Rheumatic Heart Disease Leading Cause of Deaths

Rheumatic heart disease, a crippling and killer of children, is one of the leading causes of death and disability among children and young adults in the age group 10 to 25 years.

No vaccine such as those that prevent typhoid, diphtheria, small pox and whooping cough has as yet been developed for its prevention and control, but we do know some of the danger signals and with a physician's early diagnosis, some of the damaging results of this disease may be prevented.

Quoting Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, "in general, the early symptoms of rheumatic fever are pain and swelling in the joints of the knees, ankles, elbows, or wrists. The pain is felt usually in one of these joints and spreads to the others. Often a child gets irritable and cross without any apparent cause; he may cry easily and develop habits indicating nervousness. These symptoms may mean the beginning of an attack of rheumatic fever, and a physician should be consulted immediately."

Predisposing causes to this disease, which include frequent chilling, damp or overcrowded living quarters, poor diet, colds, an attack of scarlet fever or other infections caused by certain streptococcus germs, should be carefully avoided.

Protection against these predisposing causes may mean protection against rheumatic heart disease, and these safeguards should be observed: have children examined by a physician at least once a year; see that they have a well balanced and nourishing diet; make certain that they get sufficient rest, and see to it that they are dressed according to the temperature of the room or the playground. Consult a physician at once if symptoms indicate that this disease may be present, and if the doctor prescribes complete bed rest, his advice should be followed exactly as given.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bragg and daughters visited over the weekend in Amarillo with their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Harvey, and with Arvin Berriman.

Mrs. Herman Hunt has returned from Norfolk, Va., where she has been visiting with her son, J. E. Hunt and family.

Texas 4-H's Win Chicago Trips

Ann Peterson Wayne White Betty Blackerby Reuben Rother

SUPERIOR records of achievement in National 4-H Better Methods, Canning, Clothing and Garden programs have won 1948 state championship honors for four Texas club members. Each received an all-expense trip to the 27th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 25 to Dec. 2. The winners, who were selected by the state club office, and brief outlines of their records follow:

Caring that well-known "new-look" was little trouble for Ann Peterson, 17, of Devine, who selected, sewed, made over or mended 26 garments for herself and other members of the family during three years of 4-H club work. In addition to completing five 4-H projects, of which three were in clothing, Ann served as president and leader. She gave a talk at a community meeting and wrote three stories: about 4-H tours, camps or special events. Ann has done some interesting things with textile paints. A peasant blouse which was plain white she painted with Mexican girl and ivy flower vendors around the neckline. She painted bath towels with a design taken from the bathroom wall paper, painted initial A on the cuffs of six and a pillow top with Mexican design, which was done in six colors. Named State winner in the 1948 National 4-H Clothing Achievement program, she was awarded an educational trip to the Chicago Club Congress provided by Sponon Cotton Educational Bureau.

Wayne White, 17, of Coahoma, has applied many better feeding and housing methods in his livestock activities because of skill achieved through the National 4-H Better Methods Electric program. Wayne has been named State winner in the program in recognition of the many better methods he has developed for doing farm tasks. He has given demonstrations on trimming calves feet, grooming livestock, terracing, culling chickens and pruning trees. In addition to project work, he has served as junior leader of his local club for five years. Wayne received an educational trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, provided by the Westinghouse Educational Foundation.

The Blackerby family of Whitewright has no worries when it comes to being supplied with a variety of healthful foods all year around. Canning 1,984 quarts of meat, fruit and vegetables helped 4-H'er Betty Blackerby, 16, win State honors in the National 4-H Canning Program. She also has served her club in many offices and is a junior leader. Betty was provided an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, by the Kerr Glass Mfg. Corp. as recognition for her outstanding achievements.

Providing his family with plenty of healthful home-grown vegetables was a major achievement for Reuben Rother, 20, of McDade, but he has now also been recognized with State honors in the 1948 National 4-H Garden program. Reuben planted and tended peanuts, tomatoes, squash, blackberries, melons, potatoes, cabbage and corn during his seven years as a 4-H'er. He has used crop rotation and learned their value in both garden and field crops projects. As a recognition of his achievements, Allis Chalmers provided Reuben with an educational trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago.

All of these activities are conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agriculture College and USDA cooperating.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Campbell attended the Cotton Bowl game Saturday at Dallas.

Miss Mildred Holloway, student nurse at Lubbock, left Sunday after spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Holloway.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Bragg and daughters visited recently with Mr. Bragg's daughter and husband, M/Sgt. and Mrs. A. K. Hutchison and family at Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Simmons and Miss Sue Davis returned Sunday from a visit with Ted Simmons, who is stationed at the Lackland Air Base in San Antonio.

Supervisors Point Out Tillage Practices in Soil Conservation

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles on the report of the Gray County Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors. This article deals with the board's recommendation on tillage practices and rodent, insect, and disease control.)

Tillage Practices

The chief change on the wheat land areas which seems to be needed, has already been discussed somewhat, and consists chiefly of the practice of performing plowing operations in such a way as to leave more of the stubble on the ground surface than has formerly been done where plowing has been done chiefly with the one-way type plow.

Another practice which also has been mentioned on the row-crop areas, is to avoid clean cultivation of row crops late in the season in order to allow annual grasses to make enough growth to provide a protective cover in the winter and spring months. Many operators have failed to properly maintain their terraces and the effectiveness of the terraces has consequently been lost. In several cases, the operators have conducted farming operations across the terraces, and they have also failed to keep the terraces worked up to the proper height and width. All terraced land should definitely be farmed with the terraces, and the terraces should be plowed up or reworked very year to maintain the proper height.

Rodent, Insect, and Disease Control

Prairie dog infestation has been rather heavy on some of the ranch units, but a program of poisoning has been started, which has killed out a large part of the dogs, and it is hoped that this work will be completed in 1948. Grasshoppers are often so numerous as to interfere with crop production. Use of poison mash has been made at such times with satisfactory results. Protection of birds, as mentioned above, will also be somewhat helpful in this connection. The western cornstalk borer has become so numerous in the sandy land part of the district that it is now almost impossible to produce corn which was one of the more important cultivated crops several years ago. No satisfactory control for this insect has yet been developed. Bangs disease has caused considerable loss in the cattle production, especially among dairy herds, but it does not seem as serious now as it was several years ago. Systematic elimination of reactors from the herd, and widespread use of vaccination of young calves will likely give the necessary control.

The senator favors a "chihuahua." Let us grant that the tiny creature is cute—but he isn't a Texas dog; he's from Mexico. There are lots of Texans who never saw a chihuahua in their lives.

Let's select a dog that is typical of Texas—one that has played a part in the winning of Texas and in its file. Maybe a hunting dog, or a dog that herds sheep or cows, or a watch dog; a dog that romps with children and that shields them from harm and that can spring into the water and drag them to safety.

Yes, the kind of nondescript dog that the pioneers brought along when they headed west in their wagons on the danger-beset trail over mountains and fording rivers—a dog that went without food and water in the desert but never deserted; a dog that flew to his masters side to help him in a fight with a wild animal; a dog whose bark gave warning of the approach of Indians; a dog that was a brave and faithful friend, giving affection, comradeship, loyalty, service, and if necessary, life itself; asking only in return a word of cheer and a pat on his head.

That's the dog Texas should select.

Just how big is the King Ranch? Nearly a million acres—but a million acres is like a billion dollars; so big we can't visualize it, so it becomes almost meaningless.

A man parked his car on the ranch while he was on a fishing trip, forgot where he parked it, and they found the car the other day—12 years later.

That's how big the King Ranch is!

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

In a Communist state, you would have to choose at once between church and Communism, and that if you should choose the church, you would have to be prepared for persecution?

Communists would, if in control, take over the churches and synagogues and put an end to the freedom now guaranteed by sentence one, Article One, in the Bill of Rights of the Constitution, which says, "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof?"

Communists would destroy every copy of the Bible they could find, and would jail anybody trying to print new copies?

In a Communist state, you could not be married legally in a church? And your funeral could not be held legally in a church?

If you had your child baptized or christened in the church, you would do so at the risk of prison for parent and pastor?

Sunday School for your children in Communism is definitely out, and your child would be taught to report you to the police for trying to send him?

Communists teach atheism? The rule laid down by Nikolai Lenin, leader of the Communist revolution in Russia in 1917 and founder of the Red government now headed by Joseph Stalin, is "Down with religion! Long, live atheism! The spread of atheist views is our chief task!" And that rule has not changed.

You would be allowed no time off for religious holiday, and celebrations as you are now? You could try going to church on your own time, if the government happened to let you off work on a holy day. Otherwise, you could go only at night, when and if you got the chance.

There wouldn't be any church charities and welfare work for you to help with? All church schools, hospitals, orphanages, asylums, and such things would be seized by the government. Religion would be denied any say in their use or management.

Distribution of Wheat Supply Compared with Average Price Trend 1930-1947

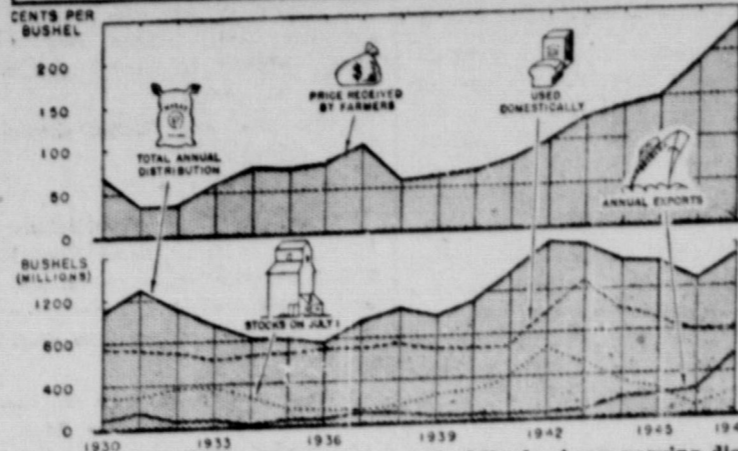

Chart prepared by the Chicago Board of Trade shows varying distribution of wheat from year to year as a result of changes in the relationship between supply and demand. The price graph is based upon the average annual price per bushel received by farmers. Note the coincident rises of price and exports during the last four years. Source of data is the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

LES TALK BY LESTER

It may sound a little late to you, mentioning Christmas, but there's a lot of good Christmas stories floating around. These stories deal with surprises, etc.

M. D. Bentley has one story which he likes to tell. He went home in the evening before Christmas, and found a parcel there—from Santa Claus. In the parcel was some fruit and other stuff, but the one outstanding thing present was a little miniature Mr. Bentley was proud of that expression of love and understanding from someone, although the last time I talked with him about it he didn't know who gave the parcel to him.

For those of who are not acquainted with Mr. Bentley, I might mention that Mrs. Bentley died within the past year, and this was the first Christmas in 50 years the pair had not observed the date together. I'm sure that on such occasions, he finds himself thinking back to others Christmases which were not so lonely as this one was.

Another proud gift receiver was John Cooper. The employees at his grocery store gave him (and Mrs. Cooper) a very useful gift. It was a swivel desk chair, equipped with a foam rubber cushion. If he spends too much time at his desk now, he certainly has a good reason.

Personally, I received a number of very nice gifts. One is the new (and I think very pretty) jacket which you may have seen me wearing daily recently. Another gift of which I am very proud, is a tool chest, full of hand tools. No, I'm not planning to compete with any of the local carpenters, but I probably will with the "putters." For I like to putter around, and mess things up generally with carpentry tools. Now I have the wherewithal to do it.

This is the first issue of The News in the year 1949. It is not unlike other issues, just as the days are quite similar to all of you. But it does remind me of something, and that is that lots of people like to make New Year's resolutions.

One thing I could never understand: Why do people wait until a "New Year" to make resolutions which they could have made any day of the previous year?

We in McLean could make a lot of resolutions concerning our town, our people, our churches, our schools, etc., and it would be wonderful if these resolutions (so long as they are good ones) were kept.

Instead of making resolutions, I would like to suggest that we make determinations. Let's determine to make McLean a better, more progressive town, and then go ahead and do it.

wind that blows skirts high and dust in a man's eyes.

Something else: Having a good aim in life is fine, but you must know when to pull the trigger to get the best results.

I hate to see Sam Summers leave McLean. He has been superintendent of the Warren gasoline plant at Kellerville for the past two years, and has made a very substantial citizen for McLean. I have an idea he would make a substantial citizen wherever he is. Anyhow, I hate to see him leave.

At the same time, I am glad to see Marvin Hindman get the job. Marvin is a deserving young man, quite capable, and the promotion is a nice advancement for him. I guess work, sincerely done, pays off. It seems to have done just that for Marvin. I would try it myself, but . . .

Another person who expects to leave McLean soon is H. F. Magerkurth. Mager is going to be missed by many people. He has the most complete general (and detailed, too) knowledge of machinery of anyone I have ever met.

To give you an example: Clyde Mounce and I jammed our job press recently, and we thought we had twisted a big part out of shape. So did Eunice Stratton think. A salesman for a machinery company came by, looked at it, and he also thought it was out of shape. So then I asked Mager to come over and look at it. No, he said, it was just a little out of time. In a few minutes he had it fixed.

Others have told me of things he has fixed for them—all manner of things. Such a man will be missed by many people. I hate to see him leave, too.

Have Your Car Repair Bills Got You on the Ropes?

If, in 1948, you went the cheaper route and replaced worn parts with inferior parts simply because you could save some quick money, then those repair bills probably have you on the ropes.

We suggest that, to start this New Year off right, you resolve here and now to use only the best parts when you have car repairs made in 1949. We believe you'll find it's money saved in the long run. And the best parts come from—

WHEN you see the 1949 Chevrolets, a glance will be enough to tell you they're new—all new—in line and contour, in beauty and style. And when you look inside, and under the hood, and beneath the chassis, you'll see that their newness is not merely in outward appearance, but in design and engineering and construction as well.

But, to a lot of people, the 1949 Chevrolet is already old. They know what it will do, and how exceedingly well it will do it—they know all about its performance, its comfort, its power, safety, durability and economy. They are the engineers and technicians of the General Motors Proving Ground—the largest, most completely equipped, outdoor testing laboratory in the automobile world.

Here, before a single new 1949 Chevrolet went into production, experimental models were tested—made to show that they possess, in greater measure than ever, all those qualities on which Chevrolet has built its leadership.

In short, the General Motors Proving Ground tests are your assurance that your new-model Chevrolet has proved its worth through many months and many, many thousands of miles of rough handling.

Soon you will see the new Chevrolet—and when you do, you will see a car not only new, but tried and true.

At Pensacola, Florida, future Navy carrier pilots are taught tricks of navigation on a large-scale model of an aviator's plotting board. Pensacola Naval Air Station, the "Annapolis of the Air," is the focus of the recently reactivated Naval Aviation Cadet training program, which is open to healthy, single young men between 18 and 25, with at least two years of college. Upon graduation they are commissioned ensigns in the Naval Reserve, or second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve, are awarded their wings and assigned to two years' active duty.

Schools Need Health Program

Every school has tremendous opportunities to promote the health of its pupils and its community, and for this reason Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, says that every school should have a definite health program, including safe drinking water, good school lunches, proper lighting, seating and ventilating facilities as well as scrupulously clean premises.

"From early childhood to manhood and womanhood, most youngsters are enrolled in school and are under the supervision of school staffs for a substantial part of the day, approximately half the days of the year," Dr. Cox said. "The conditions under which they live in school, the help which they are given in solving their health problems, the ideals of individual and community health which they are taught, and the information and understanding that they acquire are factors which operate to develop attitudes and behavior conducive to happy, healthy and successful living."

To supplement the efforts of teachers, school boards, parent and civic groups interested in promoting school health, the State Health Department's Division of School Health Services carries on a full time program designed to promote and develop a sound basic health program for the school child. This plan consists of attempting the control of communicable diseases in cooperation with local health departments; the minimizing of hearing, vision, dental and other similar problems; providing minimum health essentials in classroom environment such as lighting, seating, and so forth; an adequate physical activity program; stressing education on personal hygiene and local health hazards; nutrition supervision and instruction; and integrating the school health program with the total community health program.

Hall County Wins Award

For the second consecutive year, Hall County has been selected by the State Extension office as reporting the most outstanding 4-H Better Methods Electric program of 1948 in Texas. In recognition of this achievement, the County Extension office receives a Westinghouse Electrical Foundation plaque of merit, appropriately inscribed. Purpose of the awards program, it was announced, is to encourage 4-H youth to simplify farm and home tasks.

Typical jobs analyzed, according to W. B. Hooser, county agricultural agent, were livestock watering and spraying, feed grinding, milking, brooding chicks, and drying and elevating threshed grain. Grinding feed for livestock brought best results he reported. It was found that wasted time with old methods could be turned into extra profits, which would pay for wiring and installing electric power for farm operation.

A county-wide rural electrification program was carried on in 16 4-H Clubs of Hall County with 483 members participating, Hooser reported. An un electrified farm survey revealed that 1,282 houses were energized compared of 1,095 a year ago. Explaining the Better Methods Electric contest at regular meetings of 4-H Clubs, augmented by follow-up displays proved the most effective in developing the program, stated Hooser.

Jimmie Boudens of Memphis was county medal winner in the 1948 National 4-H Better Methods Electric program, while Wayne White of Coahoma won state and Howard County honors. Thirty-two other county winners were named throughout the state.

Gayle West of Memphis won county and state honors in 1947.

varied from losses of $1 or more to gains equally as great, according to class, grade and location. Cows showed the full range of trends. Canner and cutter cows sold in a spread of $13 to $17.50 at Houston, San Antonio, Oklahoma City and Denver, $11 to $16 at Fort Worth and $14.50 to $16.50 at Wichita and Kansas City.

Hogs fell mostly $1 to $1.50 for the week, with much of the loss recorded on the first Monday of the new year. Declines reached $2 or more at Denver. Top butcher hogs dropped to around $20.50 at most markets and $21 at Denver. Sows brought $17 to $18 at San Antonio and mainly $16.50 and down at other markets.

Increased loadings of south Texas vegetables found slow demand the last week of the year. Spinach weakened sharply, and cabbage dropped mostly $8 a ton to growers. White grapefruit and early oranges brought higher prices. Fort Worth received the season's first okra and strawberries from South Texas. Light trading on light receipts netted some advances at New Orleans. Denver paid higher prices for a number of products. Colorado potatoes and onions strengthen for the week.

Losses of 1 to 3 cents on wheat, oats and white corn offset slight advances on other grains. No. 1 hard wheat closed Monday at $2.42% to $2.47% a bushel at Texas common points. No. 2 white corn sold from $1.72% to $1.78%, and yellow corn around $1.65. Milo brought $2.72 to $2.74 a hundred pounds.

 Rice held firm in light trade during the year-end week. Wheat mill feeds and oilseed meals brought higher prices at southwest mills. Hay changed little in dull trade. Little peanut business took place, as the harvest was about completed and demand for shelled goods lagged.
 Mostly good trading prevailed on southwest egg and poultry markets after New Year's. Prices sagged mostly 1 to 3 cents a dozen on eggs and about as much per pound on poultry below a week earlier. Fresh eggs brought mainly 45 to 50 cents at Fort Worth, Dallas, and New Orleans, and 42 to 45 at Denver.
 Cotton prices eased downward $1 to $2.50 a bale for the week. Spot middling 15/16 inch closed Monday at 32.10 cents a pound at Dallas, 32 at New Orleans, 31.95 at Little Rock, and 31.90 at Houston.

Hess Ranch to Have Hereford In Stock Show

The Hess Ranch of McLean has entered two Herefords in the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth January 28 through February 6.
 The Texas Hereford Association will celebrate its 50th anniversary at the 1949 exposition with several special classes for Texas owned and bred Herefords. Special awards amount to $5,000.
 McLean visitors to the stock show will find a number of "firsts," including a new department for Brahman cattle, Guernseys replacing Holsteins in the dairy cattle department, a new Shetland pony division in the horse show, resumption of poultry, turkey and rabbit exhibits, and to highlight F. F. A. and 4-H Club Day, January 29, a special rodeo at a special low price for the young farmers, and a grass judging contest for F. F. A. and 4-H Club members—first of its kind in the Southwest.
 In addition to the livestock exhibits, the exposition will present a Verne Elliott produced rodeo twice daily in Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum, and in adjoining Will Rogers Memorial Auditorium, a brand-new, laugh-packed comedy show, "Laffacade of 1949," featuring Olsen and Johnson of "Heilzapoppin" fame.
