees that oversee the program. Locally, the committee set up two objectives (1) to acquire a new testing device (2) and to ability group the grades that were involved in the programs. Test results for the first two years showed a substantial increase in reading ability under this plan. However, in the past two years the program has been carried out through conventional grouping methods and a comparison of the two methods will be made at the end of the current year. According to Mrs Rathbone, ability grouping of students (fast students in one class and slow students in another) and conventional grouping have advantages, but that some teachers felt that conventional grouping was better for all students concerned. Reports indicate that 73% of the schools participating in the program (about 400 schools) have seen a gain in reading levels of the students.

The board set a fee of $45 as a charge for the drivers' education course which gets under way on May 31. The fee is subject to a rebate in the event that course can be taught for a lesser amount.

Mr Whitaker reported that new band uniforms had been ordered and that the total cost for the uniforms was $15,930. The uniforms cost $156.98 each and are scheduled for mid September delivery. It was pointed out in the meeting that this was the first time that the school had purchased all of the band uniforms for the band. In the past the school in conjunction with the band sponsors and supporters have paid for the uniforms.

A schedule for teacher and administrator contract renewal was set up with administrators and coaches contracts being considered in February and teachers contracts in March of each year.

The board in final action donated $250 to the summer youth program to be used for expenses covering the new fencing on the baseball park near the roping arena. There was a consensus feeling of the board members that additional requests for funds by similar groups that were not school related could not be considered due to the financial circumstances the district could find itself in. This will largely be determined by state legislative action that will be forthcoming in the next few days. Mr Whitaker indicated that there is a real possibility that the new education finance law will have provisions that will "freeze" the local tax rate and percent valuation of the district. Only property valuation would be allowed to fluctuate. The future impact this law would have, would mean that any capital outlay for renovation work or new additions to the school would have to be financed by local bond election, according to Whitaker.

Present at the monthly meeting were Mort Mertz, Dr. J.B. Brame, Kenith Homer, Billy Williams, Bill Ray, Earl Lloyd, Lynn Meador, Supt. Guy Whitaker, and executive secretary Leslie Baker.

mented, 'I'm having a great deal of trouble with my refinery tax.' He does not expect it to pass.
Nugent justifies his refinery tax by saying 'Montana levies a 30% tax on coal it produces. Some of that coal is being sent to Texas to make electricity. We are paying other states' operating expenses.'

He said Montana has proposed to run its entire state government from money received from this tax on coal. 'We will be paying dearly for that coal when our oil and gas is depleted. We need to offset that difference in tax. My refinery tax will help,' Nugent said. 'In 10 to 15 years Texas will import more fuel than we export.'

There were many other subjects discussed at the meeting. Some were law enforcement measures, oral confessions, solar and wind energy, open meeting laws for electric cooperatives, farm and ranch labor problems, illegal aliens, college professor tenure, merit pay raises for teachers, gas and oil taxes, county ordinance powers, and public transportation.

The Express News asked Nugent what local newsmen could do to increase communication between the citizen and their elected officials.

Nugent said, 'My hardest job is finding out what the people want me to do. I seldom hear from them until after I've voted the 'wrong way.' I need them to let me know what they feel is important to them.'

Eldorado firemen invited to 7th annual fire control conference

Volunteer firemen from Eldorado and other West Texas towns have been invited to participate in the seventh annual Concho Valley Fire Control Conference May 10-11 in San Angelo. The school is designed to provide volunteers with education and training so they can better protect the lives and property of the citizens of this community. Several Eldorado men are to be instructors in the school, according to Bill Radle, Jr., fire chief.

RETRACTION

In last week's edition of the Express News, Mrs Charlotte Harvey was reported as asking the Schleicher County Commissioners Court to hot top roads in the county.

However, Mrs Harvey reminded the Express News that she had referred to crushed rock and oil instead of hot topping, as hot topping implied using asphalt.

The Express News regrets and apologizes for the misunderstanding.

Annual range contest is postponed

The Range evaluation contest which was scheduled for April 18 has been postponed. The contest is sponsored by the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District on the Walter Pope Ranch near Ft. McKavett.

Freddie Williams, of the Soil Conservation office here, said the contest will involve between 55 and 65 youths from the local 4-H and FFA organizations.

There are four parts to the contest, noted Williams. The first is to identify 20 plants which are growing natively on the ranch.

The second step is to identify 20 more plants which have been collected, dried, pressed and set up on mats.

The third step is to determine the condition of land and recommend necessary ranch treatment.

In the last portion of the contest, the youths will have to rate four plots of land and give reasons why they rated them the way they did.

Voy Lee Butts, chairman of the district, will be in charge of the event and Dr. Bob Steger, Texas Agricultural Extension Service will be the official judge.

"THE MAN WITH A THORN IN HIS SIDE"

Down the shallow waters along the shores of the Mississippi River there live a great many clams. You may see the fishermen bring them in by great boatloads. What do you suppose they open them so carefully for? Once in a great while they find a pearl that is very beautiful and some are worth enough to pay for much labor. One good pearl is worth more than a boatload of ordinary clams. Here is one of these pearls. How do you suppose it ever came to be inside of a clam? Well, we are told, it was this way; that clam burrowed deep into the soft mud where there was plenty of the type of food he liked, and nobody to bother him. There he lived very happily and began to grow nice and fat. But one day a grain of sand got inside his shell and stuck into his side. It irritated him and made him very angry. It grew sore and he was not comfortable or happy anymore. He couldn't get rid of it and it worried him more and more as the days went by.

By and by what do you think happened? When he found that he couldn't get rid of it he decided to make the best of it. You see, there wasn't anything else to do about it. So he began to ooze out a little of his shell juice all around the sand to protect himself from its irritation. By and by this began to harden and after awhile the ugly grain of sand was all covered up in the middle of this beautiful pearl. The poor clam had learned to bear his trouble, then to make the best of it, and then to turn it into a thing of beauty, to make people glad when they looked at it. So this pearl clam is different from all other clams. They are ordinary and not worth much. But this one is very valuable because it had what men call "a thorn in his side," and instead of getting peevish and making himself and everybody else miserable, he used the thorn in his side to make himself glad and better and others happy.

People are that way, too. We have thorns in our sides. It may be a hot temper, or some temptation, or a lame foot or anyone of a thousand things we wish we did not have. You can be cross and complain and be miserable about it. Or you can trust or treat it so as to become strong and sweet and patient, and make everybody love you. And you can learn to help other people with the thorns in their sides, too. For most everybody does have some kind of a thorn in his side. How are we going to treat ours? Shall we let it make us sour and sorry for ourselves, or shall we turn it into a pearl? The Apostle Paul had a thorn in his side too. What did he do about it? He went to the Lord in prayer and asked him to remove it so that he could do more effective work. The Lord answered his prayer telling him that "His strength (the Lord's) is sufficient for him. If this bothers you why not do as Paul did and the Lord will bless you too. Go to church Sunday.
