Wayne, Kristina and I were mesmerized this morning (Tuesday) as we watched on television the latest feat of our space program become history.

Wayne, remembering earlier shots from the landing on the moon, was impressed with the clear pictures we were able to receive from the Challenger cameras. Kristina thought it looked like a lot of fun, and wanted to know if she could grow up and become an astronaut.

For me, it was fascinating and a little terrifying to witness the astronauts moving around space without any kind of rope or tether connecting them to their 'mother ship'. I kept wondering if I would have the nerve to jump out there and let go as they were doing, but being the chicken-hearted person that I am, I can't imagine myself ever getting inside a rocket to go up around the world, much less flying around by myself with some type of "Buck Rogers" back pack on.

It was also a little sobering to think about the changes in the space program just in my time... and the possibilities that Kristina, or girls her age, will be able to fly around in space when they're older, and it won't be so uncommon.

I think I'll be about going up in rockets like my grandmother was about flying on airplanes... "If we were meant to fly around that fast, we'd been born with jet wings on," or something like that.

There will be an organizational meeting Saturday afternoon at 1:30 in the new ag barn, south of the city. Anyone interested in the building, which was built by the county for the residents of McLean, is invited to attend the meeting.

The county appropriated the funds for the building, but at present there are no more funds available, according to junior livestock booster club secretary Cindi McDowell.

The building has no lighting, and there are some other improvements that the group hopes to have done before much longer. However, most of the improvements will have to be done by volunteer Senior roundballers will go out on the court for the last time Friday night, when the Tigerettes and Tigers host the Claude Mustangs. Playing for the last time for the Tigers are Randall Wynn, Darin Corley, Gregg Mann, Scott Stubbs, Darrell Myers, and Robert Swaner. Tigerette Angie Wilson will be suiting out for McLean for the last time, and Tigerette Maria Eck will also be witnessing her last game. Eck has been side-lined with a broken hand for the last half of the basketball season.

The junior varsity Tigers played their last game Jan. 31 against Lefors. Lefors won the match 26-20. Chet Bohlar led the scoring for the Tigers with eight points. Bill Watkins and Andrew Harris had four points each, and Mark McCarty and Scott Seiler had two points each.

The Tigerettes, playing host to the Lefors

Bandits, defeated them 26-34. Melanie Billingsley had 17 points, Jem Ann Rice had 12, Tanya Cummings had four, Patricia Rodgers had two and Dedra Watson had one.

The Tigers, led by Scott Stubbs and Martin Gately with 16 points each, sunk the Pirates 57-47. Robert Swaner had 14, Randall Wynn had eight, and Darin Corley had three points.

The Tigers travelled to Pampa Feb. 3 to a rematch game with the Pampa Sophomores, and won in overtime 49-48. Randall Wynn had 13 points, Robert Swaner had 10, Scott Stubbs and Darin Corley had nine each, and Martin Gately had eight.

The high school teams were looking forward to a re-match with the Groom Tigers Tuesday night, but results of the games were too late for press time.

Congressman Jack Hightower Files For Re-Election For 13th District

Vernon, Tex. -- Congressman Jack Hightower announced today that he has filed for re-election to Congress from the 13th district.

Hightower has served the 13th district as a member of the U.S. House of Representatives since 1975, through five congresses and three presidents. Prior to his election, Hightower served in both the Texas House and Senate, and as district attorney.

"The people of our district have been good to me and my family," Hightower said. "I've worked to promote bipartisan, conservative, common-sense solutions to our national problems. I'm proud of what we've been able to do for the people of this district and for the nation."

Through his work on the House appropriations committee and its key subcommittees, Hightower has been able to effect millions of dollars in savings for the taxpayers.

"I want to make government work for people, not against them," Hightower said. "In this congress, we've had the nay-sayers whose only contribution has been to vote 'no' on everything and be for nothing, and we've had those on the other side who want government to do more for everyone at whatever cost. Neither of these extremes provide the solutions to our national problems. I have worked with other constructive members to try to create sensible agreements in Congress on legislation the President will sign, and which will be good for the country."

"I will continue to vote to protect social security, to reduce wasteful government spending and to promote a balanced budget," he said.

Hightower is a member of the Defense and Agriculture sub-committees of the house appropriations committee, and has received numerous leadership awards from agricultural, defense, small business and budget-cutting groups during his tenure in Congress.

A Congressional Quarterly analysis of Hightower's voting record since his first election rated him a consistently high 75 to 89 percent conservative. Hightower's voting attendance record has been one of the best in Congress, averaging 93 percent for his nine years in the House.

"I keep an open door to my office and take great satisfaction in helping people with their particular governmental problems. That's one of the most fulfilling aspects of the job," Hightower said.

A life-long resident of the 13th district, Hightower was born in Memphis and has been a labor. Gerald Tate and many other have put in much of their own time and money to clear off the land surrounding the new building, and some of the 4-H and FFA members have built pens on the south side of the building for animals. I hope if you have something to donate to this worthwhile cause, or can volunteer some time and labor, that you'll show up at the meeting. It would be a shame to let this building go on unused.

Vernon resident for some 33 years. He and his wife, the former Colleen Ward of Tulia, have three daughters and one granddaughter.

Sam is still in the hospital at this writing, but has improved a great deal, and we hope to have him home by Friday or Saturday. I know many of you have missed his "Whittler's Bench", his quotable quotes, and his limerick, but if all goes well, it shouldn't be long before they're back. I tried my hand at "Down Memory Lane" this week, and I'll be glad when Sam gets back to take over that column. It takes a lot of time to compile all the information he gives each week, but my biggest problem was that I didn't want to quit reading the old papers. Some of the reading is priceless. We understand several students have contracted the flu and/or the chicken pox recently. One of the strains of flu going around is highly contagious and has caused the hospitalization of more than one local citizen lately. We hope if you get to feeling bad, you'll take care of yourself, and you won't come in the news office and give it to Robbin or me.

TIME-SAVING SHORTCUTS

MICROWAVE OVENS

The quick cooking capability of the microwave oven makes it one of the handiest appliances in the kitchen. It's a whiz at saving time for the busy homemaker. Here are some tips from Whirlpool home economists that can help you use your microwave oven even more time-efficiently.

- Don't forget about standing time. Some foods like large roasts, potatoes

- Preparation time can be saved by defrosting in a microwave oven. Microwave defrosting ensures a quick meal right from the freezer.

oven shuts off. Use the standing time to cook other foods in the microwave so that everything is ready to go to the table at once.

- Store packaged sauce and gravy mixes on your emergency shelf. They can be made in a matter of minutes in an easy-to-use glass measuring cup.

- Your freezer and microwave oven make a perfect pair...one dish meals go from freezer to table in about one-fourth the time of conventional type cooking.

- Bring back everyday leftovers for a repeat performance as "make your own" TV dinners. Simply arrange on sturdy partitioned paper plates, wrap in moisture vapor proof material and freeze. They can be quickly heated in the microwave oven for an instant dinner on a busy day.

- Keep frozen fruits on hand for fast salad and dessert combinations. With the help of a microwave oven, a solid block of frozen fruit is just minutes away from use.

THEN/NOW!

Doctors and other scientists have some new answers for people with a peptic ulcer.

THEN A few years ago, bland diets and lots of milk were a way of life for ulcer patients.

NOW Researchers have recently found milk causes an increase in stomach acid. Fortunately, doctors have ways to treat ulcers. There are effective medicines that help the ulcer to heal. If you fear you have an ulcer see your doctor. You can get help.

Your Baby

Babyproof For Safety

Babyproofing helps parents to plan for their infant's well-being. Once done, parents can be more relaxed and confident as they watch baby grow. Start in the nursery, devoting as much thought and attention to safety and comfort as you do to decoration.

Never place a crib next to an outside wall, especially in colder climates. Neither should it be close to a hot radiator or in direct line with a hot or cold air duct. Avoid strong amounts of light (sun or lamp) shining directly into a baby's eyes. Although plants are a natural source of moisture and freshness in a nursery, many common house plants can be harmful if eaten. Among them are castor beans, dieffenbachia, caladium, some philodendron, holly berries and mistletoe berries. Place plants beyond baby's reach. Be alert for falling leaves or berries that a growing baby may put in his mouth. For a booklet with tips on babyproofing, send 50¢ to Baby Fresh, Scott Paper Company, P.O. Letter To The Editor

Dear Kathy:
I just wanted to remind your paper that the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department will be holding a hearing in your county concerning changes in the hunting and fishing regulations for 1984 and 1985. In the past there have been complaints to our office that the Department didn't notify the people of the county in time for their input. I would appreciate it if your paper would see that the public is informed of the upcoming meeting on February 10th at 7:00 P.M. in the Energas Building at Pampa. Thanks for your help in this matter.

Sincerely,
Bill Sarpalius

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

AUSTIN — It was good news to learn that the Food and Drug Administration had agreed to allow the application of food grade mineral oil on grain in grain elevators.

We all know of the destruction that has been caused by dust explosions in elevators. There have been hundreds of deaths and injuries and many millions of dollars in losses. This process has been proven safe, effective and less expensive.

A Lubbock man, Harry Barham, is responsible for the idea, which he patented. The most expensive part of the operation is a storage tank to hold the oil. It costs less than one cent per bushel to apply. That cost is almost recovered in reduced loss of weight, and more than recovered when the additional benefits are included.

Among the other savings is the reduction in energy costs for expensive ventilation systems which include fans, motors and dust collection bags. The atmosphere for workers is greatly improved, which should cut down on respiratory problems. Insects and insect generated problems consume five percent of the grain crop value and the white oil process acts as an effective and long-lasting insect control.

I also look for a significant reduction in insurance premiums for grain elevators. There are a great number of elevators in the Panhandle and South Plains and our area will receive a direct impact from this decision. More far-reaching, however, is that the lower costs can be passed along on these products, helping every consumer.

The Texas Senate subcommittee on agriculture held hearings on this subject and helped to produce the findings which ultimately led to approval by the FDA and the USDA. A great many state and national organizations were involved in helping to fully explore the problem and make recommendations. I was proud to serve as chairman of the subcommittee because I think that its actions were instrumental in pointing out the potential of oil on grain to the federal government.

The word "million" didn't come into being until around 1300. Until then, the largest number word was "myriad," which was Greek for 10,000.

DORINDA MAXWELL AND MORSE HAYNES

Dorinda Maxwell And Morse Haynes To Marry April 28 In Pampa Church

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Maxwell of Pampa are announcing the engagement and forth-coming marriage of their daughter, Dorinda Lenesse to William Morse Haynes of McLean.

The prospective groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Haynes, also of McLean.

The couple plans to be married April 28 at the First United Methodist Church in Pampa.

The bride-elect graduated from Pampa High School in 1982 and attended West Texas State University. She is employed at Dunlap's in Pampa.

Mr. Haynes, a 1976 graduate of McLean High School, and a 1981 graduate of Texas Tech University, is employed as a marketing representative for Southwestern Public Service.

Residents' Granddaughter Presented Award

Mikala Romain Moore of Pampa was named Citizen of the Year, the highest honor accorded Wayland Baptist University students during the annual Citizenship Chapel recently. She shared the honor with Joel Lynn Bratcher.

A native of Pampa, Moore, better known as Mika, completed her bachelor's degree in history in December after an impressive academic career at WBU. She consistently appeared on the Dean's Honor Roll and was named last fall to appear in the 1983-84 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

A 1980 graduate of Pampa High School, where she was active in band and her church youth choir, Moore has been active in student government as a class senator, as well as Omega Phi Alpha service sorority and Student Foundation. She has been a member of the Wayland Pioneer Band, having travelled with that group to Brazel in 1982.

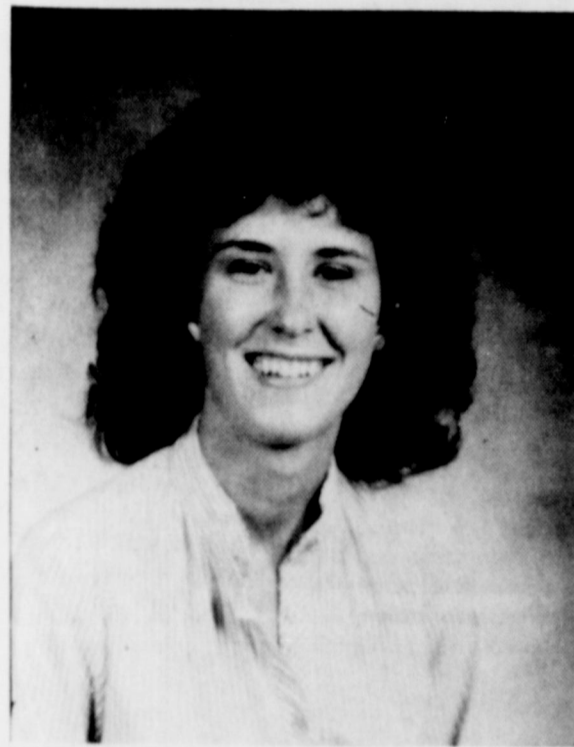

Elected as a class favorite as both a freshman and a junior, she was named to Spinning Wheels, campus leadership award, the past two years and in November was chosen by the student body as Homecoming Queen, reigning over Wayland's 75th anniversary homecoming activities.

Moore's immediate future plans include her forthcoming marriage to East Texas State University student Troy Potts, and she plans a career as a high school teacher. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harl Moore of Pampa, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Ann Miller and Mrs. Nora Moore, both of McLean.

Moore is a commendable academic record, diversity of interests, loyalty to American ideals, personal integrity and the Wayland spirit.

Citizen of the Year Award goes to the senior man and woman who best exemplify Christian attitudes, a commendable academic record, diversity of interests, loyalty to American ideals, personal integrity and the Wayland spirit.

Lisa Gabel, Steve Lagrant Wed In Private Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Gabel are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Lisa Stovall to Steve Lagrant, of Grand Prairie.

The bride, a 1978 graduate from McLean High School, is employed in the Records Department of Sun Oil Production in Dallas.

The groom, a 1975 graduate of Grand Prairie High School, is a geologist in the Off-Shore Department for Sun Oil Production.

The couple were united in marriage Jan. 31 in a private ceremony in Grand Prairie with his parents attending. After a week's trip to Jamaica, the couple will be making their home in Grand Prairie.

Shamrock To Host Tourney

The Shamrock Volleyball Association will be holding a tournament Feb. 16 through 18. To enter, call Alpha Lisle, 256-3829 or Stephanie Cadra, 256-3184. Deadline to enter is Feb. 12.

The groom, a 1975 graduate of Grand Prairie High School, is a geologist in the Off-Shore Department for Sun Oil Production.

Of all the things I wish I could change about my past life, most of all I wish I had been braver during labor. In case you didn't recognize me when you were having your own babies, I was the one in the next room hollering, "More drugs!" and "Let's go home and say it was just gas." And I hate to admit it, but I also was the one who, upon viewing the product of my four-year pregnancy, said, "If it's over, how come I still feel rotten." Instead of the proper "Isn't he beautiful," I was, in a word, chicken.

What brought all this to mind was a conversation I had with one of my friends. This particular woman had had four (count 'em, four) children at home, which proves to me that she not only is incredibly brave, but also that she paddles her boat with one oar out of the water.

"Hi," I answered intelligently when she phoned. "What's new?"

"Oh, not much," she replied. "I just gave birth to another son, and we want to celebrate. My husband and I were wondering if you would like to enter a dance marathon with us this evening."

"Good grief," I gasped. "My phone must have been out of order for some time. How long ago did this blessed event occur?"

"Let's see...It's been about fifteen minutes, I guess. So how about it, feel like doing a little toe-tapping tonight?"

"But dear," I cried. "It's too soon after labor!"

"Really, I feel great," she giggled.

"Not your labor, you ninny," I yelled. "Mine, it's too soon after mine. I'll let you know as soon as the boys have graduated from college. I may be up to it by then."

I hope she never finds out that I've been wearing a heating pad under my pantyhose for the last fifteen years. Chickens don't like being laughed at.

Once upon a time gasoline was cheap.

So was natural gas.

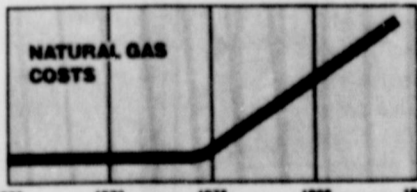

Some folks remember cheap gasoline prices. Natural gas prices used to be cheap for power plants at Southwestern Public Service Company, too.

Today, it's different. Natural gas costs continue to increase, and since we don't own any gas wells, we don't have much to say about natural gas prices... just as you don't about gasoline.

We've brought coal into the picture to help keep costs down. Electricity made from coal costs much less.

Another way we're...

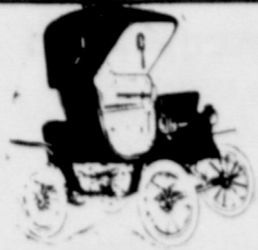

Not any more. Natural gas prices have increased dramatically.

Glass To Serve As BSU Hostess

Jamie Glass, a junior public administration major from McLean at West Texas State University, is serving as student center hostess for the Baptist Student Union for 1984.

The BSU provides opportunities for personal and spiritual growth and service for college students. Each year students participate in Bible studies, conferences, retreats, community missions project, mission trips, worship and weekly fellowships. The BSU groups are supported by local churches, said Brenda Crim, campus evangelism coordinator.

Executive Council members provide leadership for the 125 students involved in the BSU. Members conduct weekly committee meetings and attend council meetings, plan events, set goals and provide leadership in obtaining those goals, Crim said.

Alanreed Briefs

The Alanreed Home-makers Club met Jan. 26 in the home of Lena Carter for their birthday luncheon. A covered dish luncheon complete with birthday cake was enjoyed before the business session was held. Roll call was "What I hope to accomplish in my club this year", and was answered by Anita Bruce, Lena Carter, Mary Davis, Lucy Goldston, Nell Keese, Polly Harrison, Ruth and Brenda McLain, Onie Gibson, and visitor Paul Bruce.

Birthday girls were Anita Bruce, Lucy Goldston, and Polly Harrison.

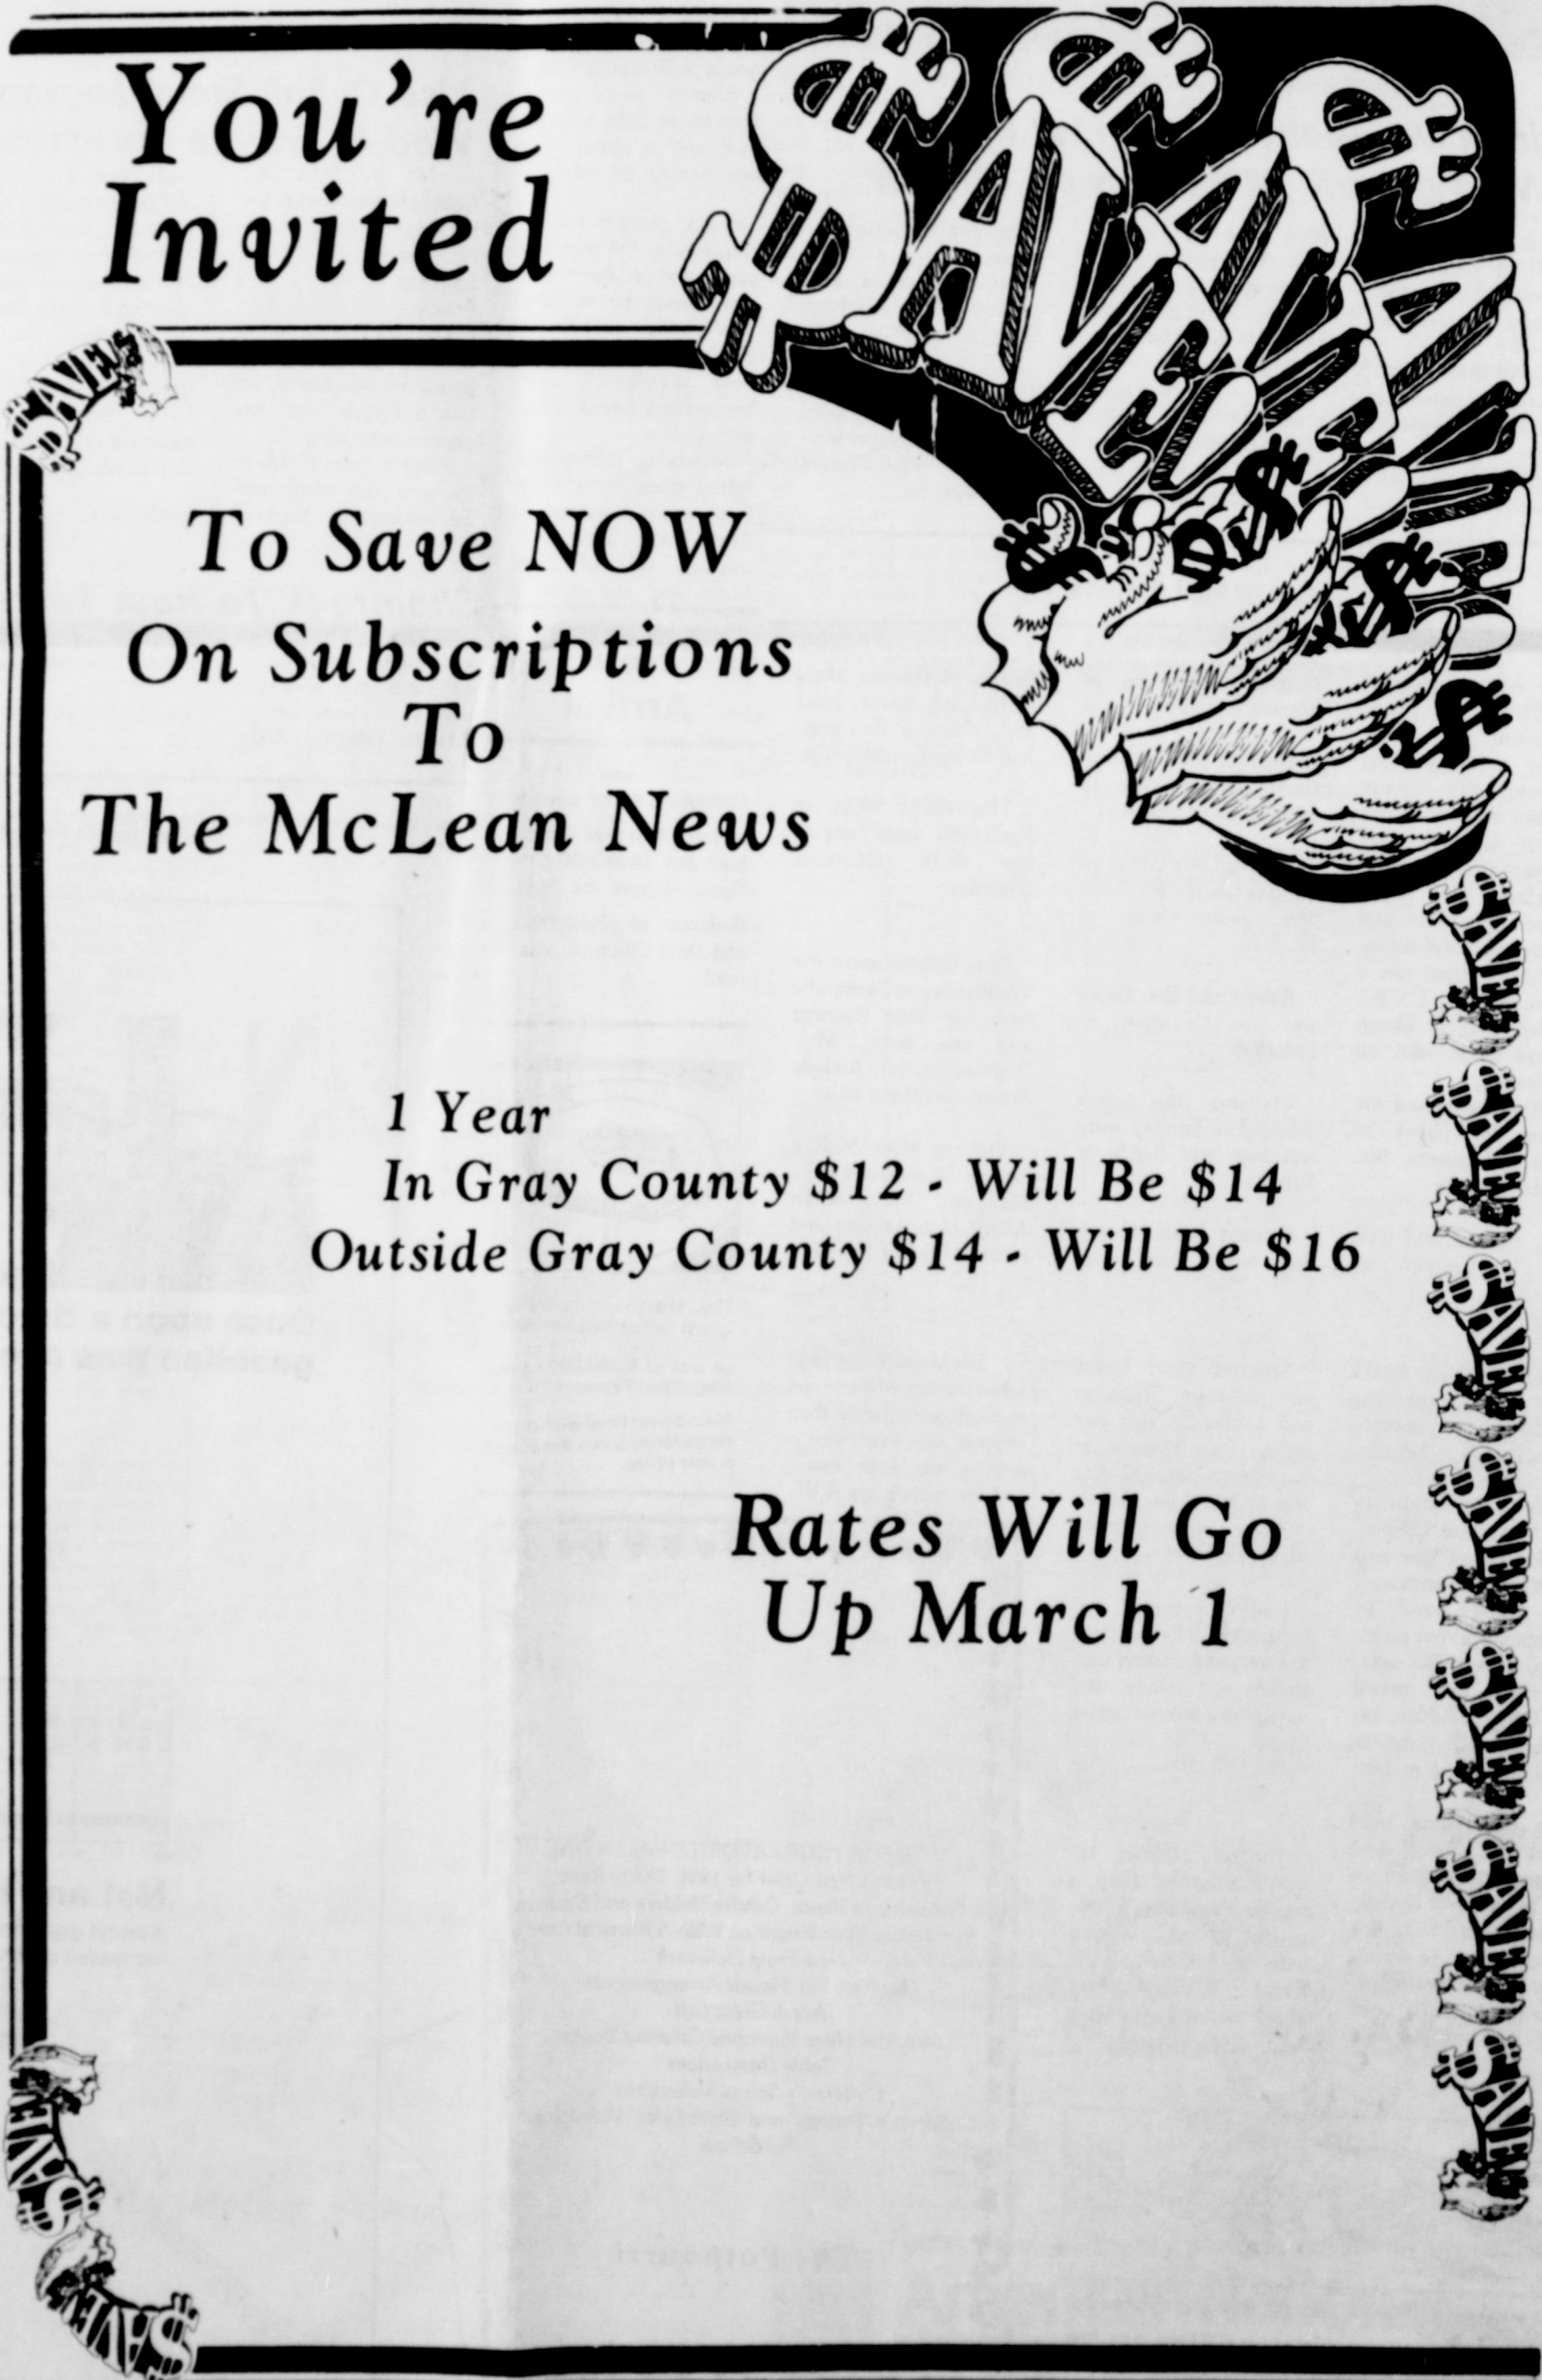

Anita gave a short program on the history of the Texas flag.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Tipton of Howardwick surprised their parents with a party commemorating their fiftieth wedding anniversary at the Community Center in Groom, Sunday.

Mrs. Tipton was raised here and Mrs. Tipton lived here for several years. All their children were present as well as

Mr. Tipton's brother and sister and families and Mrs. Tipton's mother, Hattie Terbush, and all her brothers and sisters.

Also visiting were several friends and neighbors. Going from here were Mary and Hartley Davis.

Martha Parker Announces New Program

Anyone who wishes to have an impact on the drunk driving problem in Gray County can now get help at the Lovett Memorial Library.

Martha Parker, librarian, announced that A Citizen Activist Guide to Fight Drunk Driving has been made available to the Lovett Memorial Library by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), which published the document. NHTSA, an agency of the U. S. Department of Transportation, disseminated the Activist Guide in cooperation with All-state Insurance Company and the American Library Association. The Guide has been mailed to more than 17,000 public, junior college, college and university libraries across the country.

The Guide provides "how to" information that will help individuals organize a task force to study the drunk driving problem and then get the study results translated into effective programs for their own localities. During the past few years, several citizens' groups have used a "grass roots" approach that has successfully focused attention on the problem and on the potential solutions. The Citizen Activist Guide sets out a step-by-step method of investigating a community's existing system for dealing with drunk drivers. It also includes helpful suggestions about strategy, how to finance a program for controlling drunk drivers, how to draw public attention to the subject, and how to lobby for change.

Mrs. Parker noted that at least 55% of all fatal traffic collisions are alcohol-related, and 650,000 people will be seriously injured by drunk drivers in the United States during this year alone. The problem occurs, and is most effectively handled at the state and local level, where citizens can make a difference if they know how to proceed.

The Citizen Activist Guide to Fight Drunk Driving is available during regular library hours 1-5 Monday, 9-5 Tuesday - Friday.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank all of the good people who came to our 50th wedding anniversary, even though I was unable to attend, and for bringing gifts. Also a great big thanks to everyone for all the cards, letters, visits, prayers, and meals brought us during the two-three months I was in the hospital. Your thoughtfulness and consideration are appreciated.

Your Microwave Oven, A Real Hot Spot?

Microwave cooks are often puzzled why certain areas of their oven cook food more quickly. These areas, termed "hot spots" are where microwave energy concentrates creating each oven cooking pattern. Don't be concerned, this is common in many microwave ovens. To know your ovens cooking pattern, follow these simple steps.

- Line the bottom of the microwave evenly with stale white bread (crusts touching).
- Microwave on HIGH 6 to 8 minutes or until areas of the bread become toasted or darkened.
- These darkened areas indicate the areas of heaviest concentration of microwave energy.

Now prepare this unusual creamy chicken spread created by the Banquet Foods Test Kitchens.

Creamy Cold Chicken A' la King Spread

1 package (5 oz.) BANQUET Cookin' Bag Chicken A' la King	1/4 cup mayonnaise	1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese with chives, softened	1/4 teaspoon garlic powder	1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup chopped celery	1/2 cup hot water

Remove chicken a' la king from bag and place in medium microwave-safe bowl. Heat on HIGH 1 to 2 minutes or until thawed. Stir in cream cheese, celery, mayonnaise, pimiento and garlic powder. Dissolve gelatin in water. Add to chicken mixture. Pour into 2-cup mold. Chill at least 2 hours before unmolding. Makes 1 3/4 cups.

bringing up baby

By Dr. George Purvis
 VP-Nutrition Sciences
 Gerber Products Company

Q. How can I be sure my infant is getting enough iron?
 A. It's good that you recognize the importance of iron as a nutrient in your baby's diet. The body uses iron in forming hemoglobin, which carries oxygen in the bloodstream to all body tissues. Iron is needed throughout life, but the need is strongest during times of rapid growth, such as the first years of life.

Most babies are born with stores of iron received from the mother that usually are sufficient for the first months after birth. By three or four months of age, though, these iron reserves begin to diminish, and additional iron is needed. Premature infants need supplemental iron even earlier; supplementation should begin no later than two months of age.

For breast-fed babies, the best source of additional iron is iron-fortified infant cereal. Infant cereals are designed to be easily digested, and provide a form of iron that is readily absorbed by babies. For formula-fed infants, parents should select a type of prepared formula that is iron-fortified. Iron-fortified infant cereals may be used as well.

For both breast-fed and formula-fed babies, two portions of iron-fortified, dry infant cereal per day, of about two or three tablespoons each, provide a sufficient amount of iron to meet growth needs. Cereal may be mixed with a variety of liquids—mother's milk, formula, fruit juice or water. Mixing the cereal with Vitamin C-fortified infant fruit juice is a particularly good idea, as the Vitamin C in the juice aids in iron absorption.

To help ensure your baby receives adequate iron in those crucial first years of life, iron-fortified infant cereals should remain on baby's menu through at least age two. Also, as your baby grows and is introduced to other foods, be sure to include iron-rich baby foods such as eggs, yolks, meats and vegetables.

Don't store silver for several hours after washing or polishing. Dampness can cause black spots.

Spiced Desserts Can Chase The Winter Blues

It's easy to chase the winter blues with a bevy of spiced, home-baked treats fresh from the oven, that create a little nostalgia with a minimum of time, energy and money. And, you needn't sacrifice nutrition for convenience.

The home economists at the Shurfine-Central Corporation have developed recipes that combine nutrition and traditional good taste with today's convenience foods. It takes just minutes to turn out a luscious Spicy Coffee Ring that can be served as a hearty, warming breakfast or a delicious dessert.

Desserts containing fruit, nuts and natural grains are not only good tasting but nutritionally sound. Their Colonial Apple Crunch Cake is a tasty example.

To help you keep an eye on calories, send for a free copy of Shurfine's "Nutrition and Diet Guide." Write: Diet Guide Offer, Dept. NC3, P.O. Box 1503, Melrose Park, Illinois 60164.

SPICY COFFEE RING
 Place a ring of perfect walnut halves in a greased

COLONIAL APPLE CRUNCH CAKE

1-1/2 cups flour	1 cup uncooked oats
1-1/2 cups brown sugar	1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup sugar	1 cup melted butter
1 pound dried apples, cooked until tender	2 teaspoons cinnamon

Mix flour, oats, brown sugar and baking powder with melted butter. Cut together as for pastry. Spread half of crumbs in 9x9x2-inch baking pan. Spread with dried apples and sugar and cinnamon mixture that has been heated until sugar dissolves. Top with remaining crumbs. Bake at 350° for 20 to 25 minutes. Cut into squares.

FACTS FROM EXPERTS AT MURRAY... OFFICIAL MANUFACTURER OF BICYCLES FOR THE 1984 OLYMPIC GAMES

First Came the Wheel—The Story of the Bicycle

When a Frenchman named Chevalier de Sivrac created the Celerifere in 1790—the first documented "bicycle"—it was only a matter of time before the machine evolved into the pleasure-packed vehicle we know today.

De Sivrac's Celerifere was propelled by the rider pushing his feet along the ground, and it had neither brakes nor steering capability, two reasons which may have led to its quick demise.

Actually, the bicycle seems to be the offspring of many inventors, dating back to the invention of the wheel during the Neanderthal Age. One of the earliest records of a bicycle dates back to 1580 in a stained glass church window in Stoke Poges, England, depicting a cherub sitting astride a wooden frame resting on two wheels.

In 1816, Baron Von Drisin, a German, improved on de Sivrac's 1790 Celerifere with his invention—the Walk A-long or Drasinis. This also was moved by pushing the feet along the ground but a tiller to turn the front wheel had been added. By 1818, the Baron's machine, capable of eight mph, was being ridden in England, where a handle bar soon replaced the steering tiller. But at 60 pounds, the Baron's vehicle, now called a velocipede or hobby horse by some, was too heavy to propel by foot.

The first "bicycle"—called the Celerifere—was propelled by the rider pushing his feet along the ground.

This wonderful sport has grown greatly as well. Bicycling is now an Olympic sport, and in January 1983, the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee announced that Murray Ohio Manufacturing Company, as the "Official Manufacturer of Bicycles for the 1984 Olympic Games," has exclusive rights from the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee to use the official symbols of the 1984 Games on its bicycles.

Murray is one of the nation's leading bicycle manufacturers, producing a full line of models, ranging from children's styles to touring, BMX, mountain and lightweight racing bicycles. Murray also provides custom-made racing bicycles for members of the Murray National Cycling team, who hope to gain berths on the U.S. cycling team at the 1984 Olympics.
