Seek Donations For Sagging Welfare Fund

The Crockett County Welfare Fund, which is handled through the Sheriff's office, is low on funds and donations are being solicited. The fund, which is used for emergencies, depends entirely on donations from local organizations and individuals.

Last year 175 persons were helped by the fund at a cost of $1,83 per person. For years the fund has been used to help those who were stranded in Ozona for one reason or another. Families who have broken down while traveling to a distant state for work, juveniles who have run away from home, the ill and elderly have been served by the fund.

A total of $420.79 was used to help transients last year. Broken down $144.03 went for gasoline; $89.97 lodging for families stranded here; $14.46, groceries; $12.08, meals; and $60.25 transportation for the ill and run-away children.

Those wishing to donate to the fund may do so at the Sheriff's office or at the Ozona National Bank. The fund has dwindled to $100.

BEST ALL-AROUND horses and riders in the Annual Crockett County 4-H Club Horse Show Saturday won handsome trophies and the plaudits of the audience and fellow performers. Displaying their trophies and mounts are Jim Bob Bailey, Senior Division winner,

BEWARE OF REPORTING ON CHINA

Some of the media have done a complete flip on Red China after the U.S. ping-pong players were let in. Time magazine heralded the event as a "Whole New Game," while Newsweek headlined it: "A New Game Begins." Meanwhile, back at the ranch in Washington, diplomats are doing their best to avoid any reference to "Red China," or "Communist China," or even "Mainland China." They now insist on using the official Communist terminology: "The People's Republic of China," despite the fact that the People's Daily in Peking is keeping up its vicious headline attacks on the U.S.A.

Some of the worst reporting was done, not by the ping-pong players, but by Life magazine's Hong Kong Bureau Chief, John Saar. Some of the best reporting was done by the New York Times' correspondent, Tillman Durdin. For neophytes, some of the table-tennis squad did quite well in sizing up the situation. Reported Life's Bureau Chief: "The Chinese are obviously healthy. They seemed very content within themselves, content with their lot and sure of themselves, knowing where they are going." He went on to say that there is "absolutely no misery, no hunger" in Communist China.

The Gallup Poll had better fold up, when Life magazine has a man who can come to such detailed conclusions without the need to take any polls or talk to anyone but government stooges. He learned so much about 24 percent of the earth's population in just a few days! Gallup had better quit.

Contrast the sweeping testimony of Life's Hong Kong Bureau Chief with that of 17-year old Olga Soltész, a ping-pong player from Orlando, Florida: "It is very primitive. Even a big city like Peking wasn't anything like Orlando. There were no cars, only a few buses, and everybody rode bicycles."

Tillman Durdin, the New York Times reporter, visited a nursery in Shanghai and reported that the 5-year olds were singing "We unite and struggle in Asia, Africa and Latin America, people join to defeat the U.S. aggressors and their running dogs." The children stay in the nursery all day while their parents work. Many stay there all the time, he reported, except for a visit home on weekends.

At one point in the discussions with Red China's Chou En-lai, the Premier asked the table-tennis team: "Now criticize our country." But no one would. There was not one American to ask why Chou's government had never freed the 345 American POW's after the Korean War, or whether any of them are still alive. There was no one willing to ask about the Four Freedoms and when Chou and his regime would finally start extending them to the 750 million Chinese people. All our table-tennis players saw was the smile on the face of the tiger.

NO LICENSE TO LIE

CBS Television has come under strong attack from many quarters for its controversial "documentary," "The Selling of the Pentagon."

Vice President Agnew described the program as "a subtle but vicious broadside against the nation's defense establishment." Congressman F. Edward Hebert, Chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said it was the "greatest disservice to the military" that he had ever seen on television.

Barron's, the financial weekly published by Dow Jones, charged that "The Selling of the Pentagon" was just one of several examples of misleading and dishonest "documentaries" aired by CBS. Barron's concluded that CBS had forfeited its right to use the nation's airwaves, and it suggested that CBS-owned television stations be challenged when they applied for license renewals.

The most thorough analysis of "The Selling of the Pentagon" that we have seen is one made by Accuracy in Media, (AIM) a non-partisan, non-profit organization devoted to promotion of accuracy in news reporting. AIM has asked CBS to explain some 23 specific flaws that it found in "The Selling of the Pentagon." The most serious of these related to the creation of "synthetic" quotations by means of electronic editing. CBS took sentences and parts of sentences that were widely separated, and it put them together to make what appeared to the viewers to be a bonafide quotation. CBS deliberately distorted what the speakers actually said, and in doing so, it portrayed them in an unfavorable light.

This was too much even for the liberal Washington Post, which wrote three long editorials criticizing this kind of electronic distortion. Accuracy in Media filed a complaint with the National Association of Broadcasters, charging that CBS had violated a provision of the television code, which bars the use of "artifice" to mislead the audience as to material facts.

CBS has yet to reply to the questions raised by AIM. The public, the National Association of Broadcasters and the Federal Communications Commission should insist that it do so. They should also insist that CBS cooperate with the House Special Investigating Committee, which has launched a probe of "The Selling of the Pentagon."

A license to use the public's airwaves is not a license to lie.

A GAS outdoor grill gives food a tangy outdoor flavor without the time and bother of charcoal fire. Char-broiled flavor comes from the smoke of meat juices dripping on hot briquets. Charcoal itself provides no flavor.

Permanent ceramic briquets in the gas grill reach cooking heat in a few minutes, and there is no long wait to start cooking. The heat is regulated manually so there is no need to move a grill up or down.

Tips For Gardeners

From The Ozona Garden Club By Mrs. Bailey Post

This is the month you can almost see spring-to-summer transition in your garden. Early bulbs and shrubs have bloomed. Later varieties are coming into flower. Many shrubs are showing new shoots to bloom later in summer. Pinch back annuals to stop terminal growth, making bushier plants and encourage formation of more flower buds. Also pinching out tip buds extends the flowering period. Coleus are grown for their colorful leaves. Pinching out the bloom spike just above the first two leaves promotes stockiness and prevents the plant from going to seed. Annuals that respond to pinching back tips are, petunia, zinnia, claudia, phlox, pink, snap dragon, verbena and ageratum. Don't pinch back main stem of cockscomb, poppy or strawflower. Seedling dahlias may be pinched back until August 1 to induce fall blooming.

Fertilize crepe myrtle now

With an application of 5-10-10 or 8-8-8 commercial fertilizer to stimulate plants, causing full clusters of blooms during the summer. Use about three cups to a large mature plant, 1 cup to smaller newly set plants. Work fertilizer into soil and water well. Soak soil once a week if there is no rainfall. This is one of the most colorful and durable plants for our area, blooming most of the summer. Everyone should plant a group or at least one in their landscape. Spring-planted deciduous trees and shrubs, including fruit trees, need additional top pruning now if new shoots appear weak or plants show no sign of growth. You should tip prune each branch a few inches, retaining natural form of plant. This equalizes root-top balance.

Plant zinnias, marigolds, salvia, portulaca and periwinkle for heavy bloom during the hot months, also dahlias for fall bloom. Apply mulches to conserve moisture in flowerbeds. If climbing roses, that bloom only once a year, have finished blooming, prune now and remove all dead limbs. There is still plenty of time to plant gladioli bulbs for early summer blooms. It takes about 6 weeks for them to bloom after planting. Watch for insects on shrubs and plants. If not successful with a strong spray of water to wash them off, use an insect spray.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

By Congressman O. C. Fisher

Spearheaded by an array of crackpots and militants, a mass demonstration in Washington is planned for two weeks, beginning on April 24.

The big march was first disclosed at a news conference by David Dellinger, who was convicted with the Chicago 7, and Sidney Peck, a onetime Communist party official. Sponsors listed included the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice and the National Peace Action Coalition, along with several others that were lined up for the big push.

Announced purpose of the march is to plug for a $6,500 a year guaranteed annual income for every family of four; freedom for all "political prisoners," and immediate unconditional withdrawal of U. S. Forces from Vietnam.

Incidentally, the National Peace Action Coalition is an offshoot of the Socialist Workers Party, which has been officially cited as a Communist front. In addition, the pro-Communist Young Socialist Alliance is throwing its weight behind the outbreak.

Called the "Spring Offensive" the Washington blowout was hatched originally as a pro-Communist meeting in Stockholm last November, at which David Dellinger was a speaker.

It is of interest to note that four out of the five of the announced national coordinators have known affiliations with revolutionary Communist organizations.

Indications are the convergence will include the biggest aggregation of kooks, ex-convicts, hoodlums, extremists, subversives and anarchists ever assembled at one time and place in this country.

There is every reason to believe the antiwar angle is being used as a gimmick designed to such in some of the more naive war protesters.

Rather, it is to be a concerted pro-Communist effort to mold a revolutionary movement in America, sprinkled with plenty of hate-America propaganda.

Almost any home can be remodeled to include electric air-conditioning.

"Look at the red kite up there! See how high it's flying!"
The little boy follows her finger, and she is warmed and gratified by his smile of appreciation.
It seems as if mothers are eternally anxious to make sure that their children get all there is to get out of life—that they miss nothing.
Mothers would, if they could, show their children all that there is to see and give them everything—time for fun, time for play—new clothes, new toys, a television to watch cartoons, endless red kites and bright yellow balloons and, later, skis and sports cars.
Yet, in this eagerness to show and to give, aren't they in danger of overlooking some of the most important things of all? What of beauty, of serenity, of joy—the knowledge of God's goodness, His love, and familiarity with His house on earth... the Church?

SHIP OF PORNOGRAPHY

case for censorship of pornography now sweeping America in a filthy tide openly stated by Irving Kristol, editor of "The Public Interest" journal and professor of values at New York University.

recent essay published in "Chicago Tribune," Kristol asserts--and rightly so--that "if you care for the life in our American democracy, then you have for censorship."

is a point of view current and fashionable in liberal circles, and Prof. Kristol is to be commended for taking a stand.

explaining his position, Kristol points out that United States censorship has to all intents and purposes ceased to exist. "The courts have lowered all the legal barriers to distribution and showing of pornographic material."

libertarians of the school says, wanted freedom of literary works that not wholly in keeping with public standards. "They are, of course," he notes, they have also got a in which homosexual takes place on the stage, which the public flocks to lunch hours to witness of professional form, in which Times Square New York City has become more than a hideous market the sale and distribution of printed filth that pans to all known perversions, is this condition that is clear the need for censorship in some form. "We are, all," as Prof. Kristol is not dealing with one incident -- one book, one play, or one movie, he dealing with a general oney that is suffusing our culture."

city after city, one finds that sell pornographic magazines, films and "novelties" that depeople of their specific qualities, that have effect of degrading human life. This enormous traffic is a gold mine for the hoodlum elements that produce and distribute the material.

A nation has to be concerned about the quality of its citizenry. It has to legislate against elements and developments which brutalize and debase its people. In a self-governing society, it is necessary to care about the character of the people and guard against the spread of degeneracy.

Society has the right to draw a line on human behavior and on self-expression. It has a right to forbid physical torture on a stage, Prof. Kristol comments, "even if the victim were a willing masochist." By definition, society involves rules and value-judgements.

In the past, U. S. authorities made the necessary judgements regarding pornography and devised rules to control the traffic. The U. S. Supreme Court, in a series of decisions, gave the pornographers -- smut-peddlers -- a green light. The need now is to build a new American consensus on the subject of printed and filmed filth, emphasizing the importance of strengthening the quality of our national life. This new consensus should produce corrective decisions by the courts. All thoughtful, decent Americans should be able to agree on legislative action to prevent the distribution of material that debases human relationships.

petitioner, seeks a waiver from the Texas Water Rights Commission to file a late Water Right Recordation Claim pursuant to Article 7542a, Section 4(c), Revised Civil Statutes of Texas. Petitioner claims the right to use public waters of the State of Texas as a riparian.

Petitioner claims the right to divert water from Johnson Draw, Rio Grande Basin, for the purpose of irrigating 40 acres of land in Crockett County, Texas, approximately two (2) miles south of Ozona, Texas. Petitioner claims good cause and extenuating circumstances for failure to timely file the claim of right to use water, all being more fully set out in said petition and accompanying claim.

A hearing on the petition will be held by the Commission in the Sam Houston State Office Building at Austin, Texas, on June 15, 1971, at 10:00 o'clock a.m. Those opposing the granting of said petition should file written protests with the Commission and the petitioner at least five days prior to hearing date, giving their reasons therefor and such other information as is required by Commission Rule 305.2.
