Declamation Representatives Off to Angelo

In the elimination contest at the high school auditorium Monday, Beulah Baggett, in the Junior Girls Division, received first place and Mildred North, second, in the Senior Girls Division. Wanda Watson was given first place and Monte Sapp, second. All contestants gave a good account of themselves.

Wanda and Beulah will contest at San Angelo Friday morning (today) in the district meet. The declamation contests are scheduled to occur somewhere between 10:30 and 12:00 Friday morning. If either girl wins in her respective division she will represent Crockett County in the State Meet at Austin. The school public must realize that at Angelo our representatives will meet the stiffest sort of competition. Of course, we are all hopeful of one or both winning. But in any event we can count on our representatives doing their dead level best and reflecting honor on the school and community they represent.

This is the first time for several seasons that Ozona has had contestants in the purely intellectual contests held yearly at Angelo as district headquarters. Even now we are sending no debaters and no boy representatives in declamation. Neither are we sending track or other athletic contestants. The beginning made by way of entering representatives in two contests is feeble enough, but it at least represents a start. It is hoped that another year enough interest will manifest itself in these contests to warrant representatives entered in every event.

W. T. Childress, Jr., Makes Good Showing in Spelling

In the county spelling contest Friday, only one representative out of ten entries announced ready for the contest. The spelling list consisted of 350 words chosen by lot from a list of over 1,000 difficult words. W. T. Childress, Jr., spelled through the list in most excellent fashion. However, he did not succeed in spelling quite all the words. Only perfect papers are allowed to be sent to the State headquarters, so that W. T.'s paper does not quite pass muster. But he made a showing of which to be proud—spelling correctly something over 98 per cent of a most difficult word list on which he had only a few hours practice. With a little more drill on the list, W. T. could qualify as a State winner. Let us hope he wins for Ozona next year.

Rev. Gaston Hartsfield to Deliver Baccalaureate Address

News has just been received from Rev. Gaston Hartsfield, pastor of the San Angelo First Methodist Church, that he accepts the invitation of the Senior Class of 1924 to deliver the baccalaureate sermon on the evening of May 11th.

The Senior Class is running true to form in continuing "lucky." It is seldom that a class is fortunate enough to secure first choice of speakers for both baccalaureate and commencement addresses. But with Dr. P. W. Horn for commencement speaker and Rev. Hartsfield for baccalaureate address, that lucky stroke has been successfully achieved.

Rev. Hartsfield is said to be a very effective and pleasing speaker. The Senior Class and school management feel decidedly happy at securing his services.

SERMONS ON THE RESURRECTION

As a pre-Easter message, we are preaching a series of sermons on the Resurrection. We showed in the first of the series of sermons last Sunday night that the resurrection had more to do with the unity of the Old and New Testament than any one thing taught in the Bible. That is to say, the inspiration of the inspiration of the Old Testament stood on the one grand historical fact, namely, that Jesus of Nazareth was the Old Testament Messiah, and the inspiration of the New Testament stood on the one grand historical fact, namely, that Jesus of Nazareth had risen from the dead.

First, the argument used to defend the above statements is in part as follows:

The Old Testament Messiah must be an attested descendant from the first man through Seth and Abraham and David. No other Jew could do this except Jesus.

Second, the Old Testament Messiah must come before Judah loses all national powers. The prophecy of Jacob declares: "The scepter shall not depart from Judah, nor the ruler's staff from between his feet, till Shiloh come."

But since the destruction of Jerusalem by Titus in A. D. 70, Judah has had no national rule or country. Therefore Christ or Shiloh had to come before that time.

Third, the Old Testament Messiah must come while the second Temple is standing. The statement, "the glory of the latter house should exceed the glory of the former," means that "the Messiah would come to that second Temple and purify it." This He did when He drove out the

Local Survey of School Completed

With the giving of the Leland Stanford Achievement Tests in the high school Tuesday morning, the survey of the Ozona school through mental and standardized educational tests was completed. This survey has extended over a survey of nearly two years. During the survey, practically all pupils have been given a group mental test. In the high school the Terman Group Mental Test was used, and in the elementary school, the National Group Intelligence Test. These are the best group tests known. In the way of educational tests, the Monroe Silent Reading, the Thorndike-McCall Silent Reading, the Curtis Supervisory Arithmetic Test, the Woody-McCall Mixed Fundamentals in Arithmetic and the Leland Stanford Achievement Tests have been used. The latter test is the best educational test known.

The results of all tests have been tabulated and sent to the University of New Mexico. Miss Cora M. Freeman is studying intensively the results under the supervision of Dr. Haught, visiting professor and test expert from Peabody Teachers' College, Tennessee. Miss Freeman will work the results of her study into her thesis for her master's degree this Spring. She hopes to have this thesis published in booklet form. At least, it will be typed and a copy sent to the school. This study will embody Dr. Haught's recommendations in the light of the survey made.

Ozona was disappointed in not being included in the State survey being made. The survey being studied under expert supervision of Dr. Haught is really more complete than the other.

Fourth, the Old Testament Messiah must come while Daniel's fourth empire held supremacy. This empire was the Roman Empire.

He also must be the ensign for the gathering in of the Gentiles. All the Jews' symbols and sacrifices must be in existence when the Old Testament Messiah comes. These symbols are now dumb, and for 1,800 years no smoke has arisen from a Jewish altar. All of these things were fulfilled in Jesus of Nazareth.

This same Old Testament Messiah based the whole of his "Diet" and "Sonship" upon the one historical fact, namely, His Resurrection.

When Christ did cleanse the temple, the Jews asked Him by what authority He did those things. He said: "Destroy this Temple and in three days I will raise it up."

Later in His ministry Christ was in Galilee, not at Jerusalem. "Then certain of the scribes and Pharisees answered saying, 'Master, we would see a sign from Thee.' Jesus answered them and said, 'No sign be given to you, but the sign of the prophet Jonah: for as Jonah was in the body of the whale three days and threesights, so shall the son of man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth, Matt. 12.'"

Also coming nearer the close of his earthly ministry, Matt. 17, "And while they abode in Galilee, Jesus said unto them, 'The Son of Man shall be delivered up into the hands of men, and they shall kill him, and the third day he shall be raised up,' and they were exceedingly sorry."

Also many other Scripture were cited to show that Christ based His entire ministry on the fact of His Resurrection. When He did die, the Roman executioner made his official report that the prisoner was dead. And when, after spending a few hours in Ozona, continued and after the third day an angel the Roman guard, and some women testified that Christ had risen.

On next Sunday morning we shall continue the discussion of the Resurrection, using as our text Acts 1:3, showing that the two church ordinances, Baptism and the Lord's Supper, are conditioned on His Resurrection. At the night service our text will be John 5:25-29. Here we shall show there are two resurrections.

On Easter Sunday we shall speak on the Nature of the Resurrection: 1 Cor. 15. Following this series we shall preach on the "Second Coming of Christ," and then on the Judgment.

J. E. Anderson, Baptist Pastor.

JUDGE ROBERTSON SPEAKS

Judge Felix D. Robertson, of Dallas, candidate for Governor, spoke before a fair crowd of hearers last Saturday night in the interest of his candidacy. Judge Robertson, who is judge of the court of criminal appeals of Dallas, made an interesting talk, and spoke with enlightenment upon some of the present-day problems of government.

Judge Robertson remained in Ozona overnight Saturday, and attended both Sunday school and church Sunday morning at the Baptist church, at which time he made an interesting talk on spiritual and religious subjects before the adult classes of the Sunday school.

Judge Robertson left for San Antonio Sunday afternoon about three o'clock.

In his speech here Saturday night, Judge Robertson was introduced by Rev. Anderson, pastor of the local Baptist church.

Mrs. McFarland came in Tuesday from Fort Stockton to visit here sister, Mrs. Deano. She came over with Elder and Mrs. McClure, who, after spending a few hours in Ozona, continued on their way to Big Lake.

That which serves all the people should be paid for by all the people. That which is paid for by all the people should be under the control of all the people.

These are self-evident truths. We act by them when we build a Panama Canal, set aside and care for an area of natural beauty as a public park, give land to a transcontinental railroad, establish and run an Army and a Navy, and conduct a Postal System.

The entire nation pays to build and maintain a Navy to protect New York and other seacoast cities. The people of a great many States never see a battleship during their entire lives. There is no valid objection to this, because everyone realizes that the capture or ruin of the seacoast cities would affect the entire nation.

The same principle holds in the construction of a national system of good roads. The whole nation will benefit vastly from good roads—in increased prosperity, better education, and development of natural resources.

The money spent on rivers is all paid by the Federal Government from general taxation, yet this traffic is only a small fraction of the traffic along our improved highways, and its benefits are proportionately small.

To the farmer, a hard road means more than any other Federal activity, even the Postal service. It is a convenience to get his mail promptly, but a good road makes it possible for him to run his farm or dairy at a much higher rate of production and greater profit, gives him and his family more of the comforts and luxuries of life, helps his children to get a better education, and raises his entire standard of living.

Why contend that roads, a public utility for all the people, should be left to different groups of people to develop, when Postal Service, Army and Navy and the projected superpower systems are admitted to be national projects?

One of the fetters retarding road development is lack of appreciation of the modern science of highway building and using.

We know too many things about roads which are not so.

Many of our highway ideas are twenty years behind the times. We haven't caught up with the engineer.

For instance, "all roads wear out. The enormous money invested in them is but a capital loss."

Roads do not wear out. The surface of a good road wears, of course. So does the roof of a house. But replacing the roof doesn't mean that the rest of the house is not good. The surface of a road is its roof. If it wears out it must be replaced. But that doesn't mean that the right-of-way, the grade, foundation, and all the material is any less valuable than at first.

Trucks destroy roads. Therefore, trucks should pay for roads. That too, is a fallacy. A truck

RAILROAD TALKS MADE BY SPLAWN

From 1891 to 1922 inclusive, there were constructed in Texas 7,511 miles of railroad, an average of 235 miles per year. The cost as reported to the commission was $453,000,000, or about $14,000,000 per year. This brought the total railway mileage of the State up to about 16,000 miles. Thusfar we have been tracing the development of railroad mileage in Texas. We have noticed the extent to which State aid was supplied the railroads and the eagerness with which the public encouraged the construction of railways.

At first it was supposed that the railroad business might be conducted as any other; that is to say, it was thought that competition would be sufficient to regulate railroads and assure fair rates and adequate service, just as competition is relied upon in various lines of business activity. During the past forty years the railroads of the country have been definitely brought under the close regulation of State and Federal governments. We can understand this only after an inquiry into the causes of a change in the public attitude toward the carriers. This change amounted to hostility toward the old method of management without regulation. In these articles we will speak of hostility toward the railroads; meaning by that phrase, hostility toward the practices that came to be objectionable and which were attributed to lack of public regulation. The growth in Texas of hostility toward the railroads may not be explained apart from conditions which prevailed in other parts of the United States. It is both southern and western. Before the Civil War the development of Texas was an extension of the Old South. After the Civil War the development has been much that of a western State. Texas has now developed intimate and important commercial relations with both the Middle West and the Atlantic seaboard. The industrial disturbances and upheavals in public opinion which took place in the north and west during the first twenty-five years after the Civil War greatly affected the thinking and conclusions of the people of Texas. Let us now inquire how this came about. While the facts set forth in these articles have been generally known for many years, yet the re-statement of them is justified by the light they shed upon the origin and development of hostility in Texas toward railroad companies.

One source of discontent which prevailed throughout the country as well as in Texas was the fall of prices after the Civil War. Debts had been freely contracted in a depreciated currency. After the War the currency began to increase in value to the embarrassment particularly of those in the West who had borrowed to purchase land or make improvements. Prices fell and debtors found it very difficult to secure means of payment for obligations incurred during the period of inflation. In times of stress every source of expense is closely scrutinized. Very naturally freight rates were looked into by shippers and in turn by the consuming public.

no more destroys a road, when truck and road fit, than a baby carriage destroys a garden path. It is lack of maintenance that destroys roads, it is allowing too light a road to be built for the traffic it will bear, which destroys roads; it is failure to enact wide tire and maximum load laws which destroys roads.

"There isn't money enough to pay for national highways. We will all be bankrupts!" More fallacy. There are fourteen million motor cars in the United States. If they worth on an average of $500 each (which is an underestimate) they represent an investment of $7,000,000,000. Did we get bankrupt buying them? We did not! Why should we get bankrupt buying seven billion dollars worth of good roads—and the interest on seven billion dollars today will build more national highways than we as yet have machinery and engineers to build.

Transportation has been, for us Americans, nothing but rail and water for all our history. Now we are compelled to translate the word into "highways" and "motors." Motors we understand—highways, as yet, we only partially understand, and "motor transport" as a whole, is yet a sealed book to the most of us.

The first step in opening it is to get rid of fallacious thinking. To realize that what we used to be, is no more true today, and that what is proper road width and cost today, will fit conditions fifty, a hundred years hence.

WORLD TRAVELER IN OZONA ANOTHER GOOD RAIN HERE

A. L. Villmont, globe trotter and millionaire bootblack, was in Ozona last week, stopping at the will be remembered by Ozona citizens as the man who passed through here about two years ago with a wheelbarrow chained to him, the result of a bet which he made with a prominent man of Washington City that he could make a trip around the world with no other resources than a shine box and the necessary accessories. It was stipulated in the bet that the first five thousand miles of the trip around the world must be made with the wheelbarrow, which was locked to him in such a way that he could not get loose from it, even to sleep. Mr. Villmont, while here, had several large books, in which were signatures of citizens of the towns and cities that he passed through on his world-circling trip. The writer saw names of many prominent people, such as President Cayas of Cuba, ex-President Harding and his father, Governor Neff, Uncle Joe Cannon, and many others. The books were interesting, not alone because of the names listed therein, but as a study in the many different styles of handwriting in use in the United States and other civilized countries.

Dallas Man Buys Peeco Ranch

M. B. Terrill of Dallas, who has been making a tour of Texas and New Mexico in the interest of the Masonic service and educational program of these two grand jurisdictions, has announced that he had leased the Herbert Noelker ranch near Sheffield in the Peeco Valley, and would engage in the sheep-raising business. The first purchase made by Mr. Terrill was 2,600 head of Rambouillet sheep. He will add to this flock from time to time. Mr. Terrill expects to continue to make his home in Dallas, but will build a modern ranch house on the property he has leased, which will be known as the "T. J." Ranch. He has associated with him in the new venture G. T. Jesup of Sheffield, a former student of Mr. Terrill's school at Denton and now a prosperous West Texas ranchman.

Ozona and Crockett county this week experienced another season of rainy weather, when a thunderstorm last Tuesday visited here, followed by more rain Wednesday. This rain, although spotted, was rather extensive, and being accompanied by warm weather, will be a great factor in bringing out abundance of grass over this section for spring feeding. This is the first rain that has fallen in this section for some little time, and has been welcomed, although the range has not as yet suffered to any great extent because of lack of moisture. Fine prospects are now had for a real prosperous season for the stockmen of this section.

A few issues past, The Stockman made an announcement to the effect that Elder W. D. Black, minister of the Church of Christ here, had resolved to center his evangelistic field, with headquarters at Abilene, and had accordingly resigned as pastor of the church at Ozona. Since the announcement was made, however, Elder Black has reconsidered the question, and now lets it be known that he will remain for another year as minister to the Church of Christ here. Elder Black will, however, spend the summer in and around Abilene doing evangelistic work for his church.

Pies of Goose Liver
Make a Town Famous

The little French town of Strasbourg has been made world-famous through its manufacture of goose-liver pies, or "pate de foie gras." This delicacy is said to have been invented in the latter part of the Eighteenth century by a famous chef, Clause, employed by the Marchese de Contades, one time governor of Alsace. There are about twenty-five manufacturers in Strasbourg. The geese are supplied by the farmers. Some families have been engaged in raising geese for generations. It is necessary that the liver of a goose reach its maximum size before being used for pies, and in the autumn the farmers select the larger birds, place them in individual boxes and feed them on paste of corn, cooked and salted. They are given no exercise unless a case of overfeeding is noted, then they are released and allowed to run about for a day or two. An ordinary liver weighs about 1 1/2 pounds and the farmer receives approximately $1.35 a pound. The nerves and veins are extracted from the liver and it is spiced, placed in cans or jars with truffles and baked.
