Marie Foundation Receives Plaque From Sears

Employees and management of Marie Foundations, McLean Texas were honored Wednesday, May 23 by Sears, Roebuck and Co. The McLean firm makes Ladies intimate apparel for sears. Irwin Greenblatt and John Halvorsen of New York, Sears National Buyers, presented a Sears "Symbol of Excellence" Plaque during a plant luncheon held in the McLean Country Club. The plaque was accepted by Geneva Alexander, Betty McCurley, and Bernice Reynolds, of Marie Foundation on behalf of the entire plant staff. Sears presents this award to suppliers judged most outstanding. Of over 20,000 major merchandise suppliers only 397 were singled out for this recognition. "This award is based primarily on the excellence of the merchandise produced by Marie Foundations for Sears during the past year," Mrs. Greenblatt said. "It also recognized the general excellence of Marie Foundations performance in such matters as shipping goods on schedule, and initiative in developing and improved merchandise," he added. "This award is our salute to those suppliers who have, through their excellence, made great contributions to Sears reputation for quality merchandise. It also recognizes the contribution of each employe for his or her contribution to the superior performance of the plant." Mr. Halvorsen explained that "Marie Foundations was selected for the Sears 'symbol of excellence' by a committee representing the company retail stores, catalog plants, national service department, quality control section and merchandise development and testing laboratory. The committee screened nominations from Sears 50 national buying departments. Opening date of the plant was March 6, 1957 and now employs 150 people with an expansion in 1962. City officials attended the presentation and luncheon hosted by Mr. Cal Fraser, president, Mr. Jack Swallow, executive vice-president, and Mr. Dale Greenhouse, manager of Marie Foundations Panhandle Operations. Also in attendance representing Mr. Brumfield national merchandise manager for intimate apparel was Mr. John Dietz who is responsible for Sears Bra and Girdles in the Southwest. In addition to the McLean Plant receiving this honor an additional award was given to Marie Foundations Pampa Texas Plant Tuesday. Officers Recover Stolen Equipment

Gray County Sheriff Rufe Jordan and Deputy James Shelton of McLean, working in concert with Oklahoma officers, have recovered a large portion of property stolen here and at McLean Aug. 16. A four-horse trailer, four saddles and an assortment of tack was taken from O.L. Blankenship on I-40 two miles east of McLean. The same night, six saddles, horse shoeing equipment, spurs and various tack were taken from a location a half-mile west of the Pampa city limits. This property belonged to James McCarley and Doug Boyd. Investigation at the time led officers of the Gray County Sheriff's department to believe the same persons were involved in both break-ins since the heavy cutters used left the same markings at both locations. Investigation of the thefts continued until Friday when information produced took Sheriff Jordan, Deputy Shelton, McCarley and Blankenship to Oklahoma City. There, an 18-hour stay produced the horse trailer valued at $1,000 and two saddles, one belonging to Boyd and one to Blankenship. A saddle belonging to McCarley had been sold and re-sold and has not been recovered. Sheriff Jordan said he believed this saddle and the rest of the stolen property would be recovered on a projected return trip to Oklahoma in about ten days. He praised the sheriffs of Oklahoma and Cleveland (Norman) Counties for their cooperation in the investigation and in obtaining the search warrants in district court in Norman. Sheriff Jordan said no charges have been filed as yet but should be forthcoming sometime this week.

"Texas" Begins Eighth Season

"Texas", the moving and colorful production portraying history in the Texas Panhandle will begin its eighth season in Palo Duro Canyon State Park June 25. The drama, written by Paul Green, reaches into the past to reveal the struggles of the settlers, the strengths of the cowboys and the Indians' love of the land. During the 75-minute production in the state park's outdoor amphitheater, the audience is treated to scenes from the past of burials, politics, business and celebrations. Great lights and soaring sound recreate the blazing of a prairie fire which, along with the crash of thunder and the flash of lightning, is used as a background for this story of battles against change and dust and drought and storm. "Texas" is produced by the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, a non-profit corporation, in cooperation with West Texas State University. In the seven seasons it has played, 499,757 persons have seen the show. Last year 82,228 visitors saw "Texas." STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

The 63rd Legislature wound down at midnight Monday (May 28) with opinions sharply divided as to how much or how little it accomplished.

While new reform rules slowed down consideration of bills, much major legislation was passed, some of which had failed previously.

Both houses completed work on a record $9.7 billion tax-free budget four days before adjournment, then with money left over, began to fashion an emergency aid bill for "poor" school districts.

The big job of revising school finance formulas, as anticipated, was left for a future session following additional studies and careful weighing of property values.

Legislative redistricting was another job left for the future--possibly under court direction.

Lawmakers did manage to agree on a competitive auto insurance rate bill--something they couldn't do in a special session devoted to that purpose alone last September-October.

They also came to terms on far-reaching revisions of the penal code--first in 117 years--although the House bogged down on a court reform constitutional amendment.

House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. managed to get some of his reform measures, including open meetings law strengthening and better access to public records, finally passed. Agreement on a tough code of ethics was difficult.

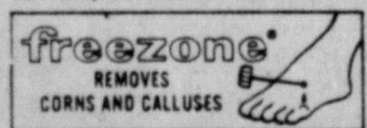

While they were at it, legislators asked again for a pay raise--to $15,000 a year--and a constitutional amendment permitting them to meet in annual sessions to better handle an ever-increasing work load.

Whether or not they are called into special session this year, they will be back next January--to have a try at revising the state constitution. NEWSMEN'S MEASURE DIES IN CONFERENCE

The "free flow of information" measure--called the newsmen's privilege bill--died in a conference committee. Compromise language that might have been acceptable to both the House and Senate would have made it a qualified privilege for newsmen--and it looked for a time that Freezone is for corns that hurt.

Absolutely painless. No dangerous cutting, no ugly pads or plasters. In days, Freezone eases the hurt--safely helps ease off the corn. Drop on Freezone--take off corns.

the conference committee was going to vote it out.

Publishers, editors and broadcasters told their legislators that they preferred "no privilege at all" if it could not be "unqualified"--and the conference committee members let it "R.I.P."

Representatives of the Texas Joint Media Committee--members of the professional press groups--expressed disappointment that the Senate would not accept the Original house bill--which included no qualification except in cases of "libel or right of privacy" law suits.

Some felt the Watergate case had taken the "heat off the press" and fewer subpoenas would be issued in the future to obtain information from newsmen.

Unless Texas newsmen have problems with grand juries and the courts in future years, it will be difficult to get press support for a "newsmen's privilege" measure in this state, said Don Coppedge, president of the Texas Press Association.

GAS RATE SUIT FILED

Atty. Gen. John Hill filed the first big test case--against Exxon corporation--to recover full market value of royalty gas produced on state lands for the school fund and University of Texas.

The suit alleges the state's price is not limited to amounts agreed to in contracts, nor to the low ceiling price set by Federal Power Commission.

Hill has estimated many millions of dollars rest on outcome of the litigation. Current FPC ceiling price is in some cases less than 20 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas, while actual market value is estimated at 45 cents per 1,000 cubic feet in recent sales.

The suit seeks to compel Exxon to pay the current market value or, alternatively, to allow the state to take its royalty gas "in kind" for use or resale. The state claims it is due not less than $500,000 from Exxon, and many other producers are expected to be made defendants soon.

LAND PROGRAM EXTENSION ASKED

One of the proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on November 6 would extend the veterans land loan program, pumping another $100 million (for total of $500 million) into it.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong applauded submission of the new amendment to continue the low-interest, long-term loans for veterans to buy land. About 43,000 veterans have acquired more than three million acres of land under the program since 1946 when it was launched.

COURTS SPEAK

A state law providing damage penalties for corporations that make illegal campaign contributions is constitutional, the State Supreme Court held.

The High Court agreed to rehear a controversy between the city of Austin and the local Humane Society over division of an estate over land left for a park.

AG OPINIONS

Attorney General held a compulsory oil and gas unitization bill was constitutional, but the measure (HB 311) was killed in the Senate.

Hill found some questionable provisions in the senate version of ethics legislation, but urged leaders to correct them and pass a constitutional bill.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

Legislation to restrict distribution and sale of a brand of beer to exclusive territories and distributors is unconsti-titutional.

Drug control legislation does not unconstitutionally delegate legislative authority to the commissioner of health to designate additional controlled substances.

The assistant executive director of a state agency may also serve as a river authority member.

The Taylor County constable's salary minimum is set at the figure of Jan. 1, 1972, and the county commissioners can't cut it below that.

REDFISH DECLINING
Parks and Wildlife Department marine biologists fear the redfish population may be declining along the Texas coast.

First sign is said to be reduction in the number of large redfish.

PWD officials say that if further evidence gathered by staff biologists confirms a decline, remedial measures may be ordered that could affect activities of both sport and commercial fishermen.

SHORT SNORTS
Thirteen new district courts were created by the Legislature to be located in Fort Worth, Dallas, El Paso, Houston, Galveston, Denton, Corpus Christi, Hidalgo County and Comal, Hays and Caldwell counties (combined).

Compulsory oil and gas unitization legislation failed in the Senate, although proponents predicted it will pass in a future session due to the energy crisis.

Bilingual education and state-supported adult education programs were finally approved and funded by the Legislature.

Governor Briscoe has urged all state offices to cooperate

ness use of your car.

Q. My son turned 20 this year. Does this mean that I can no longer claim him as a dependent?

A. In general, if the person you seek to claim as a dependent made less than $750 in 1973 and you furnished over half the person's support, you may claim him as a dependent, regardless of age. However, the dependent's age is an important factor, if your son has $750 or more in income. In this case, if he is 19 or over and not a full-time student, you may not claim him as a dependent.

Use of your car may also give rise to a large number of income tax deductions. Some of these include deductions for: gasoline tax; travel expenses for a trip to a doctor, dentist, hospital, etc., or in connection with a charitable contribution or to take your child to nursery school, if your wife works and you otherwise qualify for a child care deduction; and expenses arising from the busiunlike the case with most purchases, you can add the actual sales tax of the car to the amount shown in the sales tax tables. In addition, if you borrowed money or financed the purchase of the car, you may deduct the interest you pay. The other charges you may pay in connection with the purchase of a car, for example, tag fees, etc., are not deductible.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

It's questions and answers again today. For two reasons: (1) readers have commented favorably on this way of presenting information, and (2) I've been asked some specific questions that we can share.

Q. Are there certain foods that are essential in our diet?

A. Specific foods are not essential. It is the nutrients in food that we must have. The nutrients are protein, fat, carbohydrate, vitamins, minerals, and water. The needs of individuals vary with age, sex, and special conditions such as pregnancy, lactation, and with disease or illness.

The closest thing to essential foods would be those named in the four food groups: the meat-fish-poultry-egg group; the milk and other dairy foods group; vegetables and fruits; enriched or whole grain breads and cereals. These food groups are basic to good nutrition because between them you are offered a wide variety of foods that can give you all of the different nutrients you require.

Q. What do these nutrients do for us?

A. Proteins, mineral elements, vitamins and water serve growth of the body and its ability to repair and maintain its own structure. Amino acids (part of protein), water, minerals and vitamins are needed for the control and coordination of the body's internal processes. Fat and carbohydrates provide the body's energy and the heat to maintain body temperature.

Q. How do broken bones repair themselves?

A. Three weeks ago I described in this column how new calcium forms on the outside of the bone and how the blood's needs for calcium are drawn from the inside of the bone. Well, recent research from the University of California reported in Today's Health is believed to have found the molecular mechanism that controls bone growth. The California researchers believe bone growth is controlled by a protein, bone morphogenetic protein (BMP), and an enzyme called BMPase. Working together, the protein and the enzyme "enable the body to repair breaks and cracks by generating the exact amount of new bone needed, and no more."

Q. Can a salad be a whole meal?

A. It sure can be — a delightful meal, too. Especially this time of year, when it's warm, homemakers should consider making a salad that "does everything." The four food groups can be incorporated in this one dish. The fruits and vegetables you can use are obvious. Then add bite-size pieces of meat, cheese, and cooked egg. Fish, too, can be added. And finally, garlic-soaked croutons, or breadsticks or crackers. I like to top all this off with a glass of cold milk and I've had a fine meal.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

The buzzing of bees is just as much a part of the active summer scene as picnicking, swimming, hiking, golfing and gardening. But this pleasant sound is also a warning of the possibility of a painful bee sting.

Venom from honeybees, bumblebees, wasps, yellow jackets and hornets is--drop for drop--just as potent for certain susceptible persons as deadly rattlesnake venom.

Some health authorities believe that stings by these insects kill more people in the United States than some of the sudden deaths attributed to heart failure, or heat prostration, are in reality due to insect stings to susceptible individuals.

Many of the bee stings could be avoided with proper precautions. But most people do not seem able to cope with bees and other stinging insects. There are 822,000 nonfatal poisonings a year in the nation which result in one or more days of restricted activity or require medical attention, according to estimates of the National Center for Health Statistics.

Approximately one-half of the total are the result of a very common occurrence--bee stings--which happen to be classified as poisonous.

Bees and other stinging insects usually do not attack humans. But they are attracted by vigorous activity, such as a group of playful children at the beach. So, if a bee approaches, don't aggravate it into action by trying to swat him; keep calm and walk away slowly. Perfumes, suntan lotion, hair spray and other cosmetics, bright colors and flower prints attract them. Use an insect repellent to temporarily keep stinging insects at a distance.

Persons who disturb nests of stinging insects by accident, or on purpose, may have to run for it. If the man-of-the-house decides to paint his home, spruce up his garden, or trim hedge and shrubs, he should look for hidden nests.

The unwary painter, especially if he is on a ladder, may be badly stung by angry wasps or bees. If there are nests, dislodge them with a long pole, making sure your fast escape is possible. Insecticide will kill the insects in the nests you knock down.

And, the thoughtful parent won't let children go barefoot until he examines the yard for possible below the ground nests of yellow jackets. If nests are found, pour kerosene into the hole in the early evening, when the insects have all returned.

If someone gets stung by a honeybee, use a needle, fingernail or knife blade to scrape the stinger out as soon as possible. Avoid pulling it out with your finger; this squeezes more venom into the body. Honeybees can sting only once. Bumblebees, wasps, hornets and yellow jackets can sting repeatedly.

Ordinarily, the only effect of a sting are temporary inflammation, pain and itching. Ice packs or a cold cloth will ease the pain. Cold cream, baking soda or a compress moistened with ammonia spirits, will relieve the itching.

Persons who suffer multiple stings or who are allergic to insect stings, may develop serious reactions. They require medical attention at once.

Some persons become sensitive to insect stings if they have been stung one or more times in the past. Such persons should see a physician about desensitization.

Treatment should begin in the fall or winter protection the following spring or summer. Physicians can also prescribe an emergency kit for the sensitive person to carry in case of an immediate, generalized reaction to an insect sting.

Deaths from insect stings are uncommon; the rate is less than one death per one million population per year.

Even so, bees, wasps, hornets and other members of the Hymenoptera group of insects caused 229 deaths in the United States over a period of ten years.

Bees alone accounted for 124 of the 460 deaths from the stings and bites of venomous animals and insects.

The 10-year study also showed that nearly two-thirds of the victims were males, probably because of the greater exposure of men through outdoor occupational and recreation activities.

Nearly 90 percent of the deaths involved persons 30 years of age or older. Most of the victims were 40 to 60 years old.

Residents Attend Graduation

Mr. and Mrs. Harlon Pool attended the commencement exercises for the Northwest Texas Hospital School of Nursing, Thursday, May 17 at 8 p.m.

Miss Ellen Marie Reeder
was one of the students to receive her diploma. There were 71 students to receive their diplomas. Commencement was held at the Cascosea High School Auditorium.

The McLean I.S.D. Self Evaluation has been completed. A booklet containing the commendations and recommendations has been presented to the school and
each committee member will receive one.

The Self Study was under the direction of Dr. W.M.
Stoker, professor of Educational Administration and Head of the Department of School Services and Dr. E.- B. Posey, Associate professor of Educational Administration and the Director of Teacher Certification.

The greatest value of the study was that taxpayers and students were on the various evaluation committees with teachers and other school employees. The taxpayers and students had an opportunity to express their views
as well as the teachers.

The following FOREWARD expresses the value of the study as stated by Dr. Stoker
and Dr. Posey:

The faculty of McLean
I.S.D. worked during the 1972-73 school year in a thorough self study of the school system, grades one-twelve. Under the leadership of Superintendent Sam Gayton, the staff spent several sessions in scrutinizing
the school and its activities.

To broaden the scope of this study representative groups of patrons and students were involved in the formal study of McLean Schools.

The most important aspect of a self study and evaluation is the process involved rather than the visitation of a team and the report. Although evaluation is a continual process, research indicates a formal study is likely to result in improved education for the students.

The faculty, administration, patrons, and students should be complimented on a year of hard work in preparing the self study. Although McLean is not a member of the Southern Association of Schools and Colleges, they did use the Evaluative Criteria recommended by that body. McLean Schools are fully accredited by the Texas Education Agency.

This evaluation has been prepared by two professors
from West Texas State University. Each has several years experience as Texas public school teachers and administrators. Also, each has worked with the Texas Education Agency.

The evaluation is limited,
however, in the following ways: (1) only one full day
was spent in the McLean Schools, and (2) the visiting team members are probably biased in some ways.

Each regular teacher was visited during a teaching assignment.

The values of an outside visiting team are usually though to be: (1) these people have no emotional or financial involvements in the school being evaluated, (2) experienced evaluators can compare the school to other schools and criteria established by the Texas Education Agency, accrediting bodies, and profession of education.

This report is submitted with the hope that it will result in improved school experiences for the students of McLean.

Campers Reminded Of Park Rules

State park superintendents across Texas are getting ready for the spring and summer
surge of visitors.

This year, rules governing conduct in parks have new teeth.

As approved by the Parks
and Wildlife Commission
and effective Jan. 1, 1973, parks personnel designated by the department will have enforcement powers and full authority to see that regulations are kept.

For years, it was more a matter of individual conscience of the visitor than enforcement.

Violations of parks rules
can now carry a maximum fine of $200.

New parks rules adopted by the commission are based on ones which have been in effect for many years with some clarifications and modifications.

Visitors will be furnished with a condensation of all rules when they enter a park
or a full text upon request,
and the rules will be posted in a prominent place.

Parks Operations supervisor
Johnny Buck anticipates little problem this summer with the new rules or the capability of more stringent enforcement.

"Mostly, the new rules
are common sense," said Buck. "A person, for the most part, will be within the law if he makes a conscientious effort not to disturb his neighbor and to protect park property."

Buck also reminds visitors
that from May 1 through Sept. 15, the use of the overnight facilities in all parks is limited to 14 consecutive days.

Also, a visitor may not leave a camp unit unoccupied during the first night
after camping equipment
has been set up, or leave a camp unattended for more than 24 hours thereafter without permission from the park superintendent.

With increased demands
on all outdoor recreation opportunities, occupancy limits must be established to give the maximum number of citizens a chance to use the state parks.

OPEN LETTER

It has been brought to my attention that "I am the one responsible for Boyd Meador not being re-elected mayor and also that I am the one responsible for the people of McLean being split into two opposing groups." If this is true and I have offended anyone or said any untruth would you please accept my most humble apology.

My only aim is to have the people of McLean unite and work together for the betterment of McLean. Again if I have hurt you please accept my apology.

AT HOME

Kangaroo mamas have one advantage over "human" mamas — their crib is "built-in." There's no need for them to dash around the house to give Junior tender loving care. He is always nearby, located quite conveniently for mother's attention.

Any mother's attention is crucial in providing a child with the religious foundations needed to produce a responsible adult. Enough freedom so that he can be independent — enough discipline to provide structure for his life. And moral precepts instilled by the Church and parental example.

One day Junior will outgrow mama's pouch or crib. Then, and only then, can parents know if they have been successful.

It seems only yesterday that we prepared papers for obtaining free cotton classification service from the cotton classing division of U.S.D.A. But another year has passed. We received papers yesterday and will have them in with the required signatures shortly. This is a service we would miss greatly if someone failed to do the leg work.

There were 1766 bales of cotton classified that was produced in the 1972 crop year. Some were harvested and ginned in 1973.

CATTLE ON FEED REPORT

The cost of living council has a clear message sent to them on May 14 when a seven state cattle on feed report was released.

This report reveals four items in seven of the major cattle feeding states. These seven states have over nine million head on feed. Total U.S. Cattle on feed are something over thirteen million head.

One of the items revealed in the May 14 report was how many cattle were placed on feed by farmers ranchers and cattle feeders during the month of April. The month of the boycott.

Cattle feeders in Texas placed twenty seven percent for the same period. In California the drop was 42 percent; in Colorado they dropped 19 percent; in Iowa a 12 percent drop; in Kansas a 17 percent drop. Nebraska had the only increase in placements for the same period and it was a meager four percent increase. The average drop in placements on feed in these seven major cattle feeding states were twenty percent.

We would like to place a question to the housewife leaders of the boycott and ask them how much additional supply of beef they created. They have now all restocked their refrigerators. They are buying beef like mad and watergate has got the TV camera attention away from them. The cattle feeders are not boycotting. They just had a normal economic reaction. A ceiling was placed on the price of meat in affect is a ceiling on live beef cattle prices. Feeding cost due to a bad winter stood at an all time high due to loss of feed at harvesting (a weather problem.)

The ceiling took away the incentive to take another chance for a reasonable profit. We hope the cost of living council takes a good look at how beef production has been curtailed by their action.
