KWAJALEIN, June 29.—(AP)—A warning to the public that the atomic bomb to be dropped at Bikini Lagoon might be a "fizzle" was voiced by an eminent scientist today as military men, scientists and other observers scanned the skies over the Marshalls for some hint of Monday's weather.

Byrnes Presses For Peace Meet; French Offer Trieste Compromise

PARIS, June 29 (AP)—The four-power foreign ministers tonight postponed a decision on a general European peace conference and pondered a new compromise proposal on the disputed port of Trieste which French sources said might break the conference deadlock, but which American quarters declared could not be seriously considered.

Truman Signs Second War Powers Act

WASHINGTON, June 29 (AP)—President Truman today signed an amended version of the Second War Powers Act, which renews his authority to ration and allocate scarce materials.

At the end of that time, a plebiscite would determine whether the city would be under Italian or Yugoslav control. Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had declared that in his opinion the French plan on Trieste was not a good proposal, but that in view of the conflicting ideas on that key subject, it would be acceptable.

Business Expects No Immediate Local Reaction

With OPA on its deathbed, there appeared little prospect of immediate reaction here in the wake of its passing. Possibly the earliest effects will be felt in the meat line, but one major slaughterer predicted that upward reaction on prices would be shortlived if it materialized.

Reviewing The Big Spring - Week -

Anywhere else it would be a tall tale, but in Big Spring it's the gospel truth that the weather turned in a sizzling 108 degrees and punctuated it with chunks of ice. Fred Keating had just posted a reading of 108 degrees at the US Experiment Farm Saturday evening when he and Mrs. Keating paused to watch the antics of a curious cloud.

Barkley Says Lapse Inevitable

He stuck to that position in the face of an acknowledgment by Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), the majority leader, that "it is not humanly possible that this bill could be enacted between now and Sunday midnight, and OPA will lapse anyway."

SATURDAY'S HOTTEST FOR 1946

If Big Spring was not the hottest spot in the nation yesterday, it was pushing Death Valley and the sand dunes of some Texas spot for that distinction. The temperature climbed to 107 degrees at 4:30 Saturday afternoon—by far the hottest of the year.

Governor Expected To Call Session

MARSHALL, June 29. (AP)—State Representative Isom P. Hydrick of Harrison county said today he thought Gov. Coke Stevenson would call a special session of the legislature, probably the first Tuesday in September. Hydrick said he had talked with the governor recently relative to the session and Stevenson told him he was "working toward that end." Four and possibly five topics will be submitted to the session, Hydrick predicted. He listed these as additional funds for the state highway patrol, redistricting, increased old age pension grants, and a negro university. He said increased teachers' salaries was the tentative fifth subject.

DeLeon Pleads Guilty On Assault Charge

Sorters DeLeon, who members of the sheriff's office said was engaged in a brawl with another Latin-American Friday night in the northwest section of town, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of simple assault in justice court this morning and was fined $5 and costs. According to reports, DeLeon brought a black jack into play after his antagonist had pulled a knife. DeLeon swung the instrument with more deadly accuracy and escaped unharmed. However, by the time the law arrived, DeLeon's victim had vanished from the scene, leaving Sorters to explain the situation to the authorities.

Big Spring Experiences Record Building Boom During 1946 Despite CPA Clamps And Shortages

Although handicaps probably are more numerous than ever before, close of the second quarter finds Big Spring well on the road toward a record boom in building and other activity. "Most major business transactions indicate that money is plentiful, and activity during the first half of 1946 might give weight to the popular concept that cash is the best obstacle remover. A hurried survey at the beginning of the year disclosed that at least $5,000,000 would be spent for construction work within the corporate limits of Big Spring during 1946 provided early plans materialized. Due to CPA restrictions, many of the plans have been postponed for at least a year, and others were stifled in the preliminary stages. Building permits have mounted steadily, however, despite restrictions and material shortages, with the total for the first six months climbing to $810,891, more than twice the aggregate of a year ago.

Several commercial projects, launched before CPA restrictions went into effect, gave 1946 a good start, and a moderate but steady rate of residential work has pushed the total upward. The current outlook indicates that the year's total will fall short of the $5,000,000 planned earlier, but if work begins by fall or early winter on the veterans hospital, that figure may yet be approached. The total for June was $73,600, with $16,785 issued during the past week. Other monthly totals for the first half were, January, $104,910; February, $165,144; March, $184,225; April, $73,821; May $209,100. The local livestock market provided increased activity during the past two months, after holding a steady pace during the first quarter. Although exact figures are not yet available an estimated 25,000 head of cattle were sold here during the first six months of 1946, involving more than a million and a quarter dollars in value. Choice fat calves repeatedly brought selling prices at weekly sales of the Big Spring Livestock Auction company and the West Texas Livestock Auction company, which opened for business four weeks ago. Although a decided slump was noted during June, warranty deeds filed in the county clerk's office have pointed to a new record in real estate deals. Residential property in Big Spring has accounted for a large portion of the activity, while several major rural tracts have changed hands. Unofficial total for the first half of this year is $2,103,668, with $113,259 recorded in June and $31,425 during the past week.

Ton Of Lethal Dust Headed For Ocean

WELMINGTON, Del., June 29.—(AP)—An army tug was loaded today with a one-ton iron box of fine dust, potentially far more deadly than dynamite, to be dumped in the Atlantic "in a day or two" for safety's sake. The dust is radio-active beryllium, which was used for four years in atomic bomb work by the chemical foundation, Newark, Del. Scientists experimented with it to develop means to reduce hazards in working with atomic power. Dr. Ellice McDonald, director of the foundation, estimated the beryllium would remain radioactive for 1,000 years. The box is "too hot" to have around, he said. If the beryllium should leak out, it would spread cancer of the lungs. The foundation decided the safest disposal would be to dump the box intact into the sea. If the box breaks or deteriorates under water, Dr. McDonald said, a lot of fish will die but no humans will be in danger.

Martin - Howard Soil Conservation District News

"Negari stubble prevented soil blowing on an 80-acre farm of mine this year," Ellis Ideo, district cooperater of the Vasmoor conservation group, explained to SCS technicians recently. Ideo said he headed the hogari last fall and left the stalks and litter to hold the sandy loam soil on his farm rather than permitting it to blow away to neighboring farms. Terracing, contour farming and stubble management are major factors of a coordinated soil and water conservation plan which Ideo is applying in cooperation with the district which furnishes technical assistance through the SCS. Better grazing distribution, use of certain grasses during favorable periods and more efficient management are the aims of Noble Reid, ranch cooperater, in cross fencing his north pasture which is comprised of five and one-half sections. Watering units are distributed over the entire ranch at the rate of one unit per section which materially aids in securing economical beef gains as well as protects the range from excessive trampling of livestock going long distances to water. Another conservation measure which Reid has effected is the fencing off of stock tanks or ponds and piping the water to troughs below the structures. This practice keeps the water clear and aids in extending the life of the tanks. Reid, who ranches in the Wild Horse conservation group, is also carrying out a coordinated soil, water and range conservation plan. R. R. McNew, district cooperater of the Martwell Ranch group, is constructing a 4,000 yard livestock pond this week. This practice is a portion of his range conservation plan. SCS engineers are assisting McNew by locating the tank site, designing and surveying the structure and checking it for completion. Binie White is culling his livestock and selling the less desirable animals. He is doing this to relieve stocking on drought stricken ranges and to secure a better balance of livestock. White is a district cooperater who ranches in the Vincent conservation group. "A good cover of grass not too closely grazed, responds much more favorably to showers which have been falling (though limited) than grass areas which have been so closely grazed that rainfall runs off before having time to be absorbed," is the statement made by W. L. Wilson Thursday. Wilson, district cooperater and rancher of the Howard-Borden County Line conservation group, was discussing with C. R. Donaldson and W. A. Watson of the SCS effects of recent showers on range land.

Jester Outlines Platform Here; Pledges Legislative Redistricting

Declaring that he will run clean and strong and out in front "just like 1942" when he won his post on the Texas Railroad Commission over 10 opponents, Beauford Jester brought his campaign for governor to Big Spring Saturday.

"You people in West Texas do Howard county supporters of Jester were hosts at a luncheon session in his honor, given at the Settles hotel at noon. Jester spoke only briefly there, expressing his appreciation for the welcome that had been accorded him in Big Spring.

Some 50 men, including visitors from Coahoma, Forsan and Midland, talked with the candidate at the informal session at the hotel. Obie Bristol presided at the luncheon program.

not have the representation in our state legislature you are entitled to, because of a delay in redistricting," he charged. "It seems to me that it was a similar condition that caused the revolutionary war." Jester said he intended to ask the legislature to adjust this problem immediately if he is elected governor.

"Beauford Jester will have the confidence of the legislature and will be able, because of his experience, to work harmoniously with that body," he said.

Referring to his service on the Railroad Commission, Jester said he had occasion frequently to deal with organized labor, especially the railroad brotherhoods, and all so with railroad management.

"Both sides say I have been fair with them," he continued.

Declaring that he is tired of old age pensions being used as a "political football which politicians use to run into office and then forget about," he pledged himself to seek adjustment of the pension law, which approves $40 pensions but at the same time prevents their payments because of a ceiling on appropriations. "I want pension and social security money to be kept in a fund separate from others," he said.

Salaries must be raised if our schools are to keep teachers with top qualifications, he asserted. It has been found that better school systems can be developed and better pay provided for teachers by consolidating some of the smaller rural districts," he said, but pay for our teachers must be raised in the town and city schools as well as in the country.

Touching on his agricultural plank, Jester said he wants to see Texas farm life restored to its proper position in the state. "We must increase farm income, and I intend to work harmoniously with the highway commission for more and better farm to market roads," he said. Farm life must be made more pleasant, he concluded, and REA lines must be extended.

Salvation Army Play Area Fund Increased $500

The Salvation Army playground fund was increased by nearly $500 Friday and Saturday, through additional donations, and needs only some $1,600 to be sufficient to provide a complete recreational area for the youngsters in western Big Spring.

Special committees will be at work the first of the week to wind up the solicitation, and additional help is expected to come from service clubs.

The provision of a total of $3,500—including material and labor donated—means a large block at West Fifth and San Antonio complete with every sort of playground equipment and sports facilities, so that young people of all ages will have opportunity at healthful recreation. All activities at the park are under direct supervision of the Salvation Army.

Among most recent donations coming in are:

Ted Phillips $5, Oscar Glickman $10, K. H. McGibbon $15, Waits Jewelry $15, Ira Thurman $5, First National Bank $50, R. T. Piner $25, Big Spring Locker $5, W. D. Marshall Islands Become Vast Military Laboratory

By CLARKE BEACH
AP Newsfeatures

Stories of the big wind that will hit Bikini Atoll in July have without doubt spread through all the villages of the Marshall Islands, and the simple, wide-eyed natives are probably jabbering day and night about atom bombs, the newest invention of the terrible and wonderful white warriors.

Unless they have changed a lot since I lived among them last year, they probably are not too alarmed about the approaching cataclysm, on Bikini. The military government men have taken good care of them since United States forces first invaded the Marshalls, on January 31, 1944, and they seem to regard Americans with confidence and affection.

Can Understand Explosion

When told of the terrible destruction that the atomic explosion will wreak, they will be better able to comprehend than most persons. They remember Kwajalein, Roi-Namur, Eniwetok, and Angedat, their atolls which were verdant, palm-fringed shores until the great battles in the early months of 1944, when bombs, fire and naval guns in a few days blasted away every living thing, until the islands were desert wastes, containing hardly a tree or shrub.

Once before, on Jaluit Atoll in late 1944, there was a historic experiment by US naval forces to test the effectiveness of a new weapon. Marine Corps aviators struck Jalabotwo on Jaluit, the Japs' administrative headquarters for the Marshalls, with napalm in the heaviest attack employing the new incendiary bomb which had been conducted anywhere up to that time. The clouds of fire that enveloped the little island burned everything to a crisp.

The military observers watched attentively, and the report of results assisted our aviators all over the world in their first napalm bombings. The Marshall Islands have become a sort of intensive military laboratory.

The natives have seen something of all the blood-curdling events. Some of them were on all the battles that have been battlefields of this war, including those four by-passed bases of the Japs—Wotja, Mille, Maloelap and Jaluit—where Marine and Navy flyers rained bombs almost daily for more than a year. The navy evacuated as many as possible and gave them safe refuge, but thousands of Marshallese today have harrowing stories to tell their children of life in a modern battle zone.

If the people of Bikini ever return to their little atoll they probably will have a story to tell which will top all the others.

Period of Short Evolution

The atom bomb and all the other wonders of western civilization have come to Bikini in a startlingly short period. The records reveal little contact with the Western world until 1908, when the Boston Mission Society established a "preaching station" on Bikini and built a church. The Marshallese were easily converted, and today most of them are honest, well-mannered, God-fearing Christians.

Yet they were no angels in their savage days. The nineteenth century whalers, who centered their activities in the Marshalls, cheated, debauched and outraged them to such an extent that it became suicidal for white men to land on their shores.

Foreigners from many lands have ruled them: Spaniards, who discovered the Marshalls in 1529; Germans, who took over from the Spaniards in 1855; Japanese, who were given a mandate over the islands after World War I; and finally the Americans.

Kendal green was a famous English forester, hunters and outlaws in the 14th, 15th and 16th centuries.

The world's proved petroleum reserves total approximately 60 billion barrels, of which more than 20 billion barrels are in the United States.

Retail Selling Courses End

A series of 10 courses conducted here under chamber of commerce sponsorship by the University of Texas extension service and the state board of vocational education came to an end Friday afternoon when 35 members of a class in tourist courtesy were issued certificates.

The courses, most of which dealt with retail selling, were conducted principally for sales people. However, one was offered for managers and supervisors, and the tourist courtesy course included employees of all types of business which require meeting the traveling public.

Thelma Boone, instructor for the series, said attendance for the courses would be classed as excellent by the University extension service. More than 170 persons enrolled in one or more of the series.

Fire Works Show Slated Thursday

Big Spring will experience re-institution of another annual feature suspended temporarily during the war, when a fire works display is presented by the chamber of commerce Thursday night in observance of July 4.

An attractive exhibition assortment of fireworks has been ordered and received, J. H. Greene, chamber manager said, and the Thursday night show is expected to be as colorful as any ever presented here.

An arrangements committee headed by Matt Harrington will begin installing the fireworks at city park at 5:30 a. m. Thursday.

RITA HONORED BY NAMESAKE

HOLLYWOOD, June 29—(P)—Actress Rita Hayworth, whose portrait has been painted on the Bikini atom bomb, feels so honored, she said today, "that I still haven't come down to earth."

Her studio received a request several weeks ago for pictures of the actress, and sent several.

"The let's didn't say what they were wanted for," a spokesman said. "We thought it was just another request from lonely G.I.'s for pin-up pictures."

Drills Resumed On County Test

Drilling was resumed the latter part of the week on the Dave Duncan No. 1 B. M. Newton, northern Howard county wildcat. After surface string was set at 165 feet, rotary was moved in and the test was down to 400 feet Saturday. Contract depth is 3,200 feet. Operators are testing for pay found in the Clardy test two miles to the west on the O'Brien tract. Here free oil was logged but not enough for commercial production. Location of the Newton exploration is 330 feet out of the northeast corner of section 9-31-2n, T&P.

Teamwork Stressed In Speeches At C Of C Goodwill Dinner Friday

The theme that teamwork gets the job done quickly, more effectively and with more lasting results was developed with a dozen variations Friday night, as two score Big Spring men and women gathered for a fellowship session. It was a dinner program at the Settles hotel, staged by the public relations and publicity committee of the chamber of commerce, and primarily was a get-together for city, county, public school and junior college officials, plus leaders of service clubs and other civic organizations. Cliff Wiley, committee chairman who presided for the program, set the tone when he said "an exchange of ideas cannot but be profitable to all of us," and he was followed by Joe Pickle, C. of C. president, who pointed out that in today's fast business pace, cooperation was more important than ever before. "We all have the same goal," he said, "and that is to improve our community economically, socially, culturally. We must keep our eyes on that goal, and pull together always toward it." Pickle said it was an obligation of community leadership to exemplify and foster cooperation. Others spoke in the same vein, including Mayor G. W. Dabney—"Let us decide first of all, which things are good for all the people. Let us not sacrifice principle for purely commercial gains, but let us be guided by the high motive of what is best for all our citizens. Working together thusly, we can have what we want."

A PROPOSAL TO ACCOMMODATE VISITORS TO OUR CITY

Visitors to Big Spring should be accorded every hospitality, and provided with conveniences to encourage them to come again to the city.

At present, we are unable to offer adequate rest and lounge facilities for the many rural visitors who come to town to transact business.

There is a need for such facilities, and it should be the responsibility of public agencies to provide them.

As a County Commissioner, it would be one of my objectives to sponsor the establishment of modern and sanitary guest rest quarters to provide particularly for women and children. Suggestions from any citizen toward helping accomplish this undertaking would be appreciated.

Complains Sped By City Officials

The city department is making an effort to speed up the handling of minor complaints, City Manager B. J. McDaniel said Saturday afternoon, reminding citizens that a complaint and information clerk is on duty constantly during business hours. People who have minor complaints can help the department expedite necessary action, McDaniel said, if they will telephone No. 6 and give the information to the complaint clerk. After office hours, the complaints will be received by the police department at the same telephone number and turned over to proper authority as quickly as possible. Action can be taken on such complaints more rapidly than by calling various department heads or other employes personally, if citizens follow the regular procedure, McDaniel said.

Jones Elected Temporary Head Of Radio Hams

Electing Andrew M. Jones temporary president, amateur radio operators of Big Spring made plans for a complete re-organization of their club, which was disbanded during the war, at a meeting Friday night. Jones operates a "ham" station with call letters WSAW. Earl L. Blair, W5HAF, was named vice-president, and W. L. Baird of the police department, secretary-treasurer. The officers will serve a short term until the complete re-organization is effected, with permanent officers to be elected at a meeting in December. The club has not yet selected a name, but persons interested in amateur radio who do not have licenses, will be admitted as associate members, with voice in official business of the organization. Next meeting will be held on July 12, regular sessions planned for twice each month hereafter. Others attending the Friday night meeting were Thomas A. Coffee, W5HVE, Leonard Lyon, W5KIO, Haynes Howell, W5ISD, A. B. Jernigan, W5LAP, Richard R. Hooper, W5Z7F, and Robert Benson, W6UDX.

Shortages Cause Lay Offs By City

Material shortages have forced a curtailment in personnel in one city department and other departments may be affected soon if the current situation continues, City Manager B. J. McDaniel reported Saturday. It already has been necessary to lay off a few men at the city garage, McDaniel said, and if other materials do not start coming through most other maintenance forces will be cut.

Meet Stresses Conservation Of Soil, Water

Conservation of soil and moisture were stressed at a zone meeting of the Colorado River Basin authority at Lamesa Saturday. R. E. Dickson, superintendent of the Spur experiment station, spoke of the "New Uses of Water," pointing out that there is no law to keep a man from holding every drop of moisture that falls on his land. Normally, enough rain falls to make crops if it is kept on the land, said Dickson. By proper conservation measures, the operator may have ample forage on ranches and farms to put on cheap livestock gains so that finishing is not so expensive. Wind erosion can be effectively controlled with winter cover crops, strip cropping, stubble practices, trees and other proved devices, declared J. M. Bird, Odessa. He spoke for rotating crops and for building soil by use of legumes. Joe A. Stanley, Jr., Lubbock, urged farmers to keep records on water tables. Harry Ratliff, Colorado City, explained a proposed five-city water district for purpose of damming the Colorado above Colorado City and asked citizens of Robert Lee (where an irrigation dam is under consideration) for a conference. Next zone meeting will be held in Menard, date to be announced later by the executive committee. Annual meeting will be in Brownwood Oct. 8-9. J. P. Youngblood, Robert Lee, president, opened the meeting and Q. Q. Martin, Lamesa, director, presided. Attending from here were J. H. Greene, L. H. Thomas, and E. J. Hughes.

Paving Program Makes Progress

Big Spring's paving program inched forward last week, with progress reported on two small projects preliminary plans nearing completion for starting another. The caliche base has been applied to three blocks on East 15th and after it is conditioned by rolling, topping will be applied. One block on 10th street, between Scurry and Gregg, is expected to be completely curbed Monday, with only a small amount of concrete work remaining at the end of the week. The Rannels street project, between 11th Place and 18th street, will be started as soon as negotiations can be completed with two out of town property owners, City Manager B. J. McDaniel said. Contact work on the voluntary payment procedure has been started on Washington boulevard, Lincoln Ave. and Martha and Jefferson streets. Indications are that most property owners there will join in the program, McDaniel said, with about 10 per cent already signed up.

Mahon Friends To Attend Rally

A number of Howard county friends of Congressman George Mahon plan to go to Colorado City Monday evening, when a Mahon rally is to be staged, marking the opening of the representative's campaign for reelection in the 19th district. Coloradans are planning a big crowd affair at Ruddick Park. Coloradans are planning a big crowd affair at Ruddick Park, where the program will start at 7:30, with band music. Mahon is due to speak at 8, and the program will be interspersed with selections by the Stamps-Baxter quartet. The Howard County Mahon club is sponsoring a local delegation. Those who are interested in going to the Colorado program are asked to get in touch with R. L. Cook, local chairman.

The Week

be no conflict if the water was for municipal usage and would take only 20 per cent of the Robert Lee potential. If, however, it should appear it would cut the Robert Lee lake project out of the picture, a stiff fight might be expected.

You can look for a big crowd to turn out at the city park Thursday evening for the program and free fireworks display. Our guess is that 6,000 is a bare minimum and it could be 50 per cent or more above that figure.

As a means of getting more money for local schools, R. L. Tollett, a member of the board, has advanced the idea of an election to permit raising of the tax rate, indicating he would even circulate such a petition. He also said he planned to retire from the board, possibly around Sept. 1. This would make three positions to be filled by the board, Dr. M. H. Bennett and L. W. Croft having filed their resignations.

Cattle receipts dropped way off last week. Scattered showers may have had some effect, but stronger influence was exerted by farmers and ranchers awaiting fate of the OPA.

The Baptist youth encampment proved a large affair again last week. Around 750 registered. In addition to providing a wholesome program, the camp resulted in a round 75 conversions.

Traffic congestion, and certainly noise, might be reduced sharply in the downtown district by adoption of a truck route which would divert through commercial traffic around the business section.

First Methodist workers made a splendid showing in their first week out on a building drive, getting approximately $33,000 pledged and paid on a proposed educational wing. It's good to see churches pressed for room. It's a healthy condition.

C. J. Staples will be the toastmaster Monday at 6:30 p. m. when the Toastmasters club holds its regular session in the Episcopal parish house.

D. M. McKinney is scheduled for a 10 minute address, while John Davis and Joe Pickle are billed for five-minute talks. Topic master for the evening will be Jack Y. Smith and Dr. R. B. G. Cowper will be general critic.

This will be the third session for the Toastmasters and members are loosening up—so are the critics.

AA Helps Those Wanting Help

This is the first of a series of articles on Alcoholics Anonymous by a member of the local chapter.—Ed.

Although the local chapter is hardly two weeks old, Alcoholics Anonymous is attracting considerable interest here. Several persons have asked how to get in touch with AA members and how the program works.

A. L. Stevenson explains some of the high points of AA as follows: Alcoholism exists as a grave problem that no social or welfare organization is capable of dealing with. The church, courts, educational institutions engaged in research, medicine, etc. have failed to find a preventative or cure. Even the liquor industry has spent millions to remove the stigma of the chronic alcoholic from its picture.

It exists within our own community, perhaps within our own family. There is no escaping the fact that there are a few people who simply cannot drink alcoholic beverages of any kind. Medicine says these people are sick, really sick.

The alcoholic is in a helpless plight. There is no way to turn, no cure or treatment. Only the alcoholic himself realizes that there is no cure. For the alcoholic remains an alcoholic until his dying day.

Alcoholics Anonymous, known among ourselves as AA, is a group of people who have found out that the many painful years of alcoholic torture can be but a memory. We have no cure but we do know a way to keep sober and be happy. Nearly every case has a general overall pattern and AA can help, although it is powerless in some cases due to surrounding peculiarities.

It all starts with the alcoholic admitting he or she is alcoholic, that his or her life has become unmanageable through use of alcohol, and that he or she wants to do something about it. Any alcoholic knows his score on this.

County Boys Win Grass Judging

Howard county 4-H club boys repeated Saturday as champion grass judges at a district encampment at Foster Park, Tankersley, west of San Angelo. Bobby Cathey, scoring 92, Perry Walker, 91, Lowie Rice 90, piled up 273 of a possible 300 points to win top honors in grass judging. Wayne White, alternate, had 87. Fritz Landers, Menard, was high individual with 99 points, and the Howard county team ranked in order under him. The Menard team scored 268 points. Schleicher county 229, Tom Green 224, Midland 221.

In the rifle contest, Howard county ranked third, Concho leading with 568 and Midland with 538. Twenty-five boys, headed by County Agent Durward Lewter, attended from here. In all there were 186 boys and 21 adults in attendance at the encampment which started Thursday afternoon and broke up Saturday afternoon. Howard county won the grass judging and placed third in the rifle contest at Odessa last year.

Williams Victim Of Shooting; Services Today

Funeral for Rufus Pitt (Ted) Williams, 36, victim of an accidental shooting, will be held at 6 p. m. today at the First Baptist church. Williams' body was discovered slumped over a fence three miles north of the Lamesa-Seminole highway in Gaines county by Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Teague, Seagraves, who were enroute Friday afternoon to Lamesa. The Teague's noticed a car with the door standing open and nearby the body of a man with one leg hung on the top wire of a fence. Stock of a .22 calibre rifle was across his leg and the barrel stuck in the sand. Teague concluded that Williams had been dead overnight. A bullet from the gun had struck him in the head as he apparently tried to climb the fence. Williams had been a resident of Big Spring for the past two years and recently moved to near Seagraves. He was born at Henrietta May 15, 1910. Surviving are his wife and three daughters, Nidra, Maxine and Nancy Karon. He leaves his mother, Mrs. C. W. Williams, Winters; three brothers; Calvin D. TRY THIS AMAZING HOME RECIPE TO TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Right in Your Own Home, You Can Lose Pounds of Excess Weight Without Starvation Diet or Strenuous Exercise

It's simple. It's amazing. How quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drug-gist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcenate (formerly called Barcel Concentrate). Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active. Perhaps you are overweight due to over indulgence in food or the wrong kind of food. With the Barcenate home recipe method, you do not have to starve yourself or go hungry. Just follow the simple instructions given on the label and you should get satisfactory results quickly. The very first pint you make up should show results. Why not slim down your figure without a lot of fuss and bother? Try the Barcenate way. Wear your streamlined frocks and slacks gracefully. Remember, if the very first bottle of Barcenate doesn't show you the sensible way to lose weight, your money will be refunded.

New Philippine Republic Keeps Date With Destiny

MANILA, June 29. (AP) —The Philippine Islands are keeping a date with destiny on the spot where, 50 years ago, Intolerant Spaniards killed Jose Rizal, patriot and scholar, who foresaw the independence of the Archipelago. The descendants of the Conquistadores killed the man, but not the idea. For, at the foot of a shell-scarred monument to the man, a solemn covenant between liberty-loving Americans and Filipinos will be fulfilled July 4.

The Philippine Commonwealth will become the Republic of the Philippines; Old Glory will be replaced by the Philippine flag and Manuel A. Roxas will take the oath as president of the new nation.

Thus will end officially nearly 48 years of American administration. Manila is rushing final preparations for the event. President Roxas had the new congress appropriate $200,000 for transportation of official guests and asked another $250,000 for their housing and entertainment.

J. A. Krug, Secretary of the Interior, the President Truman's personal representative, will give an address and read the proclamation of independence. Chief Justice Manuel V. Moran of the Philippines will administer the oath to Vice President Elpidio Quirino and then to Roxas. A treaty of general relations between the United States and the Republic of the Philippines will be signed.

President Roxas and other Filipino leaders see in independence an opportunity to make the republic an outstanding exponent of democratic government in the Orient and, as such, to exert a strong influence in the affairs of the Far East.

For 300 years, prior to the Spanish-American war, the islands were a non-too-happy colony of Spain. Open revolt first broke out in the middle of the 19th Century and came to a climax with the slaying of Rizal December 30, 1896.

US troops occupied Manila August 13, 1898 and proceeded almost immediately to organize a government broadly based on the American system. Within a month public schools had been reopened.

Commenting on this, former president Sergio Osmena said in 1925:

"The Filipinos will never forget the inspiring spectacle of American soldiers leaving their guns and, as emissaries of peace and good will with book in hand, repairing to the public schools to teach Filipino children the principles of citizenship."

WAA Officers To Be Here To Assist Vets

Big Spring has been chosen as a central point for regular visits of certifying officers of the War Assets Administration regional office in Fort Worth, in a program designed to increase service to veterans of World War II in their search for and acquisition of surplus property.

Beginning July 5 and 6, the certifying officers will be in the veterans contact office, room 308, Petroleum building every other week to facilitate certification of eligible veterans of Howard, Andrews, Gainer, Martin, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Mitchell and Glasscock counties.

Both a certifying officer and a veterans information specialist interviewer will be here July 5 and 6. Finis Brown and Clay W. Smith, both veterans, have been chosen as WAA representatives to make the regular visits here.

Veterans interested in acquiring surplus property should bring with them their honorable discharge or certificate of satisfactory service, or if on terminal leave, their leave papers, to enable Brown to complete the necessary papers certifying the veterans for such surplus property as they desire to obtain.

Fire Destroys Homes Of Pueblo Workers

PUEBLO, Mexico, June 29. (AP) —A second large fire late yesterday destroyed 200 workers' huts in a labor camp 25 miles from here while an ineffectual bucket brigade with little water tried to save household goods.

WHITE SANDS, N. M., June 29. (AP) —A record of at least 75 miles altitude was set in yesterday's firing of a German V-2 rocket at the Army's White Sands ordnance proving ground.

Skilled, Steady Hand Needed To Grind Lens Prescriptions

Although the average person seldom comes in closer contact with it than a routine visit to an optometrist, there is plenty of behind-the-scenes work involved in making those eyeglasses which a large portion of our contemporaries wear today.

The course traveled from the optometrist's office to the finished product is much the same as that of the medical prescription, from the doctor's office to the pharmacist's prescription is just as complicated as the compounding process carried out by the pharmacist, and in most cases it entails more time and requires work by more people.

The Big Spring Optical company in the Petroleum building, one of Big Spring's newest industries, is one of the few places in West Texas equipped to fill optometrist's prescriptions, and they virtually manufacture all types of lenses. Others are located at Fort Worth, Lubbock and El Paso.

The work is simple enough at the beginning, when the lens is merely ground to approximate specifications, but as it traverses the course leading to the finished product the complications multiply rapidly and the last few steps involve complete precision.

Much of the responsibility is placed on mechanical equipment, which can be set for various specifications, but it takes a skilled, steady hand to carry out some of the operations which still must be done manually.

The finished product is double-checked with the prescription on a lensometer, which instantly detects the slightest irregularity in a new lens.

The lensometer itself is a complicated apparatus, but it is essential, since it tells at a glance if all specifications have been met. If it says "no" either the lens is sent back for more grinding or a new one is started on its way.

An idea of the exactness required in the work can be taken from figures which show there are over 11 million lens combinations.

A. A. Marchant and P. H. Polk, both experienced opticians, came here from Lubbock last February and opened the Big Spring Optical company. They employ three regular, Billy Chrane, Floyd Stephens and Maxine Moore, and a fourth, Wesley Rogers, is to join the staff Monday.

HOME WITH DISCHARGE—James L. Byers arrived in Big Spring Saturday morning with his discharge from the navy after three years service. He had not seen his family in 20 months. At the time of his release in San Pedro, Calif., he was a seaman first class. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Byers.

Heroic Ships Meet Fate At Bikini Rendezvous

By CARLE HODGE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The Bikini Atoll guinea pig fleet includes some of the most heroic veterans of Uncle Sam's wartime Navy.

Among the battleships are the Arkansas, oldest of them all and survivor of two world wars. "Ark" helped in the Allied invasions of North Africa, Normandy and southern France.

Also in on the Normandy landing was the Nevada, first of the oilburning super-dreadnaughts and the only capital ship able to get underway at Pearl Harbor. Later she took part in the action off Okinawa. The Nevada, painted brightly, is to be the bullseye for the atomic bombardier.

Okinawa Ironsides

The veteran New York is another two ocean veteran who helped out in the North African invasion, then at Iwo Jima and was the only major ship to stay on the job at Okinawa without relief for the entire engagement. Fourth of the erstwhile naval queens is the Pennsylvania, peacetime flagship which participated in 13 amphibious landings.

Then, of course, there is the Saratoga, oldest carrier afloat which fought all the way through the war although officially "sunk" by the Japanese seven times. The other guinea pig carrier the Independence, won fame as a night carrier.

The heavy cruiser Salt Lake City sank or helped to sink 15 enemy ships, damaged 10 others. The heavy cruiser Pensacola fought her way from Australia early in the war back through the Pacific to Tokyo.

Among destroyers in the supporting cast are the Ralph Talbot with 14 operational and engagement stars to her credit; the Mugford that helped down three Pearl Harbor attackers; the Helm, which missed only two months of the entire war; the Stack, survivor of many attacks and participant in major Pacific campaigns; the Trippe which twice escorted the late President Roosevelt on conference trips; and the Flusser which was in the group which tried to intercept the Pearl Harbor attackers.

Other destroyers are the Bagley, which won eight engagement stars, downed 11 Jap planes and rescued 456 survivors of the First Battle of Savo Island; the Hughes, participant in 25 occupations or raids. All the others, the Wainwright, Mayrant, Smith, Lamson, Anderson, Cunyngnam and Mustin set enviable fighting records.

As for the subs, there are the Parche which sank or damaged 108,220 tons of Jap shipping in six patrols; the Dentuda, one of the newest type subs; the Skipjack which sank four Jap ships; the Seavren, which rescued 32 Australian aviators, and the Tuna, Pilotfish, Skate and Apogon.

Among the foreign element in the cast, the German heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen is best known for taking part in the fateful engagement with the British battlecruiser Hood, and for making a successful dash through the English channel. The Nagato was best known as the former flagship of Admiral Yamamoto.

Ninety-seven vessels, ranging from landing barges up to battleships, make up the fleet. Some 32,000 Navy men are in the contingent needed to move the fleet into position for the big blast and to man supporting vessels. About 2,100 Army men also belong to the Joint Army-Navy task force assigned to the bomb test.

Army Describes Chain Reaction Causing Deaths Of Atom Workers

LOS ALAMOS, N. M., June 29. — The Army today described the atomic chain reaction set up last May 21 when Dr. Louis B. Slotin, 35, Winnipeg, Canada, was burned fatally during an experiment at the Los Alamos atomic laboratory.

The report also disclosed that the accident that cost the life of another scientist, Harry K. Daghlan, 24, New London, Conn., in September was "almost identical."

In both cases equipment slipped allowing fissionable materials of the type used in atom bombs to come together swiftly instead of under control.

Seven others working with Slotin were burned, but recovered. Daghlan was working alone.

The Army report gave this description of the accident:

"An accident occurred when a piece of equipment slipped. This brought the material together beyond the critical point.

This resulted in a tremendous energy release present through a sensation of heat and visual perception of a blue glow around the material.

"In the words of one of the men present, 'it was like you were standing near an arc welder when he struck the arc.'

"The blue glow resulted from the ionization of air particles by radiation emanating from the fissionable material. There was no explosion in the sense that there were no mechanical effects, no debris, no noise.

"In the millionths of a second in which this occurred, the immediate area and all in it were bombarded by intense high energy gamma rays and neutrons of all energies — fast, intermediate and slow. There were no beta and no alpha radiation.

"Dr. Slotin, at the instant of the mishap, knocked the equipment apart, thus halting the intensifying radiation and averting serious consequences, possibly death to his companions."

"The medical men began to treat the accident victims as soon as they were admitted to the hospital," the report said. "This treatment, in general, consisted of many transfusions of whole blood and plasma and fluids, principally glucose and saline."

The report said the burns suffered by Slotin were comparable to a "three-dimensional sunburn," explaining: "The skin burns from the radiation are superficial, but as the rays penetrate the body they burn deep, resulting in injury and destruction of tissue and blood cells."

Daghlan, whose burns were less severe, died in 26 days after the accident.

School Census Shows Gain For County

Census of Howard county scholastics, which was completed Friday by the county school superintendent's office and forwarded in the State Department of Education for final consolidation, showed an increase of 215 students this year over the 1945-46 school year.

While the common school districts showed a gain of but one, Big Spring schools picked up 157 scholastics during the year. The independent districts of Knott and Coahoma also had more scholastics.

Coahoma reported 367 as against 331 for the '45-'46 year while Knott's 330 potential represented an increase of 21 for the year.

Shifts were slight in common school registration with the 17 districts amounting to 1001 as compared to an even 1000 last year.

The districts and the number of scholastics reported included:

R-Bar, 39; Vincent, 48; Morris, 11; Gay Hill, 69 (two colored); Center Point, 100; Midway, 129; Chalk - Forsan, 194; Elbow, 65; Cauble, 51; Moore, 51; Hartwells, 32; Lomax 42; Morgan, 15; Fairview, 47 (two colored); Richland, 31; Green Valley, 9; County Line district (Vealmoor), 37 in Howard county and 30 in Borden county.

The report on the census has been forwarded to John Olson, census director of the State Department of Education where it will be reviewed and returned here for entrance into the records.

Bikini Ships Laid Out As A City For Bomb Blast

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

BIKINI, June 29. — Every fighting ship of the a-bomb fleet—except for a few destroyers—is in position in Bikini Lagoon where it would be destroyed or severely damaged—were ships buildings.

And every one—with the same exceptions—is set so that even if it is not destroyed, the persons inside would be mostly killed or injured by the blast—if the ships were sturdy concrete or steel land structures.

But all ships are stronger by far than most edifices. All will be cushioned by water as the blast hits them. And this cushioning should save most of them from being torn to pieces.

It should be understood that, first, the a-bomb is strictly a land weapon. This means that the air explosion planned for July 1 is not at all the manner in which an atom bomb would be used against navies, but very strictly, a man's use against cities.

For this reason, the target ships have been anchored in a nearly perfect imitation of a small city. They are dense near the center like a crowding of skyscrapers. There are more than 20 warships in this city like the center in a circle not much more than a mile in diameter.

The warships in the center are so densely packed that from a couple of miles away it is not possible to see the spaces between most of them. This floating city is laid out like old-time capit a central structure with streets radiating in four directions.

Jews Charge British With Aggressive Act

LONDON, June 29. — The Jewish Agency for Palestine said Britain's action against Jewish leaders in Palestine today was a "clear act of aggression" against the entire Jewish people.

Seizure of the agency's Jerusalem headquarters and the arrest of its leaders, the statement said, were designed to "destroy both the achievements and aspirations of the Jewish people."

Board Represents Twelve Local Unions

Twelve local unions were represented at the regular Friday night session of Associated Labor Legislative board at the court house.

Representatives were called upon to speak extemporaneously on what they believed the unit's policies should be in relation to the current political races. In turn, additional data on the labor records of the men currently in public office was read from prepared documents.

The weekly meetings will continue throughout the summer.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

One of the most courageous athletes of Our Town is Jimmy Daylong, star tosser of the Manhattan Club softball team, and brother to the likeable, loquacious Johnny Daylong, Big Spring Hardware hill ace. Jimmy suffered an injury to his eyes some time ago, was blind for three months. An operation but partially restored his sight and when he huris today he sees the batter as a blur, lines his sights up with the catcher. A ball hit back at him he fields more by instinct than anything else. Yet, despite his handicap, he's one of the hardest workers in Muny circles, is one of the better pitchers. He may undergo another operation on his precious optics soon and he'll have the whole league pulling for him.

Rumor is running rampant that the Bengal ranks, like those of the New York Yanks, are split apart by dissention. It is known that Hank Greenberg has been having words with some of his team mates, notably Dizzy Trout. Blas Monaco, the former WT-NM league, is now leading off for Seattle. In their first 12 games this season, the Oakland Oaks of the Pacific Coast league drew more than half a million paying customers. Out that way, teams play seven-game series. Ted Groehl, the local oil man, has given the Muny league another set of bases for which the loop president, Dewey Collum, and the managers are most grateful. George has had no success trying to lift the Lobos out of the circuit cellar, due mainly to the fact that he hasn't one reliable pitcher on his staff. Tom Brown Wins Over Britisher At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, June 29 (AP)—California Tom Brown, who rolled through Europe two summers ago pumping mortar shells at the Nazis, had wheeled impressively through the first week of the all-England tennis championships, and tonight his one-man campaign revived American hopes of winning all five Wimbledon titles.

While Queen Mother Mary and Prime Minister Attlee gazed from the royal box, the 23-year-old San men's singles, 6-1, 6-1, 6-3, and Mottram, Britain's last hope in the Franciscan today ousted Tony wound up with seven others in the quarter-finals.

The victory left Brown alone to carry on for the US as his last surviving teammate, Budge Patty of Los Angeles, fell before D nny Falls, Australia's newest star, 6-2, 6-1, 7-5.

Mrs. Patricia Canning Todd came closest to supplying today's big crowd with an upset when she snatched an opening set from her fellow Californian, third-seeded Louise Brough, and carried her favored opponent to deuce in the second before tiring and losing out, 2-6, 9-7, 6-1.

By her hard-earned victory Miss Brough joined four other seeded American girls among the last 16 in women's singles—Pauline Betz, Dorothy Bundy, Doris Hart and Margaret Osborne.

Miss Osborne required only 22 minutes today to defeat Sue Panettier of France, 6-0, 6-0. Miss Hask disposed of Mrs. R. C. Panten of Britain, 6-1, 6-4. Miss Betz and Miss Bundy won their fourth round matches yesterday.

Cosden Poloists Take Vacation

The Cosden polo team has temporarily called a halt to their summer campaigning due to the absence of two of the star mallet-wielders, Gus Sr. and Gus Jr. White.

Father and son have gone to Colorado to take care of some work on one of their places in that state.

The Ollers will probably return to action on July 4, if suitable opposition can be found, according to Dr. M. H. Bennett, one of the team members.

Last Sunday's game with Lubbock, which was to have been played in Lamesa, was called off due to unsuitable grounds and threatening weather.

Minnesota's Bob Fitch Establishes Record In Discus At San Antonio

Dillard Winner In Two Events, NYAC Top Team

SAN ANTONIO, June 29 (AP)—Massive Bob Fitch of the University of Minnesota bettered the world record for the discus throw and Lenart Strand, the Swedish thin man, ran America's top distance ace into the ground today in climaxing features of a National A.A.U. track and field meet in which favorites bit the dust right and left.

Fitch slung the platter 179 feet 1-8 inch, which while not up to his best throw this season still was almost six feet better than the AAU record and more than four feet ahead of the accepted world's mark of 174 feet 10 3/4 inches set by Adolfo Consolini of Italy in 1941.

Strand, running in the top event of the day—the 1,500 meters—held back for two laps as Bill Overton, Montgomery, Ala., schoolboy set the pace, but the Swedish star took over just as the third lap started and racing easily, piled up a lead of 30 yards at the finish. Leslie MacMillan of New York wound up second with Tommy Quinn of the New York A. C. third and Jack Dainetti, the East Rochester, N. Y., schoolboy, fourth. Strand's time of 3:54.5 was far off the AAU record but the way he ran the last two laps indicated he could have given the record of 3:47.9 a going over had he chosen to set the pace all the way.

Harrison Dillard, the chunky negro from Baldwin-Wallace college, took the meet's individual star, taking both the 110-meter and 200-meter hurdles—the only doubles winner of the day. But another big favorite, Herb McKenley, tall negro from the University of Illinois, was overtaken in the last 50 yards by dusky Elmore Harris of Shore, AC, and beaten out by three strides in time of 46.3.

Barney Ewell, of the Shanahan Catholic club of Philadelphia, defending champion in the 100-meter dash, was thumbed out of the race for twice jumping out of the gun. Ewell came back to win the 200-meter dash, edging Lloyd Labeach of the University of Wisconsin in a photo finish.

For the record, the New York Athletic club won the team championship, piling up 79 points. Five first places were included among its winnings. The Olympic club of San Francisco finished second with 60 points, Los Angeles AC with third with 55 2-5 and the University of Illinois was fourth with 32.

Bill Bangert, Purdue star athlete, won the shot put with a heave of 52 feet 2 1/2 inches.

Dillard won the high hurdles in 14.2 and the 200-meter low hurdles in 23.3—neither close to a record.

A crowd of 5,000 saw today's meet.

United States Netters Sweep Matches From Mexicans In Davis Cup Battle

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., June 29 (AP)—Uncle Sam's hopes of wresting the Davis Cup from Australia seemed brighter today when Frank Parker and Billy Talbert turned in easy victories over their singles rivals to give the United States a 2-0 lead over Mexico in the five-match North American zone cup tennis series.

Parker accounted for Rolando Vega by scores of 6-0, 6-0, 6-2, while Talbert defeated Rolando's brother, Armando, the Mexican singles champion, 6-1, 6-2, 6-1.

The brothers will meet Talbert and Gardner Mulloy, of Miami, the US doubles titlist, in a doubles match tomorrow. A victory by Talbert and Mulloy would clinch the series for the United States and reduce the two remaining singles contests to mere exhibitions.

And, a victory over Mexico would advance the United States to a series against New Zealand, the only competing nation in the Pacific zone. New Zealand, however, is not expected to send a team to this country. Thus, the next opponent of the Mexico-United States series likely would be the winner of the European zone final between Sweden and Yugoslavia.

Airport Brigade Tops Standings

Airport Baptist now roosts alone atop the standings in the senior boys' division of the Church softball league. The Baptists turned back the Salvation Army boys, 11-3, in a game played on the Airport Baptists field earlier in the week, 15-8.

James Abbey and James Findley of Airport locked horns with Andy Daylong of Salvation Army in a pitchers battle for three and a half innings with the score tied at 3-3. Then the Baptists exploded, including a four-run circuit smash by Manager Brown, and a homer by Cain to chase across eight tallies.

The two teams meet once more during the first half.

The Airport youngsters seek to improve on their record in a game Monday evening with the First Baptist on their own playing field. Starting time is 6:30 o'clock.

Remainder of the schedule:

SENIOR BOYS
Tuesday—East Fourth Baptist vs. Airport, 6:45 p. m., at city park; Christians vs. Methodists, 8:30, at city park; Salvation Army vs. First Baptists, 6:30, Salvation Army field.

WEDNESDAY—YMCA vs. Airport Baptist, 6:30, at Airport.
Friday—East Fourth vs. Methodist, 6:30 at SA field; Airport Baptist vs. Christians, 6:30, at Airport.

SENIOR GIRLS
Monday—East Fourth Baptist vs. First Baptist, 5:45.

CHICAGO, June 29 (AP)—Bob Feller won his 13th game of the season today when the Cleveland Indians beat the Chicago White Sox, 2-0, before 9,630 fans. Gene Woodling's triple in the eighth with two on base supplied the margin of victory.

Feller limited the Pale Hose to four hits and struck out nine men, lifting his season's total to 174 in 163 innings. The all-time record is 343, set by Rube Waddell of the 1904 Philadelphia A's.

YANKS BLANKED BY A'S, 2-0

NEW YORK, June 29 (AP)—Russ Christopher and Jesse Flores combined their pitching talents today to shut out the New York Yankees 2-0 and hand veteran Charley (Red) Fenwick his first feat of the season after five straight victories. George McQuinn accounted for the first Mackmen run when he smashed his third homer of the season.

Christopher and Flores limited the Yanks to six hits, all singles with the exception of a two-base blow by Joe Gordon. Christopher gave up three hits in the five rounds he worked.

The A's, in scoring their second victory in ten starts against the New Yorkers, picked up their other run in the eighth. Buddy Rosar doubled to drive home Hall. Philadelphia - 000 100 010—2 7 1

Collegiate Title Georgia Owned

PRINCETON, N. J., June 29 (AP)—George Hamer, an almost unknown Georgia golfer, turned hotter than the weather on the last two rounds today to win the National Collegiate A.A. individual golf championship by a four-stroke margin.

Hamer shattered par by seven strokes on the last two rounds to finish the 72-hole medal play test with an aggregate of 288 strokes.

Charles "Babe" Lind of Denver University finished with 73-74 for a 290 total.

Charlie Coe of Oklahoma, who blew himself to a 79 on the third round, took third place with 298, followed by Dick Whiting of Notre Dame with 301 and Jacques Houdey of Princeton with 303.

Loboes Hit Road Until July 11

LAMESA, June 30—Lamesa's baseball Loboes, who hit the road today after a disastrous home stay, will be away until July 11.

They return home a week from Thursday with Abilene's Blue Sox forming the opposition and Manager George Sturdivant hopes to have them out of the WT-NM league cellar by that time.

The Loboes now trail seventh-place Clovis by three and a half games and age 28 games behind the league leading Abilene Sox.

Last Half Of Muny Softball League Chase Starts Monday

Forsan To Test Cosden Oilers First Evening

Traffic will be heavy on the track in the breakaway of the second half of Muny softball play this week with a dozen games booked for the first five nights.

Cosden's Oilers, winners of the first half, ran into a rugged hurdle their first time out, meeting the Forsan Cosden Pipeliners at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening in Forsan.

The Pipeliners obviously are gunning for the last half title. Their upset mighty Coahoma last week to set the stage for the elimination of the Stanolind club from the chase.

All eleven clubs in the circuit have strengthened for the far side sprint. Perhaps the most improved contingent is the circuit's "Phillies"—Eddie Hammond's United Body Works contingent—which didn't win a game last half but undoubtedly will improve on that mark by several ops.

The Mechanics show their wares against Lige Brothers' Dub's Garage tripe in the second game at Forsan Monday.

The schedule for the week: MONDAY—Forsan vs. Cosden at Forsan; Dub's vs. UBW at Forsan; ABC vs. Big Spring Hardware here; VFW vs. Manhattan here.

WEDNESDAY—Dub's vs. Big Spring Hardware here; Forsan vs. UBW here.

THURSDAY—Manhattan vs. Big Spring Motor at Forsan; VFW vs. ABC at Forsan; Redcaps vs. Coahoma here; Cosden vs. UBW here.

FRIDAY—Redcaps vs. Big Spring Motor here; Cosden vs. Coahoma here.

It is estimated that 3,000,000 persons throughout the world die of malaria annually.

Todd Fires 66 To Take Lead At Montreal

MONTREAL, June 28—(AP)—Harry Todd of Dallas, Tex., blazed around the Beaconfield Club course in a six-under-par 66 today to hold a slim one-stroke lead at the 54-hole mark of the Canadian open golf championship.

The lanky Texan clipped one stroke from par on the first nine with a 35 but turned on the steam in the stretch with a sizzling five under par 31 for a 66 and a total of 207.

Pressing Todd closely at 208 was a trio headed by Lloyd Mangrum, US open champion from Chicago who also turned in a 35-31-66 today, George Fazio of Los Angeles and Gordon Brydson of Toronto each turned in third round 70s to match Mangrum's 208.

Another pair of ranking US pros, E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, of Little Rock, Ark., and big Vic Ghezzi of Knoxville, Tenn., were right up in the running with 209. Harrison, leader at the halfway mark, skidded to an even par 72—not impressive in this field of par-busters. Ghezzi, co-runnerup to Mangrum in the US open, breezed around the course in a snappy 69.

The third 66 of the day was turned in by Skip Alexander of Lexington, who was three strokes off the pace with 210. He was tied with Bobby Burns of Burlington, Ont., who fired a 69.

Fourth Triumph In Row Brook Increases Lead By Stopping Braves

BROOKLYN, June 28—(AP)—Held hitless for four innings the Brooklyn Dodgers suddenly found their batting prowess and slugged their way to a 12-3 victory over the Boston Braves today to increase their first place lead to four full games over the idle St. Louis Cardinals.

In registering their fourth straight win, the Dodgers strung together two big innings, the fifth and sixth, sending across 11 runs to enable Kirby Higbe to coast to his eighth victory of the season without a setback.

In the fifth Dick Whitman made the first Brooklyn hit, a home run that tied the score 2-2, the Braves having counted twice in the fourth.

Suggs Outshoots Berg In Finals

DES MOINES, June 28—Louise Suggs, a frozen-faced fighting Georgian, roared from behind on the last six greens to whip former champion Patty Berg of Minneapolis, two up, in their 36-hole Women's Western Open Golf championship match over ram-drenched Wakonda club today.

Miss Suggs, co-medalist with Miss Berg, holed a sizzling 18-foot putt on the 33rd hole and grazed the 34th hole with a dramatic 85-foot chip shot which stopped 5 inches from the cup. Those two shots erased a two-hole lead by Miss Berg.

Then Louise, 115-pounder from Lithia Springs, Ga., matched par on the final two holes to win them easily from the demoralized Patty, who had copped the open in 1941 and 1943.

Miss Suggs, who yesterday had whipped defending champion Babe Dirks-Zaharias of Denver, Colo., 1 up in 18 holes, matched par 38 in her amazing final nine burst and finished the 36 in 157, three over par. Patty faltered for a final nine 40 and a 160 total.

Flag Tournament At C-C July 4

Members of the Big Spring country club — those who golf — will take part in a flag tournament there Thursday, July 4.

Pro-Manager Shirley Robbins will exact a fee of $1 from the male entrants to cover the expenditures of merchandise prizes to be proffered the winners.

The men will shoot through 18 holes, more or less. They'll establish their handicap at a specified figure and shoot until they run out of strokes. Then down goes the flag. The person with the flag the greatest distance from the starting point wins.

In addition to the athletic activity, there'll be a sort of buffet supper proffered the members. That will take place after the matches.

Texan Is Beaten In NCAA Finals

EVASTON, Ill., June 28—(AP)—Bob and Tom Falkenburg of the University of Southern California today defeated Gardner Larned and Bernard Barzen of the College of William and Mary, for the NCAA tennis doubles championship, 7-5, 2-6, 6-3, 5-7, 7-5.

Bartzen hails from San Angelo, Texas.

Twenty-year-old Bob, younger of the two, earlier won the NCAA singles with a straight set victory over Larned 7-5, 6-2, 6-2.

Williams Paces Red Sox To Win Over Senators

BOSTON, June 28 (AP)—Tenaucous Ted Williams snatched the American League batting lead from Mickey Vernon by belting a three-run double and a triple on his two official slugging tries today while the Red Sox were whaling the Washington Nats, 13-6, to give Tex Hughson his eighth win and his fifth in a row.

The triumph, which increased the Soxers' first-place lead, over the Yankees to eight games, was their eighth in nine starts against the Nats.

Hughson, decidedly off-form, owed his triumph to the seven-run blasting the Soxers gave Walt Masterson and Al Lamacchia in the third inning, after the Nats had pulled into a 4-0 lead.

The Nats belted Hughson and Bob Klingner for 14 hits, including Stan Spence's 11th homer of the season.

Travis went hitless in two official tries while Spence had two singles in addition to his four-master.

West Stops Huff In Doctors' Duel

FORT WORTH, June 28—(AP)—Top-seeded Dr. Fred West of TCU for the second straight year will play in the men's singles finals of the Texas sectional tennis tournament at Colonial Country club.

In a torrid three-hour semi-final match today, Dr. West came from behind to win three out of five sets over sixth-seeded Dr. Gerald Huff of Dallas, 3-6, 6-4, 6-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Dr. West's Sunday opponent will be the winner of the semi-final match between fifth-seeded Jack Smith of Fort Worth and second-seeded Harold Folks of San Antonio.

Third-seeded James Saunders of Amarillo meets Bennie Stanford of Dallas in the junior boys' singles final. Saunders today took out Julian Oates, Waco, who eliminated second-seeded Dixon Osborn of Dallas. Osborn had eliminated top-seeded Bernard Gerhardt of Austin. Saunders' victory over Oates was 6-2, 6-2.

Phillies Outslugged By New York Giants

PHILADELPHIA, June 28 (AP)—Scoring three runs in the eighth inning, the New York Giants came from behind to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies 10-8 in a slugfest marked by 28 hits, 16 by the losers.

Jim Tabor, who enjoyed a perfect day at bat, clouted out a home run with a runner on base in the first round. Johnny Wyrostek had a triple and two singles for the Phils.

Charley Schanz, who hurled only 2-3rds of an inning, was charged with the loss.

Mushball Clubs Face Busy Week

Softball teams of Big Spring Hardware and Manhattan Club are going to get their fill of action the coming week.

Both the Spartans and the Clubbers are booked to open the second half of the Muny softball league schedule Monday night.

The Hardware gang plays ABC in the first bout here, while the Manhattan take the field against VFW in the afterpiece.

Tuesday Manhattan invades San Angelo to play a first round game in the West Texas tournament against Gabriel of Odessa. Game time is 9 p. m.

The Spartans tangle with Carr, Powell of Angelo at 7:40 Wednesday in their first round game of the Angelo tournament. If the two Big Spring teams survive first round tests, they play again Thursday. However, those games may be postponed.

The management of both the Manhattan and Big Spring Hardware are expected to recruit strong teams for the Angelo invasion.

Leon Bredemeyer Stops Redcaps

Leon Glenn Bredemeyer tossed a no-hitter at Doc Wilkinson's Redcaps but errors cost him a perfect game as Big Spring Motor turned back the Stationmen, 7-3, in an exhibition softball game played at city park diamond Friday night.

The Motorists grabbed the lead in the initial round when Charles Teague drove out a four-baser and were never headed thereafter.

Teague had another round-tripper in the fourth and a single to pace the attack on Morris Crittendon.

Others who participated in the nine-hit attack were Bredemeyer, Grady Stevens and G. G. Runyan, who collected two-blows each.

Archery Class Gains In Popularity Here

Jack Thompson's archery classes, which are conducted under YMCA supervision, are gaining in popularity.

When Thompson launched the school three weeks ago, five persons accepted the invitation to report for the indoctrination. Now, about 15 are going through the drills with him in the basin immediately north of Cowper's clinic on Greag street.

The archers gather with Thompson at 6 p. m. on Mondays and Wednesdays.

Persons desiring to shoot the bow-and-arrow must furnish their own equipment.

Legionnaire Management Books 5 Games; Fems In Brownfield Today

T. J. Dunlap, skipper of the American Legion girls' softball team, has booked five games through Saturday, July 27, and is trying to arrange another with the Midland Colts.

The Legionnaires, who have won seven games in nine starts, journey to Brownfield this afternoon for a 5 o'clock game. The Brownfield club is managed by Frances Gillam, who, in a telephone conversation with Dunlap the other day, told him her club was the best of a half dozen teams in that area.

Another Brownfield team invades Big Spring Saturday, July 6, for an 8 p. m. bout.

Saturday, July 13, the Sewell V-8 contingent of Odessa comes here for a third try against the local fems. The two aggregations have fought to deadlocks in their other games. The first game was called at midnight with the score tied at 24-all while rain washed out the second after three innings of play. Each team had tallied once.

A local club captained by Arah

Phillips and sponsored by the YMCA will test the mettle of the Legionnaires at 7 o'clock Tuesday, July 16, at the park while on Saturday, July 27, the locals visit San Angelo for a third start against the Red Chicks. They've taken two decisions from the Angelenos already.

The management is trying to book the Midland game for Saturday, July 20.

Ackerly Dial Phone System Opens Today

New telephone service at Ackerly will inaugurate today at 7 p. m. W. D. Berry, owner of the Knott-Ackerly system announced Saturday.

At that hour, existing connections will be switched over to a dial system.

Berry estimated that there would be from 75 to 80 phones in Ackerly on the new board Sunday evening, and that another 25 would be added within a week or 10 days. These will include some rural numbers, but most of the rural lines will be tied in subsequently.

The Knott exchange will likely not be operative before August, said Berry, because the board equipment has not been received. Most of the other equipment is on hand and lines are up on part of the system.

Toll calls from Ackerly will be handled by Big Spring, and other calls, such as for information, will be handled from Big Spring.

Follow-Up Meeting Expected By Cities To Discuss Proposed Colorado Lake

Status of the proposed upper Colorado river dam to impound a five-city water supply remained the same Saturday, but Big Spring members of various committees anticipated a follow-up meeting within a week or 10 days.

Convoing of a general meeting of the Colorado River Municipal water association will be up to Marvin H. Ulmer, Midland, president. Whether he will call a session until such a time as Colorado City has filed, or is ready to file as trustee for Snyder, Big Spring, Midland, and Odessa, is doubtful.

However, it is possible that some of the committees will hold sessions to prosecute plans for applying to the state board of water engineers for an allocation of the river's waters and otherwise taking steps toward the creation of a district or exploring further the possibilities of a big lake supply.

As outlined on the basis of preliminary engineering reports made at an organization meeting here June 20, a 2,600-foot dam across the Colorado five miles northwest of Colorado City would impound a lake of 110,000 acre feet. The lake would be about 80 feet at its deepest point, a mile and a half at the longest point and stretch around 23 miles in length, curving into southwestern Scurry county. Engineers predicted it would supply 26,000,000 gallons daily.

PROPOSED LAKE LAYOUT—The accompanying map shows the location of a proposed lake on the upper Colorado river; the effective drainage area, indicated by the dotted lines which encompass parts of Mitchell, Scurry, Howard, Dawson, Lyran and virtually all of Borden county; the pipelines which would be required to deliver water to Snyder, Colorado City, Big Spring, Midland and Odessa. The dam is proposed as a means of impounding a lake capable of supplying 26,000,000 gallons daily to the five cities. (Map courtesy Fort Worth Star-Telegram.)

Independent 10-inch lines would connect Colorado City and Snyder, a 30-inch main with Big Spring, a 24-inch main to Midland, and 18-inch main to Odessa.

Should a water district be created and undertake the project, it would in turn take over existing productive facilities, paying an annual rental equivalent to amortizing the funded debt against these facilities. Charge for water, possibly in excess of 17 cents per thousand gallons, would be made equally to participating cities.

Cost of the project was estimated at $10,000,000, and, presumably, would be financed by revenue bonds to be repaid from proceeds of sale of water only. Engineers envisioned the proposal as a means of trebling water supplies of the five cooperating cities.

Two Youngsters Held For Theft

Two youngsters, both ten years of age, are confined to the county juvenile ward on charges of bicycle theft. The pair will probably have juvenile delinquency petitions filed against them shortly.

The duo admitted taking four bicycles within the past several days and selling them to bargain-hunting minors who accepted the goods under "no questions asked" conditions.

One of the youths, who has had his name entered on the police records six times within the past year, told Juvenile Officer Jake Bruton he had been sleeping in unlocked cars for the past several nights rather than go home.

Aged Man Travels About On Bicycle

A greybeard who prefers to remain anonymous wheeled in here Thursday night on a 20-year-old bicycle, wheeled out Friday morning to resume a trip that he claims will take him from Canada to Cuba.

The ancient paused in a filling station attended at the time by F. H. Landers to refill his casings and engage in a bit of honest discourse with Landers.

He told Landers he had made five trips across the continent on the bicycle, liked to "travel about as free as a bird." He chatted freely about everything but his name, which he refused to divulge.

In a quiet ceremony to be performed this morning at nine o'clock in the Shine Philips home Mrs. Ellen Wood will be married to Earl Ezzell.

The double ring vows were to be read by Rev. J. E. McCoy from the Episcopal ceremony before the mantel - altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and banked with fern and palms.

Given in marriage by her son, Barkley Wood, the bride's costume was to be a dove gray linen suit made on dressmaker style. Her straw hat accented the tone her frock and was decorated with white flowers, and she wore white gloves.

Big Spring Women Want To Keep Jobs Earn Own Money

With the creation of a large armed service came also the spreading germ of women in industry and business, and according to the local US Employment Service, such business personnel is here to stay.

During the war years women were forced to get out and out for themselves since their providers were called away, and they had both to meet the labor demand and to make their own livings.

In more metropolitan areas women took positions such as directing movies, supervising television shows, working in industrial plants and so forth. Though on a less glamorous scale in Big Spring one became increasingly aware that it was becoming more and more a woman's world. Here there were women on the job as mechanics, filling station attendants, taxi drivers, and even riveters.

There were office jobs held by women which they could never have hoped to obtain prior to the abrupt lack of man-power. The women did their jobs well, and according to USES reports they will continue to do so. Henry A. Clark, manager, declared that there are now more women in business in Big Spring than before the war, and most women indicate that they intend to maintain their position as wage earners.

Love Triangle In Ritz Feature

Warner Bros.' scintillating new comedy, "One More Tomorrow," which opens today at the Ritz Theatre, is a refreshingly different motion picture that should evoke immediate gratitude to the hearts of a number of movie-goers now weary of the more somber film fare that has come from Hollywood in the past few seasons.

With crisp and sparkling dialogue, smartly sophisticated situations revolving about an unusual romantic triangle, and a superlative cast headed by five of film-land's top stars — Ann Sheridan,

Dennis Morgan, Jack Carson, Alexis Smith and Jane Wyman—"One More Tomorrow" wins this column's unqualified vote as the brightest comedy to come this way in many a moon.

Based on a play by Philip Barr, "One More Tomorrow" was adapted for the screen by Charles Hoffman and Catherine Turney with additional dialogue by Julius J. and Philip G. Epstein, and recounts the tribulations of a group of talented young people whose energies are directed into publishing a liberal magazine.

When, in addition to business problems, a three-sided romance springs up, it threatened not only the happiness of the man and the two women who love him, but bids fair to wreck the entire publishing venture, too.

The picture's plum role, from a purely masculine point of view, has fallen to Dennis Morgan, who, as Tom Collier, millionaire playboy and owner of the magazine, has numerous and enviable opportunities to make love to Christie Sage (Ann Sheridan), talented young photographer; and later, to Cecilia (Alexis Smith), too.

Jane Wyman, as Franc Connors, photographic assistant to Christie, contributes another of her disarmingly natural and sincere portrayals which have made her famous; while Jack Carson as Pat Regan, Tom's extraordinary valet, adds substantially to his already sound reputation as a top-notch comedian.

The boysenberry is a variety of blackberry-like bramble fruit with a raspberry-like flavor which was developed in California from three types of blackberries, a variety of raspberry and the loganberry.

Car Tax Expires, Not To Be Renewed

June 30 brings up another tax deadline, but in this case the welcome mat has been put out by car owners and corporation heads.

Federal auto use stamps expire, and since they have been abolished, car owners will not have to pay the $5 for another year. Total revenue derived from the stamps in Howard county during the past year amounted to $8,950, Postmaster Nat Shick said.

Also deleted from the tax list is the capital stock tax for corporations. They formerly were assessed at the rate of $1.25 for each $1,000 declared value.

Job Belongs To Mama And Papa

Authorities are concerned deeply about the rising wave of crime, particularly because of the part juveniles are having in it. Statistics now indicate that better than half the nation's crime can be attributed to youngsters 18 years of age and under.

The worst part about it is the nature of crime in which these children are participating. Murder is not at all uncommon. Sex offenses have multiplied, and among young girls is up by better than 350 per cent. Drunkenness has increased, and wanton destruction along with burglary and robbery are way up. There is scarcely anything in the book that juveniles (and that term now includes those from the "kid" stage up to 18 instead of the former 16-18 category) haven't done.

In the light of general trends, we have much for which to be thankful here. By comparison we are in excellent shape. Still, we have some youngsters who are contributing to the trend. How to get at the problem is the burning question.

First of all, some effort should be made to understand the psychological attitudes which have been embraced by the youngsters. Not infrequently, when the youthful offenders are apprehended, they exhibit no symptom of remorse or regret. Some too young for juvenile statutes have been known to flaunt officers with the fact. Others say:

"Well, what are you gonna do about it?" Still more puzzling is the lack of reason for offenses. The stock answer for having stolen and destroyed is: "We wanted to have fun." For more violent crimes: "We wanted excitement."

There are two basic remedies. One is to give these children and young people opportunity to engage in something wholesome and constructive. In this field Big Spring is making notable progress with YMCA activities, junior teams sponsored by veterans organizations, Salvation Army activities, Vacation Bible schools and church youth camps.

The other remedy is intelligent discipline at home. No young man is going to be stealing, destroying property, carousing, etc. at 2 a. m. if his parents make sure he is home in bed at a proper hour. No young girl is going to fall into sorry habits if her parents have regard for the hours and the company she keeps.

Some communities and even one state has resorted to making parents liable for damage done by their children. Perhaps this has considerable merit. Still better would be the recognition of the fact that Mama and Papa can't wash their hands of responsibility for the moral character of their children and that they can't sew wild oats themselves and command an audience against it from their children.

Helga Awaits Husband

BERLIN, (AP)—Helga is waiting for a husband she hopes will never come back.

He is a German officer captured before Stalingrad. Four years as a Russian prisoner have changed him so much Helga is reluctant to resume her broken life with him. "He has become a Communist—and that I never can stand," she said. "I cannot live with a husband who is a Communist."

Helga belongs to the great landowner class in Silesia, a class that in a single year she says has been wiped out by expropriation and splitting up of the land among Polish peasants.

Now Helga is a kind of feminine majordomo in an American household here. Instead of the spacious old German country house of which she was once mistress, she has as her home one room in a dwelling of strangers, a small room with a bed, a wash bowl and a window.

"My father was an officer in the last war under the Kaiser," she said. When I was in school I wanted to be a doctor, but he told me that I must study agriculture because he would die soon, and there was nobody else to run the farm.

"He wanted me to marry, and I guess he did pick my husband for me. I knew nothing of the world. I liked to go hunting and riding but nothing was the same after my father died. I love no man so much as I did my father."

Helga's husband lives in her memory more as a great bottle man than as a lover, farmer or warrior.

"He didn't like to work," she said. "He used to drink a full bottle of cognac every day by himself. He would drink even in the morning. And in the evening he would put the bottle on the floor by his chair while he read the newspaper. He would read until the bottle was empty."

Helga bore a child and lived tranquilly with her mother until the Russians began their great drive toward Berlin.

Fearful she would meet the fate of neighbor landowners who she said were slain by Russian troops, she fled to Berlin and later was followed by her mother and child, whom she supports by house work.

Recently she has been receiving letters from her husband saying he will soon be freed.

"His letters are full of Communist propaganda," she said. "I have talked to some German officers who were with him at Stalingrad and have already come back. They talk of nothing but hatred of capitalist and rights of the workers. They are more like Russians than Germans."

"I don't care about them. But my husband was a man of property. That is nothing to be ashamed of. How could he lose his pride enough to become a Communist? He wants to join me here, but how can I live with a man who has no pride in his own people? I would die before I would change as he has changed."

Crier Of Court Royally Confused

KINSTON, N. C.—(AP)—Judge, lawyers, witnesses and spectators sat in amazed silence when the crier of recorder's court here concluded his intonation with a cry that had not been heard in a Kinston court for 170 years.

"And God save the King," cried the crier, Policeman Guy Langston, until recently a captain in the Army.

Langston explained later that he served for a while in England and "the British influence" might have caused the slip.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—Drew Pearson

How OPA Deadlock Was Broken

WASHINGTON—The secret sessions of Senate and House conferees on extension of price controls were highlighted by the voting acrobatics of two senators—Radcliffe of Maryland and Tobey of New Hampshire.

Chief acrobat was nifty-pamby Democrat George L. Radcliffe, FDR's old banking partner who has been drifting further and further from New Deal policies ever since Roosevelt's death. He prolonged the conferees two days and almost caused a hopeless deadlock by bolting his democratic colleagues and voting with the Republicans to remove price controls on meat, poultry, and dairy products.

It was New Hampshire's usually liberal Senator Charles W. Tobey, a Republican, who finally broke the deadlock and saved whatever was left of OPA by voting to continue the meat-poultry-dairy price ceilings. Originally he had voted to abolish them but he changed his mind at the last minute.

Tobey's switch-cote at the last minute made the score of the Senate conferees 4-2 in favor of OPA extension. For, by that time, Radcliffe was absent in Maryland, listening to primary election tellers announce the end of his 12-year career in the Senate.

One big stumbling block to OPA continuation was the proposed three-man board, with power to lift or remove price ceilings. Inside fact is that the house conferees were bitterly opposed to this board.

However, with both sides deadlocked, Democratic representative William B. Barry of New York, a strong battler for price control, moved that his House brethren back down and agree to the de-control board—provided the Senate conferees, in turn, backed down on their demands for abolishing ceilings on meat, poultry, and dairy products.

Barkeley Gets Mad
The House members voted overwhelmingly for this compromise, but the Senators split 3-3.

Radcliffe, who was absent, was then summoned by phone to cast the deciding vote. It was assumed the Marylander would go along with his fellow Democrats and vote "yes" on the Barry motion. However, when he rushed into the meeting room at the last minute, he threw the conferees into a turmoil by voting "no."

The Democrats gasped and moaned. Radcliffe's vote signaled an almost certain deadlock, with no OPA bill at all being reported. For the three Republicans who voted "no" with Radcliffe—Tobey, Robert Taft of Ohio, and Eugene Millikin of Colorado—showed no signs of yielding.

"What's bothering you?" pleaded Barry, looking squarely at the senator from Maryland. "If you are worried about price ceilings being retained on Maryland tobacco or petroleum, we should be able to reach an understanding on that. I am informed that petroleum and its products will be de-controlled soon by OPA."

Radcliffe mumbled something about the "black market" in beef. He added that meat would be kept from consumers as long as price ceilings were retained on it.

"Your vote surprises me very much," snapped usually mild-mannered Senator Barkley of Kentucky. "You're not following your party. It's the first time something like this has happened here."

"I do not like to desert my Republican colleagues," Tobey declared, "but on the other hand am not ashamed of changing my position. I think I am doing the right thing, because the welfare of my country comes first with me. I want you all to know that I have done a lot of praying on this issue in the last two days."

Tobey spoke with intense feeling, but he wasn't able to convert his back-skinned Taft and Millikin. Both angrily refused to sign the report on the compromise bill giving no reasons except that it was against their principles.

This was how legislation affecting every housewife and consume in the USA was horse-traded into final form.

Republicans' Secret Caucus

Senator Taft received the overwhelming approval of most Republican colleagues at the secret GOP caucus next day, though he also got some advice he didn't like from California's outspoken Senator William F. Knowland. "You're going too far in your fight against OPA," the Senator from the Golden Gate bluntly warned Taft. "It seems to me that the three Republican conferees are thinking too much about the producers. I am against the drastic de-controls you want and I think it is unwise from a political standpoint for us to be sticking our necks out so far."

Nebraska's Wherry also got in some hot licks about the de-control board proposal, but on the other side of the fence. He contended the Senate itself should decide what price ceilings should be lifted and not leave it up to a board which, he said, would do the bidding of President Truman.

Later, Millikin of Colorado echoed Wherry's argument in an impassioned plea against the board plan when the Senate and House conferees met in their final session. However, when the Barry compromise motion on OPA extension was again put to a vote, this time it was Republicans Taft and Millikin, not the Democrats, who gasped and moaned.

For New Hampshire's Tobey, after wrestling with his convictions for two days, bolted to the Democratic side and voted for the de-control board as well as to retain ceilings on meat, poultry, and dairy products.

Those who know him say the good doctor is an able and charming man. He may have full knowledge of such qualities in this hot spot which is not only his initial diplomatic post but his first political appointment of any kind.

Morals Preferred To Muscles

By FRANK GRIMES
Herald Special Writer

What mankind needs is a moral and spiritual advance to parallel its growing knowledge of the mysteries of the universe, according to Dr. Vannevar Bush, president of the Carnegie Institution and wartime director of the Office of Scientific Research and Development.

Speaking at Trinity College in Hartford, on the occasion of that college's 120th anniversary, Dr. Bush called this need of moral and spiritual advancement "more immediate, more urgent than anything else." He went on:

"In the release of the mighty force of atomic energy our age has given the human race the power which, if wrongly used, can be the power to commit suicide—not suicide in terms of a man or a few men, but to all intent, all civilized men. The reality faces us in the plainest, most unequivocal terms here, in the question of how we shall dispose of this power, of whether we shall use it for the good of all men, or shall, through blindness, self-interest and fear, allow it to hurry doom upon them."

Basic in this program of lifting morality and spirituality to a level with scientific development, Dr. Bush said that colleges of liberal arts must lead the way.

"Entering as we are a new world," he said, "we require a comprehension of eternal verities and a responsiveness to them such as we have not had before. For this undertaking and sensibility liberal education in the fullest sense is essential, for not all the verities are to be weighed in the physicist's balance nor distilled in the chemist's alembic."

This is no long-haired professor, no flaming evangelist, speaking here. This is one of the great men of science who is acquainted with man's ability to take the universe apart, and who is alarmed.

lest such power go unrestrained by consideration of moral responsibility. Bush warns that this spiritual task is "long, the time is not," and called upon colleges to liberalize and vitalize their programs.

"To no generation," he said, "has a greater duty, a greater privilege been granted than has come to us in this occasion for determining where lies the course of right and good and for assembling good companions to journey upon it. In all our varied society no institution has a nobler share in this venture than the college of liberal arts."

The danger inherent in training the brain and giving the hands infinite skill while neglecting the spiritual side of life has been underlined by scientific advances of recent years. The ability to distinguish between right and wrong is chiefly what separates man from the anthropoid apes. If through disuse that noble virtue becomes atrophied, where would our boasted civilization be? We saw what a single generation of Nazis did to the German people, and what the German people did to as much of our civilization as they could reach.

"Great men are they who see that spiritual is stronger than any material force; that thoughts rule the world," said Emerson.

Speaking of one branch of science noted for the humility of its devotees, Plato said: "Astronomy compels the soul to look upwards and leads us from this world to another."

Almost to a man, the scientists who developed the atomic bomb believe that our only salvation is universal control based on mutual confidence and respect buttressed by a code of ethics as binding as hoops of steel. In other words, they place little or no faith in muscles, but look rather to moral and spiritual factors to save civilization, from the elemental force their genius loosed upon the world.

At the head of those who so believe is Dr. Vannevar Bush, probably the greatest all-round scientist of them all.

US-British Loan Worked By Banks

Editor's note: This is the second of three stories on the British loan which congress may approve next week.

WASHINGTON—If congress approves the $3,750,000 loan for Britain, individual Britons—farmer, businessman, manufacturer—can't walk into a bank and ask for a piece of it.

The borrowing will be done by British banks. Something like this:

When Americans and Britons sell goods to one another, they want to be paid off in their own country's money.

So American banks keep a fund of pounds sterling in British banks and British banks keep a fund of dollars in American banks. Hence:

A Briton wants to buy from an American—say machinery—and he deposits his check for the price of the machinery with his own British bank.

(His money in the British bank is in pounds sterling.)

His British bank then cables an American bank where his bank keeps a supply of American dollars.

"Pay the American machine manufacturer, John Smith, so many dollars out of our dollar fund."

Jones gets his American dollars and the British buyer gets the machinery. The system works in reverse if Jones wants to buy something from a Briton.

The British before the war always bought more from us than we bought from them. So they always had on hand a good supply of American dollars in American banks.

Before this country started giving

Britain lend-lease aid, the British government had to buy planes, tanks and other things in this country.

And the British government—just as in the case of the Briton buying machinery from American Jones—had to pay for what it bought with dollars on deposit in American banks.

This, and the huge wartime drop in our purchases from Britain where plants turned to war work, put a big dent in Britain's supply of dollars.

So the British government took over the holding of Britons abroad, paying their people in pounds sterling and cashing the stocks and securities in this country to buy war goods with dollars.

The war's over now and Britain still needs American goods. But it doesn't have the dollars with which to pay for them. But if the loan goes through—

British banks—when Britons want to buy something in America—can take their checks and borrow dollars from the $3,750,000 loan and have those dollars deposited to the British banks' credit in American banks.

By this method a British bank can pay an American—from whom its British client bought—in dollars obtained through the loan.

In this way Americans can keep on selling to Britons and getting paid in American dollars.

Explorers have found some 500 ruins of ancient Indian pueblos on the south and north rims of the Grand Canyon in Arizona. Today four Indian tribes still live in the region of the canyon.

FIRE-WATERED AND ALL WET

BILLINGS, Mont.—(P)—A too well "fire-watered" Indian was racing a "borrowed" team of horses and a farm wagon madly across yards and gardens when a police patrol car rolled up. The rambunctious redskin leaped from his Ben Hur mount, outran the police automobile several blocks to the turbulent Yellowstone river, leaped in and swam swiftly to an island, where he added insult to the officers' injured prestige by waving a battered straw hat he had worn at a jaunty angle all through his escapade.

Scholastics Should Transfer By August

School students who have moved from one district to the other within the past year should effect their transfers through the county school superintendent's office before August 1, Supt. Walker Bailey has announced.

"Our records go into the State Department of Education after that time and any transfer made or reported after July 31 cannot be included in the record until 1947," Bailey said.

The transfers apply to scholastics who move from common school to common school districts, common to independent districts and independent districts to independent districts.

Governors Of Texas—

Hamilton, Appointed By North, Popular, Fought Reconstruction

(Editor's Note: This is the tenth of a series of articles on the governors of Texas. Others will appear regularly in the Herald.)

By PAUL BOLTON
AUSTIN — To have been a provisional governor, appointed by the forces of a victorious power, A. J. Hamilton, Texas' tenth governor, was a surprisingly popular public official.

A. J. HAMILTON

Hamilton was against secession to the end. He was one of the followers of the Sam Houston creed—"The Union above everything else."

When the Civil War broke, Hamilton left Texas after being hunted by the "States Rights" forces from which he hid in a cave near Austin before escaping to New Orleans.

Although he joined forces with the North, Hamilton never actually fought against Texas nor did he join the Union army that invaded her. Strangely enough, however, the only time Hamilton actually ran for the governorship of Texas, in 1869, he was defeated by E. H. Davis, a man who actually fought against Texas and who aided the Mexican bandit Cortina in raids against Texas.

Hamilton's year and a month as Governor of Texas was through an appointment from Washington. He was second choice for that job. Washington approached John H. Reagan and offered him the post, but he said that he would never be governor unless duly elected by the people.

Hamilton became governor right after Union General Gordon Granger declared everything done by the Confederate government in Texas "null and void."

Hamilton formally assumed his appointed office on July 25, 1865. He couldn't do much since the government of Texas actually remained in the hands of Federal Military authorities.

With the freedom of Texas negroes something new under the sun, Hamilton had a problem that no other Texas governor ever faced. It was a popular belief among the negroes that each would be given "40 acres and a mule." Hamilton told them to go to work and acquire property for themselves since the government could do nothing about the matter.

Hamilton's one purpose as governor was to get Texas back into the Union as a full-fledged state as quickly as possible. He worked to get suffrage for Texans without reference to their part in the Southern cause.

In Austin, Hamilton followed up President Johnson's reconstruction plan by calling a convention on Feb. 7, 1866. The convention adopted the state Constitution of 1845 minus slavery and secession doctrines. It also selected candidates for state offices.

James W. Throckmorton, on the Conservative ticket, was elected by a large majority and became governor on Aug. 9, 1866, ending Hamilton's term as provisional governor. But Hamilton was by no means out of the political spotlight.

Things in Washington were in a mess. Throckmorton, like Hamilton, worked for the quick Reconstruction of Texas with full citizenship for Texans. Meanwhile, in Washington, Congress threatened President Johnson with impeachment and junked his Reconstruction plans. Congress took over the job and appointed General Phil Sheridan as military commander of Texas. Sheridan had Throckmorton removed as governor of Texas because, as the General put it, "he was an impediment to Reconstruction." That's when Hamilton got back in the saddle.

Elisha Pease was given the hard job as governor under Congressional Reconstruction. In 1868 another Constitutional convention was called. It was overwhelmingly radical and opposed President Johnson's plans for sane reconstruction and planked for the disfranchisement of all whites in Texas who had been connected with the Confederacy.

Davis, the man who fought with the Union Army against Texas, led the radical elements. Hamilton fought him. Davis' chief aim was the control of Texas for the Republican party and his radical views split the party asunder.

When Davis tried to get the convention to adopt a plan permanently disfranchising all ex-Confederate soldiers, Hamilton proposed that such action be limited only to such persons as are now, or may be qualified by the Constitution of the US until such disqualification is removed by Congress. The Hamilton substitute was adopted by a 37 to 26 vote.

Davis won the election by less than 900 votes. Few believed the election was fair in any way. Federal military authorities were accused of every kind of fraud and act of intimidation. And later, historians say that undisputed evidence shows a victory for Hamilton but that he was counted out.

Hamilton finally succeeded in helping get rid of the radical Davis. He was a leader in the "Non-Partisan Tax-Payers Convention" in 1871 that fought the reign of dishonest extravagance carried on by Davis. And he fought Davis in 1873 when the radical Republican governor tried to keep his office by going to the courts after being defeated by Richard Coke by more than 50,000 votes.

Hamilton died at his Austin home on April 11, 1875. He is buried in the State Cemetery in Austin.

Marines To Open Recruiting Office

Sgt. Louis D. Gallegos, a member of an itinerant US Marine Corps recruiting team under the command of Capt. A. K. Edwards, will arrive here Monday to open a temporary office in Room 21 of the post office building basement. The group, working out of the Southern Recruiting Division headquarters, Dallas, is covering five Southwestern states and Gallegos will spend a week here, in the interest of the recruiting campaign. He will be available for interview during the hours of 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Gallegos emphasized that one of the selling points of the enlistment campaign was the free high school and college schooling proffered by correspondence through the famed Marine Corps Institute.

New Production Registered In Ector, Andrews

New Officers For AB Club Are Installed

By JOHN B. BREWER
SAN ANGELO, June 29—Ector and Andrews counties shared principal West Texas oil developments this week.

The Clear Fork section of the Permian lime was added to the TXL field in west central Ector when Phillips Petroleum No. 1-EA TXL, 1-4 mile southeast of Ector and Devonian, Silurian and Ellenburger, flowed 107 barrels of oil in 16 hours. It had been acidized heavily through casing perforations above plugged back depth of 5,825 feet. Location is the C NW NW 39-45-1S-T&P.

The Texas Co. No. 1-C J. E. Parker, one mile west and slightly south of the Phillips well, extended TXL Devonian production a quarter mile south. It flowed 132 barrels of oil through open 2-inch tubing in 4-3-4 hours and casing perforations at 7,705-7,895 feet. Location is the C NW NW 40-45-1S-T&P.

Extending TXL Ellenburger production 1-3-4 miles north, Texaco No. 1-F, TXL, C NW SW 39-45-1N-T&P, rated 1,450 barrels of oil daily for natural completion from open hole between 9,786-9,835 feet.

Deepest Ector explorations, Stanolind No. 1-Kayser, 1-4 miles west of the South Cowden (Grayburg) field, has passed 12,276 feet in lime; Cities Service No. 1 J. E. Parker, 1-2 miles west of the Harper (San Andres) pool, drilled below 12,217 in lime and chert. Phillips staked No. 1 R. B. Cowden, slated 8,000-foot test C NE NW 3-45-1N-T&P, half mile east and quarter mile south of Stanolind No. 1 Grisham-Hunter, Devonian discovery in the North Goldsmith field.

Stanolind No. 1-P University narrowed the gap between the most southerly Clear Fork production in the Fullerton field and the main pool by registering a daily flowing potential of 181.98 barrels of oil. Pay between 6,930 and plugged back depth of 7,108 feet was acidized. The well, originally three miles south of the Fullerton 8500 (Devonian) field, obtained initial discovery production of 430 barrels daily from the Devonian at 8,853-8,99 feet but declined.

Fullerton Oil Co. spotted No. 4-B University to test the Devonian on the west side of the Fullerton field, C SE NW 6-18-U, one mile south and slightly west of its No. 322-A H. M. Wilson, first of two Ellenburger strikes in the pool. Shell started No. 1-E W. F. Scarborough C SW SW 11-A31-psi, proposed 11,000-foot wildcat on the east side of the Union (Clear Fork) field, seven miles north and slightly west of Fullerton No. 322-A Wilson.

7 OF 8 BAVARIAN YOUTHS' JOBLESS

MUNICH—(AP)—Roughly 87 per cent of 81,000 Bavarian youths, boys and girls, leaving school this term will go jobless, according to the Bavarian labor ministry. The government employment agency has been able to find only 11,000 vacancies for apprenticeships.

Plans are being made hurriedly by the Bavarian Youth relief organization to put the majority of the school-leaving youngsters to work on farms and in bombed cities, clearing away rubble. Most of the job-seeking girls will become housemaids in farmers' households.

Fowler Faubian, former president of the local chapter of the American Business club and now a resident of Levelland, installed officers of that organization at a luncheon meeting Friday.

Loy House, incoming president, told the group that if each member would remember the club motto, "shoulder together and all push at the wheel," club activities this year would make it the best in Big Spring.

Jimmy Jennings, Merle Creighton and Woody Campbell, first, second and third vice-presidents respectively, asked cooperation of members in their work.

Ted Phillips, outgoing president who presided at the meeting, received a rising vote of thanks for his administration and said he looked forward to a good year, now that the groundwork of making a successful organization had been completed.

Preceding the installation, four young people who are conducting a Youth Caravan at the First Methodist church here outlined the history, purpose and activities of the caravan. Irene Stew, adult counselor for the group, introduced Laura Lee Behrens and Earl Johnston, who made brief talks. Together with Janet Baron, they composed a trio to sing one of their church numbers.

Guests at the meeting included Miss Stewart, Johnston, Miss Behrens, Miss Baron, G. K. Gartman, E. L. Rice, Blacky Herne, Ike Phillips and Faubian. Harrell Jones was introduced as a new member.

Too Many Bogus Checks Given Around Town

Local law enforcement agencies are again being flooded with reports on bogus checks that in many instances they find they can do very little about.

Most of the instruments have been passed by two or three specialists who apparently have skipped the country without a trace. One of the parties, who has been hauled into court several times because of similar counts, gave rubber checks to at least eight different business concerns. The business men discovered they had been fleeced of several hundred dollars by the artist.

Ordinarily, the practitioner will wait until after the banks have been closed on Saturday afternoon to seek out a victim, giving him plenty of time to put distance between him and the town before the taken can be told the instrument is worthless.

Members of the sheriff's office and the constables have handful of the warrants for clever check writers who are making their way by their wit. Recipients of the promissory notes should make certain of a person's integrity and financial background before accepting the checks, according to Sheriff Bob Wolf.

Local Army Recruiter Over Quota Assigned For First Six Months

During the first six months of 1946, the local US Army recruiting office failed to attain its monthly quota of volunteers but once. That was in May, a month when enlistments all over the country were reported more than 50 per cent below normal.

The May quota for the Big Spring station, which is a part of the El Paso recruiting district, was 72. In the 31-day period, 66 men were processed here and sent to reception centers—a record much better than the average reported in other sections of the country.

Since June 1, the local force has sent 85 volunteers to assigned stations for military service, a figure that exceeds the quota by 15. The number recruited here represented 11 per cent of the objective for the entire El Paso district, which comprises all of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

Since the first of the year, the Big Spring recruiters have exceeded their quota by three enlistments, having cleared no less than 435 volunteers in those six months.

January proved the busiest month at the local station, no less than 1092 persons having been processed here in that month alone. Quota was 80.

Of the force assigned here when the recruiting office was opened last Oct. 4, only S-Sgt. Oliver Goodman, NCO in charge, is still here. Capt. Wayne Hall, the station's first commanding officer, has since been transferred to Dallas where he is in charge of the west one-third of the Dallas recruiting district.

For the past several months, Lt. George Kesselring has been acting in the capacity of CO here. The office, which is located in the basement of the post office building, will remain open until midnight tonight to interview persons who desire to beat the deadline on specified Army benefits, many of which expire after today.

The Texas Poll --

Rainey Has Largest Supporter Group; Great Many Voters Still Undecided

By JOE ROLDEN
Director, The Texas Poll
Copyright, 1946

AUSTIN, June 29—During June Homer P. Rainey has improved his lead in the governor's race, the latest Texas Poll indicates. If the Democratic primary were held today, the deposed University of Texas president would undoubtedly emerge ahead. And in the runoff with him would probably be either Jerry Sadler or Beauford Jester.

The most important fact revealed by this survey, however, is the tremendous number of voters, who, only a few weeks before the election July 27, have been unable to make up their minds. A month ago The Texas Poll found nearly three-tenths had not decided who the best man is for governor. Four weeks of campaigning have made no impression on this undecided group. There are just as many people without a choice today.

These undecided voters can still determine the entire outcome of the primary election. Rainey holds nearly twice as much support as any other candidate, 24 per cent. If the large number of undecided are eliminated from the tabulations—and that is what will happen on election day—Rainey's plurality rises to 34 per cent. Rainey has assumed a favorable position not because of the total support he has, which is small enough, but because he is the favorite of many more people than any other candidate.

In every section of Texas, in cities, villages and farms, interviews during the past week have been asking a cross section of voters, "Which one of these candidates do you think now you might favor in the election for governor next month?" Then each interviewer was shown a list of all the candidates in the order they will appear on the ballot. The results, compared with the poll conducted a month ago:

	May 27	Today
Homer P. Rainey	20%	24%
Jerry Sadler	17	13
Beauford Jester	8	11
John Lee Smith	11	9
Grover Sellers	9	9
Caso March	2	1
Walter Scott McNutt	2	1
All others together	29	31

Those who make no selection now, more than likely would—if the election were held today—divide in the same proportion as the candidates now hold votes (it has worked out that way in previous elections). Thus removing the undecided element, these are the percentages:

	Today
Homer P. Rainey	34%
Jerry Sadler	19
Beauford Jester	15
John Lee Smith	13
Grover Sellers	13
Caso March	2
Walter Scott McNutt	2
All others together	2

small to consider them as definite gains or losses. It would be incorrect to say, for instance, that the number of undecided has actually increased from 29 to 31 per cent, a jump of only 2 points; such accuracy cannot be claimed for this survey.

The Texas Poll's political surveys include correct proportions of men and women, white and colored, all age groups 21 or over, World War II veterans, old-age assistance recipients, and voters living in cities, rural areas, and farms. For more complete information the reader may address The Texas Poll, Austin 12, Texas.

Local Divorce Rate Climbs With Weddings

For every ten marriage licenses applied for in Howard county during the first six months of this year, there have been six divorce suits filed, records here reveal.

From January through June, County Clerk Lee Porter sold 261 certificates to wed but 170 other couples sought to terminate their marital contracts in district court.

In June alone, marriage applications outnumbered divorces on file by only 11, a total of 29 marriage certificates having been sold as compared to the 28 divorce suits on record with the district clerk.

According to local barristers, the local divorce rate has become one of the highest in the state, which is recognized as one of the highest in the nation.

Farm And Ranch News

By WACIL McNAIR

The follow-up spraying demonstration at the E. W. Lomax ranch Monday will be the second in a series to be conducted experimentally before next November, according to County Agent Durward Lewter's calendar. The animals first were sprayed on June 14, and they are due to get a third treatment in about 45 days. Although a complete inspection of the animals has not been made since the initial demonstration, Lomax told Lewter this week that he believed that the 40 of one percent DDT mixed with water was producing best results on the fly problem.

Enough rain to be of considerable benefit to crops already planted fell on a small area south of Coahoma late Tuesday afternoon. Thad Hale said he received an estimated half inch on part of his farm, and C. H. DeVaney and Noble Reid also benefitted from the brief showers.

A large group from Levelland visited Big Spring Friday afternoon while on a trip boosting their rodeo scheduled for July 3-4-5. Stamford's three-day event is being advertised for July 2-3-4, and Snyder will present four full days of rodeo performances July 17-18-19-20.

Top sheep breeders in the nation will consign 450 registered Rambouillet rams to the San Angelo sale July 31. A show will be conducted July 30, with L. D. (Lloyd) White to be official judge.

Plenty of good roughage is about two-thirds of the job of feeding a dairy cow, and G. G. Gibson, dairyman for the extension service, urges use of more home grown roughage. With supplies of concentrates short and prices high, every effort should be made to replace as many pounds as possible with good roughage.

Although it does not take the place of hay and pasture, silage can be used to advantage on every farm. Silage is another source of cheap nutrients which can replace some of the high priced items. The crop that yields the largest tonnage per acre should be used for silage, Gibson pointed out. The better the feed that goes into the silo, the better the silage that comes out. Three tons per cow will be good feed insurance when grazing is short.

The early crop Irish potatoes now abundant in local markets can be of paramount value in filling the gap caused by the world shortage of wheat and wheat products, says B. F. Vance, state director of the production and marketing association. Vance said that while early potatoes doubtless would be welcomed by people abroad, their low keeping quality makes it impracticable to ship them. Therefore it is important that they be used in the U.S. Production is expected to reach 52,000,000 bushels soon, and estimates place the total crop up to 70 to 75 million bushels.
