Rodeo and Fat Stock Show Was Most Successful Affair

Enormous Crowds Flocked to Ozona During Huge Three-Day Semi-Annual Celebration

Ozona's first big rodeo and celebration under the management of the Celebration Association is a thing of the past, the last of the three day celebration having been brought to a close last Saturday night with a big dance. The celebration had been advertised far and wide for several months previous to the choseu dates, and the invitation, "Meet West Texas in Ozona, July 1, 2 and 3," was taken advantage of by some seven or eight thousand individuals who came prepared for a period of real enjoyment. Housing facilities for such a throng were not available and many tents and open camps were made use of by visitors.

Chief attractions in the celebration were a stock show, rodeo contests, dances, polo and baseball games, airplane rides and various carnival attractions. Purses in the rodeo contests were large, and more than the usual number of entries were in each contest. Goat and calf roping, break-away, bronc riding, bull dogging, wild cow milking and other rodeo events were featured, and contestants made good showings and provided lots of amusement for spectators. Perhaps the most enjoyed feature of the rodeo was the bronc riding, both horses and riders being of the best. The horses were unusually hard to ride and the riders were unusually good, so that the event each day produced a number of thrilling contests between horse and rider, with the horses having a little the best of the argument.

Barnhart was matched against Ozona in a three-game series of polo, which Ozona lost. The visitors took the first game with a score of 9 to 1, and repeated the second day with a count of 5 to 3. Exceptional horsemanship on the part of both teams was displayed in each contest.

In a three-game series of baseball, Fort Stockton lost to Ozona, dropping the first and last game. Ozona won the first game by a score of 2 to 1, after 13 innings of brilliant baseball. The locals were shut out the second day, Fort Stockton winning a 6 to 0 decision over Ozona. Sam Cox, Ozona's veteran hurler, was the master of the situation in the final game of the series, pitching a two hit game to win a 4 to 2 decision.

Dancing was a feature of the celebration. A temporary floor was laid in the new hotel building, and each night of the three day celebration witnessed large crowds on the dance floor, the festivities continuing until a late hour. Music for dancing was furnished by Emmett Keating's Serenaders of San Angelo, while the De Molay Band of the same city provided music during the day.

Airplane rides were given during the celebration, two planes from Angelo being here for that purpose. They were well patronized each day.

The Texas Kid Show, featuring carnival attractions and rodeo events, played during the celebration, and attracted large crowds.

Visitors and residents were fed barbecue and other eats each day in the park, and a check wagon was operated where anyone could eat at any time of the day or night.

Ozona citizens worked hard and spent money freely, and the undoubted success of the celebration is a source of pleasure and gratification. This celebration is to be an annual affair, and each winter there will also be held a race meet and rodeo, but no free barbecue.

A fat stock show and auction sale of fine animals enabled local ranchmen to become acquainted with the best blooded stock and to purchase purebred stock at their own price.

Following are the results of the rodeo contests and the fat stock show, taken in the main from the Ozona correspondent's report to the San Angelo Standard:

The best sheep show ever held outside of large centers in West Texas with about 200 animals competing, formed an interesting part of Ozona's big three-day celebration. Vic Pierce of Ozona in the grade flock awards and T. L. Drisdale of June with registered Ramboulllets, were big winners, each getting the greatest number of first and second places. Ribbons only were awarded the winners.

Plans are to double the capacity for the sheep show another year. J. M. Jones, judge of the animals, and E. P. Freeman of the Cassidy-Southwestern Commission Company, and ranchmen present all praised the display as being of high quality.

The following is a list of the winners:

Pen of five grade yearling ewes—Jones Miller 1st; Vic Pierce 2nd.

Grade buck any age, C type, W. Odum 1st; Vic Pierce 2nd.

The judging in these events began at eight o'clock Thursday morning, but was not completed until 7 o'clock. Mr. Jones stated that the competition was the most severe he had ever seen in his many years of judging, and said the men who brought these sheep to the show knew the sheep business well. The sheep pens were the center of an interested group of sheepmen all through the celebration. Only Rambouilletts were included this year, but in 1927 it is planned to add Delaines. There were sixteen pens of five yearling ewes, revealing strength of the competition in this line. The exhibitors in the sheep division numbered twenty.

Some of the entries in the sheep competition were drawn from the range without fitting but most of them were fitted for the occasion, it was stated.

All these sheep were sheared Saturday and the weight of the wool for the different animals formed the basis for mode competition. Practically all of the sheep are in the wool. About one half of the winners are the muley type and half horned.

There are fourteen cows entered in the competition in that department and sixteen horses. The cattle are in the main from the Hereford ranch of W. E. Smith. Abe Mayer was the judge of the cow show, Saturday morning and J. Ad Harvick, ranchman and inspector for the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association of Texas, was judging the horses Friday morning.

Two hundred and two bucks and a few lambs averaging about $40 in price changed hands by auction sale and private sales during the three-day celebration here. The bucks were consigned to Ozona by Utah and California breeders, as well as by a few of the best known Texas breeders.

Ozona, July 3.—More than 15,000 admissions were paid into the fair grounds during the three day fat stock show and rodeo, which closed with the third monster dance Saturday night. It was the opinion of all that it was a great success, advises Early Baggett, general chairman.

In baseball Saturday, Sam Cox 48 year old pitcher, held the Fort Stockton crew to two hits, both of which came in the first frame and Ozona won 4 to 2. Kelly was the pitcher for the losers. This gave the locals the series, two games to one. Cox for Ozona and Payne for Fort Stockton, were the catchers. On Friday Fort Stockton with its ace, Hill, in the box, shut out the locals allowing only five hits. Ozona errors contributed to the defeat, four being made to one for the Pecos County nine. The visitors also got 10 hits. Stockton had a number of Big Lake players on the club including Wood Carson, Hez Carson, Blackie Williams and Taylor. The locals won 2 to one in the first game on Thursday with Carson on the mound. King pitched for the locals on Friday.

Will Odom won the prize in the wool show with an eight month clip. Joe Davidson was second. In the steer riding, Happy Brown and Ted McCoy tied on one day for the prize of $25. Buster Edwards was another winner in this division.

Vic Pierce won the prize for the best clip of wool from among the sixteen pens of five yearling ewes, the eight months clip totalling twelve pounds to each yearling.

In the goat roping held on only one day Johnson of Sonora was first with a prize of $50; M. Jewell, Eldorado, second, $25.

In the calf roping Sam Mather won $100 on the first day and Allan Holder $50 on the second day. R. E. Sellers of Del Rio took $100 and Sam Mathers second with $50. There was no prize for the two best general average.

In the break-away Elmer Jones won $50 for first prize and Morris Dudley $25 for second prize. There was only one day of this sport.

Will Cargile won the prize of $50 in the Crockett county cow horse race on Saturday.

In the cow milking contest Emmet Buck and Elmer Jones won first place on the first day, for a prize of $25 and Tom Smith and Morris Dudley the prize of similar amount on the second day, for the first place.

In the fed cattle division, W. E. Smith swept aside all competition, winning first for the best bull calf. Abe Mayer was the judge of this department.

In the horse show S. E. Couch for the best stallion got the blue ribbon Ad Harvick was the judge.

The best pen of three heifer yearlings was won by C. E. Davidson, who also took first rank for the best ranch cow.

The best range bull not fed prize went to Jones Miller and for the best cow and calf not fed to W. E. Smith.

A matched race between a horse of Pat Lee and P. Jolley, held here Saturday afternoon, ended in a win by a nose by the Lee horse.

The maiden two year old race on the first day was won by "Flora Lee", owned by Pat Lee. On the second day the cow pony race went to Bill Carter's horse.

In the free for all on Saturday "Barney Adkins" owned by Dick Nasworthy, with Hamilton up won. "Black Beauty" owned by Grover King of Sanderson with Mansfield up was second and "Flip Alone" owned by Ed Peffin, with Valentine up, was third.

Aviator Dead

Grundy David Arnold, a former air officer of the Canadian army, a pilot of eight years' experience, and a pioneer in the field of commercial aviation in Texas, died at a local hospital at 1:05 Tuesday morning from concussion of the brain. The injury was caused by his being struck on the head by the propeller of his airplane at Ozona Saturday morning. Mr. Arnold at the time of his death was manager of the San Angelo Airways, Inc.

Mr. Arnold was rendered unconscious Saturday morning by the blow from the propeller as he was tuning up his machine. He never regained rationality.

Mr. Arnold left for Ozona last Wednesday afternoon with a parting word which now seems a premonition of accident. He said: "Goodby, kid, if I don't see you any more, good luck to you."

Mr. Arnold had been in four serious smashes during his eight years experience, most of these in the days before the safety appliances that now make such travel much safer. His most spectacular escape was in a Kansas cyclone, when the ship spun around in the air like a top. He righted the machine when within fifty feet of the earth and brot it to a landing partially under control. He was not hurt in the mishap, but a passenger was injured.

Mr. Arnold at the time of his death was employed by the San Angelo Airways, Inc. as a mechanic, his brother, Ross Arnold, doing the flying, according to an announcement from the company. Mr. Arnold had been the manager of the famous Gates' Flying Circus, and was known throughout the country as a fearless, daring, yet careful flyer.—San Angelo Standard.

There are many types of pronunciations heard but there is just one proper way Noah says. It is "Ses-ki-wen-ten-ty-nal" with the accent on the first syllable of the "sesqui" and on the second syllable of the "centennial."
