Jack D. Young has announced that he will seek election as District Judge for the 287th Judicial District of Texas, which is composed of Bailey and Parmer Counties.

Jack D. Young has held the office of District Judge since May 1, 1981, when he was appointed to such position by Governor W. P. Clements, upon the formation of the newly created 287th Judicial District.

Judge Young said, "I would like to take this means and opportunity to announce my candidacy for election as District Judge for the 287th Judicial District of Texas. The people of Bailey and Parmer Counties are entitled to a fulltime judge, qualified to fill the needs of the District Court. I believe that I possess such qualifications, and if I am continued in such office I pledge to each of you my sincerest efforts to dispense justice fairly and impartially in all matters."

1981 Building Permits Total 1,189,424 - Housing Inadequate

Information received from the Muleshoe City Hall has revealed a total construction value, including additions and alterations, of $2,189,424 during 1981 for the City of Muleshoe.

Total residential construction for 1981 amounted to $599,900 in Muleshoe with home improvements reaching to $40,900.

Construction of new businesses amounted to $425,824, while business improvements were totaled at $80,800. One building permit was issued at a value of $42,000, which was listed as tax exempt, rounding out to the total figure of $1,189,424.

Reports indicated that nine mobile homes were moved into the city during 1981.

One building was demolished.

A recent survey aimed at the housing situation in Muleshoe revealed that while there is a slight increase in the availability of purchase property, rental property is almost virtually non-existent.

Thursie Reid of Reid Real Estate reported to the Journal that the shortage of rental property here in Muleshoe was definitely a serious problem. "We get calls every day and the housing is not adequate here," Mrs. Reid said.

George Neiman told the Journal that there was a rental shortage every week with as many as six in the same amount of time wishing to rent homes. "Sales are still in relatively good shape," Neiman reported. The homes for sale in Muleshoe range from $15,000 to $80,000 and Neiman reported having several listings in all sections of town.

Joe Smallwood, another local realtor, stressed the fact that while rental housing is short, most homes are so expensive that no one is able to buy now. "The homes themselves are not so high, but due to the rate of interest being out of reach for most working people, sales property is not moving very fast." Smallwood also reported from four to eight persons in his office looking for something to rent. "More of the TOLK employees

Measurement Of Water Level Begins In County

The High Plains Water District has begun its annual program of measuring the depth to water levels in more than 900 observation wells scattered throughout the fifteen county District area.

Bailey County irrigators may see a blue and white Water District vehicle in the vicinity of their property in the coming weeks while Dan Seale of the District staff measures the 74 wells in the District's observation network in Bailey County.

Since most of the wells to be measured are operational irrigation wells, the month of January was chosen to begin observations in order to allow for a dormant period and well recovery from the cone of depression developed during the pumping season. Wells will be measured to find the depth to "static" water level. After measuring, each well will receive a red District identification tag for the owner's information.

Data gained from this program is used for decline rate projections, determining the amount of water left in storage, and very importantly, as a basis for the income-tax depletion allowance claims on landowner's tax returns.

The annual measure-

Renting Bulls Good Idea In Texas

COLLEGE STATION - In Texas, renting a bull to settle cows is an alternative to owning one, though cattlemen need to consider numerous factors before making a decision either way.

Several factors exist favoring bull leasing for the producer, according to Dr. Ashley C. Lovell of Stephenville, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

These include the tax deductible rental charge, less investment capital needed, and less annual expense in feeding and caring for the bull.

"An important factor for smaller producers is that renting gives them a chance to use a better quality bull than they often could afford to own," says Lovell. "Also, by using a different bull each year, producers can keep heifers from each calf crop, and there is a limited bull death risk."

The economist states that acquiring a herd bull has short- and long-term consequences, and these must be weighed and individually considered before deciding whether to rent or own.

Long-term satisfaction to cow-calf producers from choosing bulls is measured by the performance of the progeny through future generations, he says. Bull costs per calf and pounds of beef weaned per cow are the short-term consequences from the bull selection that may determine if the producer can stay in business long enough to realize any long-term benefits.

"To achieve the economic advantage of lower annual feeding and maintenance costs, producers might need to keep a bull only three to four months a year, which is where renting would be the ideal answer," Lovell says. "For herds that calve all year, six-month to one-year leases are necessary."

In comparing figures for three- to four-month bull leasing programs, the economist notes that leasing a $2,125 bull is projected as less expensive per calf than owning a $750 bull.

In many cases, renting a high-performing bull for periods up to one year will be more economical than owning an average bull when rental costs, bull ownership costs and performance of offspring of the two bulls are observed and compared, Lovell adds.

Texas Farmers Union Convention In Session

"Family Farms For The Future" was the theme and the topic of concern when members of the Texas Farmers Union gathered for their 1982 convention in Fort Worth on January 7-9. Delegates and members of the 10,000 member family farm organization gathered for the 78th annual convention of the Texas Farmers Union at the Kahler Green Oaks Inn for setting the annual policy and listening to important speakers.

TFU President Mike Moeller said, "At a time when a real economic crisis is facing American Agriculture, it is essential that the problems and needs of family farmers be recognized. Because of the passage of the 1981 Farm Bill in December, we feel this will be an excellent time for legitimate farmers and ranchers to air their complaints and plan a course of action for 1982."

In addition to confronting problems on the national level, state issues will also be addressed by the TFU convention delegates and members. Scheduled to speak were Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown and his challenger for the position, Jim Hightower. Both men are well known statewide and their remarks to the convention kicked off the 1982 campaign year for the agriculture commissioner's seat.

National Farmers Union President George Stone delivered the banquet address on Saturday to the convention. Stone has been outspoken in his opposition to the 1981 Farm Bill and other moves by the Reagan administration.

She carried a cascading bouquet of mixed fresh and silk flowers, featuring roses, carnations, spider mums and baby's breath, trimmed in the bride's chosen colors of pink and burgundy.

She wore the traditional blue garter. Something new was her dress, something old was her maternal grandmother's wedding band. As something borrowed, the bride wore a pearl and gold necklace borrowed from a friend, Becky Love of El Paso.

Llano Estacado Will Help Senior Citizens

Llano Estacado Civic Club held their first 1982 meeting last Tuesday night in the home of Hazel Cunningham.

Preceding the business session, co-hostesses Mrs. Cunningham and Glenna Raney served a buffet dinner to the nine members attending the meeting.

A dinner of tuna casserole, salads and chocolate pie were served.

Discussed was the recent skating held for youth in the civic center. It was reported that more than 230 youths attended the skating. At least one other skating party was planned for the near future.

Other discussions held concerned the furnishings for the senior citizens community room and the annual presentation of money to Mrs. Elizabeth Watson to be used at her discretion to help needy school students.

Members voted not to have the annual Easter Wardrobe project this year and will concentrate on projects which will make more money for the club to use for their various civic projects.

In the absence of president Loyce Davis, the vice president, Jessie Robinson conducted the meeting.

Other members present included Hazel Cunningham, Glenna Raney, Betty Carpenter, Dolores Harvey, Anita Lobaugh, Betty Hopper and Clea Williams.

Southwestern Public Service Elects New Executives

Southwestern Public Service Company's board of directors today elected Berl M. Springer as chairman and chief executive officers. Bert Ballengee was named president and chief operating officer.
 Springer succeeds Roy Tolk, who will remain as a member of the company's board. Prior to his promotion, Springer had served as president since 1976 and was named chief executive officer in early 1981. Ballengee had served as executive vice president since 1979.

Southwestern Public Service primarily provides electric utility service to a population of more than 1 million in a 45,000-square-mile area of the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas, eastern and southeastern New Mexico, the Oklahoma Panhandle and southwestern Kansas.
 Springer is a Memphis, Texas, native and industrial engineering graduate of Texas Tech University. He started his SPS career as a draftsman in 1948. He later became a statician-engineer, rate engineer, and rate manager, before being elected vice president of rates and budgets in 1969. He was named executive vice president in 1972, and joined the board of directors in 1974.
 Springer has been active in many civic and business affairs and has served as president of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, co-chairman of the United Way, member of the President's Council at West Texas State University and at Texas Tech University, and a director of the National Food and Energy Council.
 Springer received the "Distinguished Engineer" award from Texas Tech in 1975.
 An Amarillo native, Ballengee earned a business administration degree at the University of Texas, and began work at Southwestern as an accounting department clerk in 1949. In 1951, he was advanced to chief clerk, and was appointed personnel manager in 1957. With the acquisition of the company's first data processing capability in 1961, Ballengee became Southwestern's first director of data processing. He was named director of finance in 1972, and assumed the responsibilities of financial vice president in 1973.

 Ballengee's activities in community and business affairs have included: executive board member of the Boy Scouts of America and of the Amarillo United Way, member of Amarillo Community Council, and the administrative board of the Polk Street Methodist Church. He was elected to the First National Bank of Amarillo board of directors in November, 1981.
 Also in its meeting, after the annual shareholders meeting today at the firm's headquarters in Amarillo, Texas, the board declared a regular quarterly dividend of 37½ cents per share on the Company's common stock and regular quarterly dividends on all series of preferred stock.

 The common stock dividend is payable March 1, 1982, to holders of record at the close of business on February 16, 1982. The preferred stock dividends are payable May 31, 1982 to holders of record at the close of business on April 20, 1982.

Excise Tax Lowered On GTE

SAN ANGELO-----Telephone users throughout the country got at least one gift for Christmas that isn't the wrong size or wrong color.
 On Jan. 1, 1982, the federal excise tax on telephone service dropped from two percent to one percent.

Nationwide, the one percent reduction should save telephone customers approximately $516 million according to estimates by the U. S. Independent Telephone Association.

The tax was imposed by Congress as a 'temporary' measure during World War II. Congress voted in 1970 to gradually eliminate the tax, reducing it one percent per year beginning in 1973 and continuing until 1982 when the tax would be eliminated.

However, the Fiscal Year 1981 Budget Reconciliation Bill, signed by former President Jimmy Carter on Dec. 5, 1980, contained a provision maintaining the excise tax on telephone and typewriter service at the two percent level during 1980. And this year's tax bill further postpones the phase out, keeping the tax at one percent until Jan. 1, 1985.

Information For Veterans

A Veterans Administrative rehabilitative engineering researcher, David L. Jaffe, has received national recognition for the development of the "Smart Wheelchair" -- a chair that avoids obstacles by ultrasonic radar.

Jaffe, an engineer at the VA's Palo Alto, Calif., Rehabilitative Engineering and Development Center, supervised the VA-funded project designed by five graduate mechanical engineering students at California's Stanford University.

The "Smart Wheelchair" was a regional winner and a national finalist in the Johns Hopkins University First National Search for Personal Computers to Aid the Handicapped, sponsored by the National Science Foundation and the Tandy Company. The award came as the VA concluded spearheading the 1981-International Year of Disabled Persons among federal agencies.

The new chair will enable quadriplegics to more efficiently maneuver an electric wheelchair. The "Smart" model uses Polaroid ultrasonic sensor technology -- a sensor on the camera provides the proper subject-to-camera distance required for focusing. Two sensors that triangulate the user's head position are mounted on the wheelchair. The information from the sensors is then used to control the chair's movement or direction. Other features of the chair include obstacle detection, wall-following and cruise control.

Research is continuing at the VA Center on the "Smart Wheelchair", and a marketable demonstration chair is expected to be available this winter. The researchers hope to produce a chair that won't add more than $500 to the total cost of a conventional electric wheelchair.

Jaffe joined the VA as a biomedical engineering assistant section chief at the Hines, Ill., Medical Center in 1974. Since 1979, he has been a biomedical engineer at the Palo Alto Center, since in average dividends.

Nearly 192,100 Texas veterans who have kept their GI life insurance policies in force will share in a record $664.6 million dividend during 1982.

The Texas dividends will total more than $34.3 million, according to the Veterans Administration.

Because of higher interest rates earned by insurance funds, the amount to be paid to policyholders during 1982 is $45 million above the 1981 figure.

No application is needed. Dividends will be paid automatically during 1982 on the anniversary date of the individual's insurance policy.

Policyholders will receive varying amounts depending on the type of policy, the amount of insurance in force, the insured's age at issue or renewal and time the policy has been in force.

Nationally, almost $24 million will be paid to 78,000 World War I veterans with current policies. The average dividend for term policyholders will be $307 and for permanent plan policyholders, $363.

Some 3,124,000 World War II veterans with active policies will share $590 million. Average dividend for term policyholders will be $121. For permanent plan policyholders the average dividend will be $246 and modified life plan policyholders will receive an average of $116.

Korean Conflict veterans who kept their GI insurance in force -- a total of 496,000 -- will receive an average payment of $71. Their policies earned $35 million during the past year.

More than 161,000 disabled veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict holding Veterans Special Life Insurance Policies will receive an average dividend of $97. This is only the third year dividends will be paid in this program.

A greater share of the higher interest rates was earned by those veterans who converted their insurance plans to permanent type policies rather than continuing to hold the original term policies.

Each of the four participating insurance program funds are a separate entity, accounting for the differ-

Ralston Purina Will Award Scholarships

During the next school year, 69 outstanding upperclassmen in colleges of agriculture located throughout North America and in Puerto Rico will again be completing their undergraduate work with the assistance of the Ralston Purina Scholarship Program.

The $750 Ralston Purina Scholarship is awarded to one deserving incoming junior or senior at 65 state universities and land grant colleges. It is also awarded in three Canadian agricultural colleges and in one college in Puerto Rico.

The student selected to receive the Scholarship is recommended by a Scholarship committee consisting of faculty members of the college. The faculty committee chooses the recipient on the basis of his scholastic record, participation in campus affairs, and eligibility for financial assistance.

This will be the 28th year of the Ralston Purina Scholarships. During the first twenty-seven years, the program has helped 1,607 students finish their college undergraduate work.

Letters are now being sent by Ralston Purina Company to all eligible colleges offering the 1982-83 scholarships, according to an announcement made by George H. Kyd, Division Vice President and Director of Public Relations.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Dear editor:

Sometimes it looks like U. S. foreign policy is designed to teach a lesson to every country except ours.

For example, two years ago we shut off grain sales to Russia when she invaded Afghanistan and it sure taught her a lesson. It taught her that if she couldn't buy grain from American farmers she could buy it from Canada, Argentina, etc.

Now Washington is going to cut off caterpillar tractors, drill bits and a lot of technical stuff because of Russia's hand in Poland. Other countries are grinning and rubbing their hands.

One group that probably wishes something else had been cut off a lot earlier is some big city banks. They've loaned the Communist government of Poland millions of dollars and can't get it back. Can't even collect the interest.

In fact, the Polish government has asked for $350 million more in loans to pay off the interest. I don't know if the banks will be interested, but if they are I'd like to get in touch with them. If a person could borrow money, then borrow more to pay the interest every time it comes due, he could live comfortably the rest of his life, although from the looks of things Poland wouldn't be the place to do it in.

If banks won't go for this, I have hit on another idea you might say is up on the international financial level.

As I understand it, the economy is sagging because people aren't buying and the reason they aren't buying is they're short of cash. There's a remedy for this, provided the Post Office understands international finances.

Say you'd like to help get the car industry back on its feet by buying a new car but don't have the down payment. Go to the Post Office and buy a money order equal to the down payment and drive off in the model of your choice. Rut, and here's the revolutionary new idea, buy the money order on the installment plan at $2 a week from now on.

Thus for a few dollars you can buy a new car and get the economy booming. If you don't have a few dollars, embargo grain and caterpillar tractors to Russia and maybe they'll do it.

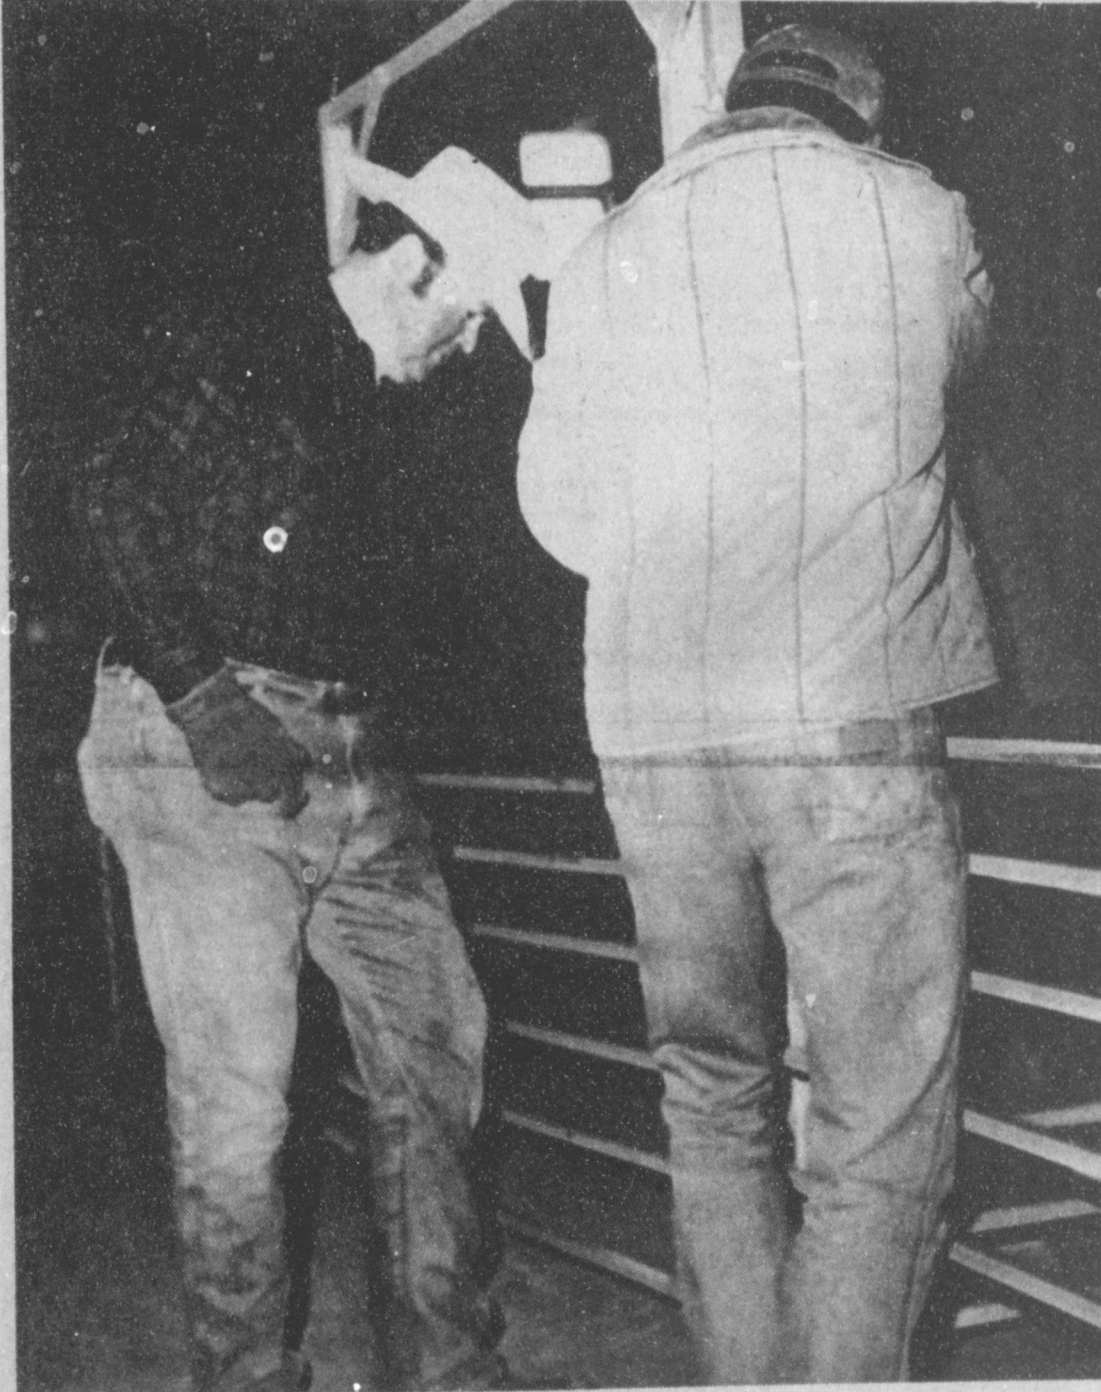

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Telecommunication—unique program

at Texas A&M

COLLEGE STATION — Engineering technology students at Texas A&M University learn about the $100 billion-a-year telecommunications industry in what is believed to be the only program in the nation for undergraduates.

In the program, developed by Professor Bill Edwards, the students are taught subjects ranging from the telephone and PABX (Private Automatic Branch Exchange) switch technology to microwave transmission and satellite communications.

"Our program was established primarily in response to a need from industry," Edwards said. "People in industry had been hiring electrical engineers and retraining them. We are offering a unique student with an engineering systems management viewpoint."

Historian interviews 40 Aggie generals

COLLEGE STATION — Wartime experiences of 40 retired Aggie generals are being recorded at Texas A&M.

"No one can doubt that these generals played a significant role in the history of the military and the nation," says Dr. Terry Anderson, a Texas A&M historian interviewing the men. The project, entitled "Aggies to Generals," is funded by the university's Association of Former Students.

"The project will examine the former students' roles and responsibilities in combat, duties at military installations or at the Pentagon, roles as consultants with national leaders on defense problems, and also their experiences at the university," said Anderson.

ATTEND THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

Man has been seeking the answer to many questions since the beginning of time. Volumes of books, and encyclopedias have been filled with facts in answer to this quest for knowledge. Even with all of this wealth of information, there is much to be learned, and man will never know all of the answers. However in spiritual matters, God has provided us with a book, filled with valuable information. This book is man's guide to his relationship with God. For a better understanding of God's word and his will for your life attend church, so that others may help you in this search.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Basic Care Knowledge Required Of Pet Owners

Many households in Texas received a new puppy or kitten for Christmas, and have already discovered what a great pleasure and joy can be found in owning these cuddly, playful pets. Along with the pleasure of a new pet, comes the responsibility for its proper care.

"New pet owners need to be aware of the basic care required to keep their puppy or kitten healthy," said Dr. Ben Johnston, president of the Texas Veterinary Medical Association (TVMA).

It is important that an animal have good living conditions: adequate shelter; exercise and fresh air; lots of water and a balanced diet.

Johnston advises feeding your dog or cat only a good commercial pet food, or a diet recommended by your veterinarian. People food is for people, and pets require a diet balanced for their needs, he said.

Your puppy or kitten should also be kept free of external parasites such as fleas.

A new pet owner should select a veterinarian and take their puppy or kitten in for examination and immunizations.

Six weeks is the usual age for both puppies and kittens to begin the immunizations needed to protect them against the major infectious diseases.

Distemper, hepatitis, parainfluenza, leptospirosis and parvovirus are the inoculations required for the young puppy. Keep in mind that a series of inoculations, including annual boosters, is necessary to insure the good health of both dogs and cats.

Kittens should receive vaccinations for distemper, rhinotracheitis and calicivirus (respiratory disease).

Heartworms are an increasing problem in Texas, so you should ask your veterinarian about heartworm prevention.

A rabies vaccination is needed when your pet is three to four months old. It is given at a later age because younger puppies and kittens are not old enough to build effective resistance or immunity to the disease, said Johnston, a Houston veterinarian. By the time the family pet is six months old, owners should consider neutering. Pet overpopulation is a growing public health concern, and responsible animal lovers should think about spaying or neutering their pet. Give your new pet its best chance for a healthy life by taking proper care from the start.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The Texas Senate redistricting plan has survived its first major challenge with State District Judge Herman Jones rejecting arguments by a group of leading Republicans that the reapportionment plan was drafted on the wrong basis.

Jones upheld the plan, drawn by the Legislative Redistricting Board, stating he wasn't convinced it violated either the state or federal constitutions.

State GOP Chairman Chester R. Upham and six other Republicans challenged the Senate map on grounds the state constitution required that districts be drawn on the basis of "qualified electors" rather than a strict population count, as used by the LRB.

Attorneys for the state, however, argued that the LRB couldn't ignore a 1965 federal court ruling they felt invalidated the Texas constitutional provision.

But the Senate plan isn't in the clear yet. The Republicans still can appeal Jones' decision, and the plan still faces a federal court challenge—along with the House plan—before a three-judge panel in Dallas.

Liability Insurance Law

The state's new mandatory liability insurance law went into effect at the first of the year, and the automobile insurance business reportedly is booming as uninsured drivers scramble to get coverage before being slapped with a $200 fine.

Under the law, drivers can be ticketed if they don't carry proof of liability coverage in their cars.

More than a million Texas motorists are uninsured, and the required coverage could cost each of them up to several hundred dollars annually, depending on where they live and past driving records.

Those who don't have insurance yet, or haven't received a document showing proof of insurance from their insurance companies, shouldn't panic yet. The Department of Public Safety says its officers won't start ticketing drivers without that proof for another couple of months.

Police in some cities, however, are enforcing the law strictly, with some 300 drivers ticketed in Dallas during the first week of the year.

Drivers caught without insurance more than once may face fines up to $1,000 and jail terms.

Political Campaigns

The 1982 political races continue to take shape, with more and more of the potential, but previously undecided, candidates either jumping in or dropping out of the contests.

West Texas State University President Max Sherman has added his name to the list of candidates for attorney general. He will face former U.S. Attorney John Hannah for the Democratic nomination.

Sherman, a former state senator, entered the race as Secretary of State David Dean was bowing out of a GOP bid for that position.

Dean says he doesn't feel he can abandon his post as the state's top election official with the primary election only a few months away.

Meanwhile, a Richardson appliance salesman became the first candidate to pay his filing fee in the governor's race.

David L. Young became the first official candidate in that contest by paying the $1,500 filing fee to enter the Democratic primary. He will challenge Tyler Sen. Peyton McKnight, Attorney General Mark White and Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Young quit his job selling appliances at Montgomery Ward to make the race, and he plans to run a low budget campaign—not more than $10,000.

The other candidates have indicated they will spend between $2 million and $5 million for the chance to take on incumbent Republican Gov. Bill Clements in the general election in November.

Opposition Voiced On Soil And Water Conservation Proposals

Jim Hightower, Democratic candidate for Texas Agriculture Commissioner, said today that "Our government officials are fiddling, while a major farm depression is sweeping Texas like a prairie fire."

Hightower, who was guest speaker at the Texas Farmers Union annual convention, said that "the family farmers of this state are in the worst financial shape that they have been in since 1933, and the situation is well out of control. That's bad news not only for farmers and rural people, but for all of us, because the family farm is the backbone of our entrepreneurial system and the only competitive force that stands between consumers and monopoly control of our food supply."

"The latest economic figures from the Department of Agriculture, Texas A&M, the Federal Reserve Bank and other sources confirm what farmers already know -- the farm economy is going bankrupt," Hightower said. He pointed out that:

- * The net income of farmers has plummeted for three years in a row, falling by 36 percent from 1979 to 1981, and USDA forecast predict farm income may drop another 15 percent to 30 percent during 1982.

- * The price of every crop was down in 1981, causing the parity index of farm prices to be at the lowest levels since the Great Depression.

- * Farm production costs, however, continue to rise, jumping by more than 21 percent since 1979.

- * In 1981, according to Texas A&M, the average cost of producing every major crop exceeded the average price that farmers were paid for them. -- In fact, for the first time ever, farmers paid more in interest than they received in net income.

- * As a result, the debt owed by farmers rose from $140 billion in 1979 to $200 billion at the end of 1981, and if nothing is done to correct these economic trends, the farm debt is forecast to hit $500 billion by 1985.

- * The average farmer's return on investment fell from a low 8 percent in 1979 to 9 percent in 1980, and is forecast to be even lower in 1981 (By way of contrast, the major bank holding companies in Texas averaged more than 20 percent return on investment, oil companies averaged 20.3 percent and major food processors averaged 16.1 percent).

"These farmers have just produced some of the largest crops ever to come out of Texas land, and their reward is to stare bankruptcy in the face. In 1979 and 1980, more than 4,000 good Texas farmers folded, and another 4,000 could go under as a result of 1981's disastrous prices--the Production Credit Association office in Lubbock expects that some 20 percent of its farm borrowers will be 'dropped' this year because they can't pay their debts," Hightower said.

January 15 Is Arbor Day

COLLEGE STATION---Jan. 15 is an important day for every Texas citizen -- it's Arbor Day.

Arbor Day is a day set aside each year to remember one of our most valuable resources -- the tree, says Ted Fisher of Austin, Travis County horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Arbor Day began in Nebraska on April 10, 1972, and is now observed across the country during the month of April. However, Texas Arbor Day was set for the third Friday in January by the Texas Legislature in 1949 because January is an ideal time for planting trees.

As to the importance of trees, Fisher cites a number of contributions.

"In addition to providing lumber and paper, trees also purify and beautify," he says. "They cleanse the air we breathe by absorbing carbon dioxide and returning oxygen to the air. They cool and humidify the air, reduce soil erosion, beautify our neighborhoods and communities, provide cover for fowl and wildlife, and offer a natural challenge for youthful climbers."

"Bearing all these things in mind, trees actually work overtime to make our world a nicer place," says Fisher.

Planting a tree in the home landscape can be a family project while schools and other groups can be involved in tree planting at community parks and playgrounds.

"Nurseries usually have a good supply of different kinds of trees available this time of year," notes the horticulturist. There are shade, fruit and nut trees adapted to different areas of Texas that can be admired for generations to come if they are planted now and cared for properly.

"Many of the trees we enjoy today exist because those that came before us cared enough to leave something lasting for future generations," contends Fisher.

"We can do the same by planting a tree on Arbor Day, Jan. 15."

Texas Will Still Have Two Area Brucellosis Program

Commissioners of the Texas Animal Health Commission took action recently which will allow Texas to continue its two area brucellosis program.

They requested the U. S. Department of Agriculture to reclassify the present brucellosis control areas of this state. The present Class A control area (generally the western half of the state) would become Class B area, and the present Class B control area (generally the eastern half of the state) would become Class C. There would be 140 counties in the proposed Class B area and 114 counties in the proposed Class C area.

"We are taking this action today so that the Texas livestock producers will be aware of impending changes as soon as possible," John B. Armstrong, Kingsville, chairman, Texas Animal Health Commission, said.

New federal regulations are expected to be in place not later than the end of this month. Even then, however, it will take additional time to fully implement them.

"Until the new regulations are in effect, Texas producers should continue to operate under the present Texas brucellosis program," Dr. John W. Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission, said.

Dr. Holcombe said it may be early Spring before the new rules will apply in
