Water Struggles

State Board of Water Engineers has completed public hearing on one squabble over Trinity River water and is faced with another soon.

Probably as a result of the recent drought there seems to be an increasing intensity in the struggles between various areas of Texas for water rights.

In the case of a major river like the Trinity, which passes through or near three major cities—Fort Worth, Dallas and Houston—there's always a fear that one city will take out so much water another will run dry.

Water board has under consideration now Dallas' request for a permit to build Forney Dam on the East Fork of the Trinity. There was strong opposition from the North Texas Municipal Water District, particularly Rockwall County, on the grounds that the dam would secure Dallas' water future at the expense of north county neighbors.

In the making is another wrangle over Houston's request to build a reservoir at Livingston. Houston wants to divert 1,100,000 gallons daily to the reservoir—practically all the unappropriated water from the Trinity. Dallas is attempting to organize upper Trinity towns and cities—including Fort Worth—to oppose the plan.

Welfare Program

Texas Social Welfare Association at its meeting in Austin asked the next Legislature to:

1. Pass laws putting into effect the new constitutional amendment permitting medical aid for the aged, disabled, and dependent.

2. Overhaul laws dealing with delinquent, dependent and neglected children.

3. Appropriate money to the Texas Youth Council for more staffers, including parole supervisors for juveniles.

4. Pass a minimum standard hospital licensing law.

Association also passed a resolution praising State Welfare Dept. Director John Winters and presented its Distinguished Service Award to Miss Ima Hogg of Houston (daughter of the late Gov. James Hogg) for her generosity on behalf of mental health work.

Mechanics License Law

Next Legislature will be asked to decide whether to require auto mechanics to have a license before monkeying around under the hood of your car.

Texas Independent Garagemen's Association has voted to work for such a law.

Under the association's proposal all independent auto repair shops, all authorized car dealers' shops and all mechanics would be examined and licensed under a state board. Purpose, say the garagemen, is to protect the public from those who pad bills and do little, if anything, for cars.

Savings & Loan Change

An attempt will be made next session to patch up the savings and loan association law after a part of it was declared unconstitutional.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson held unconstitutional the law which provides for automatic cancellation of a savings and loan association's certificate to do business if it fails to start operations within six months after the certificate is granted. Wilson ruled this violates the constitutional guarantee against being deprived of life or

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS

Higher pay for Legislators

Higher pay for legislators is an issue that's buried, but not dead.

Voters buried it under a two-to-one avalanche of disapproval when it was submitted as a constitutional amendment Nov. 4. But already there is talk of trying again.

It is being discussed both by those who supported amendment 1 and those who fought hardest against it. Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo, leading spokesman for the opposition, has indicated he may submit a pay raise plan of his own next session. Hardeman attacked the recent proposal, not on the principle of better pay for lawmakers, but on the grounds that the amendment was a muddled conglomeration of too many things.

State AFL-CIO, which worked for re-submission of the annual pay question. AFL-CIO headquarters officials sent a letter to legislators expressing regret that the amendment did not pass and placing the blame on labor's favorite targets—business lobbyists and newspapers.

Whatever the merits of the case, a lot of people in the state agencies in Austin are glum about the prospect of facing a disgruntled, pinch-penny Legislature next year. With the general revenue fund in the red, there's bound to be an effort to cut expenses. In addition, state employees fear,

Homemade Chocolate Candy Is Tempting Gift

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

Nearly everybody likes to receive homemade chocolate candies—particularly when they are brightly and cleverly packaged. Here are recipes using semi-sweet chocolate morsels, ideal for delicious and attractive-looking candies.

EASY HOLIDAY FUDGE

(Basic recipe. About 1 1/4 pounds)

Two 6-ounce or one 12-ounce jumbo package (2 cups) semi-sweet chocolate morsels, 1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk, 1 tablespoon water, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Melt semi-sweet chocolate morsels over hot—not boiling—water. Remove from heat. Combine condensed milk, water and vanilla. Add to chocolate; stir until smooth and satiny. Do not beat.

Spread in greased, 10x5x3-inch pan, or drop by teaspoonfuls on waxed paper-lined cookie sheet. Chill until firm.

VARIATIONS

Fudge Rounds: Chill until firm enough to handle. Form in balls. Roll in sugar, either plain or flavored with cinnamon or quick chocolate flavored mix.

Sugar Plums: Chill until firm enough to handle. Form in balls. Insert a blanched almond in each "plum," wide-end up.

NUT-MALLOW FUDGE

(About 1 1/4 pounds)

Three-quarters pound (48) marshmallows, 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1 tablespoon water, 1/2 teaspoon salt, one 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup chopped nuts (optional). Combine marshmallows, butter or margarine, water and salt. Bring to boil over medium heat, stirring constantly, stirring constantly. Remove from heat.

Christmas gifts of mouth-watering, homemade chocolate candies take on added attractiveness with clever packaging.

Boil one minute, stirring constantly. Add semi-sweet chocolate morsels, vanilla and nuts; stir until smooth.

Pour into greased pan, 10x5x3 inches. Chill until firm.

Suggestions for packaging: Use a decorative skillet that will make a wall plaque later; a "dustpan" that is really a wall plant holder; fill a divided dish, and a handsome basket with your confections, swathed in cellophane.

Editorial

WHERE A "NEW LOOK" IS NEEDED

It's significant that increasing numbers of top men in government, no less than in industry, recognize the urgent need for performing major surgery on the federal tax structure. This involves an honest "new look" at our whole tax system, with a view to making fundamental changes that will produce adequate revenue for the government with the least damage to the economic system from which we all live.

Vice President Nixon and Cabinet Members Summerfield, Weeks and Mitchell are among those who take this view. Mr. Nixon emphasizes that the goal should be "a tax structure which creates more jobs, more income and more genuine security." Postmaster General Summerfield holds that "lowered tax rates would be more than compensated for in the revenue increase they would precipitate." Secretary of Commerce Weeks, in recommending a uniform manufacturers' excise tax along with income tax revision expresses the conviction that we must have a better balanced tax system, and that our present system is too vulnerable to ups and downs in the economy.

Old and obsolete shibboleths—such as the "tax the rich" idea—still dominate too much of the thinking on taxation. The existing tax system plainly discourages economic growth—and economic growth is the only thing that can provide more jobs and better jobs for this fast-growing population of ours.

THE BAD OUTWEIGHED THE GOOD

The labor reform bill which failed to pass the House at the last session did so for the soundest of reasons. Its good features were outweighed by the bad. It did not go anywhere near the heart of today's labor problem. It also would have imposed confusing restrictions on employers for which there is neither need nor justification.

Moreover, had the bill been enacted into law, multitudes of people would have naturally believed that the job was done and all would now be well. This would have made the task of obtaining really fair and effective labor legislation far more difficult.

That kind of legislation, whether on the federal or state level, or both, must accomplish several things. It must bring the labor organizations within the scope of the anti-trust laws that apply to all other organizations. It must curb use of the secondary boycott, employed by unions against firms which have no connection whatsoever with labor disputes. It must protect both employer and employees against the indefensible technique of blackmail picketing. And it must ban compulsory union membership by asserting the right-to-work principle.

Until these steps are taken, we will have no labor laws worthy of the name.

$1.6 BILLION OF TAX EVASION

Government in business is socialism, and that's the long and short of the matter. A good many people seem to dislike using the word, but it's the only one that gives a frank and true description.

This country, it's safe to say, has gone much farther along the socialistic road than most of its citizens realize. J. E. Corette, head of the Edison Electric Institute, has been making a series of highly informative talks on the subject in various parts of the country. He points out that there are more than 70 active government corporations whose assets mushroomed from $24 billion as recently as 1948 to $89.8 billion in 1957. And here he says: "Where the government-operated business is in direct competition with a privately-owned tax-paying business, it ultimately destroys the taxpayer. In spite of greater efficiency, and economy of private business, it cannot survive against tax-free, interest-free competition which does not have to make a profit or worry about the source of new money."

The outstanding example of tax evasion is found in the government's electric power systems. According to Mr. Corette, these, along with cooperatives, escape more than $1.6 billion in taxes yearly. This is only slightly less than the $1.8 billion which investor-owned utilities pay in taxes. "It is clear," Corette says, "that a tax escape of this magnitude severely impairs the nation's tax structure and adds heavily to the taxes paid by the remaining business and other taxpayers."

If we ever needed increased tax revenues, we need them now, in this deficit-plagued era. And the fair and logical way to get them is to put government business on the same tax footing as private business.

Congressman Rogers Reports—

TO THE PEOPLE

ACCIDENTS

The United States Public Health Service recently published a survey delineating the principal types of accidents from all causes in the United States. The definition of the word itself implies the unexpected or unintentional. Most of us have, from childhood, been taught to prepare for the unexpected, and some of the statistics in this recent survey would certainly bear out the wisdom of that teaching. Accidents resulting in fatalities in 1957 totalled 97,350. The greatest killer by far is the motor vehicle accident, which accounts for some 40% of all accidental fatalities. Home accidents claim 20%, and all other accidents are responsible for some 32%. One of my recent newsletters dealt with the all-important subject of traffic safety promotion. The following information might be helpful in the avoidance of, and preparation for, some common but frightening causes of accidents.

In 1956, 1,422 people died from accidental poisoning, of which almost 90% were children five years or under. Medications, especially aspirin, but also barbiturates, laxatives, tranquilizers, antihistamines, iron pills and many other over-the-counter and prescription drugs are accidentally swallowed most frequently. Pesticides, kerosene and related products, and household preparations such as bleach, soaps and detergents are frequently taken internally also. In the overwhelming majority of instances, the substances were not properly stored out of the reach of pre-school children.

The survey states it has been shown positively that alcohol is an accompaniment of accidents and deaths on the highways far in excess of the numbers expected. Psychologically, it produces effects which are still not completely known, but does show clear deficiencies of skill with even small amounts in the blood. Far more important, however, is the lack of recognition by the average driver of such ill-effects. In addition, there are probably dangerous chances, also unrecogand explosions for 5,347; mechanical suffocation for 1,222; poisons, liquid or solid, for 1,207; fire-arms accidents for 1,067; and poisonous gases for 839. More than 80% of falls in the home occurred to persons over 65. Because of their relative helplessness, young children and aged persons were frequent fire victims. It is estimated that at least 20 million are injured in the home annually. In other words, each year approximately one person in eight in the United States is disabled one or more days by injuries received in home accidents.

In farm areas, careless storage and use of petroleum products for cooking, heating and tractor fuel is the cause of many severe burns. In 1956 there were 1,200 accidental deaths caused by poisonous gases and vapors, 90% of these contributed to carbon monoxide. Mortality figures only partially indicate the extent of carbon monoxide poisoning among the population.

Despite increased distribution and consumption of electricity, the death rate of electrical accidents has decreased over the past 25 years. Nevertheless, such accidents take about 1,600 lives annually and account for a considerably higher number of burn and shock injuries. The hazards of low voltage accidents are frequently overlooked, as evidenced by an increasing number of fatal electrical accidents in and around the home.

It is not wishful thinking, I believe, to suppose that these statistics could be sharply reduced, since the majority of accidents can be prevented with elementary precautionary measures. To paraphrase an old axiom—"Eternal caution is the price of safety."

Bible Comment:

Prophets Were Realistic Idealists

The prophets of Israel were both realists and idealists. They were realists in the fact that they lived intensely in their immediate environment and in their world.

They were saintly men and women, but they were not hermit saints who had withdrawn from life.

They knew the life around them. They saw clearly the evil in those who refused to recognize God's call and God's way.

They perceived clearly the social injustice and oppression of the strong against the weak and of the unjust against the worthy and innocent.

And they saw how the mass of evil in individual living corrupted and perverted the souls of nations.

Their indictments were detailed and specific, and they did not hesitate to denounce evil. Their loyalty to their God was above their loyalty to the state or its king.

It is their realism that is the marvel of the Hebrew prophecies, as it is of the Bible as a whole.

But the prophets were idealists, too. Over and against the evil, they portrayed the realities of the good life, the soundness of personal righteousness and trust in God.

They saw the vision of a commonwealth established in a people accepting God's choice and God's call.

Their goals, though not yet attained, mark the hope toward which Christianity aims.

Q—What is this new boost in the total disability income provision on GI insurance I've been hearing about? I already have this disability coverage under the old ceiling that allowed me up to $50 a month, if totally disabled. Has it been raised?

A—Yes. A new law increased the total disability payments to up to $100 a month. If you wish, you may obtain the added coverage for a small additional premium.

Q—I am in training under the Korean GI bill, but I want to change my course. Would I be eligible for VA vocational counseling to help me choose a new course suited to my aptitudes? I have never changed courses.

A—Yes. In filling out your application for a change of course, indicate you want vocational counseling. VA will schedule an appointment for you.

Veterans Information

Q—Can a veteran receiving compensation for a 10% service-connected disability get extra money from the VA because of dependents?

A—No. The law does NOT authorize payments for dependents of veterans whose service-connected disabilities are found to be less than 50% in degree.

Q—I let my World War II GI term insurance lapse right after the close of the war. A friend now tells me he thinks some law was passed last summer which would entitle me to get back my lost insurance. Is this a fact?

A—No. Your friend is doubtless thinking of an amendment in a bill which would have provided for a general re-opening of World War II GI insurance. The bill carrying this amendment, however, was changed to eliminate the re-opening provision. There is no law permitting re-opening of expired GI insurance.

Trinity Lutheran Church, Pakan

What is greatness? Who is a great person? There are some people who think that when they command the lives of other people they are great. For many greatness lies in ruling and commanding—in telling others to carry out their wishes and desires. To be really great some people feel that all the world should "bow the knee" as they approach—that "all sheaves should bow to their sheaf" and pay homage.

But Jesus paints a different picture of greatness. When He speaks of greatness, greatness in His Kingdom, He says, "Whosoever will be great among you, let him be your minister, and whosoever will be chief among you let him be your servant." Thus the Lord draws a sharp distinction between earthly and heavenly greatness. To achieve greatness in His Kingdom a person must follow His example. If you want to be great—great in the Church—then serve the Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of the Eternal God and only Savior of the world.

Jesus has given us the perfect example to follow. He attained greatness by serving. He Himself states, "The Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many." Let us follow the directives He has given. As His disciples, let us serve one another. By our service to our fellow Christians let us strive for greatness in His Kingdom. Let us strive for greatness by serving those who are not yet His followers. The service we render in His name is the key to spiritual greatness. The more a person does for the Church, which really belongs to Jesus Christ, the greater he becomes. Greatness in the Church is not telling others what to do and how to do it, but in doing it ourselves. St. Paul says, "As we therefore have opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith."

The ability to serve this way comes from a true love for the Savior and from a deep love for our fellowmen, who also have been redeemed by the blood of Jesus Christ. Whatever is done for the Living Lord will remain to the end of time. Any service performed in His name for our fellowmen will receive His blessing. "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." Whatever you do for the Lord as a Christian and in His name has lasting value. When you really love Jesus as you ought, when you love people as He does, then you will be anxious to serve them. In that kind of service you will become great. And this is the greatness that counts, greatness in His Kingdom.

Olive Henry Cole Dies

Mrs. Olive Henry Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Henry, was born December 18, 1886, near Waco. She was married to Mr. R. E. Cole Nov. 14, 1914. Since that time they have made their home in Sudan, N. M.

She was converted at the age of thirteen years at Mt. Pleasant, Okla., and joined the Methodist church. Since her conversion she has lived a consistent Christian life. She was a dutiful daughter and loving wife. To know her was to love her.

On the morning of the 17th she quietly passed out of this life.

Thanksgiving Dinner

The News family gladly accepted an invitation to partake of a Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Biggers.

It was a kinfolks affair, only a few guests outside the family were present. The dinner was prepared by Mesdames Biggers, Jones, Jack Hodges, Sam Hodges and Grandma Hodges. We could not sample all of the good eats that graced the table, for it fairly groaned under its burden, but we will say that all present did ample justice to the dinner and enjoyed the hospitality of these good people to the utmost.

 Texas regulatory agencies cannot set rates for railroads, truck lines, etc., carrying goods and personnel for the federal government in Texas.

This ruling by the Texas Supreme Court was made in a test case brought by the Texas and Pacific Railroad and others. It had been knocking around in the courts for some years. Former Atty Gen. John Ben Sheppard had ruled that the Texas Railroad Commission did have authority to set rates for transportation entirely within the state's borders.

The ruling was based on a decision by the U. S. Supreme Court in a California case of the same type.

 Court of Criminal Appeals insists the evidence has to be 100 percent proof to convict a man of manufacturing an "illicit beverage." Appeals court threw out the conviction of a Lamar County man who had pled guilty to a charge of "possessing a still to manufacture intoxicating liquor." Majority opinion said, in effect, that the law prohibits possession of a still to make "illicit beverages," but that illicit beverages and "intoxicating beverages" are not necessarily the same.

The urban or "city" 4-H Club is no longer an exception in Extension work, according to statistics released by the USDA. The number of 4-H'ers living in urban areas has increased more than 28 percent since 1954. Country cousins are fast becoming city folks, while the distinction between farm and city boys and girls is virtually non-existent.

Proof of these changing times and people can be found during the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago where approximately 1,300 youth assemble annually. The date this year is Nov. 29 to Dec. 4.

These future citizens come from all parts of the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. All are members of local 4-H clubs, and all have achieved top state rating in a specific 4-H award program. They represent the 2,290,000 rural and urban 4-H'ers who continually strive to "make the best better." Those who are selected each year by the State 4-H office to attend the National Congress, have accomplished just that.

Many business firms and private citizens cooperate with the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work and the Extension Service to make the Congress possible. Not only are the trips paid for, but other valuable awards are provided for state and county 4-H winners. College scholarships will be presented to 200 national champions. Among the 4-H award donors are: Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen, Chicago; Standard Brands Inc., Arcadian Products Dept. of Allied Chemical Corp., American Forest Products Industries, Wm. Wrigley Jr. Co., Pure Oil Co., Homelite, a Division of Testrol, Inc., Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., Armour & Co., Santa Fe Railway System.

Also the Chicago Board of Trade, Burlington Railroad, Milwaukee Road, Chicago & North Western Railway, Rock Island Railroad, Citrus Service Oil Co., Cudahy Packing Co., Conrad Hilton Hotel, Illinois Central Railroad, Elgin National Watch Co., Massey-Ferguson Inc., California Spray Chemical Corp., Colgate-Palmolive Co., and Humble Oil & Refining Co.

NEW MODEL FRIGIDAIRE TO BE SHOWN

New Frigidaire home appliances or 1939, highlighted by electric ranges with a revolutionary oven that pulls out of the cabinet for easy cleaning, will be shown in this area for the first time this week, according to Howard Williams, local Frigidaire dealer.

Mr. Williams said that new Frigidaire refrigerators and food freezers also will be previewed in the showrooms of Williams Appliances.

In describing the new ranges with the pull-out oven, he emphasized that the unique design "marks a new concept in convenience for homemakers that not only minimizes drudgery but speeds up oven cleaning by as much as 50%."

For cleaning, the homemaker simply pulls out the entire oven, just like a drawer, resting it on the sturdy drop-down door. The top lifts out, exposing the inside of the oven for easy cleaning. Even the back wall is completely accessible without kneeling or stretching. The sealed, self-cleaning heating unit, at the bottom, like the one at the top, comes out, leaving the oven floor completely unobstructed for cleaning. Shelves can be removed for washing at the sink.

Revolutionary frostless freezing, pioneered by Frigidaire earlier this year, has been coupled with a distinctive new styling concept to present, what Mr. Williams described "as the most completely feminine household refrigerator ever designed for American home-makers."

He pointed out that the new refrigerators have been designed, not only to provide efficient, effortless food-keeping, but to look as though they actually belong in a woman's kitchen. He said that a delicate lacework styling tone on the door and bottom panels provide a truly elegant feminine appearance without sacrificing the clean, functional sheer look design lines introduced in refrigerators and other home appliances by Frigidaire.

The delicate lacework styling extends through range and food freezer lines as well.

Freezer defrosting is eliminated completely in two top model 1959 Frost-Proof refrigerators. Food packages never frost up or stick together in the freezer section of the combination models. Ice cubes remain clear and dry, regardless of time in storage. Frozen food is always easy to remove without chipping away frost and ice. Homemakers never face the mess and fuss of defrosting with all of the confusion of melting ice, soggy food packages, and water puddles on the floor.

That patter of hoofs overhead isn't Santa arriving early. The fellow upstairs is watching a giddap opera on his TV.

WINTERTIME PRE-WATERING YIELDS QUALITY COTTON

The value of wintertime watering has long been known. Evaporation is only about 15% compared to a summertime loss of as much as 70%. But, most important, wintertime watering eliminates the dangers that can come from early freezes.

A case in point is the experience of J. T. Pinkston of Slaton, Texas. Mr. Pinkston practices wintertime pre-watering on his cotton land. Many grimly recall the early freeze of 1957 which lowered cotton quality to a price averaging 17c per pound. That year, Mr. Pinkston's cotton brought an average of 32c per pound.

Says Mr. Pinkston, "In that 1957 season, I did my last watering back in the month of May, consequently, when the freeze hit, my cotton was already matured and not loaded with watery sap. Out of my 45 acre cotton allotment, I made 46 bales. Only one bale graded as low as strict low middling; the other 45 graded strict middling."

"While it's not easy to water in the winter—sure, it's cold and sometimes nasty—the effort pays off in good cotton, which is really what we're all looking for," Mr. Pinkston concludes.
