AN EDITORIAL

Meeting turnout super

BY TERRY B. NEILL
Success Editor

Public Hearings are designed to provide the taxpayer with an opportunity to express his or her opinions on issues relating to city, school, county, issues.

Monday night's public hearing on three proposed new ordinances was attended by 27 Eldorado residents who took the time to come to a meeting and express their opinions and also get clarifications on the new laws being considered by the council.

Our hat is off to those who attended. Their input will be utilized by the council to adapt the ordinances to the wishes and wants of Eldorado people if they are eventually adopted.

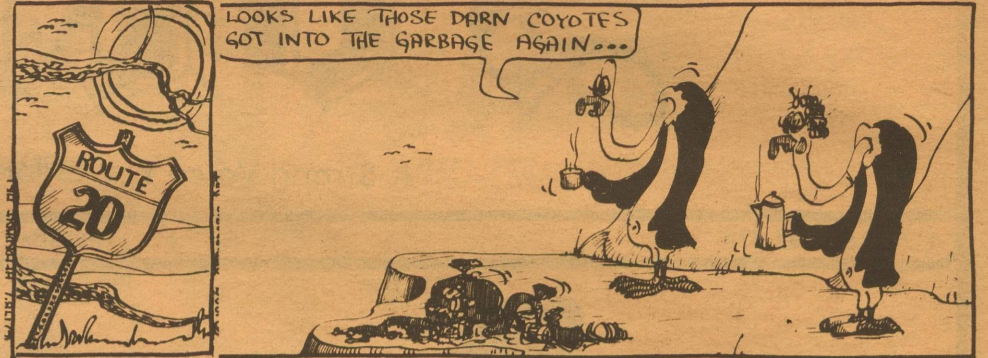

We have often stated that much confusion would be alleviated in today's world if taxpayers would take the time to attend their local governmental meetings. Attendance at the meetings gives them first hand knowledge of the problems facing each governmental body and therefore greater communication.

Of course it also gives them a chance to express their opinions--a right that is guaranteed by law.

We have never seen any governmental body that wanted to dump useless or ruthless new laws on its constituents. Many times a lack of communication leaves that impression.

There are almost always two sides to any issue and many times a better idea is only a breath away. For that reason it is important and necessary that taxpayers and city councils, commissioners courts, school boards, etc. talk. We are all better off when this happens.

-letters to the editor

Dear Editor,

It wasn't hard to figure out that the editorial dated June 25, 1987 was addressed toward my previous inputs, but as such, why must you stray away from the actual issue and add gibberish? I never even came close to insinuating that "The Success" was a "hick" paper, and where you plucked the story about the Raytheon woman and her lack of a hot tub constituting sub-standard housing, I'll not even try to guess! Currently Eldorado AFS (PAVE PAWS) employs approximately 24 Eldorado residents. That sure seems like a lot more than the "several local families" as you so put it in a previous editorial.

It's a shame that you find it so hard to believe that I have tried diligently to find a house to rent in Eldorado. Since you work for the paper, you might want to research your local housing market by speaking to Jo Ward or Carolyn Mayo just as I have in the past. I'm sure they can provide some valuable insight.

Truly, I have said you have a vindictive writing style but I don't know where you draw "we" from "you". You are the editor, right? Perhaps the "we" you are speaking of are several of your local eating establishments such as Casa Arispe and Dairy Mart which treated us so very kindly. Thanks. Maybe the "we" you are referring to are several of the many other merchants who advertise in the "Success" of which you suggested I not purchase (as a matter of fact, I have some good friends from Eldorado who bring me the paper gratis).

I appreciate your advice to take a hike with my PAVE PAWS check and spend it elsewhere, but I truly doubt if that is the way the general populace of Eldorado feels. I'm talking about the friendly folks that attend your churches, operate businesses, and attend your schools. I'm talking about the people who care enough to breathe life into Eldorado!!

In closing, I am still looking for a rental home in Eldorado, regardless of your "sound advice" to spend my check elsewhere.

JR Shomin

EDITOR'S NOTE--We would like to point out that there are two major ways of writing editorials or columns, etc. One is to use "we" and the other is to use "I". We prefer "we"

WHO SAYS MALES and females can't be "just friends"? Platonic friendships are quite common among African baboons. According to "National Wildlife" magazine, the male friends protect the females and their young from attacks by other members of the troop and often groom and cuddle the infants. A male's reward is an increased chance of eventually mating with the female, although he may have to wait for up to two years.

because we think that better reflects that the opinions are those of the newspaper, which of course "I" own. However, "we" have never like to use "I" in columns or editorials--that's just personal preference.

The merchants of Eldorado, who by the way have supported the Success better in the last 13 months than at any time in the history of the paper, can speak for themselves. Obviously they need all the business they can scrape up just to survive.

Eldorado merchants are extremely friendly, just as our residents are. We are all extremely lucky to live in Schleicher County. It doesn't take a genius to recognize that fact.

Since our first editorial on PAVE PAWS ran several [not 24] weeks ago we have learned a lot about our neighbors to the north.

On some of the original points we were wrong. But on others we were right. If the entire controversy has done anything it has brought Eldorado and PAVE PAWS better relations and communications, as evidenced by the fact that personnel from EAFS are coming down July 25 to put on a benefit car wash for Amy Robertson.

We think this is great. We think the 24 employees out there is great. Everything is great and we're tired of fussing about it.

If there is anyone out there with a better than standard house to rent in Eldorado would you please call Mr. Shomin in San Angelo. His number is in the book!"

WTU rates still lower

Customers of West Texas Utilities Company are paying less than the state average price for electricity during July, according to the monthly survey of the Public Utility Commission of Texas.

WTU's standard residential rate for 1,000 kilowatt-hour is $67.92, compared to an average of $73.11 for all investor-owned utilities in the state and an average of $68.88 for all 17 companies in the survey. The list includes a number of rural electric cooperatives, two municipally owned systems and the Lower Colorado River Authority.

The survey shows that since July 1986, WTU's rate for 1,000 KWh has decreased by 15.1 percent as result of lower costs for power plant fuel. El Paso Electric still has the highest rates in the state, charging its customers $87.42 for 1,000 KWh. TU Electric Company, the reorganized utility which combined Texas Electric Service Co., Texas Power and Light and Dallas Power and Light, is charging $70.82 per 1,000 KWh.

Several of the companies, including WTU and El Paso, are in the process of seeking rate increases. WTU has filed for a 23.9 percent increase, and a hearing before the PUC in Austin has been scheduled August 24.

This is the first increase in base rates sought by WTU in three years, while several decreases in fuel cost charges have occurred.

The change would place WTU's portion of the new Oklahoma Power Plant in the company's rate base and add about $50 million in new revenue. The company cannot recover expenses of building and operating the plant until the rate base is changed to reflect the $275 million investment. The plant, which burns coal, has been in commercial operation since last December.

"I'M JUST A GIGOLO." According to "Ranger Rick" magazine, male bees' only job is mating. As soon as they become adults, male bees, called drones, fly away and mate with queen bees from other nests.

Covered Wagon Theatre big hit

The "Covered Wagon Dinner Theater" at the Caverns of Sonora in Sonora has gotten off to a most enjoyable start.

Performances will be held throughout the summer each Friday and Saturday night. Each show includes a sing-a-long, dinner, a storyteller and some form of entertainment.

A special "Eldorado Nights" will be held at the theatre Friday, July 24 and Saturday, July 25. The Eldorado City Bahd will be performing both nights and guest story tellers include author Elmer Kelton from San Angelo and pastor Monte Jones of the Saint Mary's Episcopal Church in Eldorado. Kelton, noted western author, will speak Saturday night and Jones Friday night. Eldorado residents have a special invitation to attend that night.

The sing-a-long begins promptly at 6 p.m. led by Scott Gilmore with Patti Strauch accompanying. Song books are given to each theater goer and the songs of the old west are sung by all.

Dinner for each evening is catered by the Sutton County Steakhouse known for their delicious food throughout the country. The evening meal could be exceptional Mexican food, barbecue with a western flavor or Texas sized chicken fried steak. Whatever the fare, you are assured of a wonderful meal and no one goes away hungry.

The serving line for the sit-down dinner beings at 6:30.

The show begins at 7:30 which allows everyone to leisurely enjoy the meal, visit old friends or meet new ones, or stroll around the beautiful grounds outside the Caverns.

The story tellers range from the experienced tale weaver to the less experienced yarn spinner. The stories are based on fact or fiction, told in a manner to be either humorous or educational and each is guaranteed to delight you.

The entertainment runs the gamut from Mexican folk dances to Broadway show tunes, from a town band to a western ballet performed by little ones, from ragtime piano to soldiers of Ft. Concho.

The cost of the entire evening is $9.95 for adults and $7.95 for children under twelve. Advance tickets are on sale at the Chamber of Commerce, Devil's River News, O' Sonora Trading Co., Sutton County

Steakhouse and Westerman Drug, all in Sonora, and at the Caverns of Sonora. The Caverns of Sonora are located eight miles west of Sonora off IH-10 and the route is clearly marked.

Tickets for the show only are available at the gate at a cost of $4 for adults and $1 for children under twelve.

As a bonus to those attending the Dinner Theater, the Caverns of Sonora offers special rates of $4 for adults and $3 for children on cavern tours.

While the "Covered Wagon Dinner Theater" may not be a must on everyone's list, it definitely is a should!

Join us please for an evening of food, fun and entertainment held in a theater designed and built by Mother Nature at her best!

A QUOTE OR TWO.....

Smoky Taylor's favorite prescription for a long life: Go to bed on the same day you get up.

Burro says he knew two old ladies who went for a tramp in the woods but he escaped.

Raymond Mittel says money still talks but now it takes more stops to get its breath.

John Nikolauk says one of the nicest things about smoking a pipe is that you can't light the wrong end.

George Gower says you've reached middle age when you run down before you have had a chance to unwind.

The typesetter says nothing has more lives than an error you fail to correct.

LETTERS.....

The whole staff at the Success, both of us, ended up roaring last Thursday when we unearthed these samples of letters that were actually received by the Veterans Administration, written by wives, husbands, mothers and fathers to the VA. Read and grin:

"Please send me my elopment, as I have a four month old baby and his is my only support and I need all I can get every day, to buy food and keep him close."

"Both sides of my parents are poor and I can't expect nothing from them, as my mother has been in bed for one year, with the same doctor, and won't change.

"Please send me my wife's form to fill out."

"I have already wrote to the President and if I don't hear from you, I will write to Uncle Sam, and tell him about both of you."

"Please send me a letter and tell me if my husband has made application for a wife and baby."

"I can't get any pay. I has six children, can you tell me why this is.

"I am forwarding you my marriage certificate and my two children, one is a mistake as you can plainly see."

"Please find out for certain if my husband is dead, as the man I am living with won't eat or do anything until he knows for sure."

"I am annoyed to find out that you branded my child as illiterate, it is a dirty lie as I married his father a week before he was born."

"I have no children as my husband was a truck driver and worked day and night when he wasn't sleeping."

"You changed my little boy to a girl. Does this make a difference?"

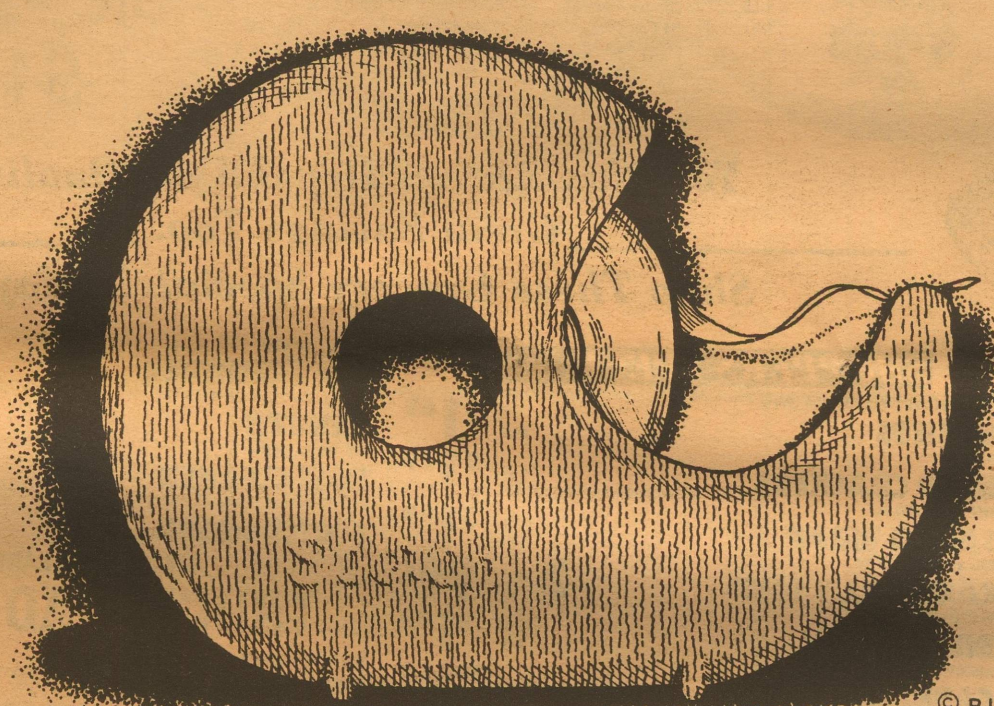

"In accordance with your instructions, I have given birth to twins in the enclosed envelope."

"I am glad to say that my husband who has been reported missing is now dead."

"Unless I get my allotment soon I will be forced to lead an immortal life."

"I am a poor widow and all I have is in the ffo front."

BRITAIN recently dedicated what may be the world's first tunnel of love for toads. The 10-inch-wide tunnel, which runs 60 feet under a busy country road some 35 miles west of London, will enable lovesick toads to proceed safely to a nearby lake for romantic encounters. According to "International Wildlife" magazine, an estimated 20 tons of toads are squished each year on Britain's roads.

Growing Up

One of the first milestones in growing up is the loss of the two front teeth. To a youngster, this signifies the first real step in achieving maturity. And he has faith that his baby teeth will be replaced with permanent ones, just as he has faith that he will grow to be a man.

We learn of faith at a very early age, and it is faith that sustains us until we are able to do for ourselves. Even as we have faith in our parents on earth, who love us, so also must we have faith in our heavenly Father, who cares for us from birth until death.

Love-Breazeale vows heard in San Angelo

Cindi Renee Love became the bride of Michael David Breazeale Saturday at Park Heights Baptist Church. Officiants were the Rev. Lee Brewer of Lubbock and the bridegroom's cousins, Dr. Michael Stricklin of Lincoln, Nebraska, and Dr. David Stricklin of Arlington.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Stokes of San Angelo are the parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. Bob Breazeale and Mrs. Delores Biggs Breazeale of San Angelo.

Rachel Pierce was maid of honor. Beth Breazeale of Austin, Laura Cunningham of Odessa, Kim Potter, Alison Pattay, and Jennifer Stokes were bridesmaids. Whitney Stokes was flower girl.

Steve Shotts and Bob Marwood were best men. Byron Sawyer, Don Hulse, Mills Caraway and Jeff Kasner were groomsmen. Jonathan Cude of Irving, Tal Jackson of College Station, Gary Stokes, Terry Stokes, Rusty Gray and Steve Breazeale were ushers.

Mrs. Breazeale is a graduate of Irion County High School and American Commercial College. She attends Angelo State University.

The bridegroom is a graduate of San Angelo Central High School. He received a bachelor's degree from Angelo State University and is a teacher and coach.

Following a wedding trip to Hawaii, the couple will live in Fort Hancock.

The bride is the daughter of the late Ken Love and granddaughter of the late Dee and Evelyn Love of Eldorado.

-top of the divide

BY THOMAS GIOVANNITTI

Well, I was going to write a little more about those weddings back when I was a boy, but another problem has arisen that needs to be addressed.

I mentioned last week that I am a former altar boy. Another famous or infamous former altar boy has been testifying before the joint House-Senate Iran-Contra committee and may have left some of you with the wrong impression about former altar boys.

If it will ease your mind, I have not, since I took office as your County Attorney, been creating secret foreign policy activities. Okay, I have been listening to Italian music late at night, but only for old time sake and I have already shredded the tapes.

In fact, I haven't even been planning covert county foreign policy. I mean some of us former altar boys have managed to do most of our government service right out in the open for all to see. If you want, you can come right on into my office and have a "look-see" yourself. The only thing covert about my work is that I have some difficulty finding things on my desk. This is not due to any planning on my part, I can assure you. On the contrary, it is a lack of planning that has caused the stacks of papers to climb over my desk.

I am not sure why the media feels it is important to keep bringing up Ollie North's altar boy experience. His having been an altar boy seems to me to have little to do with his job as a covert program director. I know when I was an altar boy they never taught me anything about raising funds other than running bingo games, but those are always "overt". Plus, I was taught, as an altar boy, that lying was not right. It was in the Bible, at least it was back in the 50's when I was an altar boy.

It is getting hard enough now to get altar boys and this bad press is going to make it even harder. On the other hand, maybe it won't be so bad. A kid might think that if he plays his cards right, becomes an altar boy, maybe when he grows up he can work in the basement of the White House, thinking up ways to avoid obeying the law of the land, shredding papers and lying, all in the name of goodness, right, truth, and justice. I am pretty sure that somewhere Ollie went from altar boy to something else and it does not appear to me that he made a change for the better.

Society meets

The Schleicher County Historical Society had its monthly meeting July 6. Ruth Baker opened the meeting with a salute to the flag.

Ethel Etheredge read the secretary's report and Mabel Frietag gave the treasurer's report.

A business meeting was then held with Ruth Baker, Ola Ruth Barbee, Dorothy Ratliff, Ethel Etheredge, Mabel Frietag, Willie Blanche Johnson attending.

Mrs. R.D. Johnson gave a memorial for Sid Rogge. Ethel Etheredge sold three history books during Mias Amigas. Ola Ruth Barbee and Ruth Baker registered guests during Mias Amigas, when 62 people came to visit the museum. Many gave donations.

Robertson Fund needs items

Chances will be going on sale soon for a new VCR and a 200 pound hog. All proceeds from sale of the chances will benefit Amy Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Robertson of Eldorado.

Eldorado merchants have contributed the cash necessary to purchase the VCR, while Mike Moore donated the hog.

All residents of the community are asked to donate items for the Country Store booth at Schleicher County Days, which will be operated by the Robertson Committee.

Those with items to donate can drop them off at the Eldorado Success or contact committee members Rene Calcote, Terry B. Neill or Janet Warnock.

Amy Robertson is scheduled to undergo a bone marrow transplant this month and the Robertson Committee is raising money to defray travel and lodging expense for the family and also to help pay what the family's insurance does not.

JOHNNY LEE BRASSFIELD

Eldorado youth goes to Lions Club Camp

Johnny Lee Brassfield, from Eldorado, had the opportunity to swim, horseback ride, fish, study nature, play sports and go on an overnight campout. Sponsored by the Eldorado Lions Club, this camper had the opportunity to enjoy special camping programs at the Texas Lions Camp at no cost to the parents.

The Texas Lions Camp is completely accessible to wheelchairs and its programs are adapted especially to serve children who are visually impaired, hearing impaired and physically handicapped.

"I have never been so touched as I was at the Awards Ceremony," said a camper's parent. "It is obvious that there is great mutual love between the children and counselors. The campers are given a chance to succeed with happiness and dignity and the Lions Camp gives the children so much faith and hope."

All camp activities are well supervised by a trained staff of counselors with a high counselor to camper ration, one counselor to every three campers.

The Texas Lions Camp is a non-profit organization which has served more than 30,000 handicapped children since 1949. The camp is funded by contributors interested in providing challenging programs for the handicapped individuals. It is located on 500 acres of the Texas hill country near Kerrville and holds four summer camping sessions for physically handicapped children ages seven to 16. The remainder of the year, the facility provides educational instruction through its Texas Education Agency accredited school. If you know someone who can benefit from the program, contact your local Lions and Lioness club or write Texas Lions Camp, Box 247, Kerrville, Texas, 78029-0247.

A RECORD 141 million Americans now participate in wildlife-related recreation activities, according to a recent study by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. In 1985 more than half of all adult Americans engaged in such activities as feeding, observing or photographing wildlife. More than one in four fished, and about one in 10 hunted. Altogether they spent more than $55 billion on equipment and transportation to pursue these pastimes, "National Wildlife" magazine reports.

—letters to— the editor

Dear Editor,

Enclosed is my check for my subscription re-newal. I am a senior citizen, so guess the $2.00 rebate applies to me also.

The Leader is a joy to read. Please keep up the good work. I've been away from Eldorado for many years, but it is like a visit with home folks every time I read the paper.

We talked to Doc Sofge last night. He is my brother-in-law, and one heck of a nice guy. He told us that you are planning on a wedding soon. Congratulations!

Again, thanks for the great job you're doing.

Sincerely,
Hazel (Doyle) Bilhartz

Dear T.B.,

I really enjoy your paper the way you have changed it. Keep up the good work.

UP FOR YEAR

Sales tax down slightly

State Comptroller Bob Bullock sent checks totaling $53.6 million in sales tax rebates to 1,039 cities that levy the one percent city tax. Bullock said 1987 payments were down 6.5 percent compared to payments made in the same period last year.

The City of Eldorado's check totaled $2,578.88, down from $3,063.03 for the same time period last year. For the year, however, Eldorado continues to run 36.38 percent above 1986. Last year at this time the city had received $31,288.-75, while this year the city has already collected $42,671.26.

Other area cities and their totals include Big Lake, $11,110.69, down 34 percent; Fort Stockton, $29,337.-

08, down nine percent; Iraan, $5,412.38, down 39 percent; Brady, $20,529.41, up four percent; Menard, $1,578.21, down 13 percent; Mertzon, $2,681.24, down 39 percent; Crane, $7,624.97, down 18 percent; and San Angelo, $364,391.50, up two percent.

Houston's check was the largest--$8.5 million--bringing total payments in 1987 to $75.2 million, down 8.5 percent over 1986. Dallas received $6.1 million for a total of $56.3 million in total payments for this year, a decrease of 5.8 percent.

San Antonio's payment of $3.4 million increased that city's 1987 payment to a total of $30 million, down 6.5 percent over last year. Austin's check for $2.3 million pushed payments to $21.8 million in 1987--down 9.25 percent.

Fort Worth received $2 million for a 1987 total of $18.1 million, down 9.1 percent. El Paso's payment of $1.4 million brought its 1987 total to $12.6 million.

July checks represent taxes collected on sales made in May and reported to the Comptroller by June 20.

CROWD ATTENDS PUBLIC HEARING

Ordinances prove controversial

"No one is coming on my private property and taking anything off!"

"We don't want a Russia in Eldorado!"

"We like the relaxed atmosphere of living in Eldorado. These ordinances will change all that."

"It's about time someone did something about all the stray dogs."

"You all aren't going to make me give up my goats and chickens are you?"

"Those vacant lots with all the weeds have a lot to do with our mosquito problem!"

All of these comments and many more were made Monday night at a public hearing called by the Eldorado City Council about three proposed new ordinances. Some 27 residents attended the meeting, jamming council chambers.

Most of the concern expressed by those on hand centered on the weed and junked car ordinances and the city's right under them to go on private property and enforce the acts.

Some admitted that they came to the meeting "just to see what was going on!" and several others appeared in support of one ordinance or the other.

Members of the council listened to almost two hours of testimony, then postponed action on all three ordinances on a motion by councilman Terry B. Neill. Neill indicated he would like to review the proposed laws again and possibly make some changes in them before the council's next regular meeting.

The new ordinances in a nutshell call for maintenance of local lots by their owners, removal of junked and abandoned vehicles and establish an animal control program in Eldorado for the first time in several years.

Following the public hearing the council went into regular special session and reviewed the new budget as prepared by city secretary Carolyn Mayo line by line.

After studying the proposed budget for over an hour the council thanked Mrs. Mayo for a job well done. The budget should be met with no tax increase, the stated goal of the council.

The budget is available for inspection by the public at city hall. This year's financial blueprint was affected somewhat by the economy and the fact that several families have moved from Eldorado.

In other action the council re-hired the firm of Eckert, Ingram, Tinkler, Oliphant and Featherston to perform the annual city audit.

The city fathers also learned from superintendent Clay Long that it could cost as much as $5,000 to build up an alley in the Glendale edition up 10 inches.

The council had asked for the estimate last week at the request of property owners in the area who have drainage problems when it rains.

Council members took no action on the problem Monday, however, but decided to talk to Soil Conservation Service officials about the area.
