Modern Refrigeration Goes On Parade Monday Night

2,000 More Texans Get Draft Calls

AUSTIN, March 8 (AP)—Texas will have a force of 23,885 men in training under the selective service act next month, when the seventh call, for 2,000 more trainees, has been answered.

State selective service headquarters today issued a call to the state's 251 local boards to supply 2,000 white men for induction between April 2 and 8.

General J. Walt Page, state director, said approximately 10,000 additional selectees will be inducted by June 30 to complete the state's quota for the first year of the program.

Refreshments At Refrigerator Show Planned

Refreshments to be served to the hundreds at the city's Refrigerator show at the high school gymnasium Monday evening are a courtesy of Darby's bakery and the makers of Admiration coffee.

Darby's will furnish plenty of their special cakes for all visitors at the show to have a slice; and the "cup of Southern hospitality" will be the Duncan Coffee company product, Albert Darby and Earl Corde, local Admiration representative, are cooperating with refrigerator dealers in arranging the refreshments.

All Local Dealers Cooperate In Show

Modern refrigeration—1941 version—goes on parade Monday night.

Every refrigerator dealer in the city, without exception, is joining in a cooperative enterprise to present the newest models for food storage and preservation in a public showing.

The place is the high school gym, the hours are from 7:30 to 10:30. Everything is free.

Naturally, all the public is invited. There will be refreshments—coffee and cake, served through courtesy of Duncan Coffee company, makers of Admiration, and Darby's bakery in Big Spring—served throughout the evening; and music for the refrigerator show will be furnished by Gerald Liberty and his orchestra.

The major interest, however, will be the full floor display of gleaming new refrigerators, both automatic and ice units, designed to meet the latest demand of the housewife and to satisfy the most exacting specifications of today's household economy.

Dealers joining in the exhibit—first of its kind staged in Big Spring—are Banner Creamery, Barrow Furniture company, Big Spring Hardware, D&H Electric, Gibson Household Appliances, Montgomery Ward, B. Sherrod

Men Of Churches To Meet Monday In Coahoma

COAHOMA, March 8 (Sp.)—Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Echols, Amy Lee, Ray and Jane were Sunday visitors in the home of Mrs. Lela Cross of Stanton.

Miss Lucille Hammonds visited Gene Fendergrass in her home in Ackerly over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lay were in San Angelo visiting Mrs. Gibbs, who is ill in the hospital. They also attended the stock show.

I. F. McQuerry and Alvin Lay are fishing this week on the Pecos river.

The Rev. and Mrs. John W. Price spent Friday in Abilene visiting their daughter, Pat, who is working in Abilene. Eileen Brown returned home with them to spend the weekend.

Mrs. Alvin Lay is visiting her mother, Mrs. Bell, in Merkel this week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Woolard and Miss Althea Rae Adams will visit in Granberry for the next ten days.

Mrs. Beadle left Tuesday to join her husband at Marfa where he is in training.

Mr. and Mrs. Alva Walker of Mineral Wells are spending this week visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Young.

Doris Hayes, Rayford Robinson, Hessie Read, W. D. Costa, Lee Roy and Wayne Grandsaff, D. L. Townsend and their sponsor, J. O. Nickel, were the F. A. boys who attended the Stock show in San Angelo last week.

Yeda Mae Roberts of Midland is spending this week here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. F. Roberts, and their relatives.

Vernon Patterson, who is attending the aircraft armament school in Denver, Colo., is visiting his mother, Mrs. Paul Patterson, this week. He will go to Washington to begin work about the 20th of this month.

Mrs. Howard Harper left this week to join her husband, Sgt. Howard Harper of San Pedro, Calif., who has been in training there since June. They plan to make their home in San Pedro. Mrs. Harper will visit her brother, Sgt. Jack Little, who is training also.

The Men of the Churches will meet Monday night at the high school auditorium for their regular meeting. The entertainment this week will be an old fashioned spelling bee.

Mrs. Mae Martin and Mrs. E. A. Brooks of Seagraves visited friends here Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Baker and family will spend this weekend in Stamford visiting relatives.

Big Spring Men To Army Posts

Jack L. Walker and Cecil G. Bowles have been assigned to regular army posts in the air corps at Mather Field, California, according to notice received by Sgt. Troy Gibson, Big Spring recruiting officer.

Five other recruits were sent to Fort Bliss Thursday but notification of their acceptance has not yet been received.

Replacements are needed for three-year service in the army. List of openings available includes the engineers, Hawaiian Islands; signal corps, Fort Bliss; anti-aircraft unit of the coast artillery, El Paso; cavalry, Fort Bliss.

Additional men are required at three air stations. Ten are to be supplied to Brooks Field, 15 to Randolph, plus enlistments for Mather and Ontario, California, and Las Vegas, New Mexico, air fields.

Recruit Turns Recruit
ST. LOUIS.—Allen A. Sanders, Jr., 29-year-old St. Louisian, first volunteered for a year's military service, long before his draft order number was due to place him in line for a call. He then turned to recruiting on his own and, before being inducted, brought in seven friends as volunteers.

Westinghouse Meets Demand Of Modern Refrigeration

Westinghouse meets demands for five different kinds of protection of the modern day meal, giving better and more uniform service than ever before.

Baby's Food Needs Best Of Refrigeration

Modern mother has learned that her refrigerator is about as necessary in raising baby as the crib.

Efficiency of refrigerators has so progressed in recent years, that it has long since graduated from the luxury class to that of convenience and now a necessity.

Today doctors know more about getting baby off to a good start in life, and one of the ways to do it is give baby the right kind of food.

Not infrequently infants require individual formulas, and these must be kept fresh and pure for the baby's mouth. There is no better way to preserve than with the refrigerator.

Busy as a cranberry merchant with all her many new duties, the young mother can save precious moments by preparing all the baby's feedings in bottles early in the morning and slip them into the refrigerator until serving time.

Recreation News

The Senior Music club met Tuesday with the following members present: A. L. Carille, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Kinard, Edith Hamby, Randall Simmons. Visitors were Ollie Atkinson, Ardavee Lewis, Bob Carille and Junior Strader.

Augmented and diminished chords were studied by the group, and instrumental music was the diversion.

The Junior Music club met Wednesday. Those present were Ethel Lee Potter, Dorothy Hodges, Marjorie Hodges, Wanda Gene Cooper, Frances Sorrels, Tommie and Helen Belcher.

An "old time" candy breaking was the highlight of the program. Line games and contests were played by the group.

The Sew and So club met Tuesday and after a short business session Floyce Brown talked on "What I'd Do if I Was President of the United States." Pictures of Carlsbad Cavern were passed around and talks on the caverns made by visitors. Plans were outlined for a St. Patrick party. Present were Mary Lou Redwine, Nedda Muffel Smith, Wandalene Richardson, Lovie Patton, Dorothy Brown, Floyce Brown and Peggy Myers.

No Fees, No Rules for Club WELLSVILLE, N. Y.—A service club without dues, fees, rules of formality is the newly-organized Willmore Club which meets here each Monday noon. "Come in your work clothes" is the motto of the organization. Programs are presented each week but none can last longer than 20 minutes.

Local Man Writes Home— LIFE IN NAVAL RESERVE BUSY AS IT IS NEW TO LANDLUBBER

Life of a naval reserve called to service is as busy as it is different. Ligon Baird, formerly police dispatcher here, writes.

Now stationed at the U. S. naval armory at Indianapolis, Ind., he describes routine for a confirmed landlubber:

"We have to get up at 5:30 a. m., which in navy time is five hundred thirty, and run for a mile, take exercises, and then run back to the armory, where we have roll call, then inspection and march down to chow (breakfast). We live in an armory that is planned from a ship, and while on it we talk the lingo of a sailor. The halls are called "gangways," the walls are bulkheads, the floors are decks, the upper stories are called upper decks, the basement is hold, the stairways ladders, the windows ports, the kitchen galley, etc.

"After breakfast we have classes of one hour each in code copying, typing, theory of radio, and the procedure of messages. I have three hours of code, one of typing, one of theory and one of procedure. We get out of school at 4:30 p. m. and have chow at 5 p. m., study from six to eight and get to bed at nine.

"When we came here we were issued a complete sea-going outfit, two pair of shoes, two trousers, two blouses (undress blues), one blouse (dress blues) and four undress whites (for working in the "galley," a job that will befall all of us and some of us more).

"The primary purpose of the school here is to teach all of the men to become "petty officers."

"We take code from morning to night. It is not an uncommon sight to see a man running up and down the 'gangways' singing to himself, 'dah dit dit and dit dit dah.'"

"Those just learning have to stand before the bulletin board and spell everything in code. There is one instance of the recruit who walked in the night: 'I hear dots before my ears.'"

"It is really amusing some of the questions that one will ask when he finds that you are from Texas. One man asked me if we are still 'feudin' down in Texas. Others want to know what a cowboy is. Others wish to know what a Texas ranger is and hear some of the stories of their gunplay, and not a few boys get a kick out of the Texas lingo I sling.

"In class the Texas boys got a kick out of the young lieutenant who ridiculed the thought of a man becoming an expert pistol shot while firing from the hip. Of course we know it can be done.

"One thing more that I am sure will be of interest is this: Tex Walton (remember the baseball player) is here in school. He played last season on a farm with the White Sox and is signed up this year with the Beaumont club of the Texas league, although it is pretty certain he won't get to play."

Aged Mitchell County Citizen Laid To Rest

COLORADO CITY, March 8 (SpI)—Funeral services for John Nowlin Walker, 80, resident of Mitchell county for 33 years, were held from First Baptist church at Colorado City Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. A. E. Travis, pastor, officiating.

Mr. Walker died at his home in the Seven Wells community early Thursday afternoon following an illness of several months. He was born in Alabama on Jan. 26, 1861, and was married in Alabama to Sue Emma Garrett.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, C. G. Walker of Buford and J. T. Walker of Midland; three daughters, Mrs. Sam Hale of Colorado City, Mrs. N. Jennings of Rowell, N. M., and Mrs. L. E. Reese of Ackerly. There are several brothers and sisters, one of the sisters, Mrs. W. S. Justice, living in Colorado City.

GOLD IN THAT THAR HILL.—Out of Colorado's Carlton tunnel in the Cripple Creek gold fields chugs a 14-car "doubleheader" train bringing blasted granite from inside Battle Mountain, where search for gold goes on steadily. Dynamite is used to peel away the granite interior, and loose rock is then hauled out and dumped. Note the "Safety First" sign.

Colorado City Girl Receives Honor Society Pin

AUSTIN, March 8 (SpI)—Nancy Price of Colorado City Friday received the tiny gold candle-embossed pin which signifies membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman honor society.

Miss Price, who is the daughter of Mrs. O. B. Price of Colorado City, was graduated from Colorado City high school last spring as valedictorian of her class. She was named "best all around girl" in high school, was editor of the school annual, "The Lone Wolf," and served as president of the Dramatic club.

At the university, where she is majoring in speech, she is on the house council of Helen M. Kirby Hall, Methodist dormitory.

Pie Baker, 75, Beats Women SPRINGFIELD, Mass.—Seventy-five-year-old F. J. McCarthy says he won the Pioneer Valley apple pie making championship from women competitors because he had done the family baking since his wife died in 1907.

McTanny Sailor Carries Mail MT. GILEAD, O.—A former member of the crew of the gunboat Panay, sunk by Japanese bombing planes, has begun duties as a rural mail carrier out of Mt. Gilead. Peres Ziegler was named to fill a vacancy in the list of rural carriers.

New Tungsten Mine Opened PORTERVILLE, Calif.—A new tungsten mine has been developed in the foothills of the Sierra Nevada mountains in the San Joaquin valley.

Easy-To-Reach Shelves Are Featured In Crosley Boxes

Twice as much food to the front is one of the outstanding achievements of the Crosley refrigerator with its 1941 super-shelf.

It's all done by ingenious arrangement which also affords a separate frozen storage compartment for meats, fresh and frozen fruits and vegetables, and a more efficient crisper.

Models of the Crosley box will be displayed by the Big Spring Hardware Co. in the refrigeration show Monday evening at the high school gymnasium where the public may see them in operation.

Crosley also boasts a feature in its "moist cold" refrigerators, hailed by company engineers as the "greatest advance in the history of mechanical refrigeration."

Included in the Shelvador arrangement are: Non-rolling break-proof egg shelf; "built-in" for strength; correct storage temperature, new bottle shelf; durable dux finish; removable shelf bottom, streamlined beauty.

Other headline attractions in the current models by Crosley include a special meat storage space which can accommodate 14-pound roast or its equivalent in meats; sealed "clear-vision" crispers on smooth-gliding drawers; the "storabin" which holds dry vegetables in the amount of two and a half pecks; the extra compartment for handling from nine to 12 packages of frozen foods; the quick release ice trays, current economizing temperature control; the automatic defrost indicator; and, of course, the famous Crosley sealed-in motor backed by a five year guarantee and utilizing from 12 the safest refrigerant ever developed.

Insulation of the steel boxes is accomplished by use of fiberglas, an insulating material with lasting qualities which does not settle, absorb moisture or odors or deteriorate in any way.

Typical of Crosley thoroughness in the door of a modern plastic with 150 times the insulating capacity of metal door liners. There is no refrigerator on the market with more cubic feet of insulation than a Crosley.

These boxes, which give "over an extra foot of usable storage space," will be shown in a variety of models by Big Spring Hardware Co. representatives.

Pure-Bred Sires Obtained For Mitchell Herds

COLORADO CITY, March 8 (Sp1)—Two purebred bulls purchased with FSA loans are already in service in Mitchell county and a third will soon be acquired by a community cooperative association which has been formed at Seven Wells.

Two of the three will be owned by a community association and one is owned by an individual.

Fifteen farmers compose the community purebred sire association just formed at Seven Wells. They will buy a purebred Jersey dairy sire with a high butter fat production index. E. R. Venus, elected president and manager of the association, will keep the sire at his place. Porter C. Hammons is vice-president and O. R. Carpenter is secretary.

The Conaway purebred sire association has been in operation since September. It has ten members with Milburn D. Leach as manager and with the sire located on the James A. Stager farm south of Westbrook. The sire purchased by this association is Blinde Prudence Prince, bought from I. H. Turney of Tulla. He has a butter fat production index of 610 pounds per year.

Conaway's cooperative association also operates a feed mill for grinding feed and chopping ensilage. All ten men in the association plan to fill trench silos this year.

The third purebred sire bought with FSA funds in the county in

Nine Wells In Mitchell County Pool Staked

COLORADO CITY, March 8 (Sp1)—Nine new locations have been made in the Dockery & Robbins field of northwestern Mitchell county by E. A. Ehman, Wichita Falls operator, who this week completed his third well in the field. No. 1-B E. T. Strain, with a pumping potential of 335 barrels.

Three of the locations are on block 20 of E. T. Strain land, three on block 9 of E. T. Strain land, and three on block 18 of Crawford land.

Two wells in the field were cleaned out this week after shots. One was Art Wagner's No. 2 Fuller and the other was M. Emmons' Judith Quinette No. 1 E. T. Strain.

Wm Lester 16 Months Late LORAIN, Ohio.—"The mail must go through" is a slogan which still applies—but it sometimes takes a long time when deliveries are made from warring Europe. Mrs. Joseph S. Mosjar received a letter from her son, Mrs. Johanna Mondry, of Kluzeava, Slovakia. It was 16 months late.

Needle Long In Spine ARAPAHOE, Neb.—William Stevens complained for weeks of a sore spot in his back. When it grew worse, he consulted a doctor. To Stevens' surprise, the physician removed a rusted sewing needle from the spine. Stevens had no idea how the needle became lodged in his back nor how long it had been there.

Ward Refrigerators Built Precisely As A Fine Auto

Montgomery Ward hermetically sealed refrigerators for 1941 will be on display Monday night at the high school gymnasium.

The Montgomery Ward company uses the best that money can buy, according to the company, to construct its refrigerator. To prevent rusting, each MW refrigerator frame is completely bonderized, a typical example of Ward's high quality standards.

And for a refrigerator, Freon F-12, also chosen for its safety by the U. S. Navy for submarines and hospital ships, is used.

Built with the precision of a fine automobile, parts of Ward's sealed unit are accurate within 1-10,000 of an inch.

Its porcelain interior is stainless, sanitary and acid-resisting and the refrigerator is all-steel, one-piece welded construction. No cracks permit air or moisture to seep in. The famous delux finish won't chip as it is tough as cobble and highly resistant to heat, rust, and grease. And pleasing to the housewife, it cleans easily with soap and water.

Chrome shelves which the 1941 refrigerator features cost more but they are worth it as they are rust-proof and easy to clean.

MW believes that the most important single factor in making an efficient long-lived refrigerator is an efficient long-lived unit. And every MW refrigerator has a hermetically sealed unit representing the most advanced thinking by the country's best engineers.

Other features include the food compartment that is waist-high to prevent having to stoop to see inside.

In the bottom of the box is the storaway bin that is really a pantry built right into the refrigerator. It will store surplus stocks of bottle goods and food stuffs not needing refrigeration.

With four types of food protection, the refrigerator has four vital cold zones. Frozen storage for ice cubes, frozen foods and frozen desserts, chilling storage for meats, bottled goods and canned beverages, maximum general storage for butter, cheese, eggs, and milk, and the humidified storage for fresh fruits and vegetables.

The new 1941 MW refrigerator actually pays for itself in six ways. Savings at food sales, and large economical gains reduced food spoilage, economical desserts, cheaper than ice, fewer doctor bills, all are advantages gained by using MW refrigerators.

Mexico Stocks Game Hired

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—Mexico is stocking up on game birds. The first accurate check ever made between the state fish and game control and the U. S. Customs, shows that Mexico during the past six months has imported from California 18,442 quail; 6,555 doves; 4,565 wild ducks; 205 wild geese; 45 snipes and 25 pheasants.

ONTONAGON, Mich.—Jimmie Jackia has ignored many of the world's inventions during his 48 years, and apparently has no desire to widen his experience. He says he's never ridden a train or seen a movie or owned an automobile, but once a week he walks seven miles to Ontonagon.

The first postal service in America was inaugurated on May 1, 1803, between Portsmouth, N. H., and Philadelphia.

Banner Creamery Offers Four Lines Refrigerators

Banner Creamery offers four lines of refrigerators in the ice-cooled field. A far cry from the old-fashioned wood constructed box, the 1941 version consists of the latest developments in air-conditioning and insulation.

Banner displays the Vitalaire, Conditionaire, Olympic and Progress as its contribution to modern and efficient refrigeration. This quartet of refrigerators are so built as to maintain the proper moisture from melting ice, thus acting as a protection against drying out and providing for the safeguarding of meats, vegetables and fruits.

In all of these refrigerators the ice compartment walls are out free from contact with the insulated walls of the refrigerator, being separated by air spaces on sides and back. But these air spaces are more than just a means of preventing wastage of coldness—the temperature of each cell becomes such that there is actually a cushion of air between the outside temperature and that within the refrigerator.

A system of grids are built into each of these new styles of ice refrigeration that result in the forming of air ducts or draft flues, thereby encouraging more frequent circulation of air throughout the interior.

Even the door of the cabinet is so designed as to prevent loss of ice efficiency through seepage of warm air. All four of the Banner Creamery-shown models have a rubber gasket with a double roll air cushioned formation that forms an airtight union between door and cabinet.

The Vitalaire, Conditionaire, Olympic and Progress refrigerators have an exterior finish of lustrous high bake enamel on the new Galvanized steel. The interior finishing consists of high bake enamel on galvanized steel plus a porcelain bottom.

Latest development in refrigerator air-conditioning have made possible for one have to the advantage of properly controlled moist cold and at the same time have available an inexhaustible supply of fresh, crystal-clear ice.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 8 (AP)—Miss Kathryn Strong, 28-year-old office worker, sacrificed her American citizenship today to marry Alex Rolfe, 27, a German cook from the scuttled liner Columbus.

The ceremony was performed by Municipal Judge Alden Ames and Rolfe was returned within a few hours to the Angel Island immigration station where he and about 400 others have been interned technically for the last year.

Miss Strong met Rolfe at a dance at a German social center here. She will keep her job until the war is over and she can join her husband.

Stewart-Warner Offers Long Time Food Keeping Feature

An unusual feature of the Stewart-Warner electric refrigerator is a built-in freezing locker which home freezes foods for long time protection.

In it, frosted foods may be kept for months without damage. In it, meat becomes more tender.

The Stewart-Warner also has a huge moist-cold compartment for storage of celery, lettuce, cheese, sliced meat and table leftovers. The moist air of this compartment

1941 Frigidaire Offers New Ideas About Food Keeping

Frigidaire of 1941 offers an entirely new conception of what should be expected in mechanical refrigeration. Back in the days when mechanical refrigeration was in its infancy, Frigidaire was pioneering and today has developed in its latest of the line a refrigerator that has combined all the worthwhile features discovered from the experience of building and selling over six million units.

Coming in two general models, the Cold-Wall and the Standard, Frigidaire has been designed to fill the demands of all branches of mechanical refrigeration. All the food-keeping conveniences of the DeLuxe units are found in the Standard models, but so priced as to allow everyone to enjoy the advantages of mechanical refrigeration.

The Cold-Wall Frigidaire does more than simply keep the cold within the box. Built into the four walls of the Frigidaire is a complete cooling system—a system of chilling coils that keeps an even degree of coldness throughout the food compartment. Air circulation, which dries and wilts foods, is reduced to a minimum because chilled air does not come from any central location in the box. Instead, an unvarying degree of chilled air completely surrounds the most delicate vegetable and freshest meats.

An entirely new and roomier cold storage compartment maintains a super-moist sub-freezing coldness, keeping perishable foods at frost-making temperature and thus avoiding loss of flavor or freshness. All 1941 Frigidaires have sliding Hydrators to protect foods. Made of acid-resisting porcelain, these Hydrators are specially made to provide the moist cold needed to protect fruits and vegetables.

Frigidaire's super-powered Master-Mixer is one of the outstanding features of this unit. Although the 1941 Frigidaires have more power to keep food safer and freeze ice faster, they now use less current than any previous model of corresponding size. With operating expenses cut to the bone because of only two simple parts that move in the Frigidaire compressor, the new models are quiet as a whisper and permanently sealed.

Even the degree of cold in a 1941 Frigidaire is under complete control. The Master Switch and Safety-Cycle Defroster is the ultimate in convenience and dependability. Temperatures that protect perishable foods are maintained during the process of defrosting by means of this feature of the Frigidaire.

A Frigidaire cabinet is built to last a generation. Of all-steel construction and finished with Durable Dulux, the exterior of the 1941 Frigidaire keeps a lustrous and unblemished surface through years of use.

Coolerator's big Advantage Is Ice-Conditioning Action

The principle of ice-conditioning in the Coolerator, distributed by Southern Ice Company, keeps foods naturally fresh.

In a Coolerator your foods retain their appetizing flavors. Lettuce, celery and other vegetables keep their garden crispness.

Coolerator not only keeps foods at a constant cold temperature, whether the ice chamber is full or nearly empty, but keeps them as near as possible to their original freshness over a long period of time. This is because of the flow of clean, washed air through the box preventing drying out or mingling of food odors.

Fresh, hard-frozen, taste-free ice cubes can be made with the Coolerator in less than five minutes. It is unnecessary to wait for cubes to freeze, or run to the neighbors to borrow Coolerator cubes have no frozen-in-odor taste.

Frozen desserts and frozen salads are quickly and easily made with Coolerator Icy Chef freezer. The contents of an Icy Chef will freeze in less than an hour. Ice cream may be made in 10 minutes in the freezer attachment.

Always on hand to assure that best of service will be given by the Coolerator is the Southern Ice Company's service man, who is a specialist in ice refrigeration. He has made a thorough study of the subject, and can help the user get the most efficient performance from the Coolerator.

Southern Ice Company points out that the Coolerator costs less to buy and own, has no mechanical parts to get out of order, has no noise, requires no defrosting.

Work Begins On Victoria Base

VICTORIA, March 8 (AP)—A large crew of United States army engineers, including some 30 draftsmen, will arrive here next Tuesday to complete detailed plans prior to actual construction of the United States army $2,850,000 aerial gunnery training base.

Construction of the base, to be located five miles east of Victoria, will be rushed so that instruction can begin June 7, the war department announced, which means night and day crews will be employed on the project.

Facilities will be provided for approximately 365 flying cadets and 1,775 officers and enlisted men. Construction plans call for 155 buildings on the site.

Students in the advanced school here will use single-engine, speedy fighting planes on which will be mounted the latest type machine guns.

Fliers will come from the army's basic training centers, including Randolph, Brooks and Kelly Field at San Antonio and Ellington Field at Houston.

Army To Double Armored Force

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—Military authorities disclosed today the army intends to double its new armored force early this fall, and it was reported the move might entail retention of some selective service trainees as well as national guardsmen in service beyond a single year.

Along with a possible request to congress for authority to keep the national guard in service for an additional six to twelve months, the war department was reported to have under consideration a request to expand the land forces beyond the total of 1,419,000 set for June 30.

Selective service trainees could be retained, military men said, by placing them on duty as reservists after completion of their initial 1-year training. However, authorization would have to be voted by congress.

It was stressed that present studies were tentative and that decisions hinged on international developments. Some officials have expressed hope that the regular army may be expanded by volunteers from the trainees to take care of prospective future needs for trained manpower. The regulars, serving three-year enlistments, now number some 800,000.

By September or October, sufficient tanks, guns and other equipment are expected to be available to equip up to six armored divisions of the type the nazis used in the sweep through France. Two divisions are fully organized already, and two others are in the early stages of organization. In its present form, an armored division requires some 11,000 men.

Electrolux's Long Life, Low Cost Operation Featured

"Stays silent—lasts longer" is the slogan stressed by Servel Electrolux, the gas refrigerator, in its campaign for 1941. Electrolux models will be displayed at the Refrigerator Show in the High School gym Monday night by E. Sherrod Supply company, local dealer.

Pointing out that the tiny gas flame does the work, Electrolux makers continue to emphasize that the gas method of refrigeration is the completely silent method; and that because there are no moving parts in the Electrolux, longer life of the box is assured.

All Servel models come with a ten-year protection certificate. Economy is another talking point for Electrolux, with the company citing figures that more than enough can be saved on food purchases alone—through larger purchases and adequate preservation—to more than pay installments on the refrigerator.

Electrolux has hosts of users who recommend it as a permanently silent, long-life unit, one which will show money saving year after year, one providing constant cold and plenty of ice, and one that will always be thoroughly dependable.

The 1941 lines provide 30 per cent more ice, with a new design freezing unit which assures speedier freezing of cubes and desserts.

There is a new improved trigger release on the trays. Refrigeration system of Electrolux is designed to provide the proper moisture and cold for every kind of food. There is dry, extra cold for ice cubes and frozen foods, a special storage for milk and tall bottles; selective moisture and extra cold for meats, normal cold for dairy products and covered foods; and moist cold for fresh fruits and vegetables. Trays and receptacles are so movable that storage may be obtained in almost any desired fashion.

Among the new features of Electrolux is a special frozen food storage, an item that is provided in keeping with today's popularity of frozen foods.

Other Servel features include quick grid and cube release; panel temperature control; dry or moist meat storage; sliding shelves to make storage at the rear more accessible; automobile light; tilt shelves, to provide for tall bottles sign the new 1941 Servel. Boxes have been streamlined to harmonize with the modern trend in kitchen interiors and styled to add new charm to the kitchen. The line carries the approval of the Good Housekeeping Institute. These are models in varying sizes and prices to meet all household needs.

Mechanism Of Gen'l Electric Built To Last

Many exclusive features are built into the General Electric refrigerator which is designed to give long life and trouble-free performance over a long period of years. And Monday night at 7:30 o'clock at the high school gymnasium, the General Electric hermetically sealed refrigerators will be displayed by Taylor Electric company.

The General Electric sealed unit refrigerator guarantees long life, low operating cost, less service required and quietness and efficiency.

One of the features of this type unit is the complete pressure lubrication that leaves a film of oil on all moving parts so that metal does not rub on metal.

Tests have shown that it isn't the steady pull that wears down a mechanism but rather the sudden starts and stops under load. The automatic unloader removes the load from the compressor at starting and stopping, eliminating wear.

A flat plate condenser and oil cooling of the motor and compressor reduce necessary cleaning and provide cool operation. Also the super-freezers or cooling units are made of stainless steel.

General Electric sealed units are designed and manufactured to be quiet in themselves and sound is further reduced by acoustic mufflers.

The cabinet of the General Electric refrigerator is of all steel construction and has a straight Egyptian finish. Stainless steel shelves slide easily in and out.

A new angle is the butter conditioner at the top of the box. Just before mealtime, the housewife can place the butter in the conditioner so that when it is placed on the table, it is easily cut and spread.

G. E. has combined beauty and quality in the new 1941 refrigerator and features a five year protection plan which protects the purchaser for five years against failure of the sealed mechanism.

Other selling points for the GE are ice storage, frozen and chilling storage, built-in bottle storage and fresh meat, vegetable, fruit, general and dry storage.

The firm's slogan is a place for everything and everything in its place for protection, convenience and economy.

Reserve Cooling Capacity Maintained By Kelvinator

Kelvinator uses the sound reserve principal to insure efficiency and economy in operation of its 1941 models, which will be exhibited before crowds at the refrigeration show Monday evening in the high school gymnasium.

Kelvinator boxes will be on display by the D. & H. Electric company with representatives to explain its features.

Vital point of any mechanical refrigerator is the cold making unit, and in the case of Kelvinator, it is the Polarsphere. Small in external dimensions, the condensing unit is remarkably large in refrigerating capacity, actually possessing large reserve capacity.

This makes possible ordinary performance at lower costs and enables it to function without strain under peak demands in hottest weather. It utilizes the efficient non-toxic, non-inflammable Freon-12 as a refrigerant. The unit is sealed in at the factory.

Kelvinator owners have assurance that current overloads will never ruin the condensing unit for automatic devices prevent overloads from heating or damaging the mechanism.

Other points which Kelvinator is spotlighting this season are scientifically arranged, sturdy shelves; a three-piece folding shelf which will allow containers of unusual size to be stored; a crisper for fresh vegetables and for keeping sandwiches or salads; and vegetable bin which which gives dry storage for dry vegetables.

Kelvinator has a handy system for removing ice cubes from its large storage unit, a system that will permit the removal of one or many cubes without waste or having to pour on water.

The boxes are of fine, durable white finish and the porcelain-lined, round-cornered food storage compartments are easy to wash and defrosting may be accomplished by simply turning the control "defrost." In slack seasons or when a person will be away from home for a considerable length of time, the control may be set on "vacation" and the cold flow continues at a low ebb, but sufficient to be effective, thus saving on current.

Norge Automatically Handles Defrosting Nuisance

No more defrosting nuisance exists in the Norge refrigerator, which will be on display by D. & H. Electric Co. at the refrigerator show in the high school gymnasium Monday evening.

No forgetting to defrost at the right time, no forgetting to turn current on again, for Norge's new "night-watch" development automatically defrosts every night. Cold flow is stopped just long enough to melt the thin film of frost but not long enough to melt ice cubes. Then the cold flow clicks back on again—all while you sleep.

Norge engineers hail this refinement as perhaps the greatest "single improvement" in refrigeration since the introduction of the famous Norge Rollator cold-maker 15 years ago.

Performance always has been one of the strong points of Norge, and this year is no exception for Norge has come out with the first cold-maker with a motor cooler—a

Orchestra Music Slated At Show Of Refrigerators

There'll be music at the refrigerator show Monday evening.

As Big Spring folk and their neighbors inspect the 1941 offerings of local refrigerator dealers at the high school gymnasium, they will be entertained with the music of Gerald Liberty and his orchestra.

Liberty, a local man, has been working for some time with crew of musicians, and the aggregation is becoming more and more in demand at West Texas dances and entertainment. The Liberty orchestra has played for many local dances, recently appeared at the Crawford "candlelight" dances, and played for the President's Birthday ball in January.

BUY CONVENIENCE

Own a refrigerator that makes the best use of all the refrigerated space. By storing small items on the Shelvador shelves there's more room for bulky foods inside. This keeps little things in sight. Dabs of leftovers are not forgotten.

BUY ECONOMY

The convenient arrangement of the Shelvador is economical, too. You don't keep the door open long, searching for little things hidden behind big bowls and dishes. Crosley engineers have greatly improved the freezing system so that operating cost today saves pennies daily. You save dollars yearly.

Greece Asks Turkey To Say If She Will Fight

Anyway, The Battery Wasn't Down

BALTIMORE, March 8 (AP)—Oberry Hamilton stepped on the starter of his car. Nothing happened. It just went unh-unh-unh.

He tried it again. No luck. He scratched his head, got out, lifted the hood, and gasped for breath—yes sir, somebody had stolen the motor.

County Audit Shows General Satisfaction Except In JP Court

General satisfaction with county affairs with the exception of pointed criticism of lax handling of affairs in justice of peace court, precinct No. 1, were expressed by E. G. Sedgwick, San Angelo, in his 1940 audit filed with the county clerk and commissioners court.

Sedgwick scored failure to show disposition of many cases, incomplete records on payments in some cases, releasing prisoners from jail under 10 days, and allowing cases to remain on the docket indefinitely without any sort of action.

Nazis Claim Success With Torpedo Boats

BERLIN, March 8 (AP)—A deadly sweep by a fleet of Adolf Hitler's vaunted motor speedboats was declared by authorized Nazis tonight to have sunk two British destroyers and ten merchantmen of the southeast coast of England.

The merchant tonnage sent to the bottom by these fast little craft was given at 45,500 and the two warships were put at 1,000 tons each. In conjunction with victories claimed by the high command for Nazi bombers and submarines, the total tonnage reported as sunk by German sources today was 81,980; the total ships, sixteen.

The high command, itself, claimed only that the speedboats themselves sank six merchantmen and the two destroyers, but informed spokesmen located the total on the basis of other information.

German newspapers reported jubilantly that the overnight speedboat victory meant that six of Britain's precious destroyers have been sunk in the past nine weeks, compared to eight in the first seven months of the present war.

Blizzard Hits Atlantic Coast

By The Associated Press

Wind-borne snow approaching in depth the blizzard of 1888 whipped the eastern seaboard yesterday (Saturday) and appeared inclined to lash it spasmodically until late today.

Enveloping the coastal areas from Virginia to Maine and extending from 100 to 200 miles inland, the storm encircled several areas with 18 inches of snow and sleet, took at least six lives, and generally impeded transportation and communication.

Not so severe in suffering and havoc as the great storm of "March 10" that raked the east with 35 1/2 inches 53 years ago, yesterday's storm was nevertheless bad enough to prompt passengers arriving in New York by steamer from Ireland to complain:

"Bitter weather—colder than at home."

Temperatures generally were in the twenties, but gales and driving sleet which at times turned to rain and ice gave the storm a blizzard

HENRY FORD OPINES LABOR UNIONS ON WAY OUT IN U. S.

WAYS, Ga., March 8 (AP)—Henry Ford said today he believes unions are "losing ground" and that he has no intention of recognizing them as bargaining agencies for employees of the Ford Motor company.

"We do not intend to submit to any union, and those who belong to one are being fooled," the manufacturer said in an interview at his plantation home here, thus indicating his attitude unchanged since he refused to recognize union leaders four years ago.

"A union is like a big spider's web," he continued, "once inside the web, the workmen can't move."

"Freedom, freedom of speech and personal pursuits, is the keystone of our American government."

Greeks Tell Hitler They Are Prepared

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, March 8 (AP)—Greece has asked the Turks to say flatly whether or not they propose to fulfill mutual assistance treaties and come to the aid of the Greeks if the Germans lose their expected offensive from Bulgaria upon Thrace and eastern Macedonia, Balkan diplomats were informed tonight.

The Greek minister to Ankara, these informants added, has requested an eye or nay answer from the Turkish foreign office, pointing to a pact of September, 1933, under which Turkey and Greece mutually pledged themselves to defend their frontier in Thrace by arms if necessary.

Too, by the Balkan entente treaty of 1934—signed by Yugoslavia and Rumania as well as Greece and Turkey—the Greeks and Turks promised mutual aid.

Under this second agreement, as its implications were described by informed persons here, Turkey must help in the defense of Greece if she is attacked by Germany and if Bulgaria joins the attack either simultaneously or subsequently.

Thus, a two-sided responsibility was attributed to the Turks.

The Greeks maintained, so far as could be seen from their statements and actions, a determination to fight if the Germans strike. There was no information to indicate they had been affected by the Nazi diplomatic offensive designed to make them give up the war with Italy—an offensive in which it was understood that the Germans had promised Greece all territory she held at the beginning of the fighting last Oct. 28.

An open letter to Adolf Hitler published in the Greek newspaper Kathimerini declared proudly:

"The army of free Greeks will stand, if called upon, in Thrace as it stood in Epirus (against the Italian invasion)."

If the Germans want to save the Italians in Albania, this manifesto went on, Greece is prepared to agree to a settlement which would be "without humiliation" to the Italians—but only so long as the Italians would "leave Albania alone."

The Turks went on quietly with defense preparations—storing gasoline and other inflammables underground and ordering air-raid tests for various cities.

The press, which is under the strong influence of the Turkish government, took a defiant tone toward the Nazis.

Referring to efforts of Germany to take Yugoslavia—the last uncommitted Balkan power—into camp, the newspaper ikdam trumpeted:

"There is only one way to keep Yugoslavia from throwing herself into the arms of her enemies. That is a British force of 300,000 in Salonika (the strategic Greek port on the Aegean)."

The newspaper Yatan remarked that Turkish troops had kept 6,000,000 soldiers busy in the World war; asked whether Germany was prepared again to "fall into a trap" and said that if Germany got involved with Turkey England would, at the same time, get "the chance she is waiting for."

Despite this apparently hardening Turkish attitude, the Germans circulated dispatches throughout the Balkans saying confidently the reich and Turkey would reach an agreement whereby Turkey "will not hinder" the Germans' strategic plan in the Mediterranean—presumably the attack on Greece.

British Head For Ethiopian Capital

CAIRO, Egypt, March 8 (AP)—British South African forces, veering inland from their conquest of Italian Somaliland, struck deep today into southeastern Ethiopia in a drive which British military men said was pointed toward Addis Ababa.

Their dent is in the vast, barren Ogaden area of Italy's newest-west African possession. Other British forces in the northwest, on the opposite side of the country, are headed toward the Ethiopian capital from the Goffja area.

(Thus, the British are pushing two columns toward each other in a tremendous squeeze which may split Ethiopia in two.)

Six members of the two families fled the burning home.

Three Trustees To Seek Reelection

C. W. Cunningham, president of the Big Spring Independent School district board of trustees, Dr. M. H. Bennett and Obie Bristow will be candidates to succeed themselves in April 5 balloting, it was announced here Saturday.

The three, whose terms expire in April, have filed notice with Ira Thurman, secretary of the board.

In accordance with a resolution adopted by the board in its Monday session, written request by any candidate must be submitted to the board secretary at least 10 days prior to date of the election; or requests by other persons for listing the names or a candidate must be filed along with consent of that person 10 days prior to the election date.

On another local front, G. C. Dunham, mayor, and T. J. A. Robinson previously had filed for reelection as city commissioners. No candidates other than incumbents had filed for places on the ballot for either commissioner or school trustee.

Auto Victims Are Improving

Condition of Mrs. Obie Bristow and Mrs. A. Swartz, injured in an automobile mishap west of Midland Thursday evening, continued satisfactory at a local hospital here Saturday.

Mrs. Swartz suffered severe lacerations around an eye which have caused concern. Mrs. Bristow's condition was said to be improving.

At Midland, O. S. and A. L. Ware, also injured in the wreck, were reported improving but under close observation.

Dallas Raises British Fund

DALLAS, March 8 (AP)—A banquet yesterday and two shows to follow netted $29,250 for British war relief.

A committee sponsoring the events reported $9,000 was raised at the banquet, the remainder came from the shows at which stars of the screen and stage appeared.

Previously Dallas had raised $100,000, which Winthrop W. Aldrich, British War Relief Society chairman, said was the highest per capita contribution of any other U. S. city.

15 Cars Derailed On Santa Fe Line

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 8 (AP)—About 15 derailed freight cars were removed today from the Santa Fe tracks at Rio Puerco and traffic on the main line was resumed.

Two cars, loaded with fruit and vegetables bound for the east, left the tracks early last night and other trains were delayed for about 10 hours. Officials said they did not know the cause of the derailment.

Amendments Must Get House Okay

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP)—Worn down by three-weeks of oratory and dispute, the senate tonight finally passed the lease-lend bill authorizing President Roosevelt to mobilize industrial America and throw its products into England's battle against Germany.

Then it sent the measure to the house with a request that the latter concur in the series of administration-approved amendments which had been added. All indications were that the house would agree to do so on Tuesday, or by Wednesday at the latest, with the bill going to the White House immediately thereafter for President Roosevelt's signature.

The vote on final passage, 60 to 31, found the senate in easy-going good humor, despite many days of frazzled tempers and personal animadversions.

The opposition, clinging obstinately to its view that the bill means war, was simply worn out by repeated demonstrations of the administration's numerical superiority.

For all practical purposes it utterly collapsed last night, and today's session consisted of a routine throwing out remaining opposition amendments as rapidly as they were offered, and then capturing the debate with the passage of the bill.

In the course of this process, the senate summarily rejected an amendment by Chairman Walsh (D-Mass) of the naval committee, to guard the navy and air force against depletion in the help-to-Britain program, and a substitute bill by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) to authorize loans totaling $2,000,000,000 to Britain, Canada and Greece.

Walsh's amendment was rejected, 56 to 33, and Taft's substitute bill was turned down, 63 to 28.

The bill's last day in the senate was nevertheless enlivened by one sharp little incident. Senator Connally (D-Tex) was saying he was "tired of listening to Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) 'rehash' arguments that international bankers got the United States into the war in 1917. At that point, a woman in the gallery unfurled a banner and tossed it onto the floor. It said the bill "means war—vote no."

Capital police hustled her off to the office of the senate's sergeant-at-arms, Chesley Journey. From there she was determinedly escorted to the union station and told to leave town immediately or be turned over to the city police force.

Afterward, the capital police mobilized their strength—mostly Washington college boys holding patronage jobs—in the senate galleries. Every aisle had its trim, blue-coated youth, looking very alert and ready to protect the senate from any danger, sedulously watching all the spectators who had been assigned to his supervision.

At one point, Senator Clark (D-See AID BILL, Page 12, Col. 5)

Encouraging is the announcement that Big Spring pastors are sponsoring a Holy Week service specially for working men. In addition to this, what we would like to see is a sunrise service at the amphitheatre. The one last year was frozen out, and one now might be, but there's no harm in trying. The sum of these offers an ideal setting for such a service. It could be made a big annual event.

Notice of intention to file an application for an airline with a stop at Big Spring was filed by a new company with the CAB last week. The application would amount to a feeder line. It is rumored that American Airlines has been toying with such an idea for short haul traffic.

Sen. Penrose Metcalfe, San Angelo, who joined our Sen. Marshall Formby and other state sons on an air junket to Lubbock here Friday, thinks there will be a major tax bill shoved through this session, but probably not in the amount Gov. O'Daniel is asking. Instead of 50 to 60 millions it may be for 25 to 30.

Jap Minister Goes To Berlin

BERLIN, March 8 (AP)—The Japanese foreign minister, Yosuke Matsuoka, is coming far across the world from Tokyo for conferences at the Rome and Berlin ends of the three-power axis conference described here as all-embracing.

His forthcoming visit—the date was not mentioned—was announced briefly today without official elaboration, but with the private remark of an informed source.

"Of course, the three-power pact covers a big territory, and there are many matters of coordination."

There was no comment on a statement attributed to Domei, the Japanese news agency, that Matsuoka was coming here for mutually informative conversations on "the eve of the invasion of England."

(In February, it was understood in the Orient that Matsuoka might visit not only in Berlin and Rome, but Moscow, and in this was seen the possibility a major diplomatic move by the axis powers was in the making.)

Nearly All Business Booms—Industrial Machine Turns At Faster Pace

NEW YORK, March 8 (AP)—America's great industrial machine this week turned at the fastest rate since the $28,500,000,000 national defense program left the blue-print stage last autumn.

Flares from blast furnaces tinting the skies at Pittsburgh, Chicago, Gary, Birmingham and Youngstown as the nation's steel mills turned out 1,373,500 tons of ingots, the biggest steel for any week in the country's history.

Railway freight loadings were the largest since last November. Electric power production exceeded a year ago by 14 per cent. Automobile production topped 130,000 cars.

Every hint at Washington that new car deliveries might become more difficult as the defense program proceeds, served to bring new buyers to auto maris, some car handlers said.

Running a close second to automobile turnover was general merchandise business in retail stores. Holding the best stride in over a decade, retail sales are averaging 7 to 12 per cent above a year ago. Already Easter buying is reported at many centers.

The fast pace of both industry and retail trade hiked check clearings 27.5 per cent above the 1939 week.

Zane Grey Saga Of Western Development Told In Ritz Picture, 'Western Union'

Dawson Hog Has Litter Of 23 Pigs

LAMESA, March 8 (Sp.)—Litter is a literal term when employed for a white Chester sow owned by J. D. Nix of the Mt. Olive community in Dawson county.

Last week, in her second venture at raising a family, she had 23 pigs in her litter. Nineteen of them lived and are thriving. Last year when she farrowed her first litter, there were 20 pigs, 18 of them living to make pork.

Curfew Law Ignored
SANDUSKY, O.—A 20-year-old curfew ordinance is still on the Sandusky statute books but has not been operative since a newly constructed water works plant was placed in operation last fall. No provision has been made for blowing the 9 o'clock curfew whistle at the new pumping station.

Robert Young, Randolph Scott Head The Cast

Zane Grey's "Western Union" has been made into a memorable picture by 20th Century-Fox. Filmed in brilliant Technicolor and produced on a breath-taking scale, plays today and Monday at the Ritz theatre.

Its brilliant cast, headed by Robert Young, Randolph Scott, Dean Jagger and Virginia Gilmore, brings to life all the colorful characters created by the West's greatest story-teller in his latest best-seller. Others featured include John Carradine, Chill Wills, Slim Summerville and Barton MacLane.

Romance, action, drama and thrilling adventure are all part of the spectacle in "Western Union," which opens in the roaring boom town of frontier Omaha — where the only law was a blazing six-shooter.

Dean Jagger, portraying Edward Creighton the telegraph builder, starts a huge wagon-train rolling out across the prairies. Their job is to build the telegraph over a west infested by renegades and savage Indians.

Randolph Scott as a reformed outlaw and Robert Young, as a tenderfoot surveyor from Harvard, leave with Creighton's men. Both are in love with the builder's charming sister, Virginia Gilmore.

First sample of the dangers ahead comes soon after the wagon-train leaves Omaha. Vicious renegades attack without warning. Devastating forays by the savage Sioux follow.

But the plainsmen keep moving forward across the prairies, sinking telegraph poles and stringing wires as death strikes swiftly and silently all about them. Thrill is heaped on thrill as the renegades plot complete destruction of the line. Cattle are stolen, wires cut down and worst of all, the Indians are incited to massacre.

Under Director Fritz Lang's superb direction the sweeping suspense grows more intense with each scene until "Western Union" reaches a pulse-pounding climax as an engulfing fire rages down from the hills to destroy the camp. Even that, however, can't stop the march of the "magic wires" — Creighton rallies his men and goes on to complete the first transcontinental telegraph.

Average Pension Check Now $14.20

AUSTIN, March 8 (Sp.)—Texas old age pensioners will receive a total of $1,781,922 this month, a boost of 14 cents each over the average February grant, the state department of public welfare announced today.

This month 125,471 qualified for assistance compared to 122,496 last month when $1,721,503 was distributed. The average March grant is $14.20.

Comic Strip Folk Come To Screen

L'il Abner And Other Dogpatch Characters In Lyric Film

Providing the entertainment appeal of a robust comedy romance, "L'il Abner," screen version of Al Capp's popular newspaper comic page feature, now brings all of the fantastic Dogpatch characters into life, with the roles taken by a score of popular Hollywood players.

"L'il Abner" is at the Lyric today and Monday.

Until brought to the film, they existed only in the mind of Al Capp, their creator, and in his highly humorous cartoons. Now they are translated into active being in a slap-dash production with the love theme highlighted as in the comic strip series.

The entire action of "L'il Abner" takes place in Dogpatch. There lives L'il Abner, a big and bashful mountain boy who's "afraid of love" and of beautiful Daisy Mae. In particular, but love is what Daisy Mae is in of with L'il Abner, and she loses no opportunity to try and induce Abner to woo her.

L'il Abner's pint-sized parents—Pansy, with the strength of a lion, and Lucifer, with the heart of a rabbit—are in favor of the match but can't do anything about it until one day Abner is told by a train barber, whom he mistakes for a doctor, that a tummyache he has acquired from eating a huge Starvation Preventer Sandwich indicates that he will be dead within twenty-four hours.

Then, L'il Abner gets a lot of things off his chest, thinking he has only a short time to live. Among them is a proposal to Daisy Mae and the capture of mighty Earthquake McGoon, the bad man from Skunk Hollow, in order to get a reward to leave behind for his parents. He even proposes to Wendy Wheat, Daisy Mae's hated rival.

When he learns the next day that he is dead only from the neck up, he faces a situation more fearful even than that of kissing Daisy Mae. The solution is finally worked out in the Sadie Hawkins Day Race, Dogpatch's famous annual event.

All of the action of "L'il Abner" is adapted from some sequence of the famous comic strip, and the familiar characters have been recreated on the screen with remarkable fidelity.

Granville Owen, former college athlete and amateur heavyweight boxer of note, portrays L'il Abner. Martha O'Driscoll, one of the most beautiful young actresses in Hollywood, is the curvaceous Daisy Mae. Tiny Mona Ray is Mammy Yokum. Johnnie Morris is Pappy Basher. Keaton is Longnose Polkat, the Indian. Kay Sutton is Wendy Wheat. Billie Seward is Cousin Delightful, and Maude Eburne is Granny Scraggs in the picture.

Texas Expects Best Farm Year Since 1929 In 1941

By Associated Press
Texas in 1941 looks forward to the highest farm income since the boom of 1929.

Rising prices and the best moisture supply in twenty-five years are factors due to help many a farmer pay off the mortgage, buy a tractor or stock the place with white-face cows.

Last year's $579,000,000 income was $200,000,000 greater than 1932. U. S. department of agriculture reports show. The steady gain continues—January income this year of $21,000,000 was 26 per cent ahead of the same month a year ago, according to the University of Texas bureau of business research.

A recent survey showed 20 per cent more farm youth than usual hope to attend college this fall. Implement dealers expect to sell 15 per cent more equipment in 1941 than a year ago.

The price scale—20 to 50 per cent higher than the 1932-33 average—has each jangling in the farmer's pockets. Nine pounds of beef will bring him a dollar. So will eleven pounds of lamb, five dozen eggs, three pounds of butterfat.

Stabilizing prices is a strong consumer demand, bolstered by defense preparations. Texas has a military population of approximately 150,000 and by July will have been allocated $600,000,000 in defense contracts.

From the grain-filled Panhandle to the winding Rio Grande copious rains may bring Texas the greatest crop production in decades.

Only drawback so far is precipitation has been a bit too heavy in some sections, delaying plowing and other work.

Book Reviewer To Appear In Lamesa

LAMESA, March 8 (Sp.)—Miss Pauline Wright, Dallas, famed book reviewer, will be presented here Thursday, March 13, in a review of the George Kaufman and Moss Hart play, "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

Miss Wright, who is the originator of the technique of dramatizing key scenes, will be presented at the high school auditorium.

Income Tax Receipts To Set Record

WASHINGTON, March 8 (Sp.)—With the deadline for income tax returns a week away, officials confidently predicted today that March collections would zoom to a record total of $1,000,000,000.

In March last year, collections were $665,000,000. But this year, exemptions have been lowered, tax rates increased, and better business has provided more taxable income than the country has seen in years.

Early returns, while far from conclusive, have stimulated guesses of high collections. In the first few days of March, collections were 89 per cent ahead of the similar period last year. While the percentage for the month is expected to fall considerably short of this figure, the indication was sufficiently optimistic to cause revision of the $870,000,000 estimate for the month indicated by the budget.

About 15,000,000 Americans are expected to file individual income tax returns, and about 3,500,000 corporations are expected to file corporate returns. About 100,000 of the corporations also will be required to file excess profits tax returns.

Press photographers of London are beating blackout restrictions by using infra-red camera plates and bulbs.

IN TIMELY DRAMA—The implements of war are highlighted in a thrill melodrama which plays today and Monday at the Queen theatre, with Chester Morris and Rochelle Hudson featured. Titled "Meet Boston Blackie," with story deals with intrigue surrounding the smuggling of a bomb sight, important instrument of warfare. Morris, in the title role, is under suspicion, but clears himself with a final crackdown on the real criminals.

FDR Speaks To Farmers

WASHINGTON, March 8 (Sp.)—President Roosevelt told farmers celebrating the eighth birthday anniversary of the AAA, tonight that if democracy should be extinguished from the rest of the world, neither their farm programs nor the democratic way of life could hope to survive.

Then saying that democracy over large areas of the old world is threatened with extinction, the chief executive declared: "We cannot escape our collective responsibility for the kind of life that is going to emerge from the ordeal through which the world is passing today."

"We may discharge that responsibility unwisely, but we can not escape the consequences of our choice. We would have it a world in which we may live in peace, freedom and security—the kind of world our farmer forefathers dreamed of and worked for as they settled the Atlantic seaboard and pushed their way to the west."

"I am confident," he added, "that the farmers of 1941 want this kind of world to survive."

The president spoke from his White House study into radio microphones which carried his words to thousands of farmers gathered at rural dinners held throughout the country to celebrate the day in 1933 that he summoned farm leaders to Washington to draft the agricultural adjustment legislation.

At his side were Vice President Henry A. Wallace, who was the secretary of agriculture at the time, and the present secretary, Claude A. Wickard, both of whom followed him on the broadcast.

"American agriculture," the chief executive said, "is in a splendid condition to play its full part in the program of national defense. Our granaries are full."

This agricultural preparedness, Mr. Roosevelt said, could be credited to achievements of farmers under the AAA farm programs — programs which he said were "conceived by the farmers and administration."

Three-Master Runs Aground In Bay

HOUSTON, March 8 (Sp.)—The three-masted British schooner Rubens was aground today in Galveston bay.

The strong north wind was holding the 375-ton craft on the channel banks and the crew awaited a change in the wind before attempting to float her.

The Rubens was proceeding up the channel yesterday when a squall struck and drove it aground. The ship was scheduled to take a cement cargo from Houston to Port Au Prince, Haiti.

Abilene Drops Final Tilt In State Tournament

El Paso Beats Eagles In Hot 27-20 Battle

AUSTIN, March 8 (AP)—The smooth-working El Paso Tigers overpowered a gallant Abilene Eagle team, 27-20, tonight to win the Texas schoolboy basketball title in the final of the interscholastic league tournament.

El Paso won its first state tournament in 1921.

The Eagles, who went into the finals despite the loss of one regular and two subs by illness, played El Paso without their great guard, Gene Dalton. He sprained an ankle in Abilene's semi-final victory over Waco.

Dalton limped into the game for a few minutes in the third quarter, but Coach Howard Miller quickly pulled him out. Dalton had scored 29 points in Abilene's sensational victory over San Marcos, the 1940 champions, and Waco.

Jeff Davis of Houston finally got rolling in the last half of the third-place game and blasted Waco, 30-25. Guard Mack Schuel and Center Ed Kelley waged an uphill fight that led the halftime score at 20-20, then were joined by Leonard Hayes in a series of fast breaks that demoralized the Waco defense. For the Tigers, Guard Pete McNeill played a dashing game of ball-stealing, dribbling, shooting and interception.

The Abilene team, whose gallant play was a consistently outstanding feature of the entire tournament, sailed into El Paso with Forward J. E. Smith and Center Raymond Patton at the helm and kept the score fairly close throughout the championship game.

BROWNS OF EXHIBITION

SAN ANTONIO, March 8 (AP)—Twice scoring four runs, the St. Louis Browns opened their spring exhibition baseball schedule today with a 9 to 5 victory over the Boston Bees.

Al Javery yielded five of the Browns' runs and Tom Earley of the rest, Manuel Salvo pitched two scoreless innings.

Baylor Begins Spring Grid Training Tues.

Lookin' em Over

With Jack Douglas

Under a new coach for the first time in 15 years, Baylor university's Bears launch spring football training next Tuesday at Waco as four other Southwest conference conference teams reach training's end.

It will be the Bruins' second try of the season, a few weeks ago they ambled out minks for a brief span under Morley Jennings only to have Jennings swept away, via resignation, to Texas Tech's athletic directorate.

Tuesday they have as it again under Frank Kimbrough, former Hardin-Simmons mentor, who falls heir to 17 lettersman and a total squad of some 52—the most Baylor has had in several seasons.

Texas A. & M. ends training Wednesday and staged its final practice game today with the white team completing 10 of 13 passes for six touchdowns in a 54-0 victory over the Maroons.

Rice's white team won its second successive victory over the blues in the spring's third and final game, 16-14.

Texas A. & M. collided in a fierce finale scrimmage of the Longhorns' training today—the "A" team representing D. X. B. B.'s first two prospective 1941 lineups.

SMU's Mustangs with five practice sessions to go saw Wayne "Bo" Campbell, 200-pound back from Mount Vernon, kick the No. 27 into a 3-0 field goal victory over the No. 3's, and the No. 1's walloped the No. 4's 19-0.

Both the Arkansas Razorbacks and TCU's Horned Frogs closed their first week of practice.

112 Nominees For '41 Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 8 (AP)—One hundred twelve of the nation's best three-year-old thoroughbreds were nominated today for the 67th running of the $75,000 added Kentucky Derby, but not more than 15 are likely to go to the post May 3 at Churchill Downs.

During the years from 1931 to 1940, inclusive, 1,147 thoroughbreds were nominated for the derby but in that span only 136 faced the starter.

It is a long, tough and expensive job to get a thoroughbred in shape for the gruelling mile and a quarter race, and Col. E. R. Bradley, owner of four derby winners, is reported to have said the odds of being able to pick a single horse which would start in the derby were about 4 to 1.

As expected, all of the top three-year-olds were nominated including Charles S. Howard's Porter's Cap, winner of the Santa Anita Derby; Whirlaway, Warren Wright's pride of the blue grass, and leading juvenile; Dispose, winner of the Flamingo Stakes and leading hope of the King ranch; Our Boots, owned by Woodville farms and winner of $71,351 as a two-year-old, and Wheatley stakes' Bold Irishman, winner of $42,405 last year.

Martin League Contests Set

STANTON, March 8 (AP)—O. C. Southall, superintendent of the Stanton schools, and director general of the County Interscholastic league, has announced dates for the various events in the league meet to be held in Stanton:

Literary events, March 21.
One-act play (night), March 21.
Boys track and field, March 21.
Girls tennis, March 22.
Boys tennis, March 23.
Volleyball (tentative), March 23.

All events will be held in Stanton, except possibly volleyball, the place for which will be decided at the county meet, March 21.

The Stanton service club will furnish the ribbons for the place winners.

Fem Stars Play Lady-Like Golf

SAN ANTONIO, March 8 (AP)—Golf's old and new queens—Patty Berg and Betty Jameson—played a very lady-like exhibition match for Britton relief here today and if a scorekeeper had to be pinned down, a hollow victory could go to Betty.

As mentioned, if it had to be, Betty won the match, 2 and 1.

Betty teamed with Tod Menefee, the home club professional who shot a blazing one-under-par 71 in the gusty, cold winds, to defeat Patty and Billy Bob Coffey, the Texas amateur champion, one up.

Big Spring Softball League Definitely Gets Underway

Local Keglers In SW Meet

Tentative plans for a fast and a slow softball league were made Friday night at the city courtroom during a meeting of representatives of prospective members of the organization. According to present arrangements, the upper-bracket loop will consist of six crews of softballers while the lower will be composed of four teams. Except for a few minor changes, yet to be ironed out, league play will be conducted according to the rules and regulations of the 1940 softball season. Net meeting of the managers and sponsors of the respective entries, on March 21, will take up proposed changes in the setup.

The six-team fast circuit will be chosen from a list that includes Phillips Tire company, Montgomery Ward, National Youth Center, Standard Oil, Anderson Music, Fursan, Chalk, Corden refinery, Ackerly and Vaughn's Sweets. The four-team bracket, to be limited to service clubs and employees of business firms, will include softballers from the American Business club, Lions club, Kiwanis club, Herald, Corden and Rotary club.

League competition is scheduled to begin on April 7. Two games per night will be played on each Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The league executive committee, composed of team managers, will select and adopt three or four types of softballs to be used exclusively during the loop affairs.

Although nothing definite has been decided, the Shaughnessy playoff system for the fast league was proposed but was deferred to be discussed in the next meeting of the body.

Marvin K. House was chosen to be league treasurer and Malcolm Bridges was placed in charge of routine affairs of the circuit.

Bell To Referee Exposition Meet

PORT WORTH, March 8 (AP)—Matty Bell, genial and veteran coach of the S. M. U. Mustangs, will act as referee of the huge nineteenth Southwest Exposition track and field meet here next Friday and Saturday. Bell accepted the invitation of Director R. D. Evans today.

Playground Marbles, Tops Champs Battle For Honors

Big Spring's champion marble-shooters and top-spinners were determined in the city-wide events conducted by the city-WPA recreation department at ABC park Saturday morning.

Top-ranking spot in the junior knuckles-down tussle went to Thomas Anderson of ABC and Nummy McDaniel, teammate of Anderson, wrapped up second-place honors. Benjamin Valdez, Mexican Plaza, emerged victor over his thirteen opponents in the Midget marble class while Coco Cruz of the same playground was runner-up.

Texas League Clubs Ready For Training

Local Keglers In SW Meet

Associated Press

The Texas league's big show won't blaze into its tables until April 13 but the managerie opens tomorrow.

All eight teams launch official training although a few indicated they may operate under skeleton first-day schedules.

By Monday, however, President J. Alvin Gardner promised, the diamond livestock will swing into traditional prepirational performances.

Four teams will train at home and four abroad. Three will have new ringmasters.

Shreveport and Dallas—edging in a little pitcher-catcher exercise since Wednesday—inaugurate the training season unofficially. With Beaumont and Houston they will cling to native heath.

Fort Worth will camp at Brownsville, Tulsa at Marshall, San Antonio at San Benito and Oklahoma City at Atlanta, Tex.

The Dallas Rebels, homeless during the rebuilding of their fire-laid stadium, are working at Southern Methodist university's field. Other teams will sweat in less cultural environment.

Beaumont and Shreveport raised new managers from the ranks this season. Gordon Hinkle, catcher, will lead the Shippers; Francis "Salty" Parker, third baseman, will be playing pilot for the Sports. Walter "Wally" Dashiell, Rebel import from Pensacola, Fla., completes the league's new managerial blood.

President Gardner, announcing an "economy season" during which owners and players will need to harmonize on dollars as well as pitches, voiced dissatisfaction at numerous hold-outs.

Players failing to report by training deadlines, he reiterated, will be required to pay their own expenses to camp. In addition, he suggested, they may lay themselves open to fines.

Cincy Matched With Solons

TAMPA, Fla., March 8 (AP)—A rainy night and morning gave the world champion Cincinnati Reds a day off today, so they loafed in preparation for tomorrow's grapefruit game with the Washington Senators.

Direct Hit On Night Club Is Fatal To Many

LONDON, March 8 (Sunday) (AP)—Londoners were killed, wounded or trapped in piles of debris last night and early today in the first heavy night Luftwaffe raid on the British capital in weeks.

Attacking with a fury reminiscent of the blitz raids of last fall, the Germans scored a direct hit on a night club crowded with dancers; killed and injured a number of pedestrians on a London roadway; and caused other casualties when two bombs exploding at the ends of a block caved in a cafe where many were dining.

There was a brief halt in the raid shortly before midnight and then the Luftwaffe stepped up the bombs. It was believed a large number of civilians—and perhaps service men enjoying a leave—were trapped late last night in the wreckage of the club.

The leader of the band playing at the night club, some of his musicians and a number of guests—some of them beautifully gowned women—were killed when the Nazi bomb crashed through the room and hit the dance floor.

Lights in the club remained on, revealing the chaos where seconds before there had been laughter and the light-hearted gaiety of London night life in full swing.

Bombs falling on both sides of another cafe caused casualties. Masses of German planes were dumping hundreds of high explosives on the capital.

The drone of the attacking planes sounded unusually low. The fury of the Luftwaffe was met by intense and spectacular anti-aircraft fire.

The crash of heavy bombs mingled in numerous London districts with the roar of defending guns and flares and tracer bullets lighted the city's skies.

At least one public shelter was hit; hospitals were warned to prepare for casualties. Buildings trembled under the shock of high explosive blasts, flares lighted the sky, revealing a crisis-cross of vapor trails from the planes.

The night raiders came after a day of air attacks on England's east coast and in Scotland, in which, some British sources said, three bombers were shot down. The air ministry officially accounted for only two.

John D. Cantrell, 76, for 56 years a resident of Carlsbad, N. M., died Friday afternoon at the home of a sister-in-law, Mrs. P. F. Cantrell, two and a half miles north of Big Spring.

Mr. Cantrell, a retired rancher, had come to Big Spring a week ago from Carlsbad.

Funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Ebenezer Funeral chapel. The Rev. Howard Hollowell, Ackerly Methodist minister, will officiate, with the Rev. J. O. Haymes of Big Spring assisting.

Survivors include his wife; two brothers, Jim and Elijah Cantrell of Carlsbad; several nieces and nephews, including Glenn Cantrell of Big Spring.

Fallbearers will be John Davis, Bill Satterwhite, Edward Crabtree, Felton Johnson, Hoyle Nix and Spencer Leatherwood.

Two good mixers are better than one

THERE you sit, watching the long road ahead as it dips and rises. Under your feet there's a quiet whispering, to let you know that all eight able Buick cylinders are happily on the job.

You're giving not a single thought to what's happening under that long bonnet nosing out in front, but here's what's going on:

Instead of the single, compromise-size carburetor you find on most cars, this Buick FIREBALL eight with Compound Carburetion* has two good mixers on the job.

A single one of them—the front one—keeps you rolling smoothly, easily, quietly, on the very minimum rationing of gasoline.

But the other carburetor is alert and ready for any sudden need. Just tramp down on that accelerator pedal—it goes into instant action, giving you more fuel and more power for any emergency purpose!

It's almost like having two engines—one to handle normal requirements thriftily, another to team up with the first for extra oomph and wallop when you want it.

That kind of teamwork pays.

And owners by the thousand will tell you it's more economical too—as much as 10% to 15% more economical.

If you haven't experienced what it feels like to have that under the bonnet of your automobile, better go have that Buick demonstration now.

*Standard on all Buick SUPER, CENTURY, ROADMASTER and LIMITED models, available at slight extra cost on all Buick SPECIAL models.

"SIS HOPKINS"

A brief peep at some of the scenes in Republic Studios' forthcoming revival of the famed Mable Normand comedy. Judy Canova is starred, with a supporting cast headed by Bob Crosby, Charles Butterworth, Susan Hayward, and Jerry Colonna.

Judy, a simple country girl, is invited by her wealthy uncle to visit his home. Her arrival causes consternation as a threat to the social prestige of her snooty aunt and cousin.

Registered at the same school as her cousin, she is taken under the wing of Professor Colonna and socialite Bob Crosby, her cousin's boy-friend.

Judy appears in a college musical which, if successful, may go to Broadway. Her cousin frames her into a strip tease sequence at a local theatre... which is raided.

In the excitement a mink coat of her aunt's is missing. Judy is branded as the thief.

But, of course, things turn out O.K. and Judy's show wins a Broadway contract.

Glamour Hints

Paradoxical as it may seem, the fact still remains that women are very largely responsible for grooming perfection—or lack of it—in men.

In a surprising large number of cases we will find that men's shaving regularity, proper frequency in hair trims, and patronage of the manicurist, are all resultant from feminine inspiration or suggestion, or both. Hollywood and its motion pictures have also played an important part in this refining of the masculine appearance. The Ronald Colmans, Robert Taylors, and Errol Flynn of the films have served as appearance detail models for men, even as the stellar actresses of the screen have served in a similar capacity for women.

Woman's influence on the appearance of man is almost spectacularly demonstrated by the constantly increasing number of hairpieces which are being worn to conceal masculine baldness. The outspoken influence of women has resulted in a surprisingly large number of men banishing their ugly baldness in the only sure-result manner yet discovered—the wearing of a modern hairpiece which has been expertly created and styled to meet the specific requirements of the individual.

Some women, however, are still mistakenly of the opinion that a hairpiece might be even less attractive than a bald head. This is because these women have seen only the old-fashioned "toupees," which blatantly announced its artificiality as far as the eye could see it.

There is now no need, however, for this artificial "toupee" appearance. Thanks to the exacting demands of Hollywood's motion pictures for the utmost degree of naturalness in appearance, there has been perfected a completely natural and realistic type of hairpiece, crafted with entirely new technique, which makes it look and feel as if it were actually growing on the wearer's own head.

Carmen Miranda's sister, Aurora Miranda, who also sings and dances, will be screen tested at Metro this week. . . . Carole Lombard is considering a burlesque of Mata Hari, the famous woman spy, as her next picture. . . . Lack of available male star names is holding up Towne and Baker's next film for RKO, "How to Meet a Man," but it's almost a certainty that Martha Scott will play the feminine lead. . . . John Barrymore's ex, Elaine Barrie, who gets around, is now getting around with Red Hirschon, an agent. . . . Wallace Beery, who has been a lovable old bum in dozens of pictures, will be a "lovable old tuna fish bum" in a story Hugo Butler and Jack Jevne are writing for him. He'll play a tuna fisherman. . . .

Celluloid propaganda in favor of ASCAP may be included in Ebanor Powell's new picture, "Lady Be Good." Producer Arthur Freed is considering a scene in which someone comments about the ASCAP-BMI war, saying: "It's awful to be missing such good music."

Personal stationery of Bob Evans, a Negro dancer in the floor show at Charley Foy's supper club, carries this notation at the bottom: "Bob Evans—he looks like Cary Grant in technicolor."

Bette Davis' new husband, Arthur Farnsworth, is teaching her how to fly. . . . Theta Sigma Phi, journalism sorority, will award Frank Capra a scroll for furthering the cause of newspaperwomen as women on the screen. . . . Sighting of the month: Benny Rubin taking Spanish lessons between scenes of "Sunny." He has an eye on the radio network's increasing emphasis on programs aimed at South America. "Stand by, Buenos Aires. Dis is Senor Rubin speaking." . . . Perc Westmore's new heart throb is Julietta Novis, the gal who sings "Ave Maria" in Disney's "Fantasia." . . . Alexis Smith and Tom Brown think it's spring. . . . Alan Marshal's wife, Mary Grace Borel, one time San Francisco ballerina, is opening a dancing school in Santa Monica.

Somerset Maugham, the author, was introduced to Spencer Tracy on the "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" set. Although Tracy was looking his best as Dr. Jekyll, Maugham cracked, dryly: "Who, sir, am I addressing—Dr. Jekyll or Mr. Hyde?"

Before starting work on a set for "Love Crazy," director Jack Conway made a little speech to Bill Powell, Myrna Loy and the crew. He said: "During my 15 years in Hollywood I've never had the pleasure of working in surroundings more befitting a film company than this set." The set was an insane asylum.

Bobby Fletcher of the polo playing Fletchers, is sending orchids to Evelyn Ankers on Universal's "Hit the Road" set. . . . Joan Fontaine and her husband, Brian Aherne, are anxious to appear together in a movie. She'd like to have him as her co-star in "Jane Eyre," if she wins the role. . . . Cary Grant will set some kind of a record for lengthy dialog in "Before the Fact." In one scene he has a speech of 1003 words without an interruption. . . . The Ritz brothers, who have not appeared on the screen for nearly two years, are dickering for a radio show. . . . Studio executives have decided the title of Joan Bennett's new film, "A Girl's Best Friend is Wall Street," is not good for small town trade. So for the small town trade the picture may be retitled "A Girl's Best Friend is Main Street."

KEN MORGAN'S . . .
HOLLYWOOD KEYHOLE

Of extreme interest to the industry last week was MGM's purchase from RKO of "Cimarron" and "Rio Rita." The properties cost the Culver city lot plenty of chips, so you can expect to see excellent pictures made from them. Understand negotiations were started by MGM who want the former for Clark Gable and Norma Shearer—Richard Dix and Irene Dunne played the parts originally. The "Rio Rita" musical is one of RKO's top grossers. Joe Fisher, head of a flock of theatres in the Near East, told me that the picture is still being revived every year—and it was released back in good old '29.

Republic wants to find another Pearl White and is on the hunt for a buxom tomboy to star in a serial. My guess is that Jinx Falkenberg, beautiful model, showgirl, actress and champion tennis player, will be the one. She worked in a picture at the studio once and the directors wound up nervous wrecks—she wouldn't use a double for the hazardous stunts.

An item not yet recorded but deserving of comment is the signing by the Zeppo Marx agency of the Ritz Bros. Now, the managerial office is handling both the Marxes and the Ritzes. Should be fun when they are all together. The grapevine tells me that there is a possibility for the two comedy organizations to star in a picture together. I could take it but could a director?

Cary Grant is adamant about having a three-months vacation on completion of his present assignment. He says he needs a rest—gossips say maybe he wants the time to complete his romance with Barbara Hutton, the girl in the ten-cent store.

From Herb Stein: Bob Hope is trying to buy one of Bing Crosby's nags and name him "Yehudi," so the thousands of people at the race track can yell, "Where's Yehudi?"

Coincidental situation arose last week when Don "Red" Barry, the new cowboy star, and George Sherman, producer-director of his picture, received their draft questionnaires the same day. And a bird just whispered that Don's wife, the pretty Peggy Stewart, will bring another Barry into the world in a few months.

We told you some time ago—Kay Francis and Ivan Goff, the handsome Australian writer, are serious about it. . . . Martha Raye wants to get back to making motion pictures. . . . Prediction: the most popular couple in Hollywood will be Martha Scott and her radio producer husband, Carlton Alesop. . . . Ann Neagle is a sad girl. She is forced to stay in Hollywood. She wants to marry Ensign John Robinson, who is stationed in Java. She has her passport for the trip. But war clouds keep her here. . . . June Preisler is no longer at MGM playing support to Rooney and Garland. Paramount now has her and will launch a new career for the talented miss in the next Aldrich Family film. . . . Since the ASCAP-BMI tiff, night clubs have been doing great. People want to hear the good old tunes. . . . Ruth Terry used to be the constant of Cy Feuer, Republic's musical director, who is now torrid with Susan Hayward. Tip: When you want to find Ruth, call the Republic music department. . . . Ann Sheridan doesn't need to work. Hardly picked up a paper last week that didn't say, "George gifted Annie with something-or-other." . . . Cesar Romero got six cakes from admirers on his birthday and the entire "The Great American Broadcast" company has the stomach ache. . . . Songs sung by Deanna Durbin in her pictures rarely become hits. "Love At Last," written by Eddie Cherkess and Jacques Press for "Nice Girl!," is a cinch to be an exception.

JOE FISHER'S
Reviews of Previews

At Interlochen, Michigan, each summer, a group of children selected from the orchestras and bands of America's High Schools, meet for an intensive course of advanced musical instruction. Against this background Paramount Pictures, through the medium of producer-director Andrew Stone, offer a masterpiece of film musicals . . . "THE HARD BOILED CANARY" with Allen Jones, Susanna Foster, Margaret Lindsay and Lynne Overman.

The basic plot is not particularly new, although a few new angles are worked out, but the picture is crammed to the full with music so inspiring that the story is purely secondary.

Susanna Foster, Paramount child prodigy, as the hard-boiled burlesque singer, teamed with a strip-tease dancer, turns in an astonishing acting performance, coupled with a singing performance that ranges from Meyerbeer's "Shadow Song" to imitations of Bonnie Baker singing "Oh, Johnny, Oh," as well as impersonating Greta Garbo, Judy Canova, Katherine Hepburn and Zasu Pitts. Astonishing is the word for it all, it's all so well done. Allen Jones contributes his voice, and with Margaret Lindsay, the slight love interest the film contains. Lynne Overman as a press agent, falls into another of those roles which are a natural for him, but it remains for 13-year-old Patricia Travers to steal scene after scene from seasoned players. She plays a violin . . . and how . . . but her forte is comedy . . . the dead pan sourpuss style of Ned Sparks . . . who will have to look to his laurels hereafter. Another child wonder is a young Finnish lad named Heimo Haitto. He also plays violin, but it is his conducting of the California Junior Symphony Orchestra that particularly impressed me. Grand opera contributes Richard Bonelli, Irra Petina and Richard Hageman, and Deems Taylor appears briefly.

From the above you will gain the idea that your reviewer enjoyed this film immensely . . . and so will you: and be sure to take the whole family for every youngster will get a kick out of "THE HARD-BOILED CANARY."

Twentieth Century-Fox presented "TOBACCO ROAD" with Charles Grapewin, Marjorie Rameau, Gene Tierney, William Tracy, and a carefully selected cast.

As cleaned and polished for the screen by Nunally Johnson, this adaptation of Jack Kirkland's wonder play of the American stage has lost that lusty, virile, sexy quality that made it the sensational attraction it had as a stage play; and this despite the mastery direction of John Ford, exceptionally fine casting, production, photography, and more important still, the superb acting ability of a fine group of players. Apparently the restrictions of the Hays Office were just a bit too stringent and the bawdy play is now only mildly exciting, for there is not a line nor a situation that will give the vicarious thrill seeker anything beyond the mildest of emotional reaction.

In short, don't go to "Tobacco Road," to be shocked—because you won't be . . . in the way you expect. You will be shocked, however, to have brought before your eyes a picture of social conditions in a section of our country that boasts of a proud heritage brought down from colonial days, that today has sunk to a condition of ignorance and degradation that is unbelievable. Only a producer with the daring of Darryl Zanuck, the man who had the courage to bring "Grapes of Wrath" to the screen, would pay the immense sum of $150,000 for the movie rights to this story. Only a man like Zanuck would have the fortitude to present this tense psychological study.

Charles Grapewin's performance is an Academy portrayal. Marjorie Rameau gives to the full of her seasoned acting ability. Gene Tierney's performance is, I suspect, mostly on the cutting room floor . . . but it is still very good. Bill Tracy is sensational. As Duke Lester he steals scene after scene. Elizabeth Patterson, in her meatier role to date, will leave you limp. A boy to Slim Somerville and a man for credit to Ward Bond for two terrific scenes, and a definite nod to Grant Mitchell is entirely in order.

Be sure to watch for "Nice Girl!" on the marquee of your favorite theatre . . . and take the whole family.

Lack of space does not permit a lengthy review of Deanna Durbin's new picture, "Nice Girl!," and the simplest thing to say is that Universal and Mr. Joe Pasternack have another hit picture on their hands. The story is a wee bit thin and there are fewer musical numbers than one looks for in a Durbin film, but it's all done so lightly and heartily that the lack of a strong story will hardly be noticed.

As usual Mr. Pasternack has surrounded Deanna with a strong cast . . . funny man Robert Benchley, Franchot Tone, Walter Brennan, Robert Stack, Helen Broderick, Ann Gillis and Anne Gwynne each contributing their talent, and doing the sort of job you expect. One thing is certain . . . Deanna is really grown up and looks more lovely than ever, and from now on can be counted as a definite threat to Hollywood's ranks of "glamour" girls.

Be sure to watch for "Nice Girl!" on the marquee of your favorite theatre . . . and take the whole family.

ON THE SETS
With REED JOHNSTON

The complaints registered previously in these pages about the mysterious absence of pretty ladies when this observer visits the sets, were apparently heard at last in the proper quarters—wherever they may be. At least past sins were handsomely atoned for this week when Director Herbert Wilcox was found shooting a scene for "Sunny" with the altogether satisfactory Anna Neagle in the spotlight.

The lady in question was looking exceedingly winsome in the costume of a bareback rider, and the set was the cushioned and befrilled interior of a deluxe trailer, which represents Miss Neagle's dressing-room in this romance of the circus. During the take we witnessed she was being pampered by her maid in this same trailer when Mr. Paul Hartman, wearing a dress overcoat that looked suspiciously like an old-fashioned coachman's garment, stuck his head around the door and said, "Say, Sis, could you let me have two bucks for supper?"

Miss Neagle promptly covered her eyes that the troupe had been paid only the day before, and how could he be broke so soon? Whereupon Mr. Hartman reached shyly into the pocket of his coachman's overcoat and drew out a mouse.

"I know," he explained, "but I had to put out all my dough for Eustace"—this name referring to the mouse.

"But you could get a pet mouse for less than that," Miss Neagle protested.

"Not when you win it in a crap-game," said Mr. Hartman, and absently dropping the mouse into his hat, clapped it on his head and backed out.

Being a good answer, this very properly closed the scene, and preparations were made to move outside the trailer for a take in the circus pavilion. This outer set was gay with awnings and clowns, and accurate right down to the sawdust on the floor—which sawdust, Mr. Ray Bolger wryly informed us, was complete with the odor of seals and horses.

"But it's not as bad as it was," he added, after an experimental sniff.

Along with the Hartmans, Grace and Paul, Mr. Bolger also has a dancing role in "Sunny"—and elsewhere in the line-up are John Carroll, Edward Everett Horton, Helen Westley and Frieda Innescourt. With, of course, the inimitable Miss Neagle in the foreground. Keep your eyes peeled for her, brother.

Ah . . . WOMEN

By Steve Healey
The ultimate in romance was achieved when Rudy Vallee, John Barrymore and Jimmy Durante met recently.

Here you have in the flesh the modern counterparts of Scaramouche, Don Juan and Cyrano de Bergerac.

The Vagabond Lover, the Great Profile and the Inimitable Buffoon, were matching their wits.

Your inquisitive reporter had the temerity to pop the following question:

"What do you gentlemen think of the modern-day woman as compared to grandma's day?"

The result for just ONE tiny minute recalled vividly to mind the prelude to the St. Louis cyclone. There followed a solidified hush. Then up spoke Rudy:

"I think," he ruminated, with that sly twinkle in his eye, "that the women of today have more force, a greater divinity of purpose, and a lot more chic than those of 'Crimoline' days. In fact, I greatly admire Miss America of today. What about you, John?"

At this particular lull in the conversation Durante horns in: "Gee, fellas, don't I get a chance to broadcast my two-bit worth on the subject of plura-titude? Or am I a sellibait? I asks you?"

"Later, my friend," quoth Barrymore, "you shall have your CHANST to expound the virtues, idiosyncrasies and allure of the modern day miss. For the nonce please feather your oars and now lend ear to some sagacious wisdom garnered through my years of close association with the WEAKER sex."

"I am quite sure that if a fellow would but analyze a woman previous to marrying her he would encounter very little trouble. The more common error indulged in by men is that they seek a woman who is a composite creature made up from all the sweet virtues of their mothers, the understandings of their maid-

Meeting
the Stars

With VICTOR BOESEN

With all the little stenographers, all the little five-and-dime girls, the secretaries, and all the coeds across the land at least dreaming of movie careers if not actually doing something about it, it comes as a bit of a novelty to hear a queen of the screen grow pensive on the subject of how she would go about becoming a stenographer, a five-and-dime girl, a secretary or a coed.

This interesting departure came as we stood talking to the diminutive Anne Shirley on the set of Paramount's "Nurses Don't Tell," of which Anne and Richard Carlson will be the stars.

Anne, who as she stands looking up at you, suggests most of the good earth's fudge and honey assembled in human form, with eyes like polished buckeyes, has been making pictures since she was three. Since one's third year is too early to start troubling about one's future, even in this day of enormous precocity, Anne has been denied the opportunity of those youngsters who, theoretically at least, have to make up their minds as to whether they want to be president, undertaker, taxidermist or a . . .

"How on earth do people decide what they want to do?" she inquired suddenly.

The problem suggested high adventure . . . probably too high. She listed the things she had wanted to try, only to find each time that she had no talent for it. There was designing, without results. She tried violin lessons, "and that was a big mistake." And dancing, "but I can't dance either."

With such a dearth of aptitude, she wondered with abrupt dread what she would have done to get into the movies, especially in these days when there's such abundant talent that you can't toss a pebble without hitting some youngster who can take on "Information Please" single-handed.

So, she thinks it was probably just as well that she got into pictures before she was old enough to show that she had nothing to offer.

The producers would seem to be a little slow to learn, for Anne remembers being in twenty pictures in the past six years. She doesn't recall how many there were in the dozen years before that.

She hopes they will go on and on, which they will of course, and the work never ceases to be "fascinating." She never wants to try the stage, goal of many a (big) player, because "I'm not suited for it."

But in the meantime, it would be fun to know how one becomes a stenographer, a five-and-dime girl, or a secretary.

QUIZ BOX

Q. From Lewis Martin, San Francisco. In what picture were the following songs featured? "I'm Falling in Love With Someone," "Gypsy Love Song" and "Sweet Mystery of Life."

A. "The Great Victor Herbert," with Allen Jones, Mary Martin and Susanna Foster.

Q. From Mrs. N. M. Moore, Tulsa, Okla. Can you tell me the name of the first all-talking short, who made it, and who played in it?

A. Titled "The Treasurer's Report," made by Fox and featuring Bob Benchley.

Q. From Mrs. Sarah O. Fletcher, Tacoma, Wash. Can you give me the stage names of the following: Jacob Krantz, Am Yonson, George F. Beldan, Muni Weisenfreund and Claude Dunkenfeld.

A. In order they are: Ricardo Cortez, Al Jolson, Rex Bell, Paul Muni and W. C. Fields.

Q. From Lucy Loutgab, Minneapolis, Minn. Who directed (1) "Stagecoach," (2) "Mortal Storm," (3) "Our Town."

A. (1) John Ford; (2) Frank Borzage; (3) Sam Wood.

Q. From Mrs. L. L. Blender, St. Peter, Minn. I understand that "The Long Voyage Home" is based on several Eugene O'Neill one-act plays. Can you tell me which plays they were.

A. "The Moon of the Caribbees," "Bound East for Cardiff," "In the Zone" and "The Long Voyage Home."

en aunts, the wisdom of their school teachers and the form of a Petty or a McClellan Barclay magazine drawing. Such women exist only in the minds of men who are engaged in a fruitless search for their ideal. Let's have an abundance of romance but temper it with a little common sense.

Now you were saying, Mr. Durante?

"Ah! Women! They're stupendous," said Jimmy.

House Likely To Face Showdown On Tax Bills Monday

Omnibus Bill May Pass By End Of Day

AUSTIN, March 8. (AP)—The house of representatives steamed at top speed this week through the last of the preliminaries and got set for a floor showdown Monday on the important issue of new taxes.

Rep. G. C. Morris of Greenville, sponsor of an omnibus tax bill estimated to raise an additional $14,500,000 a year, said he anticipated little or no difficulty in bringing up the bill Monday and he believed the house probably would pass it before the end of the day. The house must act before the senate can consider the taxing tax problem.

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel had urged the lawmaking body to provide $20,000,000 a year in new revenue. There already was considerable speculation on whether he would sign a bill raising only twelve to fifteen millions.

The omnibus bill would boost levies on natural resources, corporation franchises and public utilities and impose on automobile finance companies a tax of one per cent of the value of the notes handled by them.

Considerable opposition to the natural gas tax sections had been expressed. Rep. Jack Little of Amarillo contended that the proposed gas gathering impost of one-fourth cent per thousand cubic feet would not hit the big interstate pipelines but would either constitute double taxation on producers or put an undue heavy tax on small pipelines and gathering systems.

In addition to the gas gathering levy, the bill would boost the gas production levy from 3 per cent of value to 1.5 cent per thousand cubic feet on sweet gas and 1.10 cent per thousand cubic feet on sour and casinghead gas. It also would impose a natural gas processing tax estimated to yield $250,000 a year.

The omnibus proposal was reported favorably Wednesday night by the house revenue and taxation committee within a short time after it had been presented by a sub-group. On the same night, the committee recommended a bill imposing a tax of one cent a gallon on all gasoline refined in Texas and repealing the four-cent gasoline sales tax.

It was estimated the refinery tax would add $12,000,000 a year to state revenues. Committee members explained that if the legislature wanted to raise more money than the amount provided by the omnibus measure they could approve the refinery bill.

On a close vote, the house this week beat back another effort to have Governor O'Daniel's big social security appropriation bill considered ahead of taxes. The bill would allocate an extra $26,820,000 a year for old age pensions, teachers' retirement, aid to dependent children and the blind. House members told newsmen the governor wanted the appropriation considered first so the legislature would have a definite tax goal.

The senate voted to postpone floor work on the appropriation bill until April 1. A motion to reconsider had been made, however, and could be brought up at any time.

IOOF, Rebecca Lodges Keep Busy At Garner

KNOTT, March 8.—I. O. O. F. and Rebecca lodges in the Knott vicinity have been unusually active in the past few days.

Knott Rebecca lodge met in regular session with Mrs. Nora Gaskins in charge. After close of a short business meeting a social hour was enjoyed and a special number by Patsy Phillips and Billie Doris McClain was given. Those present were Myrtle Morrow, Amanda Hughes, Winifred Wood, Ina Robinson, Minnie Unger, Willie McClain, Willie Wood, Cleo Bayes, Porter Motley, Ois Motley, George Bayes, W. A. Morrow, R. H. Unger, T. H. Hughes, Lois Meyers and Gaskins.

In an impressive ceremony at the regular meeting of the Odd Fellows lodge recently O. C. Bayes was presented with a 25-year pin, a medal for having been a paid-up member of the lodge for 25 years. After the ceremony refreshments were served to J. A. Iden, Ellis Iden, Joe Meyers, G. H. Bayes, R. H. Unger, J. J. Jones, Porter Motley, C. O. Jones, J. G. Nichols, Walter Nichols, J. M. Thames, J. N. Kemper, Sammie Scoggins, J. N. Lane, W. N. Wood, O. B. Gaskins, W. M. Nichols, T. H. Hughes, T. M. Robinson and Mr. Bayes.

Those attending an I. O. O. F. meeting at Lubbock this week were J. A. Iden, Ellis Iden, T. M. Robinson, G. H. Bayes, Joe Meyers. Feature of the program was a display of the degree work put on by the I. O. O. F. from Hobbs, N. M.

The young people's Sunday school class of the Baptist church honored Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kendrick, newlyweds with a party at the church building Wednesday evening. Under the direction of Ola Mae McNew, games were played. The final game was a contest in which Mr. and Mrs. Kendrick, winners, were presented with a gift. Ice cream and heart-shaped cookies were served to Cleo Jeffcoat, Doris Roman, Jackie Watts, Bert Mathis, Margaret Burchell, Mary Nena Brown, J. E. Harland, Mary Mathis, Hildred Roman, Harmon Smith, Annie Merie Mathis, Eugenia Jones, J. W. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. N. Y. Burnett, Kendrick and Miss McNew. Plate favors were miniature bridal corsages.

Miss Lila Castle, who completed her work for a bachelor's degree from Texas Technological college at Lubbock in February, has been elected as teacher of the seventh grade and of world history.

Mrs. Henry Page of Carlsbad, N. M., spent part of this week visiting her mother, Mrs. J. J. McGregor and friends. Mrs. Ethel Shockley and her sister, Mrs. Bertie Macklin of Los Angeles, Calif., arrived Wednesday from Borger where they had been visiting Mrs. Shockley's daughter, to spend several days with Mrs. Yale Crawford, another daughter, and her sons, Cecil and J. B. Shockley. Mrs. O. B. Bryan of Big Spring reviewed the book, "The American Family" by Faith Baldwin Thursday afternoon at 2:30 in the study hall at Garner. Accompanying Mrs. Bryan from Big Spring were Mr. and Mrs. Shine Phillips, Mrs. Beth Parsons, Mrs. Harvey Bunce, who announced that next Thursday Mrs. K. H. McGibbon would review the book, "And Tell of Time," a story of early Texas history and romance.

Fort Worth's Plane Plant Contract Let

WASHINGTON, March 8. (AP)—The war department awarded contracts totaling $24,694,284 today for construction of three bomber assembly plants in the west, rounding out an undertaking to build thousands of bombers from parts largely fabricated by the motor car industry.

Assembly plants for heavy four-motor bombers were contracted for at Tulsa, Okla., and Fort Worth, Tex., for assembly of medium two-motored bombers, an assembly plant was ordered for Kansas City, Kas. A second plant for medium bombers already is under construction at Omaha.

For the Tulsa plant, a contract involving an estimated outlay of $10,476,400 was awarded the Manhattan Construction company, Muskogee, Okla., and the Long Construction company, Tulsa. The Tulsa plant will be operated by the Consolidated Aircraft corporation, San Diego, Calif., which also is providing consultant services for the construction.

The Austin company, Cleveland, has been given a contract for architectural and engineering services on the Tulsa job.

For the Fort Worth plant, to be operated by the Douglas Aircraft corporation, Santa Monica, Calif., a $10,511,400 contract was awarded the Austin company, both for construction and architectural and engineering services. The Consolidated Aircraft corporation will provide consultant services for construction of the Fort Worth plant also.

Dawson Draft Board Mails Questionnaires

LAMESA, March 8. (Sp1.)—An additional 100 questionnaires have been mailed to registrants in Dawson county by the selective service board here. The instruments covered order numbers 701 to 800, inclusive. Friday 10 men were inducted into the army from here, four of the number being negroes. On March 19th, 10 more selectees are to be inducted into the army, but one of them will be a transfer from the New Braunfels board.

Brownwood Gains 1,833 Scholastics

BROWNWOOD, March 8. (AP)—An emergency school census in Brownwood and five nearby districts in Brown county produced today names of 1,833 scholastics who moved into the districts since April 1, 1940.

The names of 1,584 of these were accepted by John Olsen, census supervisor of the state department of education. He recommended emergency aid totaling $35,466 to the six districts under a recent legislative act providing per capita apportionment retroactive to the present school year in defense areas.

Kawana Smith Becomes Bride Of Stanton Man

Kawana Smith, daughter of Mrs. F. F. McGowan, became the bride of T. E. Newman of Stanton at 8 o'clock Saturday night in a ceremony read in the parsonage of the First Methodist church of Stanton. The Rev. Arthur Kendall, pastor, read the ceremony.

Newman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Newman of Lomax. The bride wore a navy blue costume suit trimmed in rose with a long fitted rose-colored coat. Her hat was of navy blue and rose and her accessories beige.

Her shoulder corsage was of variegated carnations. She was attended by Ruth Jane Thompson who wore a wine ensemble with beige accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. T. H. McCann was the bridegroom's attendant.

For something borrowed the bride wore a bracelet of Mrs. Neal Stanley's and for something old, a handkerchief given to her by her father.

Mrs. Newman was graduated from the Big Spring high school in 1939 and later attended Brantley-Draghona business college in Fort Worth.

At the style show— Little did Big Spring know that it was harboring a composer in its midst. But it all came out in the open at the Fashion Revue Friday night when STANLEY MATE presented his composition, "My Star of Stars." WANDA McQUAIN and MAURINE ROWE sang the number as a duet and Stanley played the number on the piano. It's a sweet lyric that is really good. . . . Backstage was well... backstage. Models colliding with one another and sudden mishaps to slips, shoes and other vital paraphernalia. Mrs. BELL TATE did her best with trying to clear the confusion. . . . During the "Anybody's Grocery" skit Mrs. DOUGLAS ORME's dog POTSY stole the show with his orderly ride in a market basket across the stage and his appeal for some groceries for himself that got him a bone about his size. . . . Watched the young men in the show. E. C. BELL and MURRAY PATTERSON stalk around in what the well-dressed men will wear this spring. You could hear feminine hearts clear up on the stage when they walked out. . . . ANNA BELLE EDWARDS, as always, was lovely to look at in her scene as queen of vanity fair, the opening number of the show. . . . But our nomination for pure delight were NELL BROWN and ELOUISE HALEY in their characterizations of costumes that women wear to the grocery but shouldn't. . . . Think it was unanimous that it was an up-to-par show. . . .

"The One and Only!"

Don't let 'em kid you—there is one and only one kind of drive that completely eliminates the conventional clutch as well as the clutch pedal—one and only one kind of drive that automatically selects and automatically shifts into the right gear for best performance under all conditions—one and only one kind of drive that gives you the safety of "two hands on the wheel" at all times, plus the super-safety of the world's simplest, easiest-controlled driving, and that is the original. . . .

HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE

DEVELOPED, PROVED AND INTRODUCED BY OLDSMOBILE—OFFERED IN ALL OLDS MODELS

WHAT DOES HYDRA-MATIC DO THAT OTHER DRIVES DON'T?

CHECK the chart at the right. You'll see that Hydra-Matic Drive does things no other drive can do! Take an Olds Hydra-Matic out on the road. You'll find how much these things all mean to you in effort reduced, safety enhanced, performance improved, gasoline saved—not to mention the new and totally different thrill you get from driving! Hydra-Matic Drive, remember, is more than a fluid coupling—more, even, than a fully automatic, four-speed transmission. Hydra-Matic Drive is the world's first and only combination of both. And it's been proved in the hands of more than 75,000 Oldsmobile owners—in over 225 million miles of driving!

West Texas Should Get Its Part Of Government Money

We see by the papers that army engineers have recommended huge expenditures for waterways development on the larger rivers and on the coast of Texas.

Reading the item makes us feel something like the little boy who wasn't invited to the birthday party. All those folks on the big rivers are going to get some candy while we of the dry country are battling the dust and praying for rain without any.

Rivers make flood control necessary in the wetter sections, then dry climate should make reservoir building important out here. If millions are to be spent for development of inland waterways along the coast and up the main rivers, then millions should be spent out here building better roads to get across these wide open spaces.

As sure as shootin' those folks east and south are getting more of the ice cream and cake than we. We need to do some 'rollin', to use a nasty but honest term. The government is in an orgy of spending and since the pork is being portioned, our representatives should get right in the barrel with both feet. We are all going to pay taxes 'till it hurts, so we might as well get our part of the proceeds.

Not very pretty talk, of course, but we believe it is true.

Uncle Sam Spends Millions For Morale In New Army

WASHINGTON—Morale is vital in any fighting force. Volumes have been written about it. There's no military man worth his salt who doesn't think about it constantly.

A great many civilians have a confused idea about morale. Many think it is the army's concern with morale. Morale are only a phase of it.

One definition that I got of morale.

That mental quality and firmness which, in a body of troops, continues to function after everything else has broken.

A quality which presses on to its goal in the face of the most discouraging circumstances and refuses to recognize that anything save success can result from correct efforts. In combat service, it is a quality which will survive disaster and sustain the mass or the individual to "take it" again and again until an opponent of lesser morale yields.

Almost Everything

So you see, morale is almost everything and is affected by almost everything. If a soldier feels that the army is dishing out slum instead of a satisfying and appetizing meal; if his uniform doesn't fit and isn't something he can take pride in; if he feels the rifle he carries, the machine gun he mans, the plane he flies isn't just as good as the other fellow's, then he may not be worth a hoot when the attack comes.

These contributing factors are basic, so much so that we don't need to consider them here. What we can consider is that, sitting the lessons, particularly of the first World War, the military powers that be now have launched on a morale program the like of which the American army and navy never dreamed of.

In the first place, Congress appropriated about $3,700,000 for that alone. In the second, the army set up, under direction of the adjutant general, Maj. Gen. Emory S. Adams, its new morale division. This division acts almost entirely in an advisory capacity and as a clearing house, because the responsibility for the morale of the men in each camp rests solely with the commanding officer. In the last analysis, it is his problem and his success or failure, but it is up to the morale division to help in every way possible.

Nine Sections

Probably the best way to explain it is to list the nine sections which make up the division—and their duties, as follows:

1. Administrative section—General supervision of the whole program.
2. Welfare section—Liaison with civilian welfare agencies, civilian communities and the Red Cross. Operation and maintenance of guest houses on the post, the service clubs (with their hostesses) and all matters pertaining to scholarships for army children, epidemics, government insurance, and the Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act.
3. Recreation section—all recreational facilities, athletics, amateur theatricals, music and dances.
4. Library section—Post and camp libraries.
5. Budget and estimate section—Distribution of funds.
6. Miscellaneous section—Operation and maintenance of post exchanges, awarding of trophies, insignia and heraldry; and handling of all war department exhibitions at fairs, expositions and so forth.
7. The motion picture service.—Booking and distribution of all movies that go to army posts and camps.
8. Decorations and awards section—Handling all decorations.
9. Civilian contact section—Handling press relations, civilian interviews, camp newspapers and publications and preparation of all morale material.

Is that a pretty big order or isn't it? In the next article we shall discuss what this means to the camps and to the boys "on the reservation."

Man About Manhattan—Record Collection Of Sports Books Collected By Athlete

NEW YORK—Red Barber, whose softly-flowing drawl reminiscent of moss-hung Mississippi river bottoms has been poured into microphones through twelve torrid baseball seasons, dug his arms into the shelves of his topcoat, slipped a weather-stained chapeau on his close-clipped red locks, and opined that, for him, winter was a thing of the past.

Winter, for sports announcers, always ends when the baseball clubs go south for spring training. But this has been a good winter for Red, given over to those pursuits that beat fill his imagination and his heart. For one thing, he is building a sports library, and the quest for books—the "right" books—is a quest that takes a man into department stores and publishing houses and into ratty little second-hand stores on 4th avenue or any other avenue. Red is able to announce, for one thing, a complete list of Spalding's official guides from 1899 on, "without a gap."

He has books on horses, and biographies of fighters and baseball players; he has ancient football guides, and memoirs of anglers and automobile daredevils. He can speak of the Bullwinks and the Lengens and the Paddocks with a savior's faith that would astonish a contemporary of the day. Red aims to have plenty of good reading on hand when he wants it, which is apt to be any time between breakfast and lights out, in season and out.

He has also been busy collecting and assembling in suitable order clippings of great games and sporting events, and in some of these clippings Red himself figures. They may afford interest some day to his daughter, Sarah, now three-and-a-half. Red's wife is a Florida girl—a Jacksonville girl, Lyrah. He met her there in the days before he moved to Cincinnati, and announced games for the Reds, which was his big stop-over before he came to New York. Dodger fans and much of the metropolitan area besides. Red will announce the Brooklyn games again this year.

He thinks it is a cat-fight between the Dodgers and Cincinnati as to which way the National league title will go.

I said, "Red, you've been announcing baseball games for 12 years. You've seen the best in both leagues. Who is the greatest pitcher you ever saw?"

"I don't have to puzzle about that one, Carl Hubbell," Red said. "As he was in his prime, I would take him against the field. He is the pitching artist in my book. If my life depended on a single game, and I could have any pitcher I wanted, I would take Hubbell."

"He's smart. He's ice water. You might get excited; he never does. He knows every batter, and his weakness. That's a book I'll never have—Hubbell's book on what he knows about baseball, and what he knows about each individual hitter—his strong and his weak points. But it is a book that will never be written. Hub knows all this, but he couldn't, and he wouldn't, tell. That would be out of order. It just wouldn't do."

Bette Davis Plays Role Too Light To Think About

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—It's old-home-week for Nils Aster and Norman Kerry, both returned from abroad and both in movie jobs here—Nils in "The Man Who Lost Himself" and "The Night of January 16," Norman in "Sergeant York."

"Night" is practically a birthday picture for Aster, who was born January 17, 1901...

The picture Bob Hope would like to do soon is "Who's Your Husband?"—a natural for mystery comedy...

"Taint-fair department: Ingrid Bergman, the dignified sweet girl, is playing the loose one in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," and Lana Turner, the flaming young gal, is doing Spencer Tracy's nice sweetheart. In "So Ends Our Night," Lionel Royce, typed by many anti-Nazi films as a wicked Gestapo agent, is seen fish-eyeing the refugee hero and heroine in a bar. Scaring them, probably because they knew the kind of parts he played. Then he turns out to be a right guy, but you keep expecting him to show his swastika...

"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" progresses on a closed stage, the usual "mystery" over the make-up by the Hyde role. The make-up will depart drastically from previous movie and stage versions, little if any being used—indicating that Tracy, who wanted to show Hyde's personality without prop-teeth or wig, has won a point...

You doubtless will have fun seeing "The Bride Came C.O.D.," which is a comedy, but your fun there is Bette Davis' tedious now. She knits like mad between scenes, on intricate socks. "You can't give much thought to a part like this. If you do, you spoil it," she says. "It has to be spontaneous or it's no good. On serious pictures it's exciting, so much planning and discussion all the time."

Could that mean she doesn't like the part? "Oh, it's a cute script. If it weren't," she added, "I wouldn't be doing it." (Pretty sure of herself? You're darned right she is. And why not?)

Clyde E. Elliott (director of "Bring 'Em Back Alive," "Devil Tiger," etc.) is leaving to make "Catch 'Em Alive" in Brazil's Matto Grosso county and in Amazonia. He won't see Hollywood actors as in his last two films. Instead, the hero will be Carl Shreve, young America explorer whose new book, "Distant Horizons," has just been published in London. Elliott's new picture will tabu all gory animal fights, he says, and will stress adventure...

Will Phil Regan and Buddy DeSylva forgive and forget? Regan, who left Buddy's Broadway show, "DuBarry Was a Lady," after an argument with the producer, now has a term contract at Paramount, where DeSylva has just stepped into the top production spot...

The name of a producing firm is about to be dramatized. Francis Monnar's "The Play's the Thing" is to be a Charles Laughton vehicle—while the title continues to serve Gene Towne and Graham Baker as a company monicker...

The Ink Spots, dusky quartet here for "The Great American Broadcast," have outdone Cecil B. DeMille in the matter of entourage. They walked on the set their first day accompanied by 35 attendants!

Martin County 4-H Boys Win $68 In Prizes

STANTON, March 8 (Sp)—Martin county 4-H club boys are in Fort Worth attending the Southwestern Fat Stock exposition after having won $68 in cash prizes on five of seven calves shown in the Amarillo show last week.

At Amarillo Billy Sadler won the blue ribbon in the group of three calves bred by one boy. He won fourth in the heavy class with an E. B. Dickenson bred calf and ninth in the same class with a calf bred by J. C. Sale. His light calf, a Dickenson animal, stood third in its division.

Elmer Anderson, showing in each the heavyweight and lightweight classes, won eleventh and ninth places, respectively. These calves were bred by Renfron brothers of Hereford.

Tom Estes competed in the light division with two calves bred by his father, Jack Estes. They were placed 25th and 29th for sales.

Chapter 12
TOUGH SPOT

Roger didn't answer immediately. He sat staring at the pattern of the rug, not because he wished to avoid anything, merely because he was trying to find words with which to couch the truth he must tell.

Emily was looking at him, her wide gray eyes calm but shadowed. Her face looked as if she was crying slowly, inwardly.

"John had no business to come here like that," Roger said finally. "But there is a girl, mother. I mean besides Emily."

"What do you mean? Who is she? How long has this been going on? And what in the world if there is a girl? You're marrying Emily shortly and then there will be no more girls. Every young man has his affairs. I'd hate to think your son was any different." The words came quickly and in a relieved tone as if she had discovered there was less than she had feared.

"But this is different, mother," Roger persisted. "I mean—" he found it difficult to go on. The thing that had happened had surprised him so that how could he expect anyone else to understand it? "It isn't just an affair."

Marcia smiled sweetly.

"Just what are you trying to say, Roger?" in a pretty sort of helplessness and exasperation. Things had always been simple for Marcia Cosgrave. Going from parents who adored her to a husband who adored her more had made her life a thing that moved at her desire.

Roger looked at Emily. Her presence was making it doubly hard. Yet he had no wish to conceal anything from her. It was just that her sweet face made him feel doubly unworthy. Then his mother was speaking in that pleasant but imperious voice that took everything for granted.

"You must be sensible, Roger. You've always been sensible about everything before. I know how it is. Emily's probably feeling the same way now the wedding's so near. Half afraid there's some other man she'd rather marry. Why, I felt that way about your father, dear."

Marcia paused as if to give him time to get over his astonishment at that.

"I wasn't at all sure when the time came. And you couldn't find a happier couple than we've been." "I know, mother," Roger said, aware of Emily's haunted eyes on him.

"Of course you do, so everything's all right. The wedding is going on exactly as we planned. Why we couldn't do anything else now, with the Perrys going away on their Mexican trip as soon as Emily's married. Their second honeymoon. Isn't that sweet?"

Emily was looking down at her hands. Roger's diamond still sparkled there. She started slipping it off and on. Roger thought she looked as if she was about to cry. He must do something. He must. But what? Anything he could do in honesty would be sure to make her tears real.

"Now I'm going to leave you children alone. That's probably the trouble. You haven't had any time to yourselves lately. Too many parties. And another one tonight. Aunt Amalia's dinner for you and Emily, Roger. Both families. It's such a lovely thing of Aunt Amalia. Well, you'll soon be off on your honeymoon together!"

She was gone and Emily sat facing Roger in the tense silence.

"You should have told her Roger," Emily said finally. She knew it was tactless. But the silence had gotten unendurable.

"I tried, didn't I?" with the first impatience he had ever shown her. "What can you do with a woman like that? Mother's always been that way. Had her will about things. God knows I wish she could now. I wish it was as easy as that."

How It Had Begun

Emily was staring at him as if in surprise at discovering he could be impatient. Something about it made him faintly angry. She was too good and she had taken it for granted he was that way. That annoyed him intensely. She seemed to expect him to be super-human just because she was able to live in that smooth untroubled shell of sweetness. His thought turned to Lovely. Lovely with her quick moods, her flights of temper and of tenderness. A man could be himself with her. He knew as he sat there in the library, its venetian blinds drawn against the brilliant light of the late August day, that he was a little glad to escape from having to live up to Emily.

Some day he would cut loose emotionally one way or another—perhaps not in anger, but some way. And then Emily would be shocked and startled and hurt. With Lovely he hadn't that to fear. Life had been frank and ruthless with her long before he'd met her, and now she was joyously grateful for its unexpected little tendernesses and niceties.

"What are you going to do?" Emily asked finally.

"What can I do?" still with that note of impatience.

"Roger you've got to go on with it—the presents and all—" she was toying with his ring again.

"You've said that before." He felt as if he was being cruel to a helpless puppy. If only she'd flare up and tell him she hated him for it all.

But she didn't. Instead she leaned back in the big chair and covered her face with her hands. She sat so, motionless and wordless, for a long time and Roger was reminded of that other time when she had sat in a wing chair so quietly. At Marcia's party when she had overheard her cousin John talking about Lovely. He felt like an actor in a wretched play. This thing couldn't be happening to him.

Roger remembered with startled clarity the day Emily's mother had come into the living room as he waited to take Emily to the dog show at Madison, New Jersey. It was late May. Mrs. Perry had started to talk of their engagement.

The Thrill That Comes Once In A Lifetime

Road Bond Assumption Law Presents Many Problems

By ALEX LOUIS

Herald Austin Bureau

AUSTIN, March 8.—A three-headed highway problem rises to plague members of the legislature as they prepare to re-enact the county road assumption act.

The assumption act must be passed every two years to continue in effect the policy of using revenue from one cent of the state gasoline tax to pay off state-assumed county road bonds.

Revenue from the tax is now more than enough to meet the bond payments, and the lawmakers are having trouble deciding what to do with the surplus.

The surplus now amounts to about $2,000,000 a year and will increase gradually to more than $10,000,000 a year after 1960. Influential groups are working hard to have the legislature this year establish a definite policy toward the use of this money.

At the behest of the Texas County Judges and Commissioners association, the legislature two years ago voted to distribute the excess to the various counties to be used for lateral road construction and retirement of lateral road indebtedness.

This policy has been interpreted by the Texas Good Roads association as a diversion of the gasoline tax from its original purpose of building and maintaining a state highway system, and it is urging the lawmakers to allocate the surplus to the state highway department.

Meanwhile, a third factor is needed for military roads—has entered the picture to complicate matters. There are 6,300 miles of military highways in Texas, most of which are part of the state system, and the state highway commission has agreed to use all its federal grants on these strategic roadways.

This means that needed improvement on many thousand miles of other state highways will have to be delayed.

While county commissioners courts exert their influence on their legislative representatives to retain an interest in the gasoline tax money, friends of the highway department are offering figures to show that the great percentage of traffic outside incorporated cities is not on lateral roads but on state-designated highways.

This should convince the lawmakers, it is argued, that state-designated highways should have first call on the surplus gasoline tax funds.

The figures show that 81 per cent of total tonnage and 77 per cent of total vehicle miles are carried by state-designated highways while only 19 per cent of the total tonnage and 23 per cent of total vehicle miles are carried by lateral roads.

County commissioners all over Texas spend about $33,500,000 annually—including WPA funds—on building and improving lateral roads, while the highway department spends about $30,000,000 state and $14,000,000 federal funds on construction of state-designated highways.

With these and other facts being laid before them, the lawmakers will be asked to decide how the surplus gasoline tax money should be spent. Three uses are foremost in their minds: (1) strategic military highways, (2) other state highways, (3) county lateral roads.

Spain To Grab Foreign Ships

MADRID, Spain, March 8 (AP)—The Spanish press said today that Spain was taking steps to press into service 25,000 tons of Norwegian, Belgian and Dutch steamers tied up in Spanish ports on the grounds that these countries had lost their independence.

The articles said Spain's 70 ships, all of her merchant marine capable of making long overseas voyages, were now in service in bringing wheat and corn obtained by agreements with South American nations.

Food Ship For France Delayed

WASHINGTON, March 8. (AP)—The state department disclosed today that the sailing of the American export liner Essex with food for French children in unoccupied France had been delayed 10 days as a result of Italy's notification that it needed longer time to notify the naval units.

The Essex was scheduled to sail today from Jersey City, N. J., for Marseille with an American Red Cross cargo of 12,000,000 pounds of milk, 150,000 children's garments and a large quantity of medical supplies.

Fog Museum Enriched

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Among the rare art objects worth more than $50,000 received last year by Harvard University's Fog Art museum were an Assyrian marble bas-relief of the 9th century B. C., an unfinished painting by Piero di Cosimo, 16th century Florentine master, and a Siamese head of Buddha from the well-known Elumorphopolis in London.

Justice Goes In High Gear

EL PASO—A record was set in federal court in El Paso when a federal judge sentenced 32 persons to jail in 95 minutes, or an average of one minute and 48 seconds per person. All were charged with illegally entering the United States from Mexico.

Knott Farm Family Gets Start In Farming After Tough Times

Pat Garrett, farmer in the Knott family has never had to have an outright grant of help, and he keeps up current payments on his FSA loans.

The FSA is now purchasing two registered Jersey cows for the family. These, with a registered Jersey bull he already owns, are expected to build up a better dairy herd. This loan will furnish the kind of farm unit he wants, so they expect to go on without borrowing any more money from any agency after this loan is repaid.

Mr. D. Kendrick and Mrs. Girdy P. Flache, FSA supervisors, report that both Mr. and Mrs. Garrett, who have three children, are hard working people and are extremely cooperative with FSA. Both studiously keep up a record book on all work.

When he lined up with FSA in 1939, he was working 200 acres for a share of 80 acres. He owned three cows, and was borrowing three others from the landlord.

An oil burning refrigerator was purchased, so that dairy products could be kept in Grade A condition. Two trips a week have been made to Big Spring since that time for selling of dairy products and eggs.

Many products are sold directly to consumers for retail prices. His customers are so well pleased that he cannot meet demands.

In 1940, the Garretts sold dressed fryers in addition to dairy products. In all, produce sales in 1940 amounted to $604. The sale of these items meets all family operating expenses and some of the farm operating expenses.

In the meantime, the Garrett family has never had to have an outright grant of help, and he keeps up current payments on his FSA loans.

Aid Bill

Mo) protested against the presence of the "gendarmes," as he called them. Never, he said, had the senate taken an important action, with so many policemen in the galleries.

As the bill stood when passed by the senate, it authorizes President Roosevelt, acting through the war and navy departments, to:

Order the manufacture of war materials, in government arsenals or private commercial factories and "sell, transfer title to, lease, lend or otherwise dispose of" these products to countries whose defense he "deems vital to the defense of the United States." (That intendedly means such nations as England, primarily, and Greece and China, which are resisting the attacks of the German-Italian-Japanese alliance.)

But, specifically, the manufacture of the defense materials in question would be limited, in terms of money, by a provision, added in the senate, which administration spokesmen said would retain for congress a complete and always current control of the program. This limits orders for the production of war materials to the extent to which congress later approves appropriations or authorizes the signing of contracts.

To make the money control complete, another limitation restricts the extent to which war supplies already in the hands of the army and navy may be used. These things may be transferred to England or others to a maximum "value" of $1,500,000,000. There was extensive debate on what the word "value" meant and administration leaders finally put in a provision that the "value" of the articles should be determined by the heads of the departments or agencies immediately concerned.

The bill furthermore, would permit the president, subject again to later appropriations, to order the repair or reconditioning of the "defense articles" of such nations as England, Greece and China, and to communicate to these governments information on defense and defense equipment. (Repair of defense articles includes damaged British war ships, which may be put in good condition and outfitted in American ports.)

COWPER CLINIC NOTES

Mrs. Wayne Gound underwent an emergency operation Friday night.

Audit

The auditor questioned the wisdom of a six per cent loan to the Midway school district in the amount of $8,902.82 unless it were to be retired in less than 10 years. In the alternative, he thought it would be wiser to refund all bonds around three per cent.

He also pointed out that there were no invoices to support payments to an administrator in the amount of $50 for work in the gymnasium and for $175 in going after a bus. The Fairview school had a $51.51 unsupported item for lights and labor. No invoices for $234 could be found in R-Bar accounts.

"It is our suggestion," concluded Sedgwick, "that the county school superintendent and/or the school trustees refuse to honor all future vouchers which are not properly supported."

He found the treasurer's accounts reconciling but suggested proof-reading be followed to eliminate errors; found the tax collector's accounts in good shape except for one infinitesimal item; the county clerk in fine shape with an excess in funds of $150, apparently showing up in 1928-32.

Records of the county auditor's office were "well kept and in our opinion they are adequate," said Sedgwick. He added however that "it appears that the county auditor is being called upon a great deal for detail work for the various officers. If this is allowed to increase, the auditor will have no time left for internal auditing which should be a large portion of his duties. It is our recommendation that other officers keep their own records...."

Malone And Hogan Clinic-Hospital

Mrs. D. R. McGuire, 303 Bell, was admitted Friday for a tonsillectomy.

Mrs. L. M. Brooks and infant son, Gerald Lloyd, were dismissed Friday.

Natha Jean McMinn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. McMinn of Coahoma was admitted Saturday evening for medical attention.

George Zachariah, Coaden Petroleum corporation, was admitted Saturday for treatment to an injured left foot and ankle.

Mrs. D. H. Kinard, Lamesa, was admitted Saturday evening for surgery.

Rev. Blair Morris, Garden City, was admitted Saturday for medical attention.

Here And There

Clark Pontiac Co. is moving into a new home. Saturday finishing touches were put on the building formerly occupied by the Herald at 210 East 2nd Street, and the motor company will open for business as usual at that location Monday. Formal announcement of the opening is due to come later when all renovations have been completed.

L. R. McDowell is treasuring a letter received from George Mahon, congressman from the 19th district, congratulating him on his 80th birthday anniversary. After seeing the story in the Herald, Mahon wrote, "I want to add my congratulations to the many others which you have received and extend my good wishes for many more years of health and happiness."

M. C. Grigby, formerly of Cleveland, Okla., will be local manager of the C. R. Anthony store opening here soon. His family will move here when school dismisses for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Strickland of Brownfield were here for the weekend as guests of Mrs. Ida Collins and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Roberts of Coahoma. The Stricklands operate the Terry County Herald.

H. B. Clark, formerly with the Best's Laundry here, has accepted a similar position with a Lubbock laundry. Mrs. Clark and her mother, Mrs. Fannie Allison, will join him in a few days. Clark had been with the local firm six years.

The Safety Council will hold its regular meeting Monday at 5 p. m. in the chamber of commerce office. The sub-committee under J. L. LeBlou to recommend a program of activities for the year held a session Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Lucille Kerse of Big Spring has entered Draughon's Business College in Abilene.

L. R. Stringer, Midland, was here Saturday looking for his two sons, Billy Jack, 9, and Sammy, 8, who were reported as runaways. Tuesday they told police their dad had put them on a freight train and started them to Chilton, Texas.

Stringer told officers here that actually the boys had run away from home and he was enlisting aid of the officers in finding the boys. They were last sighted at Coahoma Tuesday night.

Officers were holding Andres Alcanic, Mexican, in custody Saturday after the car in which he was riding was incriminated with one owned by M. C. Stulting in the 100 block of E. 2nd street. The collision occurred at 5:45 p. m. Friday and caused the Stulting car to strike another machine, said police.

In another crash 45 minutes later at 2nd and Gregg streets, a Cope Oil Co. truck driven by H. C. Conder of Lamesa was in collision with one driven by L. D. Gilbert, Utah Duckworth, with Gilbert, suffered a fractured collarbone.

Firemen found several persons tossing on dirt when they answered a trash fire alarm in the alley in the 300 block between Main and Sumner streets Friday evening. Saturday morning they found a well organized bucket brigade in full swing at 704 San Jacinto. Little damage accrued at the latter place.

Blind Men Hold Officers At Bay

MEXICO CITY, March 8 (AP)—One hundred blind men armed with a weird miscellany of weapons barricaded themselves in their government-operated school today and engaged in a brief but furious battle with police and firemen before being overpowered.

Several policemen were wounded by knives, stones and clubs. About 20 men were arrested and the others were sent to other institutions. The school was closed.

The blind were reported to have protested against government plans to repair the institution's dormitory, which would have required them to live temporarily in restricted quarters. School authorities, however, said the uprising was caused by "agitators."

County Schools Get $1 Apportionment

Another $1 on the current state apportionment brought $1,069 to the common school districts of Howard county Saturday.

Ann Martin, county superintendent, said that the payment brought to $13 the amount paid on the 1940-41 apportionment and ranged between $8 and $182 for the districts.

Oklahoma Crude Production Down

TULSA, Okla., March 8 (AP)—Oklahoma crude oil production declined 6,875 barrels daily during the past week to a total of 402,800 barrels a day, the Tulsa World reports.

Kansas production dropped 11,000 barrels daily to 121,500 barrels.

as if it was an already established fact. "I think it would be nice to announce it soon, Roger," she had said.

Roger tried to recover his emotions at that time. There had been no other girl he liked as well as Emily. Probably all this stuff about a grand passion was foolishness. There wasn't such a thing. His mother and father adored Emily as the daughter they had never had.

So he had watched Winthrop Ramsey show the Cochrane Beddingtons and Kerry Blues that day in a glamorous haze. He was to be an engaged man!

Roger bought the ring for Emily next day.

Well, it hadn't been Emily's fault any more than it had been his. As a matter of fact it really hadn't been very far to her.

Strange Request
Finally Emily looked up at him, a strange expression on her misery-masked face.

"Roger," she said in a very small voice, "I want you to do something for me."

Roger looked at her, waiting for her to go on. He dared not say he would. She might ask something he couldn't do—like give Lovely up.

"I want to see her. I want you to take me up there. Now." Her voice came in little broken pieces with fast sibilant breaths.

Roger wasn't sure he had heard aright. He stared at Emily.

"I want to see her, Roger," she insisted. "I must see her."

"But," hesitatingly, "I can't do that."

"Why not?" her hands moved out in the dimness of the room like pale ghosts of appeal. "Why not, Roger? We're two girls in love!" she paused and changed it, "who want the same man. If I thought she really loved you—"

she paused thoughtfully. It was a long time before she went on. Blaise had gotten up, tired of inactivity and strolled from the room.

"Roger," finally, "I think we have a right to see each other. You have belonged to me first. I have a right to see the girl I give you up to, if I must give you up." The last scarcely above a whisper.

Emily showed a firmness that Roger had never suspected existed under her soft pretty exterior. There were depths of sustaining metal there he'd never touched before. He was to see more of that quality as months wore on.

$25,000 Deal In Mitchell Oil Pool Reported

Consummation of a deal for $25,000 in cash and oil for 278 1-2 acres of land in the Dockery and Robbins oil pool of northwest Mitchell county was reported Saturday.

E. F. Robbins, Big Spring, and R. T. Dockery, Colorado City, got $95 an acre for the spread in three tracts from F. W. Merrick, independent oil operator of Ardmore, Okla. The division in cash and oil was not disclosed.

Previously Merrick had picked up 284 acres from Ollie Williams, Big Spring, and Bill Bonner, Fort Worth, south of the acreage acquired from Dockery and Robbins. Included in the deal just completed were the west 1-2 or 132 acres out of G. H. McGinnis subdivision 18, George J. Reiger survey, and a 73-acre and a 73 1-2 acre tract out of C. O'Keefe subdivision, George J. Reiger survey. Both were in proven areas.

Also pending were deals with an Oklahoma City group for the northeast half of section 88-97, H&TC, and for the east 80 acres out of the southeast quarter of section 81-97, H&TC to a Detroit man, said Robbins.

36th Division Nearly Complete

BROWNWOOD, March 8 (AP)—Camp Bowler's 36th division was only some 200 men from full strength of 18,801 officers and men tonight as 800 trainees, received from Fort Sill and Fort Bliss the past week, settled into routine.

The 11th cavalry, official sources said, needs some 450 men for full strength and probably will secure them from Iowa.

Construction work at the camp was 95 per cent complete at quitting time today.
