Sales Tax Is Given Boost By The NAM

Compulsory Savings Also Advocated By Manufacturers

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—An 8 per cent sales tax to supplement heavy corporate and individual income tax levies for war purposes was proposed today by J. J. Cheever Cowdin, spokesman for the National Association of Manufacturers.

The NAM program called for $37,000,000,000 in revenue in 1943, a sharp increase over pending measures, on top of which was suggested consideration of compulsory individual savings.

While urging a sales tax as had the U. S. chamber of commerce, the NAM said a 6 per cent withholding tax on individual earnings, such as the chamber also proposed, was "impractical and infeasible."

Cowdin, in recommendations prepared for the senate finance committee, called the revenue bill pending before it "one of the most important single measures ever to come before congress" and added:

"A bad tax bill can lose the war."

Through Cowdin, the NAM surveyed 3,000 businesses and industrial units and estimated corporations would net about $18,000,000,000 this year.

It proposed the treasury take $11,000,000,000 in taxes and leave approximately $6,000,000,000—or 2.7 per cent of estimated gross receipts—for dividends, reserves and additional working capital. He estimated that on the same basis corporations would pay $13,500,000,000 in 1943.

"Such a total, he asserted, was far beyond the corporate payments anyone in government has so far estimated or asked for."

To make up the $37,000,000,000 total in 1943, the NAM would slash $2,000,000,000 from non-war expenditures, collect $5,200,000,000 by the sales levy, $9,000,000,000 in individual income taxes at rates lower than those now pending, and obtain $7,500,000,000 from excise, employment, customs and miscellaneous taxes not covered in its recommendation.

"About all the ingredients of a runaway inflation are with us now," Cowdin declared, "and we can no longer afford to hide our heads in the sand. We must take drastic action."

"A sales tax will be one step in that direction, and we urge consideration of compulsory savings as an additional step."

Nazis Answer RAF Raids

LONDON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Powerful British air squadrons rained high explosives and incendiaries on Mainz again during the night as Nazi raiders ended London's long freedom from attack by bombing the outskirts of the capital.

The attack on Mainz—the second successive night assault on that German industrial center—was accompanied by raids on Nazi airfields in the low countries, the air ministry said.

Five RAF planes were lost in the overnight operations.

The pre-dawn raid on the greater Rhineland area was the first since Nounaer raiders unloaded a few bombs before daylight on July 30 and some buildings were wrecked.

All mid-morning authorities said all persons trapped in the debris had been removed. Casualties were reported as seven killed and at least three injured.

DNB said fires were rekindled in Mainz by the British raiders and mentioned damage in residential areas of the Rhineland railway traffic hub and industrial center which was battered with tons of high explosives and incendiaries the night before.

Negro Wounded In Holdup Attempt

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (AP)—A young negro who appeared at a teller's window and said "give me the money" was shot by guards in the lobby of the First National bank of Chicago today.

He was removed to a hospital in a serious condition.

Resigns—P. D. Lewis (above), has resigned as superintendent of the Forsan schools. It was made known Thursday, to enter work at Portland, Ore. His successor has not yet been named.

Army May Be Used To Open Strike Plant

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Chairman William H. Davis of the War Labor Board indicated after a White House conference today that troops might be sent to the strike-closed General Cable company plant at Bayonne, N. J., unless the strikers quickly end their defiance of a labor order refusing them a wage increase.

Davis would not admit that he had discussed the Bayonne dispute at the executive mansion, where he conferred with Judge Samuel I. Rosenman, a close adviser of President Roosevelt. The chairman said he hoped the strikers would vote today to settle the controversy.

Asked what the next step would be if no settlement were obtained, Davis said it would be "to send somebody in to remove the picket line and invite the boys back to work."

He nodded assent to a question whether he meant the army.

California Crash Kills Three Fliers

BAKERSFIELD, Calif., Aug. 13 (AP)—Three army fliers were killed late yesterday in the flaming crash in separate accidents of two training planes from Minter Field.

The dead were announced by Lt. James A. Lewis, Minter Field public relations officer, as: Flying Cadet Paul C. Averill, Jr., 22, Boulder, Colo.; Lt. Stewart T. Smith, 25, flight instructor, Manteca, Calif.; Flying Cadet Herbert A. Jones, 22, Eugene, Ore.

Tire Theft Ring Is Broken Up

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 13 (AP)—San Antonio's first war time black market was smashed when sheriff's investigators at dawn today gathered up loose ends of a state-wide tire stealing racket whose outlet for "hot" casings was in an exclusive San Antonio suburb.

Tires stolen from Dallas to the Rio Grande valley to the estimate value of $7,000 are expected to be recovered.

Following a daring daylight capture of an armed suspect here, the case gained in impetus as "confessing culprits put the 'bee' on San Antonians who had purchased the "hot" tires at prices reported as ranging from $20 to $30 per casing.

JIMMY AT MIDWAY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The navy confirmed today that Major James Roosevelt of the marines, President Roosevelt's eldest son, was at Midway island during the battle of Midway in early June. No further information was given out.

Wheat Stores Pile Up By Millions Of Bushels

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (AP)—Uncle Sam's hoard of wheat, piled up for the day when a world clamoring for bread can be satisfied in peace, is swelling by millions of bushels weekly as fast as farmers can find suitable storage space, grain trade statistics showed today.

Farmers are putting up their grain as collateral for government loans even though market prices are the highest for August since 1929. Lending operations are running far ahead of last season, when a total of 278,000,000 bushels was stored. Up to Aug. 1, loans had been granted on 31,000,000 bushels, compared with less than 4,000,000 at that date a year ago, and lending was averaging 12,000,000 bushels weekly.

The government's lending is not to accumulate more wheat, because Uncle Sam already owns more grain than at any time since the ever-normal granary program came into being several years ago, the

MARINES EXTEND POSITIONS ON SOLOMONS; U. S. PLANES GO INTO ACTION OVER EUROPE

FIGHTERS ENGAGE IN FLIGHTS OVER COAST OF FRANCE

LONDON, Aug. 13 (AP)—United States army air fighting forces have entered the European fray on a large scale for the first time, having engaged in 31 operational sorties during the past 48 hours, United States European headquarters announced today.

U. S. fighter squadrons, flying in conjunction with RAF fighter units, made three such flights over the coast of France.

Twenty of the missions were over the sea, and eight were interception sorties off the coast of England, the communication said.

"The text of the announcement: 'The following United States army air force operations occurred during the 48-hour period from 9 a. m. Aug. 11 to 9 a. m., Aug. 13: 'United States army air force fighter squadrons, flying in conjunction with RAF fighter squadrons, made three operational flights over the coast of France. 'United States army air force fighter aircraft participated in 20 sea sorties.

"United States army air force fighter aircraft participated in eight interception sorties off the coast of England."

These American formations flying this British-made Spitfires thus won a friendly race with the U. S. bomber command to be the first complete all-American units to participate in the air war.

The first Fourth of July raid by American crews in six bombers over the occupied lands was a scattered operation by an incomplete unit.

The 31 operations were carried out in sweeps with units from the RAF.

The American units had been established on fields within easy reach of France for several days awaiting only good weather.

The first operations took place only a few hours after Maj. Gen. Carl Spaatz, chief of the U. S. Army Air Forces in the European theatre, had announced that his men were ready to strike Germany "in the immediate future."

The 20 sea sorties, referred to in the communication, were regular three-plane patrols over the channel to intercept sneak raiders or reconnaissance planes of the enemy.

There has been little combat in the past few days, however, and it was unlikely that any American operations became involved in air fights.

The fact that Americans participated, however, was taken to mean that they have been fitted into Britain's plan of air warfare.

Leaders of the American formations have been in training with the RAF, seven of them taking part in their first sweeps July 26 when one failed to return from attacks on the areas of Gravelines, St. Omer and Abbeville.

American leaders participating in these first sweeps declared themselves delighted with the British Spitfires. The British-made planes are completely serviced by American crews on American-operated airfields.

U. S. Bombers Blast 3 Axis War Vessels

Cruisers Heavily Damaged In Raid On Greek Port

CAIRO, Aug. 13 (AP)—America's huge bombers, swooping out of a setting sun, scored great damage on three axis warships at Fyros Navarino on the west coast of Greece, making two direct hits on one cruiser, setting a second afire and causing an explosion aboard a third it was announced today.

A terrific explosion also was caused aboard the cruiser on which the two direct hits were made, and black smoke was seen pouring from the second cruiser as a result of either a direct hit or a near miss.

There also was a terrific explosion aboard a third cruiser after a bomb burst next to it.

"The raid was delivered in the light of the setting sun on Tuesday.

Five Million Paid, In War Bonds, To See A Movie

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13 (AP)—Hollywood, whose spending habits have been likened to those of an inebriated mariner, just about outdid itself last night when it laid $5,000,000 on the line to see a motion picture.

The sum represents the total of war bonds purchased, in amounts from $25 to $119,500, for the privilege of seeing the Hollywood premiere of "Yankee Doodle Dandy." The treasury department took over the theater for the night, and you had to buy a war bond to get in.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The war production board today extended the oil industry's blanket priority (P-98) order without change until September 15.

The order expired July 31, but producers, distributors and marketers of petroleum products have been obtaining materials under it since that time with tacit WPB consent.

The board said a new order—which has been in preparation for weeks—probably would be issued by September 15 to supplant the old one.

Officials of the office of petroleum coordinator have disclosed that the order being prepared would probably withdraw from the industry the blanket, automatic assistance in obtaining equipment and materials which the present order permits. Shortages of steel, iron, copper and other materials by the industry are so critical, it was stated that it will not be possible to continue the blanket priority.

Sinkings Resumed After 4-Day Lull

By The Associated Press
A four-day lull in announced ship sinkings was broken by the navy yesterday in disclosing the loss of a small Dutch merchantman with a death toll of 23 crewmen in late July when a submarine's torpedoes sank her to the bottom off the east coast of South America.

Only 14 seamen were rescued after the attack which broke the vessel in two and made it the 420th announced wartime merchant victim in the western Atlantic area, as tabulated by the Associated Press.

Absentee Balloting Is Going Slowly

Absentee voting was still progressing rather slowly in the county clerk's office Thursday morning, as only 17 had cast ballots since a check-up Wednesday noon. This brought the total for three days balloting to 23.

Only four more days after Thursday remain for the absentee to come in. Present indications are that the total will be considerably smaller than in the first primary, when more than 300 voted absentee.

INITIAL OPPOSITION APPARENTLY HAS BEEN OVERCOME

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, AUSTRALIA, Aug. 13 (AP)—Firmly entrenched at three points in the Solomon Islands, United States Marines battled to expand their positions today with the immediate backing of allied sea forces and long-range air assaults on Japanese communications and reinforcement bases.

There was an unconfirmed Australian report that American parachute troops had been used as shock forces.

A spokesman here, asked for comment, said only that he never knew of such troops being landed from ship-based aircraft before.

A Washington navy announcement that operations had advanced to the point where the Leathernecks were consolidating their holdings in the Tulagi area, in the southeastern Solomons, indicated that initial land opposition had been overcome after six days of savage hand-to-hand combat.

The U. S. Navy's communique said the Marines landed as scheduled on three islands, whose names it did not disclose, in the Tulagi vicinity. It added that supporting naval craft were meeting with bitter opposition, suggesting that the Japanese had thrown powerful surface and air units into the defense of their ground forces.

Flying fortresses, striking yesterday at Rabaul, New Britain, in the fifth raid there in five days, knocked out four enemy ships in the harbor of this base from which Japanese troops and supplies have moved to the Solomons.

A 15,000-ton ship and two medium-sized ones were left spouting flames and another large ship was seen sinking by the stern, a headquarters communique said today. One of eight challenging fighters was shot down and from three to six others were hit and damaged. Not a single allied bomber was lost.

Allied airmen went to work on shipping at Rabaul after concentrating their previous raids this week on the big Japanese airbase there which undoubtedly had been sending air aid to the Solomons.

Reconnaissance before today's raid showed a spurt in shipping activity in and about Rabaul, which is some 700 miles north-west of Tulagi, a headquarters spokesman said.

Some 2,000 miles west of the Solomons allied airmen attacked Japanese shipping and base installations in the Dutch Timor-Banda sea area with undetermined results.

The U. S. Navy communique on the Solomon action said there was substantial evidence that the Japanese since invading the island in January had a base well under way in the Tulagi area.

The presumably was at Tulagi harbor, potentially one of the finest naval base sites in the southwestern Pacific.

With the hurricane-free, 100-foot deep harbor in allied hands, it could play a big part in the newly generated offensive to throw the Japanese out of the southwest Pacific islands.

Jap-Occupied Town Raided By Yanks

CHUNGKING, Aug. 13 (AP)—United States bombers attacked the Japanese-occupied town of Yoyang (Yochow) in the northeastern corner of Hunan province Tuesday, American headquarters announced today.

"Both high explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped, all of which landed within the town," the communique asserted. "The raid was highly successful and all the American planes returned to their bases."

Dies Group Has Evidence Of Fifth Column Activity

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Dies committee, it was learned authoritatively today, will send to President Roosevelt this week a copy of a confidential letter sent from Germany to trusted Nazi sympathizers in the United States advising them that Walter Kappel had been appointed to head a fifth column front in this country and paving the way for his work.

The FBI is seeking Kappel in connection with its investigation of a Nazi sabotage ring and has charged he was associated with six saboteurs executed here last Saturday after a military commission trial.

Signaled by Kappel, whom the FBI described as head of "a contemplated German sabotage organization," the letter, bearing the salutation "Heil Hitler," said:

"I have accepted the leadership of the Comradship USA 2 x x on the grounds that a central office of the Comradship USA must also exist in time of war. . . . I depend upon the cooperation of everyone."

In view of the fact Kappel had more than a year and a half to operate in this country, since the letter was written, the committee was reported to have taken the position that all persons identified with Nazi movements in America should be under constant surveillance.

Along with the letter, it was learned, the committee will send to the White House a list of names of approximately 17,000 persons whose past activities indicated Nazi sympathies.

Close to 2,000 of the names are of persons the committee claims contributed to the Kytfaussbund, and several thousand others were identified as being associated with the "American-German Volksbund," which Kappel's letter described as "by far the most active and most indoctrinated combat group in American-Germanism 2 x x."

Germans Push For Oil Areas And Seaports

New Offensive On Stalingrad May Be In Making

By EDDIE GILMORE
MOSCOW, Aug. 13 (AP)—A mighty new German offensive against Stalingrad appeared to be taking shape in the Don bend today as hard-battled Russian forces in the Caucasus battled desperately to halt constantly reinforced Nazi columns advancing toward three vital objectives—the rich Grozny oil fields and the Black Sea ports of Novorossiisk and Tuapse.

Military advisers reported the Germans were massing vast quantities of men and equipment in the Don allow and told of a sudden intensification of fighting near Kotelnikovo, 95 miles southwest of Stalingrad.

Both armies were reported throwing unprecedented numbers of men into the fray in this sector and there were indications that the battle might develop into one of the mightiest yet seen on the whole Russian front.

Thus far the Russians seemed to be holding their own on the approaches to Stalingrad, but the picture in the Caucasus, where Adolf Hitler is reaching out for oil to feed his fighting machines, was grave.

New concentrations of five bombers were reported pecking the German drive, raising some of high explosives on Caucasian towns in raids carried out by waves of 40 to 60 planes.

The army newspaper, Red Star, reported a three-day action, ended two days ago, in which Russians penetrated 12 miles into the rear of German positions in the Don elbow, killing 4,300 of the foe, it was said.

From another sector of Russia's great front, Pravda, the communist party organ, reported a 130-plane raid on Leningrad, in which it said 30 of the attackers were downed. The Germans also used parachutists in that lunge at the northern city but they were speedily mopped up, Pravda said.

Dispatches from the Caucasus front said that one Nazi spearhead already was less than 500 miles from Grozny after breaking through the Russian lines at Cherkessk, a small town in the Caucasus foothills 70 miles southeast of Armavir.

The Germans, claiming the capture of Elisla, an obviously dangerous thrust at Astrakhan only 175 miles away, acknowledged that German infantry and armored divisions were engaged "in a heavy defensive struggle" both to the southeast and to the north of Rubev, 130 miles northwest of Moscow.

The Russians said they still were gaining ground in the Voronezh sector where they have made numerous crossings of the Don in a flank thrust to the German forces.

Outbreaks In India Fewer

BOMBAY, Aug. 13 (AP)—Rioting and clashes with police kept alive the spark of danger today in several Indian cities but Bombay, where much of the violence had centered, outbreaks over Mohandas K. Gandhi's do-or-die Indian independence drive grew fewer and smaller.

The situation in Bombay was quiet all morning with no incidents of any kind. Workers were returning to the mills.

A dispatch from Madras said four persons were killed and ten injured at Tenali yesterday when police fired on a crowd which attacked the railway station and set it on fire.

Armed police and troops were on guard here and elsewhere against new flare-ups.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The United States is following a "hands off" policy in the Indian crisis, and American military forces in India have been ordered to avoid even the appearance of participating in the internal strife touched off by Mohandas K. Gandhi's "freedom now" campaign.

Larsen has been interested in magic ever since he was six, although, as he says, he didn't turn professional until he was 12.

He was graduated from Occidental College in 1927, and in 1930 took his law degree at University of Southern California. Even during those periods, his studies had to share his interest with magic, as he was continually giving shows here and there and getting well paid for them, too.

"But when I got my law degree I thought I'd better use it," he recalled. He opened an office in 1930, and in the ensuing eight years tried 1300 criminal cases.

The Larsens tour the country every winter, giving one or two shows almost every day before women's clubs, study clubs, service clubs, or in colleges, high schools or hotels.

"I isn't the cost of a trick that makes it good," Larsen said. "One of my best ones costs me 80 cents every time I do it."

The 30 cents is spent for three popular magazines, from which he tears the pages and distributes them to spectators. If they'll tell him the name of the magazine and the page number, he'll recite verbatim the paragraph they're looking at.

THE WAR TODAY: Hitler Hasn't Yet Smashed Red Army

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

The Germans continue their advance in the Caucasus, spreading both ways among the rugged northern foothills of the towering mountain range which forms a barrier across the great Caucasian isthmus separating the Black and the Caspian seas.

On the coast at either end of this mighty barricade are comparatively narrow routes which lead down into the Middle East and some of the world's richest oil fields. The Nazi Genghis Khan is headed for those coastal routes, which may carry him to a great and perhaps decisive victory—if he can travel them. The fighting is fierce and bloody, for the Russians are exacting a terrible price for every foot of ground they surrender.

The picture isn't a cheerful one from our standpoint. Still, there is some gloom bound to creep through the chinks of our armor, especially in these muggy August days, we must remember that nothing decisive has happened yet despite Hitler's spectacular victories.

If the Nazi leader had utterly smashed the Russian army—as he has been trying to do—the story would be different. Then something decisive would have happened. But so long as the Red fighting machine continues to function as a unit, the Russians aren't beaten by a long way and Herr Hitler has plenty of trouble on his hands.

Some military observers believe the Nazis have the strength to battle their way down both coastal routes to Baku and Baku, thus acquiring invaluable strategic positions and capturing the oil which they need to enable them to continue the war. That would be a disaster for the allies.

It must be admitted at once that this is a possibility. There's no use blinking the fact that the situation is serious. Still, there are a good many of us who can't see that such a breakthrough is inevitable. On the contrary, I believe the Russians have a fair chance of keeping the Huns north of the Caucasian mountain range.

That would leave Hitler in possession of the northern Caucasus oil fields of Malkop and Gromy, and while these produce only about 15 per cent of Russia's oil and don't provide the supplies he needs, they would be mighty useful. He also would have acquired vast new agricultural regions. Both oil and wheat fields would have been destroyed under the Muscovite scorched earth policy, but the damage could be repaired. Russia, of course, would suffer through being deprived of these resources, and having her main connections into the Caucasus severed.

As a matter of fact, the Turks think perhaps Hitler will halt his drive and consolidate. If and when he has completed his conquest of the northern Caucasus down to the mountains. The idea is that he would rest there through the winter and strike southward again in the spring.

I hope he does that, because he will have achieved what likely will be an empty victory. That's so because it isn't probable that he can stand another winter without fresh supplies and still emerge in the spring strong enough to fight his way down to the Middle East. By then, mind you, Uncle Sam and John Bull should be ready to do business on a fairly big scale and the Fuehrer will have trouble on his western front.

Texas Crops Will Exceed Past Average

AUSTIN, Aug. 12. (AP)—Featured by a commercial peanut crop to be harvested from about 1,000,000 acres with prospects of a better than usual yield, most Texas crops will exceed their 1930-39 average production, the chief exceptions being cotton and oats, the crop reporting board of the U. S. department of agriculture estimated.

Such growing crops as corn, rice and tame hay will exceed their 1941 production, mostly because of increased acreage, but grain sorghums, potatoes and sweet potatoes will fall below the 1941 level. Heavier than normal rainfall in coastal and southern districts during July tended to reduce cotton prospects there and interfered with harvesting of grain sorghum and hay, but helped late corn and feed crops. Conditions were nearly ideal for completing harvest of small grains and for growth of feed crops in the Panhandle.

Other parts of the state received much less than normal July rainfall, which resulted in lower production of late corn and feed crops there. It was becoming dry for cotton also.

Cotton production, with both increased acreage and yields over 1941, was estimated at 3,177,000 bales, compared with 2,652,000 last year and the 1930-39 average of 2,766,000 bales.

Corn production, with more or less offsetting changes in various sections, was estimated at the same level as on July 1, 81,270,000 bushels at an average of 15 bushels per acre.

On a smaller acreage the 1941 crop was 75,678,000 bushels and the 1930-39 average was 75,964,000 bushels.

TWO MORE YEARS DENVER, Aug. 12. (AP)—Ambrose L. Hunting doesn't expect to see world peace until he's 102—but don't look so gloomy. He was 100 yesterday.

with yields at 15 and 15.4 bushels, respectively. Some very good yields were obtained on early acreage in the northwest. The acreage of grain sorghums for all purposes was estimated at 4,322,000 acres, or 3 per cent more than in 1941. The yield was indicated at 16 bushels per acre and production at 69,152,000 bushels, compared with 19 and 70,724,000 in 1941 and the 1930-39 average of 12.2 and 44,884,000 bushels.

Urges Good Care Of Sewing Machine

By MRS. DORA E. BARNES
Extension Clothing Specialist

If a sewing machine is in constant use, oil it every day with a good high-grade machine oil.

If the machine runs hard, the oil in the bearings probably has become gummy. Inject kerosene into all working parts. Remove the needle and run the machine rapidly. Wipe it thoroughly and oil it again. Work off all oil on scraps before doing any sewing.

To clean the working parts: Remove the belt from the flywheel. Remove the upper thread, side plate, bobbin case, needle and presser foot. Take out all the screws in the plate under the presser foot. Remove the throat plate. Put all of these parts in a small container so they won't be mislaid.

Now turn back the head of the machine so as to expose the under side. Turn the flywheel slowly and inspect all of the working parts. Remove lint and dust with a toothpick or stiff brush. Flush the bearings with gasoline. Turn the machine upright. Do the same for other moving parts. Turn the mechanism over by hand and wipe off excess gasoline, oil with sewing machine oil, and run by hand.

This works the oil into the bearings. Replace the parts removed, put on the belt, and run the machine without thread or material until the oil has worked out of the bearings. Wipe off excess oil, thread up, and stitch on a piece of scrap until the thread looks perfectly clean. Test for tension and stitch. Some persons keep a bit of wool tied around the presser foot above the needle to absorb any drip after fresh oiling.

If the machine is kept clean and oiled and in good working order, it will pay dividends in time saved, and make sewing easier.

Cotton Leaf Worms In Some Fields

Cotton leaf worms are showing up in fields where showers were sufficient to keep the cotton fresh. Some poisoning has been done. It should be recalled that poisoning should be delayed until most of the worms have hatched and the cotton is showing some ragging of the top leaves. The leaf worm feeds on the under side of the leaf for several days after it hatches. During this period they just skim the underside of the leaf and do not eat entirely through. So that poison on the top of the leaf does not kill them.

A little later they begin consuming both surfaces of the leaf and in that stage spraying becomes effective. Many cotton fields are sprayed too soon to find a weak later nearly as many worms as ever and the poisoning must be repeated.

Again the worms sometimes will not be numerous all over the field. By finding out the areas where there are enough worms to injure the cotton, and spraying these areas at the right time, a lot of calcium arsenate may be saved as well as labor.

There may be some difficulty about getting enough calcium arsenate. Farmers will recall the substitute mixtures that came on the market when the calcium arsenate became scarce. Therefore calcium arsenate should be used judiciously. We cannot afford to waste anything in a time like this.

Protect Quality Of Eggs, Agent Says

"Every effort should be made to protect the quality of eggs produced since there is such a demand to meet the needs of the fighting forces and to supply lend-lease supplies," stated O. F. Griffin.

"In addition to the patriotic angle a recent survey indicates that Texas poultry men are losing approximately $3,000 a day because of poor quality eggs resulting from spoiling of fertile eggs," continued Griffin.

Three days of summer heat will turn fertile eggs into "duds" making them useless as a food, so long as the roosters run with the hens.

Roosters should be removed from the flock at once and either penned, canned or sold.

Advices Heavy Pigs For The Market

Pigs should not be marketed light. They should be fed to 200 pounds or more. At this time the outlook for the feed grain crop is not very bright and farmers who see a shortage ahead will begin to hedge against it.

If the feed grain crop proves to be too short an effort will be made to ship in some of the government wheat that has been released for livestock feeding. The price set on this grain would still leave a good margin for hog feeders.

Crop Conditions Generally Fair Over The State

AUSTIN, Aug. 12. (AP)—Crop conditions in most of the state were satisfactory for cotton and as a whole were better than usual for the midsummer period for the week ended Aug. 9, the U. S. department of agriculture and the Texas agricultural extension service reported today.

In the Panhandle development of feed crops and preparation of land were favored by nearly ideal moisture conditions, except for a small central dry area.

Across the northern part from west to east little rain had fallen for several weeks, crops were severely affected by lack of moisture even cotton to some extent, but the situation was suitable for harvesting early grain sorghum and hay crops.

The upper coastal and adjacent counties to the north continued to receive excessive precipitation which interfered with harvesting of crops and the development of cotton. In the remaining southern portion the intermittent showers of previous weeks had let up and such work as plowing and preparation of fall seed beds, cotton picking, harvesting of corn, grain sorghum, hay and peanuts went forward rapidly.

Cotton made satisfactory progress in most areas, but conditions were very spotted. In the coastal bend area, following heavy leaf worm infestation, much of the crop was open and picking was well under way.

Back from his vacation and ready for the gridiron grind, Bible declared that "from now on and for the duration the principal purpose of football will be to condition the nation's men for the armed services."

It's common knowledge that when a player is too old for baseball he turns to umpiring." (P.B. For the uninitiated: Ban Johnson baseball is for youths 21 and under.)

Frank Fritch, whose opinion of umpires isn't very complimentary, was popping off to Bill Klem one day, arguing that he could do the job a lot better than some of the major league "Blind Toms. . . . 'Til show you," Frank howled, and he waved his arm in a circle and roared, "T-o-m-b-o-w-it. . . . 'I could do that all day," he added. . . . Klem just grinned. . . . "No you couldn't," he replied. "Suppose the runner was safe."

Stagg Sees More Football When War Is Over

STOCKTON, Calif., Aug. 12 (AP) Hale and hearty as his 50th birthday approaches, veteran football coach Amor Alonzo Stagg believes the war will have but little effect on the game, and when it's over there will be an expansion in gridiron interest.

"I don't think the war will affect the quality of the teams very much, especially at the larger universities," said white-haired Coach of the Pacific mentor who coached University of Chicago teams through the Spanish-American and World wars.

"The big schools have so much material in normal times that they never utilize all of it. There is still plenty of it available for good football teams."

What started out the other day as a simple safety talk ended up with a $1,240 subscription in bonds and stamps at the army air school. Supt. D. E. In the course of his remarks, Crawford observed that one of the best safety measures was to invest a day's wages in stamps.

Pitches One Game, Gets His Release

HOUSTON, Aug. 12 (AP)—Clarence Mitchell, Jr., son of the only left-handed spitball pitcher in baseball's history, has come and gone. Signed last night as a free agent, young Mitchell went to the mound for the Oklahoma City Indians of the Texas league in the fifth inning.

He was knocked for nine hits and five runs, he gave up five bases on balls, and fanned two. Houston won 11-1.

As the ninth inning ended, Clarence, Jr., was released.

Editorial -- Allred Has A Positive Platform

The people of Texas have a right to expect a positive stand on issues and a clear-cut policy from the man they send to the U.S. senate. The high office which plays such an important part in shaping the destinies of this nation and the world deserves no less.

It's all very well for candidate to shout out against the "communist labor leader racketeers," but he ought to be more specific. We know of no American who is not against them, but setting up straw men to have something to knock down is not altogether statesmanlike. It is colorful campaigning, no doubt, to stir up prejudices by claiming that the press of Texas is controlled by "outlaws," but such a broad statement, in fairness to the people themselves who read the papers, ought to be backed with evidence.

The kind of talk that certainly must appeal to the intelligence of the voters of Texas is that which James V. Allred currently is making. He, too, has criticized inequitable labor practices, but he proposes something specific to end them, in outlawing enforced work permits in defense industries.

He is being positive on many other issues. He has declared for real parity on farm and ranch products; he advocates a permanent reduction in interest rates on government farm and ranch loans; he wants a bill to simplify the government reports business men have to make; he is against federal control of the oil industry and promises to work for facilities to furnish a market for Texas oil.

He favors retention of the 27 1-2 per cent depletion allowance on oil properties and retention of the community property principle in taxation; he opposes federalization of unemployment compensation and socialized medicine.

He pledges efforts for distribution of war contracts so that communities now hit by maladjusted economy will be given relief; he proposes adequate aid for returning military men until they fit themselves into the business world.

It is not necessary to review his pledges of complete support in the Victory effort.

In short, James V. Allred has submitted a well-considered platform; and whether or not you agree with every plank, the mere fact that he discusses the issues positively is evidence that he has the stature to make us the type of senator we want. He will win the votes of the thinking people of Texas.

Manhattan-- Mother Kelly Is Very Much A Father!

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK--Last year Mr. A. J. Liebling, one of New York's more interesting writers, wrote an amazing piece for the New Yorker magazine called The Jolly Building. This was the tale of a fabulous theatrical building on Broadway, and those around town who knew Mr. Liebling personally at once suspected that Jolly wasn't altogether a piece of imaginative fiction. It turned out that Jolly Building was at once purchased by the movies, or so I have been told, and then a lot of people, including the movie people, were amazed to learn that Jolly was in reality nothing more nor less than the Strand theatre building on Broadway, whose she-nigans have intrigued Mr. Liebling and thousands of others. Well, there is never any explaining what happens on Broadway in any case, and it wasn't long before an idea was around to build a musical comedy out of Jolly Building to be called "Birds of a Feather," and Cheryl Crawford was to produce it. For music they were to use some unpublished tunes by the late George Gershwin, which would have been a fitting climax to a Liebling hunch that grew into a lucrative gag one sultry day at last summer. But now the whole thing's been called off, which is the same as saying that it probably will be done anyway. Once these Broadway snowballs get started...

Mother Kelly's is a nightclub that rests on the side of the late and lamented Beachcomber, of which this reporter was wont to wax sentimental... I mention this not in extenuation of The Beach, but to bring out a point that may, in time, pose a puzzle for tourists. Mother Kelly himself is a man. He has one son in the army and another in the navy, and both of them call him Mother!!

Believe me, the Charles Weidman dancers--though devoted to semi-classical interpretation--deserve a tremendous hand for their down-to-earth pantomimes on the old element films... They have a travesty on Theda Bara while that lady beauty is escaping from a leper colony in the south seas that is terrific comedy... It is a good thing it is all done in pantomime... # Hollywood Sights and Sounds-- Films On War Effort Are Interesting, Uplifting

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD -- Glamour factory at war:

Just as many other cities see the new movies before Hollywood gets a look, our town was late in glimpsing a selected program of the "war effort" films on which it has been working these many months.

Some of the films we saw already are playing the circuits for which they are intended -- the training and technical films for the military services, the Office of Civilian Defense, the war production factories.

Others are or will be playing your local theaters where they can be seen with profit by all citizens, for confirmation of the faith of the multitudes, for bolstering the spirits of the downhearted, for warning to the lax and the loose of lip. Not at all incidentally, for information and entertainment too.

I found most impressive the short called "Divide and Conquer" and another called "Mr. Blabbermouth." The former is a documentary presentation of the "EITEL" technique for fostering fear, dissension and division of a nation selected as his prey, in this instance France. The latter is an amusing, but factual, rebuttal to the title role--the fellow who has it straight from the barrelhead that calamity is brewing in the old tea-kettle if it isn't already about to be poured, the fellow who spurs no pains to broadcast every war rumor he hears, preferably on the doleful side.

There's a third film--intended for showing to Army personnel and workers in war production plants -- which carries a special wallop. All it does is show the Army's dependence on production, and to compare the "slave labor" in Axis war production with the free labor of America.

More of these films are coming from the studios every month. Hollywood may have its war heroes before the final reckoning, and its glamour girls may wear themselves out serving coffee and doughnuts to soldiers, but Hollywood's an immense shiner, its greatest influence in the war effort, is going to be wielded on celluloid.

And not only in the propaganda shorts and features--the uplifting "Mrs. Miniver" and stirring "Wake Islands"--but in the run-of-the-reel movies.

For in a sense "going to the movies" is an experience in Americanism. Millions of us know our mountains, oceans, prairies, great cities only through the screen. We can forget some of the Hollywood plots, but there's scarcely a picture that doesn't portray something where in its course the American home -- be it ever so humble -- which is the real heart of America. The lowliest, dullest movie still reflects aspiration, kindness, tolerance, humor, and (no longer a subject for jest!) the American insistence on the triumph of the right.

And there's one thing about going to the movies that is so fundamentally American it's something to shout about. If you go to a show and don't like it, you can walk out. You can even complain to the management--a practice not generally recommended in the lands of the Axe.

Fines totalling $386,000 were recently imposed against a British firm for exceeding permissible ration quotas, according to the Department of Commerce.

When Jerry Klutz, the Washington Post authority on federal employes and their activities, went on vacation, he asked some of the persons he writes for and about to fill in for him. # Washington Daybook -- Who Are Parasites?

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON -- Those Washington parasites have been found--hundreds of them. They are not the ones that the president was talking about, however, when he suggested some months ago that the capital parasites should get out of town to relieve congestion.

They are not ones that many government officials would talk about, if you can take the word of a young lady employed here. And incidentally the young lady upsets the oft-repeated claim that ALL federal war workers are overworked.

When Jerry Klutz, the Washington Post authority on federal employes and their activities, went on vacation, he asked some of the persons he writes for and about to fill in for him. An employe right in the Civil Service Commission (and it was only the best of a score of similar articles submitted) wrote, in part, the following:

"I am one of the parasites. I draw $1,620 a year. If I didn't exist, 1,620 American dollars could be directed into war channels instead of into my salary; 164 Americans could have $10 a year lopped off their income taxes; 11 of the little fellows might have to pay no income tax at all.

"Do I like being a parasite? You bet your life I don't. I do NOT feel honored or even lucky that I am one of the huge number of government workers who spend their days killing time--whose hardest task is standing in line to cash their checks on pay day.

"We are a great army, we parasites. And almost unanimously we don't like it. But someone must like it--for we are retained in easy, effortless, and valueless positions despite the fact that the nation is supposed to be mobilized for war.

"This is my apology for being a parasite. Resigning is useless--my place would be immediately filled by another parasite."

The young lady went on to say that she is seeking a real working job in her own department or in some other but so far has been balked. She explains that she is not a very capable person, has an almost completed college degree, a record of several successful years in private industry, and has taken only three days sick leave in five years.

The causes that breed parasites, she charges, are "the rank stupidity of persons in supervisory positions in the offices concerned" and the inefficiency of government methods and personnel offices.

"There are many people, I agree, who are overworked," she continues, "and yet add hours of overtime which count importantly toward cleaning up the work of the government of a country at war. Perhaps three-fourths of the government workers come within this category. But the other one-fourth is waste timber and should be cleaned out before another worker is brought into this already overworked city."

COLORADO CITY, Aug. 13 -- The American Legion drive for discarded phonograph records in Colorado City netted a total 2600 records, according to announcement made today by Dr. Harry A. Logsdon, commander of the Oren G. Hooker post.

Income payments to individuals on a nationwide basis increased 20 percent from 1940 to 1941, according to the Department of Commerce.

WILDERNESS GIRL By LETA ZOE ADAMS

Chapter Four
"CALL MEE HELEN"

Sandy got to his feet, and strode off toward his room. As he passed an open door a voice called sweetly, "Oh Sandy! Come here and tell me about it."

He stepped through the open door.

Helen Brotherton lay in a hammock, alluring feminine in a thin white negligee. She was a lovely woman, with fair, blooming skin and soft honey-colored hair. Gill said she had been some kind of show girl when Lang Brotherton took a fancy to her. But since she never mentioned that part of her life no one else mentioned it either. Her marriage to Lang Brotherton had obviously been another rich-old-man-young-girl affair. However, so far as anyone knew, she had made him a docile wife as long as he lived.

"There isn't much to report, Mrs. Brotherton," he said stiffly.

Her cornflower-blue eyes widened. "Do call me Helen, won't you, Sandy? I've asked you so often. And since we're going to be together a long time don't you think it sounds ridiculous to keep calling me Mrs. Brotherton?"

"Maybe it does," Sandy achieved an abortive smile.

She raised herself in the hammock so that a fold of the negligee fell back from her arm to expose the lovely curving line.

"You look hot and uncomfortable, Sandy. Why don't you sit down and order an iced drink?"

Sandy winced. She seemed to have a talent for saying the wrong thing to him.

"Thanks, no," he answered shortly. "You wanted to know about the result of my talk with McIntyre?"

"Only I do wish you'd make yourself comfortable while you're telling me about it."

"And I wish you'd..." Sandy put a brake on his tongue quickly enough to prevent the rest of the words from tumbling forth. What he had been about to say would have sounded childish and petty; and it would have been irrelevant.

He was so clamorous that words could not have been heard... The Weidmans also approximate snowflakes in a storm, and they have another number that is an excellent interpretation of a prize fight, in pantomime... If you think they can't interpret snowflakes -- remember, not many people thought Reginald Gardner could imitate wallpaper--but he could, and did.

Gil, Helen and Sandy were lingering over cigarettes that evening after dinner when McIntyre came toward them from the street. Sandy made the introductions and the big rancher heaved his bulk into a chair.

"I have located Miss Fleming. She is staying at the home of Senor de Urasa and his wife, Josefa. However, when I sent my messenger, she was not in. She is at the fiesta. If you want to come with me, we may be able to find her."

"Want me to string along, chief?" Gil inquired.

"Since it's a fiesta, I don't see why we can't all go," Sandy said.

He smiled at Helen as he spoke with some vague idea of making up for his rudeness of the afternoon.

She brightened visibly when he smiled. "That would be so nice. Must I change, Mr. McIntyre?"

McIntyre glanced at her tailored linen frock and said gallantly that she was perfect as she was. Then they all had a drink--something with the fiery tequila for a head--and in the slightly festive mood were ready.

The village streets presented a sharp contrast to that earlier hour when Sandy walked through them. The magic of the fiesta and night had awakened the city to life.

McIntyre explained that on account of the frequent torrential rains it was necessary to hold their fiestas under cover. For that purpose a long, thatched ramada had been built.

Tyra Fleming

They had not gone many steps before they were halted by a brace of Tehuanos, friends of McIntyre. After the elaborate introductions the Tehuanos insisted that the strangers drink a cup of mesquite.

"Since we have been asked it would be bad manners to refuse," McIntyre told Sandy.

"But this Miss Fleming, do you see her?" Sandy asked, as they shouldered their way to one of the booths.

"Not yet, but there is plenty of time."

At last they reached the cleared dancing space. Now the guitars and drums were twanging and banging out a highly fanciful version of a fox-trot that Sandy had heard in the States many years before.

"Our civilization hasn't touched them much, you see. Only the music..." McIntyre was saying, then he broke off. "I think that is Miss Fleming, in native dress, dancing with the young Tehuano in the red sash."

Sandy tried to follow, through the spinning figures, the couple McIntyre pointed out. For no reason that he could define his pulse stepped up a beat. The girl was turned away from him now but there was something in the way

Driver's License Key To State's Program To Cut Highway Accidents

By RICHARD WEST
Associated Press Staff

The Texas Department of Public Safety, as a part of its wartime activity, intends to cut down on this serious business of killing people on the highways. Such killings do not help win the war.

In 1940, 1,757 persons were killed and 9,101 injured at an economic cost of more than $50,000,000. Fifty million dollars would buy a lot of war bonds.

The key to safety is the person behind the wheel.

The person behind the wheel must have a driver's license, and if you don't have a driver's license . . . Brother, you're in for it.

You have to take an examination that's tough and the chances are you'll flunk it two or three times before you get your "diploma." This writer knows; he took it. He flunked the first time.

Most vehicles are safe—if driven correctly.

That's why the state is so finicky about your license. It denotes your car is safe and that you know something about the vehicle and about driving rules and that you yourself are mentally and morally capable of being a driver.

The theory is working.

For the first six months of this year Texas traffic deaths were fewer than during any similar period since accurate records were started in 1938—689 compared with 863 a year ago.

Getting a license is almost as bad as getting a passport in wartime.

If you have one it's a simple matter to get it renewed.

If you fail to have it renewed; if it's revoked; or if you've never had one, then you have to take the examination.

You'll lose your license if: You kill anyone while driving. You're driving while drunk or drugged.

You violate any of the motor vehicle laws for which you could be sent to prison.

You are guilty of hit-and-run driving.

You injure anyone.

If you drive while your license is suspended, on conviction you may be placed in jail for as long as six months and be required to pay a fine up to $500. It will be twice as long before you can get your license back or get a new one.

Furthermore, your license may be suspended for as long as a year if you cause a serious accident, become incompetent to drive, habitually violate traffic laws, let someone else use your license.

The department of public safety watches you.

It has an accurate record of every driver in the state, commencing with the application of the driver for a license, showing his record in the examination and detailing any arrests and convictions for violation of motor vehicle laws.

The department means business.

In the last five months nearly 2,000 licenses have been revoked in Texas.

Of this total, 1,500 were suspended because the owners were driving while intoxicated.

Allred Pledges Aid To Oil Men; O'Daniel On 'Appreciation Tour'

Cuts Schedule To Five Talks For A Day

MERKEL, Aug. 13 (AP)—Three days of speedy campaigning behind him, Senator W. Lee O'Daniel today shortened his schedule from six to five stump speeches taking him to Winters, Cross Plains, Rising Star, DeLeon and Dublin.

Every one of the counties in which these towns lay gave the incumbent senator easy majorities in the first primary, but, as he explains to his audiences, he isn't really campaigning, he is on "an appreciation tour" thanking voters who turned out for him July 25.

In three days O'Daniel has delivered 27 speeches over a route of close to or better than 1,000 miles. Such terrific, 15 hours a day campaigning is not accomplished without stamina and a good deal of planning.

But hitches do occur, even to a campaigner like O'Daniel.

He was 20 minutes late appearing in Roby, up here in the South Plains. The hillbilly band, which usually precedes O'Daniel on the platform, filled the time playing "God Bless America" twice and by bringing out plump Texas Rose on "A Good Man Nowdays Is Hard to Find." She has sung this song rarely since the senator opened his campaign for reelection against James V. Allred.

Then at Merkel last night O'Daniel laughingly told newsmen that someone had messed up the speaking schedule and that he had time for at least two more speeches.

He referred to the fact that he was winding up the day's speaking around 8 p. m. instead of the usual 10:30.

On top of that Mike O'Daniel, the senator's son whose fiddle leads the hillbilly band, got off the track on the way to Post yesterday and didn't show up for the speech there.

In Merkel O'Daniel varied his routine for the first time this week. He arrived ahead of the sound truck from which he speaks, got out of his car, filtered among the crowds awaiting his words and shook hands all around.

Usually, as at Floydada or Crosbyton or Electra, the senator arrives in town while the Hillbilly band is getting in its licks. He stops for a soft drink at a filling station or goes into a nearby cafe waiting for his cue. His cue is "God Bless America." On its closing bars he climbs atop the sound truck, holding up two fingers in a "V" salute.

When the speaking is over O'Daniel seldom tarries. Those who want to shake his hand have to hurry to do it. Such a schedule as he keeps requires speed. Ofttimes he hits better than a mile a minute clip to reach his next town.

Says He Will Seek Higher Crude Price

TYLER, Aug. 13 (AP)—James V. Allred circles through the oil fields and piney woods of central East Texas today in his hot campaign to wrest the U. S. senatorial nomination from W. Lee O'Daniel.

Speaking at Tyler last night, the candidate emphasized his pledge to "fight the battles of the little oil men" and seek a raise in petroleum prices "that will enable you to live."

Declaring also that he would continue to fight federal control of the oil industry, Allred asserted "I shall oppose regimentation or nationalization of all industry."

He recounted his fight as governor for a pipeline to the east, a measure which O'Daniel opposed.

"The argument against such a pipeline was that they would put gas through it. But we are blowing gas into the air down here in Texas. Tankers have been destroyed and seamen have paid with their lives for this short-sightedness," he shouted.

The Tyler crowd was one of the largest and most enthusiastic to hear Allred during the week. He was introduced by Murphy Wilson, an attorney, as the opponent of "the man who voted to disband our army on the eve of attack."

Roy Butler, former district judge, presided.

Allred said that "we're going to win this war for freedom of religion, for freedom of the press and its right to condemn or criticize political candidates."

Among those applauding the speaker's outline of his domestic program and his pledge to follow the president in the war program was Earle B. Mayfield, former U. S. junior senator from Texas.

In addresses at Linden and Marshall during the day, Allred stated his belief that "the election judges are men of integrity and that they even made an honest count in the republican boxes which went overwhelmingly for my opponent."

The count was correct, he added, "in the boxes where major oil company officials and big shots voted and which went to my opponent five and six to one."

Allred referred apparently to O'Daniel's inferences that the July primary ballots might have been incorrectly counted in some precincts.

He urged "you good people to check up" and "find out some of the millionaire common citizens you are voting with in the honest belief you're voting for the best interests of Texas."

Record Number Of Medical Graduates

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (AP)—The American Medical association estimated today that approved medical schools, operating under wartime accelerated programs, will graduate a record total of 21,029 students during the next three years.

The number is 5,062 more than would have graduated without the adoption of the accelerated programs, the A. M. A. council on medical education and hospitals reported.

Doolittle's Been Out Of Touch With The Home Front

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 12 (AP) Brig. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, the gentleman who bombed Tokyo, learned about war when visiting here recently. Malin Ellis, drug store manager, told this episode:

A man walked into the store, asked for toothpaste but couldn't get it because he had no used tube. Then he wanted an item which the store was unable to get because of the war; finally, he protested against the tax on another purchase. "Well, don't take it out on us," said Ellis. "You've heard about this war haven't you?"

Replied the man: "I just didn't know. You see, I've been away. Doolittle is my name."

Shipworkers Learn Terms Of The Sea

CHICAGO, Ill.—Lanoblubber industrial workers in this inland city are learning that the first step in building naval ships is not laying a keel but learning a language.

So workers at Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing Company plant here who are turning from the manufacture of sleeping cars and coaches for the nation's railroads to the building of anti-submarine patrol ships for the U. S. Navy are attending a formal course at the plant, the first lesson of which is devoted to an ancient lingo—the language of the sea.

Before they study the basic principles of shipbuilding they learn not to say left or right, front or back, up or down, wall, room, stairs, or floor. Instead they speak of port and starboard, fore and aft, above and below, bulkhead, compartment, ladder and a whole dictionary full of other words as salty

Fugitive Convicts Held At Eldorado

ELDORADO, Aug. 13 (AP)—Authorities held Dale Hale and John A. Wear, two of 31 convicts who escaped from a Huntsville prison farm dormitory pending the arrival of officials to return them to Huntsville.

They were captured Tuesday night by Game Warden L. J. McCullar of Menard. Five of the convicts remained at large.

Approximately 98,000 Russian women are actively employed in the oil industry at Baku, on the Caspian sea.

Too Busy Running To Phone Police

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—The Little Rock desk sergeant answered the headquarters telephone recently only to hear an excited negro urge "the law" to hurry to an address at the edge of the city and quell a disturbance.

"What's the nature of the disturbance?" the policeman asked.

"A man and his woman is having at it. She's done kicked out the window lights and broke down the doors and is wrecking the house."

"Is it their home?"

"Yassuh."

"We can't stop them from tearing down their own home. Anyway, if the husband wants something done, why doesn't he call us himself."

"Well, suh," the negro concluded. "He ain't had time yet—she's chasing him."

NAZI TRAINS COLLIDE

LONDON, Aug. 12 (AP)—A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm said today many German soldiers were killed or injured in an explosion which followed the collision of a German troop train and a fuel train on the Douai-Arras line in occupied France. It did not say when the collision occurred.

Because of their use both for food and oil, peanuts are being produced at a 150 per cent increase over 1941.
