This Week

HORSES WILL GO.
BASE RUTH AND MILTON.
FAT GIRLS NOT WANTED.
A KILLER AT ELEVEN.

William Duinard, president of a great riding school, retiring, says the automobile will never replace the saddle horse. Nevertheless, the saddle horse will vanish, and be only a memory to children of today's children.

When the musket came in, men thought it couldn't take the place of bow and arrow. And, of course, it couldn't replace the hawk that rode out on its owner's wrist and flew up to bring down the game bird.

The horse will linger on farms for a while and then disappear, as farming becomes really scientific. The work that requires three hundred days of the farmer's time now, will be done in about forty days or less. And the "horse" will be a machine, run by gas, electricity or wireless power.

Many good investments in this world for those that hang on. When Edward Fitzgerald published his translation of the Rubaiyat, that first edition sold for one penny in England. Last week J. F. Drake paid $3,200 for a copy.

When John Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" was first published, wise book people said, "Only servants will buy a book of that kind." One of the copies, originally sold for 1/6 pence, is worth thousands of dollars now.

Of 118,000,000 Americans, only 3,000,000 own stocks or bonds. This small number of stockholders, estimated by the American Bankers' Association, is encouraging to brokers and those that have good stocks and bonds for sale.

Wages are high, money is piling up in the savings banks, millions that own no stocks COULD own them, if proper inducements as to return and safety were offered.

If you like miracles, consider this. Peter Kraus, sailor on a freight ship in mid-ocean, drove particles of iron into his right eye while using a drill, and suffered agonies. Far away, Dr. Francis, ship's surgeon, picked up by radio, details of the sailor's trouble. He sent wireless directions, ordering them to stop using cocaine, telling them how to make a magnet. The magnet extracted the iron particles instantly, pain stopped, the man went back to work.

Mr. Burgess, bachelor member of a very "old family" in Ohio, leaves money to build a home for girls between the ages of sixteen and twenty-eight, of small stature, bright, ambitious and good to look at. Fat girls are not to be admitted.

That will was made by a foolish bachelor. Young girls ought to be reasonably fat, with tissue and energy stored up for their duty as mothers. Girls of the skeleton type have barely energy enough for themselves, to say nothing of a family.

What counts is not how you start, but how you finish. Year ago, a boy named Bamburger took a job at $4 a week to run errands, glad to get the job, glad to run. It was a start. Now, to his $22,000,000, dry goods plant in Newark he adds on a $10,000,000 addition. And men from bigger cities go to Newark to study his ways of running a business.

The thoughtless may point out that Babe Ruth gets, in one year, for hitting that ball about a thousand times as much as Milton got for writing "Paradise Lost." That is no argument. For one American that wants to read "Paradise Lost" at least a million want to see Babe Ruth play baseball.

An eleven-year-old boy, Michael Ponkrashow, ran away from home after a beating, killed a shopkeeper in an attempted holdup, and is wondering what will be done with him. It is said that he cannot be treated as a youthful delinquent, because he refuses to say that he is sorry he committed the murder. A childish reason, for lack of repentance is only one more proof of youthful delinquency.

In any case, the boy will not be executed, even if put on trial for murder.

SCOUTS WILL HAVE PUBLIC INSTALLATION

Charters And Badges To Be Presented Fri. March 25

FLY KITES FRIDAY

March Winds Failed At Attempt Saturday and Tourney Put Off

The Community Committee of the local Boy Scout organization met for their monthly luncheon at the Hotel Ozona last Thursday noon for a well attended and very interesting meeting. Rev. Fulmer formerly regional executive of the Uvalde and now the pastor of the local Baptist Church, made a talk regarding the work here. Rev. Fulmer has been made Deputy Commissioner of Scouts for Ozona having oversight of the local work under the community committee.

The Committee arranged for a public installation meeting to be held at the Methodist Church at 8 o'clock Friday March 25. At this time it is hoped to have Bryce Draper, the regional executive, present. An attractive demonstration of the local troops of Scouting will be given and will be presented. At that time also the badges of the tenderfoot scout will be conferred upon all scouts having passed their tests.

Arrangements were made for a kite tournament to be held at the Rodeo grounds last Saturday. Arthur Hoover and Monroe Baggett were named a committee for this work. Mrs. Lyles and Rev. Stanley Haver were appointed a committee to wait upon the merchants for prizes for this event. The following merchants were visited and prizes secured as follows:

Joe Oberkamp, a baseball bat for highest flying kite.

Ozona Mercantile, a boy's belt for most kites on one string.

Smith Drug Store, an Eversharp pencil for most beautiful kite.

Ozona Hardware Co., a fielder's glove, for the oddest kite.

Flowers Grocery, a cake for the smallest kite to fly.

Chris Meinecke, a Scout ax for the largest kite.

Keen Kutter People, a pair of shears.

The wind not being sufficient for flying kites, the tournament was put off until next Friday. A monster kite measuring over forty feet from tip to tip was brought upon the field but was not hoisted as the wind was deemed too slight. It was lashed to the seats of the grandstand and will be flown Friday afternoon. The measurements of this kite are as follows: from top to bottom, forty-two feet; side to side, twenty feet; square feet of paper, 800 weight, about one hundred lbs. Material in construction, 200 ft. flooring, five pounds wire, two gallons paste. Rope for flying furnished by West Texas Lumber Co., 150 feet of rope and fifteen out sacks. Cost of making, $10. Made by T. K. Kirkpatrick with help of Boy Scouts. This is biggest kite in the world so far as known, and everyone is invited to come out Friday to see it fly.

RUSTY SMITH REPRESENTS BARNHART WHOLESALE CO

Rusty Smith, for several years a mechanic with the Dudley Motor Company, has accepted a position as Crockett County salesman for the Barnhart Wholesale Company, owned by the L. B. Cox interests. Smith is sales representative of the concern throughout Crockett County, handling for the most part feedstuffs, gasoline, flour, etc.

It was rumored this week that the company planned to establish a branch feed house here, but confirmation of the report could not be obtained.

Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Graham are attending the Convention of the Cattle Raisers Association in El Paso this week.

Chautauqua To Be Here May 18

Women's Club Sponsors Cadmean Circuit Program

The Cadmean Chautauqua will appear in Ozona for a four-days program of entertainment beginning May 18 it was announced this week by Mrs. Joe Pierce, president of the Ozona Women's Club. The appearance of the Chautauqua this year is sponsored by the women's club and is backed up by a guarantee from the business men of the town.

The Cadmean Chautauqua is one of the best organizations on the road and an exceptionally interesting program is promised for this year's appearance in Ozona. An entirely different program from those given here in the past by this organization has been arranged, it was announced.

Just where the Chautauqua programs will be rendered has not been definitely determined, Mrs. Pierce said. It is planned, however, to secure the theater building for the four days performances if possible.

Musical Treat For C C Members

Special Program Planned For Meet Next Monday Night

A surprise is in store for members of the Ozona Chamber of Commerce who attend the regular meeting of that organization at the Hotel Ozona next Monday night. It was announced this week by officials.

The surprise will be in the nature of a snappy musical program by one of Ozona's newest musical organizations. The second meeting of the Chamber membership enjoyed a splendid musical program given by Mrs. John Henderson, Jr., and Mrs. Jim Moore but since that time the meetings have been without music. Something different is promised next week, however.

In order that hotel authorities might have advance notice of how many plates to prepare at the regular "dutch" supper of the Chamber, members are requested to notify the hotel or the secretary by as early Monday morning as possible if they intend to be present.

Local Musicians To Give Operetta For School Piano Fund

"Hearts and Blossoms," a charming operetta, will be given by a group of local musicians under the direction of Mrs. Homer Adams, at the Ozona Theater Friday evening, March 18. Proceeds from the play will go toward a fund for the purchase of a piano for the primary department of the local schools. The play begins at 7:30.

The operetta unfolds an interesting story of romance, adventure and mystery with its setting at an American summer hotel and modern costumes. The cast includes the following:

Mrs. Horace Manning, who believes in dreams—Miss Lula Mae Evans.

Jane, her daughter, young pretty and romantic—Miss Floy Friend.

Marie, her younger sister, just as pretty and even more romantic—Miss Louise Coates.

Mr. Matthew Brandon, the absent minded man—Kelly King.

Phillip Brandon, his nephew—W. E. Friend.

Jerry Higgins, poor but promising—Richard Flowers.

Malindy, a young lady of color—Miss Marie Doty.

Samson Bonapart, an ebony-hued bell-boy—Frank Russell.

Chorus: Carcie Stricklen, Ethel Childress, Margaret Childress, Mattie D. Word, Robert Augustine, Bob Weaver, Edward Grimmer, and Clayton McCollum.

Believe It or Not—Teaches Sunday School

Francis Midden, of Zeigfeld's new chorus, dances during the week but every Sunday noon teaches a boys' Sunday School class in New York. She admits her favorite friend is a young minister.

Work Started On Golf Links

Rain Holds Up Work Of Finally Laying Out Course

Rains held up enough this week to allow work toward laying out the new Ozona Golf Course on the T. A. Kincaid land east of town to be started and a corps of workers under Early and Monroe Baggett will get to work Monday laying out the greens, clearing fairways, etc. it was announced by Scott Peters.

The course was laid out two weeks ago by Fred Hendry, San Angelo Country Club professional, but it has been impossible to continue the work of getting the course in readiness for play on account of continuous rains. The Messrs Baggett accompanied the pro in laying out the course and will have charge of completing the actual work. No definite time has been set for completing the work, but it will be rushed so that the course will be in readiness for play as soon as possible it was declared.

Land for the golf course was donated by T. A. Kincaid when the San Angelo professional announced that he was unable to lay out nine holes on a tract of land offered by S E Couch west of town. The tract finally selected is well located, and when completed, the course will be one of the prettiest in this section.

Ozona May Get Modern Laundry

Sonora Man Inquires About Prospect For Business Here

A modern laundry plant may be the next forward step in the history of Ozona if a proposition now brewing is realized.

An inquiry was received this week by the Ozona Chamber of Commerce from a man at Sonora relative to the establishment of a laundry here, the letter requesting information about the town and possibilities of the success of such a plant.

The need for such a plant here and the possibilities for its success have been pointed-out to the operator and he is expected to make further investigation in the near future.

No Clues Found In School Theft

Finger-Print Expert To Make Further Investigations

A finger print expert from San Angelo, brought here by Supt. C. C. Minatra of the Ozona Schools in an effort to trace the identity of the person or persons who broke into the school building recently and pilfered $70 in cash belonging to the Junior class, failed to unearth a clew in one day's investigation into the case but will return in the next few days to take up the search again, it was announced this week by Mr. Minatra.

Suspicion that had rested on several persons as a result of a combination of circumstances was withdrawn as a result of the cursory investigation made by the finger-print expert, Mr. Minatra said. Upon his return the investigator will take finger prints of everybody in the school in order to establish whether or not the thief is connected with the schools.

Finger prints on the broken glass and on an adjoining window pane, apparently where the intruder rested a hand while shoving in the glass, were preserved by the expert. Prints were also found on a check that had been left in the desk drawer from which the cash was taken. All of these finger prints are the same and authorities are convinced that they are those of the person guilty of taking the money.

The stolen money was the proceeds from a play given by the Junior class to raise funds for the annual Junior-Senior banquet.

"We are going to exhaust every means in an effort to run down the guilty parties," Mr. Minatra said. A thorough investigation is to be made in the schools and if we fail to find a clue there we will direct the search elsewhere."

Baptists Pledge To Conquest Fund

$1584.00 In Cash And Pledges Given By Ozona Church Sun.

Following a gripping message outlining Baptist progress in Texas and the part played in that progress by Baptist institutions, the Ozona Baptist Church made perhaps the greatest offering for missionary causes in her history Sunday. Six hundred forty-nine dollars in cash and nine hundred thirty-five dollars in pledges making a total of $1584 was reported up to Monday with a number yet to come in. It is believed that the total will go beyond $1700.

Rev. S. M. York, pastor of the Baptist Church at Eagle Pass, brought the message which was woven around the gift of Jesse Mercer of Georgia to Texas missions in 1843. "It is a thrilling romance how the Lord blessed this investment and how it has paid dividend a thousand-fold," Rev. Fulmer said. "Through this investment can be seen Baylor University, the first institution of higher learning in Texas, which in the eyes of critics has done more for the cause of Christ in Texas than all other institutions combined. Not only in Texas but through missionaries who have gone out from her walls the blessing has gone to the uttermost parts of the earth. Baylor was chartered under the Republic of Texas in 1845.

"The Conquest Campaign is a campaign to liquidate the indebtedness of six million dollars which hangs over Texas Baptist institutions and boards. Two million dollars is the goal for 1927. The Ozona church is greatly blessed in the offering and pastor and people alike rejoice. May God richly add his blessings to the investment."

Mrs. Frank Friend and daughter, Miss Floy Friend, went to San Angelo Wednesday to attend a Woman's Club luncheon.

THE OZONA STOCKMAN

Published Every Thursday Morning at Ozona, Texas, County Seat of Crockett County by

W. EVART WHITE EDITOR and PUBLISHER
Entered at the Post Office at Ozona, Texas, as Second Class Mail Matter under Act of Congress, March 3rd, 1879.

Ozona, Texas, Thursday, March 17, 1927.

Fishing poles are beginning to dot the horizon. Soon the boys around Dudley's will be springing the new one about the "big fellow" that got away.

The Chamber of Commerce at its last meeting struck the keynote of the next big job before Crockett County people—road building. The world has reached the point now where communities can no longer live to themselves. The world is on the move. Although we've never seen the statistics, it seems a pretty good guess that the entire population of America shifts at least once a year.

Good roads, then, are as essential now as bacon and lard were in the old days. People who travel nowadays do not start out on an exploration tour—they hold to the beaten trail—the paved road. There is some good in a tourist crop, all the panning the present day tourist gets notwithstanding. And the communities that benefit from tourist travel are those that provide good roads.

But Crockett County's main objective in a movement for good roads is not so much to attract tourist travel as to provide for her own people. If there ever was an instance where a good road was absolutely essential it is between Ozona and Barnhart. That road is the main artery of Crockett County, the great aorta, as it were, that is indispensable to the welfare of this community. When that road is impassable, as it often is, Ozona is practically cut off from the source of her supplies. Mail often is delayed for hours and even days, and the necessities of life that must be transported over that road are often interrupted for a time.

Even if not another road is built in Crockett County for years, the Barnhart-Ozona road should be surfaced just as soon as it is at all possible. No doubt a committee will be named soon to go into the matter of road building in Crockett County to determine how much bonds will be necessary to take care of the job. Another will follow with a petition asking for an election. And then it will be up to the people of Crockett County.

We sincerely hope the ad in the San Antonio Express WILL do $500 worth of good for Ozona.

The Ozona Chamber of Commerce is making a valiant effort toward the development of Ozona and Crockett County. In order that it may be successful in this undertaking the organization must have 100 percent support from the community. Men who are members of the Chamber of Commerce and who are making an effort toward community building are busy men. They can not spare more than a part of their time for the work of the Chamber.

With this situation existing, it takes a greater number to accomplish things than if a few were able to devote considerable time. But where the entire community works together, it is an easy matter to get things done and nobody be hurt.

The Chamber of Commerce is an organization whose aim is the development of Ozona and Crockett County. That development will be for the benefit of every person in the county. Some folks have the idea that they owe nothing to the community in which they live. No man lives in a community who does not owe it something, and if a sense of obligation is not present, that of personal pride in his own home town at least should serve as a spur to some consideration. And that applies not only in the case of Chamber of Commerce membership but in every other transaction where the welfare of this community is at stake.

THE OBSERVER

Meets Community Spirit
Sometime past the Observer related his adventure in meeting the Ozona Community Spirit who told him her tale of woe, about the failure of our fair city to keep her sustained and employed. And knowing that we would be glad to hear how she fares now the Observer is glad to report another meeting with this mysterious character with whom we are all related.

It was far up in a draw among the hills. The Observer had become lost and was seeking the way home in the dusk of eventide. And there in that secluded spot far from town, he again came face to face with this mysterious friend. And we asked her how it went with her. There were dark rings about her eyes, she seemed tired and short of breath, and instead of stading, she rested upon a rock. "Well," she said, "to tell you the truth, I am just about worn out. I remember that only a short time ago I told you that I was on the verge of passing into limbo because of the lack of life for me in Ozona. But since that time I have been living at a fearful rate."

"Why, what was the matter?" I said. "Have they not had activities of a public nature in Ozona, and are not these what sustained you, Community Spirit?"

"Activities? Yes, we have had activities, that's the trouble with me. I've been run to death. You know I only have the constitution fitted for a small town, and I can't travel as fast as some. I've been literally run to death. You know I try to keep up with everything that goes on. My program has been both varied and exhausting, and man, I just can't stand the pace I've had to keep. There's something every night, and on many of the days. It used to be the Churches; they used to keep me the most active, you know with their suppers, their women's meetings and social life, and their occasional controversies. But they take up just a small part of my time now. I've been to luncheons, dinners, dances, women's club meetings, forty-two parties, Chambers of Commerce, Scout meetings, Parent Teachers meetings, and the movies until I could scarcely stand on my feet."

"Well, Community Spirit," I said "you, at least have no need to feel lonely. They remember you."

"I don't know," she said, "I wish you would remind them of what I told you before, that I can only prosper upon that which is given unselfishly and for the common good. We have only a small town and you know I am in danger that they will wear me out unless they slow down just a little. I get worried about the boys and girls, such a pace is hard on them and unless the parents co-operate with me I fear I shall not survive."

And the Observer begged Community Spirit not to stay up there in the hills and she said she only wanted to rest awhile and would come back again.

How Doctors Treat Colds and the Flu

To break up a cold overnight is to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza, sore throat or tonsillitis. Physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the purified refined calomel compound tablet that gives you the effects of calomel salts combined, without the unpleasant effects of either.
One or two Calotabs at bed-time with a swallow of water,—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning your cold has vanished, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please,—no danger.

That ——— WELL GROOMED APPEARANCE
Do you envy that neat, clean, natty appearance that some men manage to keep all the time?
It's the clothes, men! You can't look your best when your trousers bag at the knees or your suit is shabby and wrinkled. Let us clean and press your clothes regularly. It will pay you.
Hurst Meinecke Shop

The reward of Curiosity frequently is a surprise. Which proves perhaps that our inquiries are not always conducted at the right end.
Lawn hose especially is too often misunderstood. People buy a hose because it is heavy or because it is cheap or because it is yellow or green.
Why wouldn't it be better to trust a well known manufacturer and a reputable dealer to make and sell you the hose that is best for your purpose and that will be cheapest in the end?
Goodyear Lawn Hose has the reputation that will win your confidence and we are glad to recommend it to you.

Mike Couch, south side grocer, is making extensive improvements and additions to his grocery and bakery establishment in order to take care of his growing business.

A concrete floor and foundation extending back 50 feet and as wide as the present building has almost been completed and preparations are being made to extend the building back that distance.

Thirty feet of the additional space will house the bakery department and 20 feet will be added on the present grocery store. Considerable new baking machinery has been ordered to be placed in the new building and Mr. Couch is contemplating adding an ice cream making plant in connection with his other business.

Mr. Couch has just recently completed a new warehouse adjoining his other store for the purpose of storing feedstuffs, hay, etc. The warehouse was filled this week with a carload of feed.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION THE STATE OF TEXAS TO THE SHERIFF OR ANY

CONSTABLE OF CROCKETT COUNTY--GREETING:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED To summon Harl Stirman by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 83rd Judicial District; to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Crockett County, Texas, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Ozona on the 4th Monday in April A. D. 1927; the same being the 25th day of April A. D. 1927, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 10th day of December A. D. 1926, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court, No. 409, wherein Will P. Edwards is Plaintiff and Harl Stirman, The Wool Growers Central Storage Company, a corporation, and H. B. Cox are Defendants and the cause of action being alleged as follows:

Plaintiff sues Harl Stirman to recover the full sum of $7,116.74 with ten per cent interest per annum thereon from April 1, 1926, and ten per cent on said debt as attorneys fees; said note dated October 3, 1925, and due and payable to plaintiff at Big Spring, Texas, April 1, 1926. Also to foreclose certain Chattel Mortgage liens given by Harl Stirman to Clayton Stewart dated June 25, 1923, and to the West Texas Loan Company, Chattel Mortgage lien dated December 20, 1923; a Chattel Mortgage lien given by Harl Stirman to the West Texas Loan Company dated June 16, 1924; a Chattel Mortgage lien given by Harl Stirman to plaintiff Will P. Edwards dated November 13, 1924 and to Chattel Mortgage given by said Harl Stirman to plaintiff March 24, 1925, and to Chattel Mortgage lien given by said Harl Stirman to plaintiff October 22, 1925-- to secure the note herein sued on. Each and all of said mortgages were given by Harl Stirman on sheep, their increase, accretions and additions purchased by him from Clayton Stewart on or about June 25, 1923. Plaintiff sets up each and all of said mortgages and alleges that each subsequent mortgage is a renewal of the other and the notes subsequent to three notes given by Harl Stirman to Clayton Stewart in the purchase of said notes, and in renewal of the same the last note herein sued on, being the remaining part or portion of said indebtedness unpaid. The plaintiff prays the foreclosure of said mortgage liens against each and all of the defendants above named on 1500 ewes, 325 ewe lambs, now grown sheep, including about 1200 lambs, the offspring of said flock of sheep born in the Spring of 1926, which plaintiff alleges to be of the total value of $20,600.00. That the defendants have conspired together--the said Harl Stirman making a pretended sale of said sheep to The Wool Growers Central Storage Company, and it having made a pretended sale thereof to H. B. Cox for the purpose of defrauding and defeating plaintiff in the collection of his debt and foreclosure of his mortgage lien on said sheep. Plaintiff prays judgment against Harl Stir-man for his debt, against all defendants foreclosing his mortgage liens on said sheep, and that they be sold to pay said debt. In the second Count in said Amended pleading, the plaintiff alleges that Harl Stirman, The Wool Growers Central Storage Company and H. B. Cox have converted said sheep to their own use and benefit, and plaintiff prays for judgment against each and all of said parties, jointly and severally, for the amount of his debt, interest, attorney fees and costs of suit, and that execution issue to enforce payment of the same. A fuller description of said cause of action is shown by said Amended Petition now on file in this office.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, But have you before said Court, on said day of the next term thereof, this Writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

WITNESS MY HAND AND OFFICIAL SEAL At my office in Ozona Texas, this 13th day of December A. D. 1926.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

It is 1868 and the Pacific Railroad has reached its newest "farthest west"—Benton, Wyoming, a town described as "roaring", as was Frank Beeson, a young man from Albany, New York, comes here because he is in search of health and Benton is considered "high and dry".

Edna Montoya, a fellow passenger on the train from Omaha, impresses Beeson with the beauty of her blue eyes and the style of her apparel. Equally she astonished him by taking a smile of brandy before breakfast. A brakeman tells Beeson she has followed her man to Benton.

Jim a typical western ruffian, whom she knows apparently well insults her and is floored by Frank whose prowess impresses the passengers.

Col. Lunderson and Bill Brady volunteer to entertain young Beeson.

Frank avoids being caught by any of the numerous gambling games, but is robbed of all his money.

At the "Big Tent" Beeson again meets the Lady with the Blue Eyes. At "Monte" someone turns up the corner of the winning Queen of Hearts and Beeson, his whole $22 bet on it, turns the card which instead of being the Queen is the Eight of Clubs.

George Jenks, a teamster in a wagon train about to leave for Salt Lake City.

Westward Ho!

My new boots were burning, my thigh was chafed raw from the swaying Colt, and my face and throat were parched with the dust, when I arrived at the encampment of Jenks' train.

Some dozen white topped wagons were standing grouped in a circle and figures were busily moving among them, and the thin blue smoke of their fires was a welcoming signal.

I marked women and children. The whole prospect—they, the breakfast smoke, the grazing animals, the stout vehicles, a line of washed clothing was homey. Jenks himself came out to meet me.

"Hoory! Here you are," he said. "You fetched all your outfit?"

"What you see," I confessed. "They stripped me clean."

"Wall, all you need is a blanket. You can pay for it out of your wages or turn it in at the end of the trip."

He conducted me on, along the groups and fires and bedding outside the wagon circle, and halted where a heavy man, of face smooth shaven, except chin, sat upon a wagon tongue, whittling a stick.

"Shake hands with Cap'n Hyram Adams, Frank. He's the boss of the train."

Captain Adams offered a thick hand which proved singularly soft and flatulent under the callouses.

"Glad to meet you stranger," he acknowledged. "Breakfasted?"

"Not yet sir, I was anxious to reach the train."

"Nobody goes hungry from the Adams wagon stranger," Captain Adams observed. He slightly raised his voice, peremptory. "Rachel! Fetch our guest some breakfast."

There were two women in view, busied with domestic cares. One was elderly, as far as might be judged by her somewhat slatternly figure.

The other promptly ladled food from a kettle to a platter, poured a tin cupful of coffee from the pot and bore them to me; her eyes down, shyly handed them.

I thanked her but was not presented. To the Captain's "That will do, Rachel," she turned dutifully away; not so soon, however, but that I had seen a fresh young face within the bonnet confines—a round rosy face according well with the buxom curves of her as she again bent over her washboard.

"Our fare is that of the tents of Abraham, stranger," spoke the captain. "Such as it is, you are welcome to. We are plain people who walk in the way of the Lord, that is commanded."

"I ask nothing better, sir," I answered.

The pork and beans and the black unsweetened coffee evidently were what I needed, for I began to mend wonderfully ere I was half through the course.

"You are from the East, stranger?" he inquired.

"Yes, sir, I arrived in Benton only yesterday."

"A Sodom," he growled harshly. "A tented sepulcher. And it will perish. I tell you, you do well to leave it, you do well to yoke yourself with the appointed of this earth, rather than stay in that sin-pit of the eternally damned."

"I agree with you, sir," said I. "I did not find Benton to be a pleasant place. But I had not known, when I started from Omaha."

"Possibly not," Adams assented. "The devil is attentive; he is present in the stations, and he will ride in those gilded palaces even to the Jordan, but he shall not cross. In the name of the Lord we shall face him. What good there shall come shall abide; but the evil shall wither. Not," he added, "that we stand against the railroad. It is needed, and we have petitioned without being heard. We are strong but isolated, we have goods to sell, and the word of Brigham Young has gone forth that a railroad we must have. Against the harpies, the gamblers and all the Gentile vanities we will stand upon our own feet by the help of Almighty God."

At this juncture, a tall double-jointed youth of about my age, carrying an ox goad in his hand, strolled to us as if attracted by the harrangue.

"My son, Daniel," the captain introduced. "This stranger travels to Zion with us."

The youth had the grip of a vise, and seemed to enjoy emphasizing it while cunningly watching my face.

"Howdy," he drawled.

I left soon to join Jenks' wagon and as I passed Rachel, she glanced quickly up. I caught her eyes with a blush. She was indeed wholesome if not absolutely pretty.

"Wall, those Mormons are good providers," Jenks commented. "They'll share with you whatever they have, for no pay, but if you rub 'em the wrong way or go to dickerin' with 'em they're closer'n the hide on a cold mule. You didn't make sheep's eyes at any of the women?"

"However I could not help but see that the Captain's daughter is pleasing to look upon."

"How? His daughter?"

"Miss Rachel."

"Whoa man! She's his wife, and not for gentiles. They're both his wives; whether he has more in Utah I don't know. But you'd best let her alone. She's been jined to him."

This took me all aback. He was twice her age, apparently.

"And Daniel, his son—is he married?"

"That whelp? No, he ain't married, yet. But he will be, soon as he takes his pick 'cordin' to law and gospel among them people. You bet you; he'll be married plenty."

Later in the day as I sat resting upon a convenient wagon-tongue Daniel hulked up to me.

"You know me?" he asked.

"Your name is Daniel, isn't it?"

"No tain't. It's Bonnie Bravo on the trail."

"All right, sir," said I "Which ever you prefer."

"I 'laow you aim to go through with this train to Salt Lake, do you?"

"That's the engagement I've made with Mr. Jenks."

"It's four hundred mile, an' twenty mile at a stretch, without water. Most the water's pizen, too here to the mountings."

"I'll have to drink what the rest drink, I suppose."

"I 'laow the Injuns are like to get us. They're powerful bad in that thar desert. Ain't afeared o' Injuns, be yu?"

"I'll have to take my chances on that, too."

"We don't think much o' Gentiles, youder. We don't want 'em, nohaow. The'd all better git aout. The Saints settled that country an'

Floor Varnish that wears

THERE are only two reasons for varnishing a floor—to protect the surface of the wood—to add beauty to the floor.

Therefore a floor varnish must have those qualities which will withstand the most severe abuse without marring and still retain its elasticity and toughness to act as a protector.

Pee Gee Floor Varnish has proved its worth in thousands of homes—there is no better varnish made.

That's the kind of characters that C. M. Payne has created in his famous 'SMATTER POP' comic strip. The adventures of POP, WILYUM, OLDTIMER and DESPERATE AMBROSE are followed by millions of newspaper readers all over the country. It is a feature in most of the largest dailies of the country.

There isn't a housewife in Ozona who can bake as good or better cake for less money than she can obtain here—so why go to all the fuss and trouble? Our oven specialties are in demand more and more every day—as a visit to our bakery will show.

In fact, the demand, both on our bakery department and in our grocery store has become so great that we must have more room to take care of the growing business. We are now having a concrete floor laid for a 50-foot addition to our store, 30 feet for a new bakery department and 20 feet addition to our grocery store. We will install new baking and ice cream making machinery at an early date and will be equipped to give the people of Crockett County even better service than we have given heretofore.

 "If you're a sample you're welcome to live there," I retorted. "I think I'd prefer some place else."
 "Haow?" he bleated. "Thar ain't no place as good. All the rest of the world has sold itself to the devil."

We remained in silence for a moment while he waited, provocative. "Say, mister," he blurted suddenly. "kin yu shoot?"
 "I presume I could if I had to. Why?"

"Becuz I'm the dangest best shot with a Colt's in this hyar train. Any time yu want to try a little poppin, yu let me know." And with this, he left me, with the uneasy impression that he and I were due to measure strength in one way or another.

About three o'clock with whips cracking, the Captain Adams wagon in the lead (two pink sunbonnets upon the seat), the valorous Daniel's next, we toiled creaking and swaying up the Benton road, amidst the eddies of hot, scalding dust.

 It was a mixed train, of Gentle mules and the more numerous Mormon oxen; therefore not strictly a "bull train", but by pace designated as such.

Trudging manfully at the left fore wheel behind Mr. Jenks' four span of mules I played the teamster—although sooth to say there was little of play in the job, on that road, at that time of day.

At sundown, having eaten our suppers, we were sitting by our fires, smoking and talking, when, as a construction train of box cars clanked by on the railroad I chanced to note a figure spring out asprawl, alight with a whiffle of sand, and staggering up hasten for us.

First it accosted the hulk Daniel. I saw him lean from his saddle; then he rode in, bawling like a calf:

"Paw! Paw! Hey you all! Thar's a woman yonder in britches an' she 'laows to come on. She's lookin' for Mr. Jenks."

In a storm of rude railery—"That's a boss on you, George!" "Didn't know you owned one of them critters, George." "Does she wear the britches, George," and so forth—my friend Jenks arose peering, while the solitary figure, braving our stares, came on to the fires.

"Gawd almighty!" Mr. Jenks delivered.
 It was My Lady—formerly My Lady—clad in embroidered short Spanish jacket, tightish velvet pantaloon, booted to the knees, pulled down upon her yellow hair a black soft hat, and hanging from the just revealed belt around her slender waist, a revolver trifle.

She paused, small and alone, viewing us, her eyes very blue, her face very white.

"Is Mr. Jenks there?" she hailed clearly.

"Damn' if I ain't," he mumbled, glowering at me.

"I wish to engage passage to Salt Lake," she said.

"We haven't no place for a woman, ma'am," Jenks demurred.

"There are other women in the train," Edna insisted.

"Where's Pedro? Where's Montoyo?" asked Jenks.

Her eyes blazed.

"He? That snake? I shot him!"

"What! You Killed him?" Exclamations broke from the bystanders.

"No, I didn't have to! But when he tried to abuse me, I defended myself. Wasn't that right, gentlemen?"

"Right or wrong, he'll be after you, wont he?"
 The question held a note of alarm.

"I am only an employee, here, madam," I faltered. "If I had an outfit of my own I certainly would help you."

She flushed painfully; she did not glance at me direct again but her unspoken thanks enfolded me.

The large form of Captain Adams came striding.

"What's this?" he demanded harshly. "An ungodly woman?"

Get you gone, Delilah!"

"I am going, sir, she replied. "I ask nothing from you or these gentlemen."

"Them's the two she's after, paw; Jenks and that greenie," Daniel bawled. "Ain't she purty, tho! She's dressed in britches."

"Get you gone," Captain Adams thundered. "And these your paramours with you. No brazen hussy in men's garments shall travel with this train to Zion—no, not a mile of the way."

Dr. Frank Crane Says

The trouble is: We don't have time. We don't have time to get acquainted with those who live around us and we don't have time to get acquainted with ourselves. Just keeping the machinery of life going takes all our time. The two sides of our lives are the material and the spiritual. We can cave in on the spiritual side easier than we can on the material side. We are propped upon that side with pointed props. We have to eat, and we have to pay for what we eat. The earnest creditor and the importunate landlord dog our steps. Life is real and life is earnest around the first of each month. If we shirk our responsibilities on that side of life we come up against hard actuality with a bang. Materialism is not a theory; it is an actuality. The consequences of shirking on the other side of life—the spiritual—are not so soon apparent.

but they are equally disastrous. Those who do become shallow and cold. "And he whose soul is flat—the sky Will cave in on him by and by." The thing we need most is time—time to discover ourselves; time to think our own thoughts; time to stop before we have to decide; time to put ourselves in the other person's shoes before we make our condemnation; time to romp with the fairies of childhood in the turmoil of maturity. Time is what we need most of all. And more than any of these we need to visit our own souls, our City of Refuge in times of trouble. Says Matthew Arnold: "In its lonely moonlight, lives the soul. Mountains surround it, and sweet virgin air, Cold splashing past it, crystal waters roll; We visit it by moments, ah, too rare!"

Troops 1 Pours It On
No. 2 In Ball Game

Tuesday afternoon at the Fair Grounds diamond Troop No. 1 of the Boy Scouts of America went through Troop 2 to the tune of 19 to 12. A fair crowd witnessed the game. From the outset Troop 1 had the edge and were never seriously threatened, though Troop 2 put up a good fight. The game was characterized by numerous errors on both sides. Both pitchers were hit freely. Augustine for Troop 2 allowing 23 hits while Clayton McCollum for no 1 was battered for 14. However, since this was the first game of the season this is not to be wondered at. Both teams showed some very fine material and from the aggregate a fine team can be picked to represent the scouts of Ozona in inter-town contests.

Scoutmaster Bishop was in charge of Troop 2 while Assistant Scoutmaster Floyd engineered No. 1. Neither troop played a complete scout line-up. Batteries: Troop 1; Clayton McCollum, Edwin McCollum; Troop 2, Augustine, Kyle, Umpire Rev. M. M. Fulmer.

Barnhart & Big Lake Roads Are Changed

Slight changes in the Ozona-Barnhart and the Ozona-Big Lake roads were ordered by the Commissioners Court at its session this week. On the Barnhart road the court ordered that the present road from the southwest corner of University block No. 51 to where it connects with the Barnhart lane be discontinued and the road changed to run parallel with the south line of blocks No. 51, 46 and 45 to the Ozona-Barnhart lane. The court also specified that the road be cleared for traffic 30 feet wide and that a drivers' lane at least 150 feet wide be provided.

On the Ozona-Big Lake road, the court ordered that the road thru the Charlie Williams pasture be discontinued and that the road be changed to cut off Block 45 of University land, shortening the route somewhat.

large expense bought for cash at wholesale the ingredients and is letting everyone have it at cost. Unfortunately the weather has not been propitious, but now the sun is shining. There is no place to stop now, and everyone knows that it is not a personal matter with the Court, but a real official duty to perform. It is so eminently unfair to let up now the Court wishes none to expect any let up in the matter of extermination of the prairie dog. Commissioners Court, Crockett Co. 7-38

We Go the Limit to Please

In Confidence

Readers desiring a personal reply can address Miss Flo, in care of this newspaper.

Dear Miss Flo:
I am a girl of nineteen, engaged to a young man of twenty-three. We have been engaged for a year, and would like to marry in June. However, my parents object, saying that I am still too young to think of marriage. I say it is better for us to get married now than go through a long engagement. What do you consider the proper age for marrying.

HELEN

The ideal age for marriage is a topic of wide and unending interest, and now it has been submitted to scientific research. Data collected from the Domestic Relations Court and the marriage license bureau of Philadelphia by Hornell Hart and Wilmer Shields offer some interesting conclusions.

In their treatise they have fixed the ideal age for marriage at about 29 years for the groom and 24 years for the bride. They say however, that deviations of four years on either side of the ideal age for the groom, or of two years on either side for the bride make no noticeable difference, but that marriages in which the bride is under 21 or the groom under 24 become rapidly more dangerous as younger ages are considered, and that marriage in which either of the party is 19 or younger are from ten to one hundred times as risky as marriages at the ideal age.

These conclusions were based on the fact that premature or delayed marriage is a symptom of permanent character traits which are unfavorable to success in family life, and second, that the boy or girl under 21 has not had sufficiently broad experience or has not reached sufficient maturity to select a mate with whom a successful home can be established.

If this is the correct interpretation, the postponement of marriage until the woman is 21 and the man 24 would be an extremely important preventive measure looking toward the elimination of domestic disaster.

On the other hand, there are exceptions to all rules, and long engagements are apt to prove more disastrous for both the man and the woman than early marriage. A couple engaged over a period of years, seeing each other continually are sure to get on each other's nerves, and the bloom of romance is bound to wear off, because Romance, being an airy, fairy thing made of cobwebs, will not endure being knocked about.

Also, an engaged couple stand to each other in a position which is peculiarly full of jealousies and which must cause many misunderstandings and bickering, and as a result love and romance just naturally peter out. Furthermore, it is human nature to get tired of waiting for an event too long, and to lose enthusiasm when it drags along over a period of time. As a result, when the engaged couple finally do marry, it is often just because they have become a habit to each other and because everybody expects it of them, rather than because they want it for themselves.

Contrary to most theories, matrimony promotes love just as surely as a long engagement kills it, because a husband and wife go into marriage with their love unwasted through years of waiting, and because marriage draws a couple close together.

You are both young, but if you are serious minded rather than frivolous; if you have a full understanding of the duties and obligations of marriage; if the sacrifices it entails; if you are financially able to carry on I see no greater risk in an immediate marriage than is taken in marriage at any age.

About Your Health

"CHICKEN-POX"

Do you know that "pox" means "pustle"? Yes, always. Varicella is the scientific name for this ailment of childhood. Few grown-ups are attacked, and the disease is not reckoned among the dangerous infections. It is actively contagious and often spreads among children very quickly—the epidemic being well on, before the character of the "breaking out" is discerned by parent, teacher, or physician. Although chicken-pox is considered harmless, and easily cured there is, nevertheless, the danger of serious complications, as with eruptive fevers; kidney disease may appear as a result, or pneumonia may suddenly develop; or ulcers of the stomach and bowel conditions. It is always better to be safe than sorry, chicken-pox should promptly and efficiently treated, soon as the diagnosis is even reasonably clear. A few scattered dark red skin-lesions, acute character, appearing chiefly on the body and limbs, should be regarded with suspicion, and precautions taken to keep the child indoors.

I have space for only the practical points here. Keep the little one from exposure to cold or wet, if gentle laxatives are needed, use them—no "strong" purgatives; allow only light, easily-digested food. Fill a tumbler half full with bicarbonate of potash, known as cream-tartar, from the drug store—not the grocery; then fill the tumbler with water, stir well and allow to settle; give a teaspoonful to a dessert-spoonful of the clear solution every three or four hours. When used, low, fill glass with water, settle, and use as before. May use this until the child is well; it will not interfere with the physician's treatment, and is useful in all eruptive diseases to ward off complications. You cannot "break up" chicken-pox—it must run its course.
