The McLean News

Serving McLean and the Area Since 1903

Volume 78 McLean, Gray County, Texas 79057 Thursday, September 24, 1981 Price 25¢ Number 38

If you are a regular reader of The McLean News you will notice that the paper looks a little different this week. Our trusty, reliable Compugraphic typesetter lost its 'i's' Monday, so we borrowed an electric typewriter from the Shamrock Texan to set the copy for our paper this week. Then, finding that we couldn't stand going back to the old style, we had the copy set on the Compugraphic anyway, typing an "i" where the "i's" should be. Armed with bottles of Liquid Paper we then carefully blotted out most of the "i's" in order that the copy might have some semblance of normalcy. You can see for yourself that this resulted in lots of words with undotted "i's". I hope it doesn't confuse you as much as it does us.

The Compugraphic is an absolute marvel of a typesetter, and we sure don't have any complaints about its performance up to now. We have had our machine for three and one-half years, and this is the first problem of any kind that we have had with it. There aren't many products you can say that about these days.

The part to fix our machine is being shipped to us from Massachusetts so hopefully we will have our "i's" back as soon as possible.

Problems with faulty equipment has to be one of the real headaches of the newspaper business. Whenever it happens, we panic around here for a few hours until we arrive at a workable solution.

The person who has taken the brunt of the hardwork during this calamity has been our typesetter, Connie Dwyer. We appreciate her efforts, and the extra hours of work.

Why do our big-city cousins think that life can only be busy and complicated in an urban area? Several times I have been asked by friends who live in big towns: What goes on in a town the size of McLean that is important enough to put in the newspaper?

At one time I know we had several readers (big-city natives) who lived in a fraternity house in Austin, and got a big charge out of reading the McLean briefs about who visited whom. The reports of club meetings, weddings, and

Tigers Stun Owls 13-0 For First McLean Win

The McLean Tigers ripped through a weak Owl defense to gain an early lead in Friday night's football action at Silvertown. Halfway through the first quarter of the game, Bill Skipper plowed through the line on a 19-yard touchdown run. Two minutes later, Brock Crockett pulled loose and carried the ball 73 yards to up the ante for McLean. Randall Wynn's extra point kick was good on the second touchdown, and the scoreboard read McLean 13, Silvertown 0. That total was to remain for the rest of the night, as neither team was able to grab more goal line turf.

With McLean's solid-half defense, Silvertown was held scoreless during the ball game, and Tiger fans were entertained by some fast-paced maneuvers with a frustrated Owl offense stubbing its toes on the McLean goal line as the first half buzzer sounded. Scott Stubbs added two quarterback sacks to his belt, and Tigers Van Boucher, Dudley Reynolds, and Bill

Skipper stymied several of Silvertown's pass attempts. McLean head coach Jack Dorsett had expected to see a passing game from Silvertown, but the air-borne display never took hold as the Owls completed only five out of 11 pass attempts. Of the 143 yards gained by Silvertown, 85 were on the ground. McLean gained 198 yards during the game, with only four in the airways. Brock Crockett tallied 108 yards on 17 carries, and Bill Skipper gained 79 yards on 18. Randall Wynn made a spectacular 70-yard punt return from the McLean 10.

But if the statistics look good for McLean, the penalties told another story. Mc-Lean garnered ten violation whistles from referees, while Silvertown escaped with only two. "We sure need to get those penalties under control; they really take away yardage," noted Dorsett. "Our main problem is young, over-eager players. They should be more controlled by the next ball game." McLean was called down for illegal procedure, clipping, holding, roughing the passer, and delay of game. Silvertown's offenses were for ineligible receiver and personal foul.

McLean dominated the scoreless second half, getting past the Silvertown 20-yard line

Officials Told To Solve Dispute Or Face Tax Trouble

By Deborah Bridges from The Pampa Daily News....

The executive director of the State Property Tax Board Thursday warned the eight taxing entities of Gray County that unless they resolve their two-year dispute on the formation of a single Tax Appraisal Board, they would have "serious problems" in trying to levy a 1982 ad valorem tax.

Kenneth Graeber, executive director of the state tax board in Austin, met Thursday afternoon with representatives of the local taxing entities in Pampa at the request of State Representative Foster Whaley.

Graeber said invalid tax rolls would be the penalty for not developing a tax appraisal board by Jan. 1, 1982. "The taxpayers would have the right to file suit in 1982," Graeber said, adding he believed the courts would never uphold their suits. "But, it would cost more money than you would believe and it would drag you through the courts for a long time."

The taxing entities of Gray County—the city of Pampa, Pampa Independent School District, Lefors and Lefors school district, McLean and McLean school district, Grandview-Hopkins school district and Alanreed school district—have been involved in a lawsuit since October 1979 concerning the validity of resolutions using the three-quarters rule of Senate Bill 621 which forms the single appraisal district for the county.

When asked if the entities would have to remove the suit in order to form the appraisal board Graeber commented "As far as I'm concerned that's a dead horse. Why don't you bury the thing?"

Graeber added the whole point of the suit will be "moot" (unarguable) question by Jan. 1, 1982.

Gray County joined the taxing entities in the central appraisal board Aug. 14, as stipulated in the Property Tax Code of the state constitution.

Graeber outlined several options for implementation by the taxing districts in order to be in compliance with the property tax code by Jan. 1, 1982.

"The entities could vote to postpone the formation of the central appraisal board until either 1983 or 1984. Two-thirds of the taxing units would have to agree on either the one-year postponement or the two-year postponement," he said.

"An interim board could be formed using persons already nominated by the taxing entities, that would serve as the appraisal board until the newly elected board could take office on Jan. 1, 1982.

"A central appraisal board could be elected Nov. 15 and serve an extended term."

Whatever the method chosen by the entities, Graeber pointed out that unless a tax appraisal board is formed and a budget developed by Dec. 1, state money allotted to the board which would give seven members to Pampa and Pampa school district, and six members to be divided between the other taxing units.

"This is critical. You have to remember that the people on the board represent the whole county. We are concerned about people, this is the crux of the appraisal district," the tax board representative said.

Graeber admitted that although he had outlined alternatives to forming the central appraisal board, no provisions to meet the situation were contained in the property tax code.

Pampa City Attorney Don Lane Friday said he had been notified that the oral arguments on the lawsuit between the city and school district of Pampa and Grandview-Hopkins Independent School District had been scheduled to be heard in the Court of Appeals in Amarillo on November 4 at 1:30 p.m. in Potter County Court House.

Lane said he had "no idea" what effect the meeting with Graeber Thursday would have on the suit.

Tax Meeting Monday Fails To Produce Appraisal Board Solution

City Councilman Charles Milam, school board president Jim Allison, and school superintendent Jim Rutherford represented their taxing entities at a meeting in Pampa Monday night to try to resolve the problems involved in forming the Gray County Appraisal Board. Representatives from the city of Pampa, Pampa School District, the city of Lefors, Lefors School District, Alanreed School District, and Grandview-Hopkins School District met in the court house to try to resolve difficulties concerning the number of members for the board.

According to Allison, about the only item that the group agreed on was that each taxing entity would pass a resolution to ask postponement of the appraisal board until 1983. "I don't think we have much choice at this late date. It is too late to form the board now," Allison said.

Representatives of Grandview-Hopkins and Pampa School District could not agree on the number of members that would be acceptable to the board. The matter is in negotiation at the present time.

Allison said that the groups would lose about $13,000 provided by the state for formation of the board. The county also lost $13,000 last year because the matter could not be resolved.

"Hopefully, each group will pass the resolution to postpone the board so that we can collect taxes legally next year," Allison said. Postponement of the formation of the board would leave the assessment and collection of taxes under the present system for 1982.

Cubs Blank Lefors 18 - 0

The McLean Cubs showed their claws Thursday evening as they slashed their way to an 18-0 victory over Lefors. It was the second game of the season for the Cubs, who were squeezed out by Miami, Sept. 10. Miami beat the Cubs 8-6 in a nail-biting battle which opened junior high school football action for McLean.

McLean scored early in the first quarter, as Russell Littlefield eluded the Lefors P rates in a 70-yard long touchdown run. Kirk Anderson made a five-yard jog in the third quarter to up the score to twelve, and Donnie Smith loped in 45 yards for McLean's third goal.

"The Cubs are really beginning to jell as a team," remarked coach Joe Riley. "Our defense is doing an especially good job. I'm really proud of the entire team; they're working super hard."

Next game for the Cubs is at Groom Sept. 24. The time has been moved up to 5:30 because of Groom homecoming activities.

The McLean high school junior varsity did not fare well Thursday evening, as they were downed by the Lefors JV 56-0. McLean's JV will not see action this week, however, as they have an open date.

It's On The Record!

From the Miami Chief...

There is no such thing as an off-the-record remark at a public meeting. We are putting this bluntly because we want our position to be clear. As we said once before, we consider ourselves to be unoffical delegates from the readers when we attend meetings or seek news about public affairs. If we attend ourselves to be told what to report and what not to report, we are doing a sorry job for the readers.

A City Council or school board or county commissioners' meeting in Miami is usually a casual affair, from what we have observed in our few weeks here. Sometimes a reporter from the Chief is the only outsider present. Under such circumstances it is hard not to feel that this is only a small social gathering and that nobody with taste and discretion would repeat in public any critical remarks made by those present. We do tend to feel that way. Our social impulses tell us that it would be a dirty trick to repeat such remarks. But, not to be too stuffy about it, we are convinced that we must fight such impulses if we are to do our job properly.

Informal though they may be, these are not social gatherings. They are meetings of duly constituted governmental bodies, and they are required by law to be open. And beyond the legal requirements--beyond the fact that it is lawful for us to report all that is said--it is the public's right to know what its elected or appointed representatives think and say about public affairs and what other members of the public say at governmental meetings. If a member of the City Council makes a critical remark about an elected or appointed official of some other entity--as happened at last week's council meeting, though in words that the reporter did not quite fully catch--then that is news, and it is nobody's privilege to say, "I had Kings' on that." Nor can the privilege be invoked ahead of time.

We hope that our position will not be interpreted as hostile to any local governmental body or to any member of it. On the contrary, we believe that members of these bodies must be exceptionally conscientious citizens, and we know that the present ones are amiable and hospitable people like practically everybody we have met here. We believe, furthermore, as a tenet of good journalism, that no paper should adopt what is called the adversary stance toward government. But neither should a paper be the mouth-piece of government. It should simply report what it sees and, more to the point now, what it hears.

If a remark made at a public meeting is newsworthy, it cannot be off the record. We should, and we will, report it.

showers, however, constitute only a small part of the news that we look for.

What happens in a town the size of McLean? Well, in any given week, if you want to attend everything that's happening in McLean, you could.....

go to a rodeo playday at the arena go to church three times during the week go to high school, junior high, junior varsity football games attend the school board meetings go to Lions Club

attend the Masonic Lodge meetings go to Beta Sigma Phi go to Pioneer Study Club meet with the Senior Citizens for a 42 game attend a City Council meeting watch a bike-a-thon attend a 4-H meeting attend the various meetings of the ladies groups from the different churches go to the Country Club attend the meetings of a dozen different school organizations

What goes on in McLean? Nothing, if you don't want to get involved. But if you're the kind of person that likes to be a part of things, you can stay busy every evening, just attending various events.

During the 1950's and the 60's and most of the 70's we just took it for granted that, in this country, you grow up and find a job and get married and buy a home.

Shelter is a basic necessity and it's long been a point of pride that the average American could buy a home without really giving it a second thought.

During the 1980's, however, home ownership has become an impossible dream for the average young American couple.

Only five percent of the people in the United States seeking to buy their first home can afford the average price of a new home and when you add to that price home mortgage rates of over 16 percent, then the dream of home ownership all but evaporates.

People buying a home don't look at the total cost, they look at what it costs a month. They hold their monthly paycheck in one hand and the monthly payment in the other and ask "can we fit this into our budget?"

If you buy an average-priced $69,000 home with a 30 year mortgage and a normal down payment, you'll find that the monthly payments are over $335 higher when mortgage rates are 16 percent--as they are today--than when they are at eight percent.

We need savings incentives in our tax code. But beyond that, we need savings incentives that are targeted to bring down soaring home mortgage rates, which have put the cost of a home beyond the reach of all but a few young Americans.

This year the Senate Finance Committee came up with the "All Savers" tax incentive to encourage Americans to save more. I supported this concept, but I didn't think it targeted enough aid to help those Americans who want to buy their own homes.

This summer, however, the Senate overwhelmingly approved my legislation which amended the "All Savers" provision to establish a savings tax incentive targeted at home mortgages.

My measure became law when Congress approved the 1981 tax bill this summer.

The "All Savers" provision as amended by the Senate permits financial institutions to issue savings certificates during the period October 1, 1981 through December 1, 1982. During tax years 1982-3 an individual would be able to claim a total exemption from federal income taxes of up to $1,000 in interest earned on these certificates. For married couples filing a joint return the exemption would rise to $2,000.

My amendment is intended to bring down home mortgage interest rates by pegging the savings incentive to housing. To issue eligible savings certificates a financial institution would be required to place at least 75 percent of the net gain in deposits or 75 percent of the face value of these certificates in assets related to housing or agriculture.

A savings incentive targeted at housing, such as mine, will help cut mortgage interest rates by boosting the amount of mortgage money that is available. It will also help revive the housing industry, create thousands of jobs and help spur a national economic renaissance.

I don't think Congress did everything it could have done in the tax bill to help struggling homebuyers. But this is a significant first step to restoring the dream of home ownership to the average American family.

Dixie Jo Crockett opened a new business in McLean Monday morning, and we wish her much success with it. Her store is called Yester Year Antiques and Collectibles, and the merchandise she has stocked is indeed beautiful. If you have not been in, be sure to visit this lovely place. Not only does she have some fabulous antiques, but she and her husband David have spent many hours renovating the building that once housed the McLean Cafe. It is not necessarily a place for children to visit because there are so many valuable and breakable antiques sitting around. But this store will certainly add a quality business to McLean and hopefully will draw more people to our town.

Those of you who are enrolled in the watercolor class should meet at the Calico Arts and Crafts Building Saturday morning at 9 a.m.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

GENERIC DRUGS COME TO TEXAS

AUSTIN -- Before the last session of the Legislature, Texas was one of only two states in the nation that did not allow its citizens to purchase generic prescription drugs. We changed that.

Generic drugs are prescription drugs identical to brand-name drugs. Generally, they are cheaper than the brand-name variety. It is the same principle many of us use in our normal shopping. Instead of buying a well-known brand of aspirin or antifreeze, we often buy the same thing in a plain package at a lower price.

Now, we can do the same thing at the pharmacy with prescriptions.

We included safeguards in this new law to make sure no patient was injured by the substitution. For one thing, the generic drug must be identical, either in its chemical formula or its therapeutic effect, to the brand-name drug.

Also, if either the patient or the doctor objects to the use of the generic substitutition, the pharmacist must fill the prescription exactly as the doctor wrote it.

Finally, the generic drug must be cheaper than the brand-name drug. If it were not cheaper, there would be no reason for the substitution.

We supported this legislation because we thought it would save money for the consumer. Many times, the price of an illness is more than people can bear. Many prescriptions are written for older people who may be on fixed incomes and cannot afford the higher brand-name prices.

We think this new law will help improve the quality of health care in Texas without spending state money or disrupting the free marketplace. That's one of the things we went to Austin to accomplish.

We would like to hear your suggestions on how to improve the quality of health care in this state. Please write to Senator Bill Sarpalius, P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower

U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

The failure of stock prices on Wall Street to rise with the enactment of the President's full economic package has caused consternation among observers of the economy. This concern is exaggerated beyond the level warranted by the situation. It would be a mistake to view the sluggish stock market as a portent of doom for the President's program.

In light of the historic inability of the federal government to control its deficits, some skepticism on the part of stock investors is certainly understandable. But at the same time, these reluctant investors are failing to see tangible indications that the Administration's program is taking hold. More than that, they seem to have forgotten that the legislation enacted in the Economic Recovery Program does not actually take effect until October 1.

In fact, interest rates on treasury bills -- used as a base figure in many interest rate calculations -- already are beginning to inch downward. I am hopeful that trend will continue.

Inflation is at the single-digit level, and all indications are that this trend will continue. Employment levels are holding up remarkably well.

The President is firmly committed to making enough additional cuts in federal spending to keep the deficit for this year at a manageable level. I might add that I am confident we will be able to find sufficient areas in domestic spending to eliminate to meet that pledge. Even national defense is taking a share of the cuts, with the $2 billion reduction in spending for fiscal year 1982, which the President has recommended, and I have reluctantly accepted.

In short, even the most skeptical observer should be optimistic about the success of the President's program. Interest rates remain a legitimate concern, but as the program begins to work -- and investors and consumers see that it is -- these rates should fall.

Further, the importance of Wall Street as an indicator of the success or failure of the economic program has been grossly exaggerated. So many factors and perceptions affect the short-term performance of stock prices that these fluctuations are not a good indicator of long-term economic health.

From April to September of this year, the Dow Jones Industrial average dropped by 17 percent. Yet, prior to that period stock prices rallied on the basis of the President's announcement of his legislative program. Does it seem logical that the announcement should spark confidence, but the keeping of these promises should cause consternation?

Further, this most recent drop is a relatively mild one, when compared to previous periods. In the two-month period from February to April of 1980, for example, the Dow Jones average declined by 16 percent. In the 17-month period beginning in September 1976, this price average dropped by 27 percent.

Certainly, I understand the concern of investors in all areas about high interest rates. But investors should at least give the Administration's program time to take effect and begin to work before they panic. And observers of the economy should not let the skepticism of stock investors shake their confidence in a viable, workable economic program.

Sen. Tower's Lubbock Office Burns; Constituents Asked To Resubmit Requests

U.S. Senator John Tower urged Texans who have sought his assistance in matters dealing with the Postal Service, Department of Commerce, or Department of Housing and Urban Development to get in touch with him again because of recent fire damage to those files.

An early morning blaze September 14 gutted the Senator's West Texas office in Lubbock where such constituent inquiries are filed. Many correspondence files were destroyed by the fire, according to Tower's West Texas director Chris Steed.

"I am very concerned that Texas who have written me get a prompt response," Tower said. "While this unfortunate incident may result in some delays, we are working quickly to determine which citizen's inquiries are affected."

Tower's Lubbock staff works closely with Texas communities and their officials in obtaining federal block grants through various HUD programs. Constituent cases involving the Commerce Department and postal questions also are handled there.

"I receive about 5,000 letters each week and more than a third of these relate to problems or requests involving the federal government," Tower noted. "In order to answer them promptly, I rely on the staff in my four Texas offices (Austin, Dallas, Houston, and Lubbock) who are expert at cutting red tape and speeding up action in the citizen's behalf."

Tower suggested that those citizens who believe their recent letter or case files may have been lost in the fire contact his Lubbock office director, Chris Steed, at the following address: Federal Building; 1205 Texas Avenue, Room 124; Lubbock, Texas, 79401. The telephone number is 806-762-7533.

The West Texas office, opened in June, 1980, serves citizens in the Panhandle, South Plains, Permian Basin, and El Paso areas.

California Man Cited For Bravery

The grandson of an Alareed couple will be cited for bravery following his efforts at rescuing two people from a wrecked truck. Bob Vinyard, 47, of Burbank, Calif., the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Gibson of Alareed, heard a loud crash and when he went outside saw a truck which had crashed into a parked auto and flipped over onto another vehicle. The truck was leaking gasoline when Vinyard and another man pulled the driver of the truck through the vehicle's rear window. The two men returned to extricate the stunned passenger. Gasoline continued to pour out of the ruptured fuel tank, Vinyard said.

"Those two men deserve a public commendation for bravery," said Burbank Police Det. Craig Ratliff.

Burbank Fire Department Battalion Chief Milford Johnson concurs and has forwarded a recommendation.

Despite leaking gasoline the two men returned to the vehicle and attempted to rescue the passenger who was in shock and resisting rescuers.

"I expected the whole thing to blow up," Vinyard said.

twice, while Silverton was unable to get farther than the McLean 25. "We made some mistakes," Dorsett added. "But basically we played a good game. Silverton threw a different defense than we had anticipated, but the team finally adjusted to it."

The Tigers are scheduled to face Wheeler Sept. 25. "We have a good chance to beat Wheeler," Dorsett said. "It will be their homecoming, and you know how they always schedule the easiest team for homecoming. We'll show them how easy we can be," he laughed.

Coach Joe Riley added "If we're going to beat Wheeler, this would be the year."

The Mustangs are 2-0 for the year, having defeated Booker last week in a 28-18 battle. Wheeler gained 367 yards, all rushing, in that competition. They earned only three penalties, intercepted three passes, and completed 20 first downs. Mustang Paul Bentley was responsible for 276 of the rushing yards.

Friday's game will begin at 8 p.m. at Wheeler.

State Sales Tax Changes Listed

AUSTIN—State Comptroller Bob Bullock Friday said persons and businesses who buy and sell items subject to the state's sales and use tax should be aware of changes in the law that are now in effect.

He said persons who have issued a resale certificate or an exemption certificate to acquire an item can now donate the item to a non-profit organization, religious or charity organization and not be liable for sales tax on the item.

"This means a merchant can take items from inventory and give them to any organization that's exempt from the sales tax and the merchant doesn't have to report the gifts as taxable purchases when they file their sales tax return," Bullock said.

Bullock pointed out that the Legislature expanded the categories of organizations that qualify for an exemption from sales tax if they are exempted from federal taxes by the Internal Revenue Service.

Provided the organization has a letter from the IRS saying it is exempt from federal taxes, Bullock said the categories now exempt from the state's sales tax include:

--Organizations such as Rotary, Optimists, Kiwanis, Junior Chambers of Commerce, Lions and Garden Clubs and some property owner associations that are exempt from federal taxes under Section 501 (c) (4) of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC).

--Fraternal societies such as Masons, Elks, Moose, Knights of Columbus, DeMolay and the Eastern Star that are exempt under Section 501 (c) (8) or Section 501 (c) (10) of the IRC.

--Organizations formed to benefit veterans such as the Air Force Association, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans that are exempt under Section 501 (c) (19) of the IRC.

Bullock said another change in the state law affects the amount of tax due when a person has issued either a resale or an exemption certificate to purchase an item and then uses the item for personal benefit for some period of time.

Instead of tax being due on the purchase price of the item, the amount of tax due will be equal to the amount that would be due if the person had rented the item for a period of time it was used for personal benefit, he said.

Max Brand's Best Western Stories

Edited with a Biographical Introduction by William F. Nolan

The great western writer Max Brand has thrilled fans for years with his universally accepted and enjoyed books of the old west. Max Brand was of course only one of the many pen names used by Frederick Faust, who wrote the equivalent of five hundred and thirty books containing thirty million words, and his writings have reached as many people as almost any author of any period. Faust used over 20 pen names for his many writings, which covered subjects as varied as fantasy, mystery, spy stories, adventure, the Arctic, the South Seas, westerns, war, historical romance, air-planes, sailing ships, spaceships, science fiction, animal stories, underworld, fashionable society, big business, and big medicine. Faust also engaged in writing plays and lyric and epic poetry on classical themes.

"Best Western Stories" of course deals with a subject which has grown in popularity in staggering amounts in recent years, and when the book is composed of the best of such an accomplished writer as Faust, they are sure to please all western story buffs.

Included in this volume is an introduction "Western Giant" about Faust written by famous writer William F. Nolan, and stories such as "Wine on the Desert," "Virginia Creeper," "MacDonald's Dream," "Partners," "Dust Across the Range," and "The Bells of San Carlos." All will thrill you from the front to the end. They are all characteristic of the stories by Faust which have thrilled millions for many years.

"Max Brand's Best Western Stories" is now available at Lovett Memorial Library.

Notes From Your County Agricultural Agent

by Joe Van Zandt

Open House for the Altus Cotton Classing Office will be held Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 28 and 29 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

This year the Altus Marketing Services Office will be using an Automatic Data Processing System (ADP) to record cotton classification electronically. The computer and all associated equipment will be in place and operational for demonstration.

This year, after 22 years of operation, the Memphis sub-office will not be opened, and arrangements have been made to class the entire '81 crop at Altus. Since this will mean an increased peak work-load, plans are under way and equipment in place to get the class cards to the producers without any anticipated extra delay.

This year, because of the Omnibus Reconciliation Act of 1981, beginning October 1, 1981, cotton producers will be charged a User Fee for cotton classing services provided by USDA. Arrangements are being made and facilities set up for the required Records, Billings, and Collections.

During the past 42 years the Altus Classing Office and the Memphis sub-office together have classed nearly sixteen million bales of cotton. If this year's harvest turns in a normal crop, the Altus Classing Office will grade around 500,000 samples.

The invitation to attend one or both of the two days of our Open House is extended to all interested cotton and cotton related industries.

SHORTCOURSE FOR NEW FRUIT GROWERS

Anyone interested in trying his hand at commercial fruit production needs good insight into exactly what is involved. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University System, can provide just that.

A special new Fruit Growers Shortcourse is set for Oct. 5 at Rudder Center on the Texas A & M campus. This will be a three-hour session starting at 6 p.m. that outlines the basics of fruit production in Texas.

The shortcourse will deal with planning and developing a complete orchard management program.

Information will be presented on variety selection, planting, weed control, water management, training and pruning plants, insects and disease control, economic investments, cash flow and estate planning.

Many people interested in commercial fruit production are often not familiar with the expense and hard work involved in establishing a new orchard. This shortcourse is designed to answer many questions that potential fruit growers may have and to give them some idea of all the details involved in commercial fruit production.

Following the shortcourse for new fruit growers will be a two-day Texas Fruit Growers Conference for those already in the business. The latest information on various phases of fruit production will be presented by growers, researchers and Extension staff.

Registration information on both the New Fruit Growers Shortcourse and the Texas Fruit Growers Conference is available from Tom Handwerker, Extension Horticulturist, Texas A & M University, College Station, Texas 77843 (telephone 713-845-7341). A $20 registration fee covers both programs, proceedings and membership in the Texas peach and Plum Growers Association.

1981 FARM BILL

As Congress gets back into session, attention will again turn to provisions of the 1981 farm bill.

This legislation needs to be completed by Oct. 1, reminds Dr. Ron Knutson, economist in marketing and policy with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University. Some very interesting yet conflicting forces have developed during the recess, however.

First, bills reported out of the House and Senate Agricultural Committees are not consistent with the Reagan farm bill proposals. Major inconsistencies include target prices and, in the case of the House bill, a milk price support of 75 percent of parity which is considered too high.

While the administration may be willing to accept the target price concept, it wants to lower wheat target prices from $4.20 per bushel to about $4 and also lower corn and cotton target prices. The Administration believes that with low farm prices, the Reagan farm programs spending limits will be exceeded, the economist says.

Many rural congressmen, concerned about their re-election prospects, now are keenly aware of the impact of declining farm income on the financial position of farmers. Lubbock Congressman Ken Hance, for example, has indicated he is going back to Washington to advocate an increase in the cotton loan rate from the proposed 55 cents per pound.

"It's difficult to predict how this conflict will be resolved. The answer likely rests on the extent to which the President is able to restore the momentum of support that he achieved before the recess when his tax package moved through Congress," Knutson said.

"Low farm price prospects bring us to the conflicting force. During the Labor Day recess, the USDA announced that 1980 farm income was only $19.9 billion—down 40 percent from 1979. And USDA admits that 1981 income may not be much better," Knutson says.

"And I say this is no time to be calling around for estimates!"

Let's All Cook Safely

NOTE TO PARENTS: Many times parents hesitate to let children do certain tasks because of the fear that their children will get hurt. It is wise to be cautious, but children can do many more advanced tasks than many parents realize.

Of course, knives and hot ranges can be dangerous. But if children are taught carefully and supervised with patience, they can learn to handle every piece of equipment in the kitchen.

These tips are written for children to follow and can be clipped for posting in your kitchen.

Sometimes you are having such a good time creating a tasty new dish that you forget to be careful... and, oops! There's a nasty cut or burn to spoil the fun.

These accidents can be avoided if you always remember to handle tools carefully, especially things that are sharp, hot, have moving parts, or that break easily. Have an adult work along with you until you feel comfortable with these things.

Knives:

- Pick up knives by the handles only, because the blades are very sharp.
- Watch out for the points, too. Knives should be put in dish drainers with the points down.
- Don't put a knife in a dishpan of water. Someone could reach in and get cut.
- When someone is using a knife on a cutting board, everyone else should keep their hands away.

Moving Parts:

- Electric mixers can be especially dangerous. Keep your hands far away from the moving beaters when the mixer is on.

- Even after turning the mixer off, keep hands away until the beaters have stopped rotating. Then, it's best to insert and remove the beaters while holding only the center post (see illustration).
- Keep the cord out of the way.
- Turn the mixer off to scrape the sides of the bowl.
- Handle the sharp parts of blenders and food processors with care... as if they were knives. Don't put your hand inside the container while the appliance is plugged in to electricity.

Range-Top Safety:

- Use potholders to hold pan handles.
- Do not wear long floppy sleeves or jewelry around the range; they could catch on something or touch hot range-top and ignite.
- Be careful of steam that rises from a hot pan when you raise the lid... or when you pour boiling water off cooked pasta.
- Never reach across range-top or touch it unless you are sure it is cold.
- Use a wooden spoon for stirring; it doesn't get hot.
- Keep towels, recipes, curtains, etc. away from the range-top.
- Turn handles of pans toward the center of the range, to keep pans from accidentally being tipped over.

Oven Safety:

- Use pot holders to remove pans or the racks from a hot oven.
- Always use a long-handled spoon or fork to baste, stir or test, to avoid burns.
- Sometimes the oven sides and door get hot, too; be careful.
- Be extra careful with the broiler; it gets very hot and grease may spatter.

Loose Marbles

By Lisa Patman

This time of the year can be so dull. You get the kids settled in school, get the dog his shots, then stand around waiting for the air to get crisp.

At our house we try hard not to let the season get us down. Just today, for example, we had an exciting last-piece-of-pie debate to keep our spirits up. You know the last-piece-of-pie routine, don't you?--

"Mouthful! He ate the last piece of pie!"
"It's because he had two pieces last night, the fat pig!"
"Did not!"
"Did too!"
"Did not!"
"Did too!".....ad infinitum

Old Dad has his own way of combating the "Good Grief! The grass needs mowing again!" blues. His favorite activity during these times is to tell me only the punch lines of jokes, then watch me slowly go crazy as I try to figure out what he is talking about. This morning I was awakened by a tender voice whispering "Are you chicken, Catcher Torre?" (The joke that goes to this punch line is not worth repeating. In fact, I'm terribly sorry I told you even that much of it.)

The way I fight the "Will I ever be able to wear my new sweater; I can't stand this cotton blouse one more day" depression is to aggravate you.

Therefore I am sending you this perfectly horrible joke to use during your own "Surely Marbles will get better after the first hard freeze" doldrums.

ONE OF THE WORST JOKES I EVER HEARD

Roy Rogers and Dale Evans were vacationing in the mountains. One night Roy polished his new boots, which were handmade of gnu leather and thereby quite spiffy, and set them out on the back porch to dry. Unfortunately Roy forgot to bring them in during the night, and while the famous cowboy slept a mountain lion discovered the joys of gnawing on gnu leather.

When Roy went out the next morning to pull on his boots he discovered only two badly gummed soles and a lot of lion tracks. Drawing on his Dr. Scholl's, which he kept for emergencies, he hopped on Trigger and began to track the culprit up the mountain.

It was late in the day when a worried Dale finally saw Roy's silhouette appear in the clearing. Closer and closer he came, until at last he was only a few feet away. There he sat, weary but proud, astride his faithful horse. And on Trigger's back was the cold, lifeless body of the mountain lion. There was only one thing for Dale to do--she sang: "Pardon me, Roy, I see that the cat who chewed your gnu shoes?"

If nothing else, this joke will make you slightly nauseous, which is a heck of a lot better than slightly bored, any time of the year.

Benny Cooper, Pat Reeves and Clyde Mounce left Saturday for Austin to enter Texas University.

Ross Collie tells me (Lester Campbell) he saw a covey of 50 quail within the city limits last Friday. The covey was spotted near the watermelon stand at the east edge of town. He and someone else watched the birds, and made an actual count as the birds trotted across the highway. It was one of the largest coveys of quail Ross had ever seen.

Mr. and Mrs. Vestal Gene Bailey and daughter Pam from Pampa spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bailey.

40 YEARS AGO

T.A. Landers, editor
Mrs. W.L. Campbell and daughter, Marcella; and Miss Beatrice Stotts of Pampa visited in McLean Thursday. The girls remained for the weekend.

John W. Cooper and his father, who lives at Canyon, made a fishing trip to New Mexico last week and caught 174 fish. Mr. Cooper brought back a lot of the fish, including a big catfish, and of course, he had a lurid description of the one that got away. Cooper said that the fish bit freely and they had a most enjoyable time.

Mrs. J.L. Allison of Clarendon visited her son, Clifford, and family last week.

Mrs. Tom Price and little daughter of Pampa visited their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Alma Turman, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Major of Memphis visited the former's sister, Mrs. S.A. Cousins, last weekend.

60 YEARS AGO

M.L. Moody, editor
At the quarterly conference at the Methodist Church

Sunday afternoon, various matters of business were attended to and church officers elected as follows: Sunday school superintendent-R.N. Ashby, Steards-W.L. Haynes, A.W. Haynes, J.H. Bodine, Scott Johnston, Bee Everett, Homer Wilson, C.C. Bogan. Recording steward-Frank P. Wilson, District steward-C.C. Bogan. The matter of re-shingling the parsonage was brought up, and Wednesday of this week set as the dates for all men of the church who could to meet there and put on a new roof.

J.E. Cubine and son Sammie, left Saturday evening for Waxahachie, where the latter will enter school.

News from Heald: School opened last Monday with a full attendance. Mr. Bronaugh and Miss Bertha Saunders are teachers. The trustees, with a number of other patrons of the school were present at the opening.

Mrs. Terry Hudgins of Erick, Oklahoma, is visiting a relative in the city this week.

70 YEARS AGO

A.G. Richardson, editor
Mrs. E.M. Skaggs of Austin, Texas, is here for a ten days visit with the family of her son, Wiley Skaggs of Heald. Although she looks much younger, Mrs. Skaggs is past seventy-five and is yet active in the service of her state, being at the present matron of the Insane Asylum at Austin. She has been connected with different institutions of the states for the past twenty-five years.

After a week or more of stagnation the watermelon market revived Monday of this week and "came back" with a rush that almost took the breath of the "innocent bystanders." The Rock Island right of way and Front Street were literally thronged with wagons all day long and more than half a million pounds of melons were loaded into the cars. Never before in the history of the town has there been such a congestion in the local railroad yards, and never before has as many cars been loaded in one day. There were 25 cars loaded and one hundred and seventy two wagons weighed on the scales. At twenty cents per hundred pounds this represents an income of more than a thousand dollars in one day from the lowly watermelon. It is estimated that two hundred fifty cars of melons will be shipped out of the city this year.

Editors comment: Out of the vast number of aspirants for the office of the president of the United States, there is but one man that appears to the News as the right kind of timber. We refer to Woodrow Wilson. He will be the people's choice, in our judgement.
