Now I have proof! Even Yankees consider other Yankees obnoxious!

The advertising professor who spoke to us at our workshop at Texas Tech University last weekend is originally from New York, but he has been in Texas long enough to have learned to love the state and our way of doing things.

During his lecture he was talking about going into a convenience store in New York and standing in line, and he said "You people from Texas don't understand what that means...standing in line in New York. There is elbowing, pushing, shoving, cursing. It just not like standing in line in Texas where most people are polite."

See! I told you we were different from some of those folks back east.

Seriously, however, I know that not all people from any one region are the same. There are rude Texans, too, many of them. But I do believe, that as a general rule, people in this part of the country are more polite and less cantankerous than those from other parts of the country.

The school year is rapidly slipping away, and our youngsters and their teachers are counting the days until summer vacation begins. Each summer as the vacation time approaches, we parents begin thinking about summer recreation. It looks like the country club swimming pool will not be open again this year, so the kids will be looking for a place to go swimming. Last summer the pool at Gately's was opened to the public, and we hope that that will be true again this year.

The T-ball and Little League baseball teams are beginning to practice, and that will give the kids something to do for the first part of the summer.

Martha Parker at Lovett Library usually tries to plan a summer reading program for the children with films scheduled occasionally.

The city has a concrete slab for skaters and basketball players at the park. Hopefully, the city boys will get the basketball goal erected within the next few days, so that the youngsters can take advantage of that.

Several church groups in town will be planning special trips and recreation for the youngsters who go to their church. Most McLean churches plan vacation Bible schools for the early part of the summer, and most of the churches also have camping programs available for their children.

In spite of these various activities, the summer vacation will stretch out into many lazy days for the kids. And the old saying about idle hands being the devil's workshop is still true today. So if you are a parent or the sponsor of some sort of youth group, do some serious thinking about planning things to keep the kids busy. It doesn't have to be entertainment either. You

NEWS FROM ALANREED

The Alanreed Community Improvement Program met in the school cafeteria Sat. May 2nd for their monthly meeting. A covered dish supper was enjoyed and then chairman Bob Fish presided over the meeting. The minutes were read and approved, and plans were made for some more clean-up and installation of playground equipment. Program chairman Kay Hallum then showed a film which fell short of its potential after we discovered the sound on the school projector was out of whack, but good friends and neighbors can always enjoy being together and visiting, so the meeting was considered a success.

We were saddened this past week by the passing of Hartley Davis' only remaining sister Nettie Reed. Mrs. Reed had been in ill health for some time, but her spirit continued to be high and she was an inspiration and pattern for us all.

Alanreed Community Improvement Program observed their annual judging day at the Alanreed gym on Wed. April 29th. Judges Cheryl Brewer of Perryton and Dennis Newton of Stinnett accompanied by Sue Farris and Paul Gross, District extension agents of Amarillo, Joe Van Zandt and Deana Fink, agents from Pampa, and assistant agent Carl Gibson, toured the town and listened to report from each committee head. The meeting ended with cookies, coffee, and punch in the gym, where everyone visited and viewed local art talent which was displayed. Children from the school also met the visiting dignitaries, as they came out and had cookies and punch. After lunch at our local cafe, they went on to Lefors for judging there. Our thanks for all who helped with our program. We appreciate our community and are proud to clean it up. We will continue our efforts and plan to set up playground equipment in the park soon.

We were saddened at the passing of Rose Robinson last week. Mr. Robinson operated our Texaco station for many years, and we got to know Rose well, and our hearts go out to her family.

Polly Harrison and Lena Carter visited in Pampa on Saturday.

Visiting Lena Carter Sunday were grandson Dan Bruce and wife Chrissie of Amarillo, enroute home from a golf tournament in Oklahoma City.

C.E. Anderson, who lives two miles north of McLean, had the misfortune to lose his barn by fire Saturday night. All the grain, corn and other feedstuff stored in the barn were destroyed, and a fine team of horses were lost in the blaze. The loss amounted to about $2,000 with no insurance.

Mr. Roy Campbell and Miss Sallie Lou Haynes were married Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's father, A.W. Haynes, Rev. B.J. Osborn officiating. Both young people are well-known and have many friends who extend their congratulations.

Among the winners in the state spelling contest of the University of Texas Interscholastic League, Gray

News from Heald: Raymond and Jack Bailey and Brice Ladd made a trip to White Deer Tuesday.

70 YEARS AGO... A.G. RICHARDSON, ED.

On Friday afternoon of last week Berry Pursley shipped out a thousand head of steers to his Kansas pasture.

where he will graze them during the summer. Sunday he received something over two thousand which he had shipped from his Kent County ranch to be pastured there.

F.H. Yokely left Saturday morning with his outfit for Spur, Texas, where he will receive two thousand head of cows and calves. It is understood he will drive half of the bunch this trip and will return for the others later.

Miss May Day, who has been here for the past several months attending school and visiting with Mrs. Perry Lefors, left for her home near Pampa Sunday afternoon.

Moulton King, formerly a resident of this section, but recently of Dallas, was here this week visiting with friends and looking after business matters. It is hinted that the gentleman will again move to this section and we sincerely hope he decides to do so as he is a booster and a good citizen.

Town folks enjoyed a diversion last Friday afternoon on the hill behind the school house, the event being the skill of "Booger Red" pitted against a couple of pitching mules. "Booger" stayed in his tree through both sessions.

DIET AGAINST DISEASE

A New Plan for Safe and Healthy Eating

Alice A Martin and Frances Tenenbaum

This new book is possibly one of the best ever written on food and nutrition, and can show each of us how best ever written on diets to prevent the heart attacks, strokes and cancer that decimate so much of our population.

The nutritional facts presented in this volume are based on the latest diet-disease findings of the Senate Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs, and can answer many questions such as "How much sugar does the average American eat each day?" "Which minerals are deficient in the American diet?" "What are the two most common additives in processed foods that present the greatest dietary risks?" and many others, which may prove of particular interest to you.

Many experts have concluded that diet is directly related to six of the ten leading causes of death in America--cancer, strokes, heart attacks, cirrhosis of the liver, arteriosclerosis, and diabetes, and valuable insight can be gained by reading this book which will help you avoid the pitfalls of a diet-induced ailment.

This publication is divided into three parts, the first of which discusses factors in our diets and explains why (and by how much) you should limit or increase certain foods; the second is a complete guide to selecting, storing, and preparing food to increase nutrition, and the final selection contains 130 recipes to help you put all this information into action.

"Diet Against Disease" is valuable reading information for everyone, and is now available at Lovett Memorial Library.

Here they are: Look for crisp, clean leaves that are fresh, young, tender, crisp and which have a good healthy green color. Avoid leaves with coarse, fibrous stems, yellowish-green color, softness or decay or a wilted condition. Look for evidence of insects.... they're hard to see and equally hard to wash away. Buy about 1 to 1 1/2 pounds for four servings.

Greens will keep in the refrigerator crisper or a plastic bag for three to five days. Or, to freeze, use young, tender leaves. Wash and remove tough stems or imperfect leaves. Cut leaves into pieces as desired. Heat in boiling water two minutes...all greens except spinach which needs only 1 1/2 minutes. Cool, drain, package and freeze immediately in moisture, vapor-resistant packaging.

GREENS SOUTHERN STYLE-Simmer bacon or salt pork in a small amount of water, then slowly simmer the greens in that "pot liquor" for 15-20 minutes. Use a pan with a tight-fitting lid. Serve with vinegar, green onions and hot cornbread for a great Southern treat.

START FRESH WITH POTATOES:

With proper storage, general purpose and baking potatoes will keep several months, and new potatoes will keep for several weeks. Do not wash potatoes before storing...dampness increases chances of decay. Store potatoes in a cool (45-50 degrees F.) dark, well-ventilated place. If you must store them at 70-80 degrees F., use them within a week or two.

Higher temperatures often cause sprouting and shriveling. On the other hand, temperatures lower than 40 degrees F. for a week or more may cause potatoes to develop a sweet taste since some of the starch may change to sugar. To improve flavor of these potatoes, store them at a higher temperature for one or two weeks before using.

To boil potatoes, use as little water as possible, or steam the potatoes. Both methods will help conserve the nutrients. Also, cook potatoes in their skins to prevent loss of nutrients.

participate in the bike-a-thon can call Lefors at 835-2238 or rampa at 665-2948 or 665-2295.

LEFORS JUNIOR SENIOR BANQUET:

The Lefors Junior-Senior Banquet was May 2 at 6 p.m. at the Coronado Inn Banquet Room. Junior class sponsors attending were Pat and Harry Youngblood, Beck and Merray Stroud, and Paula and Don Whitney. Other guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Archer and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Jenkins.

Seniors attending were Jackie Baker, Stephanie Allison, Kas Whittington, Mark Connell, Lendi Livingston, Randy Eldridge, Tonya Mills, and Donna Wallis. Juniors attending and hosting were Kim Lake, Roy Livingston, Lisa Moxon, Diana Mathis, Chuck Mills, Kathy Musick, and Lori Watson.

The opening prayer was given by Roy Livingston and the welcome was given by Lisa Moxon. The program was a humorous poetic roast done by Kim Lake.

LEFORS UIL

Several Lefors contestants placed in the University Interscholastic League Regional contest in Levelland recently with Lendi Livingston winning first place in calculator and Jackie Baker placing third to gain two spots at the state contest in Austin this week. Miss Livingston also won fourth in shorthand. Other winners were Jo Hill, fifth high jump; Diana Mathis, eighth in spelling; Roy Livingston, sixth in science; and Brent Finney, fifth in calculator.

LEFORS COMMUNITY DEVELOPEMENT JUDGING:

The Lefors Community Development Program beautification judging was last week. The judges toured the town and returned to the Civic Center for punch and cookies. Several Lefors residents had their arts and crafts on display for the day.

The Lefors second graders presented a television program "Music" under the direction of Mrs. Lela Harris.

The next Lefors Community Development Meeting will be May 9 with cake and ice cream.

PROPER EQUIPMENT FOR DEFENSE:

It's safe to say that if insects and diseases are not a problem in your garden right now, chances are they will be before long.

You may or may not want to use chemicals for pest control. This is one of the real advantages of growing your own vegetables. You can do it any way you want to! Plant by the moon, sprinkle irrigate, choose your own varieties, or garden without pesticides. It's your garden and you make the decisions.

For the sake of today's column, let's assume that you're one of the large number of local gardeners who will choose to control garden pests using cleared and recommended chemicals. Proper use of chemicals poses no threat to you or the people who enjoy eating vegetables from your home garden. However, if the label on the chemical product you use says one teaspoonful per gallon of water, that's what it means. If the label says to wait three days after spraying before harvesting; it doesn't mean you have to wait a week or more. Follow directions on the container to the letter. If you do this, you won't have any problems with possibly dangerous chemical residues.

Using chemicals for pest control generally means

"spraying" to most gardeners. Therefore, you are going to need a sprayer of some type depending on garden size location, layout and intended use.

Sprayers used most often in local gardens are compressed air and hose-on sprayers.

Class Of 1971 - Where Are They Now?

MCLEAN SENIORS

The 28 members of the class of 1971 finished their high school education at McLean at commencement exercises in the First Baptist Church May 21, 1971. At the service, Joann Miller and Barbara Caldwell played the processional as the class marched in. Pastor of United Methodist Church, the Rev. Robert Brown gave the invocation. The salutatory address was given by Marsha Ellison and the valedictory was given by Becky Orrick. The class president, Ricky Evans, introduced the speaker, Father Joseph T. Tash of Amarillo. Principal Carl Dwyer introduced the class for graduation and the class members received their diplomas from school board president Howard Gipson and superintendent Jack R. Riley. The benediction was given by Herman W. Bell, pastor of First Baptist Church.

Class sponsors were Dony Baker, Jerry Jansa, and James Moffitt.

GARDENING

Compressed air sprayers are mobile, self-contained units that are pressurized by periodic pumping. They come in various sizes and are made of either plastic, galvanized steel or longer-lasting stainless steel. An obvious advantage of compressed air sprayers is that they are completely portable. However, this portability is directly proportional to your strength. In other words, a five gallon compressed air sprayer is heavy. Unless you're physically able to lift and tote it around, don't try it. If your garden is small, a two gallon sprayer is probably all you'll need.

A hose-on sprayer is attached to the end of the hose, from which it receives its pressure. It's popular because it's light and doesn't need repressurizing by periodic pumping.

The main disadvantage of a hose-on sprayer is that it can only reach the length of your garden hose. Another problem arises in mixing ingredients. Those sprayers operate on the principle of siphoning a concentrated amount of material and mixing it with a stream of hose water. To be easily siphoned, the mix must be liquid; yet many insecticides and fungicides are in the wettable powder form. Although these materials are meant to be suspended in water, thorough mixing is difficult sometimes. To avoid some of the problems of plugging up the sprayer, it's a good idea to pre-mix wettable powder pesticides in a small bowl. This helps assure that large pesticides are broken up and will not clog the siphoning hose.

Regardless of the type of sprayer you use, it's important that you keep it in good condition. Rinse it thoroughly after each use to avoid future problems. If you use a compressed air sprayer, store it bottom side up with the hose drained.

Safe and proper use of garden chemicals can help most of you have a more productive garden. However, you must always use only recommended chemicals, treat only when necessary, follow label directions, and remember to take care of your equipment.

Next time I'll deal with how to prevent and control common diseases found in your vegetable garden.

Notes From Your County Agricultural Agent
by Joe Van Zandt

RABIES THREAT: Rabies remain a constant threat in Gray County, so pet owners should make sure their animals get yearly vaccinations.

Cases of rabies usually increase with the advent of warm weather, so current vaccinations are especially important in the battle against the dreaded disease.

We recommend annual rabies vaccinations for all dogs and cats three months of age and older.

Last year was a generally light year statewide for rabies cases in cats and dogs, with 46 and 34 confirmed cases, respectively. However, of the total number of 945 confirmed rabies cases in Texas, 643 were in skunks. So skunk transmitted rabies is an ever-present menace.

Already this year there have been two confirmed cases of rabies in skunks in the McLean vicinity.

In visiting with Dr. David Woods, he stated that the State Health Department would like all skunks to be killed whether rabies is suspected or not. The State Health Department has made arrangements with Curry Processing in McLean to store the dead skunks until they can be picked up by the Health Department.

Loose Marbles

Sometimes I think this column should be renamed "Letters I Have Known and Loved." Just last week the manager of a Georgia pecan plantation wrote me a letter indicating that I was a pervert. "You and I," he wrote, "share an inordinate affection for pecans." Shucks, I had tried to be so careful, too--signing the motel register "Mr. and Mrs. John Pecan", telling the children they were mistaken when they claimed they smelled pecans on my breath, asking my favorite pecan nut to call me on the phone when my husband was home. Then this crazed fellow goes and blows my cover by telling the world I am inordinately fond of the little darlings.

This letter is absolutely the sexiest I have ever received, and that counts my college days when I received correspondence from a guy who was attending Texas A&M--before A&M allowed coeds on campus. This letter makes me want to take a pecan home and introduce it to my parents. It makes me want to stroke and fondle a pecan. It even makes me want to eat a pecan, but carefully, slowly, so that I can experience the "moment just one of these wondrous nuts touches your lips." Come to think of it, the last time a wondrous nut touched my lips was when that Aggie came to see me.

This guy really carries on about these nuts. Not only does he tell how mouth-watering his fine "pecan-covered core of deliciousness is," but he has to make himself stop eating them, and "it was not easy." To top it off, he wants me to join him in this debauchery, begging me to get my own pecans, to delve into the wickedness of pecanary, to learn to live and love through pecans. Wow! I could hardly catch my breath as I read the letter. I hadn't been so aroused since the first time I saw a peeled apple.

I think I could have fought the man off, could have resisted the awful temptation, could have remained unsoiled, unshelled, and unsalted, had he not offered to send some in a "handsome, vinyl container." had he not stressed the urgency of plunging recklessly into the world of fast-ripening pecans, had he not guaranteed satisfaction. As it is, I am in love.

I just hope he sends them in a plain, brown wrapper. I don't think I could stand the shame if my friends found out.

Loose Marbles
by Lisa Patman

Sometimes I think this column should be renamed "Letters I Have Known and Loved." Just last week the manager of a Georgia pecan plantation wrote me a letter indicating that I was a pervert. "You and I," he wrote, "share an inordinate affection for pecans." Shucks, I had tried to be so careful, too--signing the motel register "Mr. and Mrs. John Pecan", telling the children they were mistaken when they claimed they smelled pecans on my breath, asking my favorite pecan nut to call me on the phone when my husband was home. Then this crazed fellow goes and blows my cover by telling the world I am inordinately fond of the little darlings.

RABIES

Department officials. Dr. Woods cautioned that all dead skunks should be handled with care, preferably with gloves and then put in plastic bags.

While little can be done about rabies in wild animals, pet owners can take a positive step in protecting their animals with annual vaccinations.

THIN PEACHES:

Large, high quality peaches this summer begins with fruit thinning this spring. This was a good year for fruit set and most all varieties have four or five times more peaches than the tree can properly size. The only way you can increase fruit size is to thin...thin early and thin well. A mature peach tree (18" diameter canopy) with adequate water and care will produce 3-4 bushels of peaches. Thinning now will determine whether you have 1,500 peaches that are "pits and fuzz" or 500-600 high quality Nuts One peaches. During the first 21 to 30 days after bloom, the fruit increases in size very rapidly. During time, the peach pit grows almost to its final size.

Beginning late in the third week or early in the fourth week, the fruit stops sizing and appears to just hang. At this time, the peaches are a little larger than your thumb, and the pit is soft. Pit hardening begins about seven to eight weeks after the bloom and just as the third phase of growth begins (final swell).

The small fruit is not held as tightly during the first weeks of the slow growth stage; therefore, it is recommended that mid-season varieties be thinned during the fourth, fifth, and sixth week after bloom. Early varieties have a much shorter growing season and must be thinned much earlier.

A majority of Texas growers continue to use hand labor to thin peaches. Although techniques differ, most first use a padded club or rubber hammer to strike the major scaffold limbs. Experience will quickly indicate how hard to hit! A second crew follows with fan belts or plastic pipe to break clusters and remove doubles by hand. Thinning is one of the most expensive practices in a well managed orchard and each tree may have to be thinned a second time for proper spacing. A mature tree (18" diameter canopy) with adequate water should be thinned to no more than 600 peaches. Smaller trees or dryland orchards must be thinned even more.

Several growers are now showing the advantage of mechanical shakers adapted for thinning peach trees. The biggest problem with shakers is to carefully grasp the trunk before shaking. The forces involved will quickly 'bark' a tree using a loose clamp fitting.

When you thin will determine how hard the peaches stick. Early in the morning or during cloudy, wet weather, the peaches will come off easier than during the late morning...afternoon hours. The tighter the peaches cling, the more force (and damage) it takes to remove them. One suggestion is to do the scaffold thinning during the early morning (with padded clubs or shakers) and returned in the afternoon to break clusters and remove doubles. Remember, peaches come off easier during the slow growing stage.

Thinning before pit hardening not only increases fruit size, but does not decrease the actual amount of fruit (yield). Thinning after pit hardening still increases fruit size, but decreases yield. The secret to thinning is never look down!

JOHNSONGRASS CONTROL: Prowl herbicide is now registered for preplant incorporated suppression of rhizome johnsongrass in cotton and soybeans at a double rate. Treflan is also labeled for this purpose at a 2x rate.
