Rev. Bond Retires From Ministry

Rev. W. E. Bond, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in McLean for the past year and a half, has retired and moved, along with Mrs. Bond, to Pampa. Rev. Bond has been a pastor for 36 years in the Panhandle area. He pastored the church in McLean from 1936 to 1941, when his sons, John and Paul, were in high school. They were both active in area sports during their school years. The Bonds will reside in Pampa at 717 N. Sumner. R. W. HAMILTON

R. W. HAMILTON FILES FOR HIGH COURT

A three-way contest for one of the positions on the Texas Supreme Court was revealed with the passing of the filing deadline last week. First to file for Place 1, which will be vacated by St. John Garwood who is not a candidate for re-election, was the Chief Justice of the Eighth Court of Civil Appeals.

He is Judge R. W. Hamilton, a 58-year-old former school teacher turned lawyer, who once coached a state championship football team.

Upon release from military service in 1919 after World War I, Hamilton took up teaching and coaching and in the 6 years that followed, taught at Plainview—where his team won state honors in 1919—also at Sonora, San Marcos, and finally back at Tyler near his family farm at Troup where he was reared.

Judge Hamilton is basing his campaign entirely upon his 31 years experience as lawyer and judge.

His law practice began at Tyler in 1927. In 1929 he was County Attorney at Martin County. In 1933 he was District Attorney of the 70th Judicial District. He engaged in general practice at Midland from 1935 until 1950, when he was elected Judge of the 70th Judicial District which he had formerly served as District Attorney.

In 1953 he was appointed Chief Justice of the Eighth Court of Civil Appeals and was elected in 1954 without opposition to a full term of that office which he is now serving.

Mrs. Hamilton is the former Lois Rogers of San Antonio. The Hamiltons have two daughters, Emily and Ann, both attending the University of Texas, and a son, Robert, Jr., attending A&M College.

Housing Fund Authorized

An announcement from Congressman Walter Rogers last week notified the City of McLean that authorization of $2,000.00 had been given for the planning funds of the McLean Housing Authority.

The message stated that the Housing and Home Finance Agency would provide the sum based on ten home units, allowing $200.00 per unit.

Although the allocation of the funds has not yet been made, the report will guarantee payment after the McLean Housing Authority has submitted application for the loan. This application will be the next step toward gaining the units in McLean.

When granted, the $2,000.00 will be used to survey the town, survey lots, clear titles, etc. on the desired locations of the new homes. Although the number of proposed units now stands at ten, the town survey will ultimately decide the exact number to be constructed. This will depend upon the population figured with the need for housing.

After the application has been made and the $2,000.00 granted, then engineers will be called in for the surveys. When a definite number of units has been established for the project, then a final grant will need to be made for the actual building of the homes.

Rain In McLean Totals More Than Four Inches

Rainfall in the McLean area Monday night totaled about 4 1/2 inches, according to the city rain gauge maintained by Pete Fulbright.

High waters on McClellan Creek washed out the north end of the bridge which spans the creek, about seven miles north of McLean. The bridge also went out twice last year.

Sheets of rain started falling here about 6 p. m. and continued intermittently throughout the evening and into the next morning. A severe storm warning was given for this area. The siren sounded once, telling residents of McLean that the warning had been given.

Had a tornado funnel been sighted, the siren would have been sounded again, if time permitted. The siren sent persons in the downtown area scurrying for home and the storm cellar. However, all the weather amounted to was a "galley-washing" rain, plenty of lightning and thunder, and busy peace officers.

Constable J. D. Fish, Deputy Sheriff Jimmy Shelton and the city pickup which has a two-way radio were all patrolling the area and watching clouds. Boyd Meador manned the pickup.

The approach to the north end of the McClellan Creek bridge on Highway 273 went out at about 2 a. m. Around 1 a. m. the pavement started cracking about six feet north of the bridge and the crack widened until the approach gave way. Highway department personnel at the site could see that the dirt fill had, for the most part, already washed out at 12 midnight.

The storm was the same system that dumped over five and a half inches of rain in the Clarendon area, flooding stores and tying up traffic. One woman and her daughter

Dale Parvin conducted the installation of the officers for the ensuing year. As each officer was given her challenge she placed a part of the American flag on a flannel board. With the completion of the ceremony the audience pledged allegiance to the flag. Those installed were Mrs. Sammy Haynes, president; Mrs. Lou Gething, vice-president; Mrs. Harold Bunch, secretary; Mrs. G. R. City Clean-up To Begin On Monday

The McLean community is now readying itself for the annual clean-up campaign, which has been set for May 19-24.

An announcement has been made by the city for all persons to have their trash either on the curb or in alleys on any day during next week.

Mayor Ed Lander reported that a truck would work full time throughout the week gathering the disposals. He stated that the vehicle would haul off all wastes, and urged citizens of McLean to have all they wish to dispose of stacked on the curb line or in the alleys for the convenience of the men working on the truck.

The week for cleaning up has been established in the belief that the general welfare of the community depends, in a large part, on clean and wholesome surroundings.

Lives and property are endangered by fire and accidents caused by littered conditions in homes, businesses and places of public assembly.

stay here in this world was very brief, but it was long enough to endear her to her fond parents and little sister, Charlie Mae, until it seems that separation from her is unbearable. She was such a sweet, good, obedient child to her parents, and such a chummy companion to her little sister. We know she is resting in peace with the loving Savior now. We know nothing better than the sentiment of 'little Ada Lee's favorite song while here on earth: "Little feet be careful where you take me to, anything for Jesus let me do." Let this be our motto: to do only the things that Jesus would be pleased for us to do each and every day of our lives so that when our time come to die, death will have no terror, but will be a gateway to peace and happiness and joy forever.

Gray County Women Will Not Have to Register
The women of Gray County who are otherwise qualified to vote will not have to register with the tax collector in order to vote this year. This statement is made on the authority of Attorney General Looney, who has passed an opinion on this point in connection with the woman-suffrage bill made a law by the last legislature.

The reason Gray County women will not have to register is because Gray County does not have a city of 10,000 population. Registration in this county would be unconstitutional. "Because the caption of the bill does not contain this information as required by the constitution."

OUR OWN IRON CURTAIN

If there were deliberate plans being carried on to promote socialization of industry in the United States they couldn't be more effective than the interpretation of the Internal Revenue Act which would deny electric companies the right to charge advertising and publicity used to protect their business, to operating expense.

If this can be done by the Internal Revenue Service with electric companies the process can be extended to any industry seeking to defend itself against political plans to substitute government ownership for private ownership of property. The ruling would naturally not apply to tax-exempt government agencies which compete with private business. This is pretty much like tying a man's hands so his adversary can beat him to death.

It is unthinkable that in a free country free enterprise should be subjected to punitive tax interpretations which leave it and freedom of expression subject to bureaucratic whims.

By indirection this would tend to control the press by discouraging the use of informative advertising.

If such rulings can be enforced here by a government bureau, we have little excuse to talk about the iron curtain and its control of thought and expression in Russia.

MAKE THIS COMPARISON

Writing in National Review, Robert V. Jones describes the Soviet price system. It is a system whereby the state fixes all prices and all wages, and establishes whatever relationship it desires between them. These prices, save for certain absolute necessities of life, are extraordinarily high when translated into the hours of labor a man or woman has to put in to buy commodities. To cite one example, it takes about 300 hours for a skilled factory worker to earn enough to buy a suit of clothes.

In the course of his article, Mr. Jones says something that should be of particular interest to American consumers, who are used to going into our retail stores and finding what they want at a price most families can afford to pay. He writes: "In a free market consumers express their wants by bidding for particular goods, and as prices for particular goods rise or fall producers adjust their production accordingly. The Soviet administrative bureaucracy can obtain no such information from the price mechanism, for they themselves have set all the prices. They are consequently compelled to order production in accordance with their own ideas of what people ought to have, rather than in accordance with needs as consumers themselves believe those needs to exist. . . . The result is that the Soviet citizen has very little opportunity for self-expression in his use of the material things of life. He eats the food, wears the clothing, and occupies the housing that is ordered for him. . . .

The Soviet shopper is offered an extremely limited assortment of shoddy goods at high prices. Compare this with American retail stores with their almost incredible abundance of offerings. When you make the comparison, you are actually comparing the competitive free enterprise economy with a government controlled and dictated economy.

IT'S THE LAW In Texas

BUILDING YOUR HOME

When you are ready to build, you will find that the laws helps in many ways to make your home enjoyable and secure.

Have you decided on the type house you want and the amount you want to spend? If so, then let's go into details.

1. Your lot: Junior's school or your church may be nearby, but find out—

(a) Whether they are planning to run a highway through the area or nearby, or make any improvements for which you can be assessed.

(b) What "covenants" or restrictions run with the land? To protect residents, the plats, or best: deeds of some neighborhoods call on you to build a certain size or type of house. Do you want to and can you afford to?

(c) Easements. Either you or your neighbors may need to run pipes, or string wires over each other's land or to share a driveway. Have the abstract checked carefully to disclose any easements.

2. Zoning Ordinances: For your protection the local government frequently zones some areas, for example, for single houses only, for multiple dwellings, for retail stores, for manufacturing, etc.

Unless the local governing body changes its zoning ordinance, no filling station, for instance can go up next to you in a residential area. Neither could you turn your home into a store. In any case, you should find out what your neighborhood zoning rules are.

3. Building Codes: Be certain that the plans and construction will meet the requirements of the local building code as to size, location and structure. Municipal ordinances usually impose strict standards for the building, the plumbing and the electrical wiring. In many cases only licensed tradesmen are permitted to make the installations.

4. Financing: Financing contracts protect both you and the lender. Unless you pay cash, you will use credit to pay for your house, most likely a deed of trust or a land contract. Your installments often include principal, interest, insurance and taxes. Under a land contract the lender holds title to your house until you pay for it. If you fall behind, the holder can take the house back. With a deed of trust, the lender has a lien which he can foreclose if you default. You may get some of your money back on the principal; but you may also have to make up any loss the lender makes in re-selling the house.

Well worked-out contracts can help make your dream house come true. A construction construction contract or a so-called "earnest-money" agreement or receipt is no job for an amateur. Too many legal details are involved. Your lawyer is trained by education and experience to protect your best interests in contracting and closing real estate deals.

You know what you want. You should be careful to get what you want through careful planning and a properly prepared and executed contract.

June 30, 1958, is a very important date for many disabled people. John R. Sanderson, district manager of the Amarillo Social Security office, said this week.

Many people who are disabled have already filed for disability insurance benefits under the provisions of the Social Security Act, Sanderson said. There may still be some who have not applied for benefits to which they may be entitled and if not applied for before the June 30 deadline, will lose them.

Workers, both men and women, who have been disabled for over a year have until June 30, 1958, to file application for the disability freeze or for disability benefits if they are 50 or older. Those who have been disabled for a prolonged period and wait until after June 30 may forfeit their rights to disability benefits at age 50, to old-age benefits, and to benefits for their survivors.

Sanderson pointed out that there is no deadline for those who file for a freeze within a year from the time they become disabled. The June 30, 1958, deadline applies only to those who have been disabled for a prolonged period and who file for a freeze, not disability payments after age 50.

In addition to being "disabled," a worker must have worked under social security for some time in order to be eligible for disability insurance benefits or to have his social security record frozen. A worker must have social security credit for work in five out of the 10 years before he became disabled, including a year and a half out of the three years before the disability began.

Sanderson pointed out that there is no benefits for temporarily disabled workers under the provisions of the social security act.

THE METHODIST MESSENGER

May 13, 1958

From the Pastor's Study:

Your medicine cabinet reveals something of your character. Do you have a bottle with a few capsules and pills in it from a prescription? The druggist doesn't just pick up a handful of pills and fill the bottle. A certain number is prescribed in order for you to recover. What happens? When you begin to "Feel Better" you stop the pills.

Do we practice what we preach? Or when we "Feel Better" we stop the pills? Let's have "Faith in Action" as Christians—our church is conducting a "Faith Builds a Budget" stewardship emphasis. This is an attempt to all if His Kingdom can't come now in our hearts as we do His will in handling our personal possessions. We must be dedicated to give through love. If we give grudgingly or under pressure, we lose the sense of giving as an act of love. We can, however, demonstrate our gratitude to Him by giving cheerfully to His church.

We have said that we would give privately. That, of course, is not original. In Matthew 6:1-4 Jesus said, "Beware of practicing your piety before men in order to be seen by them, for then you will have no reward from your Father who is in heaven."

"Thus when you give alms, sound no trumpet before you as the hypocrites do in the synagogues, and in the streets that you may be praised by men. Truly I say to you, they have their reward. But when you give alms do not let your left hand know what your right hand is doing, so that your alms may be in secret and your Father who is in secret will reward you."

If you don't believe that Jesus was interested in what men did with their money, just picture in your mind's eye the following: It is the sabbath and you are in the synagogue in Capernaum. A large congregation is already there when 13 men enter together. The obvious leader of the group goes directly to the treasury of the synagogue where the people are dropping their gifts. A chair is brought up for Him by the largest of the group and He takes a seat where he can observe what is going on. Many rich people put in large sums, and a poor widow came, and put in two copper coins which made a penny. And He called His disciples to Him and said to them, "Truly I say to you, this poor widow has put in more than all those who are contributing to the treasury, for they gave of their abundance, but she out of her poverty, has put in everything she had, her whole living." Jesus took an active interest in money and what man did with it.

Our church is depending on you to let "Faith Build a Budget." Dedicate a portion of your income to God Sunday, May 18.

See you in church.

VICTORY SUNDAY MAY 18TH

FINANCING A CHURCH IS NOT A FINANCIAL PROBLEM BUT A SPIRITUAL ONE

10 REASONS WHY I DO NOT ATTEND THE MOVIES

1. The manager of the theater never called on me.
2. I did go a few times, but no one spoke to me.
3. Every time I go, they ask me for money.
4. Not all people live up to the high moral standards of the films.
5. I went so much as a child, I've decided I've had all the entertainment I need.
6. The performance lasts too long; I can't sit for an hour and three quarters.
7. I don't care for some of the people I see and meet at the theater.
8. I don't always agree with what I see and hear.
9. I don't think they have very good music at the theater.
10. The shows are held in the evening, and that's the only time I have with my family.—TIME

Tithing is deeply rooted in a long history of observance in the Hebrew Christian religion. The O. T. is saturated with conviction that "The tithe is the Lord's." The N. T., without losing the central idea, puts around it spacious horizons of joyful liberality. While refusing to allow the practice of tithing to become a substitute for "Justice, Mercy, and Faith," Jesus puts the sanction of His approval upon it. Tithing has stood a test of thirty centuries.—Bishop Wm. C. Martin

PENNY-A-DAY MORE FOR GOD

When a church increases its program $3.65 per member it amounts to exactly 1¢ per day. Last year Texas Conference increased its per capita giving to $67. This represented a $4 increase over the year previous, or about 1¢ per day increase. The Northwest Texas Conference increased to $57 and that represented a $2 increase or about 1/2¢ per day per member. An increase amounting to $7.30 would be tremendous, but even that would figure only 2¢ per day. To make such a sacrifice we would need to do without one ice cream cone or one cup of coffee every five days. An increase of 2¢ per day from every member would increase the giving in Texas by about $4,750,000.

VICTORY SUNDAY—May 18th. Hear Dr. Jim Carpenter of Lubbock.

Tithing is not a new method for raising more money. Instead, it is an exercise of faith which invariably pays enormous spiritual dividends to the one who is willing to make the venture.—Rev. Roy L. Smith

I do not believe in tithing. The tithe was set up as a minimum standard. In our society the minimum of ten becomes the maximum—in labor hours, developing a talent, and money for the Lord. Jesus encouraged "Sacrificial Giving." He had no bank account. The widow gave all Christians—did we give sacrificially to God this year?—Rev. Jack Riley

A PRAYER FOR PEACE

Lord, make me an instrument of your peace!
Where there is hatred, let me sow love.
Where there is injury, pardon.
Where there is doubt, faith.
Where there is despair, hope.
Where there is darkness, light.
Where there is sadness, joy.
O divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek
To be consoled, as to console;
To be understood, as to understand;
To be loved, as to love, for it is in giving that we receive.
It is in dying that we are born to Eternal Life.
It is in pardoning that we are pardoned.

PANHANDLE OUTDOOR LIFE

By STARKEY WHITEHORN

If a person really wanted to know all the details about raising fish he would need to devote his lifetime towards the study of fish pond management, plus many other angles that surely must coincide, but the crude fundamentals are very simple.

Of course, what is said here applies to the Panhandle fish ponds specifically. How many acre-feet does the pond contain? What is the over-all fish population of the waters? How many pounds of bass, crappie, catfish is this lake expected to produce annually? What should this lake produce according to the authorities? The whole subject could get very complicated if followed up. There are a few fundamentals that, if applied to any pond, would produce fantastic results. In order to elaborate on this idea, first let me mention a personal experience that happened as a result of an experiment.

In about 1936 I was fertilizing a peanut field. The fertilizer distributor was set up so that it would leave a stream of commercial fertilizer about the size of a lead pencil. At this rate there was about 100 pounds of fertilizer per acre being distributed. After going to you end and back for a few hours, distributing the fertilizer and planting peanuts, I stopped the horses at the end of the row and opened the gauging lever so as to allow the distributor to operate at full capacity. At this rate there was a stream of fertilizer about the size of a large corn cob rolling into the furrow. After a round or so at this rate the distributor was again set at the 100 pound per acre notch.

After a month or so anyone could stand at any place in the field and readily notice the huge growth of foliage from any angle. The fertilizer simply made these few selected rows grow to a fantastic proportion.

This is all water under the bridge but there is a lesson learned. A few weeks ago Woody Pond, game warden at Canyon, and I fished for a couple of hours in a small fertile tank north of Matador. On each cast from the rod there would be a 4-inch bass hit. If this bass wasn't securely hooked there would be another hit the plug. If bass number 2 wasn't hooked there would usually be another hit before the plug could be reeled in. These bass were short in length but heavy in weight.

Last week I tried this same plug in a lake in this vicinity and caught a few bass altogether in about the same length of time as compared to at least 100 on the trip near Matador. The bass caught last week represented at last two different age groups, in my opinion. Some of the four to six inch ones were very light in weight with large mouths. These were last year's spawn. Some of the others were slightly longer and represented two-year-old bass. None of them were keepers. Some were yearling bass, the others were nearing two years.

Considering the fact that bass will weigh more than two pounds at the age of less than eight months, it would be conservative to say that it wouldn't take an Einstein to figure out that the pond in this area with the small bass, wasn't properly suited for growing fish. Also, the pond greatly needed fertilizing. When yearling bass will not be over five inches in length and have a small, keen body, plus large mouth, it is quickly noticed that the fish haven't been properly fed.

Commercial fertilizer will do the same to fish ponds that it will do to peanut fields if it is applied. Explaining why is too lengthy to elaborate upon in this short column.

Last week telephone calls came in frequently as a result of mentioning the catfish bait that is manufactured at Quanah. Since that time there has been a supply ordered and can be purchased from one of the sporting goods stores in Borger.

I don't know the names of any of the manufacturers of this bait at Quanah but probably the state game warden there could supply you with the address. If interested, contact Charley Boynton, state game warden at Quanah, and I am sure that Charley would be glad to inform you of the address of some of these manufacturers.

Old Tex and Sadie, my two love pointers, showed up at 503 West Third Street in Borger after being gone about eight days. Thanks to a Mrs. Henderson for the timely tip as to their whereabouts. Mrs. Henderson would not think of accepting the reward that was offered for the dogs. Thanks a million, Mrs. Henderson.

Bird dog pups are in demand at this time and it is the first time they have been in several years. Peculiar thing about this demand is that there are practically no pups on the market now, at least here in the Panhandle. The other day Morris Bankhead, Amarillo, said that he knew of one litter of pups being offered. These were from a breeder at Bovina.

JANE SIMPSON AGENCY

INSURANCE

Fire - Auto - Real Estate - Life

It is exciting to think what the next 20 years will bring. There is work enough for all in the big task before us. That is why I feel so strongly that we must continue our efforts, government and private enterprise combining their strength, to combat the business slump and provide jobs for people who need them. This is no time for lagging or halfhearted endeavor. Let's push ahead!

Dear Friend:

Legislation to create a federal agency with the specific responsibility of guiding the nation in the exploration of outer space is the subject of hearings now being conducted by the Senate special committee on space and astronautics. I am chairman of the committee, and in opening the hearing I stated their purpose in these words:

"What is before us is not a question of whether we should begin the orderly exploration of space but, rather, the question of how such exploration may best be directed and initiated. We are past the point of studying sketches. It is time to get the blueprints drawn and start pouring concrete for the foundation.

The primary legislation before the committee is a bill drafted by advisers to the President. It is my expectation that public examination and discussion of the terms of the bill can contribute many strengthening recommendations. Seldom, if ever, have a congress and an administration faced a more challenging task.

What we do now may very well decide, in a large sense, what our nation is to be 20 years and 50 years and 100 years from now—and our decisions now can have the greatest influence upon determining whether the world moves toward a millennium of peace or plunge recklessly toward destruction.

Spare affects all of us and all that we do, in our private lives, in our business, in our education, and in our government. As Americans, we shall succeed or fail in relation to our national success in incorporating the exploration and utilization of space into all aspects of our society and the enrichment of all phases of our life on this earth.

Outer space is a new frontier. It is waiting to be developed. It holds opportunities that can hardly be dreamed of today.

If these opportunities are to be fully realized our nation must call on every section of the country for maximum contributions. The total resources of our own Texas and Southwest must be totally developed—soundly, expeditiously, effectively.

The ten years immediately ahead, in my opinion, will see the most rapid expansion of our economy of any comparable period in history. The industrial capacity of Texas has increased four times more during the last 20 years than during all the previous years of the state's history.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

Several years ago, I visited a little Texas town and one of the leading citizens invited me to spend the night at his ledge. It was a large house—one of those seemingly primitive places with bear skin rugs on the floor, big fireplace, Indian blankets on the walls, a collection of guns, rafters and beams, tables and chairs hel d together with pegs, leather thongs for door knobs, benches made of split logs smoothed and polished till they glistened like mirrors. The place must have cost a fortune—and it had a setting of pines and overlooked a lake. Among the most striking features were the deer heads. They were large and handsome and there were at least two in every room. "You must be quite a hunter," I remarked. "I used to be," he replied, looking a little ashamed, "but one day I shot a deer and the bullet didn't strike a vital spot. He gazed at me with such an exultant eyes that I have never been able to shoot another."

"It is wise to give narrow-minded people a wide margin."

A witty Englishman, Sidney Smith, had his say on taxes: "Taxes upon every article which enters into the mouth, or covers the back, or is placed under the foot—taxes upon everything which is pleasant to see, hear, feel, smell or taste—taxes upon warmth, light and locomotion—taxes upon everything on earth, and the waters under the earth—on everything that comes from abroad or is grown at home—taxes on the raw material—taxes on every fresh value that is added to it by the industry of man—taxes on the sauce which pampers man's appetite and the drug which restores him to health—on the ermine which decorates the judge and the rope which hangs the criminal—on the poor man's salt and the rich man's spice—on the brass nails of the coffin and the ribbons of the bride.

"The schoolboy whips his taxed top; the beardless youth manages his taxed horse with a taxed bridle on a taxed road; the dying Englishman, pouring his medicine, which has paid 77%, into a spoon that has paid 15%, flings himself back upon his chintz bed, which has paid 22%, and expires in the arms of an apothecary who has paid the license of a hundred pounds for the privilege of putting him to death.
