LISA PATMAN

Most of us don't object to precocious children. It's the precocious parents who are so disturbing. This was graphically illustrated to me recently by an old friend of mine. Let's call him Steve, since that's his name.

It seems Steve and his own little precocious offspring had gone on a father-daughter trip to the nearest Hamburger Heaven. There they were, sitting in a booth, enjoying some soggy French fries and a Where's-The-Beef Burger, when they became aware of a precocious mother urging her child to perform for the whole of Hamburger Heaven's patrons.

"Nose?" shouted the precocious Mom as she pointed at her own proboscis.

"Noth," drooled the poor little fellow as he stabbed at his cheek.

"Eye?" screamed the proud parent as she indicated her own shining peepers.

"Ow," whimpered the wretched little kid as he almost poked his eye out.

"Mouth?" yodeled Mrs. Obnoxious as she slurped her root beer.

"Mouff," muttered the pitiful little performer as he contemplated jamming his fist into his mother's mouff.

Needless to say, the crowd was getting restless, and several over-entertained customers were whispering really awful things about the ambitious session of show-and-tell to which the proud mama was subjecting her little darling.

But Steve's daughter was getting a different picture. To her two-year-old mind it seemed that the kid in the next booth was getting more than his share of attention. She watched closely as the other toddler obediently identified various parts of his body for his mother, and she bided her time, calculated her own body parts, and waited for a lull in the conversation.

Finally it came. Super Mom had run out of toes, fingers, arms and whatever, and had finally let her poor child begin to eat his now-cold Baby Burger. A great sigh went through Hamburger Heaven, several people uncovered their ears, everybody smiled, and peace ruled the earth. It was just the time Steve's daughter had been waiting for.

Carefully she stood up in the booth, raised her hand, pointed to her underarm, and hollered "Pit!" at the top of her voice.

I understand she got a standing ovation. And she's what I call a truly precocious child.

weed, until we can finally get a big portion of the billion Chinese sitting in the smoking area of airliners, etc. They will, in not too many years, be beset with lung cancer, heart attacks, emphysema and other associated maladies just at the time our own country has improved to having only 35% of our population listed among the smokers.

Perhaps we are finally catching on to the insidious communist method of distraction of enemies from within...which, by the way they have mastered by helping to flood our country with dope, supporting splinter protest factions of our society, and generally creating discontent among the populace.

Perhaps our next best move would be to get the honorable Senator Ted Kennedy to use his family's immense resources to augment the Russian's intake of vodka with distilleries all over Russia- to furnish bourbon and scotch to keep them warm on those cold Siberian nights.

Perhaps in the near future more Russians will also be automobile owners and they can find out what we already know in this country about how automobiles and John

One other thought came to mind concerning how we might "help" our communist adversaries... Let's send the American Civil Liberties Union their achievements in various activities. (Sometimes I'm sure I'm as proud of them as their parents are!)

Bryan Smitherman was recently awarded another scholarship for his outstanding activities and leadership in 4-H. This scholarship, presented to him by the Houston Livestock Show, is to the tune of $8,000! Bryan is the first recipient in Gray County to receive this 4-H scholarship.

I've often taken pokes at and made good-natured fun at Bryan - for I've known him forever! He often finds himself on the short end of the stick as far as his dealings with me go, so I'm going to change my attitude (just this once) and be serious with him for a moment.

Bryan has proven himself to be a mature, courteous, intelligent, talented young man - and a delight for me to be associated with this year.

He moves from the piano bench to the football field with ease. Not many young men can boast of his accomplishments - and one of the things that particularly endears Bryan to me is the fact that he doesn't boast!

Congratulations, Bryan - I know Tony, Monty Jean, and Maw are proud - and so am I.

Members of the Carter household are going on a stricter "improve-our-health" diet - and at this point, I'm not sure we're going to survive.

Deciding we oversalted, overcooked, and overate at our house, we put up the salt, are eating more fresh vegetables, and are eating less... period.

I was alright with these changes - it only took a few meals to get used to the salt being gone, and I love fresh vegetables, and even eating less has not been too difficult a problem.

But then, we went a little overboard and decided to cut out caffeine. First, we changed to decaffeinated coffee. That wasn't too bad - the taste was nothing to get used to, and I don't drink that much coffee in the mornings.

However, Wayne's sister brought us some decaffeinated tea - and that's been the death of me. I've had headaches - been sick at my stomach - just completely fallen apart - it's been worse than giving up chocolate!

Now, I run to the Cowboy as fast as I can to grab me a large Sugar-Free Dr. Pepper (loaded with caffeine) on work-days. And I've been known to run to the drug-store and down a few cups of coffee before returning to work.

Of course, all this "sneaking" caffeine makes me feel a little guilty when I come home at the end of the day, because Wayne has not only given up salt and caffeine, but also smoking!

He's really doing good and I know I should be able to give up the caffeine just as easily as he has - but I can't... (or maybe, I won't).

In any case, I'll be decaffeinated at home... and chugging down the caffeine at work!

NEWS & NOTES

The 1984 Olympic Games will be held in Los Angeles - the first Summer Games to be held on American soil in 52 years. In honor of this exciting event, the President and Congress have passed the "Olympic Commemorative Coin Act," designed to provide financial support for America's present and future Olympic hopefuls.

Buying commemorative gold coins is one way to help support our Olympic athletes.

It's the first time in more than 50 years that the U.S. has minted a gold coin - and the first time ever that the U.S. Mint has struck Olympic commemorative coinage.

Also available are two silver coins - one showing a Greek discus thrower, the other featuring a representation of the Gateway to the Olympic Coliseum.

This is a nonprofit program designed to support our Olympic effort. In most other countries, the government pays the bills for the traveling and training of their athletes. If you'd like to order the coins, write:

Senator Bill Sarpalius

Reports

AUSTIN - We have recently heard Ross Perot speak on two separate occasions expressing his views as to the problems in education in our state. I saw many people from around the Texas Panhandle at both the breakfast and luncheon which Mr. Perot addressed. I also had the opportunity to visit with Mr. Perot for some of the recommendations of the Select Committee on Education. I found Mr. Perot to be a very persuasive speaker, but, unfortunately, many of the things he brought out regarding our education system just are not representative of our schools in the Texas Panhandle.

Within the 29 counties I represent, there are 89 school districts, representing all types, from rich schools to poor schools and large schools to small schools. We believe our schools and teachers do a much better job of teaching our young people than many of the other schools throughout the state of Texas. I think some of Mr. Perot's comments are unjust and are not typical of the schools we have.

Mr. Perot commented that Texas has perhaps the worst school system in the entire world. I do not believe one can compare our school system to other countries when those countries provide an education for only 10% of the children. In Texas we have that freedom for all our young people. Mr. Perot stated that the typical school has 40 clubs and all they do is sell cookies and make trips to Belgium and Hawaii. I do not know of any school in my senatorial district that ever took a trip overseas or has even half the clubs that Mr. Perot estimates.

Mr. Perot strongly criticized vocational education and made it appear that the only vocational courses we have today are bicycle repair and pottery. He also criticized vocational agriculture to a great degree. I believe this is a program which has a very important role in our public school system. From the ninth through twelfth grade level, 44% of all the children in our public school system are enrolled in some form of vocational training. Currently in the ninth through twelfth grade we have a 30% drop-out rate. It is my fear if the state funding for vocational education is eliminated, we will probably see a 50% drop-out in our public school system. I believe this is taking a step in the wrong direction.

We must realize that not all young people will be college graduates. Two-thirds of the jobs available today require technical skills and we will fight to maintain state funding for vocational education.

I strongly support Mr. Perot's recommendations that we must go back to the basics in education and increase emphasis on the grade school levels. We believe it is at this point where young people should learn how to read, write and master basic mathematics. We cannot wait until they are in high school to teach them these skills.

Regarding the funding of these programs, Governor Mark White has presented his tax proposal and if the entire package is approved it will be the largest tax increase in the history of this state. I realize we taxpayers are under tremendous financial stress at this time and would certainly appreciate your comments and views regarding the tax increases.

Of great concern to me is being asked as your State Senator to go to Austin and vote for all of these tax bills, and then to tell the people by doing this we will improve the quality of education in this state. At the same time, they are eliminating many of the valuable programs and are telling the school districts if they want to keep those programs they will have to pay for them on the local level. This means I will have to come back to the Texas Panhandle and tell our schools they, too, will be in the position of having to raise property taxes as well. I find that difficult to accept.

We commend Ross Perot and the Select Committee on Education for the job they have done and the leadership they have shown. However, we feel some of the recommendations of the Select Committee will be very damaging to our rural schools and will force property taxes to rise.

Education is something that means a great deal to me since I am the only member of the Texas Senate who has taught in the public school system. We are concerned about having quality education in our 89 school districts.

Thank you for your time. We would appreciate any advice or suggestions you could give us.

Bryan Smitherman Receives $8,000 4-H Houston Livestock Scholarship

McLean's Bryan Smitherman travelled to the annual 4-H Round-up at Texas A&M University and walked away with one of 58 $8,000 scholarships awarded during 4-H ceremonies. The scholarship was given to Bryan by the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo.

Over $540,000 in scholarships was awarded during the 4-H weekend. Area recipients of the $8,000 scholarships were Jeffrey Hutmon of Dalhart and David Hartman of Randall County.

Bryan is the first $8,000 scholarship recipient in 4-H in Gray County. Pampa's Randy Skaggs received a similar scholarship in FFA last year.

Included in the eligibility requirements that Smitherman had to meet were: 1) currently enrolled in 4-H; 2) actively participating in 4-H; 3) graduate from high school in the spring of the current year; 4) rank in upper 1/4 of class; 5) have a minimum SAT score of 800; 6) plan to attend a Texas college or university; and 7) has not submitted a scholarship application to the Texas FFA Association.

All finalists were required to be interviewed by a scholarship committee, and one of the main requirements was for the recipient to major in agriculture, or pre-veterinary medicine.

Smitherman will major in animal science (pre-med).

While in college, to keep the scholarship, he must maintain a "C" grade average, and must sign a grade release document with Texas Tech University to release grades to the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo at the end of each semester.

If scholarship recipients fail to comply with any of the conditions or procedures stated, the scholarship is subject to cancellation.

If Smitherman withdraws from school, the scholarship will be withdrawn. Smitherman was also required to sign a contract agreement with Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, agreeing to the conditions.

After receiving the scholarship, Smitherman and the other recipients attended a reception with the Board of Directors of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo.

Smitherman, a 1984 graduate of McLean High School, is the 17-year-old son of Tony and Monta Jean Smitherman. He has also received the

$4,000 Madge Page Scholarship, a $4,000 Texas Tech University

Dean's Honor Scholarship, and a $500 Gray County Extension Home Service Scholarship, to total $16,500 in scholarships received.

Vera Cruz is as healthy as Amarillo, General Frederick Funston has cleaned the town up, made the Mexicans cut the weeds, waged a relentless war against flies and otherwise improved the sanitary condition of the port now held by the United States. This was the word brought to Amarillo Wednesday by Stephen Pakan, a trombone player who has been in Vera Cruz since its occupation by American troops. Pakan is in the city enroute to his home at Ramsdell, in Wheeler county.

Ambulance Association Schedules Open House July 1

Tentative plans are in the make for an open house to view the Ambulance Association's new ambulance, July 1. The open house is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. and will conclude at 4 p.m. Guests may also look at the new ambulance barn. The $40,000 ambulance, scheduled to arrive in McLean June 23 will have to be outfitted by the McLean association, and ambulance officials are estimating that it will cost $10,000 to supply the necessary life support systems needed for the ambulance. The major bulk of the cost of the new ambulance was presented to the association by Gray County Commissioners.

Refreshments will be served to the public during the open house, and although the viewing is free, ambulance officials want to assure citizens that donations to help outfit the ambulance, will be appreciated.

part of any city employee which is reported and substantiated.

However, if said problems cannot be worked out satisfactorily, the Mayor and City Councilmen are always willing and available to discuss any work related problems with any city employee.

After policy changes were read to the employees, councilmen opened the meeting. Jack Lallement of Dickey, Cory and Co., Pampa presented the 1982-83 report. Councilmen did not approve the report, and will have to review and do some studying on the audit.

Councilmen then rejected all bids presented on the landfill fence, due to possible changing material costs.

They asked for re-bids to be opened June 26, and decided to publish another notice so stating in the newspaper.

Councilmen agreed to do more seal-coating on streets in McLean, particulars to be made when available.

In further action, city fathers voted to join the Texas Gas Association; discussed and plan to join various cities in the Emergency Disaster Plan; and discussed the possibilities of implanting a "Neighborhood Watch" program.

Terry; councilmen Loyd Bybee, Wayne Bybee, W.A. Bentley, June

Suggs, and Harold Fabian; city secretary Stella Lee; city superintendent Bob Glenn; city employees Red Easton, Harlon Poole, Martha Parker, Chester Bohlar, and Donnie Basham; and Jack Lallement.

More Texas Children Die In Motor Vehicle Accidents

HOUSTON--More children in Texas under the age of five die in motor vehicle accidents than in any other state. A Houston/Galveston area group has been formed to try and change this situation.

Texas is one of only three states which has not passed restraint seat legislation to protect its children. In 1983, 121 Texas children died in accidents where car restraint seats were not in use, and another 6,603 were seriously injured.

"With the development of immunizations and antibiotics, infections are no longer the number one killer of children--motor vehicle accidents are," said Marc Hanfling, M.D. of the Texas Pediatric Society and Chairman of the Houston Galveston Area Child Passenger Safety Coalition.

The Coalition is a volunteer group of concerned private citizens and medical organizations formed to promote education and legislation of child restraint seats. Organizations active in the Coalition include the Texas Pediatric Society, Harris County Medical Society Auxillary, Houston/Galveston Injury Prevention Group and representatives of local government and highway safety divisions.

They are working with Senator Carl Parker of Port Arthur and Representative Charles Gandy of Mesquite for passage of a child restraint seat legislative bill. It would require children less than two years of age to use a child restraint seat and children between the ages of two and four to use a restraint seat or a seat belt.

The Houston/Galveston Coalition is supporting Sen. Parker's and Rep. Gandy's restraint seat bills which were introduced into the special session of the Texas Legislature. It is now up to Governor Mark White to keep his promise to the Texas Coalition to open the special session up to these bills.

Coalition members have established a speakers information bureau and are contacting all Houston/Galveston representatives to discuss the importance of legislation for mandatory car seats.

Hanfling says that numerous studies have shown that restraint seats are effective and that legislation works in promoting car seat usage.

"Tennessee passed a child restraint seat law four years ago which has reduced children's deaths in motor vehicles accidents by 70 percent."

said Hanfling. "In addition, a Washington State study showed that if all children under the age of five were in car seats, injuries would be reduced by 90 percent and deaths by 80 percent."

Many local hospitals have car seat loan programs to provide seats to parents who can't afford them. More programs are currently being established in expectation of passage of the bill.

Public hearings in Austin will be held before the House Transportation Committee and the Senate State Affairs Committee.

Concerned citizens are urged to contact their local representative and senator in support of these important bills for the children of Texas. They should also contact the Governor's office asking that the special session be opened up to these bills.

The most widely used bacteriostatic home water filter system in the world.

FOR HEALTH'S SAKE - READ THIS!!!

WATER IN YOUR AREA is supplied and treated by sometimes controversial methods or facilities. Surveys show this water has any one or all of several problems such as bad taste, bad odor, at times a heavy concentration of chlorine and other foreign particles. This has been exposed to the public by radio, TV, newspapers and organizations. NASA SPACE TECHNOLOGY afforded the public a new concept in water filtration from which the Bon Del Bacteriostatic water filter was developed. THE ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY (EPA) has tested and certified the filters' impregnated activated carbon bed to remove offensive taste, odor, 99.8% of the chlorine and renders the bacteria inactive. The filter features a 5 year, 10,000 gallon warranty.

THEN and now!

From the time our country was first settled the drinking of whiskey and other liquors was almost always the sole prerogative of men. In fact, toasting a special occasion was just about the only socially acceptable time for women to consume even a glass of wine or champagne.
Ironically, it was the advent of Prohibition in 1920 that first changed the drinking habits of American women. Since liquor was no longer available in bars, people began entertaining more at home. At least part of the fun was due to the illegality of drinking alcohol, which lent an exciting element of "risk" to the evening. Both men and women participated in what came to be known as the "cocktail party." The name resulted from the fact that the rather rough tasting "bootleg gin" and other available spirits had to be used in cocktails or mixed drinks in order to make them more palatable.
Today social customs have changed again. As more and more women enter the work force and take on jobs that were once held solely by men, they are coming to appreciate what used to be regarded as men's drinks. Thus, it's quite common today to see a woman in a bar or restaurant calling for a "Jack Daniel's on the rocks," the kind of order that conveys something of a macho, "take charge" image. Although the drinking of alcoholic beverages by women is no longer questioned, the majority of women still tend to drink in moderation - only about 1 1/2 to 2 as much as men. And an exceptionally smooth "sippin' whiskey" like Jack Daniel's has become an increasingly popular choice for those women who wish to linger awhile over a single drink.

Let's talk.

Information about your changing telephone service from Gary Stevens, Manager-Community Relations

Strength is vital

A strong Bell is good for Texas. It has a nice ring, and it's true. When I meet with many of you at meetings and on the street, I usually talk about how important it is for Texas to have a strong and financially sound Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. My message is simple: The strength of Southwestern Bell Telephone is vital to the strength of a growing Texas.

Texas always has been a leader in telecommunications - and Texas must remain a leader. Top quality communications service is imperative to attract and hold the high technology, "clean" industry which is an integral part of the state's economic future.

And Texas must have a strong framework to assure that the state draws those high-tech firms. Education and transportation, for instance, are essential aspects. Telecommunications, a must in that framework, cannot be a second-class partner in the future of the Lone Star State.

Our state's high-tech companies thrive on communications. We know we must be able to meet their needs, and the needs of every Texas customer, efficiently and quickly. However, our ability to take care of the needs of every Texan we serve is in direct relationship to the revenues we have available.

Our partnership

We are in partnership with this state, and all Texans. We must have the dollars necessary to keep up and keep Texas in the forefront of telecommunications.

The demands of Texas as a high-growth area put intense pressures on our resources. That's why every one of the company's employees has to take on the personal responsibility of assuring that our revenues stretch as far as possible. Why am I telling you all this? Because we feel our message of service and financial strength is one for all Texans.

Texans for Texans. It's what Southwestern Bell Telephone is all about.

A good value

Your service. Take a closer look - it's a value!
Even though your rates for local telephone service will be going up a few cents, compare your monthly bill in relation to many other items. I think you'll find that it's a bargain.

Just think about some of the items you buy every month. The average cost of cable television is about $33 (basic package and two movie channels) and the cost of a fast-food meal for a family of four once a week for a month is about $40. Even a carton of cigarettes a week will run you about $32. And if you are like most Texans, you probably purchase about 800 gallons of gas a year. That's about $75 a month - just for one car.

Residential customers in Texas with basic, one-party service now pay an average of $10.35 per month for telephone service. When you think about it - and compare - it's so little for 24-hour, 7-day-a-week service that gives you access to your friends across town, across Texas and to any of the world's 450 million telephones.
