Why I Do Not Attend Church

I take the Bible as my Guide. I judge no one. There is only one Judge and one Lawgiver, Jesus Christ our Saviour.

This message is written to those who have quit going to church because of so much hypocrisy being practiced in the church these days,—and to those who will not go to church for the same reason.

I have been a member of the Methodist church about thirty years, and attended and took part in all religious services, until about ten years ago, when it came to me that I could not attend church and be benefitted by it, seeing so much hypocrisy practiced in the name of our Saviour. I became heartsick, and I said I would never go to church again until there was some sign made to distinguish the disciples of Christ from the disciples of Satan.

It has been years since I was in a church, for it seemed the membership in the different churches grew more toward the devil's ways than the Lord's teachings.

But thanks be to God, I came to me over a year ago, while my husband and I sat

Sheep and Goat Raisers in This Section Men at Sonora

With vice-president V. A. Brown in the chair, a quorum of the executive committee of the Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association of Texas met in Sonora, pursuant to the call of President Moore, Tuesday morning, March 2nd.

The following answered roll call: V. A. Brown, B. M. Halbert, W. M. Noelke, F. C. Bates, Jr., T. L. Drisdale, A. B. Whitehead, Tom Henderson, C. A. Brown, Geo. M. Thurmond, E. E. Stricklen, T. A. Kincaid, Jim Moore, and J. B. Blakeney.

General discussion was held in regard to the government wool rebate, so fully explained in former issues of The Stockman.

It was the consensus of opinion among members that a committee should be sent to Washington and work in any way thought advisable to assist Congressman Hudspeth in arranging the particulars of the rebate.

On motion of T. L. Drisdale, seconded by Jim Moore, the president and the secretary of the association to accept and file into effect such measures as they may consider necessary in this matter.

The annual meeting in June in San Angelo, and the great sheep and goat show to be held there at that time, were informally discussed with representatives from that city. All signs now tend to indicate that the biggest sheep and goat show and auction sale of the year will be held then and there.

Holland government says Holland will not give up William Hohenzollern to the Allies, but will be responsible for keeping him in duration.

Mary Pickford, the cute little rascal, has secured a divorce from her husband, Mr. Moore. Says she'd rather be free than tied up to any mere man.

Former Governor Braxton Bragg Comer, of Alabama, has been appointed to the seat in the United States Senate made vacant by the death of Senator Bankhead, until the people can elect.

Wilson Democrats foregathered at Dallas March 6 to arrange for electing delegates to the San Antonio convention.

Indiana's thirty-three electoral votes are pledged to Edwards of New Jersey, "as long as his name is before the Democratic National convention," for the nominee of the party for president. Edwards is the candidate of the "WETS."

Joseph Weldon Bailey says he will not accept the challenge of Mr. Thomson to let the voters of Cooke county decide the issue of the governorship between them. He says the governorship is a question that concerns all the people of Texas, and not of one county alone.

Robbers masquerading as movie picture actors robbed the American National Bank of Harrisburg, Texas, a suburb of Houston. They got five thousand and went to from Ozona. The robbers locked the bank employees in the safety deposit vault.

One hundred and twenty-four towns in Vermont went WET in the election March 3rd, by the biggest majority ever returned in that State against prohibition. Vermont, Connecticut, Rhode Island and New Jersey are united to resist prohibition boss rule and New York Democrats have also declared in line.

New York Declares for Freedom

By an almost unanimous vote the following plank was adopted by the New York State Democratic Convention.

It is generally regarded as the most decisive step yet taken in the great struggle now upon us to put down autocracy and return to Freedom:

"We are unalterably opposed to prohibition by Federal amendment. We believe it to be an unreasonable interference with the rights of the State as guaranteed by the Constitution. We feel that the recent enactment was the imposition of the ideas of an active minority against the wishes of the great majority of the American people. We therefore declare for its speedy repeal and, to the end that the personal liberty of the people of our State may be thoroughly safeguarded until such time as this repeal may be brought about, we declare the right of our State, in the exercise of its sovereign power, to so construe the concurrent clause of the eighteenth amendment as to be in accord with the liberal and reasonable views of our people."

Question of the Hour: "How do you like the weather?"

Text for Today: "The scribes and the pharisees sit in Moses' seat." Matt. 23: 2.

With women taking part in the political game, that old saying "Politics Makes Strange Bedfellows" doesn't apply.—Coleman Democrat-Voice. Somebody is always taking the joy out of life.

The Ozona Stockman is for sale at a reasonable price, and on good terms. It is one of the prettiest and best-paying country newspaper businesses in Texas. The owner has other interests demanding his entire time and attention.

Editor Kellis, of the Sterling City News-Record, says that trappers thereabouts are using clabber for baiting their wolf traps, with wonderful success. Editor Kellis very likely wants us to ask him where they get the clabber,—but we're too old to bite.

"Twenty-Two States join Prohibition Issue Against Rhode Island," is the substance of a headline in the San Antonio Express. As a matter of fact they did no such thing. The officious governors of those States probably did so, just as little Willie hobby did; but they no more represent the people of their respective States than Baalam's ass represented Baalam.

One way to keep the government from getting quite all of your spare change for income taxes is to send me twenty bucks for ten years subscription to The Stockman. Charge it up to feeding the poor, or buying him some britches. George Richardson sent me ten bucks five years. Who will be the first ten-year good boy? The Stockman will be here long after I am in the pen and gone.

Joseph Weldon Bailey is in Dallas today (Thursday) and will make the opening speech of his campaign in that city. Excursions are being run from all the big cities. Mr. Bailey will have to be in Washington next Monday for the last case he will have in the Supreme Court, after which he will refuse all law cases, and devote his entire time to the fight in Texas, for a return to human freedom and against bossism in Texas and the United States. It is hoped to have the great apostle of human rights with us, both in Del Rio and San Angelo before the campaign is over.

The returned service men are in a big row now as to whether they will take all the balance of the money the Democrats have left in the purse of the people, or just some of it. The returned soldiers, sailors and marines would better begin stirring themselves toward a little patriotism, if there is any such thing yet remaining in the world, or the people will get the idea that they made the world safe for autocracy just for the money there is in it. Congressman John Garner, of Uvalde, for whom hurrah! says that it will bankrupt the country to give the men all the money. Certainly it will. No man or devil, or aggregation of men and devils, should be given one cent of the people's money. It will not be difficult to find the last straw in the burden of taxation.

The Val Verde County Herald is thirty-three years old—just in the prime of youthful strength and vigor. I always think of it as my favorite newspaper child—it was my first. I owned and edited the paper twelve years. And I love Del Rio, and always shall, because it was my home for so many years, and I love the dear old friends there. George Martin founded the Herald, which was then The Record, and should be now. He sold to Stevens, and Paul Flato and I bought from Stevens—then I bought Paul's interest. I sold to Kartes & DeWitt. The paper has always been a strong force in the upbuilding of Del Rio, and now is. I always believed in the great future of Del Rio. I do now. My prediction is that Del Rio will be a city of thirty thousand people within less than ten years. Paste this up.

DAY AND NIGHT BANKS AND TOM MOORE DEES.

There is a linotype on the pay roll of the Fort Worth Record who should be slain. There is a proofreader who should share his fate. Thomas M. Dees is the Midlothian benefactor. The linotype persists in making it read, "Thomas M. DOES." This is a fact, but there are people who do not know it. Thomas M. Dees is the man who gave $100,000 to the churches and the cemetery association of Midlothian. Thos. M. Dees is the man who donated $25,000 for a new public school building at Midlothian. Thomas M. Dees is the man who recently established a day and night bank at Dallas, and Thomas M. Dees is the man who may establish a day and night bank at Fort Worth. Get the name correct this time or there is going to be murder.—Fort Worth Record.

Spare that linotype. Mr. Dees, in the realms of human activity, is Mr. DOES. It was perfectly natural for the linotype and the proof-reader, aware of this fact, to arrive at the conclusion "I'll say he does." Mr. Dees does things in Midlothian. Mr. Dees does things in the Oil Belt. Mr. Dees does things in Dallas. Mr. Dees does things especially in the Day and Night Bank in Dallas. When he opens operations in Fort Worth, The Record, from office boy to editor-in-chief, will be declaring Mr. Dees does! "Let it go at that!" "I'll say he does!"—Dallas Democrat.

Since Tom is my first cousin, and whereas he is the only multi-millionaire in the family, and since, whereas and moreover, he is giving us "something new under the sun" in starting day and night banks in the big cities,—resolved, that it justifies a little of The Stockman's "valuable space" to tell you fellows something about him.

I remember, as tho it were yesterday, when he was born. I was just a hundred yards away at the old home in Pascagoula, Mississippi. Our grandmother always called me "Billy." "Billy," she remarked to me, "that new boy of your Aunt Annie's has good lungs." The modern grandmother would say: "Gosh, Bill, that new kid 'cousin of yours believes in advertising. That yell of his would split a cabbage." Tom was named three weeks before he arrived in the United States. His mother was a Hill. Her mother was a Moore. Tom Moore, the English poet, was one of the family. So was Lord Starkey, of England, who was a great uncle of Tom's. Tom was scheduled to fit the monicker of Tom Moore Dees. Which he did, and has ever since. The second boy was Mark Ashley Dees. He is a business man at Midlothian.

Tom's father was Mark Ashley Dees. He was a commanding figure in Mississippi. The worst thing I ever knew of him was that he served in the Mississippi legislature. Uncle Mark was a really great inventor. He was the patentee of a thousand utilities. The Goodyear...

very important idea indeed. Tom would not have been his father's son if he could not continually think of something nobody else ever thought of. Uncle Mark, on one of his visits to this section, told me there could be a way to hitch up all this waste wind power out here in West Texas, store it, and run all the machinery in the world. He was always thinking of a better way to do things. "Tom DOES" also. It is essentially a family trait. I never saw one of the blood who wouldn't, if he had to do anything, begin thinking if he couldn't do it better, and in a better way, than anybody else could do it, and better and easier than the orthodox way. The trait cropped out very early in Joseph W. Bailey, also a cousin.

Tom and I couldn't agree. He is giving millions to churches. If I had a disgusting number of millions, like he has, I'd not give the churches a cent. They would build fine houses with it, and put on more "style." I would buy great groves of trees beside living waters, and bring the poor to live in the wide places, and worship in God's Acres. I would create new Edens like the Skillman Grove camp meeting ground and dedicate them to serving God and man ALL the time, instead of SOME of the time. I would like to be Tom's almoner—but we are both so contrary that we could never agree on anything.

His gifts to the churches remind me, also, of his father. Uncle Mark built the first Baptist church in Moss Point, Mississippi. He and the brethren and sisters disagreed on some points of doctrine, and he nailed the church up. The congregation burglariously invaded the church by "breaking and entering." He prosecuted them—and the most famous interchurch lawsuit ever known in the history of the United States was the result. It was in the courts for twenty years, and Uncle Mark won every decision up to the courts of last resort. But it embittered the dear old fellow's life. He was disappointed with his fellow men. He did not want the church to "progress" away from the Bible. He believed in "progress" in everything except in the great principles of morality, justice and religion. He believed that the religion of Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever—that this is just as much the "Age of Miracles" as any age since the creation of the world, and that Christ told the truth when He promised us that, if we had Faith, we could do signs and wonders in His name. Uncle Mark used to say: "Study the Scriptures, Willie, don't study the preacher." Uncle Mark once owned the oldest newspaper in Mississippi, the Pascagoula Star, and there I served my devilship.

I happen to know that Tom Moore Dees is doing a great deal of good, with his millions, in less conspicuous ways, as well as in princely gifts; but the investigator who would attempt to trace his benefactions, if we may judge the son by the father, must follow him along unusual roads, into the highways and byways of life, and along un-beaten paths.

OFFICIAL ORGAN OF THE SHEEP AND GOAT RAISERS' ASSOCIATION OF TEXAS

Members of the Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association are requested to refer to the resolutions of the executive committee at the Del Rio meeting, as published in The Stockman, and where Dr. Bishop is mentioned as representing the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry, make it read "Bureau of Entomology of the United States Department of Agriculture." This department deals with the control of insects.

R. R. Baker returned from across the Pecos with 900 ewe lambs he had bought of Sherman Bros., at $2.50. He also bought Tippet, of Range, bred ewes, at $18.50.

G. T. Chipman, the famous trapper of Howards Draw, was in the city. He has caught fifteen big bobcats and nine timber wolves on the Kincaid range this winter.

Congressman Ludspeth has been clearing out his lower river ranch to make more room for sheep. Has shipped fourteen cars cows—7 fats and 7 canners, to the Ft. Worth market from Comstock.

Blake Mauldin has sold his ranch (the old Mitchell ranch) in Crockett county, to Houston parties, and will go to New York or Paris to live. He denies that he has cleared over a hundred thousand dollars on this ranch in eighteen months. The twenty sections go at $12 per acre and all the sheep at good prices. Ewes and lambs twenty-six dollars out of shearing pens.

Sam Jones of Eldorado sold to Billie Cauthorn of Sonora, the Espy ranch of 2,500 acres, 15 miles east of here on the head of Middle Valley, at $14.50 per acre. The strangers who shot up the town Friday night should be prosecuted for violating the fire alarm ordinance.

T. A. Kincaid and Joe Ben Blakeney, well known stockmen of Ozona, were here Tuesday to attend the meeting of the Association.

E. E. Stricklen of Juno, was here for the meeting Tuesday. He has almost entirely recovered from an attack of the flu and is ready for the fray with the Agricultural Department in the effort to recover for the sheepmen the money that is theirs. As secretary of the Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association he will have much to do with getting the money back where it belongs. Mr. Stricklen has a very fine herd of Mohair goats, the breeding and history of which he has prized himself with, when he engaged in the business.

STUCCO HOUSE AND ATTACHED GARAGE

An Exceptional Design for Those Seeking the Ultra Modern.

HOME BUILDING BOOM HERE

More Dwelling Construction These Days Than Ever Before—Unfailing Sign of Prosperity for Several Years Everywhere.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 187 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only enclose three-cent stamp for reply.

The man who builds a home for himself and his family does not build a house that "will do." Ordinarily the house he puts up will provide him and the other members of his family with a home for a great many years. Of course, the foresighted man will not build such an out-of-the-ordinary house that it will not be readily salable, but he will put into his home the conveniences and comforts that he wants.

Because of these facts the selection of the design for the new home is an important matter. It is one of the things that should be given careful thought and everything that bears on it should be considered before the design finally is fixed upon. And right here let it be said that the local architect, the contractor and the material man all can give valuable advice at this stage of the project. They have had a great deal of experience in designing and building homes and they know the mistakes others have made and how to avoid them.

To many men a garage is an essential building. They want places where they can house their automobiles, where they will be available at all times and where they can do such work on the machines as is necessary to keep them in good running order.

The home shown in the accompanying design combines the modern home with a modern garage. It is a seven-room stucco house, with an exceptional Opening off the living room are both dining room and kitchen, the latter separated from the front room by a hall out of which opens the stairs to the basement. The dining room is 20 by 13 feet 6 inches. The kitchen is 12 by 13 feet 6 inches. It will be seen from the floor plan that all the rooms are provided with built-in features that make housekeeping easy.

Three Bedrooms, Bath.
On the second floor are three bedrooms and bath, with an extraordinary amount of closet space, and a central hall.

The location of the garage in connection with the house, with an entrance directly to it, is the modern method of building houses for automobiles. Automobile owners have learned that in order to keep the machines in operation the year around the garage must be heated. When the garage is a part of the house itself this is done without much trouble or added expense.

The pergola roof of the garage and the roof of the side balcony are covered with canvas.

Under the whole of the house proper is a basement with concrete floor and walls. This is divided so as to keep the heating plant separate from the food and other storage rooms.

Stucco houses now are in great demand. They are of either standard frame, brick or hollow tile construction, with stucco over either wood or metal lath or applied directly to the walls when hollow tile is used. Either of these materials make a house that is cool in summer and warm and easily heated in the winter. A home built from this design will be one of which any person can be proud, and at the attractive exterior and an interior arrangement that will appeal to everyone who wants the very conveniences and comforts the modern home contains.

The dimensions of this house are 34 by 40 feet 6 inches, exclusive of the front porch and sun parlor projection. The artistic sweep of roof on the house itself, the dormer window projection which levels the roof line and the pergola-like roof over the porch and sun parlor all combine to give this house an unusual and attractive exterior appearance. The same architectural design is carried out in the garage, which is 19 by 12 feet, attached to a rear corner of the house.

The porch projection is divided into a porch and sun parlor, entrance to same time it does not cost an exorbitant sum to erect.

Much Home Building.
Never before have so many persons been building homes as there are this year. The reasons are many. The general run of heads of families now are earning larger incomes than ever before. Rents have been advanced materially. At the same time the cost of building has not kept pace with the increase in incomes and rents. These are causes that have determined many thousands to build homes of their own.

Economically home owning is a great asset. The man who owns his home is looked upon as a stable, prosperous and thrifty member of the community. To him comes opportunities that pass by the man who rents. With all other things equal, the astute employer always gives preference to the home owner when an opportunity for advancement comes. He knows that the man who owns his home will stay, and is not so sure of the other fellow who has no ties to keep him on the job.

Aside from the patriotic motives that the government is urging to induce people to build homes so as to furnish employment for labor, there is every selfish reason why everyone who possibly can should build a home this year. They are the persons who will profit in the end.

Taken Literally.
While cleaning clothes with gasoline I sent my little girl, three and one-half years old, to get my kid gloves from the dresser drawer. She had been on when she came out, and said: "Mother, why can't I wear these?"
I said: "Why, they are for ladies to wear."
She answered: "Well, mother, you said they were kid gloves."—Wisconsin News.

FARM ANIMALS

MANAGEMENT OF A PIG CLUB

It is Duty of Agent to Furnish Information to Supervisors Who Instruct Members.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The boys and girls' club work is carried on through cooperation between the animal husbandry division of the bureau of animal industry and the states relation service representing the department of agriculture and the various state agricultural colleges represented by their respective extension departments.

A swine specialist, supported by funds appropriated by congress for the work of the animal husbandry division, is placed in each of the states desiring such a man (so far as funds permit). The specialist's work is administered by the director of extension, who furnishes office room and equipment, stenographic assistance, and pays his traveling expenses. He is a unit in the extension staff and works in closest cooperation with the state leader of other club work. All the work is done in cooperation with the county agent force and the various interested departments of the college and extension force. The subject matter taught by the specialists is agreeable to the animal husbandry department of the college and the animal husbandry division of the department of agriculture. A simple project or agreement covering the work is arranged by the states relations service between the extension service of the agricultural college and the animal husbandry division.

The pig club agent is the leader of the animal-club work in the state. It is his duty to provide technical instruction for the club members; to provide supervisors or local leaders and to train them so that they may impart the information to the members. In some cases the duty of organizing the pig clubs falls to the lot of the state agent, while in other states the state leader of general club work and his staff attend to the organization. He works with and through the county agent force and makes use of such local leaders as are available. He projects his vision of the work into the minds of the local leaders and through them into the lives and minds of the members. He must impart his technical information in terms that can be understood by the local leaders and applied by the members. He meets the swine breeders of the state and seeks to win their approval, support, and hobby problems of the state. He will plan and arrange for the state wide exhibits, judging contests, etc. He visits members on their farms and helps them solve their problems. He conducts demonstrations, simple in nature, yet effective in solving the problems of the members and the adults. His work must win the support of the parents of the members if it is to be successful.

The individual effort of the agent would accomplish little were it not for the splendid cooperation extended by the extension force, by the bankers and business men, breeders, local interested people, etc. The work succeeds because the agent multiplies his influence through all the co-operating agencies.

The pig club has not only stimulated the demand for better breeding stock, but also has been the means of introducing community breeding or breed standardizing in numerous counties in various states where the pure bred part of the industry is practically new and where there were not numerous breed preferences to contend with. The pig club boys have not only taught the adults, where the industry is new, the superiority of the pure bred over the scrub, but have taught them that good individuals bring good prices. "Before this year," says one county agent, "it was hard to get a farmer to pay $10 for a good hog; now they pay $29 to $100."

In addition to these benefits the pig club work is stimulating pork production to an extent extremely important at this time, stimulating home curing of meat through the organization of "ham and bacon" clubs, teaches the members better working methods, inspires pig club boys to better work by educational exhibits and increases their knowledge through judging contests. These are in addition to the indirect results, such as awakening a new spread of comradeship between father and son and the teaching of intelligent borrowing and good business methods through the financing of members by bankers.

BEST STRAWBERRY VARIETIES

Department of Agriculture Publisher's Guide for Commercial and Small Growers.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Strawberry growers in doubt as to what variety is best suited to their soil, climate, and use, should find much help for the solution of their problems in Farmers' Bulletin 1043, recently published by the United States department of agriculture. The bulletin is intended as an aid to both commercial and amateur strawberry growers. The information is based largely on the experience of successful growers in practically every important commercial strawberry-producing district throughout the country, but the results of experiment-station tests, the experience of commercial canners and by-product manufacturers, the preferences of amateur fruit growers and the conclusions resulting from wide observations of the department's specialists, have been used in making up the variety lists which are given for different sections.

From the beginning of commercial strawberry growing, about 1880, Large Early Scarlet was the leading variety grown in the United States. About 1890 the Wilson replaced this variety, because it was much firmer and was more suitable for shipping to distant markets. From about 1880, varieties began to replace each other in more rapid succession, until at present 25 sorts constitute about 90 per cent of the total commercial strawberry acreage. The Klondike, the leading variety in the southern states, heads the list, constitutes 28 per cent of the total strawberry acreage. The South central states, is second with 13 per cent of the total acreage, while the Dunlap in the northern states ranks third, with 14 per cent.

Since 1900 many varieties especially adapted to conditions in various parts of the country have been introduced. Thus the Missionary has become the leading sort in central Florida and the Klondike in most other parts of the South; the Aroma in most of the milder regions of the central states; from southern Indiana, Illinois and Missouri, south to Tennessee and Arkansas; the Dunlap in all the middle West north of the Aroma section; the Juconda in western Colorado; the Clark, Marshall, Oregon, and Klondike in most of the Pacific Coast states; and the Gandy in the states north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers and east of the Mississippi. In the northeastern states the Chesapeake, Joe, Parsons, Late Stevens, Earl, Glen Mary, and Williams are widely grown.

The Klondike became the favorite in the South, because it makes a quick growth of plant and berry in the early spring, so that the fruit matures before the extremely hot weather. The berries are firm enough to hold up several days in shipment to market and the variety is fairly resistant to diseases that are common in southern regions. In the north central states strawberry growing was not entirely safe until introduction of the Dunlap, which is hardy, productive and quite resistant to disease.

Two types of flowers, imperfect or pistillate, and perfect or staminate, are produced by different strawberry varieties. Imperfect flowers contain pistils but no stamens, while perfect flowers contain both. Pollen which is produced in the stamens is essential to the setting of fruit. A variety with perfect flowers, therefore, can produce fruit when planted by itself, but one with imperfect flowers cannot set fruit unless perfect flowering plants are near to furnish pollen through the agency of bees or other insects. Where imperfect varieties are used the usual practice in planting is to set one row of a perfect variety for every two or three rows of an imperfect one.

New varieties are being constantly introduced to the trade, but according to the bulletin, few of them possess any special value as compared with others already more or less well known, and most of them soon disappear from the nurseryman's list or at best remain of only local importance.

Thinning Is Good Plan. If apple or plum trees are overladen with fruit it is a good plan to thin out a part of it.

"My two sons volunteered for the war, and I said I would gladly give them to fight the battles of our own country, and I would go myself if necessary, but I would not give them to fight the battles of a foreign country."

Why Colds are Dangerous.

You are often told to "beware of a cold," but why? We will tell you: Every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality and... The longer a cold lasts, the greater the danger, especially from the germ diseases, as a cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs of consumption, diptheria, scarlet fever and whooping cough. The quicker you get rid of your cold, the less danger of contracting one of these diseases. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a great reputation as a cure for colds and can be depended upon. It is pleasant to take. Sold by W. E. Smith Co.

The Texas Cattlemen's Association will meet in Houston in annual convention March 16, 17 and 18. In the meantime a special committee appointed by President Turney will investigate the retail market plan of distributing meat products. The cattlemen take the position that there is too wide a margin between the prices the cattlemen get and that paid by the consumer.

Wouldn't you rather be with a large enthusiastic student body in a big school building under keeping, Shorthand, Telegraphy, Business Administration or Finance, Penmanship or Cotton Classing, preparing yourself for future success, than to be idle and wasting your time?

Write for a large illustrated free catalogue of the Tyler Commercial College. Read of the advantages of our splendid courses of instruction, and of those who have graduated and what they say of our college, and what their employers think of their efficient training. Read how some have worked their way thru school, how others borrowed the money to pay board and gave the College their note for tuition, and made it pay them big dividends. How others quit jobs at small salaries, completed courses with us and went back to the same firm at two or three times their previous salary. Some who were unable to come to our school finished our Home Study course and never quit drawing their salary. Make arrangements to enter as soon as your school closes. You will enjoy your stay with us.

around our home fire, and filled me with that Spirit of Truth, which, when it enters into you, "will guide you into all truth, and teach you all things." That Spirit began directing me at once. I began reading my Bible. Not as I used to—for in those days I picked it up as I would a ten cent novel—never making any difference in the blessed Book from others. When I picked up the Bible after this beautiful change came over me, I closed my eyes a few minutes and breathed a word of prayer to my Saviour to be with me while I read His blessed Book, and to let me understand that which He wanted me to understand. From that time until now He has been my teacher.

For over a year now I have, from time to time, proved to myself and my husband that what Jesus said His Apostles just before ascending to Heaven we must be able to do, to be His followers.

"Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned. And these signs shall follow them that believe; In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues. They shall take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover." Mark 16:15-18.

Jesus knew that, when He was gone, there would be many who would try to get in with His disciples, therefore He said these signs shall follow those that believed on Him. I have healed myself of eczema in one night, that I have had since a child, that all doctors have failed to cure. He at once healed me of chronic constipation that I have had from childhood. Also He has healed me of bad intestinal trouble which the specialists in Temple and Dallas could not diagnose, and of many other lesser things.

Through my Faith in His name He healed my husband of rheumatism which he had had off and on for years, but at that time he had had it for about five years. He had to have help to dress himself. He was healed in one night. All this is what the Spirit of Truth will teach you, when Jesus sends it to you. It will teach you some sign, all signs, so you, as well as others, may know that you are one of Christ's believers. You must have some sign, for Jesus says so, so you may be distinguished from the disciples of Satan.

I was almost ready to give up in despair, when Jesus came to me. I had felt all along that there should be a difference in God's people and the devil's, but the more I looked for a difference in them, the nearer they would all look alike to me. I had studied until I had almost decided that the word CHRISTIAN meant style and pomp. I could find no one who could do the things that Jesus says all those who believe in Him could do. There is no healing now being done in His beautiful name; in fact, I know of nothing that the Christians of today do—that Jesus said they could do, and should do to prove they were His believers.

Friends, do you know that Jesus is ready to teach you to know Him? Just take your Bible and sit down and ask Jesus to teach you as you read, and He will. If you can't read ask Him daily, even hourly, to teach you the way, and to send you that Comforter, which is the Spirit of Truth, who will guide and teach you constantly. He will send it to you if you earnestly seek Him. I know, Jesus knows I don't lie.

If you believe in using human force to make a man or woman good, you need not ask God anything. For He is no where near you, so therefore will not hear what you ask. You must be able to use the same persuasion as Jesus did—that of love. If we will just clean our hearts and lives until we are presentable unto Him, or, in other words, put off the old man or woman and put on the new man or woman, then our influence will be felt, and respected among everybody we meet. We can, through our prayers—if we are right ourselves, mind you—convert more men and women—with God's help in six months than all the laws that these fanatics have made, and are making, could convert in a life time.

Why? Because Jesus is not known to them. If He was they would do what He has told them to do in His blessed Book. Some say: "Times have changed," since our Saviour's day. Yes, so sadly I must confess, they have. And just here again I will say, Jesus also knew the times would change, is why He told His Apostles that these signs should follow those that believed, so that the world could tell who His people are.

Clemmie Easterling. Get one or more new subscribers for the official organ, The Stockman. There is no better way to get new members for the Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association of Texas. They will come in, if we do the proper missionary work with them, and we shall have at least one thousand members by the next regular annual meeting. DO IT NOW.

Good morning. Have you time to read The Stockman now? If not, please take time. Then send us $2 for a whole year's subscription. It's cheap at half the price. Our experience with these West Texas people is that they'd rather pay $2 for a good article than $1 for a poor one, and we don't want The Stockman to be seen in company with a tightwad, anyhow. Dos Pesos, please.

HOT SHOTS

By T. I. Fitzgerald, DeLeon, Texas.

Woodrow Wilson is a very remarkable man. He has kept us out of war, kept us out of flour and kept us out of sugar.

About the only reason that I have ever been able to figure out why Woodrow set the sun up was, he wanted to demonstrate his wonderful power.

This Nation is yet groping in darkness as to why the political preacher was exempt from the army draft in a democratic country. Will someone please solve this mystery?

The political preachers have told some awful tales on the saloon man in the past few years, but there are more political preachers in the penitentiary than there are saloon men.

No nation has ever fallen in the name of the devil, but in the name of religion. This is why religion becomes such a curse when turned wrong. Jesus Christ was crucified in the name of religion.

There has been more religion and democracy talked in the past few years than will be practiced in the next thousand years, at the rate we are going.

It is reported that the Anti-Saloon-League is to soon change its name. I would suggest that it have a true name, "The Hypocrite Incubator."

I wonder what has become of that popular slogan "going to make the world safe for democracy." Have people gotten a shamed of the hypocrisy of this slogan?

Bill Hobby's political influence will expire long before his term of office expires. If somebody don't watch Bill he will be likely to try to hang himself, just as another Judas I have read about.
