The Baptist 75 Million Campaign

represents the five-year program of the Southern Baptists to discharge their duty to Europe and the other continents of the world in providing them the gospel and Christian ideals and institutions.

It is a task to challenge the co-operation of all who are desirous of seeing the world rebuilt along lines of right thinking and right action in individuals and nations.

To provide the money that will be necessary to carry out this vast program of constructive effort, a drive for cash and five-year pledges will be made during

Millions for the Master

Some Central Baptist Truths

Jesus, the only savior.
Absolute religious liberty for all, Jew and Gentile alike.
A church membership composed only of converted people.
The supreme sovereignty of Jesus in all matters of the soul.
Self-determination in all religious matters for all individuals and churches without overhead meddling or management.
The Bible, the only authoritative law of God's reign.

Some World Opportunities

1,000,000,000 human souls have never heard the story of Jesus and his love.
50,000,000 dwell in one section of Africa where there is not a missionary of any denomination.
Millions of people are worshipping animals and images of wood and stone instead of a living spiritual God.
The door to every country has been opened to the gospel. Will we enter or not?

Red Cross State Conference

Two State Roll Call conferences at which matters pertaining to the Third Red Cross Call, Nov. 2 to 11, will be discussed will be held shortly in Texas. The first will be at Dallas, Oct. 10, and the second will be at Houston, Oct. 11. W. H. Prather of Dallas and W. A. Vinson of Houston, Roll Call Directors for North and South Texas respectively, will attend the conferences in their section. At both meetings plans will be outlined for the forthcoming Red Cross drive and campaign tactics affecting every city, county and town in the State will be decided upon.

In attendance at both places will be the following Red Cross officials from Southwestern Division headquarters in St. Louis: Division Manager Alfred Fairbank, Edward Hidden, Division Roll Call Director, Miss Charlotte E. Taussig, Director of Publicity and Executive Secretary Joseph Wittmond.

The Roll Call Director from each Texas Red Cross Chapter or a duly authorized alternate is expected to attend the conference in their respective section of the State. It is important, Red Cross officials say, that each chapter be represented because of the necessity for obtaining the support of the smaller as well as the larger communities in the forthcoming campaign for memberships.

The delegate from McLean will be Mrs. C. C. Cooper.

Rivals "Birth of a Nation"

A screen classic that critics have placed in the same category with "The Birth of a Nation" and "Hearts of the World," has been produced by Allen Holubar under the title of "The Heart of Humanity" and will be exhibited at the Mission theatre on Oct. 17 and 18, with Dorothy Phillips in the principal role.

"The Heart of Humanity" is a man's story in the great world, depicted in story form and tells around the romance of a little Canadian girl who gave her husband to fight against Prussian autocracy and then went to France herself to care for the wounded and orphaned and homeless victims of German brutality.

The closing scenes of the fighting in Flanders form the red background for action that expresses the bravery of the Red Cross in working under the very mouths of German guns, to restore to normal physical and mental health the children of France and Belgium made fatherless, motherless and homeless by war. It is amid such scenes that Nanette, the little wife of John Patricia, an aviator with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, labors night and day, and suffers the indignities of war maddened, lustful Huns before she is reunited with her husband and decorated by the French government for her valuable services.

The supporting cast of "The Heart of Humanity" includes William Stowell, Robert Anderson, Mann, Walt Whitman, Joy and will be seen at the Mission theatre on Oct. 17 and 18, with Dorothy Phillips in the leading role of Nanette.

R. O. Thomas and family of Alanreed were in town Wednesday shopping.

Geo. W. Stratton has bought the old Wolfe place in the north part of town.

Editor Jones of the Silverton Star is again "seeing things." He tells of the skeleton of a "thunder lizard" eighty-five feet long and seventeen feet high, being found near that place. That takes the championship from any editor of the North Panhandle, including those at Canadian and McLean.—Plainview News.

We have reason to suspect that the Silverton editor has been to Plainview and has taken a keg of alfalfa tea home with him. Alfalfa tea is the beverage that caused the Plainview editor to see a moonshine still in a Plains wheat field, and has doubtless caused numbers of Jess Adams' friends to see snakes. It certainly must have a powerful kick, to cause the Silverton man to see a reptile eighty-five feet long. The Plainview scribe must have been under the influence of his new-fangled beverage when he wrote the above, for he certainly got his geography mixed when he called McLean a North Panhandle town.

Where Do You Like to Trade?

When you go shopping there is usually a definite need or desire you intend to satisfy. You know just what you want to buy. Where are you going to trade? Which store do you think of first?

Naturally your first and most impressive thought is of the store that gives you more for your money than the goods you buy.

You think first of the store that takes pleasure in extending you courtesy and service. You meet the courtesy when you enter the store. But the store that serves you best is the one that brings its service to you in your home.

The store that advertises is serving you by bringing to your home the latest shopping news. It tells you the newest in patterns and fashions. It tells you how to buy to advantage. Often it reminds you of a need before inconvenience brings it to mind. It reduces your shopping effort to a minimum.

Trade with the merchant who advertises. Tell him how his advertising has helped you, whether in being better dressed, in managing your home, by saving you money, or in any other way. It will help him to serve you better in the future.

The Canadian Record and Clarendon News have up quite a heated controversy over the question of dividing Texas. This paper sees little reason why these brethren should debate this question, unless they need an argument of some sort to be happy. The Panhandle may not be getting her share of appropriations for developing the different state institutions, but that will be remedied as soon as this section is populated thickly enough to demand it, which condition is almost, if not already here.

Interesting Items to Be Found in The McLean News of Oct. 9, 1909

Scott Johnston has our thanks as well as those of the fair committee for some excellent samples of peanuts. They were brought in by J. L. Crabtree and C. C. Cooper Wednesday morning. Two vines loaded to the limit with small peas and a nice lot of loose ones of the larger variety, most of them having three and four peas to the hull, constituted the specimens. They will also go to the Dallas Fair.

Chickens and eggs command a good price in this vicinity at all times of the year and are usually scarce, but the best sale we have heard of this year was one made by A. B. Gardenhire to Foster & Son, he having sold them Tuesday $67.50 worth of chickens in one lot. A nice bit of money picked up.

Mrs. John Carpenter and two little children left Monday for San Angelo, where she will attend the fair and visit friends and relatives. She was accompanied by her husband as far as Clinton.

W. B. Skaggs has the world beat on big black kershaws, two monster specimens of which he left at the News office Wednesday morning to be included in the Dallas Fair exhibit.

Cooke spent a few days the first of the week on business at Naylor.

V. O. Russell of Amber, Okla., was here last week for a visit with his brother, A. T. Russell.

Dr. J. A. Coppedge was a business caller in the city the first of the week from Alanreed.

Several citizens of the McLean country attended the fair at Mobeetle last week.

Dr. E. D. Langley and son, Will, were here from their Northfork home Monday.

M. D. Bentley was a visitor to the fair at Oklahoma City this week.

Galveston—Passage of the amendment to the state constitution giving Galveston the privilege of voting bonds for the construction of further protective works against the elements does not carry an added burden of taxation for anyone except Galveston County property owners, and then only after a subsequent election, according to Mayor H. O. Sappington, chairman of the citizens' committee appointed to urge voters over the state to pass the measure Nov. 4.

Effective October 7, we are going to show every night except Sunday and Monday nights, and will discontinue the free Saturday matinees after Sep. 27th, as we want to put on a better class of pictures than the usual Saturday matinee program. However, we will still have a Saturday matinee, but the price will be 10c and 20c, and we promise you a high class program if you will patronize the matinee to the extent that we can afford to show good pictures; if not we will "cut it out," as no "cheap stuff" goes with us. Many motorists are fast learning the value of having their cars overhauled at regular intervals. Fewer repair bills, better mileage and longer service repay you many times the price of proper overhauling. Don't wait until your car stops running before putting it in the shop. Ever Read Clotheslines?

If you want to know your neighbor's nature, habits, disposition and general attributes by the infallible sign, go look at his clothes line on Monday morning. It might almost be said, "By their clothes lines shall ye know them." The clothesline is merciless and all-revealing. By it are flaunted virtues and vices, poverty and riches, penuriousness and extravagance, and all the ills that flesh is heir to.

The size of the family, the ages, number and sex of the children, the general habits, the company, the manners, the neatness and economy of the household; all are an open book to the reader of the clothesline on Monday morning.

"More napkins than usual on Mrs. Johnson's line this week? Lan' sakes, she must have had company! Yes, look! There are her best ones. She never uses them, with the embroidered corners, when they're just by themselves. And see the extra sheets and tablecloths. Say, she must've had a party. There's her very best tablecloth and the new underwear that she got for Christmas, and hung up to air where all the neighbors could see it.

"And there's a new fancy shirt-waist, and three white skirts. Yes, she surely has a visitor. Wonder who it is? Must be a young girl, for there's a young girl's fold de rolls, and a fussy nightie all trimmed up and everything. An' say, isn't that a pretty white dress? Stylish looking, too. Maybe it's her niece from New York. I did hear she was comin' some day soon."

So Mrs. Stay at Home gets her weekly recreation. And in the same way she can tell that there's a new baby over at Smith's and that Gladys Jones has gone away to college, and that Sophie Brown is working now, and needs crisp shirtwaists and dainty camisoles instead of silk kimonos and house dresses. For the presence or absence of clothes on the line reveals hundreds of secrets.

Old, shabby, flabby mother's clothes next to sparkling new, girlish ones tell a tale of motherly sacrifice and daughterly selfishness. Patches and tears; darns and holes; newness and threadbare worn things all tell their own tales on the clothesline. There's no denying either. Why, the very way a woman wipes or neglects to wipe her line with a damp cloth before hanging up the clothes is an indication of her prowess as a housewife. And as for neatness, nothing so clearly tells the world of this attribute as the line of clothes hanging up accusingly in the backyard on Monday morning.

There are stockings. What a wealth of meaning is found in these alone. Are they all silk, with never a hint of anything more practical? And are the socks all darned and redarned until they hurt, so that they'll wear? It's plain to see that she's selfish. She probably lies in bed in the morning and makes him get up and get breakfast, and she probably skimps the children's food and buys herself clothes. See if the rest of the line doesn't bear out the stocking end.

Sure enough! There is a silk petticoat, a fancy nightgown, four thin waists, loads of thin, flimsy underwear, and several other fripperies swinging right next to a patched pair of pajamas, a child's torn little petticoat, and a pair of dark blue rompers. Can't you just see that housewife from her clothes?

Then there is the woman who wants to look more prosperous than she is. Her clothesline tells its own tale, too. Shabby, patched, torn underwear, disgraceful-looking house dresses and slatternly aprons hang next to thin silk waists and overfurnished gowns. A torn petticoat rubs shoulders with an elaborate camisole, and a single survey of the rest of the outfit is shabby and commonplace to a degree.

Tastes, too, are surely shown on the clothesline. Cheap, too elaborate underwear, thin, "half silk" stockings with deep pink "undies" and an abundance of lace on everything, are as eloquent of their owner as if they had tongues. And similarly, plain, untrimmed fine white things, which at first glance are almost insignificant, denote in speaking terms the refined, exquisite taste of the one to fine things born and bred—the "lady."

Nationality and bohemianism also have tongues that can be heard for miles around when judged by the clothesline. From the gayly colored, variegated lines stretched between the tenements in the crowded Italian section of New York to the pink-checked and blue checked gingham that swing on the farm house clothesline, the very colors of the things displayed tell their own tale.—Philadelphia North American.

Modern Dance Brutally Indecent Says Catholic Bishop

San Antonio.—Modern dancing has been stamped as "brutally indecent," and present day ballrooms were declared to be an "enemy to piety and Christianity" by the Right Rev. Drossaerts, bishop of San Antonio, in an address to the Catholics of this diocese.

Proper dancing with safe moderation, is excluded by Bishop Drossaerts as a possible legitimate recreation, but the modern steps are a "far cry from the stately minuet and elegant square dances preceding our age," he said.

The present mental restlessness is flayed by the bishop, who declares "we live only for pleasure, and we are rushing to destruction."

"We are living in a decadent age, our music, literature and poetry, theatres and art all bear the stigma of degeneracy. The world is rushing back to paganism, divorcing itself more each day. Evil periods in the Scriptures were attended with ballrooms and dancing," he continued.

"We would certainly be failing in our duty as shepherds of your souls, were we not calling your serious attention to a moral danger menacing our young people; invading country and city parishes daily more and more—the modern dance, the modern ballroom.

"Dancing, I confess, has from time immemorial held amongst all people a prominent place in their amusements; and if kept within reasonable bounds and limitations, if attended by proper safeguards and if indulged in with moderation, may be a legiti-

Organize Campaign for Amendment

Dallas, Texas, Oct. 6—An organization for the purpose of waging a campaign for the adaption of the proposed educational amendment to the constitution is being formed throughout the state. It is planned by the committee of citizens which has the campaign in charge to perfect an organization in every county. Central headquarters have been opened at 1510 11 12 13 American Exchange National Bldg. Dallas, with Joseph Utay, secretary of the executive committee in charge. The pending amendment provides for separating the University of Texas and the Agricultural and Mechanical College and fixes the constitutional status of all the state institutions of higher educational and vocational instruction. It gives to the College of Industrial Arts and to each of the state normals constitutional status and directs their adequate support and maintenance. Besides the executive committee of the campaign organization, of which Leonard Tillotson of Sealy is chairman, there is a large general committee composed of leading citizens and business men of the state.

A Gangling Loose-Boned Fool

He was a gangling, loose-boned, limber jawed youth who looked as tho he had been sent for and could not get away, says the Emporia Gazette. He blew into the Gazette office today to have his name kept out of the paper for being on a jag. He expected to get work on the Santa Fe and would not be employed if his name appeared in the Gazette, and as this was his first offense we kept his name out. But by way of diversion we hereby hand him the following hard-boiled language: "You are a damned fool, Mr. Ginger Jag. And we used the word damned and fool advisedly. Any man who hasn't enough sense to keep Jamaica ginger out of his stomach as a beverage, won't have sense enough to function in this world; he is damned from here to eternity. And any man who deliberately sets out to get drunk when there is nothing but Jamaica ginger and lemoah extract to cheer him is a fool. There might have been some sense in the head of the man who, under the stimulus of social encouragement, a gang of cheerful idiots, and a larruping good brand of booze in a gay and festive liverg stable or other bacchanalian retreat, filled his system full of asault, arson, larceny and man slaughter microbes, which would steal upon him unaware. But for a man to go out with malice aforethought, and store up a lot of lemon extract or Jamaica ginger which is in itself a poison, and then go and steal a motor car and ride off and try to climb a tree with it—that man is a fool; a damned fool, and what's more unless some woman or God Almighty performs a miracle on him he will be at it again. The next time we propose to print his name and mail a marked copy to the superintendent of the Santa Fe. The sooner he is fired the safer traveling on the system will be and we have no desire to shield a man in a job who is such a calf bound chump that he drunk on groceries and hardware instead of regulation drugs. So Mr. Ginger Jag, go it while you're young, for you haven't got enough in your bean to last another year and when you fall, blame yourself. The City of

It Costs a Lot More

—but you will be practising true economy if you buy it.

During the Riverside Heater demonstration yesterday a man got down to figures to see whether it would be more economical to buy the Riverside or a cheaper stove.

THE RIVERSIDE WON.

This is the highest priced heater on the market, but it will get more heat out of your coal and last longer than any other. We know of a Riverside that has been used eleven seasons and still looks like a new stove, heats like a new one, and will probably last several years longer. Call and let us show you this marvelous heater and explain its good features.
