Company Interested In Opening Hospital

Jerry Tipsword of Futura Health Care Services met with the McLean City Council last week to discuss the McLean Hospital. During a scheduled work session, the council discussed the possibilities of reopening the McLean facility with Tipsword, who has recently announced plans to reopen the Groom Hospital.

According to councilman Bill Thomas, Tipsword told the council that his corporation would be interested in pursuing a five-year lease on the hospital. He said that he did not want guarantees or "front" money from the town. He said that it would be possible for the Groom and McLean facilities to share equipment and services, making both facilities more economical.

Tipsword is the administrator of the hospital at Drumright, Okla.

Thomas and Mayor George Terry went to the Gray County commissioners meeting in Pampa Friday to discuss the situation with the county officials. Gray County owns the McLean Hospital, but the facility is currently leased to Hospital Corporation of America. HCA operated the McLean facility for 18 months, and closed it

Nov. 12, 1980 following the death of Dr. A. C. Wood.

According to Michael Ehrle in The Amarillo Daily News, the hospital had operated at a financial loss during much of the 15 years after it was opened as a county-owned facility. HCA officials said the immediate reason for closing was a lack of doctors and licensing regulations which require a doctor be available 24 hours a day, seven days a week, for emergency room service.

County Judge Carl Kennedy said that the lease agreement between Gray County and HCA would have to be terminated before the transfer could take place.

The reopening of the hospital was the subject of a recent town meeting in McLean. At that meeting, Terry asked residents to sign pledge cards to donate $20 per month for a year to establish a fund.

City officials are scheduled to meet with Futura Corp., at a later date to look at a contract.

At the work session last week, the city council also voted to hire Donnie Basham as a new city employee.

Evaluation Notices In The Mail

Charles Buzzard, chief appraiser for the Gray County Appraisal District, announced today that approximately 20,000 valuation notices will be mailed July 8. These notices will include the 1983 market values, values of land qualifying for ag value, exemptions, and estimated taxes.

Buzzard cautioned taxpayers that the estimated taxes will not be the property owner's actual taxes. The responsibility of setting a tax rate is with each taxing entity.

A property owner who wishes to lodge a protest must file a written protest with the Appraisal Review Board. The review board will begin hearings on Aug. 1. A notice of date, time and place of hearings must be delivered not later than 15 days prior to change.

During the 20 days prior to board hearings, taxpayers may come to the appraisal district office to discuss their values or any other problems with their notices.

Mr. Buzzard stated that schedules for meeting with appraisal district staff for the outlying areas will be as follows: July 11 through 13 - McLean (in the school cafeteria), July 14 and 15 - Alanreed, July 18 through 20 - Lefors, July 21 and 22 - Grandview-Hopkins, and July 11 through 22 - Pampa. These meetings will be in the schools in each area.

Taxpayers in the Pampa area or others unable to meet at the above scheduled times may come by the office in the Hughes Building Suite 196-A.

For more information, contact the Gray County Appraisal District office at the Hughes Building Suite 196-A or call 665-0791.

Miss Langston was released after receiving treatment.

Lefors Ex-Students Gather For Big Reunion July 2 and 3

Lefors ex-students gathered Saturday and Sunday for one of the biggest reunions in the school's history, according to Norma Lantz of Lefors. More than 1300 people attended. A barbecue dinner was served to 1100 Sunday at the Lefors school cafeteria.

The activities began Saturday with registration and visiting at the Lefors Civic Center. Johnny Woodard's band played Saturday night for dancing in the street until 2 a.m.

Sunday, following the barbecue, the exes attended an assembly at Lefors High School. Master of ceremonies was Gene Gee of the class of 1966. Lela Harris sang "The Way We Were", and led the singing of the school songs. Retiring superintendent Jerrel Julian welcomes the group, and city councilman Wendell Akins spoke for the mayor's office. Dr. Richard Maples, pastor of First Baptist Church in Bryan, gave the invocation and benediction.

Officers elected were Johnny and Lawana Quarles of Pampa, president; Gene Gee, vice-president; Wayne and Donna Sims of Pampa, secretary; and Carol Watson, treasurer.

Miss Lantz said the group will meet in either three or five years. "The Ex-Student Association wants to extend our appreciation to the community for the refreshments which were served at the Civic Center," Miss Lantz said. "It was an exciting and enjoyable weekend for the whole town."

Drowning Leading Cause Of Death In Accidents

"Drownings account for over 90% of the fatalities in boating accidents", reports Jo Moore, public relations chairman for Panhandle Emergency Medical Services. Since drownings are the leading cause of death in small boating accidents it is essential that persons on small boats know how to swim or wear a U.S. Coast Guard Approved personal flotation device at all times while in the boat.

Ms. Moore, who is an emergency medical technician with the Vega Ambulance Service, said that unsafe operation was the principal cause of these drownings. She offered the following pointers for a safe boating season.

1. Learn how to operate your boat safely. Boats do not operate like automobiles.
2. Do not overload the craft with people or equipment.
3. The law requires that a personal flotation device be available for everyone on the boat. Make sure they are in good condition.
4. Most small boats will float when capsized or filled with water. Stay with the boat if it capsized. It is easier to spot a boat on an open lake than a lone swimmer.

5. Learn the "Rules of the Road", operators of all craft are responsible for taking all necessary action to avoid collisions.

6. Turn off the engine anytime you are allowing swimmers or skiers to enter or leave the boat.

7. Learn Cardio-pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) from your local red cross, Heart Association or Ambulance Service and know how to rescue someone who has been injured in a boating accident.

Ms. Moore concluded by advising that the summer boating season can be fun if we practice good safety measures.

In the event of an emergency, people in the panhandle can call toll free 1-800-692-1331, the Emergency Medical Services number for an ambulance and medical assistance.

Donation To Fund Is Voluntary

The McLean News has had several inquiries from McLean residents who are confused about the fund to reopen the McLean Hospital. Donations to the hospital fund is strictly voluntary. No one is required to pay $20 per month to the fund.

Several older residents seem to think that they are required to donate to the fund. That is incorrect. The fund has been established at the American National Bank for those who want to donate.

If you have questions concerning the fund, please contact The McLean News or the McLean City Office.

Secret Police Not Needed

Ben Ezzell

The Canadian Record

How often must the Texas Open Records Act be tested, and how long must we allow each successive Attorney General to drag heels lengthily before issuing the rulings which his office must issue on violations of that important act?

The case currently in point is that of the Pampa Daily News and the Pampa Police Department which has barred PDN reporters from all access to police records. A request to the Attorney General for a ruling has brought the reply that "four to six weeks" will be needed to produce an opinion as to whether arrest and jail records are, under Texas law, "open records."

If Attorney General Maddox and his staff can't act promptly on such matters, they should get out of the office and make way for an Attorney General who can. This sort of delay is insupportable... especially since there are opinions on record from previous Attorneys General bearing on these same circumstances. Surely the meaning of the Open Records Act is not that obscure. The language isn't:

"It is the public policy of the State of Texas that all persons are, unless otherwise expressly provided by law, at all times entitled to full and complete information regarding the affairs of government and official acts of those who represent them as public officials and employees. The people in delegating authority do not give their public servants the right to decide what is good for the people to know and what is not good for them to know. The people insist on remaining informed so that they may retain control over the instruments they have created. To this end the provisions of the Act shall be liberally constructed with the view of carrying out the above declaration of public policy."

That quotation forms the preamble of the Open Records Law.

Arrest records and jail inmate rosters have been declared public records. Some records of law enforcement agencies dealing with detection and investigation of crime are excluded from public records by the Act, but information about who has been arrested, the charges filed, and the persons jailed must never be kept secret by the jailors. These are tactics of a Police State, and we must not allow them in this free nation.

We do not carry a torch for the Pampa Daily News, which is, in our opinion, not a good newspaper; and we can understand that some of its reporters and their tactics may be obnoxious to the Pampa Chief of Police. But that is beside the point. Those reporters are entitled to examine those arrest records as any other citizen is entitled under the Open Records Act. That law was not created to serve the news media exclusively, or even primarily, but the representatives of the news media have the same rights in these cases as any other citizen, and may, indeed, be the public's only representative in such inquiries.

At stake here is not just freedom of the press, but the right of all persons not to be secretly arrested and secretly jailed.

Surely it is not unreasonable to expect the Attorney General of Texas to rule promptly on such matters of public access... or even to be familiar with previous rulings by his predecessors in that important office. A delay of four to six weeks is an unconscionable delay. Get off the pot, Mr. Maddox, or get out of the office!

CAPITOL UPDATE

The drug trafficking business has become our nation's most deadly and dangerous criminal activity. In 1983, millions of Americans will spend approximately $100 billion on illicit drugs.

This trafficking and the activities associated with it not only threaten the social fabric and the stability of many areas of our nation, but also foster a multitude of other illegal activities, ranging from corrupt banking practices to murder.

The profits of drug criminals are so great that they have a substantial financial advantage over many individual law enforcement agencies, particularly those at the local level. This is so because the huge profits drug criminals reap make it possible for them to employ the most sophisticated planes, boats and electronic intelligence equipment to avoid detection.

The Administration is determined to use every available resource to combat this problem. Its program involves cooperation among all of our nation's law enforcement agencies, and the resources of the U.S. military and our intelligence community.

When equipment is available, military planes and other equipment can be called into service to help locate illicit drugs on their way into the U.S. In a recent Texas case, for example, an Air Force AWACS plane provided early detection of a plane transporting drugs illegally. As a result, law enforcement officers were able to intercept the cargo and arrest the offenders when the plane landed.

Additionally, the President recently announced the

It makes each reunion a bittersweet time for me.

REFUNDABLE ASSESSMENTS PROGRAM

AUSTIN During the special session of the 68th Legislature, lawmakers passed an important measure which, if approved by voters this fall, will significantly improve the overall economy in Texas.

The Texas Senate and House of Representatives agreed to place on the November election ballot a constitutional amendment calling for a statewide refundable assessments program.

The program, which we sponsored, will provide for the promotion of food and fiber in Texas by providing representative associations of agricultural producers with the authority to collect refundable assessments on their product sales. The checkoff program must be approved by the producers who pay the assessment and they will be administered by board members who are elected by the producers. Currently, Texas is lagging behind other states in the nation in its ability to finance marketing promotions. Marketing and research promotions are essential to help sell Texas commodities at home and abroad.

The opportunity to expand our commodities markets overseas, especially for grain, is tremendous. A refundable assessments program will not only greatly benefit our producers, but it will also help provide additional jobs for the unemployed in this state. An increase in the exporting of our commod-

Religious Point Of View Can Drastically Alter Pets' Lives, Marbles Says

Most of us realize that our distinctive religions dramatically affect the way we handle problems, treat our neighbors, and select our moral values. However, it rarely occurs to us that a difference in a religious point of view can drastically alter the lives of our pets.

Take my friend Red, for an example. As a child Red was raised in a strict Baptist home, attending church with great regularity, observing the proceedings of his congregation with a little boy's interest. Actually, being a normal kid, until the time he was five years old, Red hadn't given religion much serious thought. He simply knew that you didn't take frogs into Sunday school, that you didn't wear your play clothes to church, and that it was pretty easy to fall asleep during the preacher's sermon. Then one Sunday little Red noticed something different. Somebody was being baptised. And it was apparent to Red that the baptism was quite moving, because he could see that the grownups sitting around him were smiling, and a few had tears in their eyes. And it was interesting to little Red to see that, although the person being stuffed under the water got awfully wet, he still seemed to be really happy about the whole thing.

After the services little Red asked his parents what this baptism stuff was about, and they told him in simple terms of the joys of baptism and what effect it would have on the life of the person being baptised. It was an amazing story to Red, who until this time had been concerned only with the glory of mud, the jubilation of a mouth full of chocolate pie, and the happiness of a warm puppy. Which further set Red to thinking. If the story were true, if you really needed that mystical bath to get to heaven, then he had to do some quick work in order to save his best friends—in this case the new litter of puppies his old mama dog recently had presented him.

Little Red proceeded as fast as his legs would take him. Red got that litter and, one by one, baptised those puppies in a bucket full of water. "I baptise thee. I baptise thee. I baptise thee," he said. And it was lucky that Red picked that particular time to do the baptism, because after he had done such a thorough job on each pup, they immediately went to that great doghouse in the sky, since, unfortunately, pups do not have the good sense to hold their breaths when they are being dunked.

Of course, little Red got the tar wheeled out of him when his folks found out what he had done, and I imagine he got a thorough lecture on the proper procedures for baptism.

But the story still saddens a now older-but-wiser Red. He feels bad about the pups, and wishes he had developed a better understanding of baptism when he was a wee tot.

But most of all, Red wishes he had been a Methodist. "After all," he says, "I would have been hard-pressed to sprinkle those pups to death."

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas, effective August 1, 1983, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

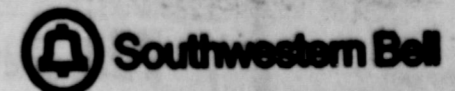

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission (PUC) at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas. The Commission staff has contended in the past that all rates are subject to change as a result of Southwestern Bell's rate application.

As a result of the settlement of a lawsuit brought by the U.S. Department of Justice against AT&T, Southwestern Bell, on January 1, 1984, (or as otherwise ordered by the United States District Court) will no longer be a part of the Bell System, but will be owned by public shareholders. Under the terms of the settlement, Southwestern Bell has identified 15 areas in the state within which it may provide service, and the federal court with jurisdiction of the settlement has tentatively approved these areas, called LATAs (Local Access and Transport Area). On or about January 1, 1984, Southwestern Bell can not provide service between these LATAs, and in addition, must transfer to AT&T customer premises equipment that it leases to customers.

Southwestern Bell has filed a proposed revised rate schedule with the PUC reflecting these changes. These rates would become effective August 1, 1983, if they are not suspended by the PUC; however, it is expected that they will be suspended and that the rates ultimately set by the PUC will become effective on or about January 1, 1984. If the rates were to become effective as filed, they would produce a 48.2% increase in Southwestern Bell's unadjusted test year revenues (or a 76.36% increase in Southwestern Bell's test year revenues adjusted to reflect the effect of Southwestern Bell's divestiture from AT&T). Any change in the rates for any interLATA services offered by AT&T or a subsidiary after January 1, 1984, could affect customers of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

While Southwestern Bell has proposed no increase in rates for intraLATA interexchange toll services, any change in those rates could also affect customers of other telephone companies. Southwestern Bell is proposing changes in the structure of the present private line and foreign exchange services. Changes in these rates may affect customers of other telephone companies. Any change in the rates for any interLATA services offered by AT&T or a subsidiary after January 1, 1984, could affect customers of other telephone companies.

News From Your Gray County Extension Agent

The hot summer weather has arrived and wheat harvest should be underway this week. Yields are expected to be a little above average where hail has not caused any damage. However, this was the year that our dryland fields could have benefited from fertilization. We have had several good dryland years recently and our natural supply of nitrogen has been depleted. Therefore, if your dryland yields fall short of expectations, I would guess that the soil is very short of nitrogen and possibly phosphorous. A soil test will show the nutrient level in your fields. Dr. Carl Patrick, Extension Entomologist, reports that sorghum producers should keep a close eye out for greenbugs on newly emerged sorghum. Although no major greenbug outbreak exists, keep a close watch on young sorghum for this pest. There have been a few fields in the Bushland-Wildorado area sprayed in order to prevent stand loss. Rabies Cases up Sharply Texas rabies cases are up sharply for the first third of 1983. During the first four months of this year, 333 cases of rabies were reported compared to 253 cases for the same time period last year. That's more than a 30 percent increase. The big jump was due mainly to an increase in skunk rabies. Cases of skunk rabies for the first third of this year total 269 compared to 204 for the first four months of 1982. Rabies cases also were up slightly in foxes, dogs, cats and cattle.

Cat rabies continue to pose the greatest potential danger of rabies exposure to humans. Cats, like dogs, may expose up to 20 or more people, a much higher number than wild animals. Even though state law required annual rabies vaccination of dogs and cats, a much lower percentage of cats are actually vaccinated than dogs. This situation is unfortunate because cats, being predatory animals, are more likely to come in contact with wild animal rabies. All dog and cat owners are urged to make sure their pets are vaccinated annually against rabies. It's much easier and far less expensive to vaccinate a dog or cat than to provide post-exposure rabies treatment to humans. Studies have shown that dogs and cats will not shed rabies virus as early as 10 days prior to showing signs of rabies. Therefore, a 10-day quarantine of these animals will determine if a bite could possibly produce rabies infection. However, this is not necessarily true for other warm-blooded animals. So, if there is a question of possible exposure to rabies by a wild animal bite, laboratory examination of the animal's brain is the only method of providing a rapid and reliable answer. Thus, wild animal bites should be evaluated individually by the appropriate health authority.

Stories Parents Seldom Hear
Harriet Harvey
In this new, extraordinary book, eleven Yale students write about what matters most to them. As their teacher, Harriet Harvey, points out, all the tales were written consciously or unconsciously, for parents, and it almost seemed each of them was attempting to convey a message to their folks, as they have recently left the nest and ventured into the helter-skelter world of adults. All the stories are different, and range from the story of Helen, who told of her efforts to break free from the family ghosts that hover about their Southport estate, to a Kansas City kid, Bob, who secretly brought his high school sweetheart to live in his tiny college room, to Lynne, a young black woman who told of her double life as an exemplary scholarship student at a New England prep school by day and a peddler of dope at night with her boyfriend.

the students, who are now budding lawyers, business executives, novelists and P.H.D.'s are full of drama, humor, heartache, and triumph, and make for very interesting reading for all of us, and we might even get some insight as pertaining to the problems and aspirations of our own children. "Stories Parents Seldom Hear" is now available at Lovett Memorial Library.

Monday, residents playing Bingo were Buck Henley, Kittie Hesse, Lula Sheegog, Annie Eudey, Ruby Bidwell, Leon Burch, Bill Shaffer, Haze Mackie, Lona Jones, Inez Fields, Alma Fandal and Ruby Cook. Our helpers were Pearl Graham, Lena Bailey, and Mildred Giesler. Bananas were furnished by our local Lions Club.

Wednesday afternoon the residents enjoyed listening to the Methodist Mens quartet, Sam Haynes, S. A. Cousins, John B. Rice, and Johnnie Haynes accom-

Public Notice

At the request of the Office of the General Counsel of the Public Utility Commission, the Commission has established Docket No. 5113 to inquire into pressing issues involving the entire telephone industry in Texas. Docket No. 5113 will deal with many issues resulting from the impending divestiture of American Telephone and Telegraph Company and Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. Some of those issues include establishing the service areas of Southwestern Bell after divestiture and assessing the impact on other telephone companies in Texas of current settlement arrangements between Southwestern Bell and those companies. Additionally, Docket No. 5113 will deal with the issues arising from the Federal Communications Commission's Final Order in Docket 78-72 (the Access Charge Docket) as they impact all telephone companies. It is anticipated that Docket No. 5113 will be evidentiary in nature. RATES FOR SOUTHWESTERN BELL MAY BE DETERMINED BY THE COMMISSION IN OR AS A RESULT OF THIS PROCEEDING. Interested parties seeking further information or desiring to participate in Docket No. 5113 are advised to write to Rhonda Colbert Ryan, Secretary and Director of Hearings, Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757 or telephone the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 TTY for the deaf.

Television Stars Are Starring In Neil Simon Hit "I Ought To Be In Pictures"

TV stars Bill Daily and Judy Norton-Taylor, familiar favorites to area audiences from their roles in recent popular television series, will be on stage at Amarillo's Country Squire Dinner Theatre in the merry, madcap Neil Simon comedy "I Ought to be in Pictures". Opening night is set for Wednesday, July 13, and is planned as an anniversary celebration of the seven years the dinner theatre has been in operation.

Billy Daily -- actor, musician, director and writer -- is well remembered for his regular performances on "The Bob Newhart Show" and in the "I Dream of Jeannie" series on national television. Miss Norton-Taylor originated the role of Mary Ellen Walton in the classic CBS TV series "The Waltons". She took her character from teenager to woman, to wife, to mother, to widow, to nurse, to doctor. The actress has also appeared in commercials, movies for television, series episodes, game shows, talk shows and live theater. Actor Daily brought nationwide smiles in his role of Howard Borden, the loveable navigator who was constantly suffering from jet lag on "The Bob Newhart Show", which aired for six years, and appeared as Major Healy on "I Dream of Jeannie". He has written, directed and appeared in numerous shows, including a stint with Steve Allen. Performances run Tuesday through Sunday weekly, with buffet food service beginning at 6:30. Show time is at 8 p.m. except for the Sunday performance which begins at 7:30 p.m. The theater is located at 1-40 and Grand in Amarillo.

Mysterious disease killing newborn foals
COLLEGE STATION — A puzzling new disease is killing newborn foals nationwide and veterinary diagnosticians here are hoping to find clues before the current foaling season ends.

The mysterious disorder attacks the liver and produces symptoms similar to hepatitis, explained Dr. Robert Fiske of the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory, a part of the Texas A&M University System.

The foals appear normal at birth, but a few days later exhibit jaundice in the eyes and lips, staggering movements and may seem to be blind. Within nine days after birth, they all die despite treatment, said Fiske, a pathologist.

Cause of the malady — called neonatal foal hepatitis syndrome — is unknown, he said.

"There is a critical need to learn more about this potentially devastating disease," he said. "We are soliciting help from the veterinarian in the field when this disease is suspected."

Information that the TVMDL will be seeking from field veterinarians and owners includes samples of liver, blood serum, a complete history with medications and vaccinations given during pregnancy and exposure to toxic substances.

Greenhouse fluid-roof cuts heat, cool costs and aids plant growth

COLLEGE STATION — Running water over the top of a greenhouse cuts heating and cooling costs and allows plants to absorb more carbon dioxide, which makes them grow faster, researchers at Texas A&M University have found.

Dr. C. H. M. van Bavel of Texas A&M's College of Agriculture, who has been experimenting with the fluid-roof design for seven years, says it requires no additional or external structures, with the exception of an underground storage tank for the water.

"This approach consists of making the entire greenhouse into an active solar collector by using blue-green heat absorbing glass in the roof and allowing water to flow across it," he said. The process lets 66 percent of the light enter the greenhouse, but only 24 percent of the heat radiation.

Medical memorabilia donated to Texas A&M

COLLEGE STATION — Century-old medical instruments and other items belonging to one of Central Texas' first doctors have been donated to Texas A&M University, where they will be displayed in the Medical Sciences Library.

The collection includes saddle bags which carried surgical instruments and 24 apothecary jars, some still containing medicine more than 100 years later.

They belonged to Dr. Thomas H. Dennis, who practiced in Limestone County in the late 1860s.

The doctor's great-great-grandson, Dr. George Tipton of Temple, presented the items during National Library Week. Tipton, a consulting physician at Teague Veterans Administration Center in Temple, is also a member of the Texas A&M medical faculty.

Other memorabilia donated include personal papers, a framed diploma and portraits of Dennis and his wife, said Virginia Algermissen, director of the Medical Sciences Library.
