Redistricting Will Affect County Elections This Year

Elections in Gray County will take on a new look this year since the redistricting of the county went into effect Jan. 1, 1980.

McLean's commissioners precinct 4 now includes voting precincts 4, 5, 8, and 9 with a total of 3,992 voters. In 1978 voters in commissioners precinct 4 numbered 1034.

Lefors' Commissioners precinct 1 which includes Lefors now includes voting precincts 1, 6, 11, and 14 with a total of 3,719 voters. In 1978, commissioners' precinct 1 had 682 voters.

McLean's precinct 4 traditionally included the southeast portion of the county but the redistricting added a section of Pampa to the precinct. The new boundary lines in Pampa for precinct 4 run from Harvester Street on the south to Duncan Street on the west. The redistricting added approximately 3,000 voters to McLean's precinct.

Lefors precinct 1 also now takes in a section of Pampa. The Pampa part of the precinct is bounded on the east by Duncan, on the south by Kentucky Avenue from Hobart to Duncan, and then south on Hobart St. to Gwendolen St.

The redistricting added about 3,000 voters to Lefors precinct. The effects of the redistricting on elections has not been determined yet, according to County officials, but the change means that offices traditionally held by McLean or Lefors residents may go to Pampa residents in the future, officials said.

The precincts will choose constables, commissioners, and justices of the peace for the county on a precinct basis. In Precinct 4 this year, only the constable's office is up for grabs. Three McLean men, Jim McDonald, Joe Billingsley and Ray Sharber, have filed for the office.

In Lefors, both the constables

In Lefors, both the constable's job and the commissioner's job are to be filled. Lefors constable Jerry Williams and Lefors commissioner O.L. Presley have filed for re-election.

Medicaid Changes Rules Nursing Home Admissions

As of Mar. 1, the ICF 2 patients in Texas nursing homes will no longer be eligible for Medicaid, according to Bill Thomas, director of Thomas Nursing Center in McLean.

The change will not affect the ICF 2 (Intermediate Care Facility) patients who are already patients in nursing homes, Thomas said, but no new patients will be admitted under that classification.

The McLean director said that ICF 2 patients are those who need custodial care, as opposed to those patients classified as ICF 3 who are ones who require 16 hours of nursing care per day.

The change was adopted in Texas in response to pressure from the federal government, Thomas said. Approximately 30 percent of the patients currently in Texas nursing facilities are ICF 2 patients.

ICF 2 patients who are private patients (that is, do not take Medicaid benefits) will still be accepted, Thomas said.

"I'm primarily concerned about the people who have hesitated in coming to the nursing home who just need custodial care," Thomas said. "With the spiraling rate of inflation, they may find it more and more difficult to economically maintain a private home, but with this new ruling they will not be eligible to enter a nursing home with Medicaid payments."

The new rule will not affect those who have applications pending as of Mar. 1, Thomas said.

Positive comments about some of our fine facilities in McLean are always appreciated. We'd like to share a comment with you that was published in Saddlebags, a publication of the Texas Panhandle Library System.

"A small town of only 1,281 residents in the eastern part of the Texas Panhandle boasts a library of incomparable pride. The latest annual report indicates a collection of 11,410 volumes, per capita expenditures of $7.23, circulation per capita of 10.08. The per capita figures indicate that McLean's library, although small, is well used and enjoys a lively reputation in the community. Martha Parker has served as the librarian for the past six years and is to be congratulated on her efforts to promote quality library service.

A library was started in McLean in 1940 by a group of concerned citizens. The Lions Club and the Council of Churches sponsored the library project at first. The idea caught on and space was made available in City Hall until 1957 when a permanent home was provided by the Lovetts.

In 1973 the Lovett Memorial Library met the requirements to become a member of the Texas Panhandle Library System and has been an active participant in the system. An active library board meets regularly to discuss matters of concern and most recently have begun to investigate funding sources for an addition to the library.

Taxing Entities Work For Compromise

Representatives of the City of McLean, McLean Independent School District, and Alantreed School District met with representatives from the other taxing entities in Gray County at Lefors Thursday night to discuss a compromise resolution for the Gray County Tax Appraisal Board.

Earl Tarbet, president of the Lefors School board, presided at the meeting attended by Sam Haynes and George Terry representing McLean ISD, and Dick Bode representing the Alantreed school.

The resolution which calls for a nine-man board with five members coming from the city of Pampa and Pampa ISD, and four members coming from the other taxing entities, was favorably discussed by the group. The representatives of the various boards agreed to seek the approval of their individual boards and if each board officially approves the resolution, it will be presented to Gray County Clerk Wanda Carter today (Thursday) or tomorrow.

In addition to the five members from Pampa, the resolution will give one member from Alantreed, one from the city of McLean and McLean ISD, one from Grandview-Hopkins, and one from Lefors.

The McLean school board and city council met in a joint session Monday night at the McLean school business office and officially approved the resolution.

The resolution settles a controversy which began in October concerning the board. Grandview-Hopkins had earlier filed and then dropped a suit in the county court to resolve the issue.

Attending from Grandview Hopkins were Jim Hopkins and Fred Vanderburg, from Lefors were Ben White, Leonard Cain, and Earl Tarbet.

Commissioners Appoint Eck To County Airport Board

A McLean man was appointed to the Gray County Airport Board and the McLean fire department received a $36 increase for fire calls outside the city limits in action by the Gray County Commissioners in their meeting Friday morning in Pampa.

George Eck of McLean was one of seven men appointed to the airport board. Eck's term is for three years. Other appointees were Jack Hood, Milo Carlson, Jack Chisum, Bill Halberberg, J.D. Fowler, and Virgil Ackfield.

The raise for the fire department brings the total for fire calls inside the county but outside the city limits to $336 per call because of rising costs of utilities and repairs. The maximum rate for false alarms and fires out upon arrival of the trucks was changed to $50.

In other business the commissioners appointed a new assistant county extension agent for home economics. A vacancy was created with the resignation in December of Marilyn Tate.

The court also authorized the distribution of approximately $90,000 to Gray County school entities, including Pampa, McLean, Lefors, Grandview, and Alantreed. The money was received from the lease of Gaines County oil lands and will be distributed to the different schools in the county according to their average daily attendance in 1979. McLean will probably get about $5,000, according to Shirley Johnson, McLean ISD business manager.

Three names were drawn by the commissioners to serve as public members of the salary grievance committee. The names drawn, Thomas Bates, Bill Harris and G.D. Phetteplace, were taken from the grand jury list of $979.

Commissioners completed action regarding the leasing of a copy machine for the county extension office with the lease of a Xerox model 2400 machine at an estimated at $180 per month.

A new fee schedule for use of the county barn was established with $25 to be charged to non-profit organizations using the barn and $50 for those selling tickets for admission. A deposit of $100 will be required on the latter use.

The commissioners approved acknowledgement of receipt of a letter from the city of McLean regarding the building. See COMMISSIONERS Page 2

Tigers, Tigerettes Begin District Play

The McLean Tigers and Tigerettes began district play last week with the girls winning one and losing one and the boys dropping two games.

In the initial district contest Tuesday for the Tigerettes, the McLean varsity took an early lead in the game at Lefors with the half-time score standing at 26 to 10. The visiting Tigerettes scored 19 more points in the second half to win the game 45 to 23. Leading scorer for the Tigerettes was Sally Haynes with 13, closely followed by Judy Trew with 12. D.D. Hutson scored 10 for Lefors.

In a junior varsity girls game the McLean girls won 25 to 16, with Terri Glass scoring 7 for McLean. Lisa Moxon scored 8 for the Lady Pirates.

In the boys game the lead

Melton Goes To Band Competition

Brad Melton, Trudy Stewart and McLean High School band director Bonnie Brass went to Lubbock Saturday for All-State Band tryouts. Melton had qualified for the tryouts in earlier competition. Only three trombonists were chosen for the All-State band, Melton was not chosen.

The group returned to McLean Saturday night.

OPINIONS

VIEWERS ARE WRITTEN BY LINDA HAYNES, UNLESS OTHERWISE NOTED - IF YOU HAVE AN OPINION ON ANY CURRENT SUBJECT WE WELCOME YOUR SIGNED LETTERS.

YOUR VOTE IS VITAL!

Voters in McLean should place more importance than ever on voting in this year's county-wide elections.

With the redistricting of the county which went into effect Jan. 1, McLean voters are outnumbered almost three to one by Pampa voters who will cast their ballots for constable in this precinct.

The county is divided into four commissioners precincts and 13 voting precincts. Following the redistricting, commissioners precinct 4 in which McLean is located now includes several voting precincts in Pampa, adding almost 3,000 Pampa residents to the rolls.

What this means for the residents of McLean is that if we want to have a constable who lives in McLean, we will have to be sure that as many qualified voters in McLean as possible cast their ballots. Although no one from Pampa has filed for the post, the deadline for filing is not until Feb. 4, and rumors floating around our county seat indicate that a Pampa resident will file.

If that happens, and Pampa voters vote solidly for a Pampa resident for constable, McLean will, in effect, be left with no constable, since it seems highly doubtful that a constable in Pampa would drive 36 miles to answer complaints in this city.

The constables who serve Pampa now do very little law enforcement work, since Pampa has a city police department and there are several sheriff's deputies stationed in the city. The Pampa constables primarily serve warrants of different sorts.

If we want to maintain the office of constable in McLean, we must turn out in large numbers to vote in the Democratic primary in May. Otherwise, McLean will be left without a constable in residence.

If you have not registered, be sure to do so soon. There is no residence requirement in Texas for registering, but you must register at least 30 days before the election. McLean residents may register at the City Office with Pat Bailey.

If you have not registered, do so immediately, and if you are a registered voter, be sure to cast your ballot in the election May 3.

ARE WE PREJUDICED?

"PREJUDICE: to have suspicion, intolerance or hatred."

Almost every religious and moral code condemns prejudice as being immoral and sinful. In recent years, racial prejudice has received wide attention in the press and in the courts.

McLean does not have much outspoken racial prejudice, since there are no racial minorities living here, but we are perhaps guilty of another kind of prejudice...and this against our teenagers!

A biased, prejudiced person usually attributes to an entire group the bad characteristics of a few...and everyone has heard the racial slurs and clichés beginning "All blacks..."

But lately we have been hearing "Those kids (implying all those kids) are constantly causing trouble..." or "Those reckless kids were out raising Cain again last night..."

Well, let's set the record straight. We cannot condemn all teenagers for what a few do. Out of 100 students in our high school, there are perhaps four or five who deserve the criticism for being troublemakers.

Four or five percent of a group is a very small minority and we should all remember that the vast majority (95 or 96 percent) of our young people are sober, respectable, hard-working, dependable, responsible citizens.

They spend the majority of their time studying, participating in sports, playing in the band, working with show animals, working in the various clubs at school, and doing church work. They really don't have time to cause much trouble.

Let's all make an effort to applaud the "good" kids in their efforts, and make sure that when we condemn a few, we don't include the whole group.

"Philately" (stamp collecting) comes from two Greek words that mean "love of tax-free things."

Hightower Will Run For Re-Election

Congressman Jack Hightower today announced he will be a candidate for reelection, pledging his continued support for a strong national defense, fair farm and energy policies, and a reduction of the federal bureaucracy.

Hightower, a member of the powerful House Appropriations Committee, said the country faces critical decisions to bring inflation under control, reduce the size of government, and assure adequate energy supplies for the future.

"Certainly our most critical concerns now are Soviet aggression in Afghanistan and the situation in Iran," he added. "I am strongly committed to stopping the Russians, but halting grain sales punishes our agricultural producers more than it does the Russians and I believe the Administration should re-examine its policies in this regard."

Hightower, who spends as much of his time as possible in the district when Congress is not in session listening to and seeking opinions of his constituents, said he was looking forward to the session of Congress which will convene Tuesday.

"We have learned once again that we can't trust the Russians and we must maintain and strengthen our defense around the world," he said.

"One of the top priorities in this session of Congress would be to cut back on federal dollar outlays in unneeded areas and programs and put more muscle into the defense budget."

He pointed out that as a member of the Appropriations Committee he had been able to oversee some economies in the Department of Agriculture and the Department of State.

"Our Committee was able to save thousands of taxpayer dollars without doing any damage to existing programs in those two departments," he added.

"I continue to be concerned about inflation and the energy problems," he said, "and I will continue working for solutions."

Hightower maintains three offices in the district to keep close contact with constituents. Hightower was elected Congressman from the 13th District in 1974 and reelected in 1976 and 1978.

He has filed with the State Democratic Executive Committee for a place on the ballot in the May 3 Primary Election.

More than two million Cub Scouts in the U.S. will celebrate the golden anniversary of their organization in 1980 with a wide range of activities designed to showcase the past, present and future of Cub Scouting.

Robert L. Untch, national director of the Cub Scouts, notes there is much to celebrate. "Over the past 50 years," he says, "Cub Scouting has helped countless boys become better young men by instilling in them a sense of honor, pride and patriotism. We plan to show the nation just how proud of this achievement we are."

The National Cub Scout 50th Anniversary Committee is now busy organizing national events and activities to coincide with local council and district celebrations.

"Our primary aim is to get all packs, districts, and councils involved in activities of their own," notes Mrs. Ann W. Nally, Anniversary Committee chairman. "With the support of national program themes for each month and local council activities that tie in with each pack's plan, the anniversary year will be filled with a variety of boy-and-family activities. Involvement will be widespread."

Local activities will include tracing a pack's history, contacting former pack members, developing Cub Scout display windows, a "Bobcat Hunt" for new members, and a community or block vegetable garden in the spring.

The goal of the Cub Scouts is to develop character, sportsmanship, and good citizenship through home-centered activities involving family and friends.

Letters To The Editor

After this recent bad spell, I feel like passing out some bouquets.

You know we thank our doctors and others for saving lives, but I wonder how many of you realize just what some of our less known people do?

I am speaking of the highway maintenance crews. For instance, I live on I-40 so I have reason to know how hard some of these men work.

I lay in my warm bed and see their flashing lights go up and down all night long in the very worst of weather.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

If you want to know what it's like in my part of town, I'll tell you a story if you will just hang around. I watch the TV shows, and what the commentator said... Then I turn out the lights, and I go to bed.

I lay there a few minutes before I go to sleep. And the next thing I know I hear a car coming up the street. He passes on by and then turns around. He lets the "hammer down" and he moves on down.

I turn over and wait and then I close my eyes, I hear two cars coming, but it is no surprise. They are driving faster as they go by. They turn around and they "let her fly!"

The next thing you know there is a long line. They are passing each other to make up time. Some of them stop to have a little chat. And then they take off like "a blinded bat."

They "rev" up their motor, and blow their horn. They "peel" their tires til three in the morn.. My blood pressure is up, my heart is in pain, I am just a citizen living on North Main.

I know this is just a fad, and it will soon pass. Because they won't have the price of a tank of gas. Another thing for sure when I get to my home on High. I won't have to lay awake, and listen to the cars go by.

I wrote all of this just to have a little fun. If you get mad then I'll be "a son of a gun." I only wrote in fun to make a big joke. And now I am "out of gas" and that's all she wrote!

The Consumer Alert
by Mark White
Attorney General

The National Automobile Dealers Association (NADA) has announced the implementation of uniform standards for the operation of Automotive Consumer Action Program (AUTOCAP) panels. AUTOCAP panels are consumer complaint appeal panels designed to resolve difficult automobile consumer problems.

The principal features of the uniform standards announced by NADA for AUTOCAP panels are:

"The percentage of consumer representation on mediation panels will be 'not less than fifty percent'."

"Dealers will be bound by decisions of the mediation panels, but consumers will be free to accept or reject them."

"Each AUTOCAP will be encouraged to publicly solicit all sectors of the community for participation on mediation panels, and each AUTOCAP will be urged to consider recognized local consumer spokespersons' appointment to the panels."

"Public observers (including the press) will be invited to attend panel meetings."

"Dealer permission to use the AUTOCAP name will be subject to annual 'recognition and endorsement' which will be nationally coordinated by NADA and the National AUTOCAP council."

"To advise the public of the service offered by AUTOCAPs, each AUTOCAP will be required to regularly and diligently publicize and promote its program to dealers and the general public. A national promotional campaign will also be conducted by NADA. All present AUTOCAP programs will have one year's time to adopt and comply with the new standards.

Eighty percent of the country's twenty-six thousand franchise dealers and more than ninety percent of the new car/truck sales dollar volume is represented through NADA; therefore, the program has the potential of significantly affecting the resolution of consumer complaints about automobiles.

We support the NADA's program. It appears to be a positive response to the fact that automobile related complaints continue to be a consumer problem.

Although each state's participation in the national program is voluntary, I have been assured by the Texas Automobile Dealers Association (TADA) that the program will be implemented soon in this State. Of course, there is no substitute for effective law enforcement when consumer complaints reveal unlawful activities. The Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division will continue to pursue violations of law vigorously. The major contribution that can be made by the new AUTOCAP program is to provide a meaningful forum for resolving consumer complaints that do not involve unlawful conduct. Since many consumer complaints do not involve unlawful conduct, but instead appear to result from breakdowns in communication or cooperation between dealers and consumers, this program will be a welcome addition to the remedies available to consumers who experience difficulties with their automobiles.

CICERO "TURP" TURPEN

COMMUNITY PROFILE

By Carol Allison
 "A fence, a fighter, a wild horse rider, and a damn good windmill man..." describes Cicero Turpen of McLean.
 Turp, as he is fondly called by his children, grandchildren and friends, has made "windmilling" synonymous with his name for more than half a century in this area.
 "Well, I've done a little bit of it all," said Turp.
 A rugged individual with Cherokee Indian heritage, Turp came to the RO Ranch when he was 17 years old, and never "drew another paycheck from any other outfit for 47 years."

The huge ranch covered more than 125 sections of grass land. In January, 1926, Turpen started out as a cook and "jack of all trade" with the Antelope Camp on the Shoe-Bar Ranch, located northeast of Turkey.

The Shoe-Bar and the RO were owned by the late Will Lewis of Clarendon. The great ranch dynasty was leased by Jay Taylor in 1961 and dismantled completely in 1973.

"Punchin' cows was just something I enjoyed," said Turpen, "and that's the reason I stayed with it."

Turpen's easy disposition and discipline for hard work made him essential to the Ranch. When the Ranch was leased, Turpen was offered a lifetime position.

Recalls Turpen, "Mrs. Lewis told Taylor... He came here when he was just a kid and Will was never disappointed in him, and you won't be either."

He "stayed on" for 10 more years under the new management but decided he would like to "see if I could work for myself."

Turp presented the windmill equipment and a pick-up as a parting gift from the Ranch and became a self-employed windmill man.

"All I had to do was just find somebody that wanted me to work for them--and I didn't have no trouble doing that," said Turp with a smile.

When Turpen came to the RO Ranch as a boy, there were very few windmills on the place. Water wells were dug in the creek beds to provide water for the cattle. To find a water well on a dry river bed was accomplished with the help of the coyote, recalls Turpen.

"You just went down the creek until you could find where a coyote had dug himself a little water well in the sand. Then you staked the spot and put in a water box," said Turpen.

A water box kept the sides of the river sand from caving in on the well and provided a more permanent watering source for the cattle.

"You never found where a coyote had dug a dry hole. I think the coyote is the smartest animal in existence," said Turpen.

"They've been shot at, trapped, stalked, killed, and helping with round-ups, cattle drives and branding, to become the Ranch expert on mills.

 "It really didn't make me any difference what I was doing," said Turp "I never would give up until I accomplished what I started to do. I've always enjoyed a challenge."
 Turpen married Cleo Foster, August 2, 1935. The Turpens recently celebrated their 44th year of marriage.
 They have two children, Butch of McLean, Dixie of Vega, four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.
 Cicero Turpen's 71 years will deceive you, but he admits, "you just don't run up and down towers like you did when you were 25."
 Considering a question regarding retirement, Turp plans to "slow down some," but-- won't ever retire as long as I'm able to climb that tower and I'm still a windmilling--that's what I'll do."

The windmill has been his life. His face is the portrait of a man who has worked in the wind and elements.

A Spanish painter captured his unique individuality in a charcoal drawing, of which a copy hangs over his fireplace.

The painter came to West Texas to sketch a cowboy and an Indian. Taylor presented the artist with "both in one package," smiles Turp.

The signed portrait of the windmill man says, "With much sympathy to an authentic cowboy."

ADOLPH HITLER

By John Toland

The recent willingness of friends of Adolf Hitler to discuss the controversial leader of Germany during World War II has made this remarkable two-volume work by John Toland probably the best history of the life of Hitler ever written.

Little-known insights into the life of the infamous Nazi are revealed by the author after exhausting and thorough research by means of interviews with his close friends, and the discovery of facts not previously public which were literally dug out of the records by Toland.

John Toland, Pulitzer prize winner with his book "The Decline and Fall of the Japanese Empire" also authored "The Last Hundred Day," "Battle: The Story of the Bulge," "Ships in the Sky" and "Not in Shame" which further testify to his limitless knowledge of history, has used all his expertise in the compilation of this masterful revelation of the life of Hitler as a man, politician and political leader.

Many distortions about the life of Hitler are set right in this book, such as the fact that he was never a paperhanger or painter, that he wrote several plays, that he had a terrible fear of cancer, and that at least three women committed suicide over him.

"Adolf Hitler" by John Toland will certainly be enjoyed by all history buffs and especially those with a first-hand knowledge of the events swirling around World War II. These volumes are now available at Lovett Memorial Library.

Gone Fishin
 by Jeanette Fish

Why do people fall in love at first sight--or at all? Chemists have advanced a theory based on the electrical activity of atoms. Protons, electrons and neutrons--the stuff of which atoms are made--bounce around the universe continually.

Humans are wired with the ultimate in electronic apparatus which is yet unmatched by Texas Instruments and Litton Industries. Electrical activity of the brain, heart and muscles was documented many years ago. It could be that certain electrical charges of one person, react only to that of another special one. That's the theory.

Fascinating! Electrons, protons--hopping around the planet!

The popular theory with most lovers is, "We met in another life. We were meant for each other." Ah fate! That's how love feels. Could it be? Together somewhere in another time--an unfinished love--destined to meet 100 years later?

Joey, a poor Jewish boy in New York in the early 1900's, met Kathleen, a beautiful Irish girl of 17. They fell in love. Family tradition and certainties old customs would not permit it. She must go back to Ireland. He ran to see her--at Ellis Island--that final day. He saw--the boat--waiting to take the Immigrants home. There she was, standing behind a high mesh fence. They wouldn't let him in to say goodbye. The crowd was noisy. There they stood. Too far apart to speak. Unable to touch her face, hold her hand--

Goody to us said glistening eyes,
 And now we'll never be.
 Joey love! Kathleen, Kathleen!
 Forget? My heart? Not me.

Your face will be in every star,
 In morning's golden sky.
 Our time is over, one last glance,
 I'LL LOVE YOU TIL I DIE!

I Jewish boy, an Irish girl,
 This could never be,
 But lovers eyes, know only love,
 And so they did not see.

Fate has little chance to stay,
 These looks that lovers share,
 Through years of time and space they pass,
 To meet again somewhere.

Another time, another place,
 Hello, said eyes, still true,
 Joey love! Kathleen, Kathleen!
 And right away, they knew.

Notes From Your County Agricultural Agent

by Joe Van Zandt

BEEF REFERENDUM!

Cattle producers will have the opportunity to register and vote on the proposed beef referendum during the next month.

Registration is January 28th to February 6th and voting is February 19-22, at each County ASCS Office.

Through this program, officially called the Beef Research and Information Order, every cattleman will invest 20 cents for $100 of value he adds to his cattle. The money will go to a Beef Board composed of sixty cattlemen who have responsibility for seeing that the funds are properly managed.

The value added plan is designed so that the cow-calf man, stock operator, feeder—anyone who owns the animal—will pay his fair share, based on the value he adds. A producer's contribution to the program will invest more because he markets more animals. Conversely, the smaller producer will invest less because he markets fewer animals. Everyone pays his fair-share of the program.

If you have questions about this program, feel free to call or come by the County Extension Office before you register or vote in the ASCS Office.

PECAN ORCHARD SHORT COURSE:

The 1980 Texas Pecan Orchard Management Short-course will be held January 28th thru February 1st at Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas.

The week's program covers about every phase of pecan production. I have a complete program if anyone is interested in additional information.

CROP CLINIC:

We have scheduled a Crop Clinic in Pampa on January 31st. This clinic was planned by the Gray County Crops Committee to give farmers the opportunity to visit informally on a personal basis with six specialists about crop production questions or problems.

The clinic will be in the Courthouse Annex starting at 1:30 p.m. The coffee pot will be on, and I urge farmers to mark this date on your calendar and plan to come by anytime during the afternoon to visit and get some expert answers to some of your farming problems.

The six specialists who will be on hand for individual conferences include: Dr. Allen Wiese, Weed Control; Dr. Dale Pennington, Soil Chemist; Leon New, Irrigation Specialist; Dr. Bob Berry, Plant Disease Specialist; Dr. Carl Patrick, Area Entomologist, and Dr. Frank Petr, Area Agronomist.

BRUCELOSIS HEARINGS:

The Texas Animal Health Commission is proposing new Bruceellosis regulations for Texas. Several statewide hearings for the purpose of accepting comments from the public concerning the regulations are being held.

In our area, the hearing will be Wednesday, February 6th at 9 a.m. in the Goude Sales Arena, Tri-State Fair Grounds, Amarillo.

Copies of the proposed regulations are available from the County Extension Office, Courthouse Annex, Pampa.

EMBARGO AND GRAIN MARKET:

The U.S. embargo of grain shipments to the Soviet Union injects a major new element of uncertainty into the grain market, say economists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Although immediate price impacts may be larger, over the next year wheat and feedgrain prices will likely be 10 to 15 percent lower than they would have been without the embargo. Long-term demand for grain by the Soviet Union will likely be adversely affected.

A Howard Johnson's Hotel is the setting for the outrageous going-on of a romantic triangle in this spoof of marriage and mayhem. 4-H CORNER

4-H CITIZENSHIP MEANS INVOLVEMENT:

To most young Americans, good citizenship means voting, respecting the flag and standing to sing "The Star Spangled Banner". To five million 4-H members, citizenship means all these things - and much more.

As participants in the national 4-H citizenship program, these boys and girls are responding to the needs, rights and responsibilities of others as they develop their own citizenship skills. Across the country 4-H members are helping the elderly, working with the handicapped, teaching low-income children, beautifying their communities and becoming involved in local, state and national issues.

4-H members 9-19, are finding solutions to local problems through research into the needs of their communities and then taking action to fulfill those needs. In California, 4-H'ers designed a day camp program for nearly 100 low-income children. A 4-H club in New York carried out a special project for the physically and mentally handicapped. And a group of Florida 4-H members surveyed needs of senior citizens and then planned parties and involved them in a wide variety of recreational activities.

Each year, more than 6,000 boys and girls from across the country meet during the summer in Washington, D.C. at the National 4-H Center for week-long conferences to learn more about citizenship and their American heritage. They return home to put into practice the skills they learned while in the nation's capital.

4-H citizenship projects and activities are supervised by the Extension Service. Young people can be recognized for their accomplishments in 4-H citizenship through awards sponsored by the Coca-Cola Company.

Coca-Cola offers recognition for 4-H'ers at all levels of participation: nine $1,000 scholarships nationally, an all-expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago for one member per state each year, and four medals of honor for each county.

During the congress, two of the nine national citizenship winners, along with their counterparts in the 4-H achievement and leadership programs, are selected to receive Presidential Awards. Winners are chosen by the Extension Service and awards are arranged by the National 4-H Council.

To get more details on joining 4-H and getting involved in citizenship programs, contact the County Extension Office, 669-7429.

VITAMINS-BASIS FOR MANY A MYTH:

Don't let outrageous claims about vitamins mislead you—a well-balanced diet is still the best and most enjoyable way to get the vitamins needed. Few nutrients needed by man are as shrouded by myth as vitamins. Claimed to cure just about anything from baldness to infertility, vitamins are given powers they simply do not possess.

One such myth maintains that modern farming methods have depleted the soil so that the foods grown in these soils are not nutritionally adequate. However, the plant's genetic structure, not the soil, controls the protein, carbohydrate, fat, fiber and vitamin content of the food. The soil may slightly influence mineral content of foods—but only slightly. Self-proclaimed experts claim that substances such as paraaminobenzoic acid (PABA), citra-bi-flavonoid complex, hesperidin and rutin are vitamins. However, they are not vitamins, although they do occur naturally in foods, and their absence from the diet does not cause a disease or any form of illness.

Many consumers believe that vitamins provide extra energy. Although B vitamins do assist in the conversion of foods to usable energy, amounts greater than United States Recommended Dietary Allowances are of no additional benefit. The basic function of vitamins is to regulate body processes through enzyme action. Remember a balanced diet will generally meet the body's needs for vitamins A, B, B-12, C, and D and other vitamins.

BRIGHTEN SOME LAMP SHADES WITH BATH:

You can brighten up some lampshades with a bath. Many are washable, especially those of fabric that is sewn, not glued. First remove any trim-those in color or those pasted on. If you can't remove the trim, then don't wash the lampshade.

Here's how to give your lampshades a bath: Vacuum the shade inside and out to remove the surface dirt; immerse it in a bathtub or a sink filled with detergent or soap suds; agitate the shade by moving it from side to side and up and down; rub with a well-lathered soft-bristled brush, for stubborn dirt; rinse the shade in several changes of clean water; to dry the shade, tie a string to the middle of the frame. Then, hang it over the tub or from a clothes line to drip dry. Or pat it dry with a towel.

On the other hand, shades made of plastic-plastic-coated, laminated or parchment shades can be cleaned by sponging with thick suds. To rinse, wipe with a damp cloth. Dry with a clean cloth.

O.L. Presley, Precinct 1 county commissioner from Lefors, has filed for re-election to his commission post. Presley was elected for the first time in 1977.

Jerry Dean Williams of Lefors is seeking re-election to Precinct 1 constable, a position he has held for three years.

LEFORS BRIEFS

The Extension Home-maker's Club will meet Friday, January 25, at 1:30 p.m. at the Lefors Civic Center. The program will be presented by the Pampa police department. It will be on rape prevention and drug abuse. Everyone is invited to attend.

Bureau States Beferendum Ideas

WACO—The Texas Farm Bureau has clarified its position on the Beferendum, according to TFB President Carrol Chaloupka.

In a letter to county FB presidents, Chaloupka said the TFB Board has voted to implement the state policy adopted at the recent state convention which supports voluntary contributions for beef research and promotion and opposes the proposed Federal Beef Research and Information Order.

Chaloupka explained that the Board met following the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation Jan. 6-10 in Phoenix.

"National policy, as interpreted by the AFBF Board of Directors, permits each state Farm Bureau to establish its own position on this matter," he said. "The TFB Board voted to implement the state policy adopted in McAllen in December."

The state policy reads: "We also oppose the Federal Beef Referendum Program." The TFB leader said livestock producers generally support a program to promote their industry, but said it would be difficult to comply with the proposed Order "because it is confusing and cumbersome."

Chaloupka explained that he wrote Agriculture Secretary, Bob Bergland, Jan. 3 asking for clarification of "conflicting statements in the Order and in USDA announcements" regarding the exemption of dairy and beef breeding cattle.

"As of this date (Jan. 15), we have not received clarification of this matter," he said.

The farm leader said that many of the details as to how the program would operate would be decided later in regulations.

THERE ARE MANY countries where parents arrange the marriages of their children. And this is usually done when they reach a certain age and are ready for it.

But there is also the custom of infant betrothal—in which marriages are arranged for, and sometimes actually performed—when the girl and boy are mere infants.

In New Caledonia, for example, a girl is betrothed as soon as she is born. In the Fiji Islands, children are married by their parents when they are three or four years old. It's only a ceremony, but it's a binding ceremony. When the children grow up, they are man and wife.

And among certain Eskimo tribes, a young man, or his father, can ask for a girl as soon as the girl is born. If the father of the child accepts the offer of marriage, a promise is given which is as binding as a marriage ceremony. At the proper age, the girl is delivered and the wedding takes place. It sometimes may be the first time she has seen her husband.

"RUSSIA'S SALT CELLAR" is a popular name for Lake Baskunchak in the Soviet Union. It's a salt-water lake that is continually fed by many salt springs. How much salt is in the lake? Soviet scientists say there's enough salt there to meet the whole world's needs for more than a thousand years.

Almonds Add Romance And Magic To Salads

Throughout time, food has been offered as an expression of love. Recognizing the romance often shared with fine food, the Magic Pan restaurants across the country are featuring a Salute to Great Lovers. Appropriately, the promotion is in February, the month of hearts and flowers. Great Lover's menu honors famous couples such as Romeo and Juliet, and include special menu items featuring the Sweetheart Nut, almonds.

Create your own at-home Salute to Great Lovers with this adaptation of the Magic Pan's Orange Almond Salad. There's no magic to making this savory salad or its sweet and sour dressing. Toasted slivered almonds provide a festive garnish and flavorful crunch. They also add a good nutritional balance. They're full of protein, vitamins and minerals. Most important—for a Valentine month of romance and roses, or anytime of the year—the Sweetheart Nut will work its own special magic with the foods you serve.

ORANGE ALMOND SALAD

- 6 cups lightly packed torn romaine
- 1 can (11 ounces) mandarin orange segments, drained
- 3 green onions, sliced
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- 1/2 cup Sweet and Sour Dressing (recipe follows)
- 1/2 cup slivered almonds, toasted

Place romaine, oranges, onions and parsley in large bowl; just before serving toss with Sweet and Sour Dressing. Spoon onto individual serving plates; top with almonds. Makes 6 servings.

SWEET AND SOUR DRESSING

- 1/2 cup vegetable oil
- 1/2 cup white wine tarragon vinegar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon tarragon
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- Dash liquid hot pepper sauce

In small bowl whisk together all ingredients until mixture is creamy and thoroughly combined. Refrigerate at least 20 minutes to blend flavors. Mix before serving. Makes 1/2 cup.

Food Package Hints Given

If products are perishable, SPECIAL HANDLING INSTRUCTIONS must go on the label. Examples are: "Keep frozen" and "Keep refrigerated."

NUTRITIONAL INFORMATION is not mandatory, but some processors voluntarily put it on their labels. When used, nutritional information is based on an individual serving. The label will state the size of a serving in common household terms such as ounces, cups, slices, pieces; the number of servings in the container; the calories and the protein, carbohydrate, and fat content per serving; and the percentage each serving provides of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowances (U.S. RDA's) of protein and important vitamins and minerals.

OPEN DATING (a calendar date on packaged food) is not mandatory. When used, however, it must be easily read and understood. The date may represent the last date the product can be sold, the last date the processor thinks the product will be at peak quality, or the date of packaging or processing. The packer must indicate what the date represents. Examples are: "Use by Dec. 8," "Sell by Dec. 8, 1979" and "Best if used by 12/8/79." Time beyond "sell by" dates is provided for home storage and use.

If a PHOTOGRAPH OR DRAWING is on the label, it must accurately represent what is inside the can or package. For example, if five slices of meat are shown, there must be at least five slices of meat inside the container. If a product is shown in a serving dish or with a garnish not part of the contents, the picture must be marked. "Serving suggestions" or "Suggested serving." COUNTRY OF ORIGIN must be shown if the meat is imported. This applies to meat and meat products sold in the United States in the same form as imported. Examples are canned corned beef and canned ham. However, imported meat used as an ingredient in a meat product manufactured here loses its identity. For example, foreign beef that is combined with domestic beef in producing frankfurters or other types of sausage is not identified on the label.

WHEN NITRITE IS NOT USED, "Uncured" must be part of the product name for meat products such as frankfurters, bacon, and ham—traditionally cured with nitrite. The statement, "no nitrate or nitrite added," must also be on the label, for example, "UNCURED FRANKS - NO NITRATE OR NITRITE ADDED." And, unless such nitrite-free meats are preserved by other methods—such as thermal processing, drying, fermenting, or pickling—their labels must include the warning: "NOT PRESERVED-KEEP REFRIGERATED BELOW 40 DEGREES F. AT ALL TIMES."

You can keep "uncured" frankfurters, bacon or corned beef in the refrigerator only 4 to 7 days—not two or three weeks which is safe storage time for nitrite cured meats.

INCREDIBLE BUT TRUE!

It has long been known that, in times of extreme stress, the human body is capable of feats of unbelievable strength. This was documented in 1960 by a 123-pound woman in Tampa, Florida. The woman, Mrs. Maxwell Rogers, lifted one end of a 3,600 pound car after it had fallen on top of her son when the jack holding up the car slipped. She suffered only a few cracked vertebrae as a result of her efforts.

The oldest surviving working clock, still ticking away, is at Salisbury Cathedral in Wiltshire, England. The works date from 1386, possibly earlier. When restored in 1956, it was estimated that the clock had ticked more than 500 million times.

Sometimes a watch can withstand severe punishment and still come up ticking. Such was the case with Donald Belcher of Hunt, West Virginia. He lost his Timex while at work in a coal mine. Two months later, the Timex was found in a roadway. Heavy equipment and machinery had run over it many times, but when Belcher found it, it started ticking again and, he reports, still keeps good time.

The Orient must be doing something right. A Korean boy, Kim Ung-Yeo Seoul, has the highest I.Q. ever recorded: 210. And the highest average I.Q. of a national population is 106.6 for the Japanese.

Scientist studies aquatic deaths in Texas

GALVESTON — A Texas A&M University researcher in Galveston has begun a two-year study of the thousands of water-related deaths in Texas since 1971 to help design a safety program for seasonal hot spots, perhaps preventing more tragedies.

The search, said Dr. James McCloy of Texas A&M University at Galveston, will examine when, how and why drownings and other water-associated deaths occurred on Texas rivers, lakes and bays from 1971 to 1978.

With 367 air miles of marine coastline and 2.8 million acres of inland water, Texas has the nation's second highest death toll from aquatic accidents, said McCloy.

An average of 608 people died annually from 1970 to 1977 in water-related accidents. McCloy said drownings and other aquatic deaths are the number two killer of persons under age 45, second only to automobile accidents.

Tarleton's horse management program grants first degree

STEPHENVILLE — A 34-year-old mother of three has become the first person to earn a degree in horse production and management from a Texas university, even though she can never ride a horse again.

Cyndi Fanning of Granbury has been a part of history at Tarleton State University where she recently received her degree.

Fanning plans to establish a Texas office for an Oklahoma publication on horse shows and rodeos and to freelance write, a use of journalism skills she learned while recovering from a 1978 traffic accident.

That accident left her unable to work directly with horses, said officials at Tarleton State, part of The Texas A&M University System.

Tarleton's horse program is the only professional management-type program in Texas and is one of a few nationwide. It was established in 1976 and now has about 80 students.
