SUNSET WEDDING

In a colorful and attractive setting on the vine-covered veranda of the home of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Roach, 1541 Ambler Avenue, Miss Mabel Roach became the bride of Gaston Charles Brock Tuesday evening at sunset. Tall baskets of gladioluses in shades of pink and orchid, tied with fluffs of tulle in the same tints, and a rose entwined trellis over the doorstep, added to the natural loveliness of the scene.

The brides attendants, in their frocks of deep tones of pink and orchid, entered from either side of the house, and gave added beauty to the picturesque service, which was witnessed by scores of friends who were seated on the lawn.

Before an altar of ferns banked on the top step of the porch, the bridal party stood. The Rev. A. C. Powell, pastor of the University Baptist church, read the impressive ring service, with the bride given in marriage by her double cousin, Eldred Roach, of El Dorado.

Nuptial music for the occasion was given by Miss Anna Morris, who sang "O Promise Me" and "Because" preceding the ceremony, with Miss Dorothy Sandefer giving the violin obligato, and Miss Lucile Smith at the piano. Miss Smith played Lohengrin and Mendelssohn wedding music for the processional and recessional, and during the ceremony Miss Sandefer softly played the "Indian Love Call", the strains coming from behind the heavy vines on the porch where the piano was partially hidden.

Miss Sandefer was attractive in a pink organdy frock, bouffant style, and wore a wrist corsage of pink sweet peas. Miss Morris was wearing a bouffant taffeta in flesh and carried an arm shaft of orchid gladioluses. A replica of the brides maids frocks in orchid was worn by Miss Smith. Her flowers were sweet peas and rosebuds encorsage.

Mrs. Yantis Matron

Mrs. Geo. Yantis, sister of the groom, was matron of honor, and Miss Jewel Roach, of El Dorado, double cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Misses Gladys Burk, Edith Word of Ozona, and Lorena Rawls of San Angelo.

The bridesmaids were wearing frocks of pink and orchid satin, basque waists with deep yokes of Chantilly lace, with bouffant skirts favoring the smart uneven hemline of deep lace tipping the heels of silver slippers in the back, and short in front. The skirts were draped on the left side with huge bows of orchid or pink velvet hanging to the hem. Each of the group carried Columbia roses tied in ribbons to harmonize with the frocks. Miss Burk and Miss Word wore pink and Miss Rawls, along with Miss Roach, the maid of honor, orchid.

Junior bridesmaids, Mary Lee and Mildred Roach, sisters of the bride, were wearing frocks of pink georgette, featuring ruffled skirts and basque bodies.

Twins Are Flower Girls

Little Misses Margaret and Majorie Sears, twins, were flower girls, each wearing ruffled georgette frocks finished on the shoulder with a huge bow and carrying tiny baskets tied in tulle. Master John Rodger Geer, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. He wore a suit of white

WILL NOT SUPPORT

AL SMITH

Judge William E. Hawkins, of Breckenridge, candidate for governor has announced that the democratic pledge is not binding on National candidates, the Texas law only applies to Texas candidates. Senator Thomas B. Love, running for Lieutenant Governor, says he will not support Smith for President, and then comes along Cane Johnson, that veteran State leader and state highway commissioner, saying that he will not vote for Smith for President. While Governor Dan Moody and Barry Miller have come out and said that they will vote for Smith.

It seems that politics are beginning to warm up.

satin. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Geer.

Mrs. Yantis was attractive in a Harry Cohen model of coral taffeta, bouffant style skirt long on the right side, and draped to the left with a wide bow, while the basque waist featured a yoke of Chantilly lace in one-sided effect outlined in handsome French flowers. Her slippers were coral satin, and she carried an arm shaft of gladioluses in the same shade.

Bridal Costume

The bride was lovely in a model of satin and lace. The bodice favored a deep yoke of imported laces outlined with rhinestones, and was ornamented in the center of the waistline with a cluster of orange blossoms with ribbon streamers reaching the hem-line. The skirt was draped in folds over slight hoops and was ruffled in lace studded with rhinestones from the hip-line to the uneven hemline, long in the back and short in front. Her slippers were white satin with rhinestone buckles.

Miss Roach also wore a veil of white lace fastened to a coronet of orange blossoms and caught at either side of the face with a cluster of the blossoms. The veil was short, only just touching the grass, but gave a pretty touch to the bridal ensemble. Her bouquet was brides roses and valley lilies with fern and lilies en shower.

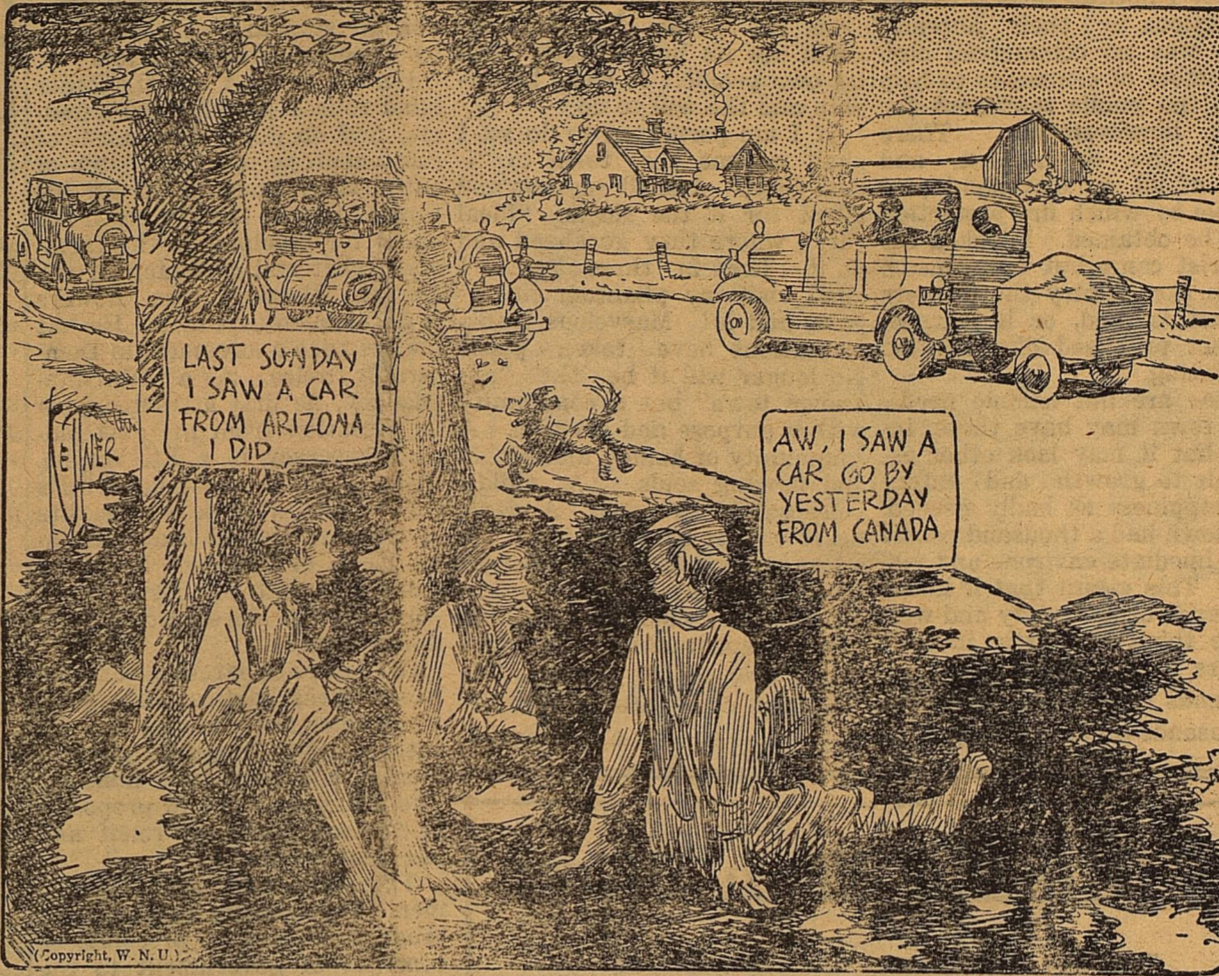

The groom was attended by W. J. Powell, Frank Oxarart of Los Angeles, California, and Lantz Sears along with T. J. Bailey of El Dorado, who was the best man.

Reception Is Held

Immediately after the ceremony members of the bridal party formed the house party in the rooms of the home for a reception. Mr. and Mrs. John S. Roach, parents of the bride headed the group, which also included Mrs. Annie Brock of Sweetwater, mother of the groom. From the living room, pretty with gladioluses and roses in pink and orchid, the guests were shown into the dining room, where the wedding cake, which centered the dining table was cut and served with delicious punch. Tulle in the wedding colors formed streamers from the chandelier to the corners of the table, where clusters of sweet peas gave emphasis to the tones.

Immediately after the reception the bride changed to a frock of navy blue crepe with tan trim and hat and other accessories also in tan and left with the groom for a three week's automobile trip to Colorado, Yellowstone National Park and other

Bert Page has sold his 7 section ranch near Mayer, to Jack Wordlow of Sutton county. We understand that the price was better than $16.00 per acre.

LIONS CLUB.

The Lions Club of Eldorado had its regular luncheon in the Presbyterian church basement, Tuesday July, 3rd. The change from Wednesday, the regular meeting day, to Tuesday was made on account of the Sonora Celebration starting on July 4. The Club had five visitors at the luncheon, Rev. Guy Davis, Pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Eldorado, Rev. L. D. Hardt, pastor of the Methodist church Eldorado, Rev. J. L. Ratliff, of the Baptist church of Eldorado, Dr. Gray, of Brownwood who is assisting in a meeting at the Presbyterian Church and F. M. Bradley, manager of the Bush Motor Co. We are always glad to have visitors to come and enjoy the hour with us.

Dr. Gray made a very interesting talk on the good of the different clubs of this kind.

Only about half the membership was present, some being out of town and the change in the meeting causing some to miss. Every member should attend these meetings if possible. This is a very poor way of keeping an organization going. Attendance is the greatest factor in a growing organization.

The club meets, Wednesday week, July 18th. Every member requested to be present.

C. M. Reynolds was in from the ranch Tuesday buying supplies and trying to locate his eyes. If you have found his glasses please return them, so he can see whats going on.

NOTICE TO ALL CHAP-TER MASONS.

ORAN NICKS SELLS RANCH

Oran Nicks has sold his 640 acre stock farm to J. B. Christian for $21.00 per acre. Mr. Christian is president of the First National Bank and knows the value of Schleicher county land. Mr. Nicks has leased the Otto Williams ranch east of Eldorado.

Local Officers Capture 3 Barrels Liquor and 2000 Gallons Mash

A 500-gallon capacity still, three 40-gallon barrels of finished whiskey and approximately 2,000 gallons of mash were seized by Sheriff Augustine and Deputy Casbeer, Friday night on Live Oak Creek on the H. B. Cox ranch about 35 miles west of Ozona.

Two men and a boy, all white, were arrested and turned over to two federal prohibition officers who assisted in the raid. The prisoners were taken to the Ft. Stockton jail where they later were released on bond pending their appearance in Federal Court, probably at San Angelo.

The still was not in operation when the officers arrived on the scene. Two men who were near the still were arrested. The next morning a 16-year old boy was arrested in connection with the find and lodged in jail at Rankin. A few hours later the boy made his get away from the Rankin jail and so far as officers here had learned, he had not been recaptured. The still and liquor cache was located about three hundred yards from the road, local officers said. — Ozona Stockman.

Rev. L. D. Hardt returned Monday from Rudd where he had been in a 10 days meeting and he reports a goodly number of the people attended, notwithstanding that it was a very busy season of the year.

SOMEBODY IS MISTAKEN

The big meter that our friend Jess Ramey, says he saw fall in east of El Dorado a few miles has been reported to have fallen near Uvalde, shattering windows and etc. J. A. Queen of Big Lake reports that he saw the big ball of fire drop just north of Big Lake. Now who can tell where the darn thing did fall but we have about 5 men that will wager all that it hit the earth some where southeast of El Dorado.

Austin Buck and son Leo, of Silver Valley, were guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. Kent this week. Mr. Buck was on a prospecting trip.

Misses Bean and Raley are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meador this week. They are cousins of Mrs. Meador.

We are very glad to have Mr. Buck come to our town but at the same time regret to see Mr. Finley leave the business that he has carried on for so many years.

ED RATLIFF FINDS SADDLE

A small Mexican boy, living on the Thad Thompson ranch found the saddle that was stolen from Edd Ratliff several days ago. The boy was playing near the old railroad dump and found where something had been buried, with some limbs thrown on it. When it was uncovered he found it to be a saddle. Reporting it to Mr. Etheridge, who is running the ranch they called Sheriff Luedcke who went out and identified the saddle as that of Mr. Ratliff's and returned it to its owner. The saddle was a new one, recently purchased in Brady and cost Mr. Ratliff $125. It was unharmed with the exception of being a little bit dirty. No clue so far has been found as to who stole the saddle and buried it out on the prairie.

"THE UNKNOWN TOWN"
I shall call it the "Unknown Town" or "X-ville." Tho, to be sure, it is not a mythical town, for unfortunately many of them exist. The town I write about may be far up in New England, or in the balmy sunny South, on the Pacific coast, on the base of the Rockies or in agricultural Canada. Never mind where X-ville is, - it is.

When I passed thru this town recently (I am a stranger and tourist) I noticed several things conspicuous by their absence. There was no commercial club or chamber of commerce to help mould the public sentiment for public improvements. There was no fire department, and worst of all, no movement perceptible by which fire protection could be obtained. I looked for a tourist camp but found none. Out in the country the farmers had not learned, or if learned, had not practised diversification of planting.

These are but sample needs. Your town may have these, indeed, but it may lack other essentials to growth and safety and happiness as badly needed. This town had a thousand people in its immediate environs and vicinity. This meant that it had a thousands brains ready and willing to think of inertia in civic matters were present there. A thousands thoughts passed thru a thousands minds - thoughts of betterment, thoughts of progress and development - yet none led to action.

Conditions were fairly prosperous as agricultural prosperity goes. But "X-ville" remained the unknown town in my memory. I saw it from above, from beneath, from the outside and from the inside. I a stranger, could see its needs better than its own people. It lacks leadership and the will to do

If I am permitted to do so, I shall rename that town to "Ideal City." I shall suggest and adopt for it the slogan, "Ideal City" where they go ahead and do it. Then in three years I shall visit my phantom city a gain, and lo! Marvelous transformations have taken place. No longer will it be the "unknown town" but a community with a purpose and a vision. A community of homes, and hearts and flaming souls. A child's voice will be as music. A man's heart will be as the lion. A woman's love will be as a flower. Education, morality, civic pride, cooperative ambition and a growing spirituality will have taken hold of its people. "X-ville" will come into its own birth. Not that a fire depart-

THE EVELOUTION

OF PARANORMALISM.

Key-note speeches, their cracking tones reverberating to and cranny of America and the border countries by means of a national broadcast hook-up, have sounded in certain terms the issues between the Democratic and Republican parties.

Senator Foss, with his usual fiery, yet dignified language, key noted the Republican delegation and radio listeners with a challenging tone of defiance to all who might turn from the Republican standard as carried on by Coolidge administration.

Claude Bowers, on the other hand roused his personal listeners, and no doubt thousands of radio hearers, to a high pitch of enthusiasm when he struck his famous phrase that "we will not stand for reaching in the farmers pocket and clutching at the farmers throat." Mr. Bowers is an eloquent speaker. He has always been a key-noter in Democratic circles. As a plain Indiana boy, he first attracted public attention from his expounded Democracy in a Ft. Wayne, Indiana daily newspaper. He then wrote a book on the life of the late United States Senator Kern, of Indiana. From Indiana he went to New York where he has since become a national figure.

The issues apparently vary between these parties, all good Americans are wanting the identical same things in governmental efficiency and honesty. The differences are in proposals of various forms of relief and administration.

The real issues nowadays are men. Partizanism has emerged from fundamental precepts or concepts of government to the political worship of personalities. It is Hoover, Lowden, Smith, Borah, Reed, Dawes, Curtis, Robinson and other personalities that keep in the public eye and in the public mind. All of these men are good citizens and good Americans. It is not a question of the overthrow of government, or of a change in its form. It has come to be a question of men, a matter of personalities. In this, history is repeating itself. Alexander, Caesar, Napoleon, Cromwell, Washington, Jefferson, Solomon, Lincoln, Jackson, Hamilton and other types held the front stage. It was thru personalities that issues found their avenue for expression and accomplishment. It will always be thus.

Try as we may, we can not separate the human element in society nor in government. Even Hoover, now the idol of Republicanism, was a few years ago considered almost neutral as between the two recognized parties of America. Thousands even thought of him as a Democrat, ment, or a chamber of commerce or diversified farming will of themselves do these things; but their inauguration and establishment will be but an index of the greater character and spiritual nature of its citizens.

Mr. H. L. Mencken, the earnest "up lifter" of Baltimore, visited Ft. Worth the other day. While he was there he gave out some of his characteristic fulminations to the daily press.

Among other things he avowed his earnest support of Al Smith. We infer from the drift of his remarks that he thinks the presidency of Smith would bring about conditions in this country which would make it easier for a man to get a drink of whiskey when and where he pleased.

That Mencken would fall in on the side of Smith is no surprise to anybody. Mencken doesn't like the South. He refers to it superciliously as the 'Bible Belt'. Al Smith being far removed geographically, socially, intellectually and religiously from the 'Bible Belt' is an admirable candidate for the presidency in the judgement of Mr. Mencken—Texas Christian Advocate.

Native Texan Heads W. O. W. Hospital

Dr. C. J. Koerth

Dr. Charles J. Koerth, assistant physician of the two million dollar Woodmen of the World War Memorial hospital at San Antonio, has been appointed medical director of the hospital, succeeding the late Dr. H. Phil Hall.

Announcement was made of Dr. Koerth's appointment by Sovereign Commander W. A. Fraser. The War Memorial hospital is one of the finest medical institutions of its kind in the country, specializing in the treatment of tuberculosis. It is owned and operated by the Woodmen of the World Life Insurance association. It was built in memory of the thousands of members of W. O. W. who served during the World War.

At this modern hospital, located on an excellent and beautiful site in San Antonio, afflicted members of the Woodmen of the World are given free treatment for tuberculosis and other diseases. Since May, 1923, when the hospital was opened, over 3,500 patients have been treated and hundreds have been restored to health and usefulness.

Dr. Koerth, who is a native Texan, is 32 years of age. He is a graduate of the Jefferson medical college of Philadelphia and received his Bachelor of science degree from Texas A. & M. He is active in the medical field and is a member of various medical associations, including the American Medical association. His papers, written on the treatment of various stages of tuberculosis and other pulmonary diseases, have had a wide circulation.

NERVES

Went to Pieces

"I suffered a long time, before I tried Cardui," says Mrs. Lillie Pruitt, 130 "K" St., Anderson, S. C.

"I was badly run-down in health. My nerves 'went to pieces', and I had to go to bed.

"I got so bad off, I could not bear to have anybody walk across the floor of my room. The least little thing upset me. Sometimes I became hysterical. I had bad pains in my back and sides, and my head and limbs would take spells of aching, which almost set me wild.

"One day I saw where a woman, who had a trouble like my own, had been relieved by Cardui. I decided at once to try it. It began to help me from the very first. I took Cardui regularly, for several months, and my improvement was so remarkable my family and friends were delighted." Try Cardui for your troubles.

VAST INDUSTRIES TRACE ORIGIN TO NAPOLEONIC WARS

Two Staple Foods Result From Privations During Crises in France.

Chicago.—Wars of the two Napoleons gave the United States two staple food commodities on which American housewives spend millions of dollars every day, according to a bulletin issued here by the American Research Foundation.

"Beet sugar which Americans consume to the extent of 2,000,000,000 pounds annually was the contribution of Napoleon I," says the bulletin, "while margarine of which we use 250,000,000 pounds yearly was made possible by Napoleon III in the stormy days of the Franco-Prussian war."

Mege-Mouries.

"The principle of crystallizing sugar from beets was discovered by Andrew Marggraf, a German scientist, in 1747, but Napoleon I was the first to give commercial application to the discovery in his wars against England for world supremacy. The British naval blockade prevented cane sugar from the tropics from reaching France and confronted the nation with a sugar famine.

"So Napoleon determined to make France independent of other countries for its sugar supply by utilizing sugarbeets. He set aside huge tracts of land, compelled the planting of sugar beets by imperial decree in 1811 and within two years financed the erection of 334 beet sugar factories.

"Impetus given to beet culture by Napoleon carried the industry to the United States where it was first undertaken at Northampton, Mass., in 1838. From this beginning beet sugar manufacturing has developed into a great American industry representing an investment of $200,000,000 in factories and equipment and production in excess of 900,000 tons of sugar annually.

"Origin of margarine was equally romantic. The siege of Paris by the Prussian army in 1870 threatened starvation to the beleaguered city. Cattle driven inside the walls as a food reserve were being rapidly slaughtered and the life-giving fat was being destroyed. Napoleon III in desperation offered a prize to anyone who would transform the finer fats into a lasting edible product. So Hippolyte Mege-Mouries, a French chemist, discovered a method of imitating nature's process of producing milk fat by combining beef fats, milk, and oil. The result was a food of great palatability which was called margarine.

"The French scientist's discovery failed to save the besieged city but it established a world-wide industry because of the wholesomeness and economy of the product. The Prussians carried the formula for making margarine back to Germany whence it was passed on to England, Denmark, Belgium, and eventually to America.

"From an output of a few thousand pounds, margarine manufacturing in the United States has developed into a major industry with a yearly production valued at more than $60,000,000. About 76,000,000 pounds of milk, 129,130,000 pounds of vegetable oil, 128,000,000 pounds of animal fats, and 39,450,000 pounds of cottonseed oil from American farms, are utilized in the manufacture of margarine every year. Margarine to a very large extent is made from the products of American farms."

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Swell are enjoying a family reunion at the Sewell ranch this week. Those from a distance are Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lowe of Los Angeles, California, Mrs. H. V. Carr, Mrs. E. O. Rodgers and husband and Mrs. Jack Connolly of San Antonio. This makes all of the children present at the family reunion.

Mrs. E. B. Newsom visited in Vernon last week, but due to the sand storms which have been had there the past few weeks she cut her visit short and is now home.

Miss Marguarete Kent who has been visiting at Silver Valley, returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. John I. Smith returned the last of last week from an outing on the San Saba, where they met Ben Smith and family and Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Jefferies of Brady, and Mr. and the Jim Kid of Loyal Valley. The party all enjoyed a nice fish together and had plenty of fish to eat, and report landing a 40 lb. yellow cat.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lowe of Los Angeles, California are visiting on the P. W. Swell ranch this week. Mr. Lowe made The Success office an appreciated visit Friday. He has been on the western coast for 5 years and says their country out there is growing, but notes many wonderful changes in the old home town El Dorado.

AMERICAN SHEEP MEN HAVE MUCH TO LEARN FROM FOREIGN RIVALS

In spite of having to sell sheep products in unprotected world markets and of facing greater and numerous problems than do American sheep men, the wool producers of New Zealand, Australia and South Africa are receiving higher prices for their products and making more money than American competitors, was the conclusion drawn by J. F. Walker of the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics in a talk to livestock men at Texas A. and M. College Monday morning. Mr. Walker, who is Secretary of the Ohio Sheep Growers Association, made a trip to those countries last year to study the sheep industry for the Bureau and his talk here is the only one to be made in Texas at this time according to J. M. Jones of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station who presided.

The main reasons attributed by Mr. Walker for the greater success of these foreign competitors is that they have learned to breed a lighter shrinkage wool of uniform quality, to class their wools so that the buyer secures only one type in buying a lot, and because they have learned how to cooperate in merchandising their products. "They were amazed," the speaker said, "to learn that sheep men in America with more favorable opportunities such as nearness to market and a heavy tariff had done so little toward the concentration, grading and joint selling of wool.

"The outlook for the wool industry is very bright," Mr. Walker declared "for consumption has outstripped the production of this staple in the last few years. An eight year's world supply of wool has been consumed in the last seven years. There is little likelihood of New Zealand, Australia or South Africa expanding their sheep production to any degree and the only probable sources of increased supplies are in the United States and South America.

"In New Zealand marketing is in the hands of a control board made up largely of producers. They work on the theory that the man who pays the fiddler has the right to call the tune, in other words, give the consumer what he wants. Accordingly they grade very closely, penalizing all carcasses that weigh less or more than 30 to 36 pound dressed. They receive less for their dressed muttons than Americans do for live weight yet out of the 19 cents per pound paid wholesale for mutton in London in December 1927 the New Zealand producer received 16 cents. Of the three cents margin half went for freight. In spite of lower prices for their products New Zealanders pay more for what they buy and yet prosper in the sheep business. Ford cars sell for $850, gasoline is 50 to 60 cents per gallon, and farm machinery is one third higher than in this country.

"Australian sheep men are up against a hard proposition. They have been forced inland by government land settlement legislation until they are ranching on land with less than 20 inches annual rainfall and much of it with less than 10 inches. Graduated land taxes force them to pay much higher per acre taxes than small farmers, the rabbit and dog pests force them to erect expensive fences; their labor costs are high because of the government minimum wage law of $20 per week for an eight hour day and Saturday afternoon off; and the government forces them to maintain up-to-date shearing houses with a bath for each four shearers, the cost of such buildings running up to $8000 to 15,000. In a total population of six millions nearly one fourth are supported by government pensions, and this in a new country! The per capita tax last year in Australia was $70. Yet in spite of all this and droughts and distance to markets besides the sheep industry is the only one paying its own way in Australia. In 1927 their clip averaged 8 8-10 pound per head and netted the grower 35 cents per pound on the average, due to their wonderful system of contraction and grading and auction selling at six points.

"Over in South Africa there are 40 million sheep or a sheep population about 8 times as dense as in the United States. Their big trouble there is parasites and diseases, many producers having to drench their flocks twice a month for stomach worms. Labor is cheap but not worth much with common farm laborers drawing from $2.50 to $5.00 monthly. The black population outnumbers the white 20 to 1 and the whites are divided between Englishmen and Boers. Yet they have learned to cooperate in concentrating their wool in great warehouses where it is graded and sold gradually throughout the year. Last year South African producers received 40 cents per pound for their better wools in the grease."

"One of the greatest aids to the sheep industry in these countries," Mr. Walker said, "is the fine college training they give their boys in sheep flock management and wool grading. Such work should be increased in America where now there are only four colleges giving special wool work.—Texas, Wyoming, California and Arizona." "An effort will be made to enlarge and strengthen the course in sheep and wool production and marketing a major course at Texas A. and M. College, according to Dean Kyle who was present.

"American producers can raise the value of the American wool clip 10 cents per pound by better breeding, better preparation of the clip for the market and by better selling methods. Mr. Walker concluded. He was enthusiastic over the start that has been made in Texas and elsewhere in concentrating wool for sale but urged that movement take on larger proportions to cover the entire United States and that careful grading and merchandising be added.—College Station.

How Much to Keep Average Work Horse?

Feed Bill Was Largest Item in Recent Iowa Survey.

It cost $98.24 in 1926 to keep the average farm work horse when feed, labor in care, housing and interest on the investment were included. At least this was the average cost which a group of 22 Iowa county farmers found who kept complete cost accounts in co-operation with the agricultural economics department of Iowa state college and the United States Department of Agriculture.

The feed bill was the largest item, amounting to $59.61. Labor in caring for the horse was $15.58, the charge for the use of buildings was $8.13 and interest $6.91.

The cost of horse labor per hour varied on these 22 farms from 63 to 18 cents per hour and averaged 12 cents. In 1925 the average cost was 13.5 cents, or slightly higher. The reduction in 1926 was due to the farmers using their horses to better advantage. They secured 892 hours of labor per horse in 1926 as compared with 820 in 1925.

As in 1925, the farms with the lowest cost per hour of horse labor in 1926 used tractors as well as horses. That is, the use of a tractor on some of these farms increased the efficiency of the horses. Also, some of the farms with the lowest total cost of labor per acre of crops used a combination of horses and tractors.

The number of crop acres handled per horse varied from 13 to 39 on the 22 farms. The average was 23.2 or about two acres more per horse than were handled the previous year.
