Serving McLean and the Area Since 1903

Volume 78 McLean, Gray County, Texas 79057 Thursday, October 29, 1981 Price 25¢ Number 42

The McLean Chamber of Commerce will meet Tuesday night to elect officers, and since those meetings are sometimes sparsely attended, I have heard the rumor that members who do not show up at the meeting will be nominated for office! That's probably just a joke, but if you are interested in our town, and in the progress of our town, go to the meeting and vote.

If the "concerned citizen" who wrote us the anonymous letter about the shabbiness of our building would like to donate $300, we would be glad to have it painted before the dedication of the war memorial! No one is more aware than I am how bad our building looks, but the last time we had it painted, the paint job lasted about two months and cost $300. We are trying to save enough to really repair the outside of the building in such a way that it will last for awhile.

We would like to redo the outside in a "batten board" style, which I think would really add to the looks of the downtown area. However, in this time of high interest rates, and business slump, we just can't afford it now.

In Gilbert Highet's book "Man's Unconquerable Mind" he writes about man's ability to think, and what happens in a society which decides to quit thinking individually and creatively. In certain chapters of the book, Highet's view of our future is somewhat bleak, and he suggests that we might become a "Brave New World" type of society, where everything is governed by technology, and mankind is like ants in a gigantic colony who "work and play and feed and never think."

One of the first steps to that society is the suppression of the press in which everything printed in books and newspapers and magazines and everything heard on the radio or seen on television is prescribed by the state.

Highet says that "Adolph Hitler, who in a comparatively short career took Germany far along the road to such a tyranny, said that the press was a combat weapon in realm of thought comparable to the airplane in warfare. 'Today,' he (Hitler) boasted, 'the (Nazi) journalist knows that he is no mere scribbler, but a man with the sacred mission of defending the highest interest of the (Nazi) state.'"

As long as there are small town newspapers, owned and operated by local townsfolk, it will be just a little more difficult for our country to slide toward that type of society. But when the small weekly starts disappearing because of an economic crunch, or because advertising revenue will not support the business or because no one coming out of journalism school wants to live in a small town...when these things start happening, watch out! It won't be long before the Brown shirts or the Reds or the Black shirts or whatever the group is called that thinks it has the only right way comes marching down our streets.

The "press" has suffered some pretty bad publicity in See DISTAFF, Page 2

A nominating committee has been appointed, Barker said, to submit a list of nominees for the board of directors of the organization for 1982. The board will then elect its president and other officers who will guide the organization next year.

Shamrock Girl Dies In Wreck Near McLean, Three Escape Injury

Linda Ellis, 13, of Shamrock died Friday night when the pickup in which she was riding ran into an embankment about 3.5 miles south of the T&M Truck stop at the Papan road east of McLean.

The girl's body was discovered about 6:15 a.m. Saturday when Department of Public Safety trooper Kevin King arrived at the scene of the wreck.

King was notified about the wreck by McLean constable Jim McDonald.

Miss Ellis was a passenger in the 1973 pickup driven by her half-brother Jimmy Skinner, 18, of McLean.

According to investigating officers, Skinner and a passenger in the vehicle, Jackie Pipes, 14, of McLean left the scene of the wreck which had occurred about 11 p.m. to get help.

Seven Amendments On Ballot

Texas voters will go to the polls November 3 to vote on seven constitutional amendments. McLean voters will vote at the Senior Citizens Building from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., and Alanreed voters will vote at the Alanreed school from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. In McLean, F. Jake Hess is the presiding judge with S.A. Cousins assisting, and in Alanreed, Lena Carter is the presiding judge with Polly Harrison assisting. County officials expect the voting to be light since no offices are up for election. The seven amendments are as follows:

PROPOSITION NO. 1 would allow the state legislature to authorize cities, towns and other taxing units to grant exemptions from ad valorem taxes on an unproductive, underdeveloped or blighted area in order to encourage its development.

PROPOSITION NO. 2 would authorize a person to receive a patent to land from the commissioner of the General Land Office under certain conditions.

PROPOSITION NO. 3 would enable the legislature to grant a state finance man-

Bullock Warns Bingo Players

AUSTIN, Tex. -- State Comptroller Bob Bullock's office Thursday warned that it will be early 1982 before Texans can conduct and play legal bingo and cautioned against fraudulent claims that legal bingo has already arrived in Texas.

George Garland, director of the Bingo Regulation Division, said the new bingo law also requires a local option election before games can be held.

He said because of the language in the law the earliest date a local option election can be scheduled would be January 16, 1982.

Gray County Appraisal Board Elected, Lloyd Hunt Of McLean Named

The five members of the Gray County Appraisal Board were elected by the nine taxing entities of Gray County last week.

Serving on the five-member board will be Bill Gething of Pampa who received 1,000 votes; Loyd Hunt of McLean who received 875 votes; Dr. Robert Lyle of Pampa who got 950 votes; Gray County Judge Carl Kennedy of Pampa who received 905 votes; and R.D. (Jimmy) Wilkerson who received 950 votes. The vote tally was announced by Wanda Carter Friday.

Other nominees to the board who did not receive enough votes to win a spot were Dick Bode of Alanreed-no votes; Leslie Darsey of McLean 300 votes; Fred Vanderburg Sr. of Grandview-Hopkins who received 15 votes; and R.B. White who received 5 votes.

The formation of the board culminates a two-year legal battle which has seen the nine taxing units battling in court, reaching compromises, and then disagreeing again.

Senator Bentsen Says Bill Ends Threat To Highway Funding

Washington, D.C. -- Senator Lloyd Bentsen on Wednesday said the Environment and Public Works Committee has approved a highway bill which ends a threat to interstate highway funding in Texas and other states.

Bentsen, ranking Democrat on the Transportation Subcommittee--which has jurisdiction over highway legislation--said the bill eliminates a proposed redefinition of interstate highways which would have cost Texas some $800 million over the next several years.

"Our committee completed action on the 1981 highway act today. It is a five year bill, which authorizes funding of $7.6 billion for fiscal 1982," Bentsen said.

complete its fine system of interstate highways.

The change which Bentsen was successful in pushing for eliminates a proposal to re-define interstate highways, excluding some sections of the system from federal interstate funding.

Part of the redefinition, for example, would have denied interstate funding for the construction of any interstate highway lanes in excess of four in rural areas or in urban areas of less than 400,000 population and lanes in excess of six in urban areas with populations of more than 400,000.

The redefinition, among other things, would have also excluded some segments of the interstate system in Texas which originally built with state funds and which need improvements to come up to interstate standards. In total, Texas would have lost some $800 million in interstate funds had the redefinition not been changed in the bill at Bentsen's urging.

"The proposed change in the interstate program would have proven costly and disruptive to the long-range highway plans of the individual states. It is better, I believe, to

Sarpalius Named To Justice Committee

AUSTIN--Sen. Bill Sarpalius (d-Hereford) has been named by Lieutenant Governor Bill Hobby to a legislative committee that will study the entire criminal justice system of Texas.

The Special Interim Committee on the Criminal Justice System of Texas will put an end to the piecemeal fashion in which crime control has been studied in the state in the past, Sarpalius said.

"In an effort to aid law enforcement in the past, the Legislature has had a tendency to give a grant to one agency or another," Sarpalius said. "This is fine, but sometimes emphasizing one state agency has hurt another crime-fighting agency that is just important."

"Now, we can coordinate our efforts and put our resources where they really will do the most good to fight crime," Sarpalius said.

exempt from taxation a portion of the market value of a residence homestead.

PROPOSITION NO. 7 would authorize the Veterans Land Board to issue and sell an additional $250,000,000 in bonds increasing the Veterans Land Fund's total bond issuance authorization from $700,000,000 to $950,000,000.

PROPOSITION NO. 6 authorizes the governing body of a county, city, school district or other political subdivision to PROPOSITION NO. 5 would exempt livestock and poultry from taxation. Currently, farm products in the hands of the producer and family supplies for the home and farm use are exempt.

PROPOSITION NO. 4 would provide that one-half of the surplus tax revenues above the spending limit of the Texas State Constitution would be placed in a Water Assistance Fund to be used as provided by law, including projects for water development and conservation.

PROPOSITION NO. 3 would enable the legislature to grant a state finance man-

Tigers Fall To Claude

A sparse McLean crowd of Tiger boosters traveled to Claude Friday night only to have their hopes for a Tiger victory trampled in a 35-0 stampede by the Claude Mustangs. The loss was a second in district football action for the Tigers, who have not entered touchdown territory since their 13-0 victory over Silverton Sept. 18.

Friday's cold weather didn't help McLean gel as a team, and Claude took advantage of the deficit, beginning a touchdown sweep late in the second quarter as Mustang Kim Knox scored on a 37-yard run with less than four minutes left.

That initial score, and its successful extra point kick by Reagan Haney, saw Claude through the rest of the first.

With the onset of the second quarter Claude continued its roll to victory. With 10:54 showing on the clock, Todd Brown snared to David Norwood pass to take touchdown honors, and Haney repeated his successful extra-point boot to bring Claude to 14.

Less than two minutes later the Tigers were stunned by a 75-yard scoring pilgrimage by Mustang David Wood. Then Clint Cope caught a long Norwood bomb to move the ball from Claude's own 26 past the McLean goal line. And with little more than two minutes left Tim Knox repeated his scoring performance by taking in a Wood's pass to up the ante for the Mustangs.

Haney's aim remained flawless throughout, and the Mustangs left the half with 35 points under their belts.

If McLean's offense had been able to get out of neutral there might have been a chance for the Tigers, since defensively they were charged enough to prevent any scoring during the second half of the game. But McLean was unable to throw its offense in gear, gaining only 93 yards during the game, compared to Claude's whopping 413 total. McLean did manage to continue to hold down their own penalties from the early season's out-of-control errors, getting called only four times for a 30 yard total. The Tigers were accredited with seven first downs, but those could not compare to the eleven long downs gained by Claude.

October 30 the Tigers will meet Miami in further out-of-town action. The game is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Cubs Win Game At Lefors 20-0

The McLean Junior High Cubs moved into the winning column Thursday night with a 20-0 victory over the Lefors Bandits. Russell Littlefield scored from the seventy-yard line, and then ran for a two-point conversion. In the second quarter, Jim Ridgway ran from the 45-yard line to raise the score to 14 points for the Cubs. The PAT was no good.

In the third quarter, quarterback Kirk Anderson scored from the 1-yard line, and after the PAT failed, the score stood at 20-0. The game ended with no further scoring.

The Cubs will play Groom here Thursday night at 6:30 p.m.

IRS Says Flood Damage Deductible

The Internal Revenue Service advises victims of flooding caused by recent heavy rains that they may be eligible to claim casualty losses on their 1981 returns.

Losses to business property are generally deductible in full. Personal property loss deductions are limited to the amount of loss exceeding $100 for each occurrence.

To claim a casualty loss a taxpayer must be able to substantiate the loss. Victims should compile a list of those items damaged or destroyed and determine their value immediately before and after the loss occurred.

Another Flaw In SB621

The recent method of electing a board for the Gray County Appraisal District has pointed up another flaw in the elective Senate Bill 621 which authorized the county-wide tax district. The bill called for the governing bodies of each taxing entity in the county to cast a certain number of votes for candidates which had been nominated previously.

The votes were prorated among the taxing bodies based on the amount of taxes each group collects.

The flaw in the law is that no exact time for the election was set, so a board with a large number of votes could wait until all the other boards had voted, and then put all their votes on one candidate, and thus unjustly swing the election.

In Gray County, the nine taxing bodies met over a two-week period to vote for the board. The results of the vote from each body were given to County Clerk Wanda Carter who tabulated the ballots and announced the winners last week.

In one election, that of the Gray County Commissioners Court, the judge and commissioners decided that it was important that the results of their vote not be known because the City of Pampa and Pampa School board had not voted yet.

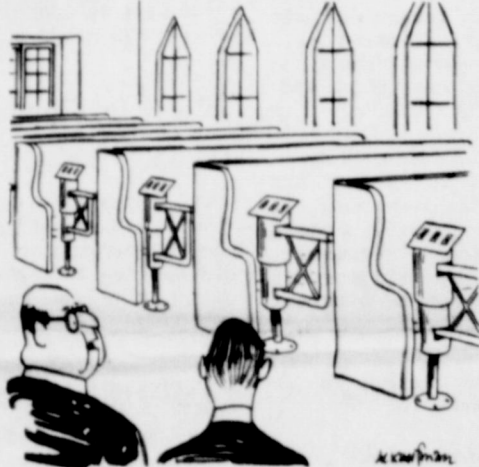

So the vote was taken in an executive session.

My understanding of the Texas Open Meetings Law leads me to believe that this action is a direct violation of the letter of that law. I understand Judge Kennedy's reasoning behind the move, and I agree that the votes of his group, if announced, could have given some other taxing body an unfair advantage in "loading" the vote. I believe that the commissioners were correct in their assumption that they didn't want to influence the vote of another body, but I do not believe in that "bending" a law is the correct way for a governing body to proceed.

The problem, however, is with the original flawed legislation. I hope that our Senator Bill Sarpalius or our representative Foster Whaley chooses to propose an amendment to the bill, so that our school boards, city councils, and commissioners will not be faced with the same quandary two years from now when it comes time to elect a new appraisal board.

Amendment Information

Tuesday you will have the opportunity to influence the future of your state when seven constitutional amendments will be on the ballot. The experts predict that less than 10 percent of the qualified voters in the state will bother to vote in this election, so every single vote is vital. Those same experts are also predicting that around half of the votes cast will come from Houston where there is a hotly contested mayor's race to draw the voters to the polls.

So if you are concerned about our big city neighbors swinging the election, I suggest that you make sure that you vote and that you take your friends with you to the polls.

These seven proposed amendments, if passed, would be added to the 242 amendments already tagged onto our patched-up constitution. When deciding whether to vote for or against an amendment, I'm inclined to vote against unless I thoroughly understand all the ramifications. Sometimes these innocuous little amendments can mushroom into monstrous laws through the process of interpretations by the legislature and the courts.

So beware. Here's a brief summary of some pro's and con's on the seven constitutional amendments.

PROPOSITION # 1 will "authorize cities, towns, and other taxing units to encourage the improvement, development, or redevelopment of certain areas through property tax relief and the issuance of bonds." The supporters of this amendment say that this would bring prosperity to underdeveloped areas in cities. Others say that the amendment would shift more tax burden to healthy areas. Also letting cities be in the speculative development field might cause all kinds of future financial problems. I will vote No on this one.

PROPOSITION # 2 will "authorize the commissioner of the General Land Office to issue patents for certain public free school fund land held in good faith under color of title for at least 50 years as of Nov. 15, 1981." This amendment would affect only a very few people, but it would correct an inequity in the law. I know of no opposition to this particular amendment. I will vote Yes on this one.

PROPOSITION # 3 will "allow the legislature to grant to a state finance management committee the power to manage the expenditure of certain appropriate funds." The supporters of this amendment say that it will promote more efficient management of the state's money, might help do away with the expensive special session of the legislature and will provide a watchdog committee to supervise spending. The amendment has been endorsed by the governor, the lieutenant governor, and the speaker of the house. Those who are working against the amendment say that the law gives too much power to already powerful heads of state government. If it will prevent the special session, I'm all for it, I will vote Yes on this one.

PROPOSITION # 4 would "authorize the use of a portion of the excess revenues of the state for water development, water conservation, water quality, enhancement, and flood control purposes; authorize the use of the state's credit, not to exceed five hundred million dollars, to guarantee the bonds of cities, counties, towns, and other units of local government in the financing of projects for such purposes; increasing the interest rate that may be paid on previously approved, but unissued, state bonds; and authorizing a program to retire state bonds." The supporters say this bill will help communities finance water supply plans, water treatment, and flood control. Rep. Foster Whaley said he supported the bill, but I think there are too many provisions tacked on that give the Texas legislature too much leeway to spend our money, and the amendment covers too many vague areas other than water. The legislature needs to rewrite this one. I will vote No.

PROPOSITION # 5 will "provide for the inclusion of livestock and poultry with farm products as exempt from taxation." Whaley says this will help feedlots in this area, because many feeders are moving their cattle to another state where livestock is not taxed. Supporters say that only 1/4 of one percent of current tax revenue now comes from this tax, but those against the amendment say it will cost the state $7.8 million in revenue in 1982. However, loss of revenue in feedlots and ranches would be more detrimental to the state's economy than this loss of taxes. I will vote Yes for this amendment.

PROPOSITION # 6 will "authorize a political subdivision to provide property tax relief for owners of residence homesteads and changing certain property tax administrative procedures." This popular amendment will have wide appeal, since it appears to be "tax relief"; however, those against the bill say that both homesteads and business have been underappraised in the past and homesteads should not get an extra break now. Also this amendment's relief is "temporary and illusory", and will complicate the problems of tax appraisers. I will vote against this proposition.

PROPOSITION # 7 will "authorize issuance of additional bonds to finance the additional bonds to finance the veterans' land program and to increase the maximum interest rate allowable on veterans' land fund bonds." Supporters say this amendment will help veterans buy land, and that it costs no taxpayers money. Even though others object to the higher interest rates allowed, I think this is a good amendment. I will vote Yes on number 7.

Before you go to the polls, study these propositions carefully and decide which you will vote for. These amendments may have far-reaching effects on your pocketbook.

recent years, sometimes deserved and sometimes not, but I am always suspicious of any group or any politician who blasts the media and suggests more stringent controls. It may sound a little exalted or even a little stuffy, but it is us small town, independent editors who are keeping those politicians honest, and protecting your right to know what your government, your schools, and other public institutions are doing. Whether you decide to ignore that truth or not is your business, but at least it will be here for you to know if you so choose.

Last Saturday night, I attended a dinner honoring Senator Lloyd Bentsen, and thoroughly enjoyed visiting with Judge Don Cain and his wife Betty, an old teaching friend of mine, and Sheriff and Mrs. Rufe Jordan. I have to confess to you, though, that the highlight of my evening was the most luscious food I have ever been served at a banquet.

After sixteen weeks of being pretty strict on my Weight Watchers diet, I was determined not to "blow it" on the usual rubber-chicken banquet fare, so I really wasn't worried about the temptation of a formal dinner.

However, the caterers of this dinner really outdid themselves, and even Senator Bentsen said it was the best food he had eaten in many years on the banquet circuit.

The Big Texan prepared the food and brought it to the Civic Center. The appetizer was unleavened bread (sort of like a big cracker) and we passed around a large cheese ball which had been rolled in chives. The salad was fresh spinach topped with fresh mushrooms and accented with an artichoke heart which was filled with a sweet vinaigrette dressing.

But it was the main course which caused the diners to applaud! The Texan chefs came walking through the crowd with trays of flaming beef. I learned the dish is Beef Roulades, and is top sirloin which has been rolled around a French bread stuffing which has mushrooms and almonds in it. The meat is topped with a mushroom brandy sauce and simmered for about an hour and a half. It is then topped with a mushroom cap and then flamed just before serving.

The dessert was a crepe which was stuffed with fresh strawberries and cream.

Can you tell from my description how very much I enjoyed going totally off my diet? I'm not going to report to you how much weight I gained from that one meal, but I want you to know it was the most enjoyable few pounds I have ever added!

Trick or Treat, SMELL MY FEET, - BUT DON'T PUT BUCKSHOT IN MY SEAT!

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

TIME TO GO VOTE

AUSTIN -- Many have complained about the Texas Constitution -- about its length, complexity and frequent changes. It's not a perfect system.

Despite its weaknesses, it also has its strengths. The greatest strength it has, we think, is its responsiveness to the voters -- to you.

You have a chance to participate more in your state government than the citizens of nearly any other state. You have that chance on Tuesday, November 3, at the polls. We hope you take advantage of the chance you have.

You will be voting on these seven amendments:

1. Bonding authority for cities and counties to encourage redevelopment of decaying areas, which would be known as "reinvestment zones" or "enterprise zones."

2. Good titles for people who bought land in good faith and have lived on it and paid taxes on it for 50 years or more.

3. A committee of high-level state officials to oversee the state's budget when the Legislature is not in session.

4. Dedication of half the state's surplus revenue to try to make sure Texas does not run out of water in the future. This is undoubtedly the most important issue in the election.

5. Exemption of livestock and poultry in the hands of the producer from property tax.

6. Local option exemption of up to 40% of the appraised value of homesteads.

7. Authorization for additional bonding authority for Veterans' Land Fund.

All of these amendments affect all Texans to one degree or another. One of them, Amendment No. 4, the Water Trust Fund, affects us in the Panhandle and the South Plains to a tremendous degree. We hope you all will vote for water for Texas -- there is no substitute for it.

November 3 is your chance to protect your interest in the government of this state. It is too important a chance to throw away.

We want to know what you think about how we could improve the government of Texas. Please write to Senator Bill Sarpalius, P. O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.

Green Thumb Workers Learn To Job Hunt

Green Thumb workers in Armstrong, Briscoe, Donley, Gray, Hall and Wheeler counties met Tuesday, Oct. 22 at Memphis City Hall complex to learn some "tricks of the trade" when it comes to finding permanent jobs in their home communities.

The workers participated in a "job hunt" session to teach them how to re-assess their job interests and to promote themselves to local employers.

The nearly 44 Green Thumbs are now working under the sponsorship of non-profit community organizations such as schools, senior centers, libraries, museums, community centers, colleges and housing centers.

The Green Thumb program stresses the needed rural community services when it places a worker with a sponsor. A primary goal of the program is to assist workers in finding permanent, non-Green Thumb employment to meet their individual needs.

Green Thumb, an equal opportunity employer, is the oldest federal senior citizen employment and placement program in the nation. Sponsored by National Farmer's Union, Green Thumb has been active in Texas since 1970 and now has workers in 107 counties.

Electricity.

Knowing what it's worth is worth knowing.

One thing we've probably all learned is to have an appreciation of things that have worth and to know their value. How would you rate yourself on knowing the value of the electricity you use? Take this simple exercise

- How much was your electric bill last month? $ _____
- Divide 30 into your answer to Number 1. This was the approximate cost of your electricity per day $ _____
- How many people are in your family? _____
- Divide Number 3 into Number 2. This was the cost of your electricity per day per family member $ _____

Knowing what electricity is worth is worth knowing. Just look around.

For those of you who plan to start your holiday candy making early, here are two old-fashioned candy recipes that are different, and really delicious.

PIONEER POTATO CANDY
1 c. warm unseasoned mashed potatoes
1/2 tsp. salt
2 tsp. vanilla
2 lbs. confectioners sugar
1 lb. chocolate for dipping
1/2 c. ground salted peanuts or 1 c. shredded coconut

Combine potatoes, salt, and vanilla in 4 qt. mixing bowl. Sift confectioners sugar over potatoes, stirring and adding about 1 c. at a time. Mixture will liquify when first sugar is added, then gradually begin to thicken. When it becomes the consistency of stiff dough, knead it even though all sugar has not been added (likewise, add more sugar if needed.) After kneading, cover with a damp cloth; chill until a small spoonful can be rolled into a ball. Shape in small balls. Dip balls in melted chocolate, then roll in peanuts or coconut.

CARAMEL WALNUT ROLL
1 1/4 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
1/2 c. sugar
1 1/2 cup dark corn syrup
6 tablespoons butter
1 c. evaporated milk
1/2 tsp. vanilla

1/8 tsp. salt
2 c. walnut halves
Combine sugars and syrup in 3 qt. heavy saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Cook until syrup reaches firm ball stage (245 degrees) and is thick. Add butter, stirring to melt. Slowly add evaporated milk so mixture continues to boil, stirring constantly. Continue cooking until mixture again reaches 245 degrees. Remove from heat, add vanilla and salt.

Pour into buttered 13 x 9 x 2 pan. Cool until candy is firm enough to handle easily.

Spread walnut halves on waxed paper measuring the same size as pan. Turn candy out on top of walnuts and roll as for jelly roll, pressing nuts into caramel.

Divide roll into thirds and make 3 small rolls. Wrap rolls in waxed paper or slice and wrap pieces individually in waxed paper. Makes 3 small rolls or 3 dozen pieces.

HOMEMAKER NEWS

What's Halloween on even this time of year without our friend the pumpkin? Attractive, versatile, tasty, colorful, and nutritious. The pumpkin adds personality to our meals and festivities. Pumpkin has been described as "the fruit which the Lord fed his people with till corn and cattle increased." When the first settlers came to America, they found the fields full of the strange, orange vegetable the Indians had been growing. For the early colonists, pumpkin was the difference between survival and starvation. Pioneer women adapted some of their own recipes and concocted pumpkin pies, puddings, breads and cakes. The first New England pumpkin "pie" was made by cutting the top from the pumpkin, removing the seeds and filling the cavity with milk, spices, and maple syrup. Baked until tender, this was a harvesttime favorite.

PUMPKIN SELECTION AND STORAGE
The best supply of pumpkins is available during October. Look for firm, brightly colored pumpkins which are free from blemishes. Store fresh whole pumpkin in a cool, dry place. Use within one month.

PUMPKIN PREPARATION

Wash the pumpkin and cut in half crosswise with a stout knife, remove the seed and strings. Pumpkin can be baked, boiled, or cooked in a microwave oven.

TO BAKE:

Place in a greased, shallow pan, shell up and bake at 375 degrees until the flesh is tender or about 30-45 minutes. When cool enough to handle, scrape flesh from rind and press through the sieve. A pumpkin that has served as a Jack-O-Lantern can be prepared in this way after all traces of wax and soot have been removed.

TO BOIL:

Cut pumpkin in squares and cook in a small amount of boiling, salted water, covered, for 20 minutes or until tender. Drain, scrape from the shell, mash.

Boiled pumpkin is much more moist than baked pumpkin and it may be desirable to heat the strained pulp over low heat with frequent stirring to evaporate some of the moisture before using in a pie.

MICROWAVE:

Wash pumpkin. Cut in one inch cubes. Add 1/4 cup water and 1 teaspoon salt to 1-1/2 quart dish. Add pumpkin, cover, and cook 6-7 minutes per pound.

TRY TOASTED PUMPKIN SEEDS

Don't throw away one of the tastiest snacks you can have! Toast those pumpkin seeds and serve your family and friends a new taste treat.

TO TREAT:

Rinse seeds to clean fibers from seeds. Spread seeds in a jelly-roll pan. Bake 15 minutes at 350 degrees or until lightly browned. Stir occasionally.

TO MICROWAVE:

Arrange an even layer of seeds in glass pie plate. If desired, sprinkle lightly with salt. Cook 5-7 minutes or until seeds are crisp, stirring every minute.

PUMPKIN IS NUTRITIOUS

Pumpkin is an excellent source of vitamin A and is relatively low in calories. Vitamin A is necessary in the body for healthy vision; maintenance of membrane linings of the skin, body passages, and cavities and optimum growth. A one-half cup serving of pumpkin contains 40 calories.

This October, treat yourself to a Halloween Jack-O-Lantern and then enjoy the taste and nutrition the pumpkin has to offer in its many delicious forms.

Notes From Your County Agricultural Agent

by Joe Van Zandt

STOCKER CATTLE ANALYSIS

Cattle operators who are considering buying stocker cattle to run on wheat pasture through the winter have several decisions to make such as sex, weight, and quality of cattle to purchase. Other decisions affecting the management such as whether to supplement feed grain and whether to hedge the cattle must be determined.

A Stocker Cattle Budget Analysis Computer program has been designed to aid producers in making management decisions. This program offered by the Extension Service has been well received by area producers. Efforts have been made to make the date input forms and the program capabilities more functional under a wide variety of production situations.

We have a supply of data input forms and would be glad to assist anyone in completing the necessary information. Sound decisions need to be made today and this computer analysis certainly is a tool sharp operators can use in looking at various management decisions so more profit can be realized when the cattle are sold.

PEACH TREE BORER TREATMENT

The peach tree borer is the most destructive pest of peach trees in Gray County. The borers feed near the soil line between the bark and wood often girdling the cambium layer of the tree. When this occurs, the tree soon dies because all water and nutrients are transferred from the roots to the leaves through the cambium layer.

The best way to determine if a peach tree is infested by these borers is to inspect the trunk of the tree at the soil line. When large masses of gum which contains a brown sawdust like material is found at the base of the tree, peach tree borers are present. Peach trees should be inspected several times a year to determine if control measures are needed for this pest.

These borers can be controlled by an application of paradichlorobenzene crystals applied around the base of the tree during the period of October 20 to November 15. The use of these crystals in the proper manner will, in most cases, eliminate the infestations. The crystals should be removed from around the base of the tree and the soil leveled one foot from the tree trunk. Place the crystals in a narrow groove encircling the tree about two inches from the tree trunk. Clean soil should be placed over the crystals so as to form a cone-shaped pile about six inches high around the base of the tree. When putting and compacting the soil around the base of the tree, care should be taken not to push any of the crystals against the tree. During the winter, the peach tree borers that are at the base of the tree will be killed. In late March or early April, the cone-shaped pile of dirt should be removed from the base of the tree.

The amount of paradichlorobenzene crystals to be used is determined by the age and size of the tree. In general, one-half ounce of crystals should be used for two or three year old trees, three-fourths ounce for four to five year old and one ounce for mature trees.

Where peach tree borers are a problem, the use of this control measure for this pest will greatly lengthen the life of the peach tree.

FALL SPRAY PROGRAM

Fall is the time to spray for prevention and/or cure of several diseases.

Pine trees with needle cast problems should have been sprayed twice in September, 10 days apart with Kocide 101, Maneb, Zineb, or Bordeaux. I would still spray now if you missed doing it in September.

Peach trees with bacterial spot on the leaves and fruit in the spring time also need spraying now. Spray when you can run your hand down the terminal shoots and 50% of the leaves come off in your hand. Also this spray will control bacterial stem canker and coryneum blight. Use Kocide 101 at the rate of one ounce per three gallons of water.

Conservationist Announces Great Plains Program

The Great Plains Conservation Program administered by the Soil Conservation Service is available to farmers and ranchers to help improve their land through soil and water conservation according to Lee McDonald, SCS District Conservationist. GPCP offers landowners cost-share assistance to carry out a complete conservation program. During fiscal year 1981, which ended September 30, thirteen farmers and ranchers in Gray County used the Great Plains Program to improve their land. A total of $23,217 was spent by the government through this program to help conserve our non-renewable resources," McDonald said.

Since 1959, two-hundred five contracts covering 273,000 acres or 45 percent of the county have been served by the Great Plains Conservation Program. This represents about three-quarters of a million dollars of cost-share assistance provided to the Gray County conservation effort. Practices installed with GPCP help include: terraces, waterways, critical area treatment, livestock pipelines, wells, water storage facilities, pasture planting, range seeding, irrigation pipelines, ponds, windbreaks and wildlife planting.

Of all the elements of national defense, our strategic, or nuclear, capability is perhaps the most important. The existence of our strategic forces protect the United States itself from foreign attack, as surely as ships and forts did in the pre-nuclear age.

Only a strong strategic system can deter attack from another nuclear power -- which would know that they could not possibly "win" a nuclear exchange.

During the past decade, our superiority in that area has dwindled. It is essential that we modernize our forces so that our deterrent remains strong for the rest of this century. President Reagan has proposed a 5-point program to redress the inadequacies of our current forces. By and large, it is an excellent program, one I can support with few exceptions.

The program addresses the need for improved communications and control systems, a new long-range bomber, submarine forces, land-based missiles, and strategic defense.

Communications and Control refers to the survivability, performance and area of coverage of the radars and satellites used to warn us of a Soviet missile attack. It also includes the command centers that would direct U.S. strategic forces during a nuclear war and the way in which they would communicate with our forces. Improving these systems is essential if we are to have the capability to use our weapons systems.

In the area of strategic defense, the Administration's program calls for upgrading, in coordination with Canada, the North American air surveillance network. This would include defensive systems ranging from radars to anti-satellite capabilities, as well as civil defense.

Loose Marbles
by Lisa Patman

Corn Colonel Dempsey got his name during our high school days when, for lack of anything else to do, we used to have night-time army maneuvers in the Panhandle countryside. Dempsey's ammunition invariably was a bag of corn chips hence the name.

The Colonel certainly was an interesting character to look at. Having been born with a chronic sinus problem which prevented him from breathing through his nose, and plagued with a persistent optimism that forced him to smile all the time, his facial characteristics, though endearing to those of us who loved him, were a bit disturbing to the unprepared since the Colonel usually had bugs in his teeth. It was a fact that he could collect more monarch butterflies with his incisors than a tourist with a '57 Chevy bug screen. He said he didn't mind though; they were a good source of protein.

The Colonel's favorite shopping spot was, of course, the local army-navy surplus store, and among his bargains were an old pilot's cap and a used parachute. One of the greatest joys of his life was to jam the cap down over his ears, high-tail it down Main Street in his beat-up convertible, and when he had reached the amazing speed of 30 miles an hour, toss the chute out the back--then try to keep the local constable from arresting him for being a public nuisance. He also liked to try to catch coyotes with a butterfly net, but was never successful so far as I can remember.

The last time I saw the Colonel we were all grown up and had settled into semi-responsible positions in life. He had a steady job, had lost all his hair, and had his sinuses fixed. I must admit I was disappointed to find him so normal and civilized. I had thought that he, of all of us, would have been able to hold on to the eccentricities that fill life with delight. Then he took off his shoes, and I stared in amazement at his three-inch-long toenails.

He gave a little chuckle, pointed to his feet, and said "I'm growing those in protest of cruelty to grapes." Then he grinned. I could have sworn he still had bugs on his teeth.

The heart of our strategic system is the "triad" of weapons systems on land, in the sea and in the air. The Administration's program addresses all three of these areas.

For our sea-based forces, it includes an improved missile, with greater accuracy and a larger payload. It also calls for building Trident submarines at a steady rate and deploying Cruise missiles on many ships and submarines.

As for the air-based leg of the triad, our B-52 bombers which have served us so well for many years need to be replaced by a new long-range bomber. The Administration's program calls for a vigorous program to develop a bomber using advanced -- or "stealth" -- technology. In addition, the Administration proposes to develop a variant of the B-1 bomber to use during the period until the advanced technology bomber can be developed. The B-1 can be used to launch Cruise missiles, even after the Stealth bomber is in use.

We in the Senate Armed Services Committee will be looking closely at this recommendation to see how best to use limited available money in the best way to ensure that we have a viable replacement for the B-52's during this decade.

The final element of the strategic modernization package is the MX missile. This missile is a major improvement over our existing Titans and Minutemen, and its development is vital to our national defense.

I do not approve of the President's recommendation for deploying the missile in the existing missile silos instead of developing a deceptive basing mode. It is my view, and that of the military experts, that only a deceptive basing mode will provide us the survivability we need to maintain an effective land-based deterrent.

The Armed Services Committee will be looking closely to the various basing modes for the future. But, in the interim, development of the missile itself must continue.

Word has been received that two McLean students, Roger E. (Ernie) McCracken and James W. (Butch) Carter, have been given the high honor of being initiated into Alpha Chi. Alpha Chi recognizes and promotes scholarship. Membership is elected from the ten top ranking tenth of the junior and senior classes, on the basis of grade average.

Ray Mac Blaylock was honored with a party on his 6th birthday, at his home. Those attending were: Stevie Albur, Mikie Patterson, Alicia Marsh, Anna Jean Lamb, Eddy Brooks, Mark Tate, Vonda Heasley, Robert Swamer, Bryan Smitherman and Bernard Shaw.

Mrs. J.E. Morrow, Mrs. Bill Bailey and Mrs. Earline Smith were in Amarillo Monday to attend to business.

Nona Ruth Beck was crowned McLean High School football queen Friday night at the McLean-Memphis football game. She was attended by queen nominees Alta June Watson and Mary Ann Carter.

Taking a well-earned week off from the District 2-A championship fight are the McLean High School Tigers, who last Friday pushed to the limit in salvaging a bare 13-12 victory over the powerful Memphis Cyclones.

David McPherson, owner of the Conoco Station in McLean, was injured Monday night when the car he was driving plunged off Highway 66 into a deep ravine, about nine miles west of Alanreed. Extent of his injuries was not learned here. He was taken to the Groom Hospital for treatment, and was suffering considerably when taken there. The car was badly damaged, but apparently did not overturn.

rolling over the highly touted Wellington Skyrockets 19-3. The Skyrockets scored early in the first period when McLean on a fumble lost the ball on their own four yard line. The Rockets failed to penetrate the strong Tiger line in three tries and kicked a field goal on the fourth down. On the next kickoff, Cooke, Dyer and Lee carried to the one yard line where Dwight smashed over for the first touchdown. The try for conversion failed. Cooke scored McLean's next touchdown with his fancy broken-field run in the second period. He also kicked the point. Lee scored the Tigers third and final score in the third quarter of the game. The Rockets concentrated on Lee all during the game, giving the other Tiger backs the field. With the cooperation of the Tiger line, Cooke completed 9 out of 11 passes. Next Friday night the Tigers meet the Lefors Pirates, who are also untied and undefeated.

"Col. Erasmus R. Tack" editor of the Amarillo Daily News and Globe, promised Supt. G.C. Boswell and The News editor to speak in McLean at an early date. Tack said that we could expect him some time within the next few weeks to speak at the high school auditorium and meet the Lions Club at noon.

Friday afternoon at 3:15 on the local field, the McLean Tigers will play the Mobeetie eleven. Fans will recall that on last Nov. 11 Mobeetie went away with the big end of a 12 to 6 score. The Tigers will be out there Friday to avenge the score of last year, and fans may rest assured that, regardless of the score, they will see a good game.

4-H CORNER

GUN SAFETY CLASS

4-H members who are planning to participate in the 4-H rifle project for the first time will meet in the Gray County Courthouse Annex at 7 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 29 to begin a gun safety course.

The course will be held Thursday for 5 to 6 weeks with the exception of Thanksgiving. This course is a must for all beginning 4-H rifle project members.

More information is available by contacting Carl Gibson or Joe VanZandt at 669-7429, Johnny Murrell at 665-3365, or Lee Cox at 665-4424.

FOODS AND NUTRITION

4-H Food groups are meeting at this time in preparing for the County Food Show. Members have participated in six class meetings and had the opportunity to learn about food nutrition, food buying, food safety, food preparation, meal planning, and social and cultural roles. Each member will prepare one dish to be judged at the County Food Show. The County Food Show will be held Saturday, November 14 with the awards program and the public viewing beginning at 4 p.m. The public is invited to attend and view the foods prepared by the 4-H'ers.

More information is available by contacting Carl Gibson or Joe VanZandt at 669-7429, Johnny Murrell at 665-3365, or Lee Cox at 665-4424.

FIREARM SAFETY TAUGHT

The hunting season offers youth who have participated in the 4-H Shooting Sports program an opportunity to practice their skills.

With thousands of people enjoying hunting with friends and relatives, young, safe hunters can take the lead in avoiding accidents.

Hunters are reminded that most accidents occur in and around private homes and vehicles. Youth and adults should review the following 10 commandments of gun safety and apply them at all times in all locations.

Treat every gun with respect due a loaded gun.

Watch that muzzle! Carry your gun safely. Keep the safety on until ready to shoot.

Unload guns when not in use, take down or have actions open. Guns should be carried in cases to shooting area.

Be sure the barrel is clear of obstructions and that you have only the proper-sized ammunition for the gun you carry.

Be sure of the target before you pull the trigger. Know identifying features of the game you hunt.

Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot. Avoid all horsplay. Never climb a tree or fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun. Never pull a gun toward you by the muzzle.

Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or water. At target practice, be sure your backstop is adequate.

Store guns and ammunition separately, beyond reach of children.

Avoid alcoholic beverages before or during hunting.

The Texas 4-H Shooting Sports program is conducted through the county Extension office with the help of volunteer leaders. If you would like to participate, contact the county Extension office for more information.

COUNTY 4-H FOOD SHOW SET

4-H'ers will match foods and nutrition against each other in the Gray County 4-H Food Show November 14.

About 55 youth will compete in senior and junior divisions, according to Deana Finck, County Extension Agent.

Awards and public display will be from 3:45-4:30 p.m. at the Courthouse Annex in Pampa.

Senior division entrants are ages 14-19, while junior division youth are ages 9-13.

For the contest, each 4-H entrant will compete in one of four classes, including main dish, fruits and vegetables, bread and cereal, or nutritious snacks and beverages.

This year's theme is "Gobble Up a Nutritious Dish."

"Because the foods and nutrition program focuses on nutrition, each contestant will have to demonstrate what he or she knows about nutrition, meal planning, food buying and meal service, as well as preparation techniques."

Gray County 4-H Food Show is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas A&M University System and the Morrison Milling Company of Denton, Texas.

LET'S KEEP THE WATER RUNNING IN TEXAS!

In cities and towns all across Texas, local water problems are threatening to erupt into one enormous statewide crisis. Countless communities are facing growing water supply, water treatment, sewage treatment and flood control problems estimated to cost a staggering $50 billion over the next 25 years. To make matters worse, federal funds for water projects have recently been slashed.

But on November 3, Texans have the opportunity to adopt a plan, already passed by two-thirds of the legislature, which would harness a portion of our state's budget surplus to help shoulder that heavy local burden.

The plan is proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 4.

Passage of Amendment No. 4 would:

- Make possible the sale of more than $200 million in authorized and urgently needed state bonds to address a backlog of needed projects.
- Create a loan guaranty program to enable local communities to save millions of dollars in issuing future bonds.
- Begin to build a "nest egg" for the future from a part of the state's budget surplus to assist local governments in financing future water and sewage projects.

Texas' water needs must be met, either now or in the future. We can act now, and save money... or pay the higher price later for our neglect, with possible increased taxes. Sensible action now makes much more sense for Texas.
