City Receives Sales Tax Check

The City of McLean has received a check from Comptroller Bob Bullock in the amount of $48,611 as their rebate check of the one-cent city sales tax that they collect.

Comptroller said that field audits and desk examinations by his field operations division during the month of July revealed an all-time one-month high of $18.3 million in additional revenue owed the state.

Bullock said field audits alone totaled $15 million, while audits of out-of-state firms totaled $3 million, said the comptroller.

"Investing in a sound, aggressive audit program is better than hitting it lucky on the stock market," said Bullock. The Comptroller said field audits and enforcement officer desk examinations have turned up $6 million during fiscal 1976 so far, exclusive of field collections.

Also Friday, Bullock filed checks totaling $4.5 million to 659 cities and towns as their rebate check of the one-cent city sales tax they collect.

The August remittance checks brought the calendar year total of city sales tax rebates to $173 million, he said.

Construction of the second 350,000 kilowatt generating unit is underway at Harrington Station with completion scheduled for 1978. Plans call for additional coal-fired units to be in service in 1980, 1982, and 1984.

Syananon To Call On West Texas

A "mission" of 25 residents from Synanon, the famed re-education community, will be visiting the West Texas area for two weeks starting August 23.

This year, as has been the case since 1970, Synanon will be seeking cattle from local feed lots and ranchers to help feed a community of 1,400 men, women and children, most of whom came to Synanon seeking help for their drug addiction, alcoholism, and other troubles.

Syananon is a nonprofit organization, and depends largely on the support of ranchers, farmers, and other members of the American business and agricultural communities.

Over the last 18 years more than 13,000 people have come to Synanon. Founded by Chuck Dederich in Santa Monica, California, it has grown from a small handful of people living in a converted store front to an internationally known organization with communities throughout California and Chicago; intake centers in Detroit and New York, and two international affiliates.

Band Boosters To Meet Monday

The Band Boosters Club will meet Monday August 23rd at 7:30 p.m. in the band hall. All members and parents of band students are urged to attend. There will be an election of officers and discussion on fund raising projects for the year.

When feeding 3- to 6-year olds, serve child-size portions on child-size dishes. Offer new foods in small amounts.

Science has known for years that nutrition has a great influence on an individual's health. For the past two years, the Texas Department of Health Resources has operated a special project, funded by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, that does more than just encourage people to buy more nutritious foods -- foods they can't sometimes afford to buy. The program is called the Supplemental Feeding Program for Women, Infants, and Children, or simply "WIC."

The WIC Program serves a limited clientele. Eligible recipients may include pregnant or lactating women, infants under one year old, and children up to five years of age. Anyone within these categories who applies for WIC services receives a thorough medical examination to determine whether the individual is "at nutritional risk."

According to Judy Stevens, a Texas Department of Health Resources nutritionist for the WIC Program, "nutritional risk" doesn't necessarily mean simply the lack of adequate food. She explains that many people eat enough to keep from being hungry, but because of poor selection of foods the individual remains malnourished. Typical nutritional problems that may result are anemia and various vitamin deficiencies.

Those who are eligible for the WIC Program and who are found to suffer from nutritional problems are given not just advice and counseling, but five specific food items. The foods can be picked up at cooperating retail grocery stores, or, in some areas, they can be delivered directly to the recipient's home; in either case, the recipient pays nothing for these specific foods.

Stevens says, "The food items have been selected according to the nutrients available in these foods which will improve the health of the participants through better nutritional status."

The Texas WIC Program has an authorized caseload of 75,000 recipients, although some data suggest that many more Texans could benefit from the program. Services are provided through 29 local projects serving recipients in 62 counties.

The program is administered by the Division of Maternal and Child Health Services, Texas Department of Health Resources.

According to Stevens, the 29 local projects cover approximately 55 percent of the state's population. "This indicates to us that we are meeting the needs of more than the majority of our population," she says. "As we are able, we expand into other areas of the state to improve our delivery of nutrition. Stevens says, 'Providing food is a short-term solution. The long-term solution really is education, and we now have the responsibility to provide nutritional education to our participants.'"

The educational effort will begin this Fall in each of the 29 local projects. Stevens explains that a variety of educational activities are included. Audiovisual materials, such as 16 mm films, 35 mm slides, and filmstrips will be used both for group instruction and for individual counselling.

"The local projects are being encouraged to hire nutritionists for supervision and monitoring of the education program so that we can be more confident of the quality of the education," Stevens says. The objectives of the program are "for increased knowledge of nutrition so that we can be more confident of the quality of the education," Stevens says. The objectives of knowledge of nutrition on the part of the participant, a change in attitude about nutrition and health, and finally a change in behavior as indicated by dietary changes." Instruction will be given in both English and Spanish where appropriate, she says.

Preliminary evaluations of the WIC Program have been promising. Apparently, the food supplement program is having a substantial impact on the dietary habits, and thus on the health, of participants. When this is coupled with the educational program now being introduced, even greater benefits are anticipated.

CANCER ANSWER LINE American Cancer Society
M. D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute

A man from Kansas City writes: "I have to wear dentures. Now I hear that they can cause cancer! What am I supposed to do -- drink through a straw and eat baby food for the rest of my life?"

ANSWERline: No. There has been a link noted between poorly fitting dentures and some mouth cancers -- but there also is a similar association between cancer and smoking, heavy drinking combined with smoking, poor diet and very, very hot food and drink. As long as your dentures fit well and your dentist checks your mouth regularly, you can sail past those baby food counters.

Question: Just what is a carcinogen?

ANSWERline: A carcinogen is a cancer-causing agent. For example, it can be the tar and other carcinogens in cigarettes; a chemical substance such as a dye that can cause certain cancers in humans; a virus in some animals; or something as intangible as radiation.

A Minnesota grocer writes: "I have family in Sweden, and they write me that they are trying to raise a new generation of children who won't ever smoke cigarettes! How is that?"

ANSWERline: This idea was reported on last June at the 3rd World Conference on Smoking and Health which the ACS and the National Cancer Institute co-hosted in New York City. Basically, the Swedish plan is a coordinated governmental effort to conduct intensive anti-smoking activities in maternity clinics and schools while tightening restrictions on cigarette advertising, smoking in public places, and by sharply increasing cigarette taxation. They are trying to make children born in 1975 become the first generation of non-smokers."

An Arizona schoolteacher notes: "Since we live under a strong sun, we tend to respect it. Nonetheless, the children in my classes are unaware of some of the scientific reasons for being careful not to get too much sunlight. Are there some teaching materials I can use?"

ANSWERline: Please check with your local ACS Unit for literature and other helpful materials available without charge. Often teachers might be interested to know that the ACS has many kinds of teaching kits for different classroom achievement levels. The ACS tries to make it easier for you to teach everything about cancer from cell biology to the dangers of cigarettes.

A reader explains: "My mother had to have radiation treatment after breast cancer surgery. I noticed that she became very tired. Did that come from the treatment?"

ANSWERline: Sometimes fatigue and tiredness are side effects of radiation treatment and patients are encouraged to take frequent rest periods. Active people sometimes find it difficult to realize the importance of resting and force themselves to "push on" That can add to the fatigue.

Question: "What are the major forms of cancer?"

ANSWERline: It's been estimated that 60% of all cancer in this country occurs in the following six locations of the body -- breast, lung, skin, oral cavity, uterus and colon-rectum.

Do you have further questions? Call your local unit of the American Cancer Society or write: Cancer Information Service, The University of Texas, M.D. Anderson Hospital & Tumor Institute, Texas Medical Center, Houston, 77025.

Study Of Palo Duro Canyon

The new interpretive center at Palo Duro State Park offers visitors a panorama of both the cultural and geological history of the Palo Duro Canyon.

The center is open seven days a week from 9:00 am to 12 noon and 2:00 pm to 5:00 pm free of charge to park visitors.

"There are 30 displays in the center depicting the development of the canyon," said Kay Moss, interpretive center director.

"A complete history of man's association with the area from the early Indians to the present-day ranching and farming operations is included," Moss continued.

Every species of plant and animal now in the park or associated with the park in the past is pictured and discussed in detail.

The interpretive center is located on the lip of the canyon approximately one mile from the park entrance and an exceptional view of the canyon is visible from the center.

More information about the interpretive center at Palo Duro State Park is available by writing to O. Box 114, Canyon, Tex., 79015 or by calling (806) 488-3622.

Wildlife Exhibit Due In Northwest Texas

Panhandle and South Plains residents will have an opportunity to view the educational wildlife exhibit during the fall fair season.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department exhibit is scheduled for appearances at Dumas, Sept. 9-11; Snyder, Sept. 15-18; and Colorado City Sept. 30-Oct. 2.

The purpose of this exhibit is to show live wildlife specimens representative of the various geographical areas of the state, and to furnish educational information about them to all the people of Texas; to foster good sportsmanship and cooperation in the conservation of our wildlife resources.

The continuing mobile unit first appeared at the Houston Sports show on March 17-26, 1950, and since that time, more than three-quarters of a million people each year have visited the exhibit during its annual showings.

"The exhibit will have

"If men are descended from animals, some are more descended than others."

such species as ducks, geese, quail, doves, and various other wild birds," said Tom Abbott, exhibit supervisor.

"In addition, squirrels, raccoons, foxes, a bobcat, and other Texas mammals will be a part of the exhibit," continued Abbott.

The P&WD has a cooperative agreement with the San Antonio Zoological Society. The zoo lends most of the animals, and any that are added by the department also become property of the zoo. Most of the animals are quarter at the zoo during the slack, hot summer months.

Local game wardens, biologists, and exhibit personnel answer questions, and give factual wildlife information to exhibit visitors.

A crew of four men operate behind the scenes and their duties consist of the care and feeding of the animals; transporting the exhibit; procurement of fish, snakes, and some other forms of non-game wildlife specimens and maintenance of cages, aquaria, air compressors, and other exhibit equipment.

The wildlife exhibit draws interested crowds wherever it travels. As well as entertaining, it is an inspiration to everyone to do his part in the conservation of our wildlife heritage.

Texas Taxes

By BOB BULLOCK, State Comptroller

AUSTIN—Inheritance Tax exemptions for surviving family members should be increased to ease the financial burden imposed on many Texans, particularly residents of rural areas, by a tax law enacted more than 50 years ago.

The Inheritance Tax Division of the Comptroller's Department is now conducting a study for me so that I can recommend to the next Legislature an exemption level that would help out the heirs of smaller estates without significantly affecting state tax revenue.

The present exemption of $25,000 for the surviving spouse and each surviving child was set in 1923 and has not been changed since.

That $25,000 back in 1923 would be worth about $79,000 today. And rural land that sold for $20 or $25 an acre then would sell for $350 to $750 an acre now.

The unfortunate result of having an exemption level which has not kept pace with changes in the economy and the value of the dollar is that some rural citizens—farm and ranch families—are occasionally compelled to sell part of their family owned land in order to pay the combined inheritance and estate taxes. There's no question that it is an inequitable system. The small farmers and ranchers already have enough trouble trying to stay in business and keep from being squeezed out. And family owned farms and ranches are important to the continued health of the Texas economy.

What I am interested in doing is setting a fair exemption level that would be as realistic in 1976 as $25,000 was in 1923, while not significantly reducing the $50 million in Inheritance Tax the state collects each year.

The Comptroller's Department is working closely with the Ways and Means Committee of the Texas House of Representatives, the State Bar of Texas, the Texas Farmers Union, and the Texas Farm Bureau in order to develop a reasonable and acceptable exemption level.

IF YOU HAVE ANY STATE TAX PROBLEMS OR QUESTIONS, CONTACT YOUR LOCAL COMPTROLLER'S FIELD OFFICE OR CALL TOLL FREE: 1-800-252-5555.

Darryel Herndon Attends Meeting

Darryel Herndon, president of McLean Lions club, recently attended a cabinet meeting on the W. T. campus. It was a workshop for promoting Lionism—to make Lions International even larger and greater toward serving others. International Director Ed Flood and District Governor Jimmy Pigman were among the speakers. Mr. Herndon reported that attendance was above average.

PLANT BLUEBONNETS NOW—Texas homeowners desiring a cover of bluebonnets for their landscape next spring should plant seed as soon as possible, advises a landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Bluebonnets are actually winter annuals. They must be planted in late summer and form a small rosette of leaves. During the winter they develop a good root system, and then the plants grow rapidly during the spring rainy season. Seed will germinate poorly if not scratched or soaked in warm water for a few days. Seed should be broadcast on tilled soil and covered lightly. The soil should be kept moist until seedlings appear.

UNITY ---

CAN IT BE HAD IN THE MODERN RELIGIOUS WORLD?

IT CAN BE IF we respect the wishes of Christ. He prayed for unity: John 17:20-21.

IT CAN BE IF we believe there is one God. The Ephesians were told to keep unity on the basis of this truth: Ephesians 4:3-6.

IT CAN BE IF we realize the dangers of division. Paul taught against religious division: 1 Cor. 1:10-13.

IT CAN BE IF we are willing to yield human opinion to the authority of God's word. Jeremiah, by inspiration, noted that man's wisdom is not a safe guide: Jer. 10:23.

BUT UNITY DOES NOT NOW EXIST! The modern religious world is divided into several hundred bodies who war over names, creeds, practices, organizations, worship and rituals.

UNITY CAN BE HAD when creeds and opinions of men are discarded in favor of the Bible! It stands to reason that none can unite upon that which has divided religious people—human creeds and opinions bound as law by men which at the same time are denounced by God. (Matt. 15:1-9, Gal. 1:6-9) The world can have the blessings of unity when all people accept the Holy Scriptures as the sole authority in religion. The Bible only makes Christians only! If all are just Christians, nothing more and nothing less (carefully note Acts 12:11-26 and compare with Isa. 62:2) all will be united.

Market Report

Egg prices in Texas grocery stores won't strain most budgets this week. Heavier supplies of small and medium size eggs are in evidence, while prices on the large sizes are moving up seasonally. Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist, reports.

She is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Smoked cuts head the list of pork values—smoked picnics, frankfurters, some brands of Beef features are list of pork values—smoked picnics, frankfurters, some brands of bacon and roll sausage.

Beef features are scarcer, but some specials can be found on chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef, round steaks and roasts and calf liver.

She reported that dairy counters have a wide variety of milk products to select from, with cottage cheese one good choice.

Turkeys and turkey rolls are being featured in some stores.

Fresh vegetables in best supply at most economical prices include potatoes, corn, dry yellow onions, cucumbers, carrots, squash, bell peppers, cabbage, purplehull and blackeye peas.

Good fruit choices include peaches, nectarines, plums, grapes, bananas, cantaloupes and watermelons.

CONSUMER WATCHWORK: Keep hard-cooked eggs available in the refrigerator for children's snacks. One egg provides high quality protein and many vitamins and minerals for about half the cost of a candy bar.

The club will travel to Perryton this weekend for the Perryton High School rodeo.

If anyone would like to join the Tri-State Rodeo Association, see one of the sponsors for your Tri-State number.

CHARCOAL ROT IN SORGHUM, CORN---
Charcoal rot, a fungus disease, is taking its toll of corn and sorghum throughout Texas, says a plant pathologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The disease damages the lower part of the stalk, resulting in poor ear or head development and causing widespread lodging (stalks falling over) if winds occur. The disease eats away the soft tissue in plants stalks and cuts off the flow of water and nutrients. Charcoal rot fungus is present in most soils affects corn and sorghum only at heading time. When plants are under drought stress. Irrigation and proper seedling rates to avoid excess plant populations will help reduce damage from the disease.

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources Of The TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
John C. White, Commissioner

An Amazing Comeback... New Regulations... Moving On

Cotton, which has been counted down and out several times, has and is making an amazing comeback this season. A year ago at this time, cotton prices to producers averaged 37 cents a pound.

Now, a year later, the statewide average is 70 cents per pound. Cotton is also now nearing the parity ratio, although it still has about a dime a pound to go before getting there.

Despite the cotton price, commodity prices on the average increased only two per cent this past month. And livestock prices showed a three per cent decline.

Putting everything together, price-wise, agriculture continues to be way below parity. The ratio of parity is now at 67; that compares with 68 a month ago and 71 a year ago.

A look at individual commodity and livestock prices tells the story even more clearly when comparing them with parity.

Wheat averaging $3.51 a bushel in Texas is about $1.40 per bushel below parity. Sorghum, which averaged $4.54, is more than a dollar under parity. The only crop above parity is oats at $1.66, and that is only a nickel above the ratio.

Take a look at livestock and you see even more discrepancies between prices and parity.

The only bright spot there is sheep at $17.20; that is 70 cents above parity. Hog prices averaging $44.30 are about $9 under parity. Calf prices averaging 35 cents are almost 50 per cent below parity, and beef cattle averaging $32.40 are $25 under parity.

NEW REGULATIONS ARE IN EFFECT in relation to the screwworm eradication program. All livestock shipped out of the state must now be certified by state authorities or accredited veterinarians to be free of screwworms.

And livestock going into southeastern states must be sprayed or dipped for screwworm control even though they are screwworm-free.

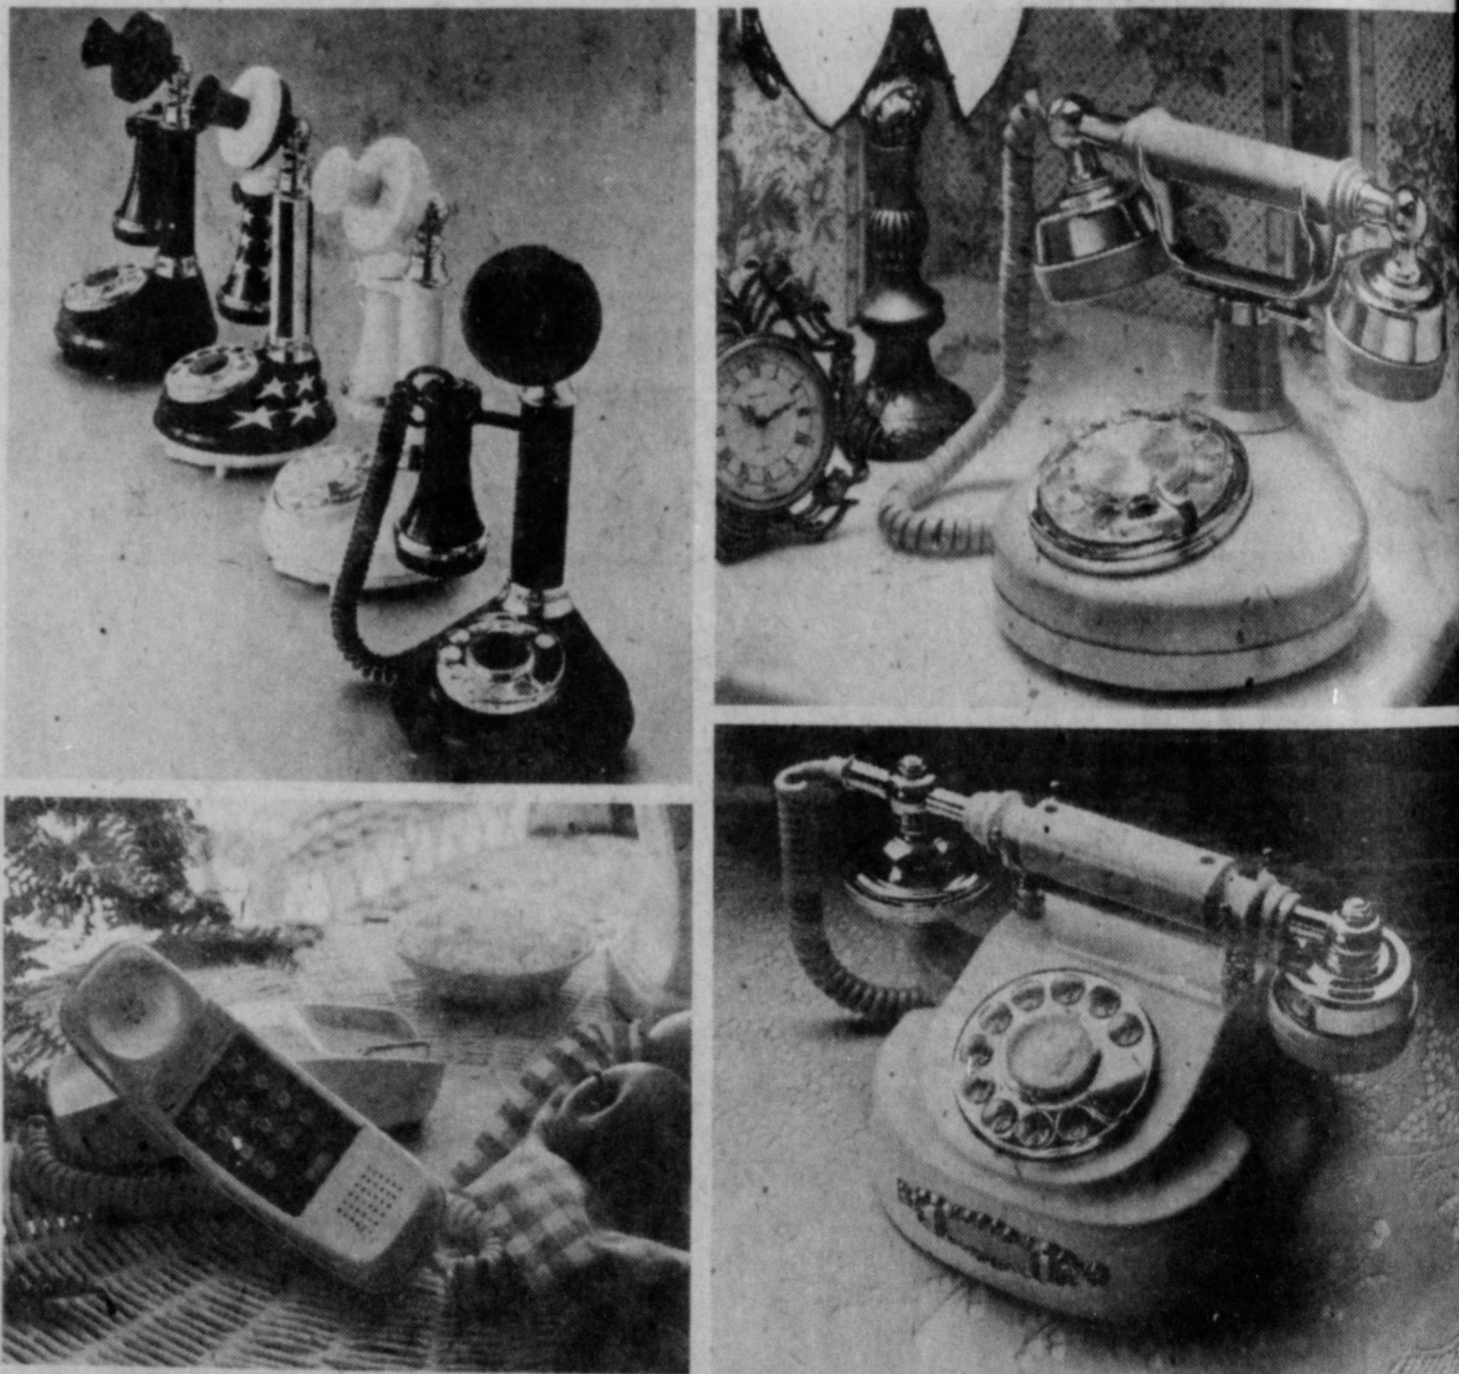

Screwworm infestations are now threatening several states and are becoming more of a problem in Texas every day. The big increase in infestations will occur now through November.

Meanwhile, screwworm officials at Mission urge livestock producers to check livestock regularly, treat wounds on livestock with approved screwworm control remedies, delay surgery on livestock as long as possible, and submit suspected samples of screwworms to the fly lab at

By cooperating along these lines, livestock producers are doing their part to hold down the infestations at as low a level as is possible.

WITH SUMMER MOVING ON, so is crop harvesting. Cotton harvesting is picking up speed in the southern portions of the state and is just beginning in the central areas.

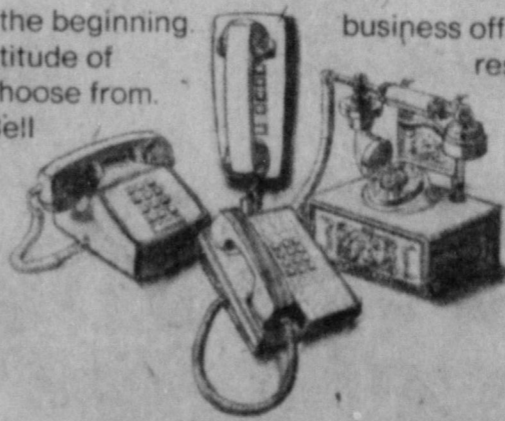

Sorghum harvest is moving along rapidly and planting of fall sorghum is underway in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.
