Gary Clayton Smith, Sr.
Publisher

Gary Clayton Smith of Eldorado is the new publisher of Irion and Schleicher Counties' newspaper, The Success.

Smith, who only three months ago founded The Good News Review (a "good news" newspaper), purchased all rights to The Success from previous publisher, T.B. Neill.

According to Mr. Smith, there will be "major changes" in the format and management of The Success. The most significant change being the expansion of news coverage of Mertzson and Barnhart.

Mary Jenkins, former general manager of the Success and present Editor-in-Chief of The Good News Review, will retain her position on the Success staff, as will Cathy Smith (Eldorado Editor) and Wanda Cook (Mertzson Editor).

One of West Texas' oldest newspapers, the Success has served the

The Success is entering into its eighty-eighth year as a newspaper. In 1901, R.L. Carothers published the first issue of the "Eldorado Paper". Mr. A.T. Wright bought the paper in 1906 and changed the name to the "Success".

Fourteen different publishers have published under this newspapers banner. A.T. Wright was publisher for thirty-five years. Fred Gunstead was publisher for thirty-two years.

The Success has had an impact on our community since before Schleicher County was founded.

As we celebrate our newspapers longevity, I look forward to serving you. The Success belongs to all of us. Please help me to make this the best newspaper in West Texas.

Thank You,

Gary Smith

people of this area for many years. According to Smith, it will continue to report "all the news that's worth reporting".

The newspaper office will be located in the old ASCS office building, directly behind the Meador-Peters Insurance Agency, in Eldorado.

The new management of the Success wishes to thank all of the supporters of "The Good News Review." The Success will be a positive source of news, following the examples set by "The Good News Review." Please remember, we haven't changed hearts--just names.

Anyone subscribing to both the Success and The Good News Review will have their subscriptions extended to cover the entire time for which they have paid.

The Publisher's Desk

This is my first opportunity to write an article as publisher of The Success. I am honored to have this privilege of serving the wonderful people of Irion and Schleicher Counties.

Many people have asked me about the new Success. I will attempt to answer some of these questions now.

1. Are you going to publish two newspapers? No. The Good News Review and The Success are being joined to make one newspaper.

2. I have a subscription to both newspapers. Will I lose my money? No. Time remaining on subscriptions to the Good News Review will be added to Success Subscriptions. Your new subscription will be due at the end of this time.

3. Are you moving into the Success building? No. The Success will be moved to the Good News Review office, located in the old ASCS office building, directly behind the Meador-Peters Insurance Agency. Our phone number will be: 853-3125.

4. Are you going to change the size of your paper? For now the newspaper will be printed in the format that you are reading now. We have found this size to be more convenient and easier to read.

5. Will you print only good news or will you print "all the news"? We will be serving as a County newspaper for Schleicher and Irion Counties. We will report all varieties of news for this area. A portion of the paper will be dedicated as a "Good News Review."

6. Do you intend to buy the Standard Times? Not at the present time.

If you have any other questions, give me a call. Better yet, stop by and visit. The latchstring is always on the outside.

Cook's Comments

by Wanda Cook

Last week we reported need for assistance by the family of Pee Wee Valencia. Donations are being taken at Dave's Burger Stop and also by the Mertzon Lions Club Helping Hand Fund.

Mertzon seems to be a town that is pleased to help out their citizens who need help, and through the contributions at Dave's Burger Stop, utilities and the comforts of home just may continue for Theresa and her small children during this most stressful time.

Also, the Helping Hand Fund, which was established some years back by the Mertzon Lions Club, provides a way for the Valencia's, as well as others in our community, to be helped when illness or tragedy strikes.

Those wishing to make a contribution to the Helping Hand Fund may do so by making a deposit at First National Bank of Mertzon to the Mertzon Lions Club Helping Hand Fund.

Two of our favorite citizens have not been well during this past week. Best wishes to Vesta Davis and Lexie Aiken. These are two "very special" ladies!

Have you ever stopped to think about the expressions we use in our every day language? When was the last time you said somebody didn't know beans about something, or described a fog as being thick as pea soup?

These are expressions we often use without even thinking about them. We Americans really take the cake when it comes to using foods in our everyday figures of speech. When things are going right, they are in apple pie order and life is a bowl of cherries. But when they go wrong, it's a fine kettle of fish, or a pretty pickle.

I can't help but wonder about the person who first said of the important business man, "he's the top banana". But if he's not that important he may just be a meatball.

Some other expressions we use to express ourselves include being called butterfingers is we are clumsy, or if a person is cowardly he is chicken-livered. If a person shows dignity and is self-composed then he is cool as a cucumber. If he's smart, he's an egghead. If he is a prizefighter he may have cauliflower ears. If he talks too much, he spills the beans and if he doesn't talk enough, he clam-ups.

A person doesn't earn money anymore, he earns dough, or he brings home the bacon. If he is working for peanuts, his wife may egg him on to butter up the boss.

If something is good it's a peach, if it's bad it's a lemon. Someone will say it is just sour grapes.

Finally, a pretty girl is called a tomato or is quite a dish, and the boys may want to spoon with her.

And just to ice the cake, I want to say that you may take most of this with a grain of salt.

Life Among the Fishes

By Thomas Giovannitti

Since a few people have asked, yes I have Ravioli on Christmas day. They were very delicious! They were so good, in fact, that I served them again on New Year's. It was during this dinner that I thought a little about the significance of such a humble thing as Ravioli.

On Christmas day, my parents, my brothers with their families, and my sisters with their families sat down for Christmas dinner and had Ravioli. In Texas, West Virginia, and at least two towns in New Jersey, some Giovannittis were sitting down to share laughs, talk, maybe a little wine, and Ravioli. Oh, the sauces might have been a little different.

My parents can't use salt in their sauce, Janine makes her's more like the Sicilian side of the family, Joe's sauce is tempered by the spice that his wife's folks used, and Carlo's seasoning has a little more of the Northern Italian from his wife's ancestors, but all of these were spread over cheese filled Ravioli.

Of course, there were turkeys being carved all over this country that day in the homes of people not remotely related to each other but that does not necessarily make a tradition. Homemade Ravioli on the other hand, makes a tradition.

I am sure that if you just stop and think many of you can remember or still participate in family traditions. These rituals usually are acted upon during holidays because it is at holidays that we get most of the family gathered in one place and even siblings are decent to each other for a few hours.

Why didn't I think about all this stuff during the Christmas dinner but waited until New Year's? Well, you see, New Year's dinner was shared with some people we dearly love, the young parents of Jerome, but, for the first time, Maxine and I had someone missing. Oh, Mario is not very far away and he is doing just fine, but he was not there. When I dished out those steaming Ravioli covered in sauce I did not dish him his first helping.

I think I will start saving now so I can buy Mario his own pasta machine and ravioli forms. One of these Christmases in the future, and not too long from now, he will need to make his own. The reason it did not affect me on Christmas is because, even when I eat Ravioli in Texas, I am still having dinner with all my family. Nice, huh!

Our Sympathy

He was preceded in death by his father, George James and one brother, Ernest Raymond James.

Watchin' and Wonderin'

By Zeke Smith

Howdy! Boy it sure has turned off cold, ain't it? I been shakin' all over. Me and cold weather never have been on good relations.

Old Zeke sure has had a busy last month. Fact is, ain't even got to go to no high school basketball games, which I sure miss considering I love them kids and all so much. But in some ways it may be better I ain't been able to go. I sometimes tend to embarrass myself. You see, sometimes, I get upset and yell at those fellows wearin' those striped shirts. And I ought to outgrow that kind of behavior.

Somehow we accepted it as proper to yell at officials as if our price of admission entitled us to it. I don't cotton to that way of thinkin'. We paid to watch a game not make fools of ourselves. And yet

I'll do it if I ain't careful just as sure as the world.

And ever time I do, I'll look around and see some little boy or girl lookin' up at me. I got to wonderin' what kind of example I was settin' for them kids.

So, this year I've decided that I'm gonna try harder to act more like an adult than I have in the past and remember that a game is a game. Anyways, most officials I know say that when somebody yells it tends to make 'em want to call against that fellow's team rather than for it. So I don't think it helps, much less being very becoming for me to act like that. I ain't got enough mind to give folks a piece of it anyway.

See you at the game.

Teacher of the Week

MYRTA RATHBONE

This week's Teacher of the Week is Myrta Rathbone, a first grade teacher at Eldorado Elementary School. She also teaches Driver's Education in the summer.

Mrs. Rathbone was born and raised on a ranch outside Eldorado. She was a cheerleader in high school and graduated from EHS.

She received her Bachelor of Science degree in Elementary Education from Sul Ross University in 1956. Her first teaching job was in El Paso She had 51 students in her first class, half of which spoke no English.

She took a leave from teaching for several years to raise her family.

She has a loving spirit, is always willing to help students and is a very compassionate person. She is a member of the First United Methodist Church and sings in the choir.

Myrta is married to Mickey Rathbone. She has one daughter, Julie, who lives in San Angelo.

Rumor has it she plays golf almost as well as she teaches.

Carman in Concert

Contemporary Christian Magazine has summed up the description-defying Carman in this way: "His is a performance undeniably in the grand tradition of all-American showmanship; a dazzling blend of street-smart storytelling, personal reminiscence, high drama, broad humor, and smoothly choreographed stage moves, all tied up in a flashy musical package."

But perhaps Carman himself best describes, in concert, his approach to music and evangelism. Carman will be in concert at the San Angelo Coliseum Monday, January 16, at 7:30 p.m.

Carman's ministry has made a significant impact on listeners and concert attendees since his introduction to Christian music in the early 80's. His storytelling humorous-musical combination has been captured on six records to date.

Musically, Carman's wide range of musical styles--rap, praise, ballad, story song, rhythm and blues, and rock-a-billy--have broadened his potential listenership. More than anything, though, it is Carman's appeal as a genuinely anointed, called-out, and radically committed minister of the Word which seems to have the greatest appeal to those who buy his recordings and attend his concerts.

It is not so much what Carman DOES that seems to appeal to his listeners, but rather what Carman is that is the most important element. And what captivating Carman is...is RADICALLY SAVED!

Corbell Receives Degree

Joy Corbell, a native of Schleicher County and a student through elementary and high school in Eldorado, received her degree, Magna cum Laude, from Tarleton University, Stephenville, on December 17.

Eighty percent of southwestern colleges received Presidential honors this year and Tarleton had 85 percent. Joy was one of the first of the Presidential Honors Program to graduate from Tarleton University.

Joy majored in Elementary Education and did her student teaching in Hico.

Fad Diets Ineffective

So you overdid it on the holiday eating and now it's time to hop on the diet bandwagon.

To help you fulfill your New Year's vow to lose weight, the magazines will be filled with diet plans and the commercial weight loss programs will advertise heavily in January. The question is, how to choose.

You may not need a "special diet" at all, according to Dr. Mary Kinney Sweeten, a registered dietitian and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"People with an extra two to five pounds from overdoing it during the holidays can probably drop the weight just by cutting back on extra calories and getting on an exercise program, such as walking a mile or two each day," she said.

"Following the low-fat recipes from a magazine diet plan may help some people do that. But if you're already 20 to 30 pounds overweight and have added even more over the holidays, it's time for a significant diet," said Sweeten.

Although a post-holiday fad diet may help in the short run, research indicates that 95 percent of the people who go on them regain the weight within a year, said the specialist.

Before choosing a diet book, class or plan in hopes that it will help you with significant and permanent weight loss, Sweeten suggests asking the following questions:

* What's the source of the diet? Is it a reliable health organization?

* How is the effectiveness of the diet documented? Be wary of testimonials by "successful" clients. Ask for figures on long-term maintenance as well.

* Are sensational claims made for the diet? Does it make sense that you can "lose ten pounds overnight" or "eat all you want" and still lose weight?

* Is the program supervised by qualified personnel, such as a physician or a registered dietitian?

* Along with calorie reduction, does the diet include instruction in behavior and lifestyle modification to help maintain the weight loss?

* Is this a one-food diet or a liquid diet? In addition to being boring, these diets omit necessary nutrients and can be a danger to your health.

* Is the diet nutritionally balanced? It should include foods from the major food groups of meat, poultry and fish, fruits and vegetables, dairy products, and grains and cereals.

* What is the cost of the diet? If you have to buy special foods, devices, supplements or books will it be worth it?

"Do not let what you cannot do interfere with what you can do."

Rabbit Club Meets

The Eldorado Rabbit Club and the 4-H Funny Bunnies met together on Sunday, January 8, 1989. The two groups reviewed the rabbit show agenda.

A proposed by-laws and constitution was passed out for the clubs consideration. The officer election was set for January 22 at the Memorial Building at 3:00 p.m. The club will also participate in the Taste of Eldorado on January 31.

The two groups then separated for their meetings. Marvin Clark demonstrated showmanship procedures for the Funny Bunnies. The adults signed up for offices they would like to hold in the coming year.

The Rabbit Club is helping to sponsor the 4-H/FFA Rabbit Show. The show is to be held Thursday night at 7:30 p.m., and is open to the public. There will be 25 exhibitors with over 140 rabbits entered. There will be at least 16 different breeds exhibited. It will be the largest rabbit show ever in Schleicher County.

TAKE THE CHILL OUT OF WINTER HEATING BILLS.

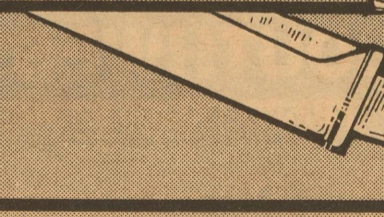

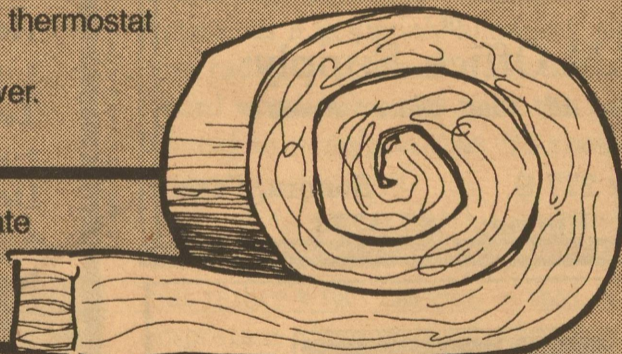

WTU has these suggestions for lower energy bills.

Clean or replace filters monthly in your heating unit.

Set the thermostat at 68° or lower.

Check the attic for adequate insulation; R-30 is recommended.

Caulk and weatherstrip around windows and doors to help prevent excessive heat loss.

Tightly close the damper in the fireplace when not in use.

Open drapes and blinds during the day to let in sunlight and close them at night to hold in warm air.

For a more comfortable home and an electric bill that won't give you a chill, contact your local WTU office for more conservation tips.

Louann Crowder

Louann Crowder, a 17 year old junior at Eldorado High School, participated recently in the Cotton Bowl Parade held in Dallas. Ms. Crowder is the Eagle mascot for EHS.

While attending cheerleading camp in Seguin the summer of 1988, she was chosen Best Mascot of the camp.

There were approximately 50 mascots from Texas and eleven other states chosen to participate in the Cotton Bowl Parade held January 2, 1989. Four of these were college mascots and the remainder were from high schools. Ms. Crowder was the only one chosen from West Texas.

Ms. Crowder has been the Eagle mascot for two years. She is the daughter of Danny and Edna Crowder of Eldorado. She has one sister, Denise, who also attends Eldorado High School.

Cattlemen Need Rain

"What much of the state needs most to get 1989 off to a great start is a good general rain."

This statement was made by Roy G. Wheeler of Pleasanton, the immediate past president and currently a member of the board of the Independent Cattlemen's Association of Texas. He also is an auction market operator and a rancher in Atascosa and McMullen counties.

Adequate water is a concern of many Texans, including homeowners, municipal leaders and producers. The continuing dry weather in many areas is causing concerns about aquifer recharge zones, lake and reservoir levels, soil profile moisture and survival of winter pastures.

Wheeler, and many other cattlemen in areas that were largely skipped by moisture throughout 1988, worry that rains may be scant in early 1989 as well.

Consumers also have concerns that some food prices will continue to climb in the months ahead if timely rains do not come.

For the immediate present, some ranchers feel that a new kind of federal cost-share program is needed to get foundation herds through the winter because of hay shortages.

That help may be forthcoming in an unusual manner for some.

A number of county offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture have notified producers that "they hope to be approved soon for cost-share payment on propane for pear-burning."

County ASCS offices requesting that assistance are located in central, south central and southwest Texas, all extremely drought-stressed areas.

The practice would be a new facet of the livestock feed assistance program offered to drought-designated counties of Texas, according to N.E. Deweber, an emergency program specialist with the State ASCS Office in College Station.

With severe hay shortages in many areas of the state as a result of the continuing drought, many ranchers are asking their county ASCS Committees to request fuel cost-share assistance for burning thorns off cactus for their cattle.

In southwest Texas, the drought in many counties continues to set records for severity.

Drought conditions began in that area in August of 1987 and have not abated, according to Joe Pena, agricultural economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Uvalde.

"In south and southwest Texas, we are completing 17 months of dry weather, which may set records as the second driest period recorded in the 98-year history of weather records here," Pena said.

He said the period from August through mid-December of 1988 also may go down as the second or third driest comparable period on record, unless rains come before the end of this year.

"As we look back on national droughts and weather records, the drought of the 1950s was extremely severe for about 80 percent of the nation, including Texas. In fact, 1956, 1953 and 1971 all set new records for this part of the state," Pena said. He has been recording weather data for the official weather station at the TAMU Center at Uvalde for 10 years.

Pena said the drought of the 1930s also was severe for Texas and the nation.

"What we have going now is of equal or greater severity than the droughts of the '30s and '50s. The unfortunate part is that much of the current drought is impacting a large part of Texas," Pena said.

Epilepsy Still Misunderstood

One out of three Americans still believes "having epilepsy makes other people think less of you and your family," according to results of a recent Gallup survey.

One out of every six people polled in this survey believes epilepsy is a form of mental illness.

One in eight people polled believes people with epilepsy should not have children, and one in six thinks it is possible to tell if people have epilepsy by looking at them. The Gallup study was sponsored by Parke-Davis.

Such perceptions reveal that, despite improvements in public awareness about epilepsy over the last 30 years, misconceptions about epilepsy persist, adding social stigma to the difficulties people with epilepsy must confront.

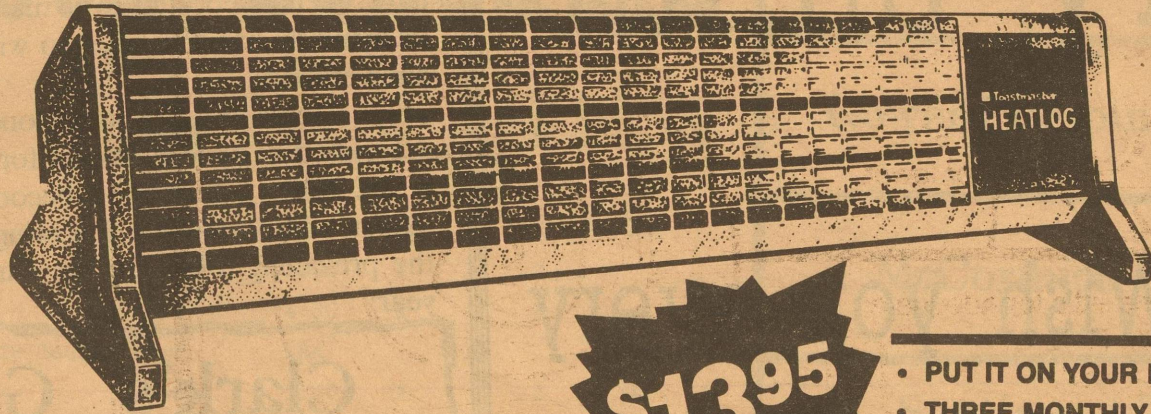

Dr. Ilo E. Leppik, Professor of Neurology and Clinical Professor of Pharmacy at the University of Minnesota, says that, "In reality, thanks to great strides in diagnosing and treating the disorder, most people with epilepsy have gained control over seizures and are able to attend school, hold a job, and lead a full life."

Dilantin®, the first non-sedating anticonvulsant drug, is the mainstay of treatment for people with epilepsy.

"Dilantin has freed people with epilepsy from uncontrollable seizures for the past 50 years, allowing them to lead full and valuable lives," says Dr. Leppik.

November is National Epilepsy Month. This is the perfect time for Americans to realize that people with epilepsy are no different than themselves.

Members present were: Mrs. Willie Blanche Johnson, Isabella McCutcheon, Mary McGinnes, Ola Mae McDonald, Bell Neff, Mable Frietag, Ruth Baker, Rene Calcote and Ola Ruth Barbee.

Historical Society members are reminded to please pay your dues of $2.50 if you have not done so.

A good turnout was reported at the Open House December 18, held for the Historical Society and chamber of commerce at the museum. There were 35 guests and members who gathered for visiting and refreshments. Many donations were received.

BROCCOLI CHEESE SOUP

- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/4 cup margarine or butter
- 1/4 cup unsifted flour
- 3 cups water
- 2 (10-ounce) packages frozen, chopped broccoli, thawed and well drained
- 4 teaspoons Wyler's Chicken-Flavor Instant Bouillon or 4 Chicken-Flavor Bouillon Cubes
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 3 cups (12 ounces) shredded Cheddar Cheese
- 2 cups (1 pint) light or coffee cream

In Dutch oven or large kettle, cook onion in margarine until tender; stir in flour. Gradually stir in water then broccoli, bouillon and Worcestershire sauce. Over medium heat, cook and stir until thickened and broccoli is tender, about 10 minutes. Add cheese and cream. Cook and stir until cheese melts and soup is hot (do not boil). Refrigerate leftovers.

Tip: 6 cups (about 1 1/4 pounds) chopped fresh broccoli can be substituted for frozen broccoli.

Anniversary Tokens

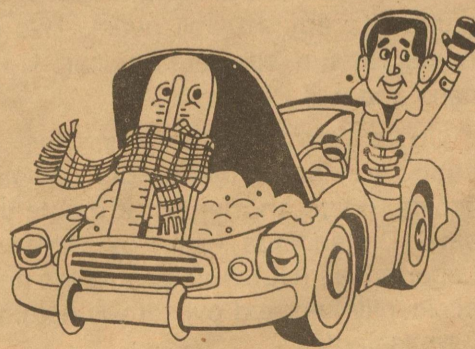

Milestones along the course of life have been celebrated over many centuries. Particularly has this been so with wedding anniversaries.

Gems and precious stones became associated as special tokens for certain years. These tokens have become more or less standardized. The following list shows the prevailing token for the anniversary year:

- First - paper
- Second - cotton
- Third - linen
- Fourth - book
- Fifth - wood
- Sixth - iron
- Seventh - copper
- Eighth - leather
- Ninth - pottery
- 10th - tin, aluminum
- 12th - silk, linen
- 13th - moonstone
- 14th - moss-agate
- 15th - rock-crystal
- 16th - topaz
- 17th - amethyst
- 18th - garnet
- 19th - hyacinth
- 20th - china
- 23rd - sapphire
- 25th - silver
- 26th - star sapphire
- 30th - pearl
- 35th - coral
- 39th - cat's eye
- 40th - ruby
- 45th - Alexandrite
- 50th - gold
- 52nd - star-ruby
- 55th - emerald
- 60th - diamond
- 65th - star-sapphire

Eagles Down Badgers

Dusty Barton

In their first district game of the 88-89 season, the Eldorado Eagles defeated the McCamey Badgers. The final score was 68-40. Stephen Whitten led the scoring for the Eagles with 14 points. Carter Edmiston followed with 13. Dusty Barton and Michael Kotsch both had 10 points to their credit. A half-court three pointer by Barton had the Eagle Fans smiling as they left the gym.

Although they did not have a winning night, our Lady Eagles played a very good game. A very deliberate McCamey team kept the scoring to a minimum. The final score was a squeaker... McCamey 23- Eldorado 22.

Cynthia Martinez led the scoring for the girls with 12 points. Katy Hardy had 5 points, Ginger Sterling- 4 and Charissa Halbert- 2.

Patton Receives Scholarship

Jennifer Patton, a graduate of Eldorado High School, recently received a scholarship from Angelo State University. The award pays for her books, fees and tuition.

Previously, Jennifer had been awarded a track scholarship at The University of Texas at Arlington. An injury resulted in the loss of that scholarship. After her return home and enrollment at ASU, she was offered this present scholarship for her athletic abilities.

Jennifer is the daughter of Gail and Kay Patton of Eldorado. We offer our congratulations to this fine young woman.

A USEFUL VESSEL

It's not what we keep but what we share,
Not what we have but what we spare,
Not what we clasp but what we lose,
Not what we hide but what we use.

A vessel He will make for you,
If small or great, 'twill surely do---
Great joy and peace will always fill
The one who's yielded to His will.

Messages From Mertzson.....

Bradford Celebrates 91st

Mary Bradford of Sherwood celebrated her 91st birthday on December 31st at her home in Sherwood. Mrs. Bradford grew up in Sherwood and attended school in Mertzson, as has most of her family. She lived in San Angelo for several years, returning to Sherwood about two years ago living near two of her sons and their families.

Four of her five children as well as grandchildren and great-grandchildren were on hand to celebrate with her. A son William Bradford of Covina, California was unable to attend the celebration this year, but was here for Ms. Bradford's 90th birthday.

Her children who live in the immediate area include sons, Buck and Ted Bradford and a daughter Ollie Selers all of Sherwood and one daughter Betty Salyards of San Angelo.

A belated HAPPY BIRTHDAY to a beautiful lady from the Irion County Good News Review!

Diabetes: Warning Signs

Diabetes is a disease in which your body cannot turn all the sugar in your blood into the energy it needs to work well. There are several kinds.

Diabetes can cause some very dangerous health problems. It can lead to heart disease and stroke, and cause kidney failure and blindness. It can damage blood vessels, particularly in the feet and legs.

Mostly overweight adults get diabetes, but anyone can. The disease runs in families.

Half of those with diabetes do not know they have it. Sometimes there are warning signs which might suggest a problem. They may include:

- * Frequent urination
- * Excessive thirst
- * Extreme hunger
- * Weight loss

- * Weakness and fatigue
- * Sores that don't heal
- * Bladder infections
- * Vaginal infections
- * Itching
- * Blurred vision
- * Tingling or lack of feeling in feet

Linda Davis--Great Teacher

Mrs. Linda Davis, 5th grade teacher at IC Elementary School is this week's honoree. Mrs. Davis is a graduate of Angelo State University and has spent the last several years in the various classrooms at Irion County Schools.

She also directs the High School One Act Play each spring and is the adult chairperson and student liason for the local High On Sober Students (HOSS) Organization which is a part of the Texas War on Drugs campaign.

Linda Davis

Her hobby is music. She is a member of the National Music Committee for Alpha Delta Kappa Sorority and has sung at International conventions in Washington, D.C.; Las Vegas, Nevada and New Orleans, Louisiana.

She is a member of the Mertzon Church of Christ. She and her husband, Elton Gene Davis have two daughters, Dena, a student at Abilene Christian University and Tracie a Junior at ICHS.

City Council Meets

The minutes of the City Council meeting held last week at the Mertzon City Hall were as follows:

The Council voted to leave the water and sewer rates as they are at the present time. A date for the hearing on the possible closure of the public landfill was set for January 18, 1989 to be held at 7:30 P.M. in the Mertzon Community Center.

A resolution was passed changing the official publication for the City of Mertzon from the San Angelo Standard Times to the Good News Review.

The proposal by the Evans Estate was rejected and tabled until the February meeting.

Kid's Breakfast

Variety is the spice of live. This adage especially holds true when it comes to children and breakfast. Kids get bored easily--they don't want the same foods day in and day out.

With plenty of good-for-you kid-favorite ingredients like ready-to-eat cereals in mind, the POST Center For Nutrition and Health has developed some delicious breakfast ideas.

Parents will love these breakfasts because they're nutritious, quick and easy to prepare. So, give your child a healthy, fun start on the day.

CEREAL PIZZA

- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 3/4 cup milk
- 1/4 cup oil
- 1 cup regular pancake and waffle mix
- 1 cup Post Super Golden Crisp sweetened wheat puffs

Toppings

Combine egg, milk, oil and pancake mix in bowl; mix until well blended. Pour into greased 12-inch pizza pan. Sprinkle cereal evenly over batter. Bake at 425 degrees for 10 to 12 minutes, or until top springs back when lightly pressed. Cut into wedges and serve at once with assorted toppings. Makes 4 servings.

Suggested Toppings: yogurt, fresh fruit, dried fruit, coconut, nuts, honey, jam or pancake and waffle syrup.

Overcoming Dyslexia

Dyslexia is a term applied when a child, usually of average or better intelligence is two or more years behind their expected grade level in reading. This academic or educational application of the term seems most appropriate since dyslexia can become self evident in the class room. For example, a child may be proficient in subjects such as arithmetic, while demonstrating an inability to read.

The cause of this difference between apparent intellect and achievement in reading is unknown. At first, the inability to read may be associated with poor vision. Corrective eye glasses may enhance certain visual aspects of reading, but for the truly dyslexic child, the problem is not solved. Studies confirm this. Dyslexic children do not have an increased incidence of eye problems over the normal population.

Therefore, the problem of dyslexia is not completely sensory, because the brain has difficulty processing the information. Evidence leads experts to believe that the absence of sensory or neurologic impairment may isolate dyslexia as a defect in the cerebellum specifically. A family history of this disorder is common. Boys are affected more often than girls. No social or economic class is favored.

The child almost never reads for pleasure. Spelling and handwriting abilities are often impaired. Confusion in orientation of letters is manifested in several ways: reading from right to left, failure to see similarities or differences in letters or words or inability to work out the pronunciation of unfamiliar words. Attempts to read or write are characterized by letter and word reversals such as p for g or saw for was. This is typical of normal first and second graders but persists in the dyslexic child. Other reading errors include omitting words or losing the place on the page.

A child will satisfy demands to read by summarizing a story based on pictures found in the text. If reading out loud, the child may do so without comprehension and may substitute familiar words for unfamiliar ones. Frustration is inevitable. Reading disability and its effects on learning and school performance may lead to behavior problems, delinquency, aggression, withdrawal, and alienation from other children, parents and teachers.

Before dyslexia can be diagnosed, the child with a reading problem must have a battery of examinations including ophthalmic, psychological, and neurological. Combined, these examinations will verify that the poor reading problem is not due to some other disorder. Early detection and treatment is important to preclude the ongoing sense of frustration and failure experienced by a dyslexic in the course of a lifetime.

The treatment plan developed by the specialist for the dyslexic child may have many dimensions. The goal is to teach the child effective skills and methods for coping with dyslexia. Compensating for this disorder should make the education process rewarding and beneficial. The treatment program should be reviewed regularly and the importance of balancing the child's academic difficulties with enjoyable, successful activities should never be forgotten.

Public Meeting

Public Notices have been posted announcing a public hearing to be held by the City of Mertzon concerning the possible landfill (city dump) closure and possible alternate trash disposal possibilities.

The meeting will be held at the MERTZON COMMUNITY CENTER on the evening of January 18, 1989 at 7:30 p.m. All interested citizens of the City of Mertzon are encouraged to attend this public meeting and discussion.

G.S. Cookie Sales Start

It's Girl Scout cookie time again. From January 13 to January 26 that great American tradition--the Girl Scout Cookie sale--will be under way. It's time to ask yourself that very important question: which is your favorite Girl Scout Cookie?

GIRL SCOUTS

GIRL SCOUT COOKIES
RATE 4 STARS
AND COME
IN 7 VARIETIES.

El Camino Girl Scout Council will offer seven different varieties of cookies to be delivered from February 24 to March 12. Boxes will sell for $2.50 per box.

For nearly 70 years, Girl Scouts have knocked on the doors of their neighbors and offered delicious cookies for sale. In 1987, over 144 million packages of cookies were sold. The sale proceeds benefit the troops which make the sales as well as the Councils providing the girls facilities and services.

So when a Girl Scout knocks on your door--or calls you on the phone--buy some extra boxes for the freezer. The cookies are baked with vegetable shortening, have no preservatives and no artificial colors.

If the Girl Scouts miss you, call 853-2176 or 853-3150 and ask to place your cookie order.

Yesteryear...

By Rene Calcote

"To Make the Best Better" is the 4-H's motto. Schleicher County youths have enthusiastically expressed this in their 4-H activity and leadership over the past sixty years.

This article was written sixty years ago about the first 4-H Club. The 1930 Schleicher County History book printed:

"Boys of Schleicher County win against all comers at Fort Worth"

"A carload of uniform and evenly finished lambs, which were fed and exhibited by the Schleicher County 4-H Club of Eldorado, under the direction of County Agent L.E. Sumner, won the grand champion prize for all lambs at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth.

"In all the Schleicher County lambs took eight prizes. Ribbons for four first places, two seconds, one fourth and one seventh place are now being shown in the First National Bank of Eldorado.

"The prizes won by Schleicher County lambs, together with the names of the boys who fed the lambs and the name of the breeder are:

"First place, pen of three fine wool wether fat lambs, fed by Glenn Green; breeder, Thomson and Lawhon. Blue ribbon and prize of $20.

"Second place, pen of three fine wool wether fat lambs, fed by Gene Koy, and bred by Jess Koy. Prize $15.

"First prize in pen of 15 fine wool at lambs. Prize $25. Five lambs each, fed by Glenn Green, Gene Koy, and Banning Wade.

"First place in carload Boys's Club fine wool fat lambs. Prize $125. Fifty lambs were entered in this lot by: Gene Koy, breeder, Joss Koy; Garth Clark, breeder, J. Forrest Runge; Banning Wade, breeder, Hensil Matthews; Glenn Green, breeder, J.W. Lawhon, Jr.; Frank Bradley, breeder, John Rae; Cecil Moore, breeder, Jess Koy; Thomas Richard Jones, breeder, Jess Koy; Bell Sample, breeder, Tom Henderson; Jim Tom Roach, breeder, J.W. Lawhon, Jr.; John Luedecke, breeder, Luke Thompson; Dee DeLong, Breeder, D.E. DeLong; Louie Nolan, breeder, W.H. Parker and B.F. Nolan.

"The same carload of 50 lambs won the first prize of $450 in open competition.

"Second place, individual fine wool wether lambs, fed by Glenn Green; breeder, Thomson Bros. and Lawhon. Prize $15.

"Fourth place, fed by Garth Clark; breeder J.F. Runge. Prize $5.

"Seventh place, fed by Gene Koy; breeder, Jess Koy.

"The total money prizes won on feeder lambs was $255. The one boy who fed a calf failed to place in his contests.

"The most significant of the winnings was the champion carload of fine wool fat lambs against all comers in open competition. Among the competitors in this class were Texas Tech, Oklahoma A&M, Boy's Clubs, and Ag. classes from Irion, Mason, McCulloch, Tom Green, Presidio, Scurry and Schleicher Counties.

"In the individual class there was such competition as Singleton of Midlothian and Paul Rann of Decatur, both of whom are noted sheep breeders of the State."

Schleicher County contains the same quality 4-H Club as sixty years ago. Come out and see the annual Livestock Show and Creative Arts Division starting January 12.
