Alanreed Schools Observe Fire Prevention Week

By GEORGE SMITH
Fire Prevention Week was observed last week by the Alanreed school. Pupils participated in daily assemblies, fire drills and a fire poster contest. A great deal of enthusiasm and interest was displayed by all students taking part. The Alanreed school hopes everyone will be more fire and safety conscious and will report any hazards throughout the school and community.

School business manager Harrison Worsham, Mrs. Mae Worsham and Rev. Leo McMahan, pastor of the Alanreed Baptist Church, were the poster judges. The judges did an excellent job, and were appreciated by everyone.

The poster results are as follows: First grade—First, Cynthia Morris; second, Joy Davis; third, Verna Tidwell.

Second grade—first, Jane West and Kevin Smith, tie.

Third and fourth grades—First, Charla Woodrume; second, Steve Smith.

Fifth and sixth grades—First, Dean Anderson; second, Caylor Davis.

Seventh and eighth grades—First, Marilyn McMillen; second, James McMahan.

Prizes of $2, $1, 75c and 50c were awarded to the winners.

The winning posters have become the property of the school and will be forwarded to the Texas Education Agency in Austin.

Rev. McMahan, spokesman for the judges, commended all the pupils for their efforts and said all the posters were good, but urged all pupils to carefully plan their work before actually starting the task, whatever it may be. He insisted that many of the posters would have been better, had some spent more time in planning before starting the finished product.

The highlight of the week was the invitation received from McLean Mayor Boyd Meador to ride the fire trucks. Everyone enjoyed the ride.

The Alanreed school would like to extend their thanks and appreciation to the mayor, Jay Thompson and the other volunteer firemen of McLean for extending this courtesy.

Lions Sponsor Eye Bank

The following statement was issued this week by the board of directors:

"Speaking as the board of directors of the Hi-Plains Eye Bank, we would like to enlist your aid and cooperation in our great program outlined herein.

"We are in receipt of a proclamation from the governor of the state of Texas, John Connally, proclaiming that the week of Oct. 25 through Nov. 1 be set aside as 'Hi-Plains Eye Bank Week' in the Panhandle of Texas.

"A copy of this proclamation is being sent to the county judge of your county along with a letter asking for his aid in this project by co-signing this document and pledging his county to help.

"The Lions Clubs presidents in your county, who include M. M. (Joe) Burroughs of McLean, will be asked to be present along with your representatives at the signing and publication of this event. You will be sent a news release before this time covering a mother of four children who had been blind for 12 years and through an eye transplant can now see again and enjoy the beauty of our world as we can. This woman resides in Carson County and her husband is employed at the Pantex Ordnance Plant near Panhandle.

"Our organization has been in operation less than two years and as of this date has received 22 eyes for transplant. We are proud to say that out of these 22 eyes, 20 of them were used successfully.

"A letter has been sent to the club presidents in your county as well as the county judge. We hope you will help them and us to make this wonderful project a tremendous success."

Location for an irrigation well was staked for Fred Vanderburg on his place south of Pampa. Fred is working out a complete conservation plan on this farm.

H. T. Dickens has completed about 6,300 feet of diversion terraces on his farm east of Grandview school.

John Haynes has completed two seep type ponds on his ranch north of McLean. Seep type ponds have to be constructed with a dragline since they are constructed in wet areas.

Ruth Goad has completed an irrigation well on her farm northeast of Pampa. Mike Goad plans to operate this farm.

W. E. Robinson has done an outstanding job of establishing his waterway to western wheatgrass. He has a diversion and waterway emptying into this waterway. The waterway and terraces worked real well during the recent heavy rains.

James Cliett was re-elected supervisor. James represents the McLean area on the Gray County Soil Conservation District board.

The recent heavy rains caused some severe water erosion in some parts of the county. Marvin Webster reported his terraces did a good job where he had received about six inches of rain. It takes 1,000 years to build an inch of top soil and many lost more than an inch in less than one day. It is the responsibility of the land owners and operators to control this erosion.

Proper stocking is the key to successful management on ranges. A ranchman can either adjust his livestock numbers or the length of time they are grazed to meet his forage supply. Making adjustments before he is compelled to do so is of importance to the ranchman. If he waits till he is forced to make adjustments his grass is already damaged.

Research and practical experience show that grazing half and leaving half of the grasses by weight is proper use. Of the 50 per cent left, 25 per cent is for maintenance of the plant and 25 per cent for litter. The grass plant is a living factory in which the food is made in the leaves and stored in the roots. Since 95 per cent of elements required for grass growth are taken from the air and water, and only five per cent from the soil, sufficient leaves must be grazed to manufacture food. Too close grazing soon starves the grass to death.

WATER LEGISLATION APPROVED

More than a million people in rural America may benefit from an expansion in financial support for rural community facilities and family farms authorized by recent legislation. L. J. Cappleman, Farmers Home Administration State director for Texas, said this week.

Private investors will provide the bulk of the funds on an insured basis through USDA's FHA.

The legislation signed into law by President Johnson on Oct. 7:

Authorizes, for the first time, to $450 million in the Farmers Home Administration's ability to insure loans in any one year for rural community facilities, including water supply and waste disposal systems, and for the development and purchase of family farms.

Provides, for the first time, this type of credit for rural waste disposal systems.

Authorizes for the first time, grants to supplement this type of credit for rural water and waste disposal systems. Grant authority may not exceed 50 per cent of the construction of a project nor a total of $50 million a year.

Authorizes, for the first time, grants totaling $5 million a year for comprehensive planning of water and sewage systems.

Increases from 2,500 to 5,500 the size of towns eligible for such assistance.

Increases from $1 to $4 million the maximum size of a loan, or a combination loan and grant for water supply or waste disposal system.

The 1,600 field offices of the FHA are being notified to accept applications under the expanded credit authorities. Grant assistance will not be available until funds are appropriated by Congress.

Applications for rural community facilities loans may be made by public bodies and non-profit private organizations.

According to Claude Moore, county supervisor, loans in the three-county unit comprised of Armstrong, Donley and Gray for the fiscal year 1965 are as follows:

Farm Ownership Loans—13 for $29,180.

Soil and Water Individual Loans—6 for $49,500.

Rural Housing Loans—4 for $33,200.

In addition, there have been two recreation loans made in this unit for a total of $34,710.

Social Security Information Given

If you have a student in school and you are trying to figure out how to keep him there, perhaps social security can help. There are students in this area who may be eligible for social security benefits as a result of recent changes in the social security law. Hal Geldon, district manager of the Amarillo Social Security district office, said today.

Under the new law, if a child was receiving benefits on a parent's social security record and these benefits stopped when the child reached 18, the child may be able to start receiving benefits again if he is a full-time student under 22 years of age and not married. Even if he never drew payments before, if he is under age 22 and unmarried, he may begin receiving benefits if he is a full-time student, Geldon said. These benefits are payable only on the record of an insured parent who is receiving retirement or disability benefits, or who is deceased.

Benefits are not automatic, Geldon cautioned. They must be applied for by the parent or child.

GREYHOUNDS STOP TIGERS FRIDAY 52-8

The Gruver Greyhounds stunned the McLean Tigers by a score of 52-8 last Friday night. A tight Gruver defense and a powerful offense led by All-State Candidate Frank Silva scored three touchdowns in the first quarter and held the Tigers scoreless.

The Tigers' offense and defense both looked better in the second quarter. The Gruver speedsters were held to one touchdown while Robert McCabe scampered across from the Gruver 32 to make the lone Tiger touchdown. Jimmy Hester followed him over the goal line with a two-point conversion run.

The fast, powerful Greyhounds continued to push the score up in the third and fourth quarters with four more touchdowns and a safety. When the smoke cleared, the final score was Gruver 52 and McLean 8.

This was the final Tiger game before going into the District 2-A contests. The Tigers have a record of two games won and three lost.

The district contests begin with the Tigers playing the White Deer Bucks at White Deer on Friday, Oct. 15.

Last Friday, the Bucks defeated the Claude Mustangs by a score of 41-6. The Bucks, with a strong defense and a good ground offense, were the district champs last year. With nine regulars returning, including rugged Charles Smith, strong all-state candidate, at tackle position, the Bucks will most likely be the strongest, most experienced team the Tigers have faced this year.

Cotton Classing Office Is Open In Memphis

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Guyton and daughters, Angie and Julie, from Ulysses, Kan., visited the first of the week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Guyton.

The USDA cotton classing office at Memphis is open and began receiving samples Monday, Oct. 11, according to information released this week by the Cotton Division's Area Office at Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Waldrop recently went fishing at Possum Kingdom. Mrs. Waldrop also visited with her sister at Cisco.

K. E. Voelkel will be in charge of this seasonal office. This is the seventh season of operation for the Memphis sub-office, and the fifth season for Voelkel to be in charge.

a NEW concept in life insurance from Modern Woodmen

Early ginned cotton in the Memphis territory has been classed in Altus, Okla. C. E. Cox, in charge of the Altus office, reports, "The 1965 cotton harvest is getting off to a slow start again this year. Only a little over 1,100 samples have been classed through Oct. 8 for the 58 gins in the Memphis classing territory." More than half of these samples were received during the current week, and the harvest is expected to get under way in earnest within the next week or so.

Lower rates, higher values and higher dividends!

The USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service reported only a small amount of the current ginnings is being sold, and the Commodity Credit Corporation reported a limited amount going into the government loan. Spot markets at Dallas and Lubbock report prices on predominant grades and staples at 30 to 50 points above the loan. Middling light spotted 15/16 is quoted at 26.80 cents per pound.

1965 STATE FAIR FASHIONS

MEET ME AT THE FAIR—Texas fashion houses and the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 9-24 in Dallas, will present a Fall Fashion Fiesta daily at 2 and 4 p.m. for visitors to the Womens' Department. Among the 1965 fashions to be shown will be the trio pictured here. At left is the scramble scrambled look by Nardia—a golden dotted silk blouse, a solid over-blouse and a checked wool skirt. The center model wears Donovan Galvani's three piece ensemble of camel and cream blended fabric. At right, Tedda Togs shapes this "in" look of striped jersey and corduroy. The chic chapeaux—the four cornered hat, the feathered fedora and the corduroy helmet in this section of the country.

Several prizes were won by McLean girls at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo this week.

Following are the prizes won: First prize—Joelene Vannoy, school dress, stocking darn, tomato mincemeat, cherry and grape preserves; Irene Skibinks, cup towel and holder.

Second prize—Corre Lee Newman, nightgown, bungalow apron; Joelene Vannoy, history book.

Friday morning at 10 o'clock the gates to the McLean Fair will be officially opened to the public, upon one of the best fairs, from the standpoint of both exhibits and entertainment features, ever held here.

Committees from nearby communities have been at work upon their exhibits since Tuesday night, and the greatest interest is expected to center around the community exhibits. The prizes in this section are attractive and much energy has been expended to win them.

H. Longan was in McLean Tuesday and stated that word has been received by the Ramsdell postmaster that the Ramsdell post office will be discontinued Oct. 15 and service made over a rural route from Shamrock.

Ramsdell citizens are indignant over the proposed change and a petition has been prepared protesting the change.

Mrs. D. C. Carpenter has opened a ladies ready-to-wear and millinery store in the Rice building.

Mrs. Carpenter will endeavor to carry a line of dresses and hats that are right up to the minute in styles, at reasonable prices.

The Tigers made their touchdown in the first five minutes of the game, and held the Panthers until the last five minutes of the game, when Bowen was knocked out, and the Panthers broke loose, making their touchdowns one right after the other.

The Tigers have no substitutes at present, being practically a one man for the place team. They had only six days practice and surprised the fans with their tenacious play.

Pesticide Study To Begin This Month In Rio Grande Valley

An intensive study of possible relationships between human health patterns and the use of chemicals, particularly pesticides, in agricultural practices, is progressing on schedule in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

This task, expected to require a minimum of five years, is set to get under way this month. Equipment and technical personnel are already in San Benito where the community pesticides study laboratory is located.

The Texas investigation is one of 11 such studies planned for the United States. Uniformity of analytical procedures, sampling techniques and data processing between the areas under study will be stressed.

Public health representatives point out that the program is aimed strictly at fact-finding and not as a regulatory or enforcement measure. The prime interest lies in safeguarding the public health.

A more thorough understanding of health hazards as well as the benefits associated with use of agricultural chemicals in the environment is deemed necessary by health personnel.

This feeling prevails since little is known about the possible effects on man's health of long-term, low-level exposure to hazardous substances and the extent of environmental contamination.

Instances of persons receiving heavy chronic pesticide exposure being given to liver and kidney ailments, neurological disorders, allergies and other health disorders. Deaths from unknown causes will be checked to determine if unrecognized fatalities brought on by chemicals occur.

The study is aimed at discovering what pesticides get into the environment, by what routes they affect people, the way in which they are handled by the human body and its tissues and organs, and whether chemicals are making people sick or shortening their lives.

The study, sponsored by the U. S. Public Health Service in conjunction with the Division of Occupational Health of the Texas State Department of Health, will work on a first-year budget of about $100,000. Funds for the second year may be increased.

The valley area was picked for the long-term project because of the extensive use of chemicals in the area. There has been no long-term comprehensive study of this type made in the area before.

Mrs. Luther Petty attended the annual WMU meeting Tuesday in the Wheeler Baptist Church. Mrs. Petty was installed as parliamentarian-historian for 1965-66. She also visited with Mrs. Will Bentley and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bentley of Magic City.

By C. WILSON HARDER

In ancient times there was classified the seven wonders of the world, which included the Colossus of Rhodes. To qualify for inclusion, the item had to be well-nigh impossible.

Thus, if in those days, if there had been an American farm program, it would have won a place in this category hands down.

There is no question there is a farm problem. When ever a situation develops whereby the value of all farm products in a 25 cent loaf of bread is only 3 cents, there is definitely something definitely askew.

Further complicating the problem is the fact that wheat is under a government program, with the taxpayers assessed millions every year to maintain a price on wheat.

Now of course, the current idea is to delete these taxes. Instead of people paying taxes to support the wheat price, and the price on other farm products as well, they will pay higher for these.

This little piece of political chicanery is so transparent, it is somewhat fantastic that it is being considered seriously. Of course, it is a plan that is perhaps supported by what is known as Big Business. After all, a corporation does not eat bread, but it does pay taxes to support the price of wheat.

At the present time there is running around the country an investigative body known as the National Commission on Food Marketing. So far, this group displays reluctance to pin the tail on the donkey.

It is going to be interesting to see if this august body whitewashes the real oppressor of the American farmer.

How will this group explain the biggest problem.

Out of the 25 cent loaf of bread the farmer gets three cents. But when that loaf of bread leaves the bakery in the care of one of Jimmy Hoffa's teamsters, it is now costing between 8 and 10 cents to get it over to the grocery store.

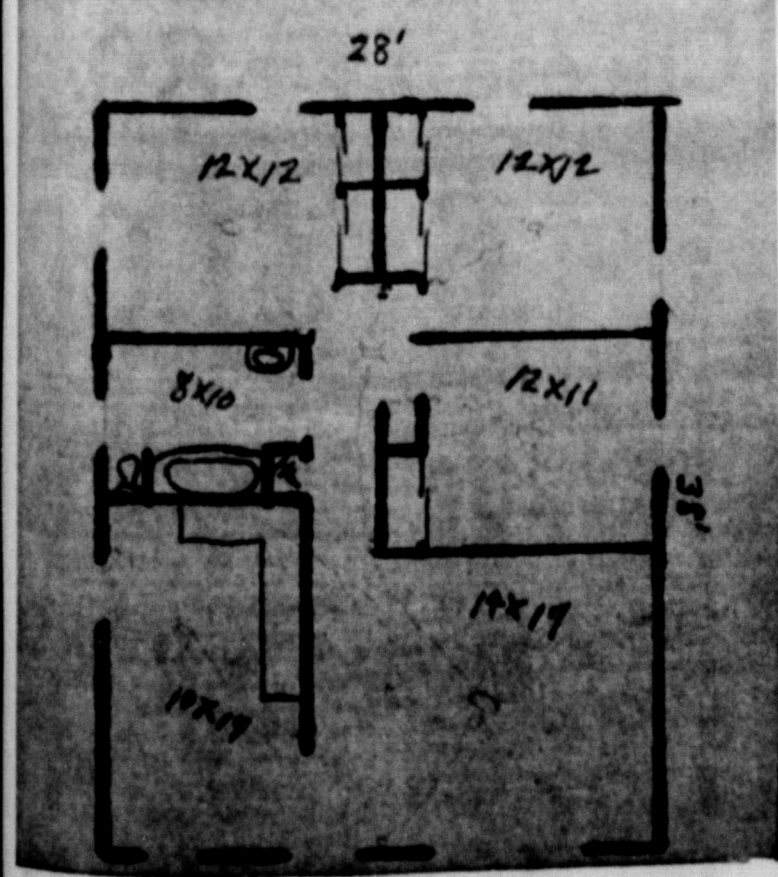

Besides a very high rate of pay, that teamster is also protected, by charges against the employer, against many of the vicissitudes of life, probably only stopping short of all expense paid hang-over cures.

The farmer, of course, is protected against practically nothing, including hailstorms, rust and blight, or grasshoppers.

Now there is a drive to get him price protection by jacking up the price the consumers pay for bread.

It does sound a silly way to go about things. Yet, if the Labor Department can force consumers to pay a tax to support union teamsters in a manner they never anticipated, why should not the Department of Agriculture do something along this line for the farmers. (Of course, this could curtail consumer buying of food necessities, but that might have a bright side, too. Wonderful slogans could be developed in time for a War on Malnutrition.

Mr. and Charles Hess from Illinois are visiting with Mrs. J. L. Hess and family this week.

Two black-leather jacketers found themselves in a museum of modern art—probably to get out of the rain—and stopped short in front of an extremely modern abstraction. One lad grabbed the other's arm in panic and said, "Let's get out of here quick," he said, "before they say we did it."

Our station is modern enough to care for your service station needs—but modest enough to give you the "down to earth" service you want and deserve.
