Jeffs taken to hospital for emergency treatment

Warren Jeffs, the jailed leader of the Fundamentalist Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints received emergency medical treatment Sunday morning, according to a story in The Spectrum and Daily News from St. George, Utah.

Jeffs, who once prophesied that he would die in prison, was transported by Fire and Rescue of Hurricane, Utah at about 6:30 a.m. to the Dixie Regional Medical Center in St. George where he was kept for several hours as he underwent treatment.

Jeffs was returned to his cell at about 10:00 a.m. after doctors cleared him to return to the Purgatory Correctional Facility.

Jail officials note that Jeffs had not previously reported any medical concerns. However, on Sunday morning the jail's medical staff checked Jeffs for "heart problems." The call for an ambulance also reportedly cited heart-related problems after jail personnel found him "distressed."

Jeffs was under heavy guard the whole time, as extra officers, including members of the Washington County SWAT team, were called in to ensure Jeff remained in custody.

Jeffs is considered by Washington

County officials to be a "high profile" inmate which qualifies him to be held alone in a special cell. Before his capture Jeffs was on the FBI's Ten Most Wanted Fugitive's List. He successfully eluded capture for months before being captured during a routine traffic stop on Interstate Highway 15 just outside Las Vegas, Nevada.

Jeffs is being held in the Purgatory Correctional Facility on two charges of Rape as an Accomplice in connection with his role in arranging and performing underage marriages within his fundamentalist Mormon sect. He is facing similar charges in Arizona and is also being held on two federal charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. A district court found last month that Utah has sufficient evidence to hold Jeffs for trial. His trial there is slated to begin in April of this year. It is unknown when Jeffs will appear before an Arizona court.

Most of Jeffs followers live in the communities of Hildale, Utah and Colorado City, Arizona. The two towns are in reality just one that straddles the Utah/Arizona border. Before being incorporated as towns, the community was known as Short Creek. A group

FNB Eldorado recognized for 100 years of service

One hundred years ago a group of Schleicher County pioneers joined together to found The First National Bank of Eldorado. Today, the institution they established, continues to serve the residents of Eldorado and Schleicher

Curt Nelson, senior vice president of the Independent Bankers Association of Texas came to Eldorado last week to recognize FNB's 100 years of service and to honor its shareholders, officers and employees for their dedication to the community.

Nelson met Wednesday, January 24th with First National Bank's president Hyman D. Sauer and presented him with a formal resolution from IBAT denoting the bank's century of service to Eldorado and Schleicher County. (See resolution

The bank held a three-day long anniversary party in conjunction with the event. A number of the bank's current and former leaders and shareholders were on hand to meet and greet Nelson. Among those present was Jo Ed Hill, the bank's former president and director. His father, Ed Hill, served as the bank's fourth president.

Others on hand for the occasion included: Maxine Page, wife of former director James Page and mother of current director Martha Sue Oliver; Danell McCormack, longtime former employee & officer, and daughter of the bank's fifth president Leslie Baker; Ed Meador, former director and grandson of C.L. Meador, who was one of the bank's original stockholders; Jeanne Snelson, former employee and officer, current director and granddaughter of former president Ed Hill; Lynn Meador, current director and great-grandson of C.L. Meador; Bobby Helmers, current director; and Hyman D. Sauer, the bank's seventh and current president and chairman of the board.

First National Bank of Eldorado came to be in 1907 when it was formed by a group of businessmen. A list of the men's names reads like a Who's Who from Eldorado's early days. Included in the founding shareholders were W.B. Silliman, R.W. Murchison, C.L. Meador, C.C. Doty, John Rae, S.I. Nicks, I.H. Elder, F.L. Cozzens, R.R. Russell, J.B. Christian, Sol Mayer, M.B. McKnight, C.H. Murphy, William Bevans, John F. Isaacs and Abe Mayer.

The men organized the bank and capitalized it with $30,000. M.B. McKnight was selected as the bank's first president. One of the bank's first transactions was the purchase of land and the construction of a new rock building that would serve as the institution's home until 1942. The original 1907 bank building stands to this day, just across the street from the present bank building on the first block of Southwest Main Street. The 1907 building is presently owned by Bill McCutcheon.

On July 11, 1913, another bank, the First State Bank of Eldorado, was merged into The First National Bank. The old FSB bank building stood at the corner of Southwest Main Street and West Gillis on the site now occupied by Mittel Insurance Agency. Following the merger the bank's capital stock was listed at $75,000.00.

First National Bank moved out of its original building in 1942 when it relocated to a new building across the street on the corner of Southwest Main and E. Gillis. That building, along with an addition that was built in 1964, was demolished only last year.

The bank's present building was opened in 1982 and has served as the institution's home for the past quarter

The 100 years since the founding of First National Bank have brought steady change to Eldorado. There have been droughts and floods, booms and busts, depressions and war. Through it all FNB has strived to keep up with the changing needs of its customers.

Today, FNB customers have a vast array of banking services available to them. In addition to traditional deposit accounts and lending services that everyone is accustomed to, the bank now offers Internet Banking and Free Online Bill Pay, features that allow customers to take care of their banking business when and where it is convenient for them.

For his part, FNB president Hyman Sauer says the bank will continue looking for ways to meet the evolving needs of its customers.

"As times change and technology advances, it's important that we move forward, too," Sauer stated. "But our primary mission remains the same as it was in 1907 — meeting the needs of our customers in Eldorado and West Texas."

First National Bank of Eldorado has been led by seven presidents since its founding: M.B. McKnight; W.B. Silliman; J.B. Christian; J.E. Hill; Leslie L. Baker; Jo Ed Hill and Hyman Sauer.

Wes Perryman of Red Oak, Texas claimed the "King Award" for best Elvis impersonator during the 1st annual "All the King's Clones" festival held here last weekend.

Elvis look-alikes, wannabes and near-misses descend on Eldorado

Some of them looked like Elvis... sort of. Others only looked like Elvis if you squinted really hard and turned your head just right. But most of them didn't look like Elvis at all. Not the young Elvis, the Las Vegas Elvis, the skinny Elvis or the fat Elvis. Not even Elvis if he had lived. But it didn't matter. Everyone had fun and that was the point of the whole exercise at the first annual "All the King's Clones" festival held last Saturday and Sunday in the Memorial Building.

Jim Runge, the event organizer, said the turnout was better than he had for his first Elgoatarod festival in 2003, a fact that he says bodes well for the future of the festival here in Eldorado.

Elvis impersonators and Elvis fans were on hand from as far away as Houston. Others attended from Austin, Dallas, Fort Worth, Fredericksbug, San Marcos, Tulia, Stephenville, Lubbock, Waxahachie and Canyon Lake. And, of course, Eldorado was well represented with Eldorado's own Bob "Elvis" Lester and Jim "Elvis" Runge and a number of winners in several Elvis contest categories.

82-year old Naomi Dodson of Eldorado won the "Best Original Song" competition with her compilation of the events of Elvis' life sung to the tune of SEE ELVIS ON PAGE 8

Controlling Cancer in Texas

by U.S. Sen. John Cornyn

Good news on a subject that often can mean bad news came this month from the American Cancer Society. The downward trend of cancer-related deaths first reported in 2003 continued in 2004.

This positive news should provide hope to Texans that patients can survive cancer—especially if it is detected early. What's more, this downward trend indicates that America's grassroots efforts to control the disease are indeed making a difference.

The news media plays a vital role. This month, Harvard University released a study-well-reported in the media-suggesting tobacco companies have increased the rate of nicotine delivered in cigarettes. Information of this nature underscores the grassroots efforts in our state, ensuring our citizens know of smoking's close link with cancer-related illness and death.

We have many resources in Texas that help educate consumers and researchers about the disease. To name just a few: the renowned M. D. Anderson Cancer Center in Houston, the Southwest Oncology Group in San Antonio and the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation in Dallas.

These organizations and their peers across the state have set the standard for cancer prevention, early detection, research and treatment efforts throughout the nation—and even the world.

But additional, significant efforts to educate Americans about this important issue are carried out daily by a dedicated army of less well-known professionals and volunteers. They deserve our deep gratitude.

One clearinghouse in this education campaign is the Texas Comprehensive Cancer Control Coalition, an Austin-based group that unites public, non-profit and private efforts to ensure initiatives to battle the disease are targeted, efficient and successful.

One of the coalition's primary goals is to implement the Texas Cancer Plan. This nationally recognized blueprint was developed by more than 80 cancer experts throughout the state. It aims to reduce the impact of cancer on Texans and their

The Plan provides professionals and educators throughout Texas with comprehensive cancer-prevention information to ensure early detection and treatment. It's the basis for many local public education efforts in Texas.

In January, many educators and volunteers have worked to promote Cervical Cancer Prevention Month. Efforts are also underway to ensure women know that cervical cancer is highly preventable through healthy behaviors, screenings and even drug therapy.

Other volunteers have partnered with media outlets to increase awareness about prevention and early detection. These education campaigns are but a few examples of efforts in Texas communities to combat the disease.

The Texas Comprehensive Cancer Control Coalition provides a helpful resource on its Web site, "Inventory of Activities," providing information on community-based cancer education efforts in Texas.

For instance, Texas A&M University System Health Science Center offers the "Spit Tobacco Prevention Network," volunteers working to eliminate spit or chewing tobacco statewide. Nicotine cessation programs are planned this year in East Texas and the Panhandle.

Volunteers from the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston manage the Cancer Nutrition Network, providing rural populations with information about the relationship between cancer prevention and nutrition.

Advertising doesn't cost, it pays!

We get lots of people in the newspaper office wanting to place a classified ad to sell one thing or another. Occasionally they ask us to help them word the ad. I'm always hesitant to do that and here's why.

Now there's a family you wouldn't want to marry into. And... here's another.

Dinner Special: Turkey $2.35; Chicken or Beef $2.25; Children $2.00.

Here are a couple of automobile ads that will leave you scratching your head

For Sale: 1964 Ford pickup. No seat or steering wheel. Perfect for rancher who has lost his butt and doesn't know where to turn.

Used Cars: Why go elsewhere to be cheated? Come here first!

So you want your ad to get attention? Okay. This one is guaranteed to get attention.

FOR SALE: Antique desk. Suitable for lady. With thick legs and large drawers.

Here's another in that same

For Sale One set of mixing bowls. Designed to please a cook with round bottom for efficient beating.

Then there are the animal ads. Animals for sale. Lost pets. All sorts of critters.

For Sale: Eight puppies from a German Shepherd and an Alaskan Dog for Sale: Eats anything. Especially fond of children.

LOST: One ostrich. Likes to tear down fences. Last seen headed toward town. If found, please shoot.

REWARD OFFERED. LOOK-ING FOR cute and cuddly bunny. Missing from hutch. If found please call Hugh Hefner.

Alright, so that last one wasn't for an animal, but you can see how it would end up in the wrong category, right?

Sometimes an ad may say too much. Like this one placed by a mechanic who was probably better with a wrench than he was with words.

Auto Repair Service: Try us once -- you'll never go anywhere else again.

This one leaves me with more questions than answers. Something must have gotten lost in the translation.

Now is your chance to have your ears pierced and get an extra pair to take home too!

I'm not sure if this next one is an employment ad or a personal

Making Sheep into Movie Stars

The folks down under have turned agriculture into show business. On two different occasions in New Zealand we saw a sheep show. The first one was at what is called a sheep station. Here it would be called a mansion, with beautiful gardens, tall graceful trees and green grass you could see for acres. It was on an island near Queenstown only approachable by boat.

We dined in the mansion's main dining room beneath crystal chandeliers. The entrée of the gourmet meal was lamb, with a choice of shank or sliced. We were in one of the country's best grape growing regions, so local wines accompanied the meal.

Around sundown we wondered over to the demonstration area. A border collie herded sheep over an immense pasture that had a small mountain at one end. That's where the sheep tried to go, but the Border collie brought them to the two pens in front of the crowd. A man with a microphone gave the dog commands. We heard his whistles and shouts.

He then invited everyone into a small theater and he walked on stage, put on some leather pants, grabbed a huge sheep and sheared it, giving humorous commentary as he did so. When he finished he took the blanket of wool, all in one piece, and spread it out on a table for the crowd to touch. We then went to a store attached to the theater to shop for woolen items and souvenirs.

The second sheep show was in what is called The Agridome near Rotarua. It is a huge place with seats for more than a thousand. It was a full house. Nearly every seat was taken. Nine different breeds of sheep were tethered on stage in a stair step formation with Merino, the best, being at the top. Again, the sheep shearer was a comedian and got the audience involved in what he was doing. He sheared a sheep, then auctioned it off. The person who bought it was from a cruise ship and had no way of getting the sheep home. So he gave her a chocolate sheep for being a good sport. He then brought a cow on stage and had different people from the audience come up and milk it. The Agridome is on a huge sheep ranch that has a café and big souvenir store. New Zealand has 40 million sheep, which are the basis for the country's main industry.

We had a fabulous trip. We cruised, took overnight visits to some interesting places, visited friends and made new ones. It was fascinating to see the night sky from a different angle. Onboard ship one night we saw the Southern Cross, visible only in the southern hemisphere. We saw The Remarkables, a mountain range where Lord of the Ring was filmed. We saw geysers on the upper island, reminding us of Yellowstone. The country might be the most beautiful place I've ever seen. It is full of lakes and orchards and vineyards and lush green hills and vibrant young people. We've already started thinking about our next trip over there. It's only a 10 hour flight from LA to Auckland.

Speaker picks chairs, members for House committees

AUSTIN — It took a couple of weeks to see how House Speaker Tom Craddick's somewhat contentious reelection would TEXAS PRESS ASSOC play out.

Craddick announced his picks for chairs and committee assignments on Jan. 26.

The Mid land Republi can sur-vived a challenge that vaporized on Jan. 10, the second day of the 80th Texas Legislature, and was elected to a third term.

HIGHLIGHTS

Rep. Jim Pitts, R-Waxahachie, made a run against Craddick but bowed out in the 11th hour, before a final vote.

Craddick reassigned Pitts and rewarded loyalists. Pitts served at Craddick's pleasure in the 2005 session as chairman of the state budget-writing House Appropriations Committee.

Craddick named Rep. Warren Chisum, R-Pampa, to replace Pitts as chair and kept Rep. Jim Keffer, R-Eastland, as chairman of House Ways & Means, the committee charged with raising revenue.

Without Craddick's post-challenge support, Pitts used his own seniority to secure a non-leadership post on Ways & Means.

Here are a few of Craddick's other chair appointments:

· Beverly Woolley, R-Houston, Calendars, the committee that serves as gatekeeper for bills to move to the House floor;

• David Swinford, R-Amarillo, State

• John Smithee, R-Amarillo, Insur-

• Rob Eissler, R-The Woodlands, Public Education;

• Mike Krusee, R-Round Rock; Transportation;

· Aaron Pena, D-Edinburg, Criminal Jurisprudence; and

• Patrick Rose, D-Dripping Springs, Human Services.

Perry applauds appraisal ideas

Gov. Rick Perry on Jan. 23 praised his Task Force on Appraisal Reform on the release of its report recommending that lawmakers pass five statutory changes and two constitutional changes to fix what some have called a "broken system."

The recommendations, from a governor's office news release:

• Require voter approval for any local taxing entity (excluding schools) to charge or collect revenues from ad valorem taxes in excess of the approved prior year 's budgeted tax revenue, plus 5 percent;

• Improve fairness and consistency in the appraisal process. Appraisal boards would be comprised of five members, including two taxpayer representatives, and taxpayers would have new options in challenging property valuations.

• Change the comptroller's property valuation study, which is used to equitably distribute state funding to schools and provide uniformity in local property appraisal practices.

• Prohibit the state from passing unfunded mandates to local govern-

Drew Bosmans also went to the boards and pulled in more rebounds than the Panthers' total.

The Eagles also tallied three blocked shots on the night.

In the end it would be turnovers, 19 of them, that hurt the Eagles as Ft. Stockton proved to be a tenacious non-district opponent.

Coach Rene Valeriano took the loss in stride. "Ft. Stockton was very physical and they took us out of our game, but on a positive note we can learn a lot from this and hopefully improve on our mistakes and get better."

The Lady Eagles hammered out vent a 48-38 loss to the Menard 12 points in the first quarter before Lady Yellowjackets on Friday, stumbling on offense throughout January 26, 2007 in their home the middle of the game. They had another 12 point run in the fourth, Chelsey Hill had an 11 point but it wouldn't be enough to close night for the Lady Eagles. So did the gap on Menard.

The loss drops the Lady Eagles district record to 1-4.

Austin—Comptroller Susan Combs asked Sprint this week to stop charging a "Texas Margin Fee Reimbursement" on customers' bills. The charge began appearing on bills this month, in an apparent attempt by the telecommunications company to pass the state's revised franchise tax directly through

"It's not unusual for a company to collect an amount identified as a reimbursement for a tax or a fee," Combs said. "But no such reimbursement for franchise tax has ever been approved by the Comptroller's office."

Combs said the Sprint bill implies that Sprint will pay a one percent tax on its gross receipts. But under the revised franchise tax, the effective tax rate on gross receipts cannot exceed 0.7 percent.

Comptroller Susan Combs Tells Sprint, "Not So Fast"

"Companies are prohibited by law from collecting more from their customers than the amount of tax the company will pay," Combs said.

The Comptroller also pointed out that the term "reimbursement" implies that the tax or fee appearing on customers' bills has already been paid by Sprint. But the state will not begin collecting the revised franchise tax

In a letter to company officials, Combs asked Sprint to drop the new charge from its bills until the Legislature has an opportunity to address the issue.

"Failure to comply...could result in both audit and collection action by this office and a possible injunction by the Texas Attorney General," Combs wrote.

This 58-inch rattlesnake with 16 rattlers and a button was shot on January 26, 2007 on the Koy Ranch west of Eldorado by Koy Adcock of Tennessee, Koy was looking for baby goats when she came upon this rattler which she mistook for a stick at first. She shot the snake with a pistol. Displaying the snake is Tino Hernandez who is employed by the ranch.

The Blotter is a summary of the previous week's activity by the Schleicher County Sheriff's Dept. For practical reasons of time and space, The Blotter does not include every call made to the Sheriff's office, nor does it include routine security checks, minor traffic stops or routine patrols. Accidents of major impact will be reported separately. Subjects reported to have been arrested are presumed innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

Beginning in February, we killer and stroke is the number are planning some exciting things three killer. We have two main in Eldorado Elementary, Middle goals for our heart program this School, and High School for this year. First, we want to educate both students and parents about Eldorado Wellness Center event! making heart healthy choices when As you know, Eldorado is a strong it comes to nutrition and physical supporter of the American Heart activity. Second, we want every-Association's mission of saving one to continue to understand the lives, as well as supporting our lo- importance of community involvecal endeavor of building our own ment which now includes helping our own facility for exercise.

disease is our nation's number one

We ask that you work with your our fight against heart disease and child in setting a goal and collecting stroke in even a bigger way! Heart the money to meet that goal. This is an easy way to raise awareness about heart disease, stroke and the importance of physical fitness while raising money for these great causes.

Another way you can help us educate about heart disease and stroke is to fill out a red heart with a name of someone that they can honor at this event. This could be someone that is making healthy choices (cooks healthy food, exercises, does not smoke, has survived heart disease, or makes donations.) We have also included a white heart for the memory of someone that has passed away from heart child to jump in honor or memory their division. of that person.

All of our campuses are proud to be a part of the fight against heart disease and stroke and to participate in our new building project. The students will be collecting donations from February 1 until February 16.

Thank you for your support! American Heart Association Eldorado Wellness Center

On Sunday, January 28, 2007 during the Select Shot Match Don Richters made a hole-in-one on green #5. Apparently Sam Henderson's shot hit in the same hole but bounced off Richter's ball that was in the hole and landed about 3 inches from the hole. This kept his ball from being a hole-in-one
