Powerful Attack by Nazi Army Pushes Allies Out of Belgium; U. S. Defense Board Is Selected

(EDITOR'S NOTE-When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Uni

THE WAR:

Flanders Flight

When King Leopold III ordered his 300,000 Belgian troops to lay down their arms in their battle against the military might of Adolf Hitler, worried French and British leaders saw that the forces they had rushed into Belgium following the German invasion were doomed. For on the fields of Flanders their armies were exposed to a great encircling movement by the Nazis and were in great danger of being cut off from the main body of the troops in central France.

Without waiting Adolf Hitler began to close the jaws of his gigantic trap of death. Attacking with great ferocity the German machine moved toward the retreating allies. Without loss of impetus military objective after objective was gained in a tremendous show of force.

In the sky, dive bombers swooped toward the earth, cutting off supply details, disrupting communications, destroying immense stores of war goods but failing to seriously daunt allied morale and courage.

Their lines in formation, the British and French retreated steadily toward the English channel. For they were outnumbered and the country they had come to protect from invasion had been ordered by its king to cease fighting. Their best chance for escape was across the Strait of Dover to England or down the seacoast to rejoin the main portion of their troops along the Somme and Aisne rivers in France.

While from Berlin came word of the great victory being won, from the first soldiers to reach English soil in their retreat across the channel, came reports that important losses were being effected upon the Germans as they advanced. But even these sources admitted that great stocks of war booty was falling into Nazi hands. Supplies of gasoline and munitions which any army needs were being obtained by the Germans.

Next

Next, with Belgium and much of the vital industrial portion of northern France safely tucked away. Adolf Hitler had a choice to make. He could launch his long-threatened air attack on the British isles or he could strike out for Paris.

Feeling against France has been running high in Berlin, judging from current reports. Usually it has been the British that have been the subject to press attack by the Nazi propaganda machine, but now France is getting its share of verbal abuse. Some observers thought these attacks were a feint intended to lull the British into believing they were to be left alone and then when the "hour" arrived it would be a surprise blitzkrieg for Johnny Bull. But England has taken strong defense measures of late to be ready for the worst and she has promised a warm reception for any invader.

France's interior seemed a bit stronger too, for as the Germans moved against the trapped Flanders army in the north the line of defense across the nation's central axis was decidedly bolstered.

U. S. DEFENSE:

Progress

President

Roosevelt

President Roosevelt's fourteenth fireside chat began a series of events in the new national defense program that was marked by increasing attention to the details of getting Uncle Sam's house in order-"come what may.' Influenced chiefly by the progress of the German army in its drive toward Paris and London, Americans of both major political parties are getting behind the President's announced objective of building defenses of the Western hemisphere "to whatever heights the future may demand." Pleading for unity in the drive for military security, the President in his nation-wide radio address warned against Troan Horse treachery within the nation's borders. He pledged that the government would not expect private capital to provide all of the funds necessary.

Tax

This statement invoked discussion as to how the government intended to foot the necessarily large bill of any such program. A defensetax movement has been gaining ground in congress. This is a complete about-face on the subject by the legislators. When the first proposals were made to increase armaments, most members of the senate and house passed over the matter of providing the money by remarking that the important thing to do was to provide the defenses and worry about paying for them later.

Now the sentiment is that a flat come taxes might be the best way to meet the obligations to be incurred by the billion-dollar program under full now steam. And as the rising war hysteria spread over the nation it seemed likely that this suggestion would not meet the disapproval such a tax in-

Knudsen crease would ordinarily encounter. Reading reports of the fierce power of German military might, U. S. citizens may prefer to dig down in their jeans for preparedness than feel home defenses were insecure.

GOOD NEIGHBORS:

To the South

Not such a "good neighbor" is what many Mexicans are thinking these days of Leon Trotsky, exiled Russian political leader, who has taken up a haven of refuge from his Soviet enemies in Mexico's interior. The recent attempt to assassinate Trotsky has caused at least a few Mexican officials to believe that no good can come from his remaining in their country and they are anxious for him to move Trotsky's home is constantly guarded but despite this "protection," Joseph Stalin's arch-rival is not especially loved or admired by some of his "neighbors."

A neighbor further south has been having a bit of trouble with a little uprising of its own. Reports from Panama indicate that the government nipped an alleged plot for a revolution which was scheduled to prevent that country's 1940 presiden- of "collective organization." Her tial election.

Some real "scratching" will be necessary to build up this loss.

To the North

A career diplomat, Jay P. Moffat was nominated by President Roose-velt to replace James H. Cromwell as U. S. minister to Canada. Moffat, now chief of the western European division of the state department, is not expected to create the flurry that Cromwell did when, as a U. Currently, Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and Miss Juliet M. Bartlett, the latter taking office as newly elected president of the New York Women's City club, urge calmness. Miss Bartlett says we "should keep our feet on the ground and our heads cool."

Mrs. Dunbar, addressing the federation convention at Milwaukee, stresses the collective need for thought, rather than emotion. "Never in our national history has there been a more desperate need for clear understanding," she says. Mrs. Dunbar's job is "community organization," heading this effort for the University of Oregon medical school. It is understandable that she should emphasize reasoned techniques rather than emotional excitements. "Community organization" seems to describe our present national endeavor. # ONLY NEWSPAPERS BRING THE NEWS OF VITAL INTEREST TO YOU

Headlines may scream of death and disaster without causing you to raise an eyebrow. But if your son gets his name in the paper - that's real news!

It isn't by accident that this paper prints so many stories which vitally interest you. For this newspaper was edited for you and your neighbors. News of remote places is stated briefly and interpreted. Local news is covered fully, because all good editors know that the news which interests the readers most is news about themselves.

Now is a good time to learn more about this newspaper which is made especially for you. Just for fun ask yourself this question: How could we get along without newspapers?

A note from Mrs. Warren advises Lynn to call at her New York attorney's effice for her clothes and wages. She is rescued by Terry McNair, whom she met at the beach. She goes to his home, where he has a maid provide her with some of his sister's evening clothes. They then go to a beach club. His sister appears and a quarrel ensues. Lynn accepts the help of a stranger to escape. He takes her to his home where he identifies himself as Raymond (Wild) Austin. He accuses her of trying to blackmail him. "Trailer?" Lynn shuddered at the word. If only she'd never heard of a trailer. If only she'd never gone to work for Mrs. Warren and agreed to come South with her. At least she would feel better starving in New York than here in this strange country which was so beautiful, and so unsympathetic.

Lynn had hardly got settled on the floor in the rear of the car when Austin's fast automobile overtook Rene and he blew his horn.

2. The High Priest. All too often religious leaders have actually hindered the work of God-and what a hindrance they can be! We read that in Haggai's time the high priest obeyed. Christian leaders, are we too going before our people in unquestioning obedience to God? If not, why should we not begin now? With such leadership, we are not surprised to hear that

Apron Dress Is an Intriguing Theme on the Fashion Program

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

answer is the dress with a detachable

putting on fashion airs? Well, that's just what is happening. It's not only your daytime frocks that are being smartly aproned but evening gowns are flaunting the most gorgeous (either tie-on or simulated) apron fronts wild flights of fancy could possibly envision.

Watch and you will see dainty black evening sheers glorified with cunning apron attachments that are embroidered and bespangled most gorgeously. By the same token simple little daytime frocks take on a dress-up mien in that cunningly devised lace-frilled or quaintly beruffled apron fronts are made to tie on or take off in a jiffy.

And what a boon these fascinating new apron dresses are to a limited clothes allowance. You can see the logic of the argument in an instant -sans apron front attachment you have a simple foundation gown that will carry you through trim and trig during the "don't-dress-up" hours of the day or evening. Comes time to "doll-up" a bit for a luncheon or tea or the unexpected whatever the occasion may be, and here's where the new apron attachment performs its magic. Tie it on and you will be "all dressed up" and some place to go. And if this isn't economy, thrift and good style all in one what better could fashion offer, we would like to know, than a two-some that can be faithfully utilitarian one moment and glamorously festive the next.

The attractive frocks pictured present the theme from both a day and a night viewpoint. Consider them as merely a forerunner of what "is yet to be" in way of apron frocks for now that the vogue for the apron apron front. Can you imagine aprons | dress has been so successfully launched, designers are all astir developing the wealth of possibilities offered in this new and fascinating fashion trend.

Describing the daytime frock shown to the left in the illustration, it is made of a red, white and black polka dot silk print, which has an interesting border design, as have so many of the newer prints this season. The "off-again-on-again" apron front is accented with the wide silk bordering. For moments of lesser social importance whisk the apron front off and you have a gown simply and tastefully styled for the more practical moments of slip to create the enchanting bouffant evening gown pictured to the right. The same flowered lace that creates the youthful short-sleeved bolero outlines the trick apron, which may be removable or not as you please.

Garden party dresses of organdy and the new sheer seersucker and prettily flowered dimities are taking on these quaint little tie-on aprons more or less beruffled with self-fabric or with lace and ribbon-run beading in endless variety.

The apron idea invites all sorts of decorative touches in way of embroidery beadwork and applique. Perfectly charming aprons have hand-painted florals which gives the amateur artist a chance to do some very clever things. Another suggestion worth trying out is to applique little ribbon bowknots at strategic points. Insets of lace butterflies is another thought rich with possibili-

Go Military

Go military the American way by pinning to the lapel of your smart tailored suit a gadget, as here pictured, of a miniature cadet cap like the real West Pointer. Marion Weeber, American artist noted for her cunning in handling ceramic jewelry and plastics, designs this cunning piece. It's enameled and studded with tiny rhinestones. As a fitting touch to this most attractive bit of artistry it is made jaunty with a real feather tuft. Wear this cunning ornament and you will create a commotion in your set, for it is really most unusual and distinctive and destined to enjoy a widespread vogue during the coming

Comfortable Wedge Shoe Now Popular

One reason for the popularity of wedge shoes is that they present unusual foot comfort. They give excellent support to the instep and ankle and create a firm base for walking. To lighten their somewhat heavy appearance, many of the new versions are trimmed with scroll cutouts.

Some of the best liked styles are made of elasticized serge or gabardine fabrics. They are usually combined with patent leather or kid. Very light in weight, they cling to the foot snugly and give it a wellfitted feeling that is very comfort-

Little Hats With Turned-Up Brims

Little hats with their brims turned up sharply on both sides to give a tricorne effect are smart accompaniments for the fitted coats and dressmaker suits of this season.

Anyhow Scarlett was in love with Ashley Wilkes, who was in love with his cousin, Melanie, who was in love with Ashley, and so they were married. (Ashley and Melanie, in case you're getting confused.)

This irritated Scarlett no end and so, in quick succession she married, for spite and cash respectively, a couple of fellers whose names we didn't get. But then, neither did Scarlett for long.

The other major characters were Rhett Butler, Belle Watling and a colored lady exactly like the one on the flaplack box.

Rhett, who was somehow strangely reminiscent of Clark Gable, was a cross between Jesse James and Little Boy Blue.

Uncle Lum considered playing Rhett but turned it down when he found there wasn't anything but mint in the mint juleps.

If Rhett had joined the Lost Cause in the second reel instead of after intermission, the Confederacy would have won the war.

And Belle. Everybody did.

During the seige of Atlanta, only three things were running: Belle's place, Prissy's nose and the laundry that kept Rhett's white suits snow white.

Melanie's baby arrived about the same time Sherman did. Both were equally welcome to Scarlett.

It was, so far as our painstaking research has revealed, the first baby ever born in technicolor

Anyway, the South lost the war again in the picture. (What could yo' expect with a lot of Yankee producers?) and Scarlett married Rhett to get even with him.

Their married life was just like sitting in hell's fire and listening to the heavenly choir.

Finally, after Melanie died, Scarlett realized that she didn't love Ashley but Rhett, Scarlett was as changeable as a baby's underwear.

However Rhett had enough of her foolishness and when she told him, he says, "Frankly, my dear, I don't give a damn.

Neither, by this time, did the audience. They were glad to see the end, their own having become number and somewhat harder than a land-
