State Capital News

State employees want a 17 per cent pay raise within the next two years. They served notice of their desire at the annual meeting of the Texas Public Employees Association. TPEA's legislative program for 1971 seeks a three-step (10, 12, 14 per cent) raise effective next September; and a two-step (6, 8 per cent) hike the following September; plus a 3.4 per cent merit raise for half of the employees.

Also requested are "career incentive" benefits -- a $10 a month automatic raise after three years of service, ranging up to a $60 a month supplement for employees with 30 years' service.

Substantial pension benefits also were included in TPEA's far-reaching legislative package which would give retired employees with 30 years service 50 per cent of their base pay. State employees also want their travel allotments boosted to $16 a day per item and 12 cents a mile.

SOCIAL WELFARE CHANGES
Continuing growth of welfare will bring changes in basic operating methods of the state Department of Public Welfare after January 2.

Welfare Commissioner Burton C. Hackney says that the key procedural change would require welfare applicants to fill out their own "declaration forms". This would replace face-to-face interviews with overworked caseworkers. This method already has been tested in Corpus Christi, Austin and Macgregor districts.

Another change would reduce social services to that which can be quickly provided and for which specific goals can be determined.

Hackney predicts that legislators will be called on for $96 million annually in state funds, just to keep the financial assistance programs at present levels. This is $16 million above the constitutional ceiling. Some $91 million in federal funds would match the state outlay.

INSURANCE LAWS PUSHED
State Insurance Board is pushing four new laws to protect both the policy holders and the insurance industry.

Insurance Board told the House probing committee that it is becoming increasingly difficult to get home and auto protection in disaster-hit areas. Therefore, it will advocate these changes in the law:

Stiff regulation of holding companies, assessment of all companies to protect citizens against insolvencies, a mandatory pool to provide fire and windstorm insurance in areas subject to catastrophes and provision for identifying and segregating company assets.

Board members said they are unanimously opposed to the "no-fault" auto insurance plan now before Congress and in effect in Massachusetts.

KILLERS WARNED
Three deaths in a new water well near Queen City in Cass County brought warning to water well drillers in Northeast Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana to beware of escaping nitrogen gas.

Texas Water Development Board issued a warning that high concentration of nitrogen gas and a lack of oxygen were found in a Cass County well. Most likely source was found to be a natural condition caused by denitrification of organic matter in sub-surface strata, with entrapment in small reservoirs. A similar condition was found in Marion County.

COURTS SPEAK
Interest on debts after the death of the borrower may not be deducted in computing the net taxable value of an estate, says the Texas Supreme Court. In other recent opinions the Supreme Court decided:

* Kentucky Fried Chicken distributors don't have to pay Texas chain store tax.

* An Odessa woman is entitled to $3,750 damages due to a fall from a drive-in grocery store.

MOBILE HOMES
Mobile homes or trailers owned by non-resident servicemen are not subject to ad valorem taxation, Atty. Gen Crawford says in his opinion.

DRINKS PASSAGE PREDICTED
Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso, head of the committee campaigning for passage of the local option liquor-by-the-drink amendment, predicts its passage at the election on November 3.

Christie says the sponsors of the amendment hope to dry up bogus private clubs in areas which vote against liquor-by-the-drink. "Hypocrisy" of present liquor laws, argued Christie, contributes to the "generation gap" and promotes disrespect for all laws.

Opponents contend that passage would increase liquor consumption.

Flame Queen To Be Named At Bonfire Tonight

Thursday night at 7:30 to kick off the beginning of district play against the Claude Mustangs on the following Friday night, the selection of a Flame Queen will be made.

Flame Queen is a tradition that has been a part of McLean High School for many years. It symbolizes spirit, desire, and a deep commitment to the belief that a unified spirit makes everyone and everything more worthwhile. The Flame Queen is chosen annually from among the Pep Club girls. It is a high honor -- one that is cherished among all others.

This year's Queen will be crowned by last year's queen Loyce Husted.

We urge all of you to come out and see the biggest bonfire ever and see the new Flame Queen crowned.

A Tribute To "Rob Hindman"

Funeral services were held August 15 in the First United Methodist Church, Thomas, Oklahoma for Robert L. Hindman who died at the age of 58. He is survived by his wife Alma of the home in Thomas, two aunts, Mrs. Willie Boyett of McLean, Texas, Mrs. Maude Pfountaine of Ada, Oklahoma, two uncles, Emmet Thompson of Quanah, Texas, Fred Thompson of Ada, Okla., and many cousins and other relatives.

He was apparently in good health, had planned a three weeks vacation tour of the Western States and Canada when he had a car accident in a mountainous drive in Northern Calif. Rob suffered a broken arm but though he and his wife fortunate having what they thought were only minor injuries. A week later he had a stroke leaving him paralyzed and unconscious. This critical condition lasted until his death a week later.

Rob was born July 31, 1912 in McLean Texas, the son of Jack and Pearl Hindman, Jack being the proprietor and operator of a livery stable in the home and buggy days, and Pearl being an Art teacher and clerk in a general merchandise store and post office. His paternal grandparents were pioneers, "Ma" and "Dad" Hindman who owned and operated the Hindman Hotel in McLean for many years. His maternal grandparents were Bud and Mollie Thompson, pioneer ranchers living in south of McLean. So Rob was deeply rooted in the area of Texas.

While he was very small the family moved to Texline, where with his father's chronic illness, the family suffered financial reverses. Rob attended the entire grade school and high school, taking a normal boys part in the activities of a small school, particularly in sports. He was always cooperative with teachers and classmates, a characteristic which followed him through life.

After his father's death he and his mother successfully ran a tourist court in Pampa; he lived in Amarillo several years following the carpenter's trade. He and his mother moved to the Thompson Ranch and were living there at the time of its being sold in 1950. After considerable prospecting they located at the small Thomas Hotel in Thomas, Okla. where they did all the work themselves and later added a five-unit motel. He later married Alma of Thomas and the two of them managed the business until his death.

He was a member of the McLean Masonic Lodge, the Thor Service Club, and stockholder in a local bank. He and his wife were regular attendants of the Thomas Methodist Church.

The aunts of Rob Hindman are quoted as saying "We felt secure having Rob to call on no matter what our needs were. We deeply appreciate having him all his life, and selfishly wish we could have kept him the rest of our lives. He made friends with all ages, and deserved his wife's comment: "Everybody Loved Rob."

Mrs. R.O. Cunningham and Mrs. Burl G. Gentry were in Shamrock Monday.

McLean Thrashes Groom

The Tigers held their Homecoming game Friday night against the Groom Tigers. Both teams were looking for a win, with Groom at 4 losses and McLean 3 losses and one win. Both teams were really fired up, especially the McLean boys after the tough game last week against the White Deer Bucks.

McLean opening the game with a big game, McLean received the opening kick off and returned it to about the 43 yard line. On the 2nd play of the game Quarterback Tommy Duniven completed a 57 yard pass to George Danner for the touchdown of the game. David Haynes kicked the extra point.

The first half McLean had a very powerful passing game with a strong attempt on a running game also. After touchdown McLean forced Groom to punt. Now McLean Tigers begin to run the ball. In several plays Ricky Evans and Ronny Brown made a 45 yard drive with Ronny Brown making a 4 yard plunge over right tackle for McLean second touchdown. David Haynes kicked for extra point but it failed. This put the score at McLean 13, Groom 0.

Again the McLean Tigers forced Groom to punt, and McLean goes to air again, with Tommy Duniven completing a 37 yard pass to Mike Long for a score. David Haynes attempted the kick but it failed. After McLean kicked off on this score they let No. 22, Larry Clark slip by McLean with a 85 yard kickoff return. Danny Britten attempted the kick but it failed. This put the score at McLean 19, Groom 6.

McLean came back with a 50 yard pass from Tommy Duniven to George Danner, for a score. David Haynes' kick was wide. The McLean Tigers kicked again and again, forcing Groom to punt. The punt went to McLean's 10 yard line. McLean had a little hard luck when they lost several yards and they fumbled on their own 2 yard line. Groom covered the ball and Larry Clark made a 2 yard run over right tackle to score a touchdown for Groom. Danny Britten kicked the extra point. The score at the half was McLean 25, Groom 13.

McLean kicks off to begin the 3rd period. Now the last half of the game switches to a defensive battle. There was only one score during the final period, Tommy Duniven completed a 62 yard pass to Mike Griffin. The run for two extra points attempted by David Haynes failed.

Check Food In Heaviest Supply For Best Buys

The best way to save money when doing the family food shopping is to check for the items in heaviest supply, reports Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

Best beef values at retail meat counters include chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef and round steaks and roasts. Pork values include hams, picnics, shoulder steaks, Boston butt or roasts, and end cut loin roasts and chops.

Fruits remain an excellent bargain in most retail meat departments, and Grade A large eggs offer the best combination of quality and economy for the consumer's egg money.

Fresh fruit and vegetable items in good supply and at the most economical prices include apples, bananas, Bartlett pears, Tokay and Thompson seedless grapes, oranges, sweet potatoes, rutabagas, potatoes, celery, carrots, hard shell squash, tomatoes and dry yellow onions. Bell peppers, corn, cauliflower and broccoli are moderately priced vegetables.

Price and supply should improve for grapefruit as the new crop comes to the market. Also, the first of the cranberries are appearing.

Governor Receives Multi-Plan For Upgrading Law

A comprehensive multi-year plan for upgrading law enforcement and criminal justice in the 24-county Panhandle Regional Planning Commission was received today by Governor Preston Smith's Criminal Justice Council.

Judge Joe Frazier Brown, executive director of the Criminal Justice Council, said it was among the first such plans to be received from a regional council. Each of the state's 24 regional councils will submit similar documents.

The Panhandle plan, along with those from the other 24 regional councils, will provide input for the 1971 Criminal Justice Plan for Texas, scheduled to go to the printer in December.

Included in the Panhandle plan is an evaluation of the criminal justice system, including problems, needs, resources and priorities, of the entire region, which is made up of the counties of Collingsworth, Lipscomb, Potter, Randall, Armstrong, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Dallam, Deaf Smith, Donley, Gray Roberts, Sherman, Swisher and Wheeler.

The background data information provided by the cities and counties in the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission was prepared through the cooperative efforts of the Council and the Public Protection Committee.

In a proposed annual action program, the plan sets forth immediate goals while projecting long-range goals in a multi-year (five year) plan. It calls for concentration on such areas as upgrading law enforcement personnel, prevention of crime and juvenile delinquency, improvement of prosecution and court activities, police-community relations and information and communications.

FBLA Organization Met October 12

The McLean Future Business Leaders of America Chapter met Monday night, October 12, 1970 at 7:00 p.m. The club discussed a car-wash -- the money making activity in preparation for the trip to Houston. The club was divided into various groups to work on the projects taken for state competition. There was no other business, so the President, Billy Orrick adjourned the meeting. After the meeting refreshments were served by Stephanie Rude and Beverly Word.

VA is initiating on-the-job training programs in areas of public need--health care, education, recreation, welfare and pollution control.

COUNTY CONVENTION
The County convention was held on Sept. 25, and Paul R. Bowers was elected to the county committee for a three year term. Hold over committeemen are Leamon Andrews and Floyd McLaughlin. Paul Bowers was also elected as Chairman for the next year. Leamon Andrews is vice-chairman and Floyd McLaughlin is the regular member. First alternate elected was Dean Burger and second alternate elected was W. B. Jackson.

CROP REPORTS NEEDED FROM FARMERS
During the last half of October some 25,000 farmers will receive crop questionnaires from Cary Palmer of the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Accurate estimates are of great importance to producers for providing an accurate picture of their county and Texas Agriculture. Each farmer receiving a questionnaire is urged to fill it out carefully and return it promptly to the Agricultural Statistician in Austin.

EMERGENCY GRAZING AND HAYING
Diverted acres may be grazed free on October 15. However, diverted acres cannot be hayed at any time without prior approval under emergency conditions. The county approval has been granted to October 31 for haying diverted acres provided the producer requests and receives approval and pays the fee for the grazing or haying. Cropland Adjustment acres may not be grazed or hayed without prior approval under emergency conditions. A approval for this county ends on December 31. Producers interested in this should sign in advance and pay the fee for the grazing or haying.

COTTON PRODUCTION NEEDED
It is possible that upland cotton payment yields for 1971 will be based, in part, on the actual yields on farms for 1970. Therefore, actual production evidence may be requested. Producers should make sure that the cotton being carried to the gin this harvest season is properly identified as to which farm produced it. Producers are encouraged to bring in the production evidence at any time now for the 1967, 1968 and 1969 crops if this has not already been done.

"I Promise I'll Work As Hard At Being Your State Senator As I Worked To Get Elected!"

I grew up on work. Starting with odd jobs while a youngster in Phillips. I continued by working my way through Baylor and the University of Texas Law School waiting tables, selling Bibles and working in the oil fields. Since graduation I've been a practicing attorney.

At the beginning of this campaign I went to each county to file for the office of State Senator. Since then my wife and I have traveled over 16,000 miles meeting and talking with people throughout the district... listening to what you want in government. It has been a privilege to visit with you in your homes, on your jobs and on the streets of your towns.

I have worked long hours as a candidate but I have enjoyed every minute of it. Elect Me State Senator and I promise I won't let you down. I'll be back in your town just as often to listen to you and learn how you want to be represented in Austin.

I want to be your State Senator and will appreciate your vote.

Hunting Prospects Look Good For Most Game

It's going to be a good year for the hunter in Texas. Texas Parks and Wildlife Department studies indicate good populations of game birds and State. Only in a few areas are surveys indicating a decline in game species.

A disappointing white-winged dove season in the Lower Rio Grande Valley already is history. Most of the birds apparently flew across the border line into Mexico before the season began, and shooting generally was slow on the Texas side of the river.

Likewise, the morning dove season now underway in both the North and South Zones has been poor in some areas, but fairly good in others. A statewide dove harvest being conducted by Department biologists and game management officers is expected to clarify the State's dove picture considerably after the season's end.

In many parts of the State, deer and turkey hunting promises to be the best in some time, and bobwhite quail prospects are surprisingly good in spots.

As usual, forage and cover conditions were dependent on and weather, and Mother Nature was not altogether kind during the year. Drought conditions in the spring and early summer in parts of the State hindered production of deer and pronghorns and also affected quail nesting.

However, just as things were getting serious, general rains soaked the State and triggered a sharp increase in forage for the upcoming winter period.

Only in a few areas are Department game management officers and biologists predicting vastly improved hunting this year. Conversely, only a few areas are expected to be on the decline. In general, the statewide picture is about average.

If one hunting hotspot had to be picked, it probably would be the brush country of South Texas. Observers have reported excellent forage conditions for deer and turkey, and a good crop of bobwhite quail resulting from favorable nesting conditions earlier in the year.

The Edwards Plateau also looks good, although range conditions still remain dry in many locales. Turkey hunting should be superb this fall, in both the Hill Country and Permian Basin, as the population should be bolstered by what appeared to be an unusual productive nesting season last spring.

The best quail hunting in the State would be in the Permian Basin, where bird populations allowed increased bag and possession limits this year.

Disappointments for the fall season's prospects appear to be the continued poor deer production in many deep East Texas areas, poor pronghorn showings in the Trans-Pecos and a low quail count near the coast.

All in all, the situation doesn't look too bad, even though a little more elbow grease might be necessary in some areas to bag a trophy buck or limit of quail this year.

Listed below by species is the regional forecast for the major game species, based on observations of Department field personnel:

DEER
West Texas and Panhandle: In the western part of the State where both mule deer and white-tailed deer are found, predictions are that the crop will be about the same as last year for both species. Whitetails in the Permian Basin area, however, are improved over last year. The animals are in good physical condition, with fine antler growth. Early drought conditions which hurt the pronghorn herd also bothered mule deer in the Trans-Pecos, but later rains should help provide winter food.

TURKEY
West Texas and Panhandle: A real "success story" in the western part of the State has been the extension of the range of wild turkeys into areas of the Permian Basin north from the more traditional range in the upper Edwards Plateau. Turkeys also are plentiful in sections of the eastern Panhandle, particularly along the Canadian River, where a few decades ago the species had almost been wiped out. Prospects are good this year, thanks to an excellent hatch and spotty but widespread rains. Food appears plentiful in most of the range.

QUAIL
West Texas and Panhandle: There should be a bumper crop of quail in the Permian Basin. The situation is not so good, however, for blue quail in the Trans-Pecos, where dry weather at the wrong time may hurt hunting. The eastern part of the Panhandle looks good; the western part not so good.

SQUIRREL

3rd GRADE - 1st place Jeff Milam, 2nd place Ann Skipper, 3rd place Dwayne Morgan, with fireman Roy McMullen.

In deep East Texas, there should be an approximate 20 percent increase in squirrel population, but a poor mast and acorn crop in many other portions of the State discourage an optimistic forecast.

Hunting should be pretty good, but not exceptional, in the Trans-Pecos, even though winter and spring droughts hurt reproduction and prompted a cut in the number of permits issued to hunters. The outlook in the Panhandle is about like last year.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Test Tube Democracy

Think of television networks and jet transportation, and the United States will appear to be one vast, interconnected unit.

But think of traffic laws and fishing regulations and the real estate taxes and grounds for divorce, and the United States will appear to be a jumble of diversities.

Such diversities can be confusing. But they are also rewarding in a way that is too often overlooked. Supreme Court Justice Louis Brandeis once put the matter as follows:

"It is one of the happy incidents of the federal system that a single courageous state may, if its citizens choose, serve as a laboratory; and try novel social and economic experiments without risk to the rest of the country."

This advantage of diversity is not the least bit theoretical. On the contrary, there are countless examples of one state leading the way, trying out a new idea, while other states wait and see how it works—very much like a scientist watching an experiment in a test tube.

For instance: is it a good idea to give the customers of door-to-door salesmen a "cooling-off period," during which they may reconsider and cancel the order? Some say this would protect the gullible buyer from high-pressure salesmanship. Others say it would put an unfair burden on the legitimate firms engaged in this field. A number of states are now putting the idea to a test.

Or: is it a good idea for the state to pay compensation to the victims of violent crime? Some say this would be fulfilling a moral obligation of the state. Others say it would be just another costly boondoggle. Several states are now trying it out.

Of course, no two states are exactly alike. Lawmakers, considering a new program, will weigh local conditions and consult local opinion. Yet, they will also be influenced by finding out what actually happened when the idea was tried in a sister state.

"The science of government," said an earlier Supreme Court, "is the science of experiment."

Accent on Health

Rubella, or German measles, is destined to soon join the ranks of such illnesses as smallpox and polio. For too long rubella, usually a mild childhood disease, has attacked, crippled and killed babies born of mothers infected with the disease in the first few months of pregnancy. A vaccine is now available which will protect your children against this dangerous disease. The Texas State Department of Health has already immunized over 400,000 children in the State, and has an intensive statewide immunization campaign underway that will eventually reach the two million youngsters susceptible to the disease.

The real victim of rubella is unborn baby. To protect them, the expectant mothers who have never had the disease need to be protected. The task, then, is to protect women in the childbearing age without actually giving them the vaccine. To do this, it is presently recommended that both boys and girls be given the vaccine before puberty, thus preventing them from contracting the disease and exposing an expectant mother.

So where do we stand in Texas? On July 1, 1969, the State of Texas was awarded a two-year federal grant to carry on a state-wide immunization program. This program is administered by the State Health Department in Austin with regional representatives in seven areas of the state. Each is responsible for coordinating public health rubella immunization activities in a given number of counties. To date, 97 of the State's 254 counties have conducted mass immunization campaigns. Twenty-five more have conducted limited drives. And another 47 counties are planning mass immunization programs this year. The state Health Department's drive has reached 419,751 youngsters age one through ten, or about 20 percent of all those susceptible to the disease.

The drive is designed to prevent a potential epidemic between 1970 and 1973. Already, the number of cases of the disease reported this year is double the total number of cases reported last year. Five deaths were

Job Accidents Cost Texans

Because of hidden costs of on-the-job accidents, the entire economy of the State of Texas is affected every time a worker is injured. Most people only think of what they pay out for medical treatment or compensation to an injured worker as the cost of an accident, but it is really similar to an iceberg—the real costs of an accident are hidden beneath the surface.

For example, the businessman must also consider the cost of damaged tools or equipment, the period of time the equipment is out of service, spoiled work, the failure to fill orders, and at least one hundred other items of cost which appear one or more times with every accident. Perry continued.

Employers also need to keep abreast of the new Texas Occupational Safety Standards being issued by the State Occupational Safety Board. These standards have the effect of law and apply to nearly every employer in Texas.

It is a moving-traffic violation if you fail to give the right of-way and could cause a serious accident if you do not act immediately on hearing the warning siren.

attributed to rubella last year, and an unknown number of defective babies were born.

Now's The Time To Get In Shape

Sportsmen whose only exercise this summer was cranking a fishing reel will probably find the going a little rough when hunting season starts, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

They will be out of shape and consequently probably won't enjoy the hunting season as much as they could.

Since hunters spend a lot of time walking up and down hills and fighting dense brush, the Texas Parks and Wildlife advises hunters to start now with a conditioning system.

Hunters should first check with the family doctor before doing anything strenuous, said R. J. Singleton, executive director for the Department. "In fact, it might be a good habit to get a check-up the same day as your hunting license each year."

With the doctor's okay, according to Singleton, a program of brisk walks and even a little jogging to strengthen the cardiovascular system is in order.

"Each year we read of hunters who have heart attacks or are overcome by exertion while in the field. The fact that many weren't in shape for strenuous activity is obvious," said Singleton.

Singleton says thousands of other hunters may get through the season without a heart attack, but they probably won't have enjoyed themselves as much as possible. For example, after a hard day of walking on Saturday, an out-of-shape hunter probably will not feel like getting up before daybreak on Sunday to start all over again.

The early freeze will play havoc with about one-third of the milo on the high plains as well as all of the cotton crop. Weatherwise this has been one of the toughest years I have seen. A lot of the intended milo acreage was never planted because of the dry spring. I've only seen about three springs in the last two decades that did not produce enough moisture to plant milo in Spring. The average rainfall for June is over three inches. Many farmers on the high plains did not receive this much from January to August.

New bonus interest rate on U.S. Savings Bonds

Now all U. S. Savings Bonds pay 5% interest, PLUS a 1/4% bonus when held to maturity. This overall 5 1/4% interest payment means that now you get a little bit more money for your money.

Technically, here's how the bonus works:

- 1. The bonus interest rate applies to all new Bonds purchased since June 1, 1970, raising their rate from 5% to 5 1/4% when held to maturity. Series E Bonds, whose maturity remains at 5 years 10 months, with a first-year rate of 4%, will have the 1/4% increase added as a bonus at maturity. Series H Bonds, with a 10-year maturity and first-year rate of 4 1/2%, will receive the bonus in the form of increased semiannual interest checks for their last 5 years, to yield an average 5 1/4% for the 10-year period.
- 2. There is no reason to cash in Bonds you now hold. Yields on outstanding Bonds, prior to maturity, will be increased by 1/4% for semiannual interest periods beginning on or after June 1, 1970. For E Bonds, the increase will be payable at maturity; for H Bonds, through larger semiannual interest checks for their last 5 years.
- 3. For Bonds now in their extension period, yields will be increased by approximately 1/4% to next maturity, whenever redeemed.
- 4. Finally, all Bonds maturing on or after June 1, 1970 while the bonus is in effect, will receive a 5 1/4% yield until next maturity.

Now, more than ever, it's to your advantage to buy U. S. Savings Bonds and hold them to maturity or beyond.

Sign up for Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, or the Bond-a-Month Plan where you bank.

Engineer Warns On Farm Accidents

B. G. Reeves, Extension agricultural engineer-machinery, says that every fall many farmers lose a hand or arm or even a life due to harvesting machine accidents. Complex harvesting machinery is conducive he says, to crippling accidents. Most, he emphasizes, can be prevented if machine operators will only follow the rules of safety. Keep protective shields in place; never work on a machine until it is out of gear or the power source is cut off; be careful of ooting when mounting or dismounting from a machine and don't wear loose fitting clothing. Never take chances, you are needed in agriculture.

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) What should I do about the estimated tax notice I got in the mail? I did not have to file Form 1040ES.

A) If you did not have to file an estimated tax declaration for 1970 and your tax situation is unchanged, ignore the reminder notice. These reminder notices were sent to all taxpayers who received the estimated tax form packages in February.

Q) I've been called in for an audit of my return. Can I have the person who prepared it come in with me just to help explain things?

A) Yes, you may have the person who prepared the return accompany you. Keep in mind, however, that you are responsible for the accuracy of items listed on the return. Also, it is your responsibility, not the person who prepared it, to provide whatever proof or substantiation might be required to support income and expense figures.

Q) My refund is being held up because I forgot to send in Schedule A. Form 1040, when I filed. How long will it take me to get the refund after I supply this missing item?

A) It should take about four to six weeks from the time you supply the missing information for processing to be completed on your return and the refund issued. Be sure to send back the notice from IRS about the missing item so that the Schedule A can be associated with your return.

Q) Do you have any publication about taxes that would help someone just starting up a business of his own?

A) Yes, our publication, "Tax Guide For Small Business," should be helpful. A copy may be obtained from your IRS District Office or the U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402, for 60 cents. In addition, you will find our "Mr. Businessman's Kit," Publication 454, of interest to you. Call the local IRS office to request your free copy.

Q) Are the meals and lodging you get as a camp counselor taxable?

A) In camp situations, room and board are generally not taxable. Your room and board are excluded from gross income if they are furnished on the employer's premises for his convenience, and in the case of the lodging, you are required to accept it as a condition of your employment.

Q) Can someone who is self-employed take advantage of the moving expense deduction?

A) Yes, the new tax law permits self-employed persons who meet certain tests to deduct moving expenses.

Q) Is a gardener considered a household employee?

A) Yes, he usually is. If you pay him cash wages of $50 or more during a calendar quarter, you are required to file a Form 942, Employers' Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees, and pay social security taxes. Income taxes, however, do not have to be withheld from wages paid gardeners and other household help.

NEWS for OUTDOORSMEN

by VERN SANFORD

Several years ago Dave Hawk, who has distinguished himself as a great bass fisherman, was weighing in a string of lunkers. A little woman approached him, looked over the string, and then asked "Don't you ever catch any little ones?"

"They are harder to catch than the big ones," Hawk replied. And therein lies a story of the few men who never seem to catch anything but big fish.

Hawk is one of them. Another is Tex Heth, who guides around Toledo Bend and Rayburn in East Texas. Then there is John Fox of San Augustine. He never seems to take one under four pounds.

It's a strange feeling to sit in a boat with an angler and both of you catch fish, but the other fellow invariably gets the lunkers. He will catch as many as you do fish-for-fish, but while you are stringing up two-pounders, he will land several in the four-pound class and some that go to six.

You'll be fishing with the same lures, and perhaps even the same make rod and reel. You watch him and try to fish as nearly as possible like he does, yet he continues to haul in the big brutes that you'd give anything just to try to land.

Such men are deliberately fishing for the big 'uns and utilizing all their knowledge and skill for taking braggin' size bass. There are many fishing secrets, and some fishermen seem to know most of them.

For one thing, these lunker-landers fish practically every day.

They know their waters. They are able to "read" water with an experienced eye. They watch for the natural habitats of big bass. They know, by studying the land adjacent to the water, where the ledges are. Then, they have a pretty good estimate of where the points run down into the water.

They mark big trees protruding in the best fishing water. They conserve their casts. When they toss out the lure, they feel that the big old bass they missed the day before may be lurking there again . . . and he usually is. I've known fishermen to go back to the same spot for days just because they knew one big fish lived there.

A real good fisherman, whom I will not name, once was guiding a friend of mine. They had caught a tremendous string of crappie and decided they'd try a little cove for some blacks. My friend hooked one and thought it was a log. Because he knew fishing better, the guide realized it wasn't a log but a lunker.

He went back there a couple of days later and latched onto the same bass, but he lost it, too. This went on for days. The big old bass would grab the plug, spit it out and leave the fisherman empty handed.

No man can stand that kind of treatment, even if he has already caught a boat load of big bass.

This fellow was a plug fisherman, but he just couldn't stand the pressure. He went to a half-dozen bait houses before he was able to get a few minnows about six inches long. Then he went back to that bass hole, made up a dual rig, put on two of those big minnows and tossed the twin offering out to the bass' home base.

That old bass had just heard the dinner bell ring because he grabbed both of those minnows . . . and our fishing friend set the hooks. That was all for Mr. Bass. I might add, however, that it weighed a little more than eight pounds.

Moral here is that determination does it!
