Serving McLean and the Area Since 1903

Volume 77 McLean, Gray County, Texas 79057 Thursday, December 25, 1980 Price 25¢ Number 52

Merry Christmas to you all! The staff of The McLean News hopes that you and yours are enjoying this special holiday, and that you are surrounded by the ones you love.

I want to give a special thank you this week to The McLean News family for their devotion to the paper. They each give an extra measure of time and effort to the publication of this paper each week, but especially during the holiday season, the staff is called upon to make certain sacrifices of their time to see to it that you get a paper.

A special thanks to: Lisa (also known as "Loose Marbles", "Loose Morals", and other names which are not printable!)...more than an employee, she has been a devoted friend, and has given many extra hours to the paper. Her work has involved much more than the production of the paper, because she truly cares about the quality of this paper, and gives that extra emotional investment to insure that The McLean News is the best that we are capable of producing.

Carol, who works "Mattie", the computer, and is responsible for the copy which you read each week. A loyal friend, she has mastered the intricacies of computer typesetting, and is a perfectionist enough that she too gives that extra measure of caring that wages cannot buy from an employee. She also has done some outstanding community profiles for us this year, and we are looking forward to more next year.

Sam, who has given up two days a week (without pay), to write "Down Memory Lane", "Lem O' Rick", "Quotable Quotes", and generally take care of us. He adds a certain zest to our working day on Monday and Tuesday by telling us jokes, bringing us cokes, and generally keeping us in line.

Loyce, who does our books for us and tries to make heads or tails of our feeble attempts at bookkeeping. An orderly person, she patiently digs through stacks of paper and brings some sort of sense to our business, and keeps smiling!

Bob and Allen, who show up every Wednesday afternoon to do the very important job of addressing the papers. They quickly mastered the complex mailing list of The McLean News, and do an outstanding job for us.

Jeanette, Lavern, Helen, Lena, and all the other people who bring us news each week. We couldn't have a paper without you.

Without these people, you would never get a McLean News. I have appreciated their hard work this year, and am looking forward to 52 outstanding issues of The McLean News next year.

(P.S. Personal note to The McLean News staff: This public thank you will take the place of any kind of pay raise that any of you guys may have had in mind for next year. Also hope you enjoyed your package of baloney and free one-year's subscription to The McLean News.)

Christmas

With His Birth was born a spirit of love and joy which has lived for generations in the hearts of all mankind. As the message of the manger shines anew, may thoughts of the first Christmas bring peace and promise to all.

School Board Hires Rutherford As New Superintendent

Jim B. Rutherford will be the new superintendent of schools in McLean beginning sometime in January, following action of the McLean school board in a special meeting Dec. 17. Rutherford will replace Carl Dwyer, who had told the board earlier in the year that he planned to resign. Board president Jim Allison said that Rutherford will begin his duties "sometime next month." Rutherford planned to meet Monday with the school board in Briscoe where he is currently superintendent to discuss a date for him to come to McLean. Dwyer said that he will work with Rutherford for a few days after he comes.

The new superintendent will leave Briscoe where he has been superintendent since 1973. He also served for three years as superintendent at Texline. Since his graduation from Southwestern Oklahoma State University in Weatherford, Okla. in 1958 with a Bachelor of Science degree in natural sciences, Rutherford has worked as a science teacher in Snyder, Okla., and Texline, and served as principal in Texline. Rutherford also earned a Master of Education degree in chemistry and biology from SOSU in 1964. He graduated from New Liberty High School in Sayre, Okla. in 1951. He served in the armed forces during the Korean conflict from 1953 to 1955.

Rutherford is a member of the board of the United Fund, the Lions Club, Masonic Lodge, Eastern Star, and the American Legion. He and his family are members of First Christian Church. He and his wife Janey have a son Quillian, 5.

The board voted to give Rutherford a two-year contract with pay set at the state schedule plus $3250 and travel expenses.

Attending the special meeting were board members June Suggs, Lloyd Hunt, Jim Allison, J.C. McAnear, Darryl Herndon, and Tony Smitherman, and business manager Shirley Johnson and superintendent Carl Dwyer.

Collision Injures McLean Woman

A two-car collision at the intersection of McCarty and Morse streets in McLean injured a McLean woman about 12:30 Monday.

Mrs. Leonarda Aleman Trotter of McLean was driving her 1979 Chevrolet east on Morse street when her car was struck by a 1974 Chevrolet driven by Bourgeois Bivian Frank of Amarillo.

The Frank car was travelling south on McCarty street at the time of the incident.

Mrs. Trotter was taken by friends for medical treatment.

Further details of the accident were not available as press time.

McCarty Named Church Minister

Gene McCarty, former minister of the Church of Christ in Claude, began his duties with the Church of Christ in McLean last week.

McCarty succeeds Aven Hook who resigned from the local church recently.

The new minister and his wife Eleanor have two children: Laura, a third grader; and David, a kindergarten student.

McCarty, who attended Panhandle State University, preached in Canada for nine years before moving to Claude two years ago.

Accident Injures California Family

A one-car rollover sent three California people to the Shamrock hospital with minor injuries in the early morning hours Sunday.

Melody Ella Stout of Concord, Calif. was the driver of a 1979 Toyota when she apparently went to sleep. The car left the road about 4.2 miles west of Alanreed about 1:50 a.m. and turned over on its top.

The McLean area ambulance took Mrs. Stout, her 11 month old child Aleson and her husband Gray to the hospital with minor injuries.

Contest Winners Named

Out-of-town judges toured McLean Sunday night to choose the winners in the Chamber of Commerce Christmas decorating contest.

Laverne Back, chairman of the contest for the Chamber, said the winners were first place, Mr. and Mrs.

Wallace Grimsley; second place, Mr. and Mrs. Casper Smith; and third place, Dr. and Mrs. David Woods.

Mrs. Back said that the judges used a point system to determine the winners, and were not told the names of the residents of the homes until after the contest. She said that three entries did not have their lights on at the time of the judging.

The judges commented that the contest was very close, with several of the homes within just a few points of the winners.

First place received $50, second place received $35, and third place received $25.

Is It Worth It?

By Carol Allison

I expose myself daily with unabashed regularity to the NEWS, Television, radio, and newspapers hammer my consciousness with reports of hostages, MX missiles, murder, greed, government misconduct, high interest rates and injustice for all. I have saturated my senses with the media blitz until, alas, I have sensory overload.

The bizarre has become commonplace. The everyday happenings of world hunger, human suffering, and war barely grab my attention anymore. The dangerous and ridiculous are accepted means of misbehavior.

Even commercials on television don't give relief-women's "behinds" are especially popular this year--from Cheryl Tiegs designer jeans to "Underalls" panty hose--all exploit women. Suggestive sex sells cars, soap, perfume, clothes, and commode cleaners. Sexy to use a particular cleaner on your new linoleum floor?

The unmentionables of yesteryear are mentionable, much to my annoyance and dismay.

Now I've been told that chlorine causes cancer. Overload. And 20/20 informed me that more than 60 U.S. cities have been victims of kidnap nuclear extortionist schemes. I wish they hadn't told me that. Spssssssph-Pow!

The informed person leads a life of insecurity and fear. Perhaps ignorance is bliss after all. Who needs it?

What with fuel shortages, housing shortages, peanut shortages, brain shortages, and cash shortages--who needs to know that the innocent, "good for you", healthy liquid water, that I've been drinking all my life may be the very thing that does me in?

I'm tired of being "well-informed." It hasn't made me a bit more interesting like they promised.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Linda,

I have always heard when it rains it pours.

It began to rain on Joe and I in August when Joe had surgery. Then Nov. 10th to 15th I spent in Shamrock Hospital. On Nov. 20 to Dec. 2 Joe was in Highland General and had another surgery. While Joe was still in Highland hospital I fell in the hall of the hospital and spent 21 days at St. Anthony's with a broken hip.

During this time our showers of rain turned into showers of blessings, we began to realize we had so many more friends, loved ones--so many phone calls, cards, visits, food, flowers, and other things. Not forgetting the prayers offered in our behalf. We began to realize more how wonderful Jesus was to us. How ungrateful we had been, how we had taken good health for granted.

I've always heard, every thing happens for the best for those that love the Lord. Finding out how wonderful everyone was to us, proved this true. I've also heard The Lord Jesus chasten those he loves. So now we realize Jesus really loves us. Sometimes it takes a little trouble to make us realize had good Jesus is to us and how grateful we should be.

Thanks for everything that was done to show all the love that was shown to us. We are very grateful. Thanks just isn't enough to say, but we can't find words to express how we feel. So if you can think of a better word, use it for us.

Grateful and Thankful,
Joe and Bonnie Bidwell

Dear Linda,

At Christmas time we find ourselves thinking of all our friends in a special way, and we have many lovely friends in McLean. Our roots are still clinging to McLean because of these friends and all the wonderful memories we have of the 21 years we lived there.

So many have passed away during the nine years we have been away, but their memory and impressions live on. I am grateful that I had the opportunity to know them and become their friends.

I would especially like to pay tribute to the memory of our "Other Dad", Slick Boyd. Going to McLean is not quite the same since last May when Slick was called home to be with the Lord, but his memory and good deeds will live as long as this generation of citizens lives. He made a tremendous impact on so many lives in the McLean area.

Slick was in his element when he could be of service to his fellow man. He never seemed to be aware of financial, cultural, or influential differences in mankind. He looked upon everyone as a loving, deserving human being. And he had the softest heart in town.

He was easily moved to tears by anything sentimental, sweet, patriotic or religious. How he would pinch his nose trying to hold back his emotions at these times. And each time I saw him do this, he became a bigger man in my eyes. It certainly is manly to have such a big, tender heart.

Fern received many, many beautiful thoughts and tributes from young people who had worked with and admired Slick in their younger years. Dwight Hathaway wrote, "...he taught me all I know about cows and horses. You don't know how much that helped me in later years. I owe him a lot." Dick Back wrote, "He was a very fine and honest man. I'll never forget him telling me what he missed most while in the war, seeing a windmill and holding a baby." Dorothy Beasley Weiser expressed her memories. "I want you to know what a positive impact you both had on my life...you just had to act like a lady because he treated you like one." Dick Andrews wrote, "Slick's influence helped shape my life. He taught me countless things, and I didn't realize he was doing it. He had a way of making work a joy."

While we were with Fern, I heard women say, "I'll never forget Slick for the kind things he did for my mother and/or dad while they were down and out." Maybelle Nash said, "Slick always told me how pretty I was...and made me believe it." My own Gary said, "Slick was a perfect gentleman...always was so polite to everyone."

Slick has played such an important role in my children's lives, and even in my grandchildren's lives that he will be remembered and appreciated as long as we have a sense of recollection.

My sympathy is with those who will never know Slick Boyd, to have had him touch their lives like he has ours. To know Slick was to know compassion, love, tenderness, courtesy, selflessness, bravery and optimism personified.

So, with these thoughts, I thank God for giving the world the free gift of Slick Boyd to enjoy for a short seventy-plus years. We feel sorrow...yes, he left a mighty void when he was called away, but we thank God that we were privileged to have had our lives enhanced by his presence.

Mrs. Bill Coward wrote this poem and sent it to Fern soon after Slick's death. The poem speaks for us all:

IN MEMORY OF WILSON BOYD

Erma Hester

I was sad when I heard the news/That Mr. Boyd was with us no longer. But as I thought of his passing, The thought of his living was much stronger.

I remembered the first time I ever saw him/Having breakfast early one summer more; His brilliant smile and gentle welcome/ Brightened our move to Rabbits and cats both wash their faces with their paws, but a rabbit uses both paws at once and the cat only uses one paw at a time.

Migration brings reduced fertility

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — When Mexican women migrate to the U.S. and become exposed to the lower fertility patterns of this society, they begin having fewer children.

That is a finding of a study made by Dr. Frank D. Bean, University of Texas sociologist. His study also found that the tendency for Mexican immigrants to decrease fertility (depending on length of time spent in the U.S.) is more pronounced among couples of higher socioeconomic status.

He concludes that improved educational opportunities offer the greatest promise for reducing fertility of the Mexican American population.

Big Bang whisper

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — A University of Texas physicist is co-winner of the John Price Wetherill Medal of the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia for pioneering work done more than 30 years ago in physical cosmology and nucleosynthesis.

The prediction (confirmed years later) of Dr. Robert Herman of UT Austin and Dr. Ralph Alpher of General Electric of what is now referred to as the whisper of the Big Bang or the echo of the early universe ranks as a major milestone in understanding the universe.

Their work is superseded perhaps only by Einstein's theory of general relativity and Hubble's interpretation of galactic red-shifts as evidence of the expansion of the universe.

Town and gown

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — "Town" and "gown" are growing closer together in Austin.

An agreement between The University of Texas and the Austin Symphony Orchestra will permit the symphony to use UT's new 3,000-seat Concert Hall as its performance home, beginning in April 1981.

The almost completed Concert Hall is part of UT's new Performing Arts Center, the largest building project in UT history. Other structures in the complex are the Music Building and Recital Hall, Opera Laboratory Theater, Fine Arts Administration and Library Building, and Drama Workshops.

In The Kitchen

by Linda Haynes

Since today is Christmas day, most of you have finished your Christmas baking, but if you still have company coming for New Year's, you might like to try this recipe from one of the best cooks in town.

APPLE SNACK CAKE

By Mary D'Spain

1/4 c. oil
2 eggs
2 c. sugar
2 1/2 c. flour
1 tsp. soda, 1 tsp. baking powder

1 tsp. cinnamon, 1 tsp. salt
3 c. chopped apples
1 c. pecans
1 (6 oz.) pkg. butterscotch morsels
Combine oil, eggs, sugar. Beat well. Combine flour, soda, baking powder, salt, and cinnamon. Add dry ingredients and apples to egg mixture. Stir in pecans and half of butterscotch morsels. Gone Fishin

by Jeanette Fish

Thanksgiving is a fast, happy, 60 mile drive to somewhere. We meet, eat, reminisce and the thanks have all but faded by bedtime.

Strip the meat off the turkey, put the leftovers in small bowls, while your head plunges into Christmas.

Before it is over, we almost mechanically wait for it to be over. My Hurry-Up-Christmas head sort of came to a screeching halt yesterday. It was the middle of maybe one of the busiest days of my life at work. There were 23 pretty sick patients for me to oversee. I ran...hung IV's, hung blood bags, gave chemotherapy, answered phones, followed doctors, did IMPORTANT things!

I looked up from the desk and saw a pretty, pretty lady walking down the hall wearing a beautiful new beige coat with a fur collar. She was pushing an IV pole. The bag attached to it was filled with part of her chemotherapy...hopefully to reduce the remaining tumor in her stomach.

Yesterday, four days before Christmas, she wanted to wear that coat...before the nausea hit. It always does.

I got up from the desk, put down my pen and...those important things...and thought about that lady and the other patients...and how many times a day they say "thank you". Maybe I better stop and say it, to someone, somewhere.

Thanks for health, a job, food, clothes, friends, family...and yes, thanks for that unsophisticated half-ratty old coat I wear.

The pretty lady was wearing a new one for a special occasion. Yesterday was her 34th birthday.

Swap-A-Hobby Club Has Christmas Party

Swap-a-Hobby club met Dec. 12 for their Christmas party and supper with their husbands as guests. The meeting was at the Heald Methodist Church. Mr. and Mrs. Orphus Tate hosted the event.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Claude Lester, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Hupp, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Corbin, Mr. and Mrs. A.W. Lankford, Loree Barker, Sophia Hutchison and Emily Rippy.

Club Studies Christmas Symbols

The Pioneer Study Club met Thursday, December 4 in the home of Mrs. Janet McCracken. Mrs. Judy Orrick was assistant hostess.

The home was beautifully decorated for the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Wanda Lamb presented the program on "The Christmas Story" in symbols.

Gifts were exchanged among the members and a money gift was given to Girls Town.

Those present were: Nancy Billingsley, Margaret Coleman, Velma Cornell, Mary Dwyer, Bonnie Fabina, Katie Graham, Margaret Grogan, Faye Houdyshell, Clara Hupp, Wanda Lamb, Irene Pagan, Mary Emma Woods, Pat Walker and the hostesses.

This New Year, Make a Resolution That Could Save Your Life!

Texas drivers are slowing down as they take to the wide open spaces and long stretches of highway. This year, make a resolution to observe the 55mph speed limit. It could save your life all year long. Let's make 1981 a good year for us all.

Delinquent Taxes Will Add $7 Million To College Coffers

AUSTIN, Tex.--State Comptroller Bob Bullock Wednesday said collection of delinquent state ad valorem taxes will mean an extra $7.3 million this year to 17 Texas colleges and universities.

Bullock said the money comes for collections received by his office in the last couple months from delinquent taxes for 1979 and prior years.

He said the funds distributed to the schools will virtually cease because the state no longer collects the 10 cents per $100 ad valorem tax as the result of a property tax reform law passed during the last session of the legislature.

"The money being sent to the schools this month is more or less a windfall," Bullock said, "because initially it was uncertain these delinquent taxes would ever be paid."

The state's ad valorem tax has been used to support school building and construction.

Schools receiving allocations include: Angelo State, $324,866; East Texas State University, $162,354; Sam Houston State University, $668,973; Midwestern State University, $113,199; Pan American University, $726,504; Stephen F. Austin, $705,852; Southwest Texas State University, $1 million; Lamar University, $402,182; Sul Ross University, $25,881.

And, Texas A & I University, $92,982; Texas Southern University, $739,072; Texas Tech University, $281,887; Texas Womens University, $152,018; UT at Arlington, $924,346; University of Houston, $516,155; West Texas State University, $90,768; North Texas State University, $437,834.

The first prepared mix marketed in America was Bisquick, introduced in 1931. It was inspired by a railroad chef who kept a batch of biscuit dough handy for passengers who got hungry at odd hours.

District 4-H Food Show:

The Panhandle District 4-H Food Show was held Saturday, December 13 at the James Bonham Junior High School in Amarillo. There were eight contestants from Gray County entered. In the junior division, Michelle Houston, Robin Rohde and Sarah Miller all received blue ribbons with Johnnie Whinery receiving a red ribbon. Sarah Miller also placed in the top four of the Snacks and Beverages division.

In the senior division, Penny Miller and Patrick Phetteplace received blue ribbons with Amy Brainard and Shelly Cochran receiving red ribbons. Penny Miller also placed in the top four of the Main Dish division. All of these Gray County 4-H youth did a fine job in the District Contest.

The average color TV lasts about 12 years.

Time Enough To Win

Roger Staubach with Frank Luksa

A magnificent new book by Roger Staubach, with assistance by Frank Luksa, is absolutely a must for sports fans in Texas, and anyone who appreciates the story of a man who has lived an active, illustrious, and dedicated life among the hub-bub of our sometimes aimless society.

The record setting, idolized quarterback of the famous Dallas Cowboys gives his own interesting and straightforward manner his thoughts concerning teammates such as "Hollywood" Henderson, Bob Hayes, Clint Longley, Duane Thomas, and Washington Redskins Diron Talbert.

Staubach's thoughts about close associate and coach Tom Landry, and their disagreement about who should call plays, help to spice up a book which I am sure will get and hold your undivided attention until you can finish it.

Much that has never been known about this modern day hero is made available in this volume, which presents his deeply held religious convictions, his great love for his own family, his reasons for retirement, and the prospects for his new position with the CBS sports network.

I can say without reservation that this is a book you will certainly want to read, and we give it the highest recommendation possible.

"Time Enough To Win" is now available at Lovett Memorial Library.

Peace, happiness, prosperity is our wish -- with sincere appreciation for letting us serve you.

Nursing Center News

The approach of the Christmas season has brought busy days, but each day has been so much fun. There are so many wonderful people who remembered us this past week. When we mention the things that have been done for us, I sincerely hope no one is left out. We appreciate all of you. Boxes of fruit have been brought by Fred and Mary McKelny of Lubbock, Lush and Bea Rogers, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, and one box of fruit in the kitchen we don't have a name on. Gifts for all the residents have arrived from Digger and Bernice Dean, Lorene and J.B. Brown, the ladies from Church of Christ (Oleta Harris, Mary Emma Woods, Myrtle Allen, Margie Fish, and Eleanor McCarty), and Marnelle Presley and Mary Ellen Burnett. The residents have also enjoyed caroling by the high school students, and Linda Syfretts' Brownie Troop.

Sunday the Pentecostal Holiness Church conducted church services. Afterwards, they distributed cards and cookies to each resident.

Tuesday the Ladies Auxiliary members were here to help the ladies piece quilts.

Wednesday, the Pentecostal Holiness Church conducted Bible study, and returned Thursday for a singalong.

Friday afternoon the residents enjoyed movies shown by Martha Parker.

Friday night was our family Christmas dinner. Approximately 175 people enjoyed turkey and dressing and ham. Each family brought a covered dish, and everything was absolutely delicious. We'd like to thank members of the Ladies Auxiliary who were here to help dress the residents and serve food. The staff worked very hard making sure everyone looked nice for the evening.

We have a lot of activities coming up this week. That jolly old elf practicing his "ho, ho, ho" for a couple of appearances and several people are planning events to delight our residents.

Spark plugs usually last 10,000 to 20,000 miles.

Best Wishes

A white, bright, out of sight holiday to all friends & patrons! Thanks.

Smoked Turkeys Can Mean Added Holiday Convenience:

Ready-to-serve smoked turkeys may be a handy time save for consumers during the busy holiday season. These turkeys can be bought frozen or unfrozen, and can be served hot or straight from the refrigerator.

Smoked turkeys get added flavor from being exposed to natural smoke during the cooking process. The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food Safety and Quality Service requires that smoked turkeys be cooked to a minimum temperature of 160 degrees F. This kills dangerous Salmonella bacteria which can cause food poisoning.

Salt is added as a natural preservative; phosphates retain the moisture of the bird; and nitrites aid the curing process and develop the color of the dark meat from brown to red. The nitrites do not affect the color of the white meat.

Under USDA regulations, the birds must be at or below green weight after they are cured and smoked. Green weight is the weight of the bird before it was injected with the curing solution.

The amount of curing ingredients in the finished product is determined by laboratory analysis. The amount of nitrite must not exceed 200 parts per million, and the amount of phosphate must not exceed 0.5 percent. USDA also requires that cured smoked turkeys be cooked to a minimum temperature of 155 degrees.

When buying a smoked or cured smoked turkey, look for the USDA inspection mark. This is the round mark that says the poultry was inspected for wholesomeness. It assures the product is clean and safe to eat. Smoked and cured smoked turkeys are not graded by USDA after the cooking process. The label may state however, if the product was prepared from either a Grade A or Grade B turkey.

If you purchase a frozen smoked or cured smoked turkey it should be thawed like any other turkey. According to the Food Safety and Quality Service it should be thawed in the refrigerator, in cold water, or in a double brown bag in a cool place. It is very important to keep the outer meat on the turkey cool while the inner meat is thawing. This prevents the growth of bacteria which could cause food poisoning.

Smoked or cured smoked turkeys can be stored in the refrigerator for two to three weeks with proper handling. They can be frozen for longer storage, and generally maintain their quality for six months or more.

Turkeys shipped during the holiday season as gifts are exempt from any USDA regulations. Quality control is entirely in the hands of the processor. Generally, however, the birds are shipped either frozen or in refrigerated trucks.

Holiday Buffets--Safety First:

Buffet meals are always a popular form of holiday entertaining, but since the food may stay unrefrigerated longer than usual, some precautions are necessary. If cold cuts are part of the holiday party fare, using several trays of food instead of only one keeps them from standing at room temperature too long. Bring out a fresh tray frequently to replace those partly used. The meats stay cold and bacteria do not have a chance to grow.

The serving dish for shrimp salad--another perishable item--could be packed in cracked ice. Or use smaller serving dishes and refill often from the refrigerator. Other party buffet favorites such as deviled eggs, cheese and sour cream dips must all be kept cold, also.

Entertaining Children During The Holidays:

Entertaining children during the holidays is important, and so is developing creativity. Here are some "recipes" for fun:

Flour and Water Fingerpaint: Mix one cup flour and 1 cup cold water. Add 3 cups boiling water and bring mixture to a boil, stirring constantly. Add coloring, if desired.

Soap Flake Fingerpaint: Put 1-1/8 cups soap flakes into mixing bowl and add 1 cup water gradually while beating with egg beater or electric mixer. Consistency should be about the same as stiffly beaten egg whites. Add coloring if desired.

Starch and Soap Flake Fingerpaint: Mix 1/4 cup starch with enough cold water to make a smooth paste. Add 1-1/2 cups boiling water and cook until glossy. Stir in 1/2 cup soap flakes while mixture is warm. When mixture has cooled, you can add the color if you desire.

Cornstarch Fingerpaint: Dissolve 1/2 cup of cornstarch in 4 cups of boiling water, and stir. Let mixture come to a boil again. Cooling causes paint to thicken slightly. Add color if desired.

Cold Cream Fingerpainting: Take a can of shaving cream. Spurt shaving cream on table or paper. Add color if desired.

Pudding Fingerpainting: Make your own favorite pudding recipe or buy a pudding mix. Food coloring can be used, if desired. Children love to taste while they paint.

How To Remove Candle Wax From Carpeting:

Candle wax dripped on a carpet or rug will hold onto dirt and make a spot soil quickly. For this reason, it is important to remove wax promptly. There are essentially four ways to remove the wax, each having a certain degree of effectiveness and drawbacks.

Scraping with a rounded spoon or the dull back of a dinner knife is effective on the surface of dense-loop pile carpets, but too much of this can result in a distorted, fuzzed area. Applying ice cubes to a small amount of wax will make it brittle so it can be broken up and pulled out of the carpet, but this method also can produce unsightly fuzzing if there is a large quantity of wax embedded in the pile of a soft or textured carpet.

The fastest method is to apply heat to melt the wax and at the same time, absorb the liquid wax out of the pile. Do this by placing a white paper or cloth towel over the wax and touching the spot with a warm iron.

Dry-Cleaning fluids are also effective in slowly dissolving candle wax. After testing it in an inconspicuous area to see if it damages dyes or fibers, apply only small amount of the fluid and use a tissue or towel to absorb it and the dissolved wax. It is important to prevent the solvent from getting to the back of the carpet as it may cause the latex backing or pad to swell or deteriorate.

Care Of Holiday Plants:

How do you care for the beautiful potted plants which are such popular gifts during the holiday season? We wish they would last for months and are usually unhappy when they become unattractive in only a few weeks.

These lovely flowering plants which provide so much enjoyment usually are not suited as permanent house plants. They are grown under ideal conditions in our homes. It is best to consider them as long-lasting, cut flowers. Enjoy their beauty as long as possible, then discard them when they become unattractive.

A humid atmosphere is best for all house plants. You can help your plants by setting the pots on crushed stone or gravel in a pan of water. As the water evaporates, it increases the humidity of the air around your plants. Do not allow the water level to reach the bottom of the container or the soil will remain too wet.

Flowering plants require high light intensities. They should receive as much sunlight as possible during the day provided there isn't an excessive build-up of heat as may occur in a hot southwest window. Never locate your plants on the T.V. Most T.V. sets will generate considerable heat and the top of your T.V. is often the warmest spot in the room.

Water your gift plants regularly as they are used to receiving adequate moisture in the greenhouse. Don't keep the soil soaked with water, but do apply enough to keep it moist. Keep your house plants out of drafts, especially from opening doors or from heating and cooling vents. This is especially true of poinsettias. If they are located in a draft, the leaves are

SNOW Facts and Fancies

Here are some cold facts about snow: Did you know that snowflakes change directly from water vapor into snow without going through an intermediary stage as rain? The biggest snowflakes ever recorded fell in Montana in 1887. They measured 15 inches in diameter and were at least eight inches thick.

Most people think snow is always white. Not true. On January 31, 1925, gray snow fell on Japan. Scientists said it was as a result of a mixture of snow and ashes from nearby volcanoes. Whatever the color, one thing's certain: snow has to be shoveled unless you like being snowed in. There's the old-fashioned way: shoveling by hand. Then there are Power Shovels. One weighs less than 12 pounds, yet can tackle any kind of snow in any quantity. This Toro Power Shovel has a powerful 6.6 amp electric motor and a 12-inch-wide clearing capacity.

It was certainly a winter to remember—the winter of 1910-11. It included a snowfall to end all snow falls. In a one-month period, 390 inches of snow fell on the mountain town of Tamarack, California.

A GIFT THAT SAVES LIVES

This Christmas among the tinsel and all the other brightly wrapped presents place the gift that saves lives, a General Electric Home Sentry™ Smoke Alarm.

The protection and peace-of-mind provided by the GE Smoke Alarm lasts the whole year through, but it is especially important during the holiday season. According to the United States Fire Administration, over 106,000 home fires occurred in December 1978, resulting in approximately 750 deaths.

Selecting the right smoke detector is essential. GE's Home Sentry Smoke Alarm is a good choice because it is easy to install and affordable to most families. Should it detect smoke, the alarm is triggered, sounding a high pitched horn to awaken household members.

Notes From Your County Agricultural Agent

by Joe Van Zandt

Year-End Tax Planning:

Farmers and ranchers have only a few more days to make decisions that could affect their 1980 income tax situation. Year end planning can help save tax dollars. Farmers and ranchers should follow a systematic procedure in making end-of-year tax management moves.

First, decide what your tax management goals are. Commonly, the goal is to save income taxes, but check the impact of this goal on social security retirement income. Although an important objective in income tax management is to smooth out variations in income from year to year, individuals nearing age 65 may want to defer the recognition of income until age 65 to take advantage of the larger personal exemption.

After defining your tax management goals, it's time to make some estimates. Calculate 1980 net farm profit, taxable non-farm income, and total tax due. Estimate the same items for the 1981 tax year.

By comparing 1980 and 1981, taxable income estimates, decide whether to increase or decrease this year's taxable income (especially net farm profit) relative to next year's. If the drought has reduced your 1980 taxable income and you expect that 1981 will be a more profitable year, you may want to postpone some expenses for farm supplies and purchases of machinery until next year. You may even want to make some additional sales of crops and livestock before December 31st to improve this year's net farm income.

This systematic procedure in reaching end-of-year tax management decisions provides a review of 1980 and another appraisal of expectations for 1981.

So determine your 1980 income tax status and also get a quick look at 1981. When the new year arrives, the cash basis taxpayer loses much of the present flexibility because many income tax management strategies are no longer available for the 1980 tax year.

Since each taxpayer's situation is unique, year-end tax management decisions may require consultation with your tax specialist.

Farmer's Tax Guides:

1980 copies of the Farmer's Tax Guide are now available in the County Extension Office. This booklet explains how federal tax laws apply to farming. It gives examples of typical farming situations and discusses the kinds of income you must report and the different deductions you are allowed. Sample forms and schedules show you how to fill out the federal tax returns you may have to file for your farming business. There are also samples of farm records, illustrating the kinds of record-keeping that can make it easier for you to prepare your tax returns.

Check Stored Grain:

Farm stored grain should be checked periodically. First, make sure that rain isn't leaking through the roof or that snow hasn't blown in and melted to raise the moisture content. Check, also, for the presence of stored grain insects and if needed, get recommendations for control from an entomologist. If your storage is equipped for aeration, run the fans about once a week when the air temperature is about 10 degrees cooler than the grain temperature. Continue fan operation until the average grain temperature is about equal to the air temperature. The air circulation and cool temperature will minimize the growth of molds and bacteria and decrease insect activity.

Gasoline Needs A "Safety Can":

Just because a can has GASOLINE imprinted on it doesn't mean that it's a safety can. Shopping for an approved safety can for gasoline can be an involved process.

To earn the title "safety can", a container must pass certain tests conducted by Underwriters Laboratories (UL) or the Factory Mutual System (FM). To get a UL label, a can must pass nine different performance tests. FM approval requires eleven tests. Each organization makes some tests that the other does not.

"Safety can" tests are conducted in the following areas: First, stability tests tell how easily a can will tip over. Then, leakage tests check out spout valves, seams, and joints. Nor more than four drops can leak out per minute when full cans are tipped upside-down. Both FM and UL requires these tests.

UL tests cans for body strength while FM tests pouring spouts and carrying handles for strength. FM also tests cans under fire conditions. Tested cans must vent internal pressure throughout fire exposure and there can be no spillage.

Another FM test concerns the flame arrester. A flame arrester is a screen placed within the spout which prevents flame on one side of the screen from reaching the other side by absorbing heat.

FM also tests cans for reaction to abuse. It requires that a full gasoline can withstand a three-foot drop to a concrete floor without sufficient damage to leak.

Both FM and UL test non-metallic containers for resistance to chemicals, punctures and permeability (fluid passage).

So look for FM and UL labels when shopping for gasoline safety cans. While approved cans do cost a little more, they are built to last longer and to reduce serious fire hazards associated with gasoline and other flammable liquids. But, even with an approved safety can, do not store gasoline and other flammable liquids in car trunks or indoors where pilot lights and other ignition sources may exist.

Yiddish Proverb

Every man has three characters—that which he exhibits, that which he has, and that which he thinks he has.

Alphonse Karr

Will Rogers on political parties: If a man could tell the difference between the two parties he would make a sucker of Solomon for wisdom. This country runs in spite of parties; in fact, parties are the biggest handicaps we have to contend with.

Our privileges can be no greater than our obligations. The protection of our rights can endure no longer than the performance of our responsibilities.

John F. Kennedy

The more things a man is ashamed of, the more respectable he is.

George Bernard Shaw

Nature knows no indecencies; man invents them.

Mark Twain

If thou canst not see the bottom, wade not.

English Proverb

To me football is like a day off. I grew up picking cotton on my daddy's farm and nobody asked for your autograph or put your name in the paper for that.

Loose Marbles by Lisa Patman

One of my favorite things to do during the Christmas season is to visit with family and friends. And although the hassle of the season sometimes gets us a bit frazzled, so that a get-together sometimes finds us all hysterical, the resulting lively conversation often produces priceless bits of wisdom that serve to help me through the rough spots in life.

Recently a spirited political argument, which began in my living room, continued through several offices the next day, graced the dinner table a couple of days later, and ran through the following weekend, resulted in several thought-provoking ideas which I thought needed to be written down.

In the Christmas spirit, I would like to share them with you. You will notice that there is an even dozen of these "quotable quotes", enough for a year's worth of months. With a little care you can save them and use them to line the bird cage 12 times. After you've read them, you'll realize how appropriate that end would be.

- A DOZEN DINGY DICTUMS
- "When you're home alone at night and hear a noise coming from a closet, it's probably a burglar, or worse--a mouse."
 - "When in doubt, doubt."
 - "He's the kind of guy who would take the shirt off your back."
 - "No matter where you go, there you are."
 - "No matter what time it is, you're still here."
 - "Those of you who think you know it all are very annoying to those of us who do."
 - "A warranty won't start your car."
 - "A bird in the hand makes an awful mess."
 - "Beauty is only skin deep, but ugly goes all the way through."
 - "Beauty may be only skin deep, but that's deep enough for me."
 - "There's just as much difference in some men as there is in others."
 - "You can pick your friends and you can pick your nose, but you can't pick your friend's nose."
- Merry Christmas and a very Happy New Year from Miss Marbles and all her wacky friends.

When extra ice cubes are needed for punches, or ice buckets at parties, use muffin tins instead of buying new ice cube trays. The big ice cubes will last longer.

NEWS FOR MOTHERS-TO-BE

The Food and Drug Administration suggests that pregnant women avoid caffeine.

It may be a good idea for expectant women to avoid caffeine until after their babies are born.

An experiment recently concluded by the Food and Drug Administration has found that caffeine, when fed to pregnant rats, causes birth defects in their offspring.

The study's implications for people are not known. Scientists at the Food and Drug Administration know that caffeine crosses the placenta and reaches the fetus. They know that caffeine is a stimulant and has a definite drug effect. As a general rule, pregnant women should avoid all substances that have drug-like effects.

But, the findings have caused enough concern among FDA scientists for Jere E. Goyan, the Commissioner of FDA, to advise pregnant women to avoid caffeine-containing foods and drugs, or to use them sparingly.

Caffeine is found in coffee, tea, cola drinks, pepper drinks, some other soft drinks, chocolate, cocoa, "wake-up" pills, some pain killers and some cold compounds.

Some research suggests that people respond differently to caffeine than do experimental animals and there is no conclusive evidence that caffeine has ever caused a birth defect in a human being. However, there are a number of caffeine-free coffees and other drinks available and until scientists know more, it may be best for mothers-to-be to exclude caffeine from their diets.

CHRISTMAS

As long as there are pine trees growing on a hill,
 As long as there are firesides with candle on a sill,
 As long as there are reindeer, snowflakes glistening white,
 As long as there is a Santa Claus, there will be a Christmas night.
 As long as happy children sing with pure delight the age-old song of goodwill to men, there will be a Christmas night.
 As long as there are wise men who choose to be star-led,
 and loving hearts made ready to crown the Christmas head,
 As long as there is tinsel and wrappings gay and bright, and church bells chime throughout the land,
 there will be a Christmas night.

likely to drop. Cineraria and cyclamen plants usually have a rather short blooming period. They are extremely difficult to bring into flower again unless one has excellent greenhouse facilities. It is usually best to discard these once they finish blooming as it is cheaper and less frustrating to buy new plants when needed.

Azaleas and chrysanthemums may be saved for planting outside if the variety is adapted to your area. Check with your florist or nurseryman as to whether the variety in question is suitable for outdoor planting. In general, the results are seldom satisfactory. It is usually better to purchase adapted varieties at the proper planting time for outdoor use.

The poinsettia is hardy only in the southern portion of Texas. Although a perennial, it can be brought back into bloom the next year only if you have appropriate facilities. They require a dormant or rest period, then cut back and allow growth throughout the summer. In early September, they must be subjected to a rigid schedule of 9 hours of light followed by 15 hours of complete darkness in order to initiate flowers. Again, the process is seldom worth the effort unless you are an avid gardener with greenhouse facilities. It is usually better to buy new plants each holiday season.
