SHOT HEARD ROUND THE WORLD

INDEPENDENCE DAY 1773

Firm action in defense of freedom is this country's oldest tradition. It is the foundation on which the independence we celebrate this week will remain secure as long as we honor it.

Actually, the shooting began more than a year before the Declaration of Independence was signed. In the spring of 1775, the British commander in Boston learned that the patriots of Massachusetts had assembled ammunition and other military equipment at Concord, 16 miles away.

He sent a force of eight hundred men to destroy the munitions. When six miles from Concord, at Lexington, seventy armed men stood their ground on the village green and the British army fired the first shots. They proceeded to Concord where Emerson's "embattled farmers" hid most of the munitions and withstood the British assault.

The battle aroused the colonies and, by the end of the summer, the power of the royal governors was destroyed and provincial congresses were formed. The idea that independence was essential to freedom became widely accepted and ultimately was articulated in the Declaration of Independence.

Farmers Need To Report Any Fuel Shortage

Gray County farmers are reminded they should report immediately any critical farm fuel shortages to the ASCS county office.

Evelyn Mason, Executive Director of the Gray County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office, reports that in addition to using fuel conserving methods in their farming operations, farmers have also been asked to report critical fuel shortages to ASCS.

Miss Mason said that if a fuel supply problem cannot be resolved locally or at the state level, the shortage will be reported immediately to Washington, D.C., where it will be brought to the attention of the Office of Oil and Gas (OOG), U.S. Department of Interior. The OOG operates under the authority of the fuel allocation program which designate farming and other vital activities for priority access to fuel supplies.

If any farmer cannot obtain fuel needed for his farm operations he should make this fact known to ASCS. Farmers should do everything they can do to obtain supplies before requesting assistance; and they are urged not to buy more fuel than they need for the near future, as equitable distribution is necessary if all farmers are to have enough fuel through harvest.

Some suppliers have not been able to meet farm customers' needs fully, partly because independent and cooperative fuel producers and marketers have not been able to obtain enough supplies.

The National concern over fuel is based on two problems supply and distribution. Demand for fuel has increased steadily, while supply has not. And, some areas are near the end of major petroleum distribution systems, making equitable distribution difficult.

A primary reason for the fuel problem in farming areas is the greater need for farm supplied products. The country's farmers have been encouraged to plant about 40 million additional acres of food and feed crops this year.

The gasoline supply-demand situation is an example. Gasoline demand has risen at an annual rate of about six percent during the past two years, while crude oil processing has risen only three percent annually. We use nationally an average of 47 million barrels of gasoline weekly, while we produce only 43 million barrels.

Both state and federal agencies have been working on the problem and several actions have been taken to increase supplies. In the meantime, ASCS will offer the critical shortage reporting service for farmers as long

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

It's vacation time, the time of the year when Americans take to the highways.

It's the time of the year when people spend a lot of their time in automobiles. As a result, traffic accidents are more frequent.

On an annual average, someone dies in a traffic accident every ten minutes-- 150 every day-- and thousands more are injured.

Many of these accidents, are avoidable, say traffic safety officials at the Texas State Department of Health, and many serious accidents could be reduced to minor collisions if drivers learned and practiced "defensive driving." Here are a few tips taken from the National Safety Council's Defensive Driving Course.

In order to improve your driving ability you must first evaluate your driving skills, using "perfect" driving as a standard.

Perfect driving simply means that you complete every trip without accidents, without traffic violations, without vehicle abuse, and without discourtesy.

Perfect driving means always avoiding "preventable" accidents. Most accidents are preventable by one or both of the drivers involved, even though this sometimes involves letting the driver in the wrong have the right-of-way. To do this you must learn to give a little, to drive defensively and not as if you were on the defense. You must tailor your driving behavior to the unexpected actions of others and to other unpredictable factors such as light, weather and road conditions.

To do this, you'll need to know and apply the standard accident prevention formula, which involved three interrelated steps:

(1) See the hazard: Think about what is going to happen as far ahead of encountering the situation as possible. Never assume everything will be "all right."

(2) Understand the Defense! Learn the appropriate defensive reaction so you can apply it when the need arises.

(3) Act in time: Never take a "wait and see" attitude. Included in these steps are other ways of preventing an accident:

Stay alert; watch for signs from other drivers as to what they intend to do. Is his "turn signal on"? Are his brake lights lit? Has he been gradually drifting to the right or left as if to prepare for a turn?

Stay ahead of the situation; look beyond the driver ahead to see situations that may force him to act quickly and thereby become a threat to you.

Stay back; Allow one car length for every ten miles of speed--even more in adverse road conditions. Apply the "two-second rule" to insure a safe distance. As the car ahead of you passes a highway sign or some other marker, count off two full seconds before your car passes the same marker. This applies for in-town driving also.

Start stopping sooner: Apply your brakes the instant you see a hazard developing, but apply them gradually so you don't throw your car into a spin or come to a stop so quickly that you risk a rear-end collision with the car following you.

Do not drive with the attitude that any drivers who hits you from the rear is in the wrong. That attitude can literally break your neck.

Keep clear of "tailgaters." Slow down. This will encourage the "tailgater" to pass you. It also increases the distance between you and the car ahead so you won't have to brake suddenly. Forcing the tailgater to slow down also makes it easier for him to stop safely, when you stop.

Of course, always drive with your seat belts and shoulder harness fastened, even for in-town driving. Insist that all passengers do the same, particularly small children.

These are only a few of the safe driving tips you can implement. State health officials hope these will make you aware that you can prevent accidents.

Defensive Driving Courses are offered in most areas of the state at a very low cost. For the location of these courses contact the Texas State Department of Health in Austin, or the Texas Safety Association, also in Austin. Successful completion of a defensive driving course not only can save you money on your car insurance premium, it may give you a "safe driving awareness" that could save your life.

Runaway Trailer

To move some household goods to the country, Watson hitched up his trailer and set out along the highway. But as he was climbing a hill the trailer broke loose, veered across the center line, and slammed into a car coming the other way.

The other driver was seriously injured, and in due course brought suit for damages. At the trial, Watson insisted that he was not to blame because "it all happened so suddenly."

But the evidence showed that the trailer hitch had a faulty weld, and that the defect had been plainly visible before the accident. Result: Watson was held liable.

Anyone who undertakes to haul a trailer on the public roads must also undertake reasonable precautions. He must exercise a degree of care commensurate with the size and speed of this extra vehicle.

Furthermore, he must conform to the special requirements--such as a "fail safe" set of chains--that may be called for by the local traffic code.

Even if a trailer does not actually break loose, it may still be dangerous because of swaying. Another driver incurred liability because his trailer, swinging from side to side, knocked down a woman walking on the shoulder of the highway.

On the other hand, not every injury inflicted by a trailer is the driver's fault. Consider another case in which a runaway trailer caused a collision. This time, the trailer came loose as a result of the shearing off of a pin in the hitching mechanism.

But there was nothing to put the driver on guard for such an eventuality--no visible defect, no prior experience to warn him of danger.

Accordingly, a court refused to make him pay damages. "The collision," said the judge, "was the result of an unavoidable accident."

Gasoline should never be used for cleaning purposes or for starting or boosting fires.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Experts offer little hope for an early easing of the energy crisis, and Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Langdon warns a lot more oil and gas is being used than is being found.

A House committee studying the crisis heard a national authority's grim opinion that "there is no way out."

Dr. John McKetta, past chairman of the National Energy Policy Committee, said President Nixon should declare a national emergency, since it's too late for problem studies in the area.

Langdon told the same committee legislative efforts to cope with the problem will be frustrating because solutions must be sought at the national level.

Although the state regulatory agency has been permitting 100 per cent production for more than a year, Langdon said Texas producers are still falling short of demand for oil by 400,000 barrels a day, or roughly 10 per cent.

Atty. Gen. John Hill termed the situation "extremely critical," and said no other matter should receive more attention today.

As the commission set the July oil allowable at 100 percent for the 16th straight month (with buyers seeking a record 3.8 million barrels a day), Langdon issued a new warning that only nine million barrels of oil a month are being added to Texas supplies while 105 million barrels are consumed in the same period.

"Unless the trend is reversed, the Texas oil and gas industry is in the process of self-liquidation," said Langdon.

Texas crude oil stocks as of June 8 were 94.7 million barrels, a decline of 7.2 million from 1972.

Langdon asked for reports at the July commission meeting on the amount of oil companies discovered in 1972, and "somewhere along the line," he said, he will want to know "what it will take to find more"-- and whether the industry will really be "able to stay in business."

FUTURE HIGHWAY NEEDS

Mass transit needs should be financed from its own funds, not from highway funds, Roy D. Chapin Jr., Board Chairman of American Motors Corporation, told Texas Goods Roads Association members and the Texas Highway Users Conference here last week.

"Highway construction and maintenance needs during the next 20 years will be $600,000,000,000 in the United States," he explained.

"Mass transit needs will total $50,000,000,000 for rail construction and development and $13,000,000,000 for bus transportation.

"Highways are still the basic answers for urban transportation needs. The Department of Transportation says by 1990 that 92 per cent of transportation will be on roads and streets--with only eight per cent on bus and railroad facilities."

Chapin, who is chairman of the board of the National Highway Users Federation, spoke to a partisan audience, but his statistics impressed neutral observers about the need for political unity in the current struggle between eastern states and the rest of the nation for current highway user funds.

"HUD says that population density will continue to drop in urban areas," Chapin concluded. "Travel patterns will be from suburban home to suburban jobs. Buses and car pools start lowering congestion--but highways are still important to those methods of transportation."

He spoke against "crisis" legislation because of the of the "current misunderstanding and misinformation on the so-called energy crisis. Some restrictive actions may be taken in the name of crisis, increased tax on gas, excise taxes and personal property taxes on automobiles," Chapin added.

AMENDMENTS PROPOSED
Nine more proposed constitutional amendments will appear on the November 6 general election ballot--just a couple of months before the Legislature sits as a constitutional convention. The amendments for the November ballot are:

SJR 8--proposing a $15,000 a year salary for legislators and annual legislative sessions.

SJR 13--extending the $3,000 property tax exemption to homesteads of unmarried adults.

SJR 29--authorizing cities to levy ad valorem taxes sufficient to pay the principle and interest on general obligation bonds.

HJR 6--providing an additional $100 million for the Veterans Land Program.

DISASTER AID SOUGHT

Extensive property damage due to floods in eight Southeast Texas counties led Governor Briscoe to ask that they be designated as disaster areas.

Counties were Harris, Galveston, Brazoria, Jasper, Hardin, Liberty, Montgomery and San Jacinto.

Briscoe's request to president Nixon was backed by U.S. Sen. John Tower. Designation would make the flood victims eligible for long-term loans from the Small Business Administration.

COURTS SPEAK

The State Supreme Court upheld lower courts that owners of 73.7 acres in Wylie school district should have their land annexed to the Abilene district.

High court also agreed a Lubbock metal shop owner should get a jury trial to determine the amount of insurance he was entitled to collect for repairs of tornado damage.

The court of Criminal Appeals reversed a Dallas county conviction for flag desecration due to improper prosecution arguments and use of inflammatory words.

The Supreme Court upheld lower court findings that a Carrizo Springs store clerk was entitled to no punitive damages due to being slapped by retired Texas Ranger Capt. A. Y. Allee.

RIGHTS BILL SIGNED
Young Texans 18-20 will get full majority rights under new legislation which takes effect August 27.

Governor Briscoe signed the bill, in spite of speculation he would veto it.

It permits the 18-20 year-olds to "enjoy all the privileges and responsibilities of adult citizenship," according to Briscoe's statement.

Among adult privileges which the new youth group will be able to indulge in is purchase, consumption and sale of alcoholic beverages.

Other bills signed near the deadline for approval or veto included family code revision free kindergarten for all five year olds, primary election proceedings and financing for 1974 and bail bond reform.

Altogether, Briscoe signed or allowed to become law without signature 689 bills passed by the Legislature this year and vetoed 29.

SHORT SNORTS
U.S. Department of Labor has awarded Texas a $1.4

million grant for an 18-month manpower program under the Criminal Justice Council.

Outcries for a special legislative session on public school finance increased during a House education committee hearing.

Texas will receive $3,562,143 in additional grants for 16 Texas school districts participating in an emergency aid program to prevent minority group isolation.

Former Lubbock Mayor Jim Granberry, a Republican, is early-bird candidate for governor, although former Houston Sen. Hank Grover has made clear he will run too.

Former Secretary of State Bob Bullock jumped into the 1974 Democratic primary races first--as a candidate for state comptroller.

Rep. Joe Allen of Baytown asked for an attorney general's opinion on whether the House has an obligation to provide free space in the capitol for news reporters.

Atty. Gen. John Hill spoke for "openness" in government at the Texas Press Association convention in Houston last week.

"It's not an easy policy for officials and sometimes it's not the most efficient, but the legislature says that's the law and I plan to support it," he told 250 weekly and daily newspaper publishers.

"I'll interpret and enforce the open records law also. It is liberal in nature toward openness," he said.

The AG's office is getting into more law enforcement areas, Hill added. "We have to be vigilant about organized crime problems in Texas."

Hill spoke at the 94th Annual Convention at the Texas Press Association at the $42 million Hyatt Regency Hotel.

GOBBLERS AND HOBBLERS

When a turkey walks with a stiff, painful gait, his owner is more than likely to consider this condition strictly for the birds. And there are other probable symptoms of biotin (vitamin H) deficiency in turkeys.

Besides leg-weaknesses and foot pad lesions, signs of such disorders are uneven growth, poor feathering and dry skin.

Much can be done to reduce the seriousness of these conditions by supplementing turkey feed with biotin, however.

If any of these symptoms is present, a continuous of-

Brands Featured On McLean's New Phone Directories

Twenty-five Texas cattle brands are included in the four-color artwork on the cover of the new McLean telephone directory. The directories were delivered by mail earlier this week.

The book includes 6 pages of alphabetical listings. The cover painting features the 25 brands burned into the wood of an oldtime blacksmith shop. The painting, by Dalhart Windberg of Victoria, is an original commissioned by Southwestern Bell specifically for the directory cover, noted Gary Stevens, manager for the telephone company.

Titled "The Blacksmith Shop," the cover picture does not exist as Windberg painted it. It is a composite of three shops the native Texas artist found still open for business as he traveled across the state doing research for the painting.

Windberg said that he attempted to capture the blacksmith shop on canvas as he visualized it might have been during the days of the early west.

The artist was intrigued with the Blacksmith's habit of burning a mark on the door of a wall of his shop to test a newly forged branding iron. No painting of a Texas smithy would be complete without the brands, Windberg said of his work.

While many famous Texas cattle brands can be found in the painting, not all could be depicted by the artist. "I chose a few brands still in existence and some that may be recognized by many Texans," Windberg said.

Windberg spent 100 hours researching and painting the scene used for the directory cover. He made more than 50 photographs and sketches of the three blacksmith shops and cattle brand collections before final painting began.

The artist said that while researching the painting he found that the blacksmith was a vanishing part of the American scene, much like the cowboy after the turn of

He pointed out that legibility of a brand depended greatly on the craftsman forging the iron. Cattlemen jumped at a chance to use the skill of a blacksmith to produce a stamping iron that left a neat, clear mark.

Our Soil Supports Animals and Plants

Our land is a community of living things supported by the soil. In this community there are plants and animals that convert nutrients, moisture, and sunshine into food and fiber for man's support and enjoyment, reports Rodney Hyatt soil conservationist. While the needs of no two species of animals are exactly the same for existence it is safe to say that all need food, cover, or shelter, and water.

Wildlife can exist and provide enjoyment for man if their needed habitat (environment) is made available. This can be done by proper management of existing habitat of by establishment of needed habitat.

Land is not populated by Wildlife without reason. Their needs are essentially the same as man's, states Hyatt. Shelter from weather and predators, food and water are common to man and wildlife.

Hyatt stated, that brush piles on open upland areas, and planned systems of brush control are beneficial to many wildlife species in our area. Odd areas in cropland fields provide ex-

Local Scouts Go To Camp

Five Scouts from community Troop attended a week of Boy Scout Summer Camp, June 17th through 23rd. Roger Myers, William Mercer, Bill Hambright, Randy Suggs, and Dwayne Morgan attended the 4th week session for scouts of the Adobe Walls Council at Camp M.K. Brown located between Mobeetie and Wheeler.

The camp gives its participants an opportunity to work for merit badges in the many divisions of scout achievement. Four local youths earned badges. They were: Roger Myers, Swimming; Bill Hambright, Cooking and camp skill awards; Dwayne Morgan, camp skill; and Randy Suggs, camp skill.

Badges are earned by the taking of classes followed by the individual's demonstration of his skill. Roger was able to swim a mile as a climax to his swimming project. Bill cooked four meals over camp fire without using conventional utensils, and the young men working on camp skills demonstrated a variety of knots and the tenting process.

All the scouts from McLean received partial credit for work in the Fish and Wildlife management division.

The 120 boys attending the camps set up their own schedule of classes and activities. When not participating in a designated activity, the campers fished, fished, or took advantage of other recreational opportunities.

Highlights of the camp include a merits and awards ceremony, the conducting of various intra-troop contests, and the conferring of membership in the distinguished Order of the Arrow.

Scout Master Melvin Wood was nominated by leaders of the McLean troop during that week. Mr. Wood was "tapped out" during ceremonies last Wednesday, night at the 27th initiation for new O of A Tribesmen will be conducted in July.

During their stay at Camp Brown, the McLean scouts camped, with 5 scouts of Lefors troop 19 and their Scout master, Clyde Truty.

This week is the 5th week of Boy Scout Retreat. The campers and staff encourages you to visit their encampment.

Boy Scouts meet every Tuesday at 6:00 p.m. in the American Legion Hall. The group is supported by the Lion's Club. Scout Master Melvin Wood is assisted by Mr. James Booth.

Reunion To Be Held At Mangum

On July 5th the pioneers of the Old Greer County will celebrate their Annual Reunion at Mangum (the capitol of Old Greer). An outstanding program has been put together starting at 9:00 a.m. with a bus tour of the city and lasting thru the day. An Old Time Parade will conclude the festivities at 3:30 p.m. and at 8:00 p.m. an Old Time Rodeo will be enjoyed.

Of special interest this year is the establishing of the Greer County Museum and Hall of Fame. Financial support is coming in and with the State of Oklahoma assisting with a grant of five thousand dollars, we expect much success this year.

No fifths this Fourth

There used to be a saying at Fourth of July picnics that fireworks and fire-water don't mix. Well, neighborhood fireworks are pretty much a thing of the past. So this year let's keep in mind that driving, drinking and speeding don't mix either. That's what we mean by "No fifths this Fourth." All it takes is a little driving, a little drinking and a little speeding—and you've got the ingredients for big trouble.

This Fourth if you want to drink, get somebody else to drive. And take your time. That's DRIVING FRIENDLY.

Veterans Attending AC To Get Advance V.A. Payment

Veterans attending Amarillo College on a half-time or a full-time basis this fall will have something to look forward to at the start of registration--an advance VA payment.

Public Law 92-540 provides that an advance educational assistance allowance may be paid at the beginning of a school enrollment period that begins on or after Aug. 1, 1973.

With fall registration slated for Aug. 29 at Amarillo College, advance payment to veterans and eligible persons will be for the month of August plus the allowance for September.

Veterans and eligible persons who will be attending AC on less than a half-time basis are not eligible for an advance payment.

In order to be eligible for this benefit, the AC registrar's office must be notified of your intentions to enroll in AC for the fall semester, 1973.

All admission requirements to AC, including notice of acceptance, must be completed also.

A certificate of eligibility from the Veterans Administration to attend AC or a student's file number must also be on record in the registrar's office.

To be eligible for advance payment, the VA requires that students enroll in six or more semester hours or 12 1/2 clock hours per week.

If those eligible and interested in receiving advance payment desire additional information, the Amarillo College registrar's office on the AC Washington St. Campus may be consulted on or before July 11.

Not all such failures or broken promises indicate a scheme to defraud, but may, in fact, be merely the result of poor business practices," he said.

"However, when a postal customer cannot obtain satisfaction through his own efforts," Mr. Simpson added, "He should not just write his transaction off as a loss. Return of his money is possible in some cases."

McLean Students To Attend Enrollment Program At WSTU

West Texas State University's new freshman summer enrollment program is proving very popular, Registrar Donald Cates said today.

Three dates--June 12, July 6 and July 31--were set aside for orientation, advisement and early registration of freshman students already accepted for admittance to WTSU next fall.

Two hundred students and their parents have been invited on a first-come, first-serve basis to each of the sessions. The June session is filled, Cates said, but places remain on the two July dates.

Cates said, "This program will help the student make the transition from high school to college while at the same time help the parent understand more about that transition."

The purpose of the summer program, Cates said, are to assure the student of more individual attention in orientation, program planning and registration of classes; to provide an opportunity to visit and become acquainted with the campus; and to help him learn more about educational and career opportunities and financial aid programs.

"It is very important for interested students to send in their confirmation cards as soon as possible so that they may have a better chance of getting in the session they want."

Orientation is scheduled from 8:30 to 5 p.m. Students will meet in a general assembly in the activities center and then break into four smaller groups for counseling, orientation and campus tours.

During the time the students are being advised, their parents will have an opportunity to meet and talk with university deans and administrators, Cates said.

Registrar on for classes with the student's advisor is the last step in the process.

There is no charge for the program. The tuition and fees incurred from registration will be billed to student's home after the program, Cates said.

Arrangements can be made with the director of Testing and Counseling by students who wish to attain college credit for some courses by examination.

Thought

From The Living Orphan kissed her in-law goodbye, and turned to her home; but Ruth on staying with "See," Naomi said, "your sister-in-law gone back to her people to her gods; you do the same." But Ruth replied, "Don't make you, for I want wherever you go, I live wherever you live wherever your people shall be people, and your God be my God; I want where you die, I buried there. May I do terrible things to I allow anything to separate us."

BUTTER AND SWEET CORN

Several years ago, I wrote a summer column on how to cook fresh corn out of doors. It was so popular I'm repeating some of it today. And just thinking about it makes my mouth water.

It is surprising how many men do not know how to cook corn over an open fire, or charcoal. So many are expert in charcoal broiling steaks, hamburgers, hot dogs -- even chicken. Probably this is because their wives are quite expert at boiling corn in the kitchen.

But as glorious as corn is -- by any cooking means -- my favorite is corn cooked over charcoal, or when the fire has died down to embers. So men, here's how it's done:

Strip the Husks

Strip the husks to the end of each ear but don't tear them off. Get rid of the silk and soak the ears in cold water for a half hour. Then drain the ears and brush them with melted butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper. After pulling the husks up around the corn again, wrap each ear in foil and twist each end tightly to close.

You should turn each ear frequently and they should be done to your taste in about 25 minutes. What a delicacy. And you can add more butter if you wish.

Speaking of butter, it has a glamorous and ancient history.

Butter probably was first discovered by prehistoric herdsmen. When they poured milk or cream into animal-skin bags and hung them over horses, or camels, or other domestic animals, the stride of the animal agitated the milk in the bags until butter was formed.

It is believed this first happened by accident but that once tasted, butter was thereafter made on purpose.

There are many references in the Bible to butter. Hindus recorded their fondness for butter more than 3,500 years ago.

Rich in Vitamin A

Butter is a rich source of vitamin A. It also contains vitamin D, vitamin E, calcium, phosphorus, sodium and potassium. The energy value of butter is 33 calories per teaspoon, the same as margarine, but less than that of cooking and salad oils.

In the U.S., virtually all commercially prepared butter is made from pasteurized sweet cream. The cream from more than 10 quarts of milk is needed to make 1 pound of butter. Modern cylindrical or barrel churns are capable of producing as many as 5,000 pounds of butter per churn per hour.

Federal standards employ a numerical score that is based on butter's texture, flavor, and other characteristics. U.S. Grade AA, the grade generally available in most stores, has a score of 93. Grade A butter has a score of 92, indicating a slightly lower quality. Grade B scores 90. Grade C is 89 and is used for commercial purposes only.
