The Junior Class wants to take this opportunity to invite the citizens of this town to give their confidence in and support to our Seniors by purchasing mums for this game. The Junior girls will be contacting you beginning Monday 28.

We juniors want to thank you in advance for your support in helping us to carry on this traditional activity. We know when bigger and better spirits are born, they will be born in McLean.

New Book Released On Commercial Hogs

A new booklet, "The Feasibility of Commercial Hog Marketing in Texas", is available to producers and investors considering expanding or entering a feeder-pig and finished-hog marketing program on a commercial scale.

John C. White, commissioner of the Texas Department of Agriculture, said that the information was developed to assist in an orderly expansion of the state's swine industry which pumps about $50 million annually into the Texas economy.

White indicated that strong hog prices the past two years, the fact that Texas is a "hog-deficit" state, and increased interest in a agribusiness investment are prime factors in current demand for swine marketing feasibility information.

The study was completed for the Texas Department of Agriculture by Bill Nelson, consulting agricultural economist of Amarillo, and Dr. Charles M. Smallwood, dean of the School of Agriculture at West Texas State University, Canyon.

The study points out that opportunity exists for hog marketing operations to be established (1) on a part-time basis by individuals in farming, business or industry with year-round excess labor, or (2) as a commercial enterprise organized for profit to specific inputs of capital, labor and professional management.

It is this last category toward which this booklet is directed. Ben Balson, director of Marketing for the Texas Department of Agriculture, said that copies of the multi-colored, 12-page booklet are available free on request to the department in Austin.

Holidays are a lot of fun. Don't spoil them by not concentrating on your driving. Vacationing is only fun if you get there.

4-H Members May Reap Double Harvest

In a generous mood, Mother Nature is showering her bounty on 187,000 4-H'ers enrolled in the national 4-H horticultural program again this year.

The young people grow fruits and vegetables, plan and plant their home grounds and care for ornamental plants for the house, yard and garden. And they learn from practical experience and educational materials provided by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Of all seasons, late and early fall is the most colorful and fruitful time of the year. It also is the time when 4-H horticulturalists can reap a double harvest. Not only do they use and enjoy what they have grown, but many earn recognition for their good work.

Teaming up with Mother Nature in the bountiful harvest is Allis-Chalmers, sponsor of the 4-H horticultural program for 25 years. The company provides top 4-H achievers with awards at county, state and national levels.

Topping the list are eight $600 national scholarships. The state winner receives an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress to be held in Chicago, Nov. 29-Dec. 3. County awards are medals of honor. This year more than 6,500 young horticulturalists are expected to receive such recognition.

In announcing the awards given by Allis-Chalmers, the National 4-H Service Committee notes that all young people from 9-19 years of age are eligible to participate in the 4-H horticultural program.

Enrollments are being accepted now at county extension offices across the country.

School Bus Safety Promotion Pushed

Texas Railroads, the National Association of Railway Business Women, and Railway Workers Brotherhoods have joined forces this fall to promote safer operation of school buses.

The National Association of Railway Business Women presented the Texas Education Agency with 12,000 specially prepared safety reminder stickers, enough for each of the school buses in Texas, in ceremonies in Austin. The stickers, which caution school bus drivers that Texas law requires them to stop at all railroad crossings while carrying school children, were given to Richard A. Cummins, Director of School Transportation for TEA, by Mrs. L. W. Nowlin, the Public Affairs Officer for District 6 of the Railway Business Women.

The Texas Education Agency is handing distribution of the safety reminders to the school systems of Texas.

The stickers were produced by the Railroad Transportation Section of the Texas Safety Association. All of the railroads operating in Texas are represented in the TSA group.

Representatives of the TSA railroad members and brotherhoods were on hand at the presentation. Heading the group was TSA Vice President for Railroad Transportation, Perry F. Satterwhite of Houston. Satterwhite is Superintendent of Safety for the Southern Pacific and Cotton Belt Railroads. He explained that the stickers are a part of a massive campaign on the part of the railroads and the railroad workers to reduce the number of grade crossing accidents.

"There is a growing concern, on the part of the railroads and its workers," said Satterwhite, "about the number of collisions occurring at railroad crossing sites. This is a part of an overall effort to try to reduce the number of such accidents."

"The school bus is a special concern. Any accident involving a school bus and a train could result in a major tragedy. We hope these stickers will re-

Twig Girdlers Causing Damage

Gardeners and homeowners in the area may be noticing some occasional girdling on the branches of some of their prize shrubs and trees. In some cases twigs will begin to drop to the ground.

That's the work of the twig girdler, explains Dr. Bill Clymer of Lubbock, area entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The insect pest gets its name from the type of damage it does. The female laboriously makes a notch like incision through the bark and into the wood of twig after twig. The then deposits her eggs in small noches on the severed portions. The girdling is done so that larvae that hatch from the eggs will have wood in a suitable condition of moisture and decay.

Clymer describes the adult beetles as being from three-quarters to an inch long and colored brown to grayish. Their most noticeable characteristic are the long antennae that are longer than the beetle's body.

Although the beetles are only trying to make a proper home for their offspring, they do cause considerable damage to shade, fruit and nut trees, adds the entomologist. The girdled twigs die and either hang on the tree or fall to the ground. Young trees may be more susceptible to injury.

Hickory, Pecan, Oak, Persimmon, Poplar and Honey locust, are among the trees attacked by the beetles. Pecans can be deformed and the nut crop reduced. In persimmon, the beetle wound afford entrance for a deadly wilt fungus disease.

According to Clymer, girdling begins during the late summer and the damage at this time may go unnoticed. Close inspection of wilted twigs is necessary to see whether they have been notched. In the fall, girdling damage becomes more apparent at the twigs begin to drop to the ground.

Malathion or carbaryl (Sevin) provide effective chemical control of the beetles if applied to coincide with their girdling and egg laying activities. Applications should be made when the first girdled twigs are noticed. Three applications at two-week intervals are usually necessary.

Clymer adds that beetle infestations can also be reduced by gathering and burning all severed twigs since the larvae remain in them until spring.

STATE HAY SHOW ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jacobs of San Jose, Calif. were host for the celebration. Other granddaughters and their husbands there were Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Augustine, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Newspaper Week Set October 4-10

Very shortly—October 4 to 10—the U.S. will observe National Newspaper Week. The theme this year will be, "American Newspaper—200 Years of Freedom—1770's to 1970's" Just to read those words denoting the theme of Newspaper Week should be enough to warm the heart of Mr. Average U.S. Citizen. During the year, editors duly take notice of many worthy and memorable observations. But, they cannot be blamed for calling attention, with a certain degree of pride, as well as humbleness, to their own special Week. The fact that after 200 years person liberty under representative government still prevails is due, in no small part, to the "eternal vigilance" of a free press. The community newspaper—and there are over 10,000, of them—is an institution that lends permanence and tangibility to individual rights as nothing else can. Every nation has its national observances. In most, however, there is no occasion to celebrate a National Newspaper Week. Where there is no free press, the less said about the newspaper, the better. Yes, National Newspaper Week is a heartwarming reminder that we have lived in freedom for 200 years and that the community newspaper has played no small role in preserving that freedom.

UNCLE SAM'S SELECTIVE SERVICE

Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. Ninth Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

A--I'm an alien who has been admitted to the U.S., but not for permanent residence. I've been in this country more than a year. I understand this makes me liable for armed forces service under the draft law. Is that right?
A--It is.

Q--Is there some way I can apply to be relieved from this liability?
A--There is, provided you take action before your induction into the armed services.

Q--How?
A--You can file with your draft board a form called "Application for Alien for Relief from Training and Service in the Armed Forces."

Q--Will there be a new lottery each year?
A--Yes. In 1971 a lottery will be held for men born in 1952.

Q--Will all men be drafted by lottery?
A--No. Men who volunteer for the draft are ordered in the sequence in which they volunteer—and ahead of the men who are ordered by the random sequence (lottery) numbers. There are others who could be drafted in the future other than by the lottery or random sequence numbers.

Q--Who?
A--One group is the men in I-A, examined and acceptable, who have reached age 26 and who have liability for service until age 35.

Student Council Elect New Officers

By Marsha Ellison, Reporter
In a called meeting on Sept. 22, the student council elected their officers for the 1970-71 school year. They are Ricky Evans - vice president, Craig Corbin - treasurer, Marsha Phillips - parliamentarian, and Fred Lowder - historian. The will serve with president - Ted Simmons and Secretary - Becky Orrick, who were elected last year.

The members decided to endorse the Presidents Youth Program for the problems of youth. The Student Council discussed programs for the year. Decisions were left until a later date on the project.

Q--I understand that after a recent Supreme Court decision the Director of Selective Service stated that he was going to issue some guidelines to draft boards for the classification of conscientious objectors. Has this been done?
A--Yes.

Q--I have $10,000 National Service Life term insurance which I obtained during World War II, and plan to convert to the Modified Life. Is there a line for converting my insurance?
A--No, except that it must be converted to the Modified Life plan before you reach insurance age 61 (insurance age extends from six months before to six months after insured's birthday).

The shortage of grazing and hay caused by lack of rain is creating problems for stockmen. There's still plenty of time left to grow a lot of forage, reminds A.C. Novosad, Extended pastures are fertilized now and the overdue rains arrive. Novosad says there is some risk involved but he believes pasture fertilization every fall would be a paying proposition. It is doubly important now because of the forage shortage, he says.

JR ELECTS CHEERLEADERS

The Junior High student body elected the following girls as their cheerleaders: Gail Terry, Sheri Haynes from the 8th grade; Terri Henley and Kathy Faines from the 7th grade; and Tina McCurley from the 6th grade. Gail Terry was elected head cheerleader. The Pep squad elected officers as follows: Diann Miller, president; Delynn Miller, vice president; Jan Bentley, secretary; Kandy Carver; treasurer, and Kinnette Hambright reporter. Mrs. Weaver is their sponsor.

Q--I understand that after a recent Supreme Court decision the Director of Selective Service stated that he was going to issue some guidelines to draft boards for the classification of conscientious objectors. Has this been done?
A--Yes.

Moody Science Center To Be Dedicated In Plainview Friday

The new $600,000 Moody Science Center on Wayland Baptist College campus will be dedicated on Friday, September 25, beginning with a special dedicatory ceremony at 10 a.m. in Harri Memorial Auditorium. All Wayland friends are invited to attend.

Special guest for the days activities will be Mrs. Mary Moody Northern, chairman emerita of the Moody Foundation in Galveston. The Moody Foundation provided $250,000 toward the construction of the building.

Dedicatory address will be delivered by the Honorable Ralph Wayne, State Representative from District 78.

Sorghum Forage Can Be Deadly

Hybrid sorghum-sudan pastures, fast growing and excellent forage, can also be deadly especially during the late summer and fall. Dr. John C. Reagor, toxicologist for the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory, says prussic acid poisoning can be fatal to livestock and occurs after frost and when plants "perk up" and begin fast growth after a very dry period.

"Usually, if a severe outbreak occurs, cows exhibiting symptoms when the veterinarian is called, will be dead before he can arrive. He will probably be able to save only those which are still breathing after he arrives."

Hay that is improperly cured can also present prussic acid poisoning problems for a short time, the blood of poisoned animals will be cherry red.

Dr. Reagor also urged farmers to be on the lookout for nitrate poisoning that may occur during the late fall on winter pastures when there is a lot of cloudy weather.

The plants, instead of growing and changing nitrates into protein, just accumulate the nitrates. Animals must also be taken off these pastures until the plants have had a chance to protein.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Driving Without a License

When Jeff's car knocked down a pedestrian he felt no great sense of guilt. After all, he had been driving properly, well within the speed limit. Clearly it was not his fault that the man had stepped out suddenly from behind a parked car.

Then Jeff remembered, with a sinking feeling, that his driver's license had expired. Sure enough, the pedestrian seized upon this point in suing for damages.

"Anyone without a driver's license," he argued at a court hearing, "has no business driving a car in the first place."

Nevertheless, the court decided Jeff could not be held legally liable. The judge said his lack of a license, even though wrongful, had no connection at all with the accident.

Generally speaking, the mere fact that a motorist has no license does not make him automatically responsible for accidents. For this would be imposing an extra penalty upon him, in addition to the regular penalty the law already imposes for driving without a license.

Furthermore, an unlicensed driver is himself entitled to collect damages, if someone else negligently injures him. Otherwise, noted one court, he would become a helpless target for any other driver on the road.

On the other hand, there is no doubt that the state does have a right not only to require a license but also to enforce that requirement rigorously.

In one case a citizen became incensed at the idea of police roadblocks, which were used from time to time to check up on the licenses of passing motorists. Finally he went to court for an injunction demanding an end to this practice.

"Until a motorist has done something wrong," he said, "the police have no authority to stop him. He has a right to use the public streets without any interference."

But the court rejected his demand, saying that the right to use the public streets is subject to restrictions necessary for the public safety. A roadblock, said the court, is a logical and practical method for weeding out drivers not fit to drive.

Are teenagers more safety conscious than their parents? A recent survey shows that in at least one aspect of safety they are. The survey showed that twice as many teenagers as adults use seat belts.
