Taxpayers Learn Property Values In McLean Reappraised Higher

McLean area taxpayers received their appraisal notices in the mail this week, and found a change in the value of their property. Gray County Appraiser Charles Buzzard and his staff were in McLean at the school cafeteria to hear comments from taxpayers about the reappraisals.

According to Buzzard, the ag value of ranch and farm land in the McLean area is down from previous years. "This reflects a difference in the way we appraise land," Buzzard said, "not necessarily the difference in the actual worth of the land."

Evaluations within the city limits of McLean are up considerably, however. "McLean properties were valued at about 45 percent of market value in 1981, so this reflects a considerable change," he said. Values are now set at approximately 90 percent of market value.

Buzzard explained that houses are valued by determination of the category of the property. Houses are divided into wood structures (which include stucco, aluminum siding, and masonite), brick, and masonry. Each category is then divided into at least seven classifications, depending on the square footage of the house.

Lot values in town are determined by the location in the city, and the frontage streets of the property. Different values are given to property on dirt streets, paved streets, and paved streets with curbing.

Buzzard said that the farm and ranch land is divided into irrigated land, dry land, and grass land, and each category is divided into seven classes.

The appraisal notices show the 1983 market value, the 1983 ag value, 1983 exemptions, the 1983 taxable value, the estimated rate, and the estimated taxes. Buzzard emphasized that the rate and the taxes are strictly estimated. "Each taxing entity will set its own rate," he said. For most McLean-area residents, tax rates will be set by the City of McLean, Mc-Lean Independent School District and Gray County. The new county-wide appraisal office, however, will insure that each taxing entity will use the same value.

Fire Reported In Apartment

The apartment of Jody and Thomas Mathews received heavy smoke damage Tuesday afternoon in a fire discovered about 2:20 p.m. Mathews said he walked into the apartment, and found the rooms filled with smoke.

McLean firemen responded to the blaze, and worked to clear the building of smoke.

The apartment is one of the new government apartments located in the west part of town.

Mrs. Mathews said that kitchen items and clothing belonging to the couple were heavily damaged.

Firemen had not decided at press time about the exact cause of the blaze, but Mrs. Mathews said she thought a fan in the apartment might have shorted out.

Alanreed Representatives Discuss Tuition With McLean

Representatives from the Alanreed School met with the McLean School Board Monday night during the MISD board's regular monthly meeting. Dick Bode, president of the Alanreed board, and Bill Adams, administrator for the Alanreed school, came to the meeting in the school's board room.

The pair from Alanreed were protesting a letter Alanreed received last April stating that the cost for high school transfers into McLean would be $2446 per student.

Bode quoted from a 1981 McLean News story about a school board meeting. The article stated that the McLean school board had set a policy governing transfer students which would set the fees at the actual cost per student. The article quoted by Bode also stated that each school would be given one "year of grace" during which time no tuition was charged.

Bode said that Alanreed had paid $850 per student in the school year of 1977-78 and $1329 for the 1979-80 school year.

"We feel that the increase is too much," Bode said. "Had we been notified that we would be charged $1329 again, we would not have protested."

Superintendent Jim Rutherford explained that the actual cost per student was figured by an audit. He said that the audit used the school's actual expenses and subtracted capital expenditures and building improvements and some vocational costs. The amount was divided by actual number of students who attend the McLean schools.

malfunction of our computer caused us to mail the notices late, so we want to give the taxpayers another day to answer their questions."

Buzzard said that any-

Rutherford also pointed out that Alanreed received one year tuition free (1981-82), and that the school was not charged any tuition for students who transfer into McLean for both elementary and high school.

Principal Dorman Thomas also noted that the cost was higher because McLean's ADA (average daily attendance) had dropped from 290 students to 260 students during the two years in question.

Adams remarked that transfer fees are a problem all over the state. McLean board member Joe Magee said "I can't see a fairer way to do this than figure your charges at our cost." McLean board members asked if Alanreed needed earlier notification of the impending costs, and Bode agreed that might help.

Board members took no action concerning the policy following the discussion.

Bill Billingsley came to the board to ask questions about discipline policies in the high school.

In other business, the McLean board hired Gordon Maddox of Childress as the auditor for 1982-83.

Rutherford told the board that the job of band director was still open. The board hired Marty Layne McClintock of New Home as the junior high math teacher. McClintock graduated from West Texas State University in December. He will receive the state scheduled salary plus $750.

Rutherford told the board that the recent legislative session set the one who was unable to come to the cafeteria was welcome to come by the appraisal office in Suite 196-A in the Hughes Building in Pampa. Each teacher's pay raise at 2.54 percent increase. The board discussed raises for the auxiliary personnel, but tabled the matter until the next session.

The superintendent also told the board that the budget for the school year is progressing. He

from the distaff side

Several readers have been kind enough to send us a clipping from the front page of the July 4 edition of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. The feature is headlined "Down memory lane: Route 66 ran out of kicks." McLean is mentioned prominently in the story several times, and page 2 features a large photo of Johnny and Colleen Mertel.

According to the copyrighted article by William Celis III, McLean and Williams, Ariz., are the only two towns remaining with short stretches of Route 66 still in existence.

In many ways, McLean has been fortunate that we are the last town in Texas to be bypassed by Interstate 40. We have received a great deal of free publicity which we would not have otherwise been given. Perhaps some industrialist reading one of these articles will decide to take a look at the town, and move a business into the factory building.

Regardless of the fears that we have had about the highway bypassing us, McLean is growing. I'm not sure what is bringing in the new people, but they are here.

Southwestern Bell sent out a letter this week which says that McLean has had a 29 percent change this year. The phone company has installed 165 new telephones, according to the directory representative. And that represents some growth for us.

I still feel that McLean will have only a temporary setback when the highway goes around. Some aggressive businessmen should be making plans now for moving their businesses closer to the highway, or putting in some gas stations or truck stops near McLean.

We'll survive, I'm sure. The town has weathered a variety of changes in its economic patterns in the past, and this one will be no exception. Since the nation's economy is beginning to recover, brighter economic times should arrive in our area soon. Are you planning for it?

 Friday, Loose Marbles and I journeyed to The Lipscomb County Limelight in Follett to visit Sandy Woods and her staff. Sandy is the new president of Panhandle Press Association, and her editor, Mary Shearer, is the new secretary. We had a delightful visit, and a delicious luncheon, but the day was almost ruined by a highway crew.
 On the long, lonely stretch of highway between Glazier and Darrrouzett we came up behind a truck which was laying a thick bed of gravel over fresh tar. Since the truck was going about 10 miles an hour, I passed him and drove on the wrong side of the road for a few feet because the shoulder of the road dropped off into a deep bar ditch. The tar truck was at least a mile ahead of the gravel truck and had done a great job of laying a thick, oily coat of tar. A hill forced me to turn on to the black goop for a few feet, and then I was able to drive on the grass at the side of the road until I could pass the tar truck.
 I didn't realize how much damage that few feet on the tar had done until we stopped in Canadian for a brief visit with our friends

Nan and Ben Ezzell at The Canadian Record. When we got out of the car (I was wearing white slacks, of course) we discovered that the mess was an inch thick all over my station wagon. We were unable even to get out of the car without getting the junk on our clothing.
 Lisa told the Ezzells that the newspaper business was so bad, that we had been tarred in Follett, and we had stopped in Canadian to get feathered!
 However, my family didn't see that much humor in the situation when I drove into the driveway. Even my neighbors were horrified by the goop covering my car. Fortunately, my son Scott had some solvent and he worked about three hours Saturday morning and cleaned the car for me.

 I decided after the incident that we could write a different version of the old cliché describing a situation with two bad choices. Instead of saying "Between a rock and a hard place," my new saying will be "Caught between the black tar and a steep ditch."

No More 'Patiently' Waiting For Doctors And Dentists, Loose Marbles Says

I've spent my last hour waiting for doctors, dentists, and other such medical personnel, and so have you. I figured all this out recently as I was waiting patiently for an appointment to be the victim of a nice doctor I know. Now, I am aware of the fact that doctors claim they can't avoid our ninety-minute waits for appointments, that they have certain obligations, such as impromptu counseling, unforeseen emergencies, and obnoxious drug salesmen, but that doesn't make me feel any better about being sick and trying to be patient about it at the same time. I mean, my heart would bleed for them if I thought I could survive the blood loss.

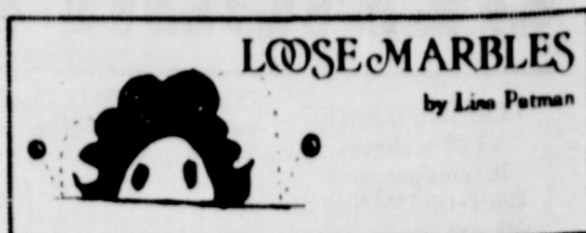

Anyway, to get on with the solution, there I was, trying not to get angry, when into my fever-infested brain came a plan so magnificent that I had to share it with you.

What if, I thought, we weren't called patients. After all, what does the word "patient" conjure up in your mind? When you picture a patient, you see a person who is meekly waiting for somebody to grace him with a few seconds of time. Okay now, what if we change that one simple word, "patient," to "aggressor."

"Hello," we would say when we called for an appointment. "I'm an aggressor of Doctor Bimbo, and I want to make an appointment for ten o'clock."

"You bet," the appointment lady would say. You see, she doesn't want to mess around with somebody who is known to be so aggressive. She won't expect an aggressor to wait a minute, to be put on hold, to have to listen to some horrible Hawaiian rendition of The Night The Lights Went Out In Georgia, while the appointment lady flips through the files to see if there's an opening at ten o'clock. She'll know you mean business. And when you arrive, will you be subjected to a long stay in the waiting room? No sirree! They're going to put you in a large comfy-but-prompt room, and hope that you'll be satisfied enough to wait while the doc comes running down the hall to see you.

And he will, he will. He's a smart man. He went through years of strenuous training, of gruesome study, of horrendous hospital duty, just to be allowed the privilege of attending the aggressor's every need. He'll be grovelling and begging you to treat him gently, to give him your symptoms with a kindly manner, just so that you will remain one of his aggressors.

By the time we're through with them, they'll be on their knees, whimpering for mercy. And we'll never have to wait for them again. Truly, we've spent more years being patients than they have being doctors, so now let's see what a little aggression can do.

Now if only we can get the "waiting room" changed to the "hostility room." I think we'll have the problem whipped. (Pun intended.)

DOWN MEMORY LANE

Compiled By Sam Haynes From The Files Of The McLean News

10 YEARS AGO...

E. M. Bailey, Ed.
Mrs. Norma Tarbet of Lefors and Margaret Chapman of McLean have returned from three weeks in Germany visiting Sherry and Bill Earles and report the arrival of Wesley Brian Earles, born on June 23 at Augsburg, Germany. Their home is at New Ulam.

Bill and Cindy Wilson are the proud parents of a baby son, William Earl, born June 25, in McLean Hospital, Florence, S. C. Weighing in at 8 lb., 4 oz. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilson, Florence, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brooks of McLean.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Goldston and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Keller attended the July 4th celebration and parade in Clarendon, encountering many old friends and acquaintances and calling on Mrs. Goldston's brothers, John McMahan, and Mrs. Jennie Stone during the day.

Kenneth Wilson, 1954 graduate of McLean High School, has been employed as instructor at West Texas State College, Canyon. Wilson, son of Mrs. Paul Phillips, of Colorado Springs, Colo., formerly of McLean, will begin his duties at West Texas this fall. His wife is the former Barbara Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Williams, McLean.

Sonny Breeze, a quarterhorse owned by two McLean men, won his fifth race Sunday in seven starts this year at Raton, N.M. The animal is owned by R. D. (Sonny) Back and Myrtle Norman.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Grimsley, McLean, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Cheryl, to Carey Don Smith, son of Mrs. Ruel Smith, also of McLean.

Luke Henley, commander of the Floyd-Corbin-Florey Post 315 since being installed last September, was re-elected to serve another year as the Legion leader at a meeting of the post Monday night. Henley, along with other officers, will be installed at a special program sometime in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Willingham of Chadron, Nebraska, are the parents of a son, born June 30. He was named Frank Young, and weighed 6 lbs., 15 oz. at birth. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Willingham of McLean, and Mr. and Mrs. F. Y. Moseley of Arlington, Colorado.

Dorothea Back of Amarillo visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Back, over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hugg and sons of Tucson, Ariz., visited with Mrs. W. M. Tibbets and other relatives last week.

Cpl. George A. Rich of the internment camp, whose home is in Salt Lake City, Utah, was a linotype machinist before joining the army, and was kind enough Friday afternoon to make a few adjustments on the News machine that proved his value as a trained mechanic.

S/Sgt. Ernest Burrows of Camp Haan, Calif., his sisters, Miss Madge of Amarillo and Miss Evelyn of Childress, visited home folks here over the

50 YEARS AGO...

County Commissioner W. W. Wilson was in town Saturday with a limb from a plum tree averaging 60 plums to the foot. The plum was one of the "compass cherry" variety and the fruit was clustered closely about the limbs. This variety has the reputation of being a sure and heavy bearer in this section.

Misses Odessa Kunkel and Addie B. Mantooth have returned from a week's visit in the home of the former's brother, Carl Kunkel, at Groom.

Miss Thelma Gatlin, who returned to Longview Thursday after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gatlin, was entertained while here with a bride and slumber party. Those attending were Misses Mildred Dunn, Viola Studebaker, Robbie Howard, Jewel Shaw, Verna Rice, Eleanor

Information about your changing telephone service from Gary Stevens, Community Relations Manager

By now you've probably read about the company's rate request for $1.7 billion.

How did we come up with that figure? Why is this request so much larger than previous rate filings? In this column, I hope to provide some answers for you.

Local rates subsidized by long distance

If somebody else were to pick up half your lunch check, what would you say? Probably, thank you. But what if they started paying half of all your meals? At some point it would be human nature to start taking them for granted. Our situation is similar.

You've been paying an average of $11 a month for something that costs about $29 a month: residence telephone service.

Long distance and other services have been picking up the difference. This came about because the company wanted to keep local service as cheap as possible. That way everyone could afford to have a phone. And as long as Southwestern Bell operated as one big system, this worked fine.

But with recent government rulings, things have changed.

Southwestern Bell can't continue to subsidize local rates with the money we make on optional services. As Paul Roth, vice president of revenues and public affairs, said in a recent press conference, "Local rates no longer can hide behind long distance, because we're just about out of the long distance business." For the most part, the long distance business is going to other carriers like AT&T and MCI. And, we're virtually out of the customer equipment business. As a consequence, local rates must go up... substantially.

Three main components make up rate request

Basically, the company's request for local rates can be divided into three parts:

The company is requesting an increase of $502 million statewide to recover the costs of doing business, and to produce a fair return on Texas investment.

We're asking for an increase of $450 million in depreciation expense and other capital recovery changes that is more consistent with today's technological changes.

The company is seeking $249 million in access charges to partially replace the subsidy provided by intrastate long distance revenues to local rates. The filing also proposes additional charges of $504 million to intercity carriers such as AT&T and MCI.

Lower cost options due later this year

We are concerned about how these increases will affect our customers... particularly those on fixed incomes. That's why we're researching several lower priced offerings as alternatives to flat-rate unlimited service. Under such offerings, customers would pay for each call made, but the monthly rate for most would be substantially less than unlimited service.

With local rates rising to meet costs, it doesn't make sense for all customers to pay the same flat rate no matter how much or little they use their line. People who use less should pay less. This is no different than rates charged for other utility services.

For further information and background about the rate filing, send for our free booklet, "Telecommunications Changes and the Cost of Telephone Service." Address requests to: Rate Request Booklet, Southwestern Bell, P. O. Box 225265, Dallas, Texas 75265.

Remember, if you have a question or comment you'd like to pass along, don't hesitate to drop me a line. Here's my address:
