Taxpayers Urged To Apply

Taxpayers can reduce the burden of property taxes for 1985 in Gray County Appraisal District if they take advantage of various partial exemptions available on Texas homes.

According to Charles Buzzard, chief appraiser for the district, Texas property laws now allow a homeowner to apply once, instead of annually, for residence homestead exemptions. However, for 1985 the Gray County Appraisal District is requiring everyone allowed an exemption in prior year to file a new application to confirm his current qualifications for the exemption.

Taxpayers who have never received a residence homestead exemption on the homes they are living in on January 1, and those who became 65 years old or disabled during 1984, must apply this year in order to receive exemptions for 1985.

A residence homestead is the structure, together with land up to 20 acres and any improvements like a swimming pool or greenhouse, used as the owner's principal residence. Buzzard said that, to qualify as a homestead, a property must meet four tests.

It must be owned by the person or persons claiming the exemption; it must be designed or adapted for human residence; it must actually be used as a residence, and it must be occupied as the principal residence of an owner who qualifies for the exemption.

A mobile home, if it meets the tests, can be claimed as a homestead, even if it is on leased land, Buzzard noted. He added, "A taxpayer can still qualify for the homestead exemptions of part of his residence is used for other purposes, such as a business in the home. And the home will not lose the exemption if the owner moves temporarily, provided he intends to return and doesn't claim a homestead anywhere else."

Among the various types of homestead exemptions provided by Texas tax law are two which a school district must give to taxpayers who apply and qualify. School districts offer a $5,000 general homestead exemption to all homeowners and an additional $10,000 exemption to those who are 65 years of age

I usually try not to brag on any of the members of my family in this column...at least not too often and especially not on those members who still reside in McLean.

However, this week, probably to the embarrassment of my little sister, I am going to congratulate Dollie and Misty Magee on their scholastic accomplishments, and on being named Valedictorian and Salutatorian of their 8th grade class.

I can hear them now... "Kaaaaaaathyyyyyy! Gosh!"

I have had the opportunity (sometimes I wonder if it's the unfortunate opportunity) to spend much time with these two young ladies...even going on vacation with the two of them two years in a row!

They are delightful in their off-centered observations concerning the things around them, and I always enjoy their fresh (if somewhat horrified) outlook on life.

Of course, Misty is not kin, but I would gladly claim her as one of mine any time.

Now that I've "Buttered" them up...girls, be sure to check out the congratulations ad buried in the body of this paper. We're dying to know if these are the outfits you plan to wear at graduation!?!

Congratulations, girls...and remember, like I told you on vacation after the third "let's scare-Kathy-one-more-time" incident...I always get my revenge!

Whittler's Bench

A cloud that came up last Sunday afternoon late should have reminded us all that it is now tornado season in the Texas Panhandle! We all know that a tornado is a big wind, running around in circles with great force and potential danger. (Sounds like a description of my wife)

We all have heard stories of the miraculous things which occur during these freaks of nature, such as straw being driven through fence posts, chickens being picked clean without harm, or houses on two sides of another being completely destroyed and the one in the middle being left untouched.

I've been told that a tornado which hit McLean many years ago lifted a Shetland pony out of his pasture, and set him down quite a distance from there unharmed except for a solid mat of mud over his entire body. I'll personally never forget riding into a pasture of my neighbor

Joe Franklin one spring morning to round up cattle, and finding a boat lying there perhaps a mile from enough water to float it. This was one of the results of a storm which went up Cantone (Cantonment) creek turning over pump jacks and uprooting cottonwood trees four feet thick.

One of the most frightening things I know of was a result of the Greenbelt disaster in which many people perished. After the storm, all the victims had not yet been found, and my friend Edward Vincent of near Lefors, was riding pasture checking the debris from the storm when he approached what appeared to be a human head lying on the ground. After composing himself, he dismounted and to his relief found a dummy head complete with wig!

After this same twister, I found a sink in our pasture with faucets, mirror, towel rack and over-head light still intact, and the light was still burning.

This last story is the only untrue, but these stories should remind us to pay attention to the clouds, listen for the warnings given by volunteer storm watchers, and take all precautions possible to minimize the injuries should such a storm again visit our community.

Rodeo Association To Hold Workday

The McLean Rodeo Association has scheduled a workday for 2 p.m., Sunday at the Felton Webb Arena, according to Association president, Mike Darsey.

Approximately 30 volunteers showed up at the first workday, held several weeks ago, and much progress was made on the re-vamping of the arena. Work still needs to be done in several areas of the arena, but officials feel that if as many volunteers turn out again this week, there will not have to be another workday held.

The Association is combining community effort to insure this year's rodeo will be a success. The rodeo will be held in conjunction with the ex-student's homecoming, June 14 and 15.

Among events scheduled by the Association are a ranch horse race, cutting contest, a golf tournament, parade, rodeo, and dances.

Continued From Page 1 track happens to be one of my favorite events. I see competitors that don't quite stand out in other sports, take the medals time after time in track, and I always enjoy these athletes not only compete against other runners, but against themselves.

The battle against oneself is always more obvious to me in track, especially in the longer races, and though it probably sounds masochistic there's something quite touching in watching a youngster "kick" and give it all he's got after a long, hard race.

I know there are many things in our school that need repair and are more urgent, but it has long been one of my hopes that one day enough monies will be around to enable the much-needed improvements of our own track field.

Perhaps those dedicated walkers and runners who use the track in the summer (and are not still in high school) will one day donate money towards a new track field.

I think it's a project definitely worth considering between now and next year's track season!

June Suggs, and Jim and Susan Barker are diligently working on getting up-to-date mailing lists for ex-students. They will soon begin mailing out the final letters to ex-students inviting them back for this year's celebration. If you have any information on ex-students who have not been notified on this year's reunion, or the address of any who might have moved recently and not notified June, please let them know.

Let's make this year's reunion one of the biggest and the best!

T.N.C. Profile

Profiled this week is probably the most active resident at the Thomas Nursing Center, Alma Fandal.

She was born in Nacogdoches county on November 14, 1914. She married Robert Spradley in Jacksonville, Texas where she had two sons, Arlen and Richard. Alma and her family returned to her birthplace before moving to Houston in 1942.

While her husband was in the service, she worked as the overhead train operator in a steel mill. In the early fifties, Alma ended her working career when she left her position at American Can Company and became a housewife.

After 68 years, she decided to enter a nursing home. She chose McLean as her nesting ground and was not disappointed. Alma had her church membership transferred from St. Pauls Methodist church in Houston to the United Methodist church of McLean, and made herelf right at home.

She presently involves herself in arts and crafts, civic affairs and church activities.

Cookin' Chicken!

Now that summer time is upon us, many suppers tend to be served later and later in the evening. Hether you're postponing the cooking of the last meal of the day because you can't bear to be inside during the last few hours of sunlight or because it's still too warm to make the kitchen even warmer by lighting the stove, the fact remains that as school nears completion, we tend to put off slaing in the kitchen for as long as possible.

I though I'd share with you a delicious chicken recipe that can be made ahead of time (like early in the morning or the night before) and brought out with salad and some wonderful veggies soon to be harvested from the gardens.

The recipe book also suggests the Chicken is perfect for taking to a patio party or small picnic.

Cold Sliced Chicken Breasts
Tarragon
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
1/2 teaspoon paprika
4 whole chicken breasts, boned
1 cup dry white wine
2 teaspoons tarragon, crushed
Cherry tomatoes
Horseradish Whipped Cream (see recipe below)

Melt butter in skillet. Sprinkle salt, pepper, and paprika on chicken breasts. Brown in melted butter, then remove and set aside. Pour wine into skillet and stir to scrape up brown bits in pans. Add tarragon. Return chicken to skillet, turning to coat well. Cover and simmer 30 minutes. Cool thoroughly in cooking liquid, then chill. To serve, slice thinly and arrange on platter. Garnish with cherry tomatoes stuffed with Horseradish Whipped Cream.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.
Horseradish Whipped Cream
1/2 cup whipping cream
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
Whip cream and fold into horseradish.
Makes 1/2 cup.

Now, for those of you who are looking for a warmer Chicken recipe, try this one. I haven't tried it, yet, but it sounds delicious!

Chicken Enchiladas
1 1/2 chicken breasts
Oil
1/2 cup flour
1 (28 ounce) can red chili sauce
1 teaspoon sugar
salt
Ground Chili [you choice or spicy hot or mild]
1 pint sour cream
Shredded Monterey Jack Cheese
Shredded Cheddar cheese
12 corn tortillas
1 (2 1/4 ounce) can sliced black olives
1 large onion, finely chopped
Chopped green onions (optional)

Cook chicken in water to cover, until tender. Cool, then discard the skin and bones and finely shred meat. Reserve broth. Heat 3 tablespoons oil in large saucepan. Add flour and stir one minute. Stir in red chili sauce and half a chili sauce can of reserved chicken broth. Add sugar. Season to taste with salt and ground chill and add sour cream.

Blend well, then add 1/2 cup each Monterey Jack and Cheddar cheeses and let melt.

To assemble enchiladas, fry each tortilla in oil just until softened. Drain and place on each some of chicken, sliced olives, chopped onion, and a little cheddar cheese, and a tablespoon of sauce.

Roll and place seam down in individual heatproof plates, pie pans, or 13 x 9-inch baking dish. Top with sauce, using at least 2 cups, more if desired. [Remaining sauce can be frozen for another batch of enchiladas.] Sprinkle thickly with shredded Jack and cheddar cheeses. Broil or bake at 350 degrees until cheese is melted and sauce is bubbly. Top with chopped green onions.

MaGee To Speak At Nursing Center On Alzheimer's

Rebecca "Becky" McGee of Amarillo is to speak on Alzheimer's Disease at the Thomas Nursing Center at 2 p.m. Tuesday, April 30. The public is invited to attend the information session.

McGee learned of Alzheimer's Disease through family experience, although her own mother bore 16 children, raised nine of them alone and was still "sharp as a tack" the day she died at 92 years of age.

When McGee married Welford E. McGee, she gained a super husband as well as fine father-in-law. She developed a close relationship with her husband's family and since her job with a school district gaver her free summers, she went home each summer to help care for her husband's father.

Doctors told her that her father-in-law was simply getting senile or getting old early in life. McGee found this hard to accept because of her own mother's activity and mental clarity.

About five years after her father-in-law's death, the McGees visited relatives in Hannibal, Mo., and found an uncle acting the same way. Then around seven years ago, another uncle in Denver, Colo., began showing the same symptoms.

Fortunately for the Denver man, his family took him for extensive tests. He was diagnosed as having "senility of the Alzheimer's type." His doctor took names and addresses of family members and forwarded them to the national Alzheimer's organization.

In 1981 the national group contacted the McGees in Amarillo and told them about meetings in Texas on Alzheimer's Disease. But the nearest group was in Houston. As a tribute to her father-in-law, McGee agreed to hold six monthly meetings in Amarillo to find out if people were interested in knowing about the disease.

The gradual rise of interest as persons realized they were not alone in caring for someone with Alzheimer's Disease resulted in the formation of an Amarillo chapter in 1982.

Since then, Becky McGee has visited 27 Texas counties to explain Alzheimer's Disease and its symptoms, sent literature and made personal visits to nearly 200 family groups, helping them to learn to cope with the disease. The chapter mailing list is more than 1,500.

This past year the McGees have traveled more than 17,000 miles helping start support groups throughout the country. Support groups have been started through their efforts in Hereford, Borger, Beaver, Okla., Abilene, Odessa-Midland, Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Bryan (College Station), and the Lower Rio Grande. The couple also advises groups in Arkansas and Louisiana, but have not yet visited those two states.

In May, 1984 the National Office of the Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders Association, appointed Mrs. McGee as the State Liason. This is the official title for the job she has been doing for the past few years-starting support groups throughout the state of Texas-all on a volunteer basis.

Anyone with family members who might be affected with Alzheimer's Disease or senility, is invited to attend this free information session.

The Amarillo chapter meets at 7:30 p.m., the third Tuesday of each month at Texas Tech Health Services Center, 1400 Wallace Blvd. The meetings are free and open to the public.

High School Cheerleaders Chosen

Following elections Tuesday, five young ladies will lead cheerleading for McLean High School next year. Elected by popular ballot were Kristie

Thompson, Shawn Crockett, Darla McAnear and Misty Magee. Tiffany Lopez was elected as mascot.

A new cheerleading policy, which was recently approved by the school board, abolished the former procedure for electing cheerleaders, where each class had a representative chosen. The new election procedure is more in line with other area schools and states that the four girls receiving the most votes, regardless of classification will serve the following year.

The election for mascot was held separately from the cheerleading election.

Miss Thompson, a junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Thompson. Miss Crockett a sophomore, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Crockett.

Miss McAnear is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. McAnear, Miss Magee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Magee and Miss Lopez is the daughter of Betty Lopez. They are all eighth grade students.

Jr. High Squad Picked Monday

Four young ladies will serve as cheerleaders at McLean Junior High next year, following try-outs and the following elections held at school Monday. Next year's eighth grade will be Mari French and Danna Watson. Holly Hauck and Sheva Seymour will represent the seventh grade class. Cheerleaders are chosen by popular balloting from the junior high student body.

Chet Bohlar Travels To Regionals

Chet Bohlar barely missed first place in the 100-meter dash at the district track meet in Groom last week, and won a spot in the regional track meet to be held in Levelland May 4.

Bohlar clocked in with an 11.67 to take second place at the qualifying meet insure his trip to regional competition. He will be the only representative from McLean making the trip this year.

Barely missing out on the trip to regionals were the boy's sprint relay and Kristie Thompson.

The boy's 400-meter relay placed fourth in the finals, but just 400 of a second separated them and the winning teams, who will on to Levelland.

Miss Thompson took third place in the 200-meter race, narrowly missing out on the top two finishers in that race. She was disqualified from the 100-meter race after a false-start in the finals.

Bohlar also finished fourth in the 200 meter dash.

Also finishing well for the high school tracksters were Faye Green, who was third in the 3200-meter run; Shawn Crockett, fourth in the 400-meter run; Angie Reynolds, sixth in the high jump; Kristie Thompson, 7th long jump; Shawn Crockett, seventh, triple jump; Cindy Hembree, sixth in the 800-meter run; and the 1600-meter relay which placed fourth. Running on the relay were Kristie Thompson, Shawn Crockett, Cindy Hembree, and Faye Green.

In the boy's division, Donnie Smith placed sixth in the 1600-meter run and sixth in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles, and Bob Patman placed sixth in the 800-meter run.

Saied's New Store In Shamrock

Thursday, May 2 is a big day for Alex Saied and his family. Their new IGA supermarket will open its doors at I-40 and Hwy 83 in Shamrock at 8 a.m., bringing to the neighborhood an independently owned grocery store which is part of an organization that accounts for sales of eight billion dollars annually across the country.

The Independent Grocers' Alliance has more than 3,300 members in 48 states -- all of them retailers who invest their own money and own and operate their own stores. For the most part, they've grown up in their communities and that's where they intend to stay.

"We hope to show our customers that we're responsive to the needs and interests of our community", Mr. Saied said. "We have the most up-to-date equipment and the level of service will be a source of pride to us."

IGA supermarkets currently rank third in size among retail food groups in the United States.

Mr. Saied in making the announcement, "we will continue to stock hardware, sporting goods, clothing, and other merchandise to make our store complete. We will make few changes other than becoming a member of IGA Supermarkets." The store pharmacy will continue to operate as in the past.

Former McLean Resident C.O. Greene Better City Of Clovis

[Editor's Note: The following article appeared in the Clovis News Journal, and was brought to us by Mrs. S.A. Cousins.]

If Greene Acres is the place to be," then it is a fitting tribute to the man who made it happen- C.O. Greene of Clovis.

He was instrumental in getting Southwestern Public Service Company, where he was district manager, to donate 26 acres for the park at 21st Street. Clovis residents can enjoy the picnic areas and lake each day, thanks to his efforts.

C.O. stands for Carl Osborne, but few people know that. Born in Ola, Arkansas, Greene came West with his father, a physician, in 1900. The doctor worked for Rock Island Railway, then building to Amarillo.

C.O. Greene taught school for three years, starting in a one-room schoolhouse nine miles from Plainview. His salary was just $70 per month.

Greene attended West Texas State at Canyon, Texas, Seth Ward College, Plainview (no longer in existence), Southwestern University in Georgetown, Texas, and the University of Colorado in Boulder.

Greene taught at two high schools, but then World War I broke out. He served a term in the Army and was in an officers' training school when the war was terminated.

He met his wife-to-be, Margaret, in Amarillo, where she worked in a cafeteria with her sister. "I'd go there every day and she'd give me free meals," said Greene. "After they closed, we'd get in my car and go courting."

"I worked for the Sante Fe Railway in Amarillo for five years and then applied for a job with Southwestern Public Service," he said. This job lasted for 37 years.

The Greenses first moved to McLean, Texas, where C.O. worked as a purchasing agent.

"Those 15 years there during the Depression were probably my greatest time," he said. Greene was active with the Lions Club and was sent to Chicago as a delegate.

McLean had a problem during the Depression of people leaving to find work at camps elsewhere. A state senator brought a prisoner of war camp to McLean, and this gave a boost to the town's economy.

"The Germans were delightful people," said Greene. "They had the greatest chorus." To support the servicemen at the camp, Greene helped establish a USO.

Greene was later transferred to Portales and went to San Francisco as a delegate for Rotary International. He was transferred to Clovis on 1949 as district manager of Southwestern. Following in the steps of his predecessor, he became a Kiwanian. He was sent to Atlantic City as a delegate and traveled there by passenger train.

Greene has seen a lot of changes in Clovis during his time here.

"I was tickled to death when we got Cannon AFB in here," he said. "It was reactivated from a base that was just a couple of shacks."

After his retirement, Greene served on the Clovis City Commission for four years. He is interested in the Association of Retarded Citizens and helped to establish a pilot program on a volunteer basis.

Greene is also an avid supporter of the Hospital Associates. The group meets at Clovis High Plains Hospital to give support in any way it can, whether it be in the form of advice or money.

Greene has done many services to the community of Clovis, and his presence is still felt.

So, when people see the pleasant environs of Greene Acres Park, they can enjoy the sunshine and fishing with gratitude to C.O. Greene.

SPS Honored By Governor Mark White Recently

Gov. Mark White presented Southwestern Public Service Company an award symbolic of "business of the year" in Texas.

At a special luncheon here, White presented SPS Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Berl M. Springer with the Texas Association of Business (TAB) Ed C. Burris award.

The award is presented annually to one company that exemplifies the best in Texas business and industry, said Bob Myers of Fort Worth, Chairman of the TAB committee that made the selection.

SPS's efficiency in operations, power plant construction, fuel management and other areas that directly benefit electric customers played a major role in its selection, Myers said.

Among the many SPS accomplishments noted by the selection committee were:

This summer the company will complete its fifth coal-fired generating unit on schedule, within budget and at a cost about one-half the average for similar power plants throughout the nation. SPS is one of the few electrical utilities in the United States that design and supervise construction of their own power plants.

SPS was a leader in the utility industry in the early 1970s when it made the decision to meet increasing demand for electricity in its service area with coal-fired power plants. That decision has paid off for SPS customers. Last year alone, fuel costs for its customers were $157 million lower than if the company had to rely solely on natural gas as a boiler fuel.

SPS is working hard to keep down all fuel costs, including costs of coal. After extensive negotiations completed last year with the Burlington Northern and Santa Fe railroads, SPS renegotiated its coal-haul contracts. The new contracts will save consumers $27 million in fuel costs this year- and $790 million over the next 17 years.

In further effort to keep down the costs in the future, SPS is constructing a test facility near Amarillo that will examine the feasibility of a coal slurry pipeline using liquified carbon dioxide in place of water to transport coal.

If feasible, such a pipeline would be built from northeastern New Mexico to a proposed SPS power plant near Lubbock. It would be the first of its kind in the world. It would conserve precious water and perhaps be a source of carbon dioxide (CO2) for Texas' oil industry. CO2 is used to extend life and increase productivity of oil wells through tertiary recovery.

SPS also has led the development of historic interconnections between the Eastern and Western Electrical Grids of the United States, with two connections that began operation last year. These interconnections have made practical several opportunities for utilities in different halves of the nation to share power, for the benefit of the customers.

As a participant in the energy conservation programs of the Governor's office and the Public Utility Commission, SPS is making its customers more aware of ways to use energy wisely.

The company's air-quality control efforts, including the use of low-sulfur western coal at its coal-fired power plants, help protect the environment.

in neighborhoods where they are working.

Also recognized were the individual efforts of SPS employees in United Way and other community programs. Southwestern Public Service Company primarily provides electric service to a population of more than one million in a 52,000 square mile area of the Panhandle and south plains of Texas, eastern and southeastern New Mexico, the Oklahoma Panhandle, and southwestern Kansas.

Former Resident Honored At McMurry College Recently

Baylor University head football coach Grant Teaff, a 1956 McMurry College graduate and a charter member of the College's Athletic Hall of Honor, was the Master of Ceremonies when McMurry hosted its second annual Hall of Honor Induction Dinner March 30.

The dinner, which began at 7 p.m. in the United Methodist Campus Center on the McMurry Campus, honored 12 new inductees into the Hall of Honor. Teaff, who coached at McMurry for 10 years after an award-filled playing career with the Indians, was one of 15 original inductees named into the Hall of Honor upon its formation last spring.

The 12 new inductees included 11 former athletes, dating back to the very first McMurry athletic teams of the 1920's; and a former college administrator who was a strong supporter of Indian athletes. Many of the former athletes were standouts in more than one sport for McMurry.

The group of new inductees included C.E. "Cricket" Christian (1938), football.

A native of McLean, he was named as the best fullback R.M. Medley ever coached. He played four years of football for the Indians (34-37) and was voted Most Valuable Player by his teammates in 1937. He played on a 1936 team which beat Austin College in a game played at the Cotton Bowl.

He coached nine years at McLean, San Benito, Borger,
