Oil Recycling Center Now Available In Groom

Recycling, its the thing to do! This phrase is heard so often these days that its almost becoming cliché but, there is a lot of truth to that statement. Recycling reusable resources has practical merit and because of recent technological innovations and changes in consumer attitude, markets for used paper, plastic and tin cans are beginning to grow.

Two years ago, Texas enacted an important piece of legislation which has since become known as the Omnibus Recycling Bill. That bill among other things established a 40 percent recycling goal for the entire state and placed a ban on the landfill disposal of a number of different waste materials including used oil and used oil filters. Currently, the only legal avenue available for disposing of used oil and oil filters is through recycling.

However, Groom residents who self-change their car's oil and oil filters, referred to as Do-It-Yourselfers (DIYs), will now have the opportunity to comply with these new regulations at no cost and with little or no inconvenience. The City of Groom was one of seven Panhandle communities which recently received the grant funds necessary to equip and establish a public used oil collection center.

Starting May 14, 1994, the City will begin accepting used oil and used oil filters from residents at the new center located in the fence enclosed area directly behind City Hall. The center will be open seven days a week between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Because of the way the state's used oil and used oil filter regulations have been written, the city can 1) only accept oil and oil filters from Do-It-Yourselfers; 2) only accept used motor oil (no other automotive fluids can be accepted) and oil filters from cars or pick-ups; and 3) only accept five gallons of used oil or less per resident during any one trip to the Center.

Residents can pick up brochures from City Hall which describe the procedures for using the Center. When recycling oil and/or oil filters, resident DIYs are asked to observe and closely follow the instructional signage at the Center.

The goal of this program is not only, simply to recycle oil but to minimize a potential threat to the quality of the area's surface and groundwater. Used oil and oil filter recycling is the responsibility of every DIY and yes, it is the right thing to do.

Dear Friends,
The past few weeks have been a very special time in my life. After being diagnosed with acute myelogenous leukemia, I've been rediscovering and celebrating miracles. My treatment, to date, has been incredibly successful (I'm the oldest woman High Plains Hospital has ever treated for this type of leukemia). Doctors are both delighted with my present progress and future possibilities. It's important for you to know that your loving prayers, cards, telephone calls, visits, encouragement and support have played a great part in my daily miracles. Please continue to celebrate with me the joy of each new day and the joy of God's unfailing grace.

Hoyt, Painter Visit New Mexico

Recently Allie Hoyt and Nellie Painter traveled to Amarillo and from there went up I-40 to San Jon. They then turned and went across the Caprock mountains to Grady, New Mexico. There they visited with Lois White and Mamie Beevers, sisters of Allie. It was almost like a menagerie for we saw many, many ostriches, reas and emu's. They are a bird from South America. They were owned by Calvin and Linda White. Linda gathered two eggs which were yellow and will keep them for the incubator. She has raised all three from babies. The birds love to try to peck you and love buttons and jewelry. They also saw a beautiful peacock who was doing a dance for his hen friends. There were swans, ducks, bantie chickens, rabbits, cats, canaries, doves. Lois raises chihuahua and rat terrier puppies. We got to see her set 20 or 25 duck eggs in the incubator. It will take 30 days for them to hatch. Lois and Mamie do a lot of quilting so you can image all the beautiful things around. Lois grows all kinds of flowers. It was a very interesting trip. After leaving Grady the next day they came back by way of Hereford and Canyon and stopped for a picnic. It was a day well spent and they intend to do it again. They also enjoyed visiting with Lois's grandkids Steve, Desiree, Cory and Tara from Clovis.

Ginger Rawlins To Accept Post In Panhandle Post Office

Ginger Rawlins will be bidding a fond farewell to the community of McLean at the end of May. She has enjoyed the past three years, especially the move to the new post office building on the corner of Railroad and Main.

Her children will relocate with her. Eric will be attending Texas Tech in the Fall and Tori will be attending Amarillo College. Ginger has been promoted to the position of Postmaster in Panhandle, Texas. She states, "Now is a good time for this move since both children have graduated from McLean High School and will be in college. My oldest daughter has been living in Dallas while I have lived McLean. This move to a larger office will bring me closer to her parents and save money on Tori's commute to A.C. I hate to leave my friends, but look forward to a new learning experience."

Ginger is happy to be able to introduce the temporary Officer-In-Charge, Mary Morales, who she has worked with closely since she started with the U.S. Postal Service. Mary will serve as Postmaster while applications are reviewed for the opening. Ms. Rawlins said, "I know our community will welcome her and she will soon find that Casper is the best person in the world to work with in this position."

THE 2ND ANNUAL local Art Show at the Devil's Rope Museum will be from May 31st until June 14th. By Delbert Trew
 Very few weeks go by that I don't run into someone who thinks they have no talent. Now, the Lord created everyone equal-didn't He? I think so. If you think you have no talent, lets visit a minute about it.

Most people think, when you say talent, you mean painting, poetry, or some other artistic endeavor. Well, these things are great, but they are only the tip of the ice berg, so to speak.

How about that lady that cooks so well, or that person who always remembers everyone's birthday? That lady who raises pretty flowers or that man who is always giving away tomatoes and squash? How about that farmer whose fence rows are always clean and that fellow who is asked to say thanks at the church. How about that house down the street where the kids seem to stay or that person who reads stories at the rest home?

Each of these things require talent. Doesn't it? You don't suppose, by some remote possibility that maybe someone saw a need and just did it? Naw! No way! They must have had talent.

We have friends, whose stepfather oils all the door hinges in their house everytime he visits. Is that strange, thoughtful, or talent? I've never oiled a house door hinge in my life. I had an uncle whom no one could stand, who sharpened all the kitchen knives every time he came. I knew a cowboy neighbor who always trimmed the horses tails at roundup and brandings. Never said a word. Just took his knife and went to work. The tails looked great!

We had a neighbor in Perryton who was called on by the whole community to scald the hogs in the Fall.

It was so easy to scrape when Brother John did it. Another neighbor could mammy-up a herd of cows and calves with unflinching results, whether he was familiar with the herd or not.

I want to thank you for reading this column and sharing with me these few moments. I think you might have some talent.

Recently Bill Painter of Salt Lake City, Utah came and took his mother "Nora" and sister Fay and husband Pete home with him for a week to ten days.
