Baby's Dress Is Important

BY EDNA MILES

A child has a monkeyish habit of imitating those around him. Some people wonder how the present crop of babies will act and dress as they grow up.

These are the tots with blue-jeaned, pin-curved moms who treat them as little animals and leave them messy from morning to bedtime. Although, we will admit that a freshly bathed child can get dirty again as soon as mother turns her back.

But it isn't a losing game and it is up to the family to teach a youngster good habits for his lifetime.

Wee ones can't tell you they don't like dirty, rough clothes. But even a small baby reacts to soft garments in contrast to harsh, scraggy ones. And a tiny infant also responds to pretty colors. Put pretty ruffles and bows on a little girl and watch her turn into a pint-size siren.

Not only how you dress a child but how you talk and handle him is important to his future. A baby will react happily and with security to a mother with soft hands, to a soothing rather than a strident voice and to smooth handling rather than yanking.

This future siren knows social serenity and feminine fashion in her ruffled panties.

CRIME AGAINST WORKING PEOPLE

During the 10 years which will end in 1965 this country will consume some 40 billion barrels of oil. That amount is equal to 80% of all the crude produced within our borders since the discovery of oil 97 years ago.

In that same decade, according to a study made by the Chase Manhattan Bank, American oil men must invest the staggering sum of $73½ billion—or we consumers won't have all the oil products we want and need. The money will go for new wells, new transportation, new refineries, new distribution and marketing plants and systems.

The big question is—where is the money to come from?

Some of it will come from depreciation reserves—sums set aside to cover the cost of replacing facilities that are wearing out. But, in this era of inflation, these reserves are proving more and more inadequate.

Some will come from borrowing. But there is a limit to the amount of money that any company can or should borrow. Too heavy a debt—against an enterprise or an individual—is a depressant, not a spur to progress.

There is one source of new money left. It is found in the profits a company is able to earn. In the past, oil companies, like other companies, have relied heavily on profits to finance growth. Only a part—in some cases a relatively small part—of earnings has gone to the owners. The rest has been ploughed back into the business.

Profits and progress, in other words, are inseparable. Profits make jobs and opportunities. That fact was thoroughly understood by one of the greatest labor leaders the world has known—Samuel Gompers. Years ago he said, "The greatest crime against working people is the company which fails to operate at a profit."

THOSE GOLDEN EGGS

One of the oldest and wisest of adages tells us to "kill not the goose that lays the golden eggs." That certainly should be applied to proposed federal legislation for increasing already generous retirement and unemployment insurance benefits available to rail workers.

The proposal couldn't have come at a worse time. The railroads are in critical financial straits as everyone who reads the newspapers knows. Carloadings, working capital spending and purchases are all down. Net profit for the first five months of this year was about $72 million—one-fourth the figure for the same period in 1957. And railroad employment, inevitably, has followed this trend. During the 12 months ending in May, 1958, it declined from more than a million to fewer than 825,000.

The proposed legislation would add to the financially distressed railroads a payroll cost of $185 million a year beginning in 1959, and still another $86 million by the time all provisions became effective. The lines simply can't afford it—the money just isn't there.

Moreover, the railroad workers are in a preferred position now so far as retirement and unemployment benefits are concerned. Their retirement checks are much larger than those issued under Social Security, and the railroads already are paying nearly three times as much in retirement taxes as is paid by other employers—including the railroads' competitors by air, highways, and water—covered by Social Security. Unemployment benefits are also much higher than those paid under the state system.

"Kill not the goose that lays the golden eggs!"

JAMMED THROUGH THE SENATE

A number of experts who have analyzed the labor reform bill passed by the Senate consider it gravely inadequate. It does little or nothing about such abuses as organizational picketing and the use of union dues for political purposes. Certain of its provisions, competent lawyers believe, could be so construed as to muzzle employers involved in controversies with unions seeking to organize their employees.

Why, then, did this bill pass the Senate almost un-

The answer is that it was jammed through in the space of a week, and Senators, with all manner of legislation demanding their attention, simply didn't have the time to thoroughly study it. You don't have to take an outsider's word for that. Senator Allott said: "... it is wrong to ask Senators to take up a bill of this magnitude and importance . . . on such short notice. It goes without saying that no Senator has had an opportunity to send a copy of the bill to his constituents or to analyze it."

The merits or demerits of this particular bill to one side, reason and justice demand that ample time should be provided for debate and analysis of all major legislation—and that comprehensive public hearings be held. This bill shouldn't be jammed through the House.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS

By VERN SAIFORD

Austin, Tex.—Everyone wants harmony at the State Democratic Convention Sept. 9 in San Antonio. Gov. Price Daniel, U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, National Committeeman Byron Skelton, and Speaker Sam Rayburn—all say they want harmony.

Even National Committeewoman Mrs. R. D. Randolph, who has tirelessly needed Governor Daniel and the state committee for two years, more or less joined in by predicting "a spirit of good will" among delegates.

Despite all the expressions of good intent, harmony among Texas Democrats is hard to come by. Like a huge household of relatives and in-laws, the party always has many clashing personalities and viewpoints under one roof. In the past, there've been rump conventions and separate rival delegations to the national convention.

It is the hope of avoiding this in 1960 that lies behind the cementing efforts. Many leaders contend that a unified Texas delegation could have a key role in naming the next presidential nominee.

All the above-mentioned leaders are presently agreed on one issue—support of the party nominees. Point on which they part is whether the governor should have a veto over the state committee members selected by vote of district delegations.

Governor Daniel, following the practice of past governors, bumped some of the district-selected committee members in 1956 and submitted people more in line with his program.

Mrs. Randolph and Senator Yarborough, now joined by Rayburn, insist the governor has no right to do this.

But Governor Daniel has not promised he wouldn't. He said he felt no district should propose a committee member who is "dedicated to the sabotage of . . . duly elected officers of the party." This almost certainly refers to members of the Democrats of Texas (DOT), an ultra-liberal group that has hobbled and hindered the governor and other official party leaders at every turn for the past two years.

Delegates from each of the 31 senatorial districts are allowed two state committee members—a man and a woman. It is estimated that perhaps six of these district may be controlled by anti-Daniel forces. Therein lies the possibility for discord. If any of these districts propose a DOTer for the state committee, the governor is not likely to "harmonize."

HIGH HOPES—Mr. Wilson went to Washington, his saddlebags full of multi-million-dollar hopes for Texas school children.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson personally delivered the Texas brief in the upcoming U. S. Supreme court case on Texas tidelands. A issue is whether the state or federal government owns submerged lands between the points 3 miles out and 10.5 miles out.

Wilson carried the arguments for Texas ownership in 40-year-old saddlebags that belonged to a heroic Texas Ranger. He declares optimistically that the case is jinxed—in Texas' favor—because the brief is dated Aug. 13, trial is set for Oct. 13, oral arguments will last 13 hours and 13 people worked on the research.

More seriously, he noted that Texas had spent "a big sum of money" marshalling its facts, that a bevy of top-notch legal minds from over the state, nation and two foreign countries had spent some some 2,900 hours on the 400-page brief.

"We feel like we have an overwhelming case," he said. "We feel like we will win it."

Exploration indicates that the 7.5-mile band of disputed land is exceptionally rich in oil and gas. If Texas is successful in holding its claim, revenue from these resources would go into the Permanent School Fund.

PLACE IN THE SUN—Texas Republicans have served notice

DON'T GIVE 'EM HELL, HARRY—Former President Harry S. Truman is virtually dwarfed by the behemoth Brier brothers as they meet in Chicago. Truman was on hand to address Fraternal Order of Eagles convention. Buddy, left, and Max (one time heavy champ) were there to accept awards.

they will demand an even break at getting their candidates in the favored position on the general election ballot.

Desired place is the first column in the left. GOP say people automatically begin reading in this column, and some never go any further.

Republicans hope to work things out on the local level with some sort of coin-tossing arrangement. But they say they'll go to court, if necessary.

CITIES WIN OUT—Cities and utility companies won the first round of a court battle to determine who pays the cost of relocating utilities for new interstate highways.

An Austin district court ruled that the cost can be paid from federal-state highway funds, as provided in a law passed by the last legislature. State Highway Department is challenging the constitutionality of this law.

Ultimate decision will, of course, be made by the Supreme Court. Some estimate the re-location costs could run as high as $100,000,000.

PAROLE STAFF COMPLETE
 Board of Pardons and Paroles has announced the appointment of 10 new supervisors, rounding out the 40-man statewide staff.

Adult parole staff was authorized by the last Legislature to allow for release of prisoners who show promise of "going straight." About 3,000 persons are now on parole in Texas, and more are expected to be released as the new supervisors go to work.

Latest appointees to the parole staff are Louis Bramblett of Dallas, Julian Chafin of Sherman, Cecil Smith of Jourdanton, Walter Williford of Houston, Massey Herrera of Corpus Christi, Thomas Casso of El Paso, Herbert Gaemper of Lubbock, Alfredo Garcia of Austin, Terry Cromwell of Fort Worth and Charles Davis of Gold-waite.

COLLEGE FUND SEEKERS—Members of governing boards of state colleges have formed a committee to urge additional appropriations for the colleges.

Jointly the college directors feel they need about $13,000,000 a year more, mostly for faculty salaries.

Herman Heen, Austin oilman and member of the Texas A&M Board, is chairman of the committee. Said Heen, "It is time we point out that Texas, ranking low among the states in its support of higher education, is getting about what it is paying for."

The District of Columbia was named for Columbus.

TELEPHONE TALK by Clyde Dickerson, Manager

NEW TELEPHONE BUILDING

A good start has been made on McLean's new, modern dial telephone building. The foundation has all been poured and follow up work is now in progress.

In other top news concerning McLean telephone service, the cable installation is now completed.

Mrs. Cobb, chief operator, is in Mineral Wells this week attending a management seminar.

NEW CURE FOR THE BLUES

I've always heard that women have a sure cure for the blues. Go out and buy a new hat!

Well, I'm not knocking hats or anything like that, but next time you need perking up, try ordering yourself a new extension telephone—in color.

Phones now come in cherry red; moss green; pastel yellow; aqua blue; light gray; rose pink; ivory; white; and light beige. They're not expensive, either. The one-time charge for a color phone is just $10. Installation and monthly rate are exactly the same as for a standard black extension.

With a glamorous looking, step-saving, extension phone in your kitchen or bedroom, or alongside your sewing table, you'll be just a whole lot perkier.

TIPS FOR TRAVELERS

Whether you're on vacation or business, traveling by auto is a pleasant and handy way to go.

And when you're making a trip, Long Distance telephone service can be a mighty useful traveling aid.

When you start out on a long trip, for example, you can't always be sure how far you'll get by nightfall. By lunch time or early afternoon, though, it's pretty easy to decide on an overnight stopping point. And that's the time to get to a telephone and call ahead for reservations.

At the end of a long, hot drive, just knowing you have comfortable accommodations waiting is worth a lot to your peace of mind.

PANHANDLE OUTDOOR LIFE

By STARKEY WHITEHORN

September 1 at 12:00 noon marks the beginning of the 1958 mourning dove season. The season will last until October 20. The daily bag limit will be ten doves and the possession limit will be 20. Panhandle dove shooting should be far better this fall than the last few previous seasons.

Some dove hunters are of the opinion that the season should be opened at least two weeks earlier do to the usual first cool snap that arrives about the opening day of the season and causes the doves to fly south. Most of this line of thought doesn't hold water from the dove's standpoint. It is correct that we usually have a cool snap in late August or early September. It is also correct that many doves drift south with the norther but at the same time there are many doves that drift south from Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and points north. Many stay over for a few days or weeks in this part of the country.

The Panhandle of Texas, in general, will never be as good a dove hunting country as some parts of the lower plains.

State and federal laws will not change the migrating habits of the mourning dove. The hunter will have to accept the condition for what it is. Suppose the season was opened in the middle of August in the top part of the Panhandle. How many nesting doves would be killed, together with young birds in the nest that would starve?

Just for an idea of a few facts on the nesting habits of mourning doves, consider the findings of Wildlife Biologist A. S. Jackson and assistant a few years back in the Ochiltree County Cemetery. Jackson counted 12 dove nests that contained either eggs or young doves on the 10th of September. The season had been in progress ten days. What is your answer to opening the season earlier than September 1? This survey of a dove nesting area represented the general habits of this bird. Only yesterday I stopped by the cemetery three miles northeast of Gruver and found three dove nests that contained eggs. In fact, three nests were all that I found and each contained eggs that would hatch so late that the young would perish if the parent doves were shot.

If we waited until all the doves were through with their nesting activities they would all be farther south and we would have no hunting in these parts, but it seems to me that September 1 is about the most logical starting date that could be prescribed.

There has already been some illegal pre-season dove shooting in some parts of this area. For these cheaters the penalty, upon conviction, will run $25.00, plus court cost, for each bird, or more. The court cost is usually slightly over $20.00. That would add up to more than $45.00 per bird if the offender got off with the minimum. If the maximum penalty for such an offense is met out the penalty is $100.00, plus court cost.

Self-Styled Sanitary Commission Woody Pond, State Game Warden at Canyon, made me wonder recently about some of the things that he had been advocating. Pond, former county judge in Roberts County, has taken it upon himself to regulate some of the other wardens to a degree. For the past few autumns, 35 to 60 game wardens arrive from all parts of the state at Dalhart at the Casa Mia Courts and check in a day before the antelope hunt. These wardens are needed to assist with the regulated hunt.

Juge Pond, being a native of the Panhandle, has accepted the responsibility of keeping this part of the state pure when it comes to ticks. "We can't have those east Texas tick-scratchers here unless we dip them," said the warden. There isn't a dipping vat handy so Warden Pond has a hand-pumped fly sprayer ready. When an arriving east Texas Game Warden pulls into the courts he is thoroughly sprayed before he can get to the office to register.

Last Thursday morning I thought I heard a familiar voice on Anarillo TV. It was the warden dispensing some information on the seining of Buffalo Lake with a 1200 foot seine by the Texas Game and Fish Commission. Well I wouldn't have mentioned it but due to the fact that Pond has talked so about my bird dogs, I just wondered if he was strutting his right leg on account of some stray east Texas ticks or just scratched for the pleasure of it during the TV interview.

Probably there isn't a state game warden in Texas more well liked by his fellow wardens, as well as the outdoor public, than is the former County Judge who chose the outdoors to the judiciary office, much to the gain of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

The antelope hunts for the Panhandle will be October 24 through 16 and then October 17 through 19. There will be two three-day hunts for the antelope hunters in this part of the state. Hunting privileges are received by writing the Texas Game and Fish Commission and requesting an application blank for an antelope permit.

This blank should be filled out and sent to the commission where it will be placed with the others and a drawing staged. If your application is drawn, you will receive a permit which will cost $5.00. The land owners can charge for hunting antelope upon their ranches. Some do and some don't, but the ranchers who do charge usually place the fee at $25.00.

Evangelism, in the broadest sense, means any testimony borne to another by a Christian with a view to making Christ known and accepted. This witness may be borne in sermon, in song, in personal conversation, by the spoken word, or by the influence of character and conduct.

There is a shallow evangelism that would seek primarily to add numbers to the membership of a church. Then there is an evangelism that stirs the emotions and leads to outward profession, but fails to anchor to Christ and His church. Again there is a dry-eyed intellectual evangelism that presents a system of doctrine and a standard of morals, but lacks power to translate creed and ethic into life.

We need for our day a vital evangelism—the living testimony of convincing Christians that Christ is able to save and keep and make strong and useful and happy all who come to God through Him. Humanity has many needs, but deeper than any other is the need for a living Lord who can and will save "unto the uttermost." He has saved us, if so be that we are saved. And now He is saying to us who call Him Savior, "Ye shall be my witnesses."

RE-ELECT O. L. TIBBETS

To the voters of Precinct No. 4:

During the last weeks of my campaign I have tried to see each of you. However, I know I have missed some of you.

I want to again take this means to solicit your support in the election on Aug. 23.

Due to the experience I have had as your commissioner, I feel I am qualified to serve you better in the future if again elected to that office.

County Commissioner

O. L. TIBBETS

WHY SO GLUM, ANDREI?—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko has a wry expression on his face as he talks with Russian U.N. Ambassador Arkady Sobolev at New York's Idlewild Airport. Gromyko came to the United States as chief Russian delegate to the special U.N. General Assembly meeting on the Mideast crisis.

Full knowledge about Texas water resources would be the goal of a Study Commission proposed in a bill introduced in the Senate this week.

The commission would be authorized to prepare plans for the development of the water and land resources of the seven Texas river basins not now covered by interstate or international water compacts. The seven are the Neches, the Trinity, the Brazos, the Colorado, the Guadalupe-San Antonio, the San Jacinto and the Nueces.

The bill is carefully drawn to protect the sovereignty of Texas over our water resources. That is a matter of fundamental importance.

No more important problem confronts our State than proper use of our water—for municipal and industrial purposes, for farm irrigation, and for navigation. We need to build dams and little dams. We need to make more of our rivers navigable in order to provide cheap transportation for expanding industry.

We have plenty of water, even though water use in Texas has increased two and one-half times since 1940. Our trouble is not lack of water but lack of wise control, conservation and use of water. That is why 75 per cent of the people of Texas were forced to restrict, to some extent, their use of water at one time or another in the long drought that came to an end in the early part of 1957.

The study commission will be composed of 14 members appointed by the President. Six members will be appointed from Federal agencies. Seven will be residents of the areas to be studied, one from each river basin. The chairman of the commission will also be a resident of one of the river basins. Recommendations for the Texas appointments would be made by the Governor.

The commission will go out of existence within three months from the time its final report is submitted. The bill provides that the President shall transmit the report to Congress, together with his views and recommendations within 90 days after he receives it.

All phases of the Texas water problem will be studied by the commission. From its work we would expect a comprehensive and coordinated plan for flood control and prevention; domestic and municipal water supplies; improvement and safeguarding of navigation; land reclamation and irrigation; soil and forest conservation; hydroelectric power and industrial development, and other matters connected with water resource development.

Texans have gone far on their own initiative to develop the State's water resources. We have established river authorities that are doing as fine a job as any in the country. These river authorities, as well as the Governor of Texas, approve the proposal for a study commission.

I hope this vehicle for working toward a solution of the Texas water problem will be provided.

To All the Voters of Precinct 4:

I want to thank you for the wonderful support that you gave me in the primary election and I want to urge each of you to go to the polls on Saturday, Aug. 23, and vote for whichever man you prefer for commissioner. I also wish to take this way of telling you that I have made no promises in any form, if elected, except to work at all times for the good of precinct 4 and to cooperate with the other commissioners when possible. So if you see fit to elect me on August 23rd, I will do my very best in serving you.

Thank You.
