DISHONEST, DISGRACEFUL

The Kennedy-Ives labor bill, which has more accurately been named the "Sweetheart Labor Bill" by Senator Barry Goldwater, makes a mockery of the lengthy and expensive investigation of the McClellan Committee into the skulduggery of labor leaders.

For the sake of appearances and to soothe public indignation, there are provisions designed to prevent labor officials from filling their pockets out of the union treasuries and to give union members a voice in the election of union officials.

But there is nothing in the Kennedy-Ives measure that would place unions under restraint of the anti-trust laws, that would protect workers or management against compulsory unionism, the secondary boycott and organizational picketing to force people into unions against their will.

On the contrary, this deceptive measure would further strengthen union power and weaken management by providing for the inclusion of many first-line foremen and supervisors in the same unions they are supposed to supervise.

ing trades. Still another amendment would permit workers who have been ordered out on strike, and who have been replaced, to vote in representation elections. Thus, a union that has rejected the terms offered by the employer, and which, having called a strike, represented none of those actively at work, might still retain its position as exclusive bargaining agent.

Behind its false front of financial respectability, the Kennedy-Ives bill is a thoroughly bad measure which, if passed into law, would mean a serious loss of ground in the long struggle to protect workers and the public from power-hungry union leaders.

The Senate obviously passed the bill on the theory that only a measure that suited the Labor moguls could get through Congress and, good or bad, here at least was action on the labor front.

Oil Quota up Again — Texas oil allowable for August will be 328,185 barrels a day more than for July — a hopeful sign for an industry that's been "in the dumps" for more than a year.

Railroad Commission set next month's allowable at 2,978,058 barrels daily. Number of producing days will be increased from 9 to 11. Last month production rose from its all time low of 8 days.

Reason for the increase was not so much the disturbance in the oil producing Middle East, said one commissioner, as the fact that Texas had finally reduced its excess oil stocks to correct levels.

50-50 Plan — State Highway Department will reimburse cities and counties half the court costs of securing land for state and U. S. highway building.

Up until last year costs of obtaining right of way were borne solely by local governments. Last Legislature passed a law authorizing the state to share the cost 50-50 with cities and counties.

At first this was construed to mean the state would pay half the cost of purchasing the land. Now it has been expanded to include half of court costs and appraisers' fees.

City Tax Proposals — City officials are laying plans to ask the next Legislature to extend and adjust city taxing powers.

Legislative committee of the League of Texas Municipalities has drawn up a two-pronged proposal to:

- 1. Allow cities to broaden their tax base and lighten the burden on property owners.
- 2. Substitute another tax to be collected at time of auto registration for the present "unworkable" property tax on cars. School Fund Fight — A rough-and-tumble time can be expected next year when lawmakers consider just how permanent the permanent school fund should be.

Rep. Louis Dugas of Orange has announced he will introduce a bill which allows the state to use part of the revenue from school lands for current expenses instead of putting it all into the permanent fund. Dugas was author of a bill last session to divert 1 per cent of the permanent fund each year to the available fund.

State School Board and numerous other school officials have come out strongly against all moves to tap the schools' multi-million-dollar endowment. They compare it to "eating the seed corn."

"Straight To The Point"

A Summary of Vacation News From The Teenage Set

By Sally Baggett

Everyone was heading toward the McMullan ranch Friday. June, Leslie, Kenny and Gail McMullan had a dance as you all know. Kids were there from Del Rio to Ohio. Everyone danced until their feet nearly fell off. It was loads of fun. Camille Adams has a friend, Janet Stell visiting her. Janet had a date with Clayton Friend Friday.

It seems Diz Reeves isn't the only one losing his tonsils. Don Powers got rid of his the same day Diz did.

Becky Davidson is still freezing in Michigan. Nellie Childress is still wandering around and poor ole Jerry Jacobs is still hunting for his head.

Ann Davidson Linda Millsbaugh, June Bunker, Camille Adams and Janet Stell spent the night with Aileen Young Friday night. From the way they looked Saturday they must have gossiped all night.

Say, has anyone heard from Mary Jo Ward? She hasn't been seen all summer!

Sandy Ratliff was given a goingaway party Tuesday night. If you wonder where she is going she is moving to California. About twenty-one girls helped with the party. It was a swim party with lots to eat and lots of fun!

Most of the kids are making ready for the big day. Of course, I mean Friday and the rodeo. If everyone that has said they were going to take part in it does, it ought to be great! Good luck!

Wanda and George Bunker are now the proud parents of a girl. They named her Helen Eileen. Congratulations Mama and Daddy.

While most of the kids are getting ready for the rodeo, there are five girls who are different. Sandra Whitaker, Molly Sue Richardson, Linda Millsbaugh, Nonie Conklin and your's truly are getting ready to go to twirling school. This year we are going to Seguin. Sure is hot but just looking at our schedule, one might think we were going on a two weeks vacation!

Well, hold down the fort for us until we return August 10. See you then!

Denny Patrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Patrick of Pecos, is here for a visit with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Patrick

BILL BLAKLEY

Texas like a public official who is independent in his thinking and doesn't have to account for his actions to anyone except the voters themselves. William A. Blakley is such a man. Of his race for U. S. Senate, the Post-Observer News says: "He entered this race by his own decision. He is beholden to nobody. He doesn't have to promote special interest groups anything and he wants to represent all of Texas, not any political splinter or fragment or faction above the rest..."

A vote for Bill Blakley on July 26 is a vote for returning to Washington a man who will truly represent Texas.

AN EDITORIAL

Reprinted from the front page of the Kerrville Times July 20th, 1954

The testing days of Texas lie ahead. In the next few years, our state must gear itself to a new, fast-developing economy, must develop strong plans for a rapidly developing future. The acts of today will have a reflection on the future of Texas.

For these reasons, if for no other, the voters of this district would be wise to return Joe Burkett, Jr. to office as our state representative. He is an experienced legislator. He has demonstrated his skill in planning his devotion to the people, his attention to detail. But there are other reasons, too.

Joe Burkett, Jr., has fought staunchly for the principles of the people in this district since the first day he stepped into the high-domed halls of our state capitol. Voters of this district and members of the State Legislature were quick to realize Joe Burkett, Jr., had one of mankind's most treasured virtues: he was a man of his word, he kept his promises.

In the drought-ridden days of the early fifties, Joe Burkett, Jr., was a champion of water rights. He is the sponsor of the water bill proposed by the Association of Soil Districts. He has fought consistently for the protection of the water rights of the people of his district for riparian rights, for the 200-acre-foot stock law.

As a stock farmer himself Joe Burkett, Jr., knows the problems of the ranchers and has acted on every account to secure their just legislative needs.

He is opposed, on the other hand, to an increase in state taxes unless he is convinced new taxes are absolutely necessary for the proper maintenance of state services. He is opposed to the CIO-sponsored — any other — state income tax.

He is opposed to the repeal of the "right to work" law as is proposed by the leaders of organized labor.

Joe Burkett, Jr., is a strong advocate of local government and for economy in the operation of governmental affairs.

As a veteran himself, Joe Burkett, Jr., knows and appreciates the problems of veterans. It was he who the investigation of the veterans land scandals and a committee sought stronger laws in that direction.

For the benefit of the voters of this district — indeed, for all the people of Texas — the State Legislature should be filled with men of experience and skill. As a zealous guardian of the rights of the people, a champion for their causes, Joe Burkett, Jr., shines as a legislator.

As a steady hand on the forces which guide our state's future, as a protector of the rights we hold dear as a vigorous worker for what is best for the people in this district, Joe Burkett, Jr., should be returned to the State House of Representatives by the voters of the 78th District.

These opinions are shared not only by a great majority of the people of this district, but by Joe Burkett's colleagues in the House of Representatives. Approximately two-thirds of the present members of the House believe his ability, experience, integrity, and leadership are of such outstanding character that they have pledged their support as the next Speaker of the House. This support insures the voters of this district will elect the next Speaker of the House when they re-elect Joe Burkett, Jr.

CALVES STRONG, STOCKERS $34 DOWN, FAT CALVES $28

Fort Worth — Opening trade Monday uncovered strong demand for all kinds of calves at Fort Worth. Slaughter and stocker calves were strong with spots 25 to 50 cents above sales at the close of the previous week. Fifteen thousand fewer cattle appeared at 12 major markets than a week ago.

The strong calf market developed despite some pessimistic reports from northern points, and prevailing prices at Fort Worth were Monday in some cases equal to and above prices at cornbelt terminals on similar kinds.

Slaughter cattle were near steady. Fed steers and yearlings were weak, cows were slow but generally steady with the previous week's close. Bulls were full steady.

Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings cashed at $24 to $27 and common and medium offerings sold from $18 to $24. Fat cows cleared at $17 to $20.50 and a few heiferish kinds sold above that range. Canners and cutters drew $12 to $17.50. Bulls brought $18 to $22.50.

Good and choice slaughter calves cashed at $24.50 to $28 and common and medium offerings sold from $30 downward. About three loads of cows and calves sold with the cows at $20 and the calves at $34. Stocker steer yearlings ranged from $22 to $27, some fleshy feeders sold from $25.50 down.

Heavyweight feeder lambs topped at $21 at Fort Worth Monday, a shipment scaling 85 pounds at that figure. Sheep and lamb prices were generally steady, quality considered and fat lambs very scarce. Mixed good and low choice fat lambs cashed at $21 to $21.50, and cull to medium slaughter lambs cashed at $14 to $20. Stocker and feeder lambs ranged from $17 to $21. Shorn fat lambs cashed at $21.

Shorn fat yearlings of good and choice grades sold from $17 to $18.50, while cull to medium slaughter yearlings sold from $13 to $16. Old wethers sold around $10 to $12. Aged ewes cashed at $6.50 to $7.50 for slaughter. Goats sold at $7.

Report to the People

When Communist-inspired rebels this week threatened the little pro-Western republic of Lebanon, and President Eisenhower sent in the United States Marines, we found ourselves closer to war than anytime since Korea.

The United States, a nation tired of war after being engaged in three during the past 40 years, has an apprehensive feeling about this latest development in the Middle East.

The attitude in Washington following these events was one of grim determination, but of calm and collected general outlook. The Congress may stay in session until the crisis has been resolved or tensions lessen to a great degree, and certainly the proposed August 15th adjournment has gone by the boards. But there is no air of frantic panic.

It has become increasingly obvious that Egypt's Nasser intends to dominate the entire Arab world; to make all Arab states satellites of Egypt. And it has become just as obvious that Russia intends to help him.

Lebanon is not the first to experience the technique of deliberate subversion and thinly disguised intervention resulting from the unholy alliance of the extreme nationalist, Nasser, and Russia. Syria fell before the same assault. Jordan and other Arab states have been getting the same treatment, and we recall all too clearly the 1956 theft of the Suez canal by Nasser.

The dark foreboding question that most people hesitate even to ask is: will war come now that we have intervened? We pray that it will not, but it could. But if the United States does not draw the line somewhere, where would we drift? How far can we as a leading power of the free world, allow ourselves to be pushed? Those were some of the overpowering questions President Eisenhower had to struggle with this week as he made his lonely decision to send in United States troops. President Truman in 1950 struggled with similar equally serious questions relating to Korea.

The landing of troops in Lebanon brought to attention again the necessity of having trained, well-equipped strong ground forces even in this age of push button warfare; of missiles rockets atom and hydrogen bombs.

Today the United States Marines and as only fully equipped, hard-striking battle ready troops available in sufficient number to quickly take over a situation such as we face in Lebanon. It is ironic that even as 5,000 Marines landed in Lebanon, forces in the Pentagon were still at work attempting to eliminate the Marine Corps, do away with ground troops and convert us completely to the "big war" technique.

With official statehood for Alaska almost upon us, there is much talk of dividing Texas into five states, as allowed by the annexation agreement under which Texas came into the Union.

You may also have heard of the discussion concerning Brewster, Jeff Davis and Presidio counties in West Texas forming the State of Big Bend, which seemed a clever publicity stunt to advertise that part of country, until newspapers in this part of the nation played it as a straight, serious news story.

At any rate, a fiery, emotional speech against Texas dividing into five states was made in the House January 24, 1906, during consideration of statehood bills for Oklahoma, Arizona and New Mexico. Congressman Beall of Texas, then said on the floor of the House:

"If area alone were considered, Texas could be divided. You could divide her prairies, mountains and valleys; but there are some things about Texas that you cannot divide. There is the Alamo — greater than Thermopylae of old. The babes of Texas have been taught to lip the names of Travis, Crockett — Bowie and others who died there. The Alamo — Goliad — San Jacinto belong alike to all, and no son of Texas would be so unworthy as to surrender his claim to them. Can such memories be weighed and measured and apportioned to different sections?"

The soldiers who went from Texas homes mingled in the tumult of every great battle — and they sleep upon every field from Gettysburg to the Gulf — They belong to Texas in her weakness; they must belong to her in her strength; they comforted and blessed her in her night of sorrow; they must adorn her in her day of triumph. (Prolonged applause.)"

I have already received several suggestions some accompanied by maps relating to how Texas should divide into five states. But under the annexation agreement, it is the Texas legislature in Austin and not the Congress in Washington (thank goodness) that has the jurisdiction in such considerations.

When discussions of bringing Texas into the Union was up in Congress years ago, Senator Benton of Missouri asked that no part of it bigger than the largest state to that time be given statehood and that the rest become a territory. Senator Hale of New Hampshire advocated the admission of Texas as two states, one "free" and one "slave." The annexation resolution, as adopted and ratified by Texas, allowed her to come in as one state, but to divide into five states at any time the people of Texas elected.

In 1896, the Texas State Senate voted to refer the question of dividing into five states to the people, but the bill died when the House failed to act. After the State Constitution was adopted in 1876, advocacy for division of the state waned. It was revived for a short while during the early part of the century because some portions of the state complained of being neglected in legislative and congressional representation and in the location of state educational institutions.

No further advocacy was heard until recently. This Texas flag, adopted for "Texas, our state" This resolution was the Texas legislature.

The people of Travis, friendly to an extension of the railroad from Brenham to this city, held a meeting on Saturday evening and a committee was appointed to report resolutions, after which the meeting was adjourned till Saturday evening next. Judge W. S. Oldham was deputed to go around and ascertain what amount would be subscribed by our citizens, and we are informed by him that $18,000 was readily promised. This is a good beginning and all must be in attendance at the next meeting.

Our railroad is progressing finely. A lumber car goes out each morning freighted with ties and drawn by several yokes of stout oxen. There is no locomotive as yet, on this side of the river. At the river side a piledriver is sticking pegs, and literally walking across the river on stilts, alas piles. It is a unique way of crossing a river with a train, but judging from the commencement of the work we think it may do — at least until the next big rain.

Honey, What a bargain I drove today!

The gasoline I buy gives me "more for my money." For only pennies I spend a busy day in my car taking good care of my husband, children and home.

Higher taxes now add 6.5¢ cents to the price of every gallon of gasoline. The price of gasoline itself has gone up only 17% in the last decade. Yet today's regular gasoline is the same as premium was 5 years ago. Today's premium is as powerful as aviation gasoline of the last war.

Natl. Foundation Seeks New Ills To Conquer After Win Over Polio

New York — A program that will permit a scientific assault on major health problems of the nation, with arthritis and birth defects as initial targets, was announced by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Basil O'Connor, president of the organization that made possible the Salk polio vaccine outlined its broad new program of future attack on disease and disability at a press conference in New York Tuesday.

While carrying on the winning fight against polio the National Foundation, as it is now known, will continue its history making virus research program and investigations of disorders of the central nervous system, and will add research and patient aid in arthritis and birth defects (congenital malformations), Mr. O'Connor said. The expanded program will be financed through the March of Dimes, January by chapters across the
