

Meet The Tigers

FRANK WORSHAM

BILLY CROCKETT

Frank Worsham, a 155 pound end for McLean, has proved himself this season to be a mainstay in the light weight but fiery Tiger line.

A senior this year, Frank is playing his third year of football, being one of the returning lettermen from last season. With exceptional speed, Frank has been a valuable man offensively as well as defensively. In addition to his pass receiving duties, he has proved able in the ball carrying department as well.

As a testimony to his speed, Frank placed second in both the 200 and 220-yard dashes in district last year, and also ran for the fourth-place relay team for McLean.

A participant also in basketball, he served as co-captain of the basketball team in the 1957-58 season.

This year he is serving on the McLean Student Council and as treasurer for the senior class. He is also a member of the FFA and FTA.

Frank is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Worsham.

NATIVITY SCENE IS CONTEMPLATED

The purchase of a Nativity scene for McLean is now being contemplated by city officials and local organizations, it was announced this week.

McLean's Lions Club directors voted in a meeting this week to provide substantially for the purchase, with the city financing the remainder.

No definite plans have been made as to location or extent of the scene. The city council, along with the contributing organizations should reach a definite decision this week.

Cubs Clinch District Title

The McLean Tiger Cubs were crowned undisputed champs of the junior high division of District 2-A here last Thursday night when they soundly thrashed the Lefors Bandits 34-0.

Tommy Herron returned the kick-off 88 yards to open the scoring for the Cubs. Jimmy McCarty added six more in the first quarter. Donnie Woods scored in the second quarter and Herron added two extras. Herron scored again in the third and Woods came back to add six more, and Herron again scored the two extra pointers. The Cub reserves saw plenty of action from the second quarter on and did a fine job.

In other conference games last week Memphis beat Clarendon 14-2, while Canadian was open.

He is now employed jointly by the Baptist State Convention of Michigan and the Home Mission Board.

Skyrockets Tied In Final Non-District

McLean's Tigers hung thinly to the undefeated ranks last Friday night here as they battled a fired-up Wellington team to a 20-20 standoff in their last non-conference fling of the season. Although rated on top of the Skyrockets by most sports scribers around the area, the Tigers had to fight for their lives in gaining the tie with the heavier Class AA team.

Although playing without the services of Jerry Biggers and nursing injuries received in the Canadian tussle the week before, the Tigers again displayed their hustle and offensive power in the hard-fought contest with Wellington, holding their ranking as one of the top teams in the 2-A loop.

Wellington jumped to a surprising lead in the opening minute as Carol Nunnely grabbed the opening kickoff for the Skyrockets and ripped 75 yards for a touchdown. Ronnie O'Neal ran the conversion and the Tigers got the ball for the first time with an 8-0 count against them.

It didn't take them long, however, as three plays later Halfback David Crockett romped off tackle for 45 yards and the first McLean score. The Tigers' power fullback, Billy Crockett, then plunged over for the conversion and the score stood 8-8.

Tightening then defensively, both teams were held scoreless until the third quarter when David Crockett struck again, this time going fifteen yards off tackle to put McLean in the lead, 14-8. The try for conversion failed.

The final Tiger score came late in the third period as Billy Crockett reeled off a beautiful run of 60 yards around left end all the way to the end zone. Again the conversion failed and the Tigers held a 20-8 advantage going into the final quarter of action.

It was in the late minutes that the Wellington team exploded, sending John Duncan over for one score from ten yards out, and Clinton Gibbs won on another ten-yarder on the next series of plays.

The Tigers penetrated one more to the Wellington 20, but were held on downs.

4-H CLUB MEETS

The 4-H Club met Tuesday. The business transacted was the election of officers. Officers elected were as follows: President, Bill Herron; vice president, Jack Beck; secretary, Don Billinsley; associate delegate, Dan Douglas.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Simpson and boys were week end visitors in Pampa with Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Allen.

Tomorrow night the Tigers will go for their second district victory of the year as they host the Panthers from Panhandle in a home game beginning at 7:30.

The Tigers will go into the game with one victory and no defeats in conference action, while Panhandle now stands at 1-1.

In meeting the Panthers, McLean will be more evenly matched in weight than with any other team of the season. Panhandle's backfield averages 144 pounds per man compared to 150 for McLean. Both lines will average 155 pounds per man.

The Panthers of Coach Clint Williams have proved this far in the season to be an up-and-up squad. They defeated the Broncos of Clarendon in their first district outing by 16-6, then fell to Canadian in last week's game, 20-0.

Presently McLean and White Deer are the only District 2-A squads standing with no losses. This followed last week's surprising 36-6 routing of favored Lefors by the Bucks. Only one team, Memphis, has two district defeats.

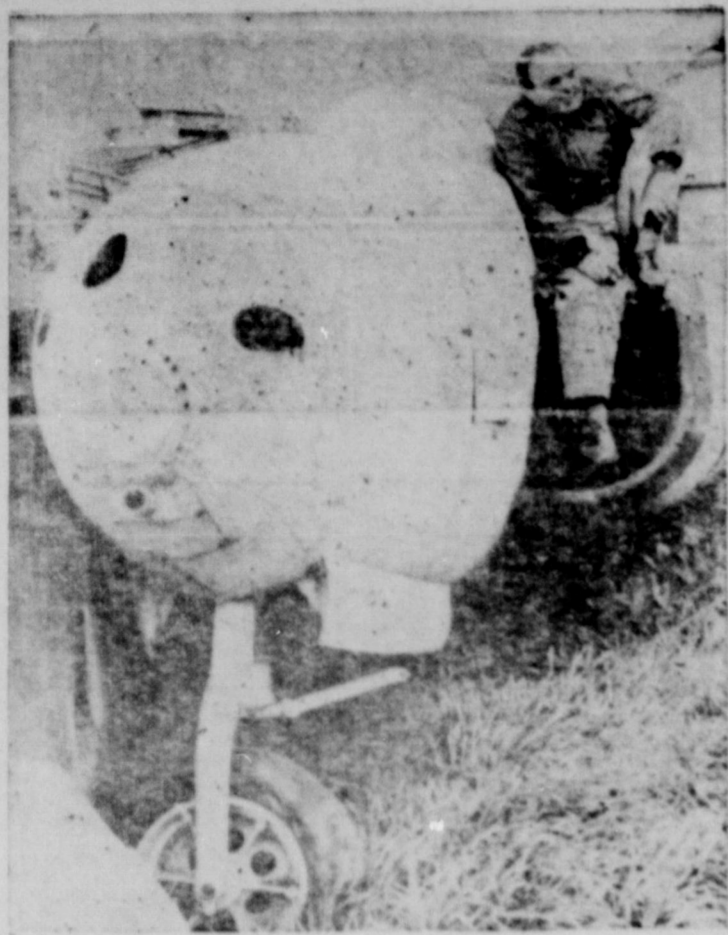

Present conference standings in 2-A are as follows:

Team	W	L	Pct.
McLean	1	0	1.000
White Deer	1	0	1.000
Lefors	1	1	.500
Panhandle	1	1	.500
Canadian	1	1	.500
Clarendon	1	1	.500
Memphis	0	2	.000

NO EXCUSE

In a recent statement, Budget Director Stans expressed "a sense of discouragement at the size of the deficit I have to report."

Mr. Stans certainly has every justification for his feeling. Last January, it was estimated that this year's federal budget would end with a slight surplus. Now the anticipated deficit is in the neighborhood of $12 billion.

Mr. Stans offered the hope "that revenues will be better, expenditures less, and the deficit a lot lower." The coming months will tell as to that. But, at best, the federal government will again operate at a huge loss, whatever the exact figure.

In the course of his report, Mr. Stans spoke of possible new sources of government revenue. One is a further increase in postage rates—even though substantial raises in first, second and third class mail charges went into effect only last August 1. The postal deficit, despite the August increases, will reach about $735 million this year.

That brings up a significant point. The late increases were not extended to the fourth class mail category, which is parcel post. Yet parcel post has long been a producer of heavy direct and indirect losses, even though the enabling law specified that it was to pay its own way. And parcel post is in direct tax-subsidized competition with the tax-paying private carriers, even though the enabling law specified it was to supplement the work of these carriers, not to take it over.

Whether rates for the first three postal classes should be raised again is a matter of argument. But there can be no excuse for continuing parcel post on a losing basis.

THE BIG LIE

Hitler perfected it that is the word the technique of the big lie, and all the other dictators have used it to their own ends. It is based on the principle that if you repeat any statement often enough and aggressively enough, great numbers of people will come to believe it, whether it be true or false.

Here in our country we have long been subjected to a charge which is akin to the big lie—the charge that when a tax-paying utility company is authorized to build a power plant on some river, it amounts to a shameless "giveaway" of precious resources which belong to all the people.

Writing in Human Events, L. Robert Driver, formerly a Securities and Exchange Commission official, nails that gross misstatement in clear and simple words. He points out that when a utility is licensed to build a power dam on a river site, all it gets is the right to produce electric power at rates regulated by public authority. To quote him directly: "The profits of the corporation are limited to a 'reasonable return' on the company's investment, and that investment cannot include a nickel of the alleged 'value' of the site which is supposed to have been 'given away'..." He adds that the value of a canyon or a waterfall is "strictly scenic until somebody builds a dam or a power plant to make use of its latent energy."

If that "somebody" is the government, the construction is done at the expense of all the taxpayers, and the plant is operated on a tax-free, tax-supported basis. If that "somebody" is private enterprise, the construction is done with private savings, substantial sums are paid for the use of the falling water, and, when the plant goes into operation, heavy taxes are paid to all units of government.

Take your pick!

TIME FOR RESUSCITATION LIMITED

The last Congress enacted the most sweeping transportation legislation in many years. But that does not mean that the problems facing our vital but financially distressed railroads are now all solved. The new legislation should be regarded as a fine beginning—not as an end.

For example, the World War II excise taxes on freight were repealed—but the excise tax on passenger fares, also of World War II vintage, remain on the books. The railroads are still plagued with inadequate and unrealistic depreciation allowances on their plant and equipment. The railroads' commercial competitors use publicly-supplied facilities, such as highways and airports, for which they pay no or inadequate user charges. Abuses continue under the agricultural commodities exemption clause. And the railroads are still denied equal opportunity to provide service by other means of transportation—even as they must pay heavily in taxes toward the support of publicly provided facilities needed in other modes.

More major legislation must be passed before the goal of equality of opportunity and treatment of the railroads is achieved. It is highly encouraging that Congress authorized a long-range study which will deal with the whole philosophy of transportation regulation and policy. An excellent start has been made—now the hope is that obvious remedies will be applied while the patent still has strength to recover.

Congressman Rogers Reports—

TO THE PEOPLE

Federal Highway Program

There are several schools of thought relating to federal aid for any purpose, but federal aid to highway construction has been with us for some time. This type of program has been expanded many, many times by the new highway program adopted by the federal government in 1956. I say expanded many, many times, because the magnitude of the program staggers the imagination. The network is intended to link most of the cities of the nation with populations of 50,000 or more. Many smaller cities, towns and villages will also be served by this network. Efforts were made to follow present highway routes. For instance, the famous Highway 66 with which we are all so familiar, will be utilized but will be known as Interstate Highway 40. The routing of these roads has been left primarily with state highway agencies. The Federal Bureau of Public Roads retained veto powers only. I have been advised by the bureau that such powers would be exercised only in extreme cases where the routes chosen by the states were not in conformity to the general requirements and specifications of the federal highway program, the bureau taking the position that it would be preferable to permit state agencies to determine the routings of the highways within their respective states.

The federal contribution in this program will be far in excess of the contributions in previous programs. Under this program the federal government will provide 90% of the cost, which leaves 10% to be provided by the states. This was intended to provide a method of leaving much of the state funds in the hands of the state to be used for roads and streets under the 50-50 state and federal matching funds program. The program was intended to be worked out over a 13-year period and brought to completion by the end of that time. It is anticipated that it could be completed earlier.

The cost of this program will be in excess of $50 billion, more than half of which will be spent on the interstate system. The interstate system will be controlled, access, or limited-access, highways, which means there will be no crossroads or intersections on the roads, and no railroad grade crossings. Much of the thinking that was employed in the designing of this highway system was prompted by the anticipation that by 1975 there would be at least 100 million cars on the highways of this nation. With only 65 million cars in 1956, 40,000 people were killed and 13,500,000 injured many suffering permanent disabilities. The property loss was tragic to say nothing of the tremendous loss of man-hours and its effect on the national product.

From the standpoint of the economy, the leading proponents of the program foresee and predict great benefits. They point out that during the period of construction an average of 800,000 jobs concerning 150 industries will be generated. Steel requirements will exceed present highway steel demands by more than five times. Fuel requirements will be doubled. An estimated 12 billion gallons of paint and 12 million new traffic signs will be needed. 1,339 million barrels of cement, 710 million tons of aggregate and 128 million tons of bituminous material will be used. The markets for aluminum, seeds, fertilizer, chemicals, engineering tools, electronic computers, and a host of other items will be immeasurably increased.

World Trade and Foreign Aid
Many students of world problems are writing at length recently on the world trade and foreign aid. A recent book was written by Howard K. Smith and five other correspondents of CBS news. This book was published by Smith, Keynes and Marshall, Publishers, as one of its Economics Books, books on economics, politics and business. The name of the book is "The Ruble War" and is referred to as a study of Russia's economic penetration vs.

U. S. foreign aid. It is not my purpose to be selling books for anyone, and I certainly am not advising any of my readers to make a mad rush to the book store to purchase one of these books. However, it does have some statements in it that are somewhat alarming to me, which I wanted to quote. I certainly wanted to identify these statements, which seem to be the general object of the publication, and with which I would certainly take issue. On page 71 of the publication is the following statement:

"In conclusion, I would reaffirm two points. One is that the American people must be aroused to the urgent necessity of increasing and improving our foreign aid. The American people are not so aroused at the present time.

"The other point is that Congress must be made to realize that this effort is a necessary part of our national life. We should not have to debate foreign aid and reciprocal trade as strange and controversial proposals each year. They must be common-places, the natural things to do. Debate on them should not be as to whether they should be done; it should be limited to the question, what is the most effective way to do them?"

The adoption of such a doctrine would, in my opinion, seriously threaten many segments of our economy, as well as endanger some of the basic rights which we should be seeking to preserve under our Constitution.

PANHANDLE OUTDOOR LIFE

By STARKEY WHITEHORN

Surprising as it may seem, some hunters and fishermen are flabbergasted at some of the game and fish regulations. Two recent cases ran something like this:—Well, I certainly didn't know it was against the law to fish without a license in your home county." The other was about the same. "I have been living here for 30 years and I didn't know it was against the law to shoot doves in the morning."

Probably both violators were correct in their assertions but the fact remains that we have certain rules and regulations under which we hunt. On case No. 1, the fisherman was fishing without a fishing license where a license was required even though he was fishing in his home county. The statute reads: "It shall be unlawful for any person to fish in any of the waters of this state without first having procured from the Game and Fish Commission—or an authorized agent—a fishing license. Exceptions, no persons under 17 years of age and no persons over 65 years of age shall be required to possess the license provided for in this act. No license shall be required of persons fishing with trotline, throw lines, or ordinary pole and line having no reel or other winding device attached when fishing in the county of his residence."

Boiled down, the statute means this: If you employ a rod and reel in the county of your residence or in any other part of the state, a fishing license is required, considering the two exceptions, of course. I purchased both hunting and fishing licenses for the current year as soon as they were available. In my opinion this is not a bad idea considering that there are hunting and fishing opportunities that sometimes pop up and a license is more difficult to obtain. Trying to purchase a hunting or fishing license at 6:00 a. m. is not too easy.

Quail Feeders

Last week I observed ten quail feeders, five "feet" above the ground, with quail perched upon them, eating wheat and milo maize. The feeders were above the ground so that rats and mice wouldn't consume the food. On the same ranch there were hundreds of blue quail and some bobwhites contained in a comparatively small area. Game management practices of this manner will so assist this species that this particular ranch will have many times more birds than a similar tract of land that is unmanaged. Quail Hunters' Paradise

It is understood that the public will be allowed to hunt quail on the Jake Osborne Ranch for $5 per day. The ranch is located north of Pampa on the south side of the Canadian River. It is seven miles long and four deep. The ranch lies on both sides of Highway 70. There will not be many ranches in the Panhandle on which more bobwhite quail are found. If time permits I intend to hunt there two or three days during the season. My guess is that the man to contact pertaining to hunting conditions on the Osborne Ranch would be Pete Bridwell, the foreman. Pete gets his mail from Pampa.

Public Quail Hunts

It is time to contact the Texas Game and Fish Commission at Austin for an application blank for quail hunting on the Gene Howe Wildlife Area. There will be 80 permits issued between now and late November. Permits will be issued in pairs so that the hunter will hunt in that manner. Hunting on the area (the old Studer Ranch in Hemphill County) should be excellent as the area is loaded with bobwhites.

Fall Field Trials

The Panhandle Bird Dog Association will conduct its fall trials on the usual grounds near Canadian, the Gene Howe Wildlife Management Area, on Oct. 31, Nov. 1 and 2. The drawing will be Oct. 30. As in the past, this particular trial will attract some of the best pointing dogs in the Panhandle. Handlers and their dogs will be there from Oklahoma, Texas and Colorado. This is strictly an amateur contest, at least when it comes to the handlers. Handlers must be amateurs but some of the dogs that will be run will have a year or more training under the professionals.

Duck and Goose Season

Nov. 1 will mark the opening date of this season which will last until Jan. 14. However, on the white-fronted and Canada goose the season will open Nov. 16. That adds up to the season opening Nov. 1 for snow and blue geese, which means that there will be very little goose shooting before Nov. 16. Most of the geese that frequent these parts will be Canada geese.

Sometimes it would seem practical to me if there could be a court order handed down so as to make these separate species inter-lured and integrate so as to have one large flock of mixed geese. If there were some way discovered so as to cause these majestic migratory fowls to integrate, thereby creating one general species of geese rather than several, it would be much easier to set rules and regulations on the daily bag limits, together with the other necessary regulations that are needed to preserve the species. The queer thing about this idea is that a purebred Canada goose will refuse to associate with species other than his purebred kindred. Same with the blue goose, the white-fronted and other species.

Protected Birds

All birds fall in either the unprotected or the protected category. It is still surprising to some shooters that it is contrary to the laws to kill field larks, killdeers (killdees) and many other species of birds.

The other day I stopped a car that appeared to have hunters in it. Sure enough, there were three hunters in the auto. The father and two grade school boys were the occupants. They were complete with 22 rifle, 410 shotgun, and camping equipment. It was apparent that they were not game law violators but while visiting with them the father volunteered that he had only taken his two sons out for a camping outing. "We didn't kill anything but a few killdees," he said.

When informed that it was not only contrary to the state but also the federal laws to shoot these birds, he exclaimed, "We shot some little birds out there but come to think about it, I don't believe they were killdees." Game and fish rules and regulations are available at practically all sporting goods stores. It is interesting to study them.

"Never Before has the American dollar had such good-byeing power."

PETROLEUM—basic to the needs of our time

Oil and natural gas have powered most of the great technological advances of modern times; petroleum hydrocarbons have transformed the dreams of inventors into the realities of engineers . . . Today, in the United States, oil and natural gas provide about 75% of the country's energy requirements; and large quantities of oil, available for production beyond immediate need, are necessary to the national security.

An obvious example is the gasoline that powers our automobiles; another is the diesel fuel burned by post-war railway engines. But do not overlook electric power plants, the airplane, whether jet or propeller driven, factory power plants, farm mechanization, and the revolution since World War II in home heating devices. Oil provides the energy that moves the trucks, airplanes, ships and tanks of our Armed Forces.

But petroleum as a source of energy is only part of the story. In the past two decades, the petrochemicals have supplied the country with a vigorous new industry; already most of our rubber is made from petrochemicals . . . the ubiquitous plastics derive from petroleum products . . . paraxylene, a petrochemical, is the raw material for one of the most useful of the new fabrics. In this area, wonders never cease; the petrochemicals contribute more each year to the efficiency, comfort, and convenience of modern living.

Thus, oil's progress has made other progress possible all along the front of American industry . . . Petroleum is the American resource that is basic to the needs of our time . . . that is essential to our national security.

The Humble Company, established in 1917, has developed with the industry.

Humble's exploration activities extend from Florida around the rim of the country to California, Oregon and Washington, and beyond to the new State of Alaska . . . The Company is a leader in the production of oil and gas in the United States . . . Humble Pipe Line Company is a public carrier transporting not only Humble's oil but that of many other companies and independent producers to Gulf Coast terminals . . . Baytown refinery is one of the nation's great manufacturing plants . . . And Humble is a marketer in the Southwest, supplying the needs of motorists in modern service stations.

The Humble Company believes strongly in research, maintains two outstanding research facilities, and annually budget: considerable sums for this activity . . . Humble research has made substantial contributions to the discovery, production, and utilization of petroleum.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

LEADING QUESTIONS

Many think that no court will allow a lawyer to ask leading questions.

But under some circumstances leading questions are proper, and it may be a lawyer's duty to ask them—to get the truth before the court.

For example, in examining a "hostile" witness or in cross-examining his opponent's witness, a lawyer may be compelled to "lead" the witness to the critical points at issue.

A leading question is one that suggests the answer. Like: "Isn't it true, Miss Jones, that you saw the defendant beat his wife?"

What makes leading questions sometimes improper? To a friendly witness they may well suggest the answer; the lawyer was fishing for, instead of getting the witness to tell on his own the facts as he saw and heard them.

When a lawyer first asks questions of his own witness the testimony is given on "direct" examination; when the same witness answers his opponent's questions, the testimony is given on "cross-examination."

So as a rule a leading question is proper on cross-examination but improper on "direct" examination; when it might lead a witness to testify on material or important facts at issue in the trial.

On cross-examination the lawyer may be duty bound to test, by leading questions, the witness' memory or credibility, or to remind him of certain things to correct mistaken testimony.

Of course, to save time the court may also allow leading questions on direct examination to get certain background facts out of the way or to aid a child or certain other witnesses.

The judge may have to stop improper leading questions. He may let the lawyer ask the question again in non-leading form, or come back to the subject later on.

The main thing is to allow questions which will get at the truth for the sake of a just verdict.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

ATTEND CHURCH EACH SUNDAY

PREACH THE WORD
By David V. Fultz, Minister
McLean Church of Christ

It is said that a young preacher was going into a college town to preach where there were several of the professors in attendance. He was quite concerned about having these learned men in his audience and spoke to his father about it. He remarked, "If I mention anything in the realm of literature there is Professor Brown who has taught it for many years, or in the realm of science there is Dr. Jones who knows so much more about it than I do. In fact all these people are so well educated that I feel inadequate in getting up before them." His father thought for a moment and replied, "Son, you might try just preaching the Bible, none of them know enough about it."

This illustration brings out a truth which everyone of us should take to heart. When we want the preacher to tone down what God has said to suit our own ideas and fancies we should remember the solemn charge of Paul to Timothy, "I charge thee in the sight of God, and of Christ Jesus, who shall judge the living and the dead, and by his appearing and his kingdom, PREACH THE WORD; be urgent in season, and out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort, with all long-suffering and teaching. For the time will come when they will not endure the sound doctrine; but, having itching ears, will heap to themselves teachers after their own lusts; and will turn away their ears from the truth and turn aside unto fables." (2 Tim. 4:1-4)

Preaching the word may not be the most popular thing to do under many circumstances, but it is the only soul saving thing in the world. Stephen was stoned for preaching the word. (Acts 7) Paul suffered much as he went about preaching the word. (2 Cor. 11:23-28). These examples could be multiplied many times both in New Testament times, and from the pages of history as well as modern day examples. The gospel was not written with the intention of pleasing those who have no desire to obey it. "As we have said before, so say I now again, if any man preacheth unto you any gospel other than that which ye received, let him be anathema. For am I now seeking the favor of men, or of God? Or am I striving to please men? If I were still pleasing men, I should not be a servant of Christ." (Gal. 1:9-10)

The word of God is God's power to save the world and we should rejoice when it is preached. Jesus commanded His disciples, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to the whole creation. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that disbelieveth shall be condemned." (Mark 16:15-16) The apostle Paul said, "For I am not ashamed of the gospel; for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek." (Rom. 1:16)

South African Rock Lobster Tails Lush Eating

Rock lobster tails served with potato salad and tangy dip are enticing.

For a very special late supper party on the Sunday evening buffet get-together, lobster salads give a touch of elegance.

The two following recipes are very easy to prepare and result in de luxe eating.

Rock Lobster Platter With Tangy Dip

Six South African rock lobster tails, 1/2 tablespoon dry mustard, 1/2 tablespoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 egg yolks, 1/4 cup vinegar, 1/2 cup milk, 2 tablespoons butter.

Place frozen lobster tails in kettle of cold, salted water. Bring water to boil and boil tails for 2 minutes. Drain immediately and dredge with cold water. Cut away thin underside membrane and carefully remove tails from shells in one piece. Chill. At serving time, arrange tails on mound of potato salad and serve with tangy sauce.

Sauce: In a saucepan, mix together mustard, salt, sugar and flour. Beat egg yolks until creamy and add to dry ingredients. Add vinegar and milk. Cook over low flame, stirring constantly, until thickened (about 5 minutes). Remove from fire and add butter. Cool, then chill in refrigerator.

South African Bowl Salad

Six South African rock lobster tails, 1 cup celery, diced, 1/2 cup green pepper, diced, 4 tablespoons minced scallions, 1/4 cup mayonnaise, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash pepper, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, 1/2 teaspoon aromatic bitters, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1/2 cup packaged precooked rice, 1/2 cup rock lobster broth.

Drop frozen lobster tails into boiling salted water and cook for 10 minutes. Drain immediately, reserving 1/2 cup broth for rice. Dredge tails with cold water and cut away thin underside membrane. Remove tails from shell in one piece and slice into bite-size rounds.

Cook rice according to package directions, using lobster broth in place of water. Chill rock lobster meat and rice while dicing celery, green pepper and scallions. Mix mayonnaise with seasonings and toss all ingredients together. Chill well.

KILL OR CURE?

Some folks used to eat tobacco for medicinal purposes. They thought the ingredients of tobacco would kill any poison in the system. We know better now—thanks to medical research. We've learned, too, that it's best to ask your physician's advice before taking any medicines. Be wise in matters of health. When you're ill, let your doctor do the diagnosing and prescribing. Then, if he orders medication, come to us for prescription service.
