Spencer - Ashmore

Last Friday evening Mr. Edgar Spencer and Miss Jake Ashmore motored to San Angelo where they were united in marriage by the Rev. Paul Ray, Baptist Missionary preacher. They left immediately after the ceremony from the home of the bride at Rockwood, where they spent the holidays.

Miss Ashmore has been in the Bailey Ranch Community for the past two years teaching. She is a sister of Hop Ashmore of that community and is an accomplished young woman with many virtues who has made many friends in our community. Mr. Spencer is a promising young ranchman of the Bailey Ranch Community and is honored by all who have known him, has been here in our midst some 20 years. They will live on the Spencer ranch upon returning home where the bride will finish her school work.

ACCIDENTS AND DEPRESSION

In the height of boom times, accidents are a costly luxury. And in depressed times they work an intolerable hardship on both individual workmen and industry. Every accident costs money. Every one lowers plant efficiency and morale. Every one makes hard times just a little harder on those involved. The plant that enforces the gospel of accident prevention increases efficiency and profits.

The experience of the past three years has shown that while accidents naturally increase with industrial activity, they do not decrease proportionately with lessened output. The mental obstacle seems to be the trouble. Men who are uncertain about their jobs and their futures are men ready for an accident. And when it comes, it adds another mite to human distress.

Every employer, foreman and executive should give intensive and increased effort to his accident prevention program. The mere guarding of machinery is not enough—a genuine "safety consciousness" on the part of workers is the main thing. This is a good time to begin establishing new highs in accident prevention in factories.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Isaacs were called to Kerrville to the funeral of Mrs. Isaacs' grandfather. They returned Monday.

Miss Gladys Patton spent the holidays with her parents Dr. and Mrs. Patton. She is teaching in the San Angelo school.

SLIDES OF ROCK PERIL TO WHOLE COLORADO PEAK

(Dallas News)
DURANGO, Colo., Dec. 27.—Tremendous rock slides are tossing an entire mountain into the Animas Valley south of here.

The thunderous rumble of the slides is heard for miles as thousands of tons of rock, dirt and trees plunge to the level floor of the valley, threatening to block the tracks of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railroad and the river which flows beside them.

The slides began more than a week ago and since then have increased, until now about 100 tons of debris are hurtling into the valley daily. The rocky glacier is within 1,000 feet of the tracks.

Persons near the mountain when the movement began reported they heard a deep subterranean explosion. Then a huge crack opened near the top of the peak which is a part of the La Plata range. The slides have increased to such an extent that the entire face of the mountain has been carried into the valley. Along one side of the new face of the peak, a fissure has opened and a huge section of solid rock is balanced precariously, seemingly ready to tumble into the valley momentarily. It weighs thousands of tons.

Thus far the slides have caused no damage, the country in which the peak is located being sparsely settled. Prospectors and mining men, however fear they may presage similar activity among other peaks of the La Plata range where many rich coal and gold mines are located.

Mountaineers in the region formulate no authoritative explanation for the slides. Some, however, believe coal mine workings at the base of the peak have so weakened the structure that it is toppling over because of lack of support. They were of the opinion a new fault had appeared in the near-by mountain.

Miss Grace Ratliff who is attending school at Denton is at home for the holidays.

Seeking Cotton Reduction

Several states are in Conference at Memphis Tenn., as we go to press trying to devise plans to reduce the cotton acreage. Just what will be accomplished is yet to be seen. There is a problem that wise men cannot solve as most every other farm product is about as worthless as cotton. The only adjustment is to be made on each individual farm according to the need of that farm, diversification is the most sure, raise something to use at home, as none of your neighbors are able to buy.

We know nothing and we doubt if those Governors now in session know much more.

FERGUSONS ILL WITH FLU

News dispatches from Austin report that Governor-elect Mrs. Ferguson and Jim have both been suffering with influenza, and their work on appointment has been held up. They have many appointive offices to fill when she goes into office on January 17.

All appointment with friends and office seekers have been canceled for the present.

COTTON GINNED TO DATE

W. R. Nicks No. 1 To Leave Tools In Hole

The W. R. Nicks No. 1 up to date have failed in removing the lost tools from the hole and have drilled by them and will cement them and leave them in the hole, after which they will proceed to deepen the hole to the contract depth below 6,200 feet.

The tools in W. R. Nicks were lost last February and much time and money has been spent in trying to remove them. The hole will probably be making a new depth in a few days.

Why Support Your Schools?

The public schools of the nation belong to the people and the work of the public schools in each community rests largely upon the people's support. Public schools in some communities are being closed today because of the lack of support. The children of those communities are being deprived of a sacred right and privilege—namely, public-school training for first-class American citizenship; preparation to face life honestly, courageously and confidently; training so as to enable one to make a decent living; and finally, training to be of real use and service to one's community.

Appropriate indeed is the statement of Secretary Wilbur:

"In spite of temporary economic difficulties, it is no time for back-tracking in education. It is more vital for us to have better education and more of it to protect us from our own ignorance and follies."

The debt to childhood is well summarized in a recent edition of the New York Times:

"Constantly the public needs to be reminded of the 'eternal debt of maturity to childhood.' Its payment cannot be postponed without loss to the child and to the state of tomorrow. If the school is closed or made inefficient, we shall be dimming the hope of our republic as well as failing in our moral duty to pass on the best that has come to us through the sacrifice of those who have gone before."

The debt to the children of your community is now due and should be paid by furnishing an opportunity to each boy and girl to get a first class education. This debt payment cannot be postponed, discounted or cancelled without great damage to the younger generation.

Youth cannot be turned loose to spend the years between six and eighteen in merely amusing themselves, nor can youth be put into cold storage to await the times of prosperity in which to be educated. There is nothing left to do with youth but educate them. Support yours schools.

Wool Growers Get 14 Cents Top For Clip

Average 12 To 13

A top of 14 cents a pound or better, and an average of 12 to 13 cents is the price reported to have been paid the Wool Growers Central Storage Co., for 2,500,000 pounds of 12 months wool by C. D. Stokes, buyer for Winslow & Co. of Boston. The sale, authoritatively reported yesterday, was the second largest of the year. The price was understood to be 40 cents clean basis and is some 4 cents a grease pound above the spring market.

Schreiner Wool & Mohair Co., of Kerrville sold a 3,000,000 pound clip last spring for the largest deal of the year.

In addition to the sale yesterday the Wool Growers had disposed of a half million pounds to various Boston firms. The wools of the big deal were graded and some individual lots were included. Wool from some of the best graded flocks in the state were included.

Little unsold 12 months wool is left in Texas as the result of the deal. A recent sale at 13-12 cents top was made by Senterfitt & Scott of Lampasas of 350,000 pounds to A. W. Hillard & Son.

Ewes from the 1932 flocks earned $3 a head on the basis of, 12 to 13 cents average for the 2,500,000 pounds sold Monday. This is allowing $2 for the lamb and $1 for the wool.

There remains unsold in the state 500,000 pounds of mohair in the hands of Frank Montague of Bandera.—San Angelo Standard-Times.

DECEMBER 30, 1932

With the passing of this week will end the year of 1932, with all its joy or sorrow, as the case may be, it will be in the past before another issue of The Success reaches you. What we have accomplished may be small or may be large, but the opportunities of 1932 has passed into history. They are gone, but the big new year will begin to unfold new opportunities Sunday morning, it being the first day of the new year, and by-the-way we will have 53 Sundays in the New Year, which gives us an extra Sunday for our good work.

Let's begin Sunday morning to quit whinning about the hard luck or sorrowful disappointments of the year 1932 and think of the bright future of the coming year. It is full of good things for the human race if we will but find them. When selfishness is banished godliness will take its place. Godliness is being honest, paying our obligations as far as it is possible to do so. The man we owe has at one time been our friend, has furnished us the accommodation sought by us and it is not christian or honesty to refuse or deny him or her re-embursement, only in cases of impossibility.

Many of our people and some of our governments are laboring under the idea of blotting out the past financial worries and beginning a new, but our past obligation cannot be paid by wiping off the slate. We made them and we must pay them, and our people and nations of the earth must awake to the fact that honesty is required of all men and nations.

The Success believes that the New Year will show remarkable improvements, not only in the financial world, but in the moral life of our people. The lessons of the past two years will be beneficial to this generation and that the human social life will aright itself and that we will not starve in a land of plenty. We will not get cold in a land of more cotton and wool than we can use. God has given us plenty. Our human society is out of order, it is not functioning right and when we can get back to honesty with our selves and our fellowman our society will probably run smoother.

Schools all over Texas had to turn out early last week on account of flu, in fact the malady was nation wide and many friends through out the country have passed on to the other side. However, our city for the first time in several years passed the Christmas holidays by without a death in our city, or funeral, while some have been called elsewhere on account of death. Our little city has been spared this Christmas. The flu is passing away and the school will begin new next week and we trust that all will be able to get back to the opening with renewed vigor.

Herman Jones of Ft. Stockton spent Christmas in Eldorado visiting friends.

 * * * * GARDEN OF EXPERIENCE * * * * ***

By F. G. Clark

A New Year lies before us! As we approach the door of the new year or as it approaches us, we cannot determine whether we are moving and time is standing still, or that time is moving and we are standing still, it behooves every wise man to pause and consider seriously, the meaning of life. And has he, during the past year, made any progress toward answering the question. If he reflects seriously upon it, he will discover that he has been, is now, and always will be a servant. When a child, he was under the rule of his parents, and sometimes longed for his majority, believing that he would then be free. But, alas, when he stepped out from under parental authority, into the great world, he found he had exchanged a gentle and sympathetic master, for an exacting and heartless one. If he is a business man, he finds himself chained to his desk, most of his waking hours. If he is a ranchman, he finds himself a bond slave to his crops and stock. This is in the business world. In the moral world, he becomes a slave, either to good or to evil. If he is a man of strong passions, he is apt to fall into the temptation's power, and be compelled to do deeds bringing down upon him public punishment, or private, hopeless regrets. He that commits sin is the servant of sin, and of course must take his pay from the devil. If he decides to become the servant of righteousness, God will help him subdue his passions and he may confidentially look forward to wages He has to bestow viz. eternal life.

In the Parable of the talents, Jesus makes it plain that if we are concerned about making the most of life, we must seek, we must seek God as our master and devote our lives to the task of fulfilling His will.

In the parable of the talents, we are not to think that Master was concerned about material gain. God's treasure is His children, and the development of our talent potentialities is his chief concern. We, His children, are the talents, and just in the degree that we develop our powers of service, is He pleased with us. During the coming year, this should be our chief concern. Study to show thy self approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, and we shall certainly be able to give a good account of our stewardship.

Remember that negative goodness does not please our Master. We must be good, but also, we must be good for something. The one talent servant committed no overt act of evil. He merely did nothing, and yet he was thrown into outer darkness. We must be able, when the accounting comes, to show that we have improved our inner lives, so that the Lord, when He comes may receive His own, with usury.

The wise man will perform every duty, during the coming year in such a manner that the performance of it shall develop his inner life, and be able to show himself at the end of the year, a worthier child of God. His ambition should be to change from Glory to Glory into His image.

BACK TO THE MINES!

The secretary of the American Mining Congress recently said that the mining industry has come to the end of the year with a brighter outlook ahead. Its principal problems are those of taxation and the tariff, and if they are equitably settled by Congress the industry will be in a strong position for recovery.

"Back to the mines!" would be a mighty good cry to hear, especially in the west. It would mean the employment of thousands of men, the circulation of millions of dollars through agriculture and a thousand other industries, and new investment of capital. The mining industry has served this country well in the past, and it deserves all aid and encouragement now.

ELDORADO

By Vineta West Temple, Texas

When I hear the north wind call In its voice so mean and low, I know, then, I'd give my all To be at home in Eldorado.

When the first pink flower of spring Blooms where lately laid the snow, I stop to smell the lovely thing And think of Eldorado.

When the summer days abide And the sun no mercy shows, I long for the pleasant high divide

Where stands beloved Eldorado

But when scents of harvest fill the air

And everything gayly welcomes fall,

Oh! then, my Eldorado fair Is when I miss you most of all.

CHRISTMAS 1932

By Vineta West Temple, Texas

Christmas is coming And I am broke But wait, don't laugh, It's not a joke.

Old man depression Has visited my house, And has left me as penniless As a little field mouse.

I'm giving all I have That isn't much, Just a smile and a nod And a friendly touch.

Kisses to you Grandma so dear, And that's about all I am sending this year.

TEXAS 4-H CLUB BECOMES AMERICA'S GRAND CHAMPION STEER

COLLEGE STATION—"Texas Special", the first Texas calf to be made grand champion steer at America's largest livestock show, was originally a 4-H club calf fed by Marvin Maberry of Fisher county last year. It was a creep fed calf, finished on a recommended A. and M. College ration under direction of C. C. Johnson, county agent of Jones county, points out A. L. Smith, animal husbandman in the Extension Service at Texas A. & M. College.

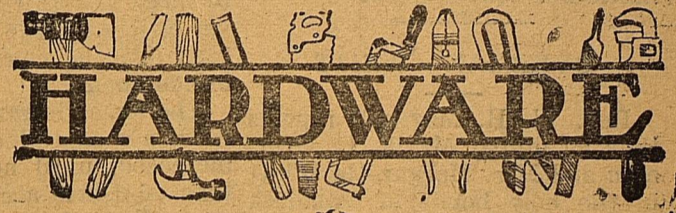

"At four months of age the calf weighed 420 pounds, due to the fact that he was a well bred animal and was well fed during the summer," says Mr. Smith. "From July 1st until September 19th 1931, Bumpy Lad, as he was then known, was kept in a barn in daytime, nursed his mother twice daily, and ran on sudan pasture at night. He learned to eat ground maize, ground wheat, a little cottonseed meal and plenty of hegari roughage during this creep feeding period. From September 19th when Marvin put Bumpy Lad into the feedlot until Mar. 16th 1932, he was fed a daily ration averaging 10 pounds daily of grain consisting mainly of ground threshed milo and wheat 2 pounds of cottonseed meal, and 8 pounds of hegari and sudan fodder. He also nursed his mother until January 1st, and another nurse cow twice daily throughout the remainder of the feeding period. When sold at Lubbock, Bumpy Lad weighed 880 pounds after making average daily gains of 2-2 pounds per day.

"The possibilities of this calf, bred by D. F. Maberry and fed in a baby beef club contest sponsored by a Hamlin civic organization, were recognized first by John Gist of Odessa and later by C. M. Largent & Sons of Merkel who successively acquired Bumpy Lad and fitted him for championship honors," says Mr. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Dobie Tinning of Hutto, Texas spent Christmas and a few days of this week on the V. G. Tisdale ranch near Eldorado.

Not one cent has been spent for groceries for two months by Mrs. John Raspberry, garden demonstrator of the New Salem Home Demonstration Club in Falls county. She says most of their groceries are in cans on the pantry shelves and additional products needed are provided by swapping potatoes for them.

With a garden of 27 varieties, Ruth Cain, Indian Rock 4-H club girl in Upshur county, provided 4450 pounds of fresh vegetables for the family and 157 containers of canned food. The garden cost $12.50.

WHAT WORLD TRADE MEANS

King Cotton, as John H. Caulfield points out, is playing Horatius at the bridge for our foreign trade—armed with the two-edged sword of price and quality. Last season, while the world used 165,000 bales less of all cotton than in the previous period, it used 1,411,000 more bales of American. In the early months of this season American cotton again bettered its export record, by more than 50 percent.

This means jobs for American workmen, increased circulation of money and a more stable cotton industry. It takes us back fifty and more years ago, when American cotton was the undisputed king in the world market. It is, perhaps, the beginning of a new era for the cotton producer.

It is worth pointing out that cotton is one of the American industries that has taken greatest advantage of the farmers' newest agency of progress—the cooperative. The cotton cooperative has shown the producer how to raise a better product and sell to the best advantage. It has fought, and is fighting, the battles that no single producer can ever fight successfully. Cotton prices are down, along with everything else—but they would be farther down if it were not for the cooperative, and the market would doubtless be demoralized. The fruit growers of the west, the cotton farmers of the south, the dairymen of the east—they are showing what loyally supported cooperatives can do in bringing order out of chaos.

And now comes the Rev. W. H. Marshall and confesses he did not kill that turkey last week, that his friend Hensel Matthews gave him the turkey after killing it himself, but the preacher did a good job putting it over on the Editor.

Begin Taking Cardui Today If You Suffer Like This Lady Did

"WHEN I was a girl, I began taking Cardui," writes Mrs. Maggie Stanfield, of Cranford, Ga. "I was very irregular for twelve months. Nothing did me very much good until my mother began to give me this medicine. Then I got all right, stout and well."

"After I was married, I was in bad health. I began taking Cardui again. I was troubled with my back a lot. Was awfully restless. I could not sleep well. I just weighed 90 pounds when I began taking Cardui. I improved rapidly. Before long I weighed 126 pounds. I felt fine. I was able to do a good day's work."

Cardui is sold by druggists here.

STATEMENT TO PRESS BY MOORE LYNN, AUDITOR

AUSTIN, Tex., Dec. 27.—Stricter administration and enforcement of present tax laws has been recommended by State Auditor Moore Lynn as one means of combatting declining state revenues and the consequent large deficit in the State's General Revenue Fund.

The Auditor's recommendations were in his annual report on the condition of the General Revenue Fund, in which a deficit of $2,854,171 as of August 31, 1933, is forecast.

Loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars annually was attributed to failure to enforce properly the laws relating to taxation.

"Appropriations for the agencies administering the tax laws should be sufficiently liberal to permit the officials charged with enforcement to detect evasions and vigorously attack every claim," he advised the Governor.

"Enforcement of the tax laws however will never be fully effective until tax administration to be responsible for all enforcement and at the same time be required to make recommendations for improvements.

Lynn suggested that escheat laws be amended to require all municipal and court officers, banks, fiduciaries, trustees, etc., to submit regular reports of property, deposits and other things of value in their hands when the owner is unknown and where the property is unclaimed after a certain period.

He also highly recommended a close study of plans to be submitted by the Joint Legislative Committee on Organization and Economy, "which will present practical plans for reducing state expenses without injuring the services rendered to the people by the departments, institutions and other agencies of government.

"The Committee's program will be worthy of the most careful study on the part of the state board of control, the present Governor, the Governor-elect, the Legislature and the people, and will provide necessary information for assisting in balancing the State budget," he said.

"The Committee will present what will virtually be an economy budget for the state. The recommendations will be made on a constructive basis with a view to making possible a truly economic operation of the state government.

Included in the report was an interesting table showing how the State's money was spent. The expenditures were segregated on the governmental function achieved or sought to be achieved in making the expenditure. It showed expenditures for the current fiscal year as follows:

HUMPHREY HARDWARE

Judicial, $2,538,820, of which $2,056,150 was for court officials and fee officers paid by the comptroller; executive and administrative offices, $1,304,604; military and law enforcement, $462,745; regulation of business and industry, $1,123,757; conservation of health and sanitation, $251,593; development and conservation of natural resources, $1,582,339; eleemosynary and correctional, $5,663,833; educational, $9,705,214; state parks and monuments, $24,213; and miscellaneous, $185,301, or a total of $22,842,154.

The Auditor stated that a decline in tax revenues was largely responsible for the amount of the deficit, nearly every tax source falling below earlier expectations.

Revenues which failed to measure up to the expected return, with the amount they were short, were: ad valorem, $83,520; occupation, $51,551; interest on county deposits, $18,952; sulphur production tax, $139,406; express gross receipts tax, $125,774; natural gas tax, $24,206; miscellaneous business taxes, $41,939; franchise tax, $200,812; charter fees, $18,018; other collections by secretary of state, $10,078; revenues from other departments, $8,293, and other miscellaneous decrease total a drop of $818,174 in the reasonably anticipated revenues for the year 1932.

Bert Page who has been furnishing the public wood from his ranch, free, is asking the public not to haul any more wood from there, as the cutting of the timber will be injurious to his coming lamb crop. Mr. Page for the past three winters has allowed wood hauling from his ranch when the people needed it most. Now at his request and for his stock benefit the public should adhere to his wishes.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS FOR THE PEDESTRIAN

While this is a good season for the motorist to determine that he will drive more carefully during 1933, it is also a proper time for the pedestrian to resolve that he will avoid those errors which in 1931 killed 14,500 walkers and injured nearly 300,000.

Maxwell Halsey, Traffic Engineer of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, has drawn up a set of resolutions for the man-a-foot. They are:

City
I will not cross a street when traffic lights are against me, nor will I cross diagonally or between intersections.

I will not cross at intersection where there are no signals with out looking to traffic.

I will not come from behind parked cars without observing what is before me.

I will not get on or off a street car without satisfying myself that my way is clear and

I will not take it for granted that all motorists always obey all rules.

LOOKING SOUTHWARD

As, three-quarters of a century ago, our nation looked to the west for an outlet for its products, so it is today looking southward, toward Latin America.

Here is one of the vastest lands in the world—larger in area than the United States, with almost as much population. Here is a potential outlet for millions of dollars worth of American goods and, as a result the source of employment for hundreds of thousands of American workmen.

Anything we can do to encourage better understanding between the two hemispheres is thus of economic, as well as social, importance. Latin America has suffered tremendously from the fall of raw material values, as is evidenced by revolutions, wars and frequent changes in government. Today she is passing through a period of chaos—but that she will come out of it is beyond doubt. The stuff of which great and permanent nations are made is within her borders, and that is the important thing.

Raw material prices will not always be depressed. Foreign money will once more flow into Latin America, in exchange for her coffee, tin, sugar, tobacco, petroleum, etc. Much of that money will find its way into this country, buying automobiles, typewriters, farm implements and other manufactured articles she needs. When that time comes, our Latin American trade will be a vital cog in the economic wheel.
