Medical Expenses Deduction Prime Tax Error Category

Many taxpayers get smaller refunds or have to pay additional taxes because they make errors in reporting medical expenses, W.T. Coppinger, District Director of Internal Revenue for North Texas, said today.

To avoid errors in deducting medical expenses on 1972 returns, Mr. Coppinger advised taxpayers to read the Form 1040 instructions carefully before filing.

A common error taxpayers made in reporting medical expenses is in deducting medicine and drug expenses. Taxpayers can add these expenses to their other medical expenses only to the extent they exceed one percent of adjusted gross income.

"Some Taxpayers," Mr. Coppinger said, "try to deduct in full their drug costs in excess of one percent of their adjusted gross income instead of adding this excess to their other medical expenses, which are subject to a three percent limitation."

Another common error taxpayers made last year involved the medical insurance premium deduction. You can deduct one-half of the cost of the premium paid for medical insurance, up to $150, without regard to the three percent of income limitation.

The Form 1040 instructions explain what is and is not deductible and also how the expenses should be reported.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

A new kind of "drug war" seems to be shaping up in the Legislature.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe spelled out his recommendations for complete revision of drug laws and promised to "lobby hard" with all the resources at his command as governor to get the bill passed.

As introduced in the House and Senate, it called for harsh penalties against dope pushers, annual registration of those who deal in legal drugs-- and lowering the penalty for first offense possession of marijuana to a misdemeanor.

Briscoe's bill would allow possession of up to eight ounces of marijuana without risking felony charge on first offense. However, the misdemeanor would be punishable by up to a year in jail and / or $2,000 fine. The Governor also called for stepped-up education and rehabilitation programs. The bill was drawn, said Briscoe, to mesh with the 1970 federal controlled substance act to allow governments at all levels to work more effectively together.

A few days later, however, former Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth, who headed a Senate study committee on drug abuse, assailed the governor's proposals as "an out-and-out fraud as a reform measure." Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena introduced in bill form the far-reaching provisions of Kennard's committee.

Brooks' bill would "decriminalize" marijuana possession and set moderate felony penalties for sales. It would also make simple possession of most drugs (heroin excluded) a misdemeanor and provide for commitment of users to rehabilitation facilities. On the other hand, it would call for non-paroleable life sentences of convicted "big time" heroin dealers.

The controversy continues to boil on the reduction of penalties on use of marijuana and increasing penalties on those who sell marijuana or hard drugs.

H. B. 86 by Rep. Lindon Williams implements more stringent penalties on those who sell drugs.

It is backed by the Austin based Legal Drug Control Society, headed by E. E. Armistead. Armistead has passed petitions for over a year, and submitted these to the Legislature.

"The Legal Drug Control Society asks that concerned citizens write their legislators to express support for H. B. 86," Armistead says. "We realize that there is no simple solution on this complex problem of drug abuse, but removing the pusher and dealer from the scene will certainly be a giant step in the right direction."

Armistead started his crusade against the drug pushers when his daughter jumped from the University of Texas tower two years ago. Her notes told about experiments with drugs.

COUNCIL MAKES SURVEY FOR LEGISLATURE
County Judges and clerks and District clerks and judge.

have been asked for important research information to help the Texas Legislature make decisions on current legislative proposals.

Questions on marijuana, automobile accidents, probation, etc., have been posed by the Texas Civil Judicial Council--which is charged in state statutes with the duty of supplying information to the Legislature affecting state courts.

"It is understandably difficult for a legislator to judge the merits of proposed legislation wisely without any estimate of its impact," said Ronald Earle, chief counsel for the Judicial Council. "The Judicial Council is seeking to provide this needed information instead of conjecture."

In seeking information regarding the number of persons currently on probation the Judicial Council will be exploring uncharted territory, Earle added. "The impact of probation on the criminal process is too important not to consider in more detail."

Current proposals on changes in the Judicial Article of the Texas Constitution sets up machinery for an Administrator of the Court--whose office would compile statistics from the courts on a year-round basis.

COURTS SPEAK

The State Supreme Court refused an appeal by Continental oil company to issue an order in an energy shortage action involving the company's inability to deliver natural gas under contract with other concerns.

The high court upheld lower courts restraining Crystal City from locking what's left of the local country club and upholding a 1956 lease of the city land.

Court of Criminal Appeals overruled a conviction for theft against a former Crane County hospital executive who allegedly sold a compressor unit used in treating respiratory diseases. The court decision said Crane County had never become owner of the machine, and there could have been no theft or embezzlement from the county.

OIL OUTPUT WIDE OPEN AGAIN

The Railroad Commission ordered wide-open, 100 per cent market demand oil production for the 12th straight month.

In making the announcement, Commission Chairman Jim Langdon offered "some good news and some bad news." He said there were no "tremendously serious" shortages during the crucial winter months in spite of heating oil stock declines.

However, Langdon warned, the peak gasoline consuming season is just around the corner, and gasoline stocks are 19.2 million barrels below 1972 in the nation. Further, crude and products stocks in the U.S. are 70-2 million barrels off last year.

"The petroleum industry has managed to get out of the frying pan but now is in the fire," said Langdon.

The all wable responded to requests for 3,764,459 barrels of oil daily in March, a decline of 17,003 from February. Exceptions from the 100 per cent allowable are the East Texas field, 86 per cent; Kelly-Snyder, 76 percent; and Tom O'Connor, 70 per cent. Several other fields are at 80 per cent.

DELAY DENIED

Lt. Gov. Hobby gave repeated assurances that his plans for a March 20-21 citizens conference on ethics in government will not delay senate consideration of reform measures passed by the House.

Meanwhile, some House members blasted Hobby for indicating final Senate approval of the reform bills would be held up until after he received advice of citizens ethics legislation at the conference.

Hobby said hearings move forward on ethics by control and campaign financing measures. He said it is extremely unusual for the Senate to vote on controversial measures March 9 anyway. The enant Governor said the zens conference carries his campaign pledge to

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources
Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

Winter Weather Stops Harvest... Consumers Sound
Off... Confined Feeding Regulations Rejected... Cold Weather Slows Screwworm.

Old man winter slowed harvest of Texas agricultural products from the Panhandle to the Rio Grande Valley.
Citrus harvest was at a slower pace due to cold, wet weather. Cotton and grain sorghum harvest on the High and Low plains was delayed by snow and freezing weather.

Peanut and soybean harvest was also cut back due to the weather; farmers were also unable to complete seeding of wheat and oats.

But in spite of the bad weather, overall harvest is generally ahead of last year. Cotton harvest for the state is now more than 40 percent complete compared with less than a third a year ago. Grain sorghum harvest, on the other hand, is slightly below last year at this time. Peanut harvest is virtually complete. Sugarbeet harvest is 60 percent finished compared to only about 50 percent at this time last year. Soybean harvest is behind this year compared to 1971; this year the crop is about three-fourths gathered; a year ago harvesting of soybeans was 85 percent complete.

Pecan harvest is again slowed due to the weather for the third straight week in a row.

Wheat seeding throughout the state is almost complete as is oat planting. Flax seeding is 75 percent complete compared with slightly more than half a year ago.

CONSUMERS had their chance to sound off recently regarding dairy products. A survey of consumers was sponsored recently by the Texas Department of Agriculture to give the dairy industry information on consumer acceptance of dairy products.

The two most serious complaints voiced by the consumer were spoiled and bad quality products and faulty containers. High prices were also a complaint by consumers.

Consumers suggested to the dairy industry that it provide fresher dairy products, date all product containers, use more glass milk containers, provide a wider variety of cheeses.

The survey was conducted in the Houston, Lubbock,
San Antonio, and Tyler areas.

TEXAS Water Quality Board's proposed water pollution control regulations for dairy and poultry operations have been withdrawn. The Texas Water Quality Board will continue its present policy of handling each confined feeding operation individually under its waste control order or "permit" system. Only swine are exempt from this. Swine operations are required to register under the swine feeding regulations.

COLD weather has slowed screwworm infestations, and this is providing an opportunity for officials in charge of the screwworm eradication program an opportunity to make plans for 1973.

Screwworm eradication officials at Mission look upon this period as a time to "catch up" in efforts to eradicate the screwworm in 1973.

Cooperation between Mexico and the U. S. governments as well as cattle producers in those two countries will help to improve prospects for the 1973 eradication effort, officials explained.

FREEING MARGINAL LAND-

Through modern agricultural technology, nearing 10 million acres of marginal crop-land in the U.S. formerly now being used in other way

This has come about from a increase in cotton yields of a half bale per acre since 1940, says Dr. John E. Hutinson, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Much of the marginal land has been diverted to pastures, forests and recreational uses. Crop production has made such advances that for each acre tilled today, another acre is available for optional uses.

PLAN FOR FALL HUNTING-- A wildlife specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service advises hunters to arrange for a fall hunting lease as soon as possible. Land with a history of good hunting is leased early. Often counties outside the well known "hot spots" offer excellent hunting opportunities. To get the kind of lease and the location you desire, make plans now. The local chamber of commerce is often a good starting point.

Rep. Cates Works On Committees

Members of the Texas House of Representatives worked 12-hour days or longer last week, as sessions lengthened, and committees sandwiched in meetings before, after and between.

Rep. Phil Cates approved a bill which guarantees public access to governmental information, and provides that all information of all agencies of state government would be open to the public with the exception of personal files of legislators, medical and personnel records, criminal investigation records and all files declared confidential by existing law.

The Education Committee heard witnesses on a proposed resolution until 2:30 in the morning. The resolution concerned the college at Prairie View, where black representatives are opposing each other on the need of an investigation of the school.

Cates' committee on agriculture and livestock asked the Congress to reinstate the Rural Environmental Assistance program and also requested the national administration to end the freeze on funds for rural programs through local stabilization assistance programs. They also asked for the reinstatement of alloted funds for the agriculture and environmental programs to help preserve the permanent conservation and environmental practices.

Cates said that the spray-

According to officials of the Southern Screwworm Eradication Project, the cases point up the fact that there are still screwworms in South Texas despite recent weather unfavorable to the flesh-eating pest. However, officials remain hopeful for a light screwworm year due to low infestation presently in the northern Mexico overwintering areas. Texas now has recorded 10 cases in 1973.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

If you're the gambling type, consider this...

On second thought, you don't have to be a gambler to mull it over.

Accept this as a fact: If you're an American, chances are greater than 50 percent that you will die of a circulatory disease—a disease of the heart of blood vessels.

There are statistics to back this up. Diseases of the heart and blood vessels kill more Americans and more Texans each year than accidents and other diseases combined, say state health officials.

Heading the 10 leading killers in Texas in 1970 and 1971 was heart disease, almost doubling the second biggest killer—cancer. Cerebrovascular disease was third and arteriosclerosis ninth, according to the State Health Department's Bureau of Vital Statistics.

The cardiovascular disease (diseases of the heart and circulation) afflict more than 27 million children and adults and kill more than one million American annually.

Some diseases primarily affect the blood vessels, other only the heart itself. Among the major diseases are those which cause the blood vessels to corrode and deteriorate, with resultant damage to the heart, brain, kidneys or other parts of the body.

The major ailments which injure the cardiovascular system are atherosclerosis, hypertension, and rheumatic heart disease. They may produce congestive heart failure, heart attack and stroke. Also of major concern are congenital defects of the heart and great vessels which are discovered primarily in infants and children.

Great advances are being made in the treatment of those with cardiovascular problems, yet the deaths continue.

Circulatory diseases, with autopsy studies showing increased disease of the coronary arteries in young men, is holding down the life expectancy of men in the United States. Autopsy studies in all age groups of the adult male have shown that fatty deposits are more frequent and severe now than 25 years ago.

Although heart attacks are less common in men under 30 years of age, they become more of a hazard as a man grows older—reaching a peak for those between 50 and 60.

The artery-clogging process begins early in life, but it isn't until it suddenly blocks the supply of blood to an area of the heart muscle that a heart attack occurs. Such an occlusion can occur at any time in a diseased artery.

Statistics show that men have more heart attacks than women in the same age group—up to 13 times more in the 30 to 45-year age group but only twice as many in the age span between 45 and 62. After 65 the rate is about the same between Caucasian men and women.

The heart disease picture is a grim one, but there are a number of practical things which can be done to thwart heart attacks, prevent heart disease and prevent strokes.

Primarily, these preventive measures are related to physical activity, proper diet and proper living habits.

Unfortunately for those in the dangerous years, some of the arterial damage from built-up and hardened fatty deposits can't be reversed. But, through exercised, diet and the change in life style—such as quitting smoking—your chances of having a heart attack can be improved a bit.

Young At Heart Have Meeting

The Young-At-Heart Senior citizens club, met Feb. 13 in the Casper Smith building.

We invite you to come and join in the fun each 2nd and 4th Tuesday night at 6:30. Dues are $1.00 per month.

FBLA Banquet Honors Businessmen

D'Ann Phillips-Reporter

The McLean Future Business Leaders of America held a businessmen's Banquet, Tuesday night, February 13 in the Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church. The purpose of this banquet was to honor the businessmen of McLean. The FBLA would like to express their appreciation to the many fine people of McLean in making their banquet a success.

This banquet was their way of saying "Thank You" for all the many times they have supported them. Everyone enjoyed the food that was prepared by the FBLA members. They would also like to thank the mothers who helped in serving at the banquet, Mrs. Bob Sherrod, Mrs. John M. Haynes, Mrs. Bill Stooksberry, Mrs. William Layne. Special guests at the banquet included Mr. and Mrs. Bill Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gayton, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Meador, the city councilmen and their wives.

The Fellowship hall was brightly decorated in the FBLA's colors which are blue and yellow. The tables were decorated with blue candles and yellow place settings. The head table was decorated with a beautiful floral arrangement consisting of yellow carnations and blue iris. The arrangement was presented to the club sponsor Mrs. Mamie Lytle, who is an active promoter of FBLA.

This is one of the many activities that the chapter observes in preparation for the State Convention to be held in Dallas. This trip is what all of the members work toward. The club has learned so much in putting this banquet on, and we feel that we
