Fourth Quiet Here, but Deadly Over U. S.

Independence Day, 1949, was a quiet day here, but it brought tragedy to hundreds of families throughout the U. S.

A. Robertson New Minister Church Christ

A. Robertson of Woodward, 25 years of age, has been named as the new minister of the Church of Christ, elders of the church announced this week.

Robertson will assume his duties by September 1, although the definite date of his arrival here has not yet been determined.

Fulmers Move to Olton Today

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Fulmer are moving today to Olton, where he has accepted the ministry of the Olton Church of Christ.

Fulmer has been serving as pastor of the McLean Church of Christ since December of 1947.

over the holiday week-end. Of these, Texans suffered the heaviest toll, with 47 killed in this state.

The Fourth passed comparatively quiet in McLean. Most retail stores closed for the entire day.

Traffic was heavy throughout the state, as well as the nation. The greatest number of the violent deaths were on the highways, with 389 fatalities reported.

Drownings came in second, with 240 people dying in that manner as thousands of citizens went to lakes, beaches, and similar places to cool off during the hot day.

In Texas, the 47 reported killed did not include two suicides. Of the 47, there were 32 killed in traffic accidents; eight were drowned; and seven others lost their lives in a violent manner.

No violent deaths were reported in Kansas, Nevada, or the District of Columbia.

Despite the heavy traffic on Highway 66, no serious accidents in the McLean vicinity were reported.

Be Sure to Eat Enough Salt

A deficiency of salt in the human system can cause serious consequences, and for this reason Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, advises every person whose work is such that it causes excessive perspiration to add a pinch of ordinary table salt to each drink of water taken during the day.

Farmers, mechanics, carpenters, construction men and all others whose work causes them to sweat profusely are in danger of having their body salt content seriously depleted, and as a result may suffer from heat cramps or heat stroke.

In many industrial plants, workmen are furnished with and urged to take a tablet of pure salt or a mixture of salt and dextrose with each drink of water.

Total of 51 Cars of Wheat Bought Here

A total of 51 cars of wheat has been shipped from McLean this far, according to a report from the two buyers late Wednesday.

Practically all wheat in the area has been cut, although one or two more cars may be bought here, the two buyers, S. R. Jones and M. W. Knight, reported.

Price being paid for the grain Wednesday was still $1.72 per bushel.

The 51 cars represent a considerable increase over the amount shipped last year from McLean. At that time 33 cars of wheat were shipped from McLean.

That the wheat crop this year meant additional money in the pockets of farmers and landowners can be seen by figuring the approximate income of the crop.

Each of the 51 cars will hold about 1500 bushels. Figuring the average price paid at $1.65 per bushel (allowing for docking due to foreign matter or light weight), the 1500 bushels would bring in about $2500.

Last year's crop was not as great as that of this year, but the price average was around $2 per bushel during the harvest season.

The weather has been favorable for cleaning up the harvesting in this area, although a light shower Monday caused a slight delay.

Amarilloan to Lead Services

Dr. A. J. Quinn of Amarillo, district missionary, will conduct services at the First Baptist Church in McLean Sunday morning and evening, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Clayton Day.

On Sunday, July 17, while Rev. Day is still away, laymen of the church will have charge of the morning services, and young people will have charge of the evening services.

Laura V. Hamner Speaks on Writings Of Local Students

Laura V. Hamner, well-known author, "visited" McLean on her regular Sunday morning radio program over Station KGNC, Amarillo last Sunday.

The program, a Sunday morning feature of the Amarillo station, was devoted entirely to creative writing on the part of English students of Mrs. Jim Back, McLean High School English teacher.

Miss Hamner mentioned a number of the outstanding writers from classes taught by Mrs. Back. In addition, she quoted from various writings of the students.

The program was broadcast at 8:30 o'clock last Sunday.

Softball-- SPECIAL GAME

A team composed of members of the various teams in the McLean softball league will meet the Montgomery Chevrolet team from Shamrock in an exhibition game Friday night at about 8:30 o'clock.

During the game, the finance committee of the league, composed of R. B. Shedrick, Dr. J. H. Kritzler, and Johnnie R. Back, will "pass the hat" among spectators to allow them to help out in financing the league.

The exhibition game will follow immediately after the regular league tilt between the Holloway team and the P. and G. Wonders.

Deadline Friday For Deciding School Annexes

Deadline for determining the annexation of dormant school districts to those still active, under the provisions of the new Gilmer-Akin school law, is Friday, July 8, Superintendent Logan Cummings explained to The News this week.

Under the provisions of the law, the annexation of the various school districts where school is not now being held must be decided not later than Friday by members of the county board in the counties concerned.

The county boards have complete responsibility in determining the active school to which the dormant schools are to be annexed, Superintendent Cummings stated.

Under the provisions of the law, the annexation in a way which will best benefit the children involved.

Legion Home Undergoing Overhauling

The home of the Andrew H. Floyd post of the American Legion in McLean is getting a general overhauling.

Contract for the work was let recently by the Legionnaires to Ed Jones and Herschel Smith, and work on the building is progressing rapidly.

The main improvement being made is the stuccoing and painting of the exterior of the building. The stucco was being completed this week, and is to be painted white.

In addition, the hall will soon boast of two concrete walks, one leading to the front entrance on the north, and the other to the side entrance on the east.

The window screens will either be replaced, or repaired if they are in such condition to allow repair on them.

New uprights will be erected for the porches, to replace the rotted out uprights.

One big improvement is the placing of studdings underneath all sides of the building. These studdings have been covered over, and the stucco will go to the ground level, doing away with the open under-portion of the building.

The Legion building, one of the better Legion structures of the area, formerly served as the commissioned officers' mess hall at the McLean Prisoner of War Camp. The interior is still in good condition, and it is highly decorated.

Only 140 Are X-Rayed During Opening Day

A total of only 140 people had undergone the free chest X-rays being given Wednesday and today, by 6 o'clock last night.

The X-ray unit was set up in the Dysart Motor company building Tuesday, and opened for business at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The mass X-ray service will continue through today, closing at 6 o'clock this afternoon.

W. L. Copeland, McLean representative on the Gray County steering committee, is in general charge of arrangements for the visit of the portable unit to McLean.

The unit is one of several operated by members of the State Department of Health, under the general supervision of Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer.

The service is free, in a sense, although actually it is supported by state taxes.

All area residents have been urged to take advantage of the service. The only requirement is that those having X-rays made must be 11 years of age or more.

Taking of an X-ray requires only about two minutes of a person's time, and most of that time is used in registering. Those taking the X-rays have been requested not to wear clothing with metal buttons, since the buttons will show up on the films.

NAMED as deputy district governor of Lions International District 2T-1, Region 1, is Boyd Meador, long-time member of the local Lions Club.

Meador was conferred the honor by C. A. Cryer, new district Lions governor who formerly lived in McLean.

J. H. Kritzler New President Of Lions Club

Dr. J. H. Kritzler, who was installed two weeks ago as first vice president of the McLean Lions Club, was elevated to the presidency of that organization Tuesday, following the resignation of John R. Fulmer.

Fulmer resigned since he is moving this week to make his home in Olton, where he has accepted the ministry of the Olton Church of Christ.

The election of Dr. Kritzler to the presidency of the club was held at the regular meeting of the Lions Tuesday. R. B. Shedrick, recently installed as second vice president, was advanced to the office of first vice president.

Named to fill the vacancy of second vice president was Lester Dysart.

All three officers were elected by acclamation, and are taking office immediately.

Mr. and Mrs. Fulmer plan to move their household goods to Olton today. He filed the pupils of the Olton church last Sunday, following his acceptance of the ministry the preceding week.

Rev. MacDonald Arrival Delayed

Rev. George MacDonald, recently named as new pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of McLean, was unable to arrive in McLean to fill the pulpit of the local church last Sunday, but will be here by Sunday morning.

Rev. MacDonald, who was elected as pastor of the church in May, was to assume the pastorate July 1, but due to unforeseen difficulties was unable to get here Sunday.

Rev. MacDonald was born in Butte, Mont., and attended the public schools there. Later he attended Wheaton College at Wheaton, Ill., and the Gordon College of Theology at Boston, Mass.

He was ordained as a minister in 1921, and has held pastorates in Montana, Washington, and North Dakota. His last field of service has been at Caswellton, N. D.

Rev. and Mrs. MacDonald have four children. Two daughters, Mrs. W. R. McCune of Fremont, Ohio, and Mrs. G. E. Udem of Wolseley, N. D., are married.

The third daughter, Sarah Jane, 11 years of age, is still at home. The son, John W., is now a junior at the University of Oregon.

I have never been able to conceive how any rational being could propose happiness to himself from the exercise of power over others.—Thomas Jefferson.

IT'S DANGEROUS

Editor's Note: We found this gem of writing in another paper, and thought it worthy of reprinting here. To avoid similar disaster to you, we'll be glad to accept your subscription.

A man, too stingy to subscribe to the hometown paper, sent his little boy to borrow a copy from his neighbor. In haste, the boy ran over a stand of bees and, in ten minutes he looked like a wart summer squash.

His father ran to his assistance and, failing to notice the barbed wire fence, tore and ruined a $9 pair of pants.

The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence, got into the field, and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the commotion, his wife ran out, upset a four-gallon churn of cream in a basket of little chickens, drowning the entire batch.

The baby, being left alone, crawled through the cream into the parlor, ruining a brand-new $50 carpet. During the excitement the oldest daughter eloped with the hired man, the dog broke up 11 setting hens, and the calves got out and chewed the tails off four shirts on the clothes line.

Moral: Don't borrow your neighbor's paper; it's too risky.

Every man must educate himself; his books and teachers are but helps; the work is his.—Daniel Webster.

None are more hopelessly enslaved than those who falsely believe they are free.—Goethe.

COURTESY

The NICEST courtesy you can show your guests is to have their visits mentioned in this newspaper. The nicest courtesy you can show your friends is to let them learn of your visit through these pages whenever you go away. The publisher will consider it a courtesy whenever you give us an item of any kind.

Life is continually weighing us in very sensitive scales, and telling every one of us precisely what his real weight is to the last grain of dust.—James Russell Lowell.

Merit is never so conspicuous as when coupled with an obscure origin, just as the moon never appears so lustrous as when it emerges from a cloud.—Bovee.

COLOR SYMPHONIES

Color steps high, wide and handsome this Spring and Summer in charming shoe styles to meet any occasion. Strange as it may seem, though, black continues to dominate during the warm months. Whites, beiges, pastels and the bright reds and greens will be much in evidence for country and resort wear, in a wide variety of fabrics and styles. There are platforms for the devotees of that type shoe, paper thin soles for those who prefer a delicate, light shoe. Some toes are closed, but more are open. And most heels are exposed for that cool look American women love.

Whatever color or style you select to adorn your feet, remember that immaculate grooming is just as necessary for pretty footwear as it is for any other part of your wardrobe. Therefore, it is smart to have on hand a convenient supply of polishing equipment to keep shoes spic and span.

Coddle those white shoes with a liquid white cleaner that is easy to put on but hard to rub off. An applicator is enclosed with the bottle. For best results just follow the simple directions on the blue and white carton.

A neutral-wax liquid does a good cleaning job on most smooth leathers. And a word of precaution: a couple of coats applied to brand new shoes helps to protect them against scuffing.

Fabric shoes can be spot cleaned quite satisfactorily with dry cleaning fluid and in some cases with a cloth and mild soap suds. For the best polish job don't forget a bottle of sole-edge dressing.

Stay at Home Money

THERE'S AN OLD THEORY that money kept at home is idle money.

That's not the case with your Public Service Company. A great deal of our "stay at home money" actually stays in the area we serve in the form of wages, rents, local and school taxes, dividends to stockholders and purchases from local businessmen.

It's as simple as this: the money we receive from our customers is put back to work for the progress and prosperity of everyone in the Panhandle-Plains-Pecos Valley area.

Free enterprise and sound business-management go hand in hand to bring better living... electrically... from your Public Service Company.

Leona Forbes Teaches Art

Miss Leona Forbes, teacher of the fourth grade at McLean, was recently teacher of a class in art education at McMurry College, Abilene, where she is enrolled.

Following a two-weeks instruction course in art expression, each of the 20 class members selected a medium of art in which they had had no previous experience. After experimenting with the given material, each instructed the class in the same experience.

Miss Forbes chose masque making as her experiment. Included in the assignment was the production of the material to be used. Near her home in Buffalo Gap, Miss Forbes discovered some high quality terra cotta clay in the natural state which was prepared for use by the class.

From the molds made by the class members paper-mache masques were formed, later to be decorated with paint and hair. According to Mrs. Lois Tabor McAfee, teacher of the class, this and similar projects may be carried out where the student is taught by the experience curriculum.

Also projects in this progressive art education program were experiments with mural painting, weaving, bookmaking, finger painting, and the use of waste materials. Problems of the teaching of art are an important discussion in the class.

Mrs. Sam Gary of Houston is here for an extended visit in the home of her sister, Mrs. J. B. Pettit. Other recent visitors in the Pettit home were Mr. and Mrs. Harve Smith of Clarendon.

See Boyd Meador for polo insurance.

NOW YOU DO SOMETHING

SEVERAL WEEKS AGO The News brought to the attention of its readers the fact that there is a danger in the exposed sewage disposal plant at the former Prisoner of War Camp near McLean.

At that time it was pointed out that the enormous hole should be done away with, in whatever would be the best manner. The hole is enclosed by a wooden fence, but boards on the fence are loose and others could easily be torn down by children playing in the vicinity. The structure of the hole is such that should a person, even an adult, fall in, it would be impossible to get out without help. Water which has collected in the hole makes it an ideal place for some youngster to drown.

As far as we know, nothing has been done about the situation. The danger still exists. Some readers have also told us that there are other old well holes at the former camp, and all could be dangerous.

The News can do nothing about the holes. The only thing we can do is to bring these facts to your attention, make suggestions, and then leave it up to you. In other words, The News can serve as your voice, and that's about all in this case.

As for suggestions, we do have a few.

First, do not expect the city officials to have the holes filled in. The property lies far beyond the city limits. The city officials do not have the authority to have the dangers eliminated, although they can, and should, be of help in seeing that the work is done.

Second, the proper place to go, and to write, is to your county governing officials. This means your county commissioners and your county judge. We suggest you first contact Earnest Beck, local commissioner, and urge him to get something done. Then follow up with a letter to him, pointing out the danger, with copies to the county judge and the commissioners court. If enough would do this instead of talking to one another on the street corners, then action would be forthcoming.

So let's get together on this matter and see that action is taken—before we are sorry.

LES TALK BY LESTER

McLean is badly in need of several things, probably outstanding among which are a dentist, a hospital, and an active chamber of commerce.

As far as I know, McLean has never had a hospital—at least one of much magnitude and efficiency—although the city has had in the past dentists and chambers of commerce.

Dr. R. C. McNett was the dentist here when I moved to McLean. He saw greener pastures elsewhere, and left, mainly because many local citizens continued to have their dental work done in other towns and not patronize him. I had Dr. McNett do some work for me, and I thought he was very, very efficient. Almost everyone who had work done by him said practically the same thing.

Dentists are hard to get, especially in small towns. They realize there is a limited amount of business, and they also realize that many people will do their dental trading out of town, simply because they feel as if they will get better dental service in a bigger town. Which may or may not be true, of course.

While serving as president of the Lions Club during the past year, I wrote to every dental school I knew of, and told them that McLean was in need of a dentist. The schools nearly all answered, with nice letters. There is a shortage of dentists, the letters stated, but my letter would be posted on the bulletin board and the graduates-to-be could study it for possible location.

However, so far, I haven't seen a prospect around here, or heard from one.

Now here's something which struck me. Perhaps you know a young dentist, or dentist-to-be, who is or soon will be looking for a location. Maybe your sister has a brother-in-law who has a brother who is just finishing dental school and will be looking for a location. Had you ever thought to encourage that sister to encourage her brother-in-law to encourage his brother to come to McLean to practice dentistry? It might work. Keep this in mind. It is probably our best chance to locate a dentist who will be willing to locate here.

I sincerely believe that a young dentist could derive a net income of $5,000 here his first year.

If he is as good as he should be, that income should be $ to 10 thousand the second year, providing, of course, a severe depression doesn't hit the country. The potential business for a dentist in McLean is present so don't be hesitant about encouraging one to locate here. All he has to do is render satisfactory service. After a few months he will go over all right.

As you recall, I mentioned something about a hospital at the beginning of this column.

Despite the fact that the cooperative hospital project turned out to be a complete flop, McLean still needs a hospital. It's too bad that back in 1945 or 1946, when the county hospital bonds were voted, that McLean's leaders failed to get in on that bond issue. The Pampa supporters, if you remember, solicited the help of McLean citizens to get the bond issue over. Only two votes were forthcoming here, and over 200 against. The Pampa politicians still remember that when McLean asks for something, what should have been done, of course, was to request that a small amount of the bond issue be put aside for use for a feeder hospital or clinic over here. Some people have told me that that idea was thought of (I wasn't here at the time), but some were opposed to it. As a result, McLean still doesn't have a hospital and no prospects of one.

A coop hospital is a good thing, if it works. No one can deny that after seeing that wonderful institution at Elk City, Okla. The working of the hospital would depend, of course, on the person in charge.

But the coop hospital idea failed once, and would not go over now. However, if we wanted a hospital bad enough, I feel that we could have it. How? By simply all kicking in and building one. Once you have a nice little hospital, it wouldn't be too difficult to find some doctor willing to run it. That method has been used other places and could be used here.

Naturally such a project would cost money. Getting that money together would take a lot of work, a lot of promoting, a lot of soliciting. But don't ever think it couldn't be done.

The chances of its being done are something else, however. Many, many people would favor the idea. Many would give. But many would not give. And many would not help in raising the money.

Nevertheless, to say that McLean cannot have a hospital is a fallacy. We can have one if we want it badly enough.

The third thing I mentioned at the beginning of this column was a chamber of commerce. Twice since I have been in McLean (I've been here two and a half years), attempts have been made to have a really a-life chamber of commerce. Both times the idea failed, for one reason only. That reason was that no one person was willing to take the time to keep the chamber of commerce alive.

And there is no use in organizing another chamber of commerce unless some one or some few people are willing to devote some time to it. The business men, as a whole, are not willing to give money to a chamber of commerce. But we will spare the time to keep it going.

But like the hospital idea, we can have an active chamber of commerce if we want one. See Boyd Meador for life insurance.

BIG VALUE.

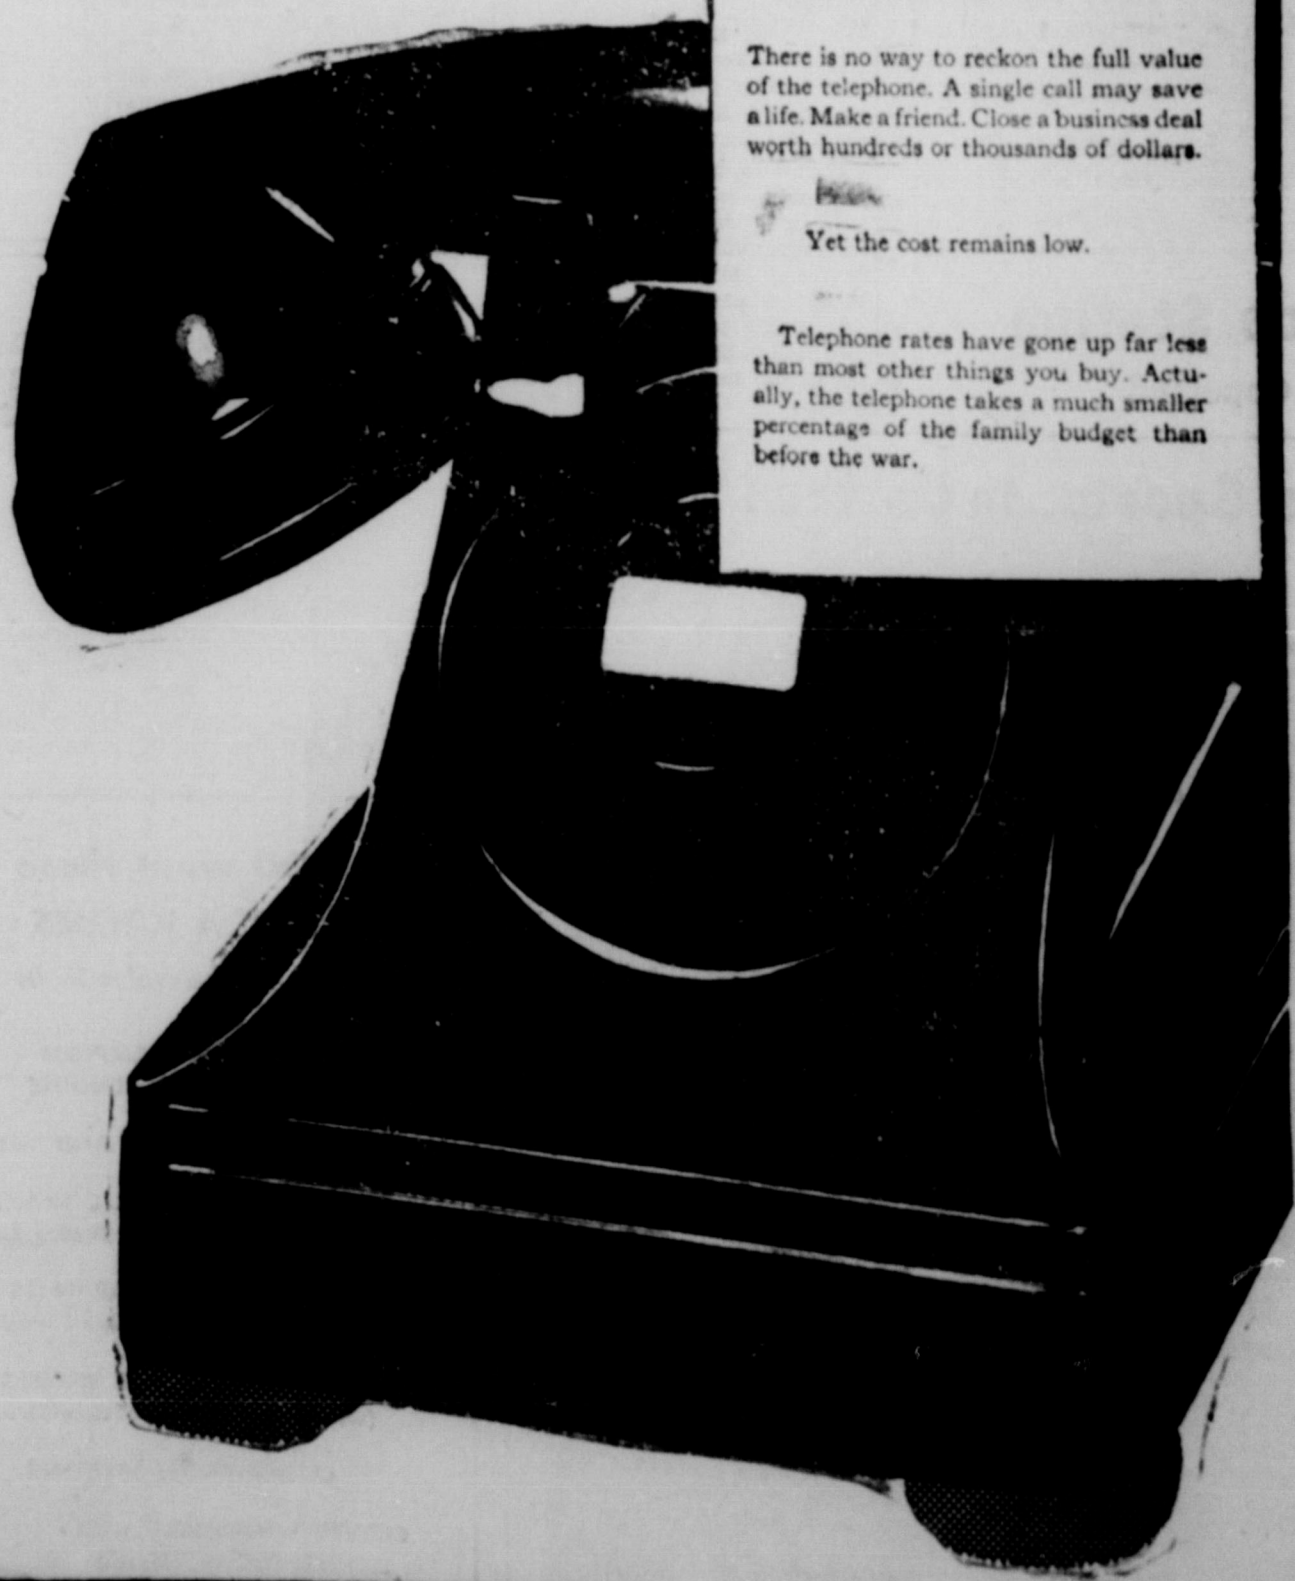

LITTLE COST

Day and night, seven days a week, the telephone is at your service. Quickly, easily and at small cost it keeps you in touch with everything and everybody, everywhere.

There is no way to reckon the full value of the telephone. A single call may save a life. Make a friend. Close a business deal worth hundreds or thousands of dollars.

Yet the cost remains low.

Telephone rates have gone up far less than most other things you buy. Actually, the telephone takes a much smaller percentage of the family budget than before the war.

A salesman tells us this one. Seems that a farmer got himself a monkey for a pet, and happened to let him try out his hand in pulling bolls. The monkey did wonderfully well, could easily gather more cotton than six men.

So the farmer went to his banker, asked for a loan to go to Africa and bring back 1,000 monkeys, telling the banker of his idea.

"It sounds like a good idea," said the banker, "but if you did this, then Jones over here would get a thousand monkeys, Smith another thousand, Brown another thousand, etc."

The farmer studied a minute and replied that he knew that, but didn't mind. "I know," said the banker, "but some Yankee would come along about that time, and free the whole darn mess of monkeys."

this a pleasant way of taking extra salt, but others prefer to add the needed amount of extra salt to their food and drink.

"Take your extra salt in any manner that is agreeable to you," says Dr. Cox, "but take it. Heat cramps are very painful and exhausting. They are characterized by cramps in the abdominal region, headache, and in severe cases there may be nausea and vomiting. Body salt losses occur without the knowledge of the individual until a deficiency exists; then the abdominal muscles begin to cramp."

According to the state health officer, it is a wise precaution to keep the body supplied with salt, and thus avoid much possible suffering and loss of time from heat cramps.

Protect Winter Clothes Against Moths and Light

The principal precaution in storing winter garments, according to Prof. Dorothy Saville of the department of household arts at Oklahoma A. & M. College, is against moths.

"In addition, the clothing should also be protected from dust and light during the warm months," she added.

Professor Saville recommends several steps in preparing woollens for storage. Before storing, the clothes should be cleaned if soiled and sunned and aired thoroughly. There are various compounds for protection from moths, but paradichlorobenzene crystals are inexpensive and have proved to be satisfactory. They do not have the hard to remove odor of naphthalene, such as found in moth balls.

Place the crystals, or any other moth repellent, in the folds of the material and wrap in heavy paper, and store in a sealed container such as a box or plastic bag, Professor Saville continues.

The sealed container will keep the moths out, and also serve to prevent the crystals from evaporating. If a box is used, the crystals should also be placed in the bottom in order that the fumes will rise up through the material.

Clothing which cannot be folded should be placed in a zippered, non-porous garment bag with crystals in the bottom, Professor Saville concluded.

Texans Escape Seige of Typhus

The people of Texas have been fortunate in escaping any serious outbreaks of typhus fever this year, the total number of reported cases so far being 133. This is a gratifying decrease in the incidence of this disease, but at the same time, it is well to warn that only continued stringent rodent-control measures will hold this disease in check.

This is the advice of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, who says that "typhus is one of the most debilitating of all diseases, and the long drawn out illness results in such loss of time that this factor is usually even more expensive to the victim than his doctor and hospital bills."

Inasmuch as typhus fever is transmitted to man by the rat flea, the control of typhus depends almost entirely upon ridding ourselves of rats. No garbage should be left exposed where they can get to it to feed. Granaries and feed houses should be rat-proofed so that rats are starved out. All rat harborage such as trash piles, piles of old lumber, accessible quarters in the walls and foundations of buildings and other suitable living quarters should be denied them. Houses and business buildings can be effectively rat-proofed at a comparatively low cost, and the expense is always much less than the damage that can be done by rats, and the sickness they can spread.

"When the rat is gone, typhus fever will go also," Dr. Cox said. "Keep building out, starting out, and killing all rats, and typhus fever will no longer menace the health of our people."
