LADIES—14073 B. C.
DON'T DIE OF CANCER.
GOVERNMENT SHOULD PAY.
NEED NON-EXPLOSIVE FUEL.

A. W. Pond, scientific gentleman, back from Africa, says ladies of 150,000 years ago used cosmetics, "extravagant ornaments" and painted their cheeks red.

They went to extremes, wore necklaces made of ostrich eggs, and some of them painted their faces yellow and black, as well as red.

Still earlier, 500,000 years ago, when men used "flat hatchets," long sharp stones shaped like pickaxes, the ladies, then covered from head to foot with reddish hair, were probably pulling the hair from their chins, noticing that gentlemen preferred smooth skin. It has been a long, painful climb to the flapper of today, but worth it.

Don't die of cancer—it isn't necessary. At the age of forty, one out of every ten persons has a cancer. 100,000 die of cancer in the United States every year. At least 75,000 die unnecessarily. Autopsies show that thousands, dead of old age, take cancers to the grave with them.

Pay attention to any strange growth on the body. A few seconds work will often prevent a cancer spreading. Above all, keep in good condition, with regular sleep, moderate exercise, much fresh air and your blood will take care of the cancer.

The Government has wondered what to do with surplus taxes. It might use the first few hundred millions to indemnify victims of the Mississippi flood. If Government had used its brains and money and had done its duty, in years past, the flood would not have occurred.

Those that realize the importance of soil fertility will be interested in Colonel Ewing's casual remark that men digging for artesian wells in lower Louisiana, went through fifteen hundred feet of the richest soil, deposited by the great river, a soil far richer and deeper than that of Egypt.

Standard Oil of New York will issue $125,500,000 new stock, bringing the total up to about $450,000,000.

The company doesn't need that trifle, but will let employees of the company buy the stock to increase interest in their work. They had already bought ten millions of the stock.

Uldine Utley, fifteen-year-old evangelist arrived to save souls in New York at an unfortunate moment, with the Snyder case in full blast. Not even a New Yorker can attend to everything at once. Still, she saved forty-five souls on her opening night—soot bad, in New York. But some will need to be saved several times. New York's night life is exciting.

In Baltimore Jules Askin, artist, painted from nature on the Sabbath. You are not supposed to work on Sunday in Baltimore. They looked him up. He asked: "Who paints the beautiful sunrise and sunset on Sunday, and what do you do to Him?" The cold jailer replied: "Ask the Judge; you're not supposed to argue."

A hydroplane struck by lightning in full flight, falls, the gasoline tank exploding and killing four. This will not discourage flying, but will stimulate work on non-explosive fuel. The Germans are near it, with their extraordinarily light Diesel engine construction.

Some day, wireless power, taken from sources miles below the floor, will solve the problem.

An unfortunate leper, John Early is at large somewhere in the South, having escaped from the Carville (La.) leprosarium.

Men dread to arrest him, but there is little to fear. Soap and water have reduced leprosy to an insignificant disease. And the newest discovery, chaulmoogra oil, conquers it.

Mrs. O. Schauer Dies In Europe

Former Ozona Woman Is Victim of Heart Attack May 9

By W. C. (Kuzn Bill) Easterling

Mrs. Otto Schauer, until recently and for many years, a resident of Crockett County, died at the ancestral home of her husbands people at Perchtoldsdorf, near Wien (Vienna) Austria, Monday May 9, 1927.

The sad news came by letter last Saturday to a number of warm Ozona friends. This public announcement will be read with genuine sorrow by a large number of close friends and interested acquaintances throughout all this immediate section of West Texas.

Mrs. Schauer was apparently in splendid health when she and her husband left Ozona in August, 1924, for a long deferred visit to their old home in Austria. Recently stomach trouble developed and an operation was performed from which no serious consequences were feared; but this was followed four days later by heart failure, and the patient died immediately. The couple had for some time been "homesick" for West Texas, had secured a passport extension, and were planning to return to Crockett County as soon as convenient.

"Mrs. Otto," as she was called by all her friends, was of the sunniest possible disposition, being rarely ever serious long at a time. She was cordial, and even jolly, toward all, and affectionate, considerate and helpful to all her friends. Her maiden name was Irene Schatz. Her father was an artist, being a painter of some note. She herself inherited much of the artistic temperament, and was a singer of more than local prominence; but her career as such was interrupted when she sailed for America to marry Otto Schauer, forty-two years ago. She was met by Mr. Schauer at Ballinger, at that time the terminus of the Santa Fe railway, and the wedding ceremony was performed there, after which they went to the great Schauer ranch on Rocky. This was for a number of years afterward, one of the most beautiful ranch homes in the Union. Mr. Schauer's extensive flocks of sheep were, for the most part, drowned in the great Ben Ficklin flood. Later the ranch home was destroyed by fire with all its elaborate furnishings.

Almost ruined in fortunes, but still rich in health, energy and optimism, the couple came to Crockett County some twenty-five years ago, and began ranching twelve miles south of Ozona, where they lived until their departure for the "Old Country".

Both Mr. and Mrs. Otto being accomplished musicians and gifted vocalists, as well as people of cordial and openhearted hospitality, their ranch home south of Ozona soon became and long continued to be, one of the most popular homes in this section. Ozona's young people of the past generation are indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Schauer for many happy hours.

In addition to her grief-stricken husband Mrs. Schauer is survived by her aged mother and a sister who reside in Vienna.

P. H. Williams Well In Crockett Flows 20 Barrels An Hour

P. H. Williams and Family No. 1 L. D. Powell Crockett County, is flowing 20 barrels an hour with tools in the hole, at 2,681 feet plus and a fraction more than six feet in the pay, according to reports here. The flow is improving.

The well has a good strong gas, much better than any well drilled in the Powell pool, to which the Williams well makes an extension of more than a mile in Northwest Crockett County, 12 miles south of Big Lake. The oil tests 33 point 1 on corrected reading. The drill is still in first pay and probably will not be drilled below that depth.

Schauer Buys 3800 Head Ewes At $10 Sells 3800 Mixed

Chas. Schauer recently bought 3800 head of yearling ewes from Nutt Bros. of Mertzton, the consideration being $10 a head. Delivery is to be made in September.

Mr. Schauer also sold 3800 head of mixed ages of ewes at $7 and $3 a head to Frank Cargile of San Angelo. Delivery is to be made in September at the Schauer ranch in Crockett County.

Schauer also sold his 12 months wool clip this week to Joe Blakney, the 27,000 pound clip bringing 37 1/2 cents.

Bill Myers of Sonora recently sold the largest individual wool clip in Texas, 200,000 pounds which brought 39 cents a pound. This immense clip was from 30,000 head of sheep.

Kerrville Gets Ready For Meet

City To Be Turned Over To Sheep & Goat Men July 19, 20 and 21

Kerrville will be turned over to the visiting delegates to the annual convention of the Sheep and Goat Raisers Association when that body gathers there on July 19, 20 and 21, according to information received here from the Kerrville Chamber of Commerce. Preparations are already under way for the entertainment of the many who will attend the meeting.

Reservations will be made at the Bluebonnet and St. Charles hotels for members of the executive committee of the association, it has been announced. Headquarters of the association will be maintained at the Bluebonnet hotel, where Secretary N. W. Graham will maintain his office in the lobby during the three days of the convention.

The annual show is one of the headliners of the meeting, and is expected to have a much larger entry list than that of last year at Del Rio. Added premiums of $4, $3 and $2 to first second and third prizes when won by members of the association is expected to make competition keen. A number of entries from northern states are expected for the meeting.

Ozona will send a large delegation to Kerrville for the convention, as many local citizens are members of the executive committee and of the association.

Modern Lochinvar Pulls Light Switch And Kidnaps Girl

Love will find a way—even in the dark.

Especially is this true when the principals are of the so-called hot blooded Latin race.

Romance with all its spice was rampant in Little Mexico a few nights ago when a modern Lochinvar, with some experience as an electrician, snapped off the lights during an entertainment at his mother's home, seized the girl of his choice (and also the choice of another young Mexican Romeo) and while the guests milled in the dark and sought the cause of the falling light, loaded her into his waiting jitney and dashed away to a minister.

Eugenio Jimenez and Estelle Lougoria were the principals in this romantic escapade. Eugenio had worked at the Ozona power plant for a time and had some knowledge of electric wiring. He tied a string to the switch before the party began to pull the switch and won a wife.

NOTICE

C. Of C. Meets Monday Night

Road Project Up For Discussion At Next Regular Meet

The long delayed discussion of plans for calling a road bond election in Crockett County for the purpose of surfacing the Ozona-Barnhart road, will be first in the order of business at the regular meeting of the Ozona Chamber of Commerce to be held next Monday night beginning at 8 o'clock at the Hotel Ozona.

The Chamber first got down to real business on the proposed road building project about five weeks ago when the road committee brought H. L. George, San Angelo consulting engineer, before the body to give estimates of the probable cost and suggestions as to the method of procedure.

Mr. George estimated that the road could be graded, surfaced and drainage structures installed for a total cost of $3,000 a mile. A preliminary survey of the road with accurate data on the cost would cost $1,000, he declared, and the Chamber of Commerce is now faced with the question of whether or not that body will guarantee this amount in order to get things in shape for calling a bond election.

Every member of the organization and everybody interested in the proposed road is requested to be present at the meeting Monday night, promptly at 8 o'clock.

Ed Brown Dies In Angelo Hospital

Ed Brown, long time resident of Ozona, died early Wednesday morning in a San Angelo hospital following a long illness.

The body was brought here and buried in the Ozona Cemetery Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Brown is survived by his widow and several children.

Following the swim, the guests enjoyed refreshments of sandwiches, olives, cake, etc. Those enjoying the outing were Misses Ada Frances Burke, Mildred Davis, Ethel Childress, Ethel Bennett, Kathryn Baggett,

The Barnhart bank will be closed and its business transferred to Rankin, it was announced. Ratification of the sale of business of the Barnhart bank by its directors to the Rankin institution was given by stockholders at a meeting May 25. The consolidation becomes effective on June 4, it was announced.

"We feel that the consolidation will greatly strengthen both institutions," the letter, which was signed by Cashier Holcombe and President W. M. Noelke said. The Board of Directors of the new bank is composed of the following: John F. Lane, W. M. Noelke, G. W. ewberry, J. P. Rankin, T. J. Murphy, Harry Baldwin and B. S. Taylor. John F. ## S. E. Couch Named On Board Of Directors Of West Texas C. C.

S. E. Couch, president of the Ozona Chamber of Commerce, has been elected a member of the board of directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, according to notice received this week.

Mr. Couch's election took place at the annual convention of the great organization at Wichita Falls recently. Selection of Mr. Couch on the board of directors not only confers a great honor upon him but upon Ozona and Crockett County. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is one of the largest and most influential organizations in Texas and representation on its governing board is an honor to any town.

THE OZONA STOCKMAN

Published Every Thursday Morning at Ozona, Texas, County Seat of Crockett County by

W. EVART WHITE EDITOR and PUBLISHER
Entered at the Post Office at Ozona, Texas, as Second Class Mail Matter under Act of Congress, March 3rd, 1879.

Ozona, Texas, Thursday June 2, 1927

Of course, we wouldn't advocate a return to the "Little Red Schoolhouse" although from all accounts they were mighty powerful institutions. But we do wonder why Ozona needs a $100,000 school building when a competent architect has estimated that an adequate building, one pronounced by local school authorities as being suitable to take care of Ozona's school needs for many years to come, will cost only $60,000.

It's a mighty fine attitude, this wanting nothing but the best the very best, but there are grades and classes of the best. For instance the Ozona Methodist church is perhaps one of the best churches off its size in Texas. But it is not as elaborate nor as large as one of the fine churches of Dallas, or Fort Worth. Why? Because the congregation at Ozona is not large enough to need such a large church.

The needs of the Ozona Schools have been thoroughly studied. Just so many rooms are needed. Any more than that would be superfluous and unnecessary—at least for ten, fifteen maybe twenty-five years, probably fifty. If enough additional equipment can be secured, then, for $60,000 to take care of the local school needs, not only for the present, but for many years in the future, why is it necessary to spend $100,000?

Forty thousand dollars for two feet of excess thickness in walls might be all right as a monument to somebody or something, but it reaches a mighty sum when it involves the taxpayers' money and the best interests of the coming generation. Ozona's school need is acute. When the school reopens next September, the authorities are going to have a tough time it stretching those thick walls to take care of the overflow of youngsters seeking an education. They MUST be cared for, every one of them.

The following years the problem is going to be more perplexing and every year thereafter the situation will be worse. The Department of Education heads are pressing Ozona for more school facilities, threatening discontinuance of affiliation credits unless something is done.

With this situation confronting us, it is difficult to understand just why anyone would make a break to get out of the traces, to slow down the work with $40,000 worth of frills to furnish a choice talking point for opponents to argue. If the proposed $60,000 building is not handsome enough, sturdy enough nor adequate in size there is plenty of time to study that out and if it is NECESSARY to build a $100,000 school building then we'll be the first to say, 'Let's go.' But before we talk hundred thousand dollar buildings, let's see what we can get for $60,000.

Mrs. Morris Dudley underwent an operation for appendicitis at a San Angelo hospital Monday. She is recovering rapidly. Mr. Dudley and Mrs. B. B. Ingham accompanied her to San Angelo. Mrs. Ingham came back to Ozona Tuesday.

Don't Shoot, We Apologize

Roger Dudley, Jr., is 'off' The Stockman force for life.

Without malice aforethought, in a perfectly innocent but grossly damaging error, The Stockman reported that young Dudley had suffered a broken arm recently at his father's ranch.

As a matter of fact, later and more reliable information showed that the boy had suffered a broken leg instead of an arm. But that is not the greatest error, although that was bad enough for a fellow who was honest-to-goodness hurt. The Stockman also said that the injuries resulted from young Roger's being gthrown from a horse. The fact was that the lad roped a horse in manly fashion but his own steed was caught off balance and was jerked down when the rope tightened. That, as we now have it is the straight of the yarn, and we apologize for the first error.

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

by John Joseph Gaines, M.D.

"TUBBY" MEN

There are so many of them—and the number seems to be increasing. They are graduates of the six o'clock dinner university. They are also Knights of the Swivel-chair; they may belong to the Don't Worry Club. They move about on foot when they find it impossible to ride—on cushions. With every puff of shortened breath, they announce the badly-neglected sewer they carry around with them. No, Madame, I'm not talking to you; I know better than to tell a woman she's tubby.

I have been a sufferer from this acquired deformity, and, know whereof I speak. It came upon me by stealth; people said to me, "How wonderfully healthy you look; you are getting fatter every day." People love fat things. Suddenly I was attacked one day on the street—I felt that I was dying! My pulse registered 145, weak and irregular. I "sat up and took notice" from that hour. Careful investigation revealed that I was suffering from a stealthy, slow-acting poison—Idios. This stuff forms in a neglected colon, and gradually undermines the entire cardio-vascular system—the circulation. Had I expired, the newspapers would have said that I died of heart disease; it would not have been true; death would have been due primarily to that 48 waist-band of mine, and the load of poison inside it! Just as many a "tubby" man dies today, from putrefying substances in a neglected colon. I have no patience with laying the blame on the heart, when it is simply poisoned to death from the sewer!

It took me over two years to recover from a condition which would certainly have killed me. I used a mixture of the sulphates of magnesia, soda, lime and potassium for a "house cleaner" and, I still clean house with it every day. I quit eating enormous lots of sweets, cake, preserves, etc.

Flies, Mosquitoes, Moths and Their Eggs and Larvae

COMPLETELY

The fly is a carrier of the germs of intestinal diseases, such as typhoid, dysentery and cholera, from the excreta to food supplies; and of germs such as tuberculosis and diphtheria. It is reported that a single female fly may deposit as many as two thousand eggs or more in several batches and sometimes an interval of only 36 hours may occur between deposition of large batches of eggs.

The body of the housefly is thickly covered with hairs and bristles, and this is especially true of its legs. Crawling over infected material it readily becomes loaded with germs and transmits them to human food. Even more dangerous than the transference of germs on legs and body are the greater numbers of germs in its body which are voided and regurgitated.

It is dangerous to swat the fly because its germs still live and its mashed and exposed body is an added danger. Its germs should by all means be killed with it. Many Health Boards strongly oppose fly swatting.

WHO'S WHO

Jeanne Beaufort, beautiful daughter of a Virginia tobacco planter, brave and daring, has lost her father and two brothers in the Civil War. She swears to get revenge. At the time she is living with her aunt.

Mrs. Wetmore, in the South. Jeanne lays her plans and goes to her Aunt Deller's in Richmond, Va.

Henry Morgan a debonaire young officer, who falls in love with her. She repels his advances. She is engaged as a spy for the Confederate government and urged to use all the wiles and power of her sex to find one.

Parson Kennedy and bring him within the Southern lines. It is planned to have her make headquarters with a family of southern sympathy in Washington. Jeanne learns telegraphy and other technical branches of her new calling. And clad as a boy often in the Blue of the North, she makes her way through the lines. She learns of an organization of eleven Union spies and of their meeting place in a Richmond loft. As she overhears the leaders address the masked men seated about a table Jeanne is discovered and dragged into the room. The leader unmasks as he threatens her with death, but is dissuaded from shooting her by the suggestion from one of the men that one of their number marry her. She consents and when one of the masked men volunteers to marry she refuses and claims the right to choose.

She rejects the volunteer and selects the one who suggested the marriage. Him she names "Irony." To her surprise the leader is no other than Parson John Kennedy.

He performs the ceremony. "Irony" says his name is among those who sign as witnesses, (just before leaving her bound), in the following code form:

John Kennedy, D. D.
C-WG-L	H-RD-M
A-NK-S	P-PAG
G-RD-A	J-NK-F
J-WG-A	F-BN-S
F-WG-S	W-BE-H

Later Jeanne learns that Morgan is a spy.

CHAPTER VI
CAPTURE

The Parson and Armitage lay quietly in the thicket for fully half an hour, when they rose and plodded off toward the city.

Evidently the abductors had convinced themselves that a lone man would not have attempted the rescue of Parson Kennedy; and they too chose the path of discretion over to that of valor.

"Do you know where we are?" asked Kennedy.

"Yes, about five miles below the city. That's the Potomac over there. I had almighty work hanging onto the back of that hack. All told, there must have been five of them. The girl must have come on horseback before they did. It strikes me that we'll see more of that cabin."

"What was the man at the door?" "I don't know. He had a handkerchief over his nose and mouth. Then he ran."

"Ran and left the woman; h'mph!" "She seemed able to take care of herself. You said that I freed the viper. Who put poison into her fangs? You did. From a lawful enemy you have turned her into a personal one."

"Was I alone in that? Who suggested marriage to save her?" "You showed your face that night. You told her your name." "I did so, believing that she was about to die."

"Well, you had a good look at her tonight."

"Not very. The dodger reads that Jeanne Beaufort is very pale; this girl had the color of a Creole."

"I can make a Creole by using the juice of a walnut shell. She's clipped her hair short. Whenever you see Henry Morgan talking to a man or a woman you don't know, follow and find out who they are."

"So Morgan is the man! I suspected that."

"And his life wouldn't be worth a puff of smoke but for one thing; he is going to take my hand and put it on Jeanne Beaufort's shoulder. And the fop thinks he is hoodwinking us all."

"But what about Senator X whom Morgan serves?"

"We have warned him as much as we dare. But the Senator is a thick-headed mule. He stakes his life on Morgan's integrity. And until we get Jeanne Beaufort we can't lay the facts before him plainly."

In rushing from the cabin Jeanne had gone straight to her tethered horse and ridden away. Armitage had heard Parson Kennedy roar out that name.

Armitage with Parson Kennedy! Armitage one of the eleven? It was not possible. There had been nothing in his attitude to suggest that he had recognized her. She had dressed almost exactly as she had been that night in Richmond. Armitage was purely an outsider; and this conviction afforded her great relief.

That Parson Kennedy had spoken her name did not alarm her. She knew that he had but taken a chance shot in the dark.

Why should he hate her whom he had wronged.

She entered Washington. She had sworn to run these men down.

Two days later Armitage called upon Alice Trent. They were to go out riding. It was a glorious September day, mild and sunny.

"How is it that you are not with those beloved troopers of yours?"

"Oh, for the present I am aide to one of the chiefs. It is my business to see that fresh troops are promptly entrained, that the recruiting officers are not permitted to get into the doldrums; and sometimes I draw or copy maps.

By the way, did you witness the riots in Baltimore at the beginning of the war.

"No, I was not there at the time. How wonderful those elms are! Is General Armitage your father, by any chance?"

"He is—and the finest old chap in the world, too. He's just a man but something of a martinet; and to tell the truth, I'm rather afraid of him. You see, my company is among his troops, in the old regiment he was in command of before his promotion; and he's an idea when I'm around, I should do double turn so that no one could accuse him of showing favoritism. The boys in irony call me the old man's pet. Lord, how he makes me grind. But I like it."

"And so you draw maps?" "Of a kind. To the uninitiated my maps would suggest Chinese characters. Have you any men folk at the front?"

"My father died at Manassas and my brothers at Gettysburg," she answered, staring across the fields.

"I beg your pardon! I'm sorry."

"Why shouldn't you ask me? But I'd rather not talk of them."

Armitage had unwittingly opened the secret door. She was Jeanne Beaufort once more with a thousand dollar reward for her, dead or alive. What was it? Why could she not play with this Yankee as she had played with others? What subtle barrier was it blocked each impulse as it was forming? Was it because he was virile, good to look at, frank and pleasant? Or was it because the heat of her hatred for Northerners had abated, and that she, naturally honest and direct, was beginning to weary of this game in which hypocrisy was the chief essential? She was groping in a blind alley.

After the ride she gave him tea; but the zest had gone out of everything. She hated herself, Morgan, Armitage—hated the world.

Armitage returned to his rooms in a thoughtful and analytical frame of mind. He must not see this lovely woman too often. She drew him too closely.

On the following morning he was ordered to report to his regiment and remain with it until it was necessary to recall him. He wrote a note to Alice Trent, regretting that he would not be able to see her before he left. She saved the letter; but she was glad that he had gone from town. She had a human heart, also, and it was just as wonderfully made as his.

She went about her affairs as usual. Twice she visited the house with the secret door and left her information in the drawer of the deal table in the attic. There was no sign "to rent" upon this house yet it was vacant. No one was ever seen to enter it in the day time. The house belonged to the Confederate government, sub rosa. If Jeanne found the candle out of the bottle, it signified that there were orders in the drawer for her. Thus on the second day after Armitage's departure she learned with delight that she was to be given active service again.

A certain general, who was one

MIKE'S CAMP HOUSE

Ready Soon

Contract was let the first of this week for a modern camp house for tourists adjoining Mike's warehouse.

Ozona has never offered many inducements to the tourist to stop off here for a night or for a day or so. Tourists who camp instead of staying in hotels pass up Ozona because no camp is provided—nothing more than an expanse of territory without camp houses or other conveniences—and that can be found anywhere along the road.

Many towns along well known highways place a money value on their tourist crops. With adequate camping quarters, Ozona could do likewise, and we recognize this need. Consequently, we will in a short time have completed a modern camp house, with running water, lockers in each room and shelter for automobiles. The camp will be improved from time to time and the fact that Ozona has a modern camp house for tourists will be broadcast to the world.

of the few great strategists left in the Confederate army, was in danger of annihilation, and only an exact knowledge of the enemy's plans of campaign would permit him to slip out of the net. These plans were at this moment in the tent of General Armitage, having been carried to him by Captain Armitage himself. So Senator X had secretly written to some friends in Illinois. Of course Morgan had unsealed the letter, as he did with most of the Senator's correspondence. She, Jeanne, must act immediately. A mile south of Armitage's troops in the hollow of a blazed rotten oak, were hidden batteries and telegraphic instruments. The lower wire was to be tapped. Communications here had not yet been destroyed. Each night at nine the receiver would be at his post. The mobility of the troops would not make it advisable for her to attempt to communicate in person; hence the telegraph. All she had to do was to get the information required and telegraph it. "All I have to do" she mused with a crooked little smile. All she had to do was to steal into an army of formidable numbers, go straight to General Armitage's tent, glance at the plans and telegraph them. She rocked with sudden ironic laughter. But there was a glow of pride in her heart. She was given this hazardous exploit as casually as if she had been asked to tea. It meant that her ability, her cunning and resource, were highly prized. She would make the attempt; she would prove definitely her insurgent heart that there was nothing but the Cause. The cloth dodgers were growing dingy on trees and fences. "Dead alive". To cook your hare you had to catch it. The camp lay in the Virginia hills. It was early in October, and the night air was chill. The men were gathered in groups about the fires.

In General Armitage's tent he and his staff were discussing the final details of the campaign that was to be set in motion the following night and end in the scattering of the Rebel forces. Success meant that they would be in Richmond Christmas. Trooper Murphy, whose picket-duty lay between the stream and the tenth telegraph-pole to the south, felt the need of extending his line of march. He was disobeying stringent orders. He determined to go ten telegraph-poles beyond his allotment. So when he reached the end of his beat, which twisted westward, he paused, counted the poles—and rubbed his eyes. There was still a tint of lemon in the west, enough to throw out in distinct relief each pole. Now, if his eyes weren't deceiving him, something was moving up that tenth pole, nearly a thousand feet away. It stopped at the cross-bars, twisted itself about the lower one and seemed perfectly content to remain there. Private Murphy knew now what that meant—espionage; and some frowny butternut was sending Morse. "Come down out of that, Johnny, or I'll cook your potatoes in satipeter!" A quarter of an hour later the orderly outside stuck his head inside the flap of General Armitage's tent. "Private Murphy, sir, to report with a prisoner." The General and his staff looked up from the maps. "Anything unusual?" demanded the General. "The officer of the day sent him directly to you, sir." "Bring him in." Captain Armitage, however, did not look up. "What's this about?" "A spy, sir. I caught him in the tellygraph poles, sir, and brought him in." General Armitage turned his flashing eyes upon the prisoner. "Have you anything to say?" "No, sir."

"How long have you been in this camp?" "Two days, sir." "What troop do you belong to?" "None." "You were sending a message?" "I was, sir." There was a pause. "You knew the penalty of such action, coupled with the wearing of a blue uniform and that neither youth nor age matter?" "Yes." "You were sending information to the enemy. What information?" "The information which will prevent the springing of the trap." There was something in the sound of this sentence that caused the man bending over the maps to look up. "God," he murmured, as he saw the face. Jeanne Beaufort! Suddenly her dark eyes met his, and their glance bit into his soul like acid.

"Search him," said General Armitage. "And be quick about it." "It will not be necessary, sir, until after—I am dead." There was not the slightest tremor in the tones. "What I took away from the tent, sir, I took mentally." General Armitage ran his fingers through his beard. "Very well, then; I'll grant you that much. Take him away Private Murphy. Orderly, take this message to Crompton Sunrise. Tie his hands and feet." (CONTINUED NEXT WEEK) AGENT WANTED IN OZONA TERRITORY. Make $75.00 per week. $1.50 an hour for spare time. ### When you buy a Buick Automobile

You buy a product that has stood the acid test for 22 years, backed by a company that has never had to reorganize, or change their name to sell their product to the American public.

Now take right here in good old OZONA, the best town in Texas and the best people in the world. There are in use here in Crockett County over 100 Buicks and there are less than 500 cars registered in the county. Ask any of these people how they like their Buick. That is the best recommendation we have to offer you. Some have their second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth and some as high as their seventh Buick. There is a reason for this.

Sit at the wheel of one of these new Buicks with Engine "Vibrationless Beyond Belief" and feel the smooth, pulsing powerful motor that will always take you there and bring you back. And you don't have to eat anybody's dust. Buick has won the stock car race at San Antonio Speedway for four consecutive times against all comers, the last time being April 24th.

We invite comparison in every way—price, beauty, size, weight, wheelbase, past records, and especially do we invite you to take pencil and piece of paper and take down specifications of any car in $500.00 of price of Buick. You'll be surprised. May we show you?

To Be "As Good As Buick"

—as is often claimed—another manufacturer would have to have:

Buick's Volume Buying Power—

—to be able to give as much for the money.

Whether it be feed or iron ore, the greater the quantity of raw material that can be bought, the less it costs. This is the unchangeable economic law. TAKE TIRES FOR INSTANCE—The organization of which Buick is a part, will buy over 8,000,000 automobile casings this year. Buick's nearest competitor will buy just 800,000. —And the proportion of iron, glass and other raw materials will be just at the same ratio—10 to 1 in Buick's favor.

To be "as good as Buick"—another manufacturer would have to have—

Buick's 22 years of Experience in Building ONE Type Motor—

Theory is good—practice is better—whether it be a man or manufacturer, the greater the experience, the more thorough the knowledge. No other manufacturer in Buick's price class has consistently made one-type motor for 22 years with out failure or reorganization.

To be "as good as Buick"—another manufacturer would have to have—

Buick's 1145 Designing and Experimental Engineers—

In order to keep the mechanical features of the car up-to-date and to pioneer in improvements. To these 1145 designing engineers behind Buick are credited such revolutionary advancements as: The first electrical self-starting and lighting system; Duco Paint; Chromium Plating; Ethyl Gas and many other epoch making inventions.

To be "as good as Buick"—another manufacturer would have to have—

Buick's 1200-Acre Proving Grounds—

To absolutely prove in practice what Buick's 1145 designing engineers work out in theory, thus assuring the car purchaser that any new feature introduced in the car will absolutely give trouble-free service. Buick's action in introducing the proving grounds years ago so successfully will soon lead to many competitors copying the idea, but the knowledge already gained by Buick in their years of experience will still keep Buick far ahead.

To be "as good as Buick"—another manufacturer would have to have—

Buick's Mechanical Features, Such as—

Buick's Valve-in-Head Motor, Five bearing surface steering gear; Buick's Torque Tube Drive; 10-plate Clutch; Triple sealed motor with Buick's sealed chassis, where every working part is enclosed in a housing of steel to protect it; Buick's Mechanical Four-Wheel Braks; rubber insulated motor supports; crankcase ventilator and a motor "Vibrationless Beyond Belief!" For West Texas roads Buick's Clearance—an inch to two inches above the average car.

AND FINALLY

To be "as good as Buick"—another manufacturer would have to have—

Buick's High Ideals—

—and the consistent determination to maintain those ideals, for a man or a manufacturer is no better than his ideals!

For Twenty-Two Years Buick's Ideal Has Been
WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK WILL BUILD THEM
—With the Result that:

"Buick Has Maintained First Place In Sales In the Automobile World for 9 Consecutive Years"

CREDIT vs CASH
A Rhyme of Reason

When the dollar bills fly thickly,
That's the time to take a chance
Then lay on credit richly
For you're not apt to tear your pants.

But when winds blow from the west
And the wells are getting dry
Then's the time to draw the vest,
Make the eagle scream and cry.

That's no time to pay percentage
On the things you do not get,
For "Dimes" are not like old vintage,
And your feet you may get wet.

For there's a tiny little whisper
That reaches all our ears—
Just run a month more, sister,
Then we will pay — three cheers!

And to those who answer — Paid!
At the end of thirty days—
They don't know what a record they have made,
For there are those that don't—in a dozen different ways.

If you want to pay the difference
On the ones who pay and ones who can't,
Then we'll promptly withdraw the kick-
ance
And quit this awful rant.

It's your money, we'll admit,
And you are free to throw it as you wish
But we'd hate to pay for clothes that do not fit.
And we'd hate to pay for very bony fish.

So if you want to—go ahead
And pay for your neighbor's mistakes,
You'll feel like you were dead,
When the bills you begin to rake.

We ask you in all fairness—
To consider these lengthy rhymes,
To weigh them in their bareness
In their silky, gliding chimes.

We know we are right in the matter,
And it's just a question of time,
Until you'll heed all this chatter,
And be saving your money and mine.

Ford Announces Surprise Auto

New Models Declared To Be Superior In Low-Price Field

DETROIT—Early production of a new Ford car superior in design and performance to any now available in the low-priced, light-car field, was announced today by the Ford Motor Company.

Henry Ford, designer of the car, and Edsel Ford, president of the Company, both stated that within the next few weeks they will give a complete description of the new model.

The famous Model T Ford which still leads the automobile industry after twenty years of manufacture will continue to be a substantial factor in Ford production, in view of the fact that about ten million cars of this model are still in use and will require replacement parts and service.

"The Model T Ford car was a pioneer," said Henry Ford today. "There was no conscious public need of motor cars when we first made it. There were few good roads. This car blazed the way for the motor industry and started the movement for good roads everywhere. It is still the pioneer car in many parts of the world which are just beginning to be motorized. But conditions in this country have so greatly changed that further refinement in motor car construction is now desirable and our new model is a recognition of this."

"Besides the Model T itself, another revolutionary element which the Ford Motor Company introduced twenty years ago was the idea of service. Some of the early manufacturers proceeded on the theory that once they had induced a man to buy a car they had him at their mercy; they charged him the highest possible price for necessary replacements. Our company adopted the opposite theory. We believed that when a man bought one of our cars we should keep it running for him as long as we could and at the lowest upkeep cost. That was the origin of Ford service."

"The Model T was one of the largest factors in creating the conditions which now make the new model Ford possible. The worldwide influence of the Ford car in the building of good roads and in teaching the people the use and value of mechanical power is conceded. Nowadays everybody runs some kind of motor power but twenty years ago only the adventurous could be induced to try an automobile. It had a harder time winning public confidence than the airplane has now. The Model T was a great educator in this respect. It had stamina and power. It was the car that ran before there were good roads to run on. It broke down the barriers of distance in rural sections, brought people of these sections closer together and placed education in the reach of everyone. We are still proud of the Model T Ford car. If we were not we could not have continued to manufacture it so long.

"With the new Ford we propose to continue in the light-car field which we created on the same basis of quantity production we have always worked, giving high quality low price and constant service. We began work on this new model several years ago. In fact, the idea of a new car has been in my mind much longer than that. But the sale of the Model T continued at such a pace that there never seemed to be an opportunity to get the new car started. Even now the business is so brisk that we are up against the proposition of keeping the factory going on one model while we tool up for another. I am glad of this because it will necessitate a total shut down. Only a comparatively few men will be out at a time while their departments are being toolled up for the new product. At one time it looked as if 70,000 men might be laid off temporarily, but we have scaled that down to less than 25,000 at a time. The lay off will be brief, because we need the men and we have no time to waste.

"At present I can only say this about the new model—it has speed, style, flexibility and control in traffic. There is nothing quite like it in quality and price. The new car will cost more to manufacture, but it will be more economical to operate.

Why Fret and Fume With PUNCTURES?

Lee Puncture Proof Balloons Will Eliminate That Trouble

We have received a new stock of 30x77 size Lee Puncture Proof balloons for Buicks and other big cars. We have carried the 29x4:40 size Lee tire for a long time but it is just recently that owners of larger cars have had an opportunity to use them.

Lee Puncture Proof tires are all the name implies—they are positively puncture proof. Five layers of steel discs are vulcanized into the rubber, making it almost impossible to puncture them, even with a hammer and nail.

We also have this remarkable tire in 31x5:25 and 29x4:40 sizes.

CHEVROLET

A car for her, too!

In thousands of average American homes there are now two automobiles—"a car for her, too," so there may be transportation for the family while "he" drives away to work.

And the family car has such an infinite degree of usefulness! Downtown shopping, taking the children to school, afternoon calls, meeting trains and the many additional trips that must be made to and from the house as a part of every day's routine.

No other car is so admirably suited to a woman's requirements as the Most Beautiful Chevrolet.

With striking new bodies by Fisher, and finished in pleasing colors of lustrous, lasting Duco, it provides in abundant measure the comfort, charm and elegance that women admire in a motor car. It is easy to start because of its Delco-Remy electric starting system—famous the world over for its excellence. It is easy to stop because of powerful, over-size brakes. And it is easy to drive and park because of a modern three-speed transmission, smooth-acting disc clutch, and a semi-reversible steering gear that gives finger-tip steering.

Visit our showroom and see the Most Beautiful Chevrolet. Note the wide variety of body types. Mark their sweeping lines and carefully executed details. And then ask us to explain the easy terms on which a Chevrolet may be purchased—terms that include the lowest combination of handling and financing charges available anywhere.
