Plans Given For Hospital In Groom

C. L. Culver, member of the planning board for the proposed Groom Memorial Hospital, has offered the following report giving details of the planned hospital in brief:

The 16-bed hospital will be built at a cost of $200,000.00.

The proposed hospital is being sponsored by the City of Groom and will be under the supervision of a board of directors composed of the three members of the city commission, two doctors and two other citizens of the community.

The federal government will make a grant of $100,000.00 if we can raise $100,000.00.

To date approximately $43,000 has been donated or pledged.

A loan of $30,000.00 on a 30-year repayment term has been promised.

We need to secure about $27,000.00 more in cash and pledges before the December meeting of the State Hospital Board which will approve our application for a federal grant of $100,000.00.

Any family or person donating $2,500.00 will "buy" a room in the proposed new hospital and the name of the donor will be inscribed on a plaque to be placed above the door of the room.

Any person desiring to make a pledge in lieu of a cash donation may pay it off on a monthly basis over a period of two years, or on terms to suit the giver.

COTTON BALES GINNED AT RECORD LOW

Only 109 bales of cotton have been ginned so far this season in McLean, B. F. Holland, McLean Gin manager, announced this week. This figure is far under the number of bales ginned before this date last year, denoting the drastic toll taken among cotton crops in the area by hail.

Holland stated that during last season they ginned a total of 800 bales, but that this year they don't expect to go over 200 for the entire season. He said the cotton coming in is good, but is only a small portion of what the area had produced in recent years.

Pat Miller, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Miller of McLean, was among the scholarship recipients recognized at New Mexico Institute of Mining and Technology on Oct. 21. Pat is a second year student participating in the NMIMT cooperative program.

Fall To Pirates In Close 14-8 Contest

Tomorrow night in Duncan Field McLean's Tigers will finish the 1958 grid season as they host the Bronchos from Clarendon in a game scheduled to get underway at 7:30.

Going into the final contest the Tigers have compiled a 6-1-2 record for the season, standing 3-2 in conference action. Following last week's game the Tigers stand in third place, tied with Lefors. If, however, McLean downs Clarendon tomorrow it can finish in a tie for second place with Canadian or possibly Lefors.

In weight the Tigers will not meet an exceptionally heavy squad, the Bronchos claiming a 155 pound-per-man over-all average. In the backfield Clarendon will carry a 162 pound-per-man average and in the line an average of 158.

Last Friday night the Bronchos were downed by Canadian, 33-8. In district they stand with one win against four losses.

In climaxing the season the 1958 Football Queen will be crowned at halftime.

District Roundup
In other games in 2-A, the White Deer Bucks blanked Panhandle, 28-0, to clinch the district crown for the second straight year. The Bucks have only winless Memphis remaining on their schedule.

Lefors, with a 3-2 record, will finish with Panhandle and Clarendon will complete its slate in the McLean game.

McLean's Tigers, who only two weeks ago were squeezed from the district title race, dropped their second game of the season Friday night in Lefors as they were felled by the Pirates, 14-8.

Lefors and McLean are now tied for third place in the district with 3-2 records. The Tigers have a 6-2-1 mark for the year. White Deer's Bucks clinched the 2-A flag Friday night with their 28-0 drubbing over Panhandle.

The Pirates drew first blood in Friday night's encounter early in the first quarter when halfback Bill Jernigan raced ten yards into the end zone. Quarterback Tommy Johnson carried over for the conversion points.

In the third quarter the Pirates tagged their second touchdown when Johnson carried over from five yards out.

The Tigers rode the passing arm of quarterback Jim Rice for their total of the evening, coming late in the final quarter of the game. Rice tossed a touchdown pass to end O. K. Lee for the score and then hit Lee again for the conversion to put the final count at 14-8.

But there are reliable treatments for warts, thanks to medical science. Physicians know them. Take advantage of the newer treatments and medications available. They can mean the difference between pain and comfort . . . between life and death. Let your doctor do the diagnosing and prescribing. Then come to us for quality prescription service.

Pumpkin in Chiffon Form Tops Holiday Dinner

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

The wholesome trend toward Thanksgiving feasts with fewer calories points to more light-hearted desserts. Oh, yes—pumpkin, of course, but in a different, delicate form.

This pumpkin chiffon follows the principle of the regular pumpkin pie filling, with the addition of unflavored gelatin and beaten egg whites to achieve a light chiffon texture.

The result is a fluffy, refrigerator-made dessert in a handsome mold. It can be made a day in advance.

Note: If you still favor pie for dessert, turn the pumpkin chiffon mixture into a baked crust. Then chill until firm.

Pumpkin Chiffon (6 Servings)

One envelope unflavored gelatin, 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoon each of salt, nutmeg and cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon ginger, 1 1/4 cups evaporated milk, 2 eggs, separated, 1 1/2 cups canned or cooked pumpkin, 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1/4 cup granulated sugar.

Mix together gelatin, brown sugar, salt and spices in top of double boiler. Stir in evaporated milk and egg yolks; mix well.

Place over boiling water and cook, stirring occasionally, until gelatin dissolves and mixture thickens slightly, (about 6 minutes).

Remove from heat; stir in pumpkin. Cool, stirring occasionally, until mixture is chilled and mounds when dropped from a spoon.

Beat egg whites until foamy. Add cream of tartar and beat until stiff, but not dry.

Gradually add granulated sugar and beat until very stiff.

Pumpkin chiffon brings a traditional taste to the holiday table in a light, easy-to-digest end-of-the-meal treat.

Fold into pumpkin mixture; turn into a six-cup mold. Chill until firm. Unmold to serve.

If desired, recipe may be doubled and turned into a 12-cup mold.

Thanksgiving Dinner: Turkey liver canapes, roast turkey, toasted bread cube dressing, giblet gravy, whipped potatoes in casserole with cheese topping; buttered white onions with fresh-chopped parsley, green beans with almonds; rolls, butter or margarine; celery, ripe and green olives, raw carrot sticks; pumpkin chiffon mold, nuts, grapes, mints, coffee, tea, milk, cider.

Editorial

MOSCOW-TYPE CENSORSHIP

A ruling of the Internal Revenue Service, which holds that institutional advertising placed by privately-owned utility companies in opposition to public power development is not a legitimate business expense, and so not deductible for tax purposes, has brought a storm of protest from across the country. Newspapers and press associations have been especially critical, on the grounds that the ruling amounts to censorship by taxation, and undermines the rights of free speech and free expression.

Now two state public service commissions, in letters to the Federal Power Commission, have taken a comparable stand.

The Georgia Commission says: "We note that the public power utilities, either individually or through their various associations publish entire magazines and periodicals and otherwise engage in advertising programs of national scope designed to extoll their particular virtues and thereby influence the opinion of the consumer. . . . In our opinion the counter campaign . . . is nothing more than good competitive advertising in the best tradition of our free enterprise system. Such a program is a recognized tool employed by all competitive industries to attract and retain consumers and as such it is as much a legitimate expenditure as the advertising campaigns currently being carried on between the electric and gas utilities."

The advertising material in question seems to be nothing more than a valid effort on the part of the companies to protect their very existence and it is the opinion of this commission that it is in the public interest for them to continue as a part of our private enterprise system.

The South Carolina Commission expressed identical ideas.

The public ownership movement, if successful, will absorb and destroy the private power industry. To deny one party to this fight the right to defend itself in print, on pain of heavy tax penalty, is the sort of thing one expects from Moscow—not Washington.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

The labor unions, naturally and properly, are deeply interested in electing to office people who share their views and their legislative aims. They work on behalf of such candidates on a day-in-day-out, year-in-year-out basis, all the way from the grass roots to Washington, D. C. The AFL-CIO Political Education Committee is an outstanding example of this kind of labor activity.

Business groups also are deeply interested in electing to office people who share their views and their legislative aims. But this interest, up to now, has been insufficiently reflected in action. For the most part, businessmen have kept aloof from politics—to their loss and peril.

Of late, happily, a number of business organizations and leaders have been commenting on this failure and have been issuing calls to action. For example, Rowland Jones, Jr., head of the American Retail Federation, says: "Business men have long neglected their responsibility in the arena of political affairs. As a result, legislation and government administrative actions have increasingly throttled business and damaged our economy. There is no remedy but for businessmen to take a direct and active part in politics." To take another example, the president of Gulf Oil Company has called on business to organize a "marching force" against labor's political work.

If only one side to great controversies is successful in making itself effectively heard and felt, decisions affecting the lives and fortunes of everyone will go by default. Here is a situation where business can take a page from labor's book. Politics today is everybody's business—and everybody's responsibility.

WEAK ALIBI

No one in his right mind would minimize the importance and the awesome implications of the "cold war." Its long shadow is cast across the entire world. But, it is clear that the "cold war" has been used as a handy alibi by the big spenders in and out of the government.

HIT HIM HARD!

As Taxpayer's Dollar puts it, "It has been customary, though not accurate, for supporters of increased federal spending to lay the chief blame at the door of the 'cold war.' It has even been said that the size of this country's budget is dictated from Moscow." The figures, however, tell a different sort of story. In the period since the Korean conflict, military and other national security spending has held to relatively constant levels. In other words, percentage variations in these appropriations from year to year have been comparatively small.

On the other hand, in the same period, appropriations for non-defense spending have increased nearly 50%—from $22.5 billion in 1955 to an estimated $32.4 billion for 1959. Thus, the increases in non-defense spending are largely responsible for an anticipated deficit of more than $12 billion during this fiscal year.

Frills and extravagances, not defense, have brought on the appalling present budget situation, for which our own lawmakers have no good alibi.

Congressman Rogers Reports—

TO THE PEOPLE

Switchblade Knives

This is a subject with which I hope very few of you are familiar. Unfortunately, this is not the case in some sections of the United States.

A switchblade knife is defined as one whose blade opens automatically either by hand pressure applied to a button or other device, or by the operation of inertia or gravity. These instruments have been the subject of considerable concern in the Congress for several years, but legislation affecting their distribution was not enacted until this past session. Public Law 85-423 passed by the Congress in July and was signed by the President on August 12, 1958. This law prohibits the introduction, into interstate commerce, or the transportation or distribution in interstate commerce, with certain exceptions, of such knives. The hearings on this legislation, conducted by the committee on interstate and foreign commerce, of which I am a member, revealed some appalling facts. Over one million switchblade knives are distributed and sold in this country each year and of these some twenty thousand are imported. Over five million of these knives have been sold in the past five years, principally to juveniles, and a large portion of them are sold at a price within the reach of teenagers. It was discovered that this situation, particularly in the case of the nation, created an urgent need for action in this field. It is not uncommon to read daily in the press of the country reports of numerous muggings and attacks, many of them involving knives. It was brought out in the committee hearings that the abolition of switchblade knives would not be a cure-all for any crime wave, but it would remove one of the favorite weapons of the juvenile delinquent and criminal element. It will afford the public some measure of added protection and give valuable assistance to our hard-pressed local law enforcement agencies.

It was felt that federal legislation to prohibit switchblade knives was necessary since only a limited number of states have any laws relating to such knives. As a result, these weapons are bootlegged into these states from other states which have no prohibitory statutes, or they are sent through the mails. Elsewhere, they are sold openly. It was reported that city ordinances are somewhat of a deterrent, but they are by no means sufficiently effective. It appeared the only solution to the switchblade and gravity knife menace was to pass federal legislation, therefore, to prohibit the introduction or manufacture for introduction of these instruments into interstate commerce, to close the mails to them, and ban their importation.

A senate judiciary subcommittee investigating juvenile delinquency in the United States recently conducted an investigation into the use of dangerous weapons by juveniles, with special emphasis on the interstate traffic and importation of switchblade knives and, in an effort to determine the severity of the problem on a community level, sent questionnaires to the major police departments of the United States and others. This investigation disclosed that many of these knives were manufactured abroad and distributed by firms in this country which handle numerous items in addition to switchblade knives. It was established that these items were being widely distributed through the mails by manufacturers in the various states which had local laws prohibiting possession, sale, or distribution of switchblade knives. It was felt that this pointed to the need for federal control of the interstate shipment of these knives, since local legislation was being systematically circumvented through the mail-order device. In the United States two manufacturers have a combined production of over one million switchblade knives each year. Both concerns are prominent cutlery manufacturers and switchblade knives represent only a small portion of their business. The questionnaires returned by police chiefs throughout the country indicated that many switchblade knives have been confiscated from juveniles, and these authorities, almost without exception, indicate that these vicious weapons are on many occasions used by juveniles in the commission of robberies and assaults. Of the assaults committed in 1956, 43.2% were by persons under 21 years of age, and a switchblade knife is frequently part of the perpetrator's equipment in this type of crime.

This, therefore, is one federal control which is, I believe, necessary and I earnestly hope it will provide a curb in this ugly situation.

BARRELSFUL OF LIFT—Add to items in lift-by-the-bootstraps department the Army's Dash-18 VTOL (vertical takeoff and land) plane shown, above, at Turrence, Calif. The barrel-like gadget on the side of the plane contains the portside propeller. An identical unit is on the opposite side of the fuselage. In their present position, propellers lift the plane off the ground. Once altitude is gained, housings are rotated to face forward, and plane proceeds in horizontal flight.

Veterans Information

Q—I know the war veterans education program is usually for youngsters between 18 and 21, but isn't there some new law that says a child who needs help to overcome a handicap may qualify later?

A—Yes. A new law permits children of deceased war veterans who need training to overcome handicaps to begin special re-educative training when they reach age 18.

Q—My husband died recently of a service-connected cause and an existing compensation for his death. I am thinking of going to work, but my neighbor tells me if I earn money the compensation will be taken away from me. Is this so?

A—No. Your income from whatever source will not affect your eligibility for compensation payments from VA. Income limitations, however, do apply to VA death pension, paid to widows of veterans who died of non-service-connected conditions.

Q—I have a Korean GI term insurance policy. Is it possible to convert it to a permanent plan of insurance?

A—If your policy number is preceded by the initials "RS" it will be possible to convert to a permanent plan after January 1, 1959.

checks can now be forwarded by the post office. Is this automatic, or do veterans have to give some sort of notice if they move?

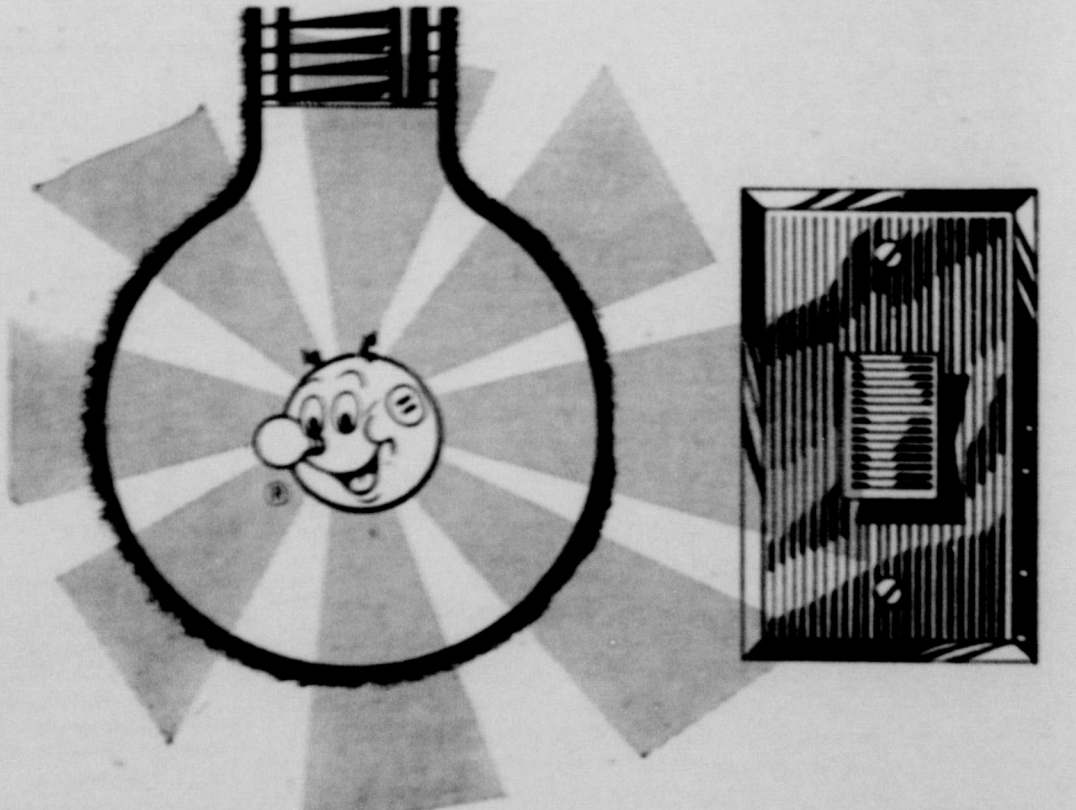

A—Veterans still must give notice. They must file a regular change-of-address form with their local post office. And they still should notify VA, so the agency can keep its records current.

TELEPHONE TALK

by Clyde Dickerson, Manager

If and when a new vaccine against the common cold has been thoroughly tested and proven, the telephone company may have played an important part in the experiment. Employees at our St. Louis headquarters were offered the anti-cold shots, which while still experimental, have been proven safe, on a voluntary basis. The location was selected for the test because it offered a conveniently located cross-section of people on whom health records are available. The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company is cooperating at the request of the Common Cold Foundation and the US Public Health Service in this experiment.

Wouldn't it be wonderful for all of us here in McLean just to be able to get a shot and not have to worry with the sniffles?

Don't worry too much about what to give for Christmas presents this year. I have something in mind to suggest that is really new and I know you will agree that it is practical and will be appreciated. And the beauty of it is we will do the work for you whether it is in McLean or another town. But we'll discuss that next time. For now I think we'd all prefer to concentrate on having a wonderful Thanksgiving.

A NEW FAMILY PLAN

For some time now, railroads and airlines have been telling people about "Family Plans." Well, I recently heard of an older couple who thought up their own "Family Plan" for get-togethers with their married children living out of town.

Since Sunday always seemed the loneliest day without the family around—and because long distance rates are lower all day—they set up a regular Sunday calling schedule for their sons and daughter. On the first Sunday of the month, Bill, the oldest son, calls and puts the whole family on the line; on the second Sunday, it's the middle boy, Ralph. Jane, the only girl (she has a little girl of her own now), calls on the third Sunday. On the fourth Sunday it's Tom's turn. He's the youngest, and just married.

I didn't learn what happens when a month has five Sundays, but I do know that these Sunday calls turn a lonely day into a happy one for the folks back home.

TOUCHDOWNS BY TELEPHONE

Many telephone employees aren't as lucky as I am when it comes to football. Usually—if I can duck all the projects my wife saves up for me to do on Saturday—I can enjoy a game on radio or television.

For other telephone people, football is work, because broadcasts and telecasts, as well as news accounts of the games, are flashed from city to city over telephone company lines.

Here in our part of the country, where there's so much interest in football, it takes a lot of skilled telephone people and a lot of telephone facilities at work to keep fans in touch with what's happening to their favorite teams.

ATTEND CHURCH EACH SUNDAY

A CHANCE FOR THE BETTER

By Gerald Hill, Pastor

First Presbyterian Church

In a novel of Maurice Hewlett's a generation ago one of the servants of Couer de Leon says to him:

"There was a Father, my lord King Richard, who slew His own Son, that the world might be the better."

"And was the world much the better?" asked the monarch.

"Good Sir," came the reply, "not very much. But that was not God's fault, for it had, and still has, the chance of being the better for it."

"The chance for being the better." Here is the phrase which catches our attention, for it has inspired concern and endeavor since the dawn of mankind.

What man of us does not wish to be "the better"? Or does not aspire greater things for his son, than he had for himself.

"The Father who slew His own Son that the world might be the better" shows us how we can be the better—His motivation was love. Henry Sloane Coffin said that "back of the qualities in men and women about us which make them admirable and serviceable, back of the cleansing forces which keep nations from stagnating in self-sufficiency and greed, back of the most generous thinking of our age and its best hopes for mankind, is that Life laid down at Calvary."

Because of the Cross we can become different folks to live with, more concerned or "better" Christians who will make the world a "better" world because the Cross was here.

The world will be the better when we remember "how" to be the better. As it is written, "We love Him because He first loved us."

TAXES THE IMAGINATION—"Mickey," the circus elephant, trudged up these stairs in the town hall of Augsburg, West Germany, to deliver a trunkful of amusement tax from circus admissions. That's what the man said who took this picture.

PANHANDLE OUTDOOR LIFE

By STARKEY WHITEHORN

The species of game that we hunt in these parts have varied but little in the last quarter century. Possibly there was a prairie chicken season or so to make up any difference. Deer, turkey, quail, antelope, ducks, geese, brant, coot, and maybe a few other species have been the game birds and animals that the Panhandle hunters have taken to the field after.

Deer and turkey hunting is better now than it was a quarter of a century ago, thanks to game laws that protect these for the legal hunter. Quail hunting success is chiefly up to nature. Favorable weather conditions, plus the enforcement of game laws, have kept this specie intact to the extent that we could easily have better almost any average year than we did a score or more years back.

What will be the hunting conditions 15 years from now? 1972 will add up to 15 years from this date. If the sporting public and the game managers will follow sound game management practices, there should be, under normal conditions, better hunting than now. Twenty-five years from date it would be a tribute to some of us oldsters if we could point out flocks of bona fide wild turkeys, same as we do now, to some of the youthful hunters who haven't made their appearance on the earth at this date.

It should be the duty of each hunter of today to remember that we should strive to leave good hunting for the youngsters who will soon take our place. The average hunters in the early 20's thought only of themselves, it seems. However, with some effort and some restraining of the desire to get the bag limit each time out, if the game supply is in danger, Junior will have wild deer and turkey, together with other game species to hunt that we enjoy hunting today.

Bird Dogs

One hunter out of 25 isn't what is called a bird dog man or an owner of a bird dog. Those who don't understand why a man will feed from one to 50 or more dogs maybe can't understand the logic, but to a dog handler it is simple. Here is the gist of the idea.

After selecting a puppy with what you think is the winning blood line and maybe picking your choice from the litter for the dog you desire, you will train the pup for hours on birds. Finally you have a dog that when put a field will search and quarter the terrain in front of you like an automaton. The dog will check each thicket for birds, scent the breeze for an indication of game. He will work at your command. When the dog does locate game he will not creep up on it but will by several methods hit the birds hard, freeze on point.

A covey of bobwhite quail is located with accuracy. The trainer, together with a friend or so, confidently walks up to shooting range, flush the birds and enjoy pin-point shooting. A canine that will hunt for you, as you have trained him, point out the birds with as much confidence as it to say, "Here they are, I'll hold them until you walk up and shoot and then I'll retrieve them," is worth more to a true quail hunter than the average sportsman might imagine.

After the hunt is over, all old Sport gets is a painful of dog meal, and possibly some steak trimmings, as a reward for hitting the grasshubs, briars and thorns hunting and retrieving quail for the hunting group. The best friend I ever had once said to me "I don't want anybody to be subservient to me." Naturally, a dog is subservient but when a dog will hunt diligently and honestly for the owner there usually isn't a price that would buy this subservient canine companion.

Have you ever heard a person talk to his dog and wonder why the dog doesn't talk back? The owner usually asks and answers the questions while the dog wags his tail understandingly. There is something that owner and dog understand that outsiders don't.

Deer and Turkey Season
The Panhandle deer and turkey season will start Nov. 16 and will be for ten days. The limits will be one pronged horned buck, together with two turkey gobblers.

There are several laws or restrictions that should be kept in mind by the hunters... Any deer carcass that has the evidence of sex removed before the carcass is processed is illegal. In other words the carcass should be processed from the hind feet upward so that the shoulders and neck are the last to be cut and wrapped. Never remove the head from any deer carcass until it is cut up to the neck and head. To some honest hunters a law such as this is not practical but if the honest hunter will consider what could happen if it weren't for such a law, then he would easily understand. If it wasn't for such a statute, then anyone could kill a doe or fawn, state that it was a pronged buck when it was checked into the locker plant, and soon the doe population of deer would be extinct.

In a fashionable restaurant, a new multi-millionaire with no knowledge of French and no desire to expose his ignorance pointed to a line on the menu and said to the waiter: "I'll have some of that."

"I am sorry, sir," the waiter answered, "but the band is playing that."

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS

 The Tax Question

It'd be hard to find a Texan who hasn't been involved in a lively discussion recently as to whether the next Legislature should or should not pass a state sales tax or income tax next year. Most folks are pretty strongly pro or con—no lukewarm feelings.

Property taxes are another matter. People may gripe about them, but they don't often get mixed up about them.

But the latest report by the Texas State Tax Study Commission, "Our Property Taxes," underlines the importance of this levy. It is Texas' biggest money-maker for state and local government. In 1958 property taxes will bring in an estimated $629,000,000 to the state and all the various local taxing units.

More interesting, the tax commission's study of assessment and collection practices and problems indicates that this figure is probably on a fraction of what is legally due.

Shortage of personnel plus the mountainous difficulties of locating and evaluating all the items involved add up to inequalities and haphazard methods.

Under Texas law, individuals and businesses are supposed to pay property taxes on all real estate—land and buildings. In addition, both businesses and individuals are liable for taxes on all "tangible personal property"—cars, airplanes, boats, furniture, jewelry, business equipment, fixtures, inventories, etc. Also, on all "intangible personal property"—money, bonds, stocks, mortgages, etc.

In practice, many of these are just plain ignored by officials and citizens alike. Many cities make no effort to collect property taxes on cars. As to money, the commission report observes, "If money in the bank were taxed on January 1, relatively few persons or businesses would have any money on deposit that day."

In other areas where more vigorous efforts at collection are made, results are spotty. Researchers found that the same piece of property would net widely varying tax bills in different counties. On one example the range was from $616 in Harris County to $1,132 in Travis County.

They also found that some people claim homestead exemptions for more than one house. At $3,000 each, these add up to unknown thousands in untaxed value.

Exemptions plus low assessments take a big bite from the theoretically possible tax collections. In a study of 3,037 house sales, the commission's research staff found the legal tax due to be $95,019. Actual sales levied were $2,706, only 3% of what strict application of the law would have produced.

Even though many tax offices are undermanned, Texas has 1,500 assessor-collectors. Sometimes a county, city and school district each will have an official doing the same job in the same area. Result: total cost of property tax administration in Texas exceeds $15,000,000 a year.

City Recommendations
 Texas League of Municipalities has a series of recommendations—mostly in regard to money—for the next Legislature.

Topping the list was an appeal to the lawmakers to authorize cities to raise money through some new tax source. League also called for thorough study of inequalities in the property tax law and revision where needed. It suggested that payment of property taxes on motor vehicles be required before issuance of new license tags.

Cities also asked the Legislature to step out of the field of regulating pay, pensions, and hours of city employees. Local citizens have to pay the bills, and the League, and ought to have the say-so.

Cost of High Living
 It's not the income; it's the outgo that has put Texas treasury in the red, says State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

Calvert told Gov. Price Daniel's executive study committee that all tax sources except oil are expected to bring in some $74,646,044 more revenue in the 1960-61 biennium than for 1958-59.

But, he pointed out, insupportable increase of needs in just one area—public schools—will just about absorb all this extra money.

Some Changes Made
 Final outcome (from unofficial returns) of voting on proposed constitutional amendments resulted in these changes:

1. Appointees to vacated county judge and justice of the peace posts may serve only until the next general election—not for the remainder of a four-year term.
2. Precinct, county and district officers may not announce for another office without resigning the office they hold.
3. Cities may elect their officials for four-year, instead of two-year terms.
4. Former Texas Rangers or their widows may receive pensions up to $80 a month.
5. State funds may be spent to advertise Texas outside the state.

6. Legislature may pass a law providing medical care assistance for people receiving old age pensions, aid to the blind, disabled or dependent children.

7. Legislature may authorize the creation of new hospital districts in Potter, Wichita and Jefferson counties.

On the other hand, when Texans put their foot on the proposal for annual sessions and $7,500 annual salaries for the legislators it meant lawmakers would face next year's tough taxing session with only 120 "pay" days. Lawmakers will have to get along on $25 a day for the first 120 days and then their pay stops except when special sessions are called by the governor.

Also turned down was a proposal to set up pension plans for elective officials of counties and precincts.

More Leeway Asked

The law setting up the Texas Water Development Board is proving to be something of a strait-jacket.

This opinion was expressed to the board by J. E. Sturrock of the Texas Water Conservation Association. "You're doing a good job, but your law needs to be liberalized," said Sturrock.

Board is authorized to lend local governments up to one-third the cost of building a water conservation project. Suggested changes: lower interest rates to the borrowers, provision for lending more than one-third of cost.

Remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how He said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."—(The Acts 20, 35.)

Often, when spontaneously bestowing a friendly smile upon a lonely person or a word of deed of help and encouragement to one in distress, we have been wondrously rewarded by such an inner satisfaction as a fortune in dollars could not equal. Indeed we are blessed when we give, unselfishly, and in love.

MOUSERIOUS—Upside-down walking is possible for this "space mouse," because his feet are shod with tiny magnets. He and a number of his fellows are used to study problems of gravity in the ultracentrifuge at the Air Force School of Aviation Medicine, Pensacola, Fla.
