THE BEST AD MEDIUM
A SIXTEEN HOUR ATLANTIC
NEW FREEDOM OF PULPIT
SHYLOCK SAM IN POST OFFICE

When Uncle Sam advertises, he ADVERTISES. The Treasury announcement, recalling $1,650,000,000 of Second Liberty Loan four and a quarter per cent bonds will be published in fifteen thousand American newspapers, daily and weekly.

Mr. Mellon shows good judgment, putting the advertising in thousands of country weeklies and small dailies. In proportion to their circulation, they are THE best mediums.

Before General Mitchell was put out of Army flying, for telling unpleasant truths, he had under way plans for a giant flier, with wheels twenty feet high, that could take a running start over fences and tree trunks.

And this week Professor Rumpel, head of a German airplane company, announced plans for a plane, many times the size of any ever built, to carry many engines, and cross the Atlantic in sixteen hours, carrying 170 passengers.

Transatlantic flight will soon be commonplace, but the little machine must show the way, as did Columbus's little boats.

Miss Spencer, seventy years old, rode to work at the Treasury Department and back on a bicycle, saved and made more than $100,000. She leaves small sums to relatives and the balance $100,000, for a tombstone. Relative's object, the court is asked to decide.

The foolish waste should be forbidden. But it is interesting to think of that old Treasury clerk pushing her bicycle back and forth, meditating on the grand figure that she would cut in death with her $100,000 tomb, she, who in life had been only a $1,200 year spinster clerk. Happiness is largely imagination.

It is suggested unofficially that Mr. Hughes, formerly Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, will be chosen by Governor Fuller of Massachusetts as head of a commission to investigate the Sacco-Vanzetti case.

Such a choice would be satisfactory to the country, and the decision conclusive. It is more important by far than executing any two men, to make sure that there was no mistake or prejudice in conviction.

The views of clergymen each Sunday present interesting contrasts, such as would have been made for the evangelist one hundred years ago.

The Rev. Dr. Walter Duncan Buchanan says we are ignorant about heaven and our uncertainty is a blessed thing. It gives us something to hope and work for.

The Rev. Dr. Minot Simons, Unitarian, says we must look for our "compensations" in this life. Old ideas of heaven and hell are now inadequate and futile.

The Rev. Dr. Straton says Mrs. Snyder, convicted of helping to murder her husband, is an atheist. She couldn't have committed the crime had she believed in God.

If that is so, there have been atheists in high places throughout history.

Republicans and Democrats are planning a 1928 campaign in which the wet and dry question will be shelved, forgotten.

Some wets say, "If you do, we shall start a third party, dripping wet."

That would not hurt the feelings of Republicans, who have decided the Democrats may have the wet issue.

If, as seems likely, a wet Democrat is nominated, the wets will show his wetness and vote for him. A separate wet party would get as few votes now as a separate prohibition party used to get, in the old wet days.

Congressman William W. Cohen says the Government's treatment of letter carriers and mail clerks is a disgrace, which is accurate. Mail workers are underpaid as regulars, and shamefully treated as substitutes. For the Government to compel men, perhaps with children, to waste an entire day waiting for one or two hours' work, and for the richest country in the world to pay its post office force as miserably as ours are paid, is unworthy.

NEW HOMES AND SPRING REPAIRS HIKE BUILDING

Many Thousands Added to Years Total in Last Few Weeks

MANY NEW ROOFS

Miller, Friend, Coates, Harrison Homes Near Completion

Construction of new residences, Spring renovations and repairs have boomed Ozona's building program in the last few weeks. New homes remodeling jobs and repairing work have added several thousands of dollars to Ozona's total building for the year.

The new brick home of Rob Miller being constructed on the site of his former home, which was recently sold to F. A. Gray and removed, is rapidly nearing completion. The house when completed will be one of the most beautiful and most expensive homes in Ozona.

The new home of Ned Friend in the eastern section of town is expected to be completed by the 20th of this month. Mr. Friend had his old house torn down and a new six-room bungalow erected on the site. The house is now being painted and carpenters are putting the finishing touches on it. Mr. and Mrs. Friend and family are occupying the old Dock Friend home while their new home is being completed.

Painters are at work on the Floyd Harrison home which was recently completed. Mr. Harrison has erected a handsome cottage on the site of his home which was destroyed by fire recently.

Contractors have also reached the painting stage on the new home of Chas. Coates across the draw. Mr. Coates is having a five room bungalow erected.

W. A. Kay, new manager of the Ozona Telephone Company, has built a little cottage adjoining the telephone office on the east and he and his family are occupying these quarters.

A crew has been at work several weeks extending the Church of Christ building back several feet to enlarge the main auditorium and the rostrum.

Paul Perner is having his house remodeled and a concrete garage constructed.

Extensive remodeling work has been done on the home occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Word. The house has been painted, papered and renovated to make it an attractive little cottage.

Lee Wilson has had his home, purchased from W. J. Watts, completely renovated.

Fisher Powell's home has recently been painted and repaired. Among other recent building projects is the new tourist camp built by Mike Couch adjoining his store in the south part of town. The camp house which will accommodate nine families, with a garage in connection, is almost completed, Mr. Couch says.

Several local homes have been re-roofed with an attractive new composition roofing material that adds considerably to the appearance of the houses. Among the new roofing jobs recently completed are the homes of Cm Longley, Ralph Watson, and Scott Peters. John Bailey is also planning to have a new roof put on his home soon.

The George Baker house, which was sold to Roy Miller, has been moved to the north half of the lot and will be occupied by Mrs. Miller's father, Asa Robinson. Mr. Baker plans to build a new home on the south half of the lot.

Pleas and Walter Childress are having an attractive low rock wall erected around the front of their houses which will extend to their garage east of their houses on the hill. Walter Childress has let the contract for painting his home the painting crew going to work on the job the first of the week.

Here is the happy Charles Lindbergh in Paris with background view of a flight around Eiffel Tower, in his monoplane, "The Spirit of St. Louis." Europe has taken our youthful and intrepid air man to its heart as he plans vacation "hops" to the different capitals. Lindbergh's love for his plane, which carried him from New York to Paris, in 33 1/2 hours, is shown when in speaking of the feat he always says "we"—meaning plane and self.

Plan Concrete Dance Platform

Dance Club and Fair Assn. Receive Estimates On Plan

Plans for a permanent concrete dance platform and amusement center for year-round use are being considered by members of the Ozona Dance Club and Crockett County Fair Association in preparation for a series of dances every night during the July rodeo and race meet here, it was announced this week.

Contractors were presenting estimates this week on the cost of constructing the platform and members of the organizations declared that some kind of platform either concrete or wood, would be erected shortly to be in readiness for use during the celebration.

A dance, beginning at 9 o'clock each evening, will be given the three nights of the rodeo. The Lone Star Entertainers of San Angelo, one of the crack West Texas orchestras, will furnish the music. Advertising matter is now being prepared under the direction of the Dance Club for distribution all over the state and this feature of the three-days program is expected to attract large crowds to the celebration.

Baptists Plan Picnic Friday

Interesting Program Arranged For Outing At Live Oak

Friday morning at eight o'clock Ozona Baptists will assemble at the church to go from there to Live Oak Creek for their annual picnic. Ways will be provided for those who have none, according to Rev. M. M. Fulmer. Plans have been made for a good time for all participating. J. T. Keeton, Superintendent of the Sunday School is the general director of the picnic, with H. O. Word; Ira Carson and A. C. Hoover as the directing committee. Those with the other committees, those of "food arrangement" headed by Mrs. F. A. Gray; transportation, by Mrs. A. C. Hoover; entertainment, by Rev. Fulmer, guarantee a well planned program and a good time.

S. A. ARCHITECT TO DRAW PLANS OF NEW SCHOOL

Noonan Shows Board Sketch Of Proposed Building

GYM PLAN LARGER

Difficulty Of First Plan Overcome in New Outline

Complete plans for the proposed new school building for Ozona are now being prepared by George Noonan, San Antonio architect, as a result of a conference between Noonan and the Ozona School Board at a special meeting Tuesday.

Mr. Noonan presented a rough sketch of plans for a modern school building at the meeting Tuesday and the new plans now being drawn are based upon suggestions and recommendations of the board made following an explanation and discussion of the sketch shown at the meeting.

The new plans are being drawn without cost to the local taxpayers at present, John Bailey, president of the board, explained. Mr. Noonan offered to draw the plans and turn them over to the board and if they are not satisfactory or if for any reason the bond issue fails to pass no charge will be made for the plans. This offer was accepted by the board and the new plans will include all the features worked out by the school committee of the Chamber of Commerce, members of the board and school officials as a result of several weeks of study of the project.

Weeks of investigation, conferences with architects and building contractors, and changes that have been found necessary in original plans have convinced members of the school board and the Chamber committee that more than $60,000 will be necessary to erect a building suitable to take care of local school needs, President Bailey declared. First estimates of the cost of an adequate building placed the amount at approximately $60,000.

The original plan, however, was drawn with a view to exercising the greatest economy in floor space and consequently sacrificed considerable in gymnasium quarters in an effort to arrive at the

Fair Programs Are Completed

Handsome 116 Page Book Gives Line-up On July 4-5-6

A handsome 116-page catalogue and program for the Crockett County Fair Association rodeo, race meet and stock show to be held here July 4, 5 and 6 has just been completed by the job printing department of the Ozona Stockman and several copies of it are now being sent out all over the state by fair association officials.

The program contains the line-up of events for the three days, all information about prizes and purses, rules etc. Advertisements of merchants, firms and individuals throughout West Texas are scattered through the book and a twenty-four page section in the center of the book is occupied with pictures of ranch scenes in Crockett County, homes, buildings and stores in Ozona and scenes at the fair grounds.

The program this year is more than twice as large as that issued last year for the first July celebration staged by the local fair association.

Stock Shipment Data Gathered

Traffic Association Is Making Fight Against Hike In Rates

Data pertaining to livestock shipments in this territory will be gathered by the Sanitary Livestock Commission of Fort Worth for presentation to the Interstate Commerce Commission, as part of the general investigation of livestock rates in the West ordered recently by the commission. The Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association of Texas is co-operating in the work, having sent banks for this information recently to a large number of its members who are shippers.

This data will pertain to both cattle, calves, and sheep and goats according to advices received from A. H. Priest, manager of the Fort Worth association, by T. A. Kincaid, president of the sheep and goat raisers' body. It is thought that the evidence gathered will show conclusively to the Interstate Commerce commission the necessity of many of the lower rates that have been the goal of the livestock shippers.

The one hundred per cent support of the livestock men in this territory is strongly urged by Mr. Priest for there is a proposal under way, he said, to place the territory west of a line drawn thru Big Spring, San Angelo, Menard, Llano and San Antonio on a higher basis than territory east of that line, and it will take the combined support of every shipper in the territory affected to defeat the measure.

I. E. Cross and children went to Coleman Saturday to visit relatives. Miss Johnnie Cross stayed and will be joined by her mother Monday. They expect to visit in Fort Worth before returning.

Further study of the problem has convinced school authorities that a saving can be realized by erecting a building that will be entirely adequate to meet local needs and the new plans now being drawn will embrace a larger gymnasium and other features that will take care of local school development for many years, Mr. Bailey said.

No estimate of the probable cost of the proposed new building has yet been made, it was declared. When plans are received and approved, bids will be asked from contractors on the construction work, and if these are satisfactory the question will be taken to the people through an election for bonds for the necessary amount.

PECOS RIVER TEST BLOWS IN, REPORT HERE

Producer Will Speed Up Development In Crockett County

1 NEW LOCATION

New Test To Be Spudded In In N. E. Part County Soon

The Aisman and Bell No. 1 in the Pecos river bed, north of the Yates discovery well, was reported here Wednesday night to have blown in sometime Tuesday night at a depth of around 1,000 feet. The well is reported to have made 200 barrels before it could be shut off.

Production in this well extends the Yates field into Crockett County and insures further extensive development in that area. Many Crockett County citizens hold an interest in the new well.

The oil world in general and Crockett County operators and landowners in particular are interested in the outcome of Aisman and Bell's No. 1 located in the Pecos river bed east of the I & G N Railway grant survey in Pecos County. The river bed test is expected to come in this week.

Should this well come up to expectations and be a good producer or even a gusher, oil operators make no attempt to conceal their optimism over the future for developments in Crockett County. It will mean that many major companies holding leases on Crockett County tracts adjacent to the river and in the northwestern part of the county will drill at once.

The river test is now down over 900 feet, it is reported, and is expected to strike the pay within the next hundred feet. The Ozona Development Company is putting down the test and many Crockett County citizens are interested the well struck a rainbow of oil close to 500 feet, according to reports, and its outcome is being closely watched.

P. H. Williams and Family, No. 1 is producing steadily since it came in three weeks ago for an initial flow of 341 barrels per day. Some storage facilities have been erected and the well connected with the Humble pipe line that carries the production of the Powell field. Laying of only one mile of pipe was necessary, the Williams well being that distance south and 300 feet west of Republic No. 2 Powell, which is 600 feet west of Republic No. 1, Powell.

Mr. Williams sold 20 acres of his lease of 244 acres, but bought this acreage back recently. A working interest in 100 acres in the well and in 100 acres surrounding it is held by W. M. Little, who has 3-32nds interest; R. V. Oberholzer, 1-16, and the Hub Dry Goods Company of San Angelo, 1-32. It is likely that Humble-Marland will offset the well on the east and north and that Gulf will drill a diagonal northeastern offset. The California Company owns three quarter sections adjoining the Williams lease on the south, Marland a quarter section on the west, and Marland-Humble the remainder around the new well.

Another new location for Crockett County was being made last week. The location is in the west line of Section 2, Block 50, University of Texas lands in the northeastern part of the county. The well is being drilled Geo. H. Anderson, Dallas operator, and Wm. McGinley and Talbot & Fackett of Chicago. The well is on a block purchased from Marland. Wm. Schaffer is the contractor and expects to spud in in about two weeks. Schaffer is drilling his No. 2 University about 3 miles from the Anderson location.

Other tests in the county are drilling. Leasing, trading of lease interests and royalties are reported active, especially in the western and northwestern part of the county. However attention is being directed to the southern part of the county by operators.

THE OZONA STOCKMAN

Published Every Thursday Morning at Ozona, Texas, County Seat of Crockett County by

W. EVART WHITE EDITOR and PUBLISHER
Entered at the Post Office at Ozona, Texas, as Second Class Mail Matter under Act of Congress, March 3rd, 1879.

Ozona, Texas, Thursday June 16, 1927

Crockett County roads are in better condition at present than they have been in months, thanks to the skill and diligence of Mr. Willis, county road superintendent. All roads leading out of Ozona and particularly the Barnhart road, are in excellent condition. The Barnhart road is almost as smooth as a floor practically all the way, which reminds us of how fine it would be if it could be kept in that condition, rain or shine.

Mr Willis has also put Ozona streets in fine condition, most of the worst ones being graded and smoothed down to where one can negotiate them at a fairly rapid clip without being dislodged from the seat.

Rain, of course will play havoc with this good work, though, according to the ranchmen, we wouldn't mind bumping around in ruts made by a heavy rain. Anyway, it's a question whether rainy weather is worse than dry weather for mud could not be worse than dust. Which reminds us that either one of these nuisances could be abated if Ozona streets were paved—and the only way they'll ever be paved is for the town to incorporate and vote a bond issue for the purpose. Is it worth it? Get some accurate figures on the project and you could hardly deny that it is.

Interest is increasing every day in Ozona's golf course. Sunday saw the course dotted with players the entire day. The fair ways and greens are getting in better shape all the time as the high grass and weeds are being tramped down.

The financial condition of the club has prevented final completion of the course and play will not be altogether satisfactory until the finishing touches are put on the course. There are at least ten or fifteen enthusiasts who have indicated that they intend joining the club, have purchased outfits and started playing. But, sadly, they have not yet "kicked in", which means that until they do nothing further can be done toward completing the course. The club is already nearly $200 in the "red" as a result of the work already done. Scott Peters, treasurer, declares that all that has to be done is to complete the course has been done with ten more memberships, and that amount would take care of the overdraft.

About fifteen have already paid up their dues and are entitled to play on the course. About fifteen others who have not paid their dues are playing on the course regularly. It's not altogether a square deal that those who have paid up are getting. They paid to play on a completed course, but the course can not be completed until the rest of you fellows "kick in". You are going to join, certainly, you are. Let's have your membership fee now so that the tee stands and boxes, flags, etc. can be put up.

If the West Texas Utilities Company doesn't make it snappy about getting a line into Ozona, we're going to be where Moses was when the lights went out. Mr.

Kersey says the local plant is pulling to capacity night and day and when an engine goes bad and they do it often what with running 24 hours a day without time for repairs, it is just too bad for somebody—it just means shutting out certain circuits until repairs are made. The Utilities Company promised to be here at work on their building by June 15 and also promised service to local patrons by July 15. Until the new concern gets here with its power line no electric stoves can be hooked up according to the management. Here's hoping we can make the ripple until the power line gets here.

Use Of Artificial Bait Now Requires License Under Law

Effective Tuesday, anglers in Texas who fish with artificial bait are subject to new restrictions placed by the last legislature in the form of an artificial lure license law.

Under the terms of this law, every person must have a separate license to fish with artificial bait in any Texas stream. The license for residents of the state cost 1.10 for the season. For non-residents of the state, the license is $1.10 for five days fishing and $5 for the season.

County Clerk E. B. Baggett has been supplied with the license blanks and local fisherman who intend using artificial bait must secure a license to comply with the law.

The Pride Of Owing Your Home

Life can be made a very pleasant experience or it can be made a sordid, existence. To get the most out of life, one must capitalize every opportunity to make the way a little more pleasant.

The pleasure one gets out of owning his own home is worth ten times the cost of building. Rent houses are necessary, of course, they fill a need that is present in any community.

But where one is an established factor in a community when one has found the place he intends calling home, then it is time to begin planning on owning a home. And the way to begin is to commence. Life is short at its long end and the sooner you build the more time you will have to enjoy it. See us now, get our plan books and let us advise you about building materials, cost, etc.

The fight for business leadership is no monkey business in this day and age, as is evidenced by the latest report from commercial centers—which has to do directly with the future of towns exactly the size of Ozona.

It has been learned that the big mail-order houses now maintain a department, the duty of whose staff is to read weekly newspapers from all over the country and continually make a survey of the different districts to learn of mail-order selling possibilities.

And, it is a fact—that immediately that department finds a town or county wherein the local merchants are not using the local paper to advertise their merchandise to the trade—that district is immediately flooded with catalogues—because it is virgin territory and the mail-order houses have learned that they can do GOOD business there.

We pass this information along to business leaders of Ozona and assure them that all of our support is of course with them. We maintain a local advertising service which can be used to advantage—and for such service we make no extra charge. Come in or phone and we will call. Business goes to those who go after it.

About Your Health

REST

Rest is the cure of many complaints—and is within the reach of every man and woman; the trouble is, we do not treat the subject with intelligence.

Since my last letter to this paper, I note the deaths of two distinguished men; one a statesman nationally known, 65—and the other a politician of state-wide notoriety, 67. Both endowed with all that make for long life; neither knew how to rest. Neither of these men used the muscular body one hour out of the twenty-four; both burned the nerve-candle to the vanishing-point. Neither knew the meaning of mental or digestive rest. The newspaper diagnosis was, of course, "heart disease."

When shall we learn that, the nervous and digestive systems are the universally overworked of the body? Our digestive apparatus, which is really governed by the nerves, needs rest, must have it; otherwise, food swallowed is absorbed without digesting, hence is at once poisonous to the heart and brain. A spurt of protracted overmental-work, and, the curtain goes down. Heart-disease!!!

Some men practically never allow the nervous system to rest; especially is this true of the more brilliant of men and women. They love work—revel in accomplishment, and—die before their time. Eating too much and toiling with the brain incessantly, affords the most certain passport to the great beyond.

The average worker, whether with brain or brawn, invariably receives ample warning of the danger ahead; a nervous system that will stand six hours of activity, will crack at ten or twelve. The heart is driven and regulated by nerves—the digestive system also is activated by the same force. If all the nerve energy is expended on the business, there will be a deficiency left to digest the pork-and-beans, and to drive the heart.

Heavy Rain Covers Most of West Texas

Although somewhat spotted, rains which fell over a large portion of West Texas Monday will be of great benefit to ranges.

The fall was heaviest to the north, between 3 and 5 inches being reported in the Barnhart area and ranches in the northern part of the county.

More than an inch of moisture was recorded here, and reported from towns over West Texas indicated that the rain was about that heavy throughout the area.

Matsuda has just completed a tour to California and points north from which he returns with more prestige than ever. It is expected that he and the Chicago Iron Man will put up an interesting bout Saturday night since Reid has returned from a similar trip east.

WHO'S WHO

Jeanne Beaufort, beautiful daughter of a Virginia tobacco planter, brave and daring, has lost her father and two brothers in the Civil War. She swears to get revenge. At the time she is living with her aunt.

Mrs. Wetmore, in the South. Jeanne lays her plans and goes to her Aunt Delier's in Richmond, Va.

Henry Morgan a debonaire young officer, who falls in love with her. She repels his advances. She is engaged as a spy for the Confederate government and urged to use all the wiles and power of her sex to find one.

Parson Kennedy and bring him within the Southern lines. It is planned to have her make headquarters with a family of southern sympathy in Washington. Jeanne learns telegraphy and other technical branches of her new calling. And clad as a boy often in the Blue of the North, she makes her way through the lines. She learns of an organization of eleven Union spies and of their meeting place in a Richmond loft. As she overhears the leaders address the masked men seated about a table Jeanne is discovered and dragged into the room. The leader unmasks as he threatens her with death, but is dissuaded from shooting her by the suggestion from one of the men that one of their number marry her. She consents and when one of the masked men volunteers to marry she refuses and claims the right to choose.

She rejects the volunteer and selects the one who suggested the marriage. Him she names "Irony." To her surprise the leader is no other than Parson John Kennedy.

He performs the ceremony. "Irony" says his name is among those who sign as witnesses. (Just before leaving her bound), in the following code form:

John Kennedy, D. D.	H-RD-M
C-WG-L	P-PA-G
A-NK-S	J-NK-F

Later Jeanne learns that Morgan is a spy.

Chapter VIII

Supposing it were Armitage, thought Jeanne; to act would be to send to his death the man she loved. She could not do it, a thousand times no!

She knew no sleep that night. She spent the hours listening, listening. She imagined footsteps; she saw Armitage running the gauntlet of fire; she saw him totter and fall. What was that?

In the garret above something heavy clattered to the floor. She waited, holding her breath. She made up her mind quickly.

If this man proved to be Armitage he should go free; her debt would be paid. If it was a man she did not know, well, he would have to pay the penalty.

She tiptoed to the door silently, and waited. A stair creaked. He was coming down. Fearlessly she seized the knob and flung the door open.

A man's body plunged against hers. Her revolver exploded harmlessly.

The spy dashed Jeanne aside, leaped through a window and was gone.

A shot broke the silence; then came another shot, followed by warning cries. A third shot seemed to settle things for after that all became oppressively still.

Jeanne, a hand pressing down the thundering throbs of her heart ran downstairs. She had not seen the man's face!

In the garden she espied a group of officers and men looking down at something which lay quietly at their feet.

"What has happened?"

"The Yankee, Miss Beaufort," said one of the officers. "We got him on the third shot." He held the lantern close to the fallen man's face.

The stab of joy drove a sigh past her lips. It was not Armitage. Yet the face was oddly familiar to her. Where had she seen it before? Yes, yes, now she remembered. It was a civilian Morgan had been forced through politeness to introduce to her one night in Richmond.

"We found this in his pocket, Miss Beaufort."

It was her own photograph, the one that stood on the dresser. She was puzzled. They showed her a dispatch in a cipher that was as much of a mystery to her as to the others. But the four capital letters at the bottom of the dispatch—G-RD-A! One of the eleven.

Jeanne rolled back the sleeve of the man's left arm. There it was the dreaded unforgettable circle with the strange device in the center.

She was free! For there at her feet, lay the man with the devil's banter, the man she had married.

Parson Kennedy leaped against the side of the window and looked across Pennsylvania Avenue. The man at the desk asked:

"Are you keeping an eye on Armitage?"

"I am keeping two eyes on him. He doesn't keep many secrets from me."

"Could you put a hand on Morgan's shoulder?"

"You mean arrest him for a spy? As easily as that," said Kennedy, snapping his fingers. "But if we spring him, we lose a more valuable quarry. Armstrong could have handled them both, poor lad."

"Do you know where Armstrong died?"

"Somewhere inside the enemy's lines."

"At the home of Jeanne Beaufort," said the other gazing curiously at the broad back of his friend.

Kennedy whirled around. "Jeanne Beaufort's home? G-RD-A died there? They are paring us down. Fogarty has been hanged, and Schmidt; Henderson has died of exposure; Skinner has been shot; and now comes Armstrong. And you tell me he died at Jeanne Beaufort's?"

"You say that Armitage has no secrets from you?" asked the man at the desk.

"I repeat it."

"Who is Alice Trent?"

"Alice Trent?" Kennedy blinked. "Why, so far as I know, she is a young woman from Baltimore, at present living with the Caldwells, a family inclined to sit on the fence. The Trents are of an old stock in Baltimore, of established loyalty."

"Armitage calls there quite frequently."

"What of it?"

"Well, Morgan has called two or three times."

"Morgan goes everywhere."

"We are laying a trap for Morgan today, merely to open Senator X's eyes. The President is to entrust the care of Senator X some valuable papers a four. We have spread the rumor quietly that these documents relate to the munition stores. You will escort the messenger from the White House to the Senator's. Morgan is his private secretary, you know."

Kennedy began to rub his palms together in anticipation. "Morgan knows the combination to the Senator's dispatch box. But if those are bogus dispatches, we'll lose him."

"That's exactly what we wish to do. We want him out of the Senator's house, in the open. There are lots of men who'd be happy if a scandal popped up in the Senator's home. If the documents do what we hope they will, Morgan will never cross the Senator's threshold again. Parson, those documents are his indictment. That's the joke. If he purloins them and reads, he'll go into hiding; but he will not leave Washington at this time. If he doesn't go into the dispatch box, then we'll have to try some other method."

"You are taking great risks," grumbled Kennedy.

"Sooner or later, he'll hang. Go to Baltimore to-morrow. Come back as soon as you can. For Armitage's sake I hope there's nothing off-color, I'm sure that the boy is innocent. Ordinarily it would be water off a duck's back. But he's under a cloud. And if you warn him, there'll be trouble for you."

"I'll not warn him. But if Morgan succeeds in getting South, I'll never forgive you."

"Rest easy on that score. That's all."

Kennedy went away somewhat disturbed. What new coil had the boy sprung about his feet?

Morgan left Senator X's at ten o'clock in the evening. The Senator saw him to the door. Immediately Morgan returned through the garden window which he had left open and was in the act of lifting the lid of the dispatch box when the portiers rattled on the poles and the Senator himself, with candle in hand, appeared.

Morgan sprang, bore the elder backward, toppled him to the floor bundled the dispatches into his pocket, and ran all the way to his lodgings. There he burned what papers he had, saving only his various passes and fled to another part of the town.

The room he entered was rather bare. He lighted the candle and placed the sealed document before him. One by one he broke the seals. He stared entranced. Suddenly he jumped to his feet, furious.

Foiled, tricked! He swore. He ripped these cynical indictments into tatters. They had played with him, Henry Morgan, as they would have played with a tyro.

He laughed shortly. Clever, devilishly clever! They had gotten rid of him without dragging the Senator through the mire of a political scandal, a thing every sympathizer would have hailed with delight.

"Devil take them all! Well, the game's up. But Parson Kennedy, and you, John Armitage, watch out. I'm a masterless man from now on. I'll never leave Washington until I see you both dead! Jeanne Beaufort is mine, mine!"

He rolled up his sleeve and stared at the symbol on his forearm. He laughed again as he recalled a night he had entered Jeanne's room and stuffed the little note in the side of her mirror. If only he could get hold of that certificate to see if she had written her name there!

Next day Morgan recounted to Jeanne the trickery which had brought about his downfall, and he was keen for reprisal. He must now remain in hiding, but he would manage to keep in communication with her. Besides, he had some news for her he could not put on paper.

He was determined to attack Parson Kenney first. And this fell in with Jeanne's plans agreeably. Parson Kennedy knew, and torture should wrest the secret from him.

When Parson Kennedy got out of bed the next morning he found an interesting note under his door sill. He was a wise old hawk, for he saw through the trap at once. "Call at Number Nine Black St. to-night at ten if you would learn the truth about Jeanne Beaufort."

"Humph! This smells strongly of my old friend, Morgan. We've nipped his claws, but we must draw his teeth to be rid of him."

He found Captain Armitage reading a letter identically the same as his own.

"It's a trap, son—plain as day."

"But suppose we take a look at it?" suggested Armitage.

"All right. We'll go to Number Nine to-night. Forewarned is forearmed. I'm kind of curious myself. If the house doesn't look right, why, we can shy off."

The block in which Number Nine was situated was practically deserted.

Kennedy mounted the steps and rang the bell. Then things began to happen. Men dashed out of the door, and came pouring from the alley. By their sudden and unexpected violence, they toppled Kennedy and Armitage to the sidewalk.

Neither had the slightest chance to defend himself.

They were swiftly bound and gagged, bundled roughly into an evil smelling hack and driven away. An hour brought them to the

SERVICE

It's one thing to buy goods at wholesale, sell them at retail and pocket the profit, and another to throw in a liberal portion of service in the deal.

We could have made out with our small store, but we could carry a larger variety of merchandise and display it more conveniently for customers in larger quarters, consequently we spent several hundred dollars enlarging our store in order to improve our service.

We were getting along fine with our small oven, but we can give better service with a larger one. Therefore, we are spending several hundred more in installing the very latest improved type of bakery oven, several times larger than the old one.

We can make more money on retail goods than on wholesale, but many Crockett County ranchers prefer to buy wholesale, therefore, we installed a stock of wholesale groceries, thus affording considerable saving to our customers who are in position to handle groceries in wholesale lots.

We might send our customers elsewhere to get their feedstuffs, but we can better serve them by handling it in our own warehouse. We might send our gasoline customers to other places to get air and water, but instead we furnish this free service here.

We might have let Ozona continue to get along with out a tourist camp, but we are now spending several hundred dollars more in building a modern camp house.

journey's end. They were lifted out. A cabin stood back of the road. They were carried inside and a glance was sufficient to acquaint them with the desperateness of their situation. Upon a table stood a keg of powder attached to which was a ten minute fuse.

Terror first, then death. The two men were placed in chairs and rebound so securely that they could move neither hand nor foot. The men who performed this service on completing their work, solemnly filed out.

Immediately Morgan stepped inside the cabin, stared at his victims gloomily for a space—then stepped over and relieved them of their gags.

"They say a prayer is more satisfactory if spoken aloud." Kennedy spat grimly. He had never asked for mercy; he never would.

"Are you going to light that fuse Morgan?" asked Armitage.

"I am."

There was no mockery in Morgan's eyes. He swore in his heart that this was war, that the death of these two men was a military necessity. But it was a ragged defense, and his conscience saw through the tatters and voiced the truth.

"This is not war; it is murder," said Armitage.

"Well, what is war but murder? You would have shot me quickly enough, I win. That's all." Kennedy ran his tongue across his battered lips.

"Will you ever be able to forget as after this night's work?" asked Armitage.

"You are in my way."

"It is an abominable crime you are about to commit. Take us out and shoot us if you will. But not this mutilation!"

"I do not care to have you found. I intend that you two shall vanish from the haunts of men. John Armitage, Parson Kennedy—adieu!"

He fired the fuse, placed the candle on the table, bowed and backed out of the cabin, closing the door gently.

Sugar Concern Wants 500 Head; Invited To Kerrville Sale

A new market for Texas sheep is poening up, it has been disclosed, with the inquiry from a Porto Rican sugar company for 500 Texas sheep for use in stocking the ranges there. A communication was recently received by Secretary N. W. Graham from the Central Aguirre Sugar Company, stating that they would shortly be in the market for 500 Texas sheep. The Porto Rican concern was invited to attend the sale at the annual convention of the association held in Kerrville July 19, 20 and 21. At that time the best sheep in Texas and from many northern states will be on exhibition and will be auctioned off.

Representatives of the Russian government are expected to be on hand for the sale and to purchase a large number of sheep for their country. The Armory Trading Corporation of New York, agents for the Russian government, is making arrangements for the representatives buying four while in this country. They have been advised to send the Russian buyers to the convention.

Smith Home Moved To Make Way For Utility Building

The first material evidence of the intention of the West Texas Utilities Company to extend its high line to Ozona and to erect an office building and ice plant here was given this week in preparations being made to move the home of Homer Smith from the lot across the street from the Wilson Motor Co., which the utilities purchased as a site for its building here.

Skids, jacks, chains and other house moving tools were placed on the scene early in the week and the house was being prepared for removal to a lot which Mr. Smith has purchased from Joe W. North in the southeast portion of town.

The utilities company plans to erect a handsome building building on this lot, of Spanish architecture similar in general plan to the company's beautiful building in San Angelo, according to company engineers who have been here lately. A ten-ton capacity ice plant is to be installed in the new building, the company having included the ice distributing franchise in the purchase of the local plant.

FACES LIQUOR CHARGES

Conrado Gonzales was bound over under $500 bond to await the action of the grand jury at an examining trial held Wednesday morning before Justice of the Peace Nelson Hawkins. The Mexican is charged with possessing liquor. He was arrested Monday night by Sheriff Augustine in a raid in "Mexico". Approximately 300 bottles of beer were seized in the raids, 102 of them said to have been found in Gonzales' possession. Several others were arrested but later released.

Miss Louise Coates and P. C. Coates have returned from a visit with relatives in Galveston.

The regular meeting of the O. E. S will take place on the 3rd Tuesday night of each month instead of the Tuesday night on or before the full moon as formerly.

Sharkey Raps at Tunney's Door

He's A Rough, Tough, Fighting Man

Occasionally there shoots across the pugilistic skies a colorful fighter who crashes his way to the top—and in this day and age collects many clinkink shekles as he goes. They do not appear often, but when they do they often hold the attention of the fans through the sheer spectacular of their nessed it. It was in the days of "white hope" elimination to find an opponent for Jack Johnson. It was a desperate battle with Kauffman picked to win. By the end of the sixth round the tall Kauffman was a battered mess. Flynn was fighting with the viciousness of a wild beast. He finally dropped Kauffman in the fifth—and in the next two rounds had the tottering Californian on the floor seven times—the last time, in the seventh, to stay. Then was witnessed a scene that virtually froze the fans in style. Usually each of these new stars is but, in a manner, the counterpart of some great ringman who has gone before.

Dempsey reminded of Jeffries; Tunney reminds of Corbett, etc. The new star now knocking at the champion's door is Jack Sharkey of Boston, who at this writing looms a worthy opponent for champion Gene Tunney.

Jack Sharkey is more or less of a newcomer to the rank and file of ring fans throughout the country. They know generally, that he has suddenly appeared on the scene—with the prostrate forms of the giant Harry Wills and Jim Maloney stretched prone on the canvas behind him. He battered his way past their defense and is now knocking at Tunney's door, and—in so doing he displayed a fighting form which caused old timers to gasp—and see in him the counterpart of a heavyweight who in his day was as colorful as any would care to look upon.

Jack Sharkey is "Fireman" Jim Flynn all over again. Those who ever saw the Pueblo heavyweight in action will recall a ferocious fighting man that thought tough, talked tough and fought tough.

In a Kansas City ring years ago Flynn fought Al Kauffman of San Francisco in a battle that will never be forgotten by those who wittheir seats. With Danny Shea tolling off the count over the senseless Kauffman—Flynn did an Indian war dance around the two—yelling in glee at the top of his voice until the count was finished Jack Sharkey displayed a viciousness in his five round knockout of Jim Maloney last week—which was Flynn all over again. There are those today who say Dempsey—and Tunney—may well consider the facts—before climbing thru the ropes with the new Boston Strongboy, Sharkey.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

Representative Butler chairman of the House and Naval affairs Committee recently asserted that the United States ought to build practically a new navy to cost more than $400,000,000. We are lagging steadily behind other nations and from being a long toward the front we have dropped to fourth place. This he holds to be a great danger. Just where the competing nations in armament are to stop he does not suggest. About the only way we can be made to stop it is for one nation that is undoubtedly strong to cease competing with the others. The danger in this course is that the others will take advantage of it. It will be looked upon as a trusting and lamblike sucker A lamb among the wolves, and the danger is that the other nations may eat it up. This is the favorite idea among a certain class of people, the idea that our own nation is trusting, gentle and kind and all other nations are evil-minded and grasping. There is no nation in the world in which this idea is not common. The notion is not peculiar to nations. There are many individuals who have it. Many people in a family refuse to be kind and gentle because they think the other members of the family will take advantage of them. It seems to be an absurd idea that was in the mind of Christ that the way to beget kind treatment on the part of others is to give them kind treatment first. Many people believe that doing unto others as they would have others do unto them is all right, but they neglect to add the corollary that you must do it first. It looks as if it would take some time yet to get the idea in the minds of people that the way to keep from being attacked by others is not to attack them and not to be able to attack them. The idea of the United States arming itself to the teeth is quite a popular one among certain classes. They do not take into account the utter futility if this program as proved during the late war and the fact that preparation for war in the way of armament can easily become an intolerable burden. The best way to get rid of war is deliberately to turn our back upon it and the only thing we should do in the way of armament is to so arrange our affairs that the forces of peace can be quickly mobilized in the event of national danger. Our Army and Navy, for instance, cannot be too big if they are all employed in constructive peace-time work and can easily be switched into war at short notice, but to maintain them as a force merely drilling and preparing to destroy is to subject ourselves to the old-world burden of armament.

About Your Health

ABOUT DIET.

If the American people haven't been "fed up" on diet, for the past decade, then there is nothing in what we see. Almost every magazine, newspaper, or other candidate for the patronage of the reading public, has a special dietary counsel, who dishes up the most fascinating technicalities about calories, proteins, carbohydrates, hydro-carbons, vitamins, A, B, and C. You are told that milk is all the food necessary for human life's sustenance; the working man knows better. You are told that any sort of meat is deadly, and must not be eaten, if you would live long. Some tell you that you should live on raw carrots, raw turnips, raw string beans, raw green corn—such advice is about as raw as the fellow who attempts to carry it out.

I know of an advertising charlatan who is reaping a financial harvest, using "the diet racket." People fall for it by the hundreds, and stay until they realize that they are stung. Folks, especially those of the simpler sort, say "I know there's a diet for every complaint, that'll cure it, if we could just find it out." Recently a "practical nurse" said to me: "I ain't a doctor, nor I ain't a graduate of any school, but I know that's the best treatment for this girl." "Please tell me how you know it." I asked; and for the life of her, she couldn't tell, not being a doctor nor a graduate nurse. A rough, Missouri farmer once told me that he cured himself of typhoid fever, by eating two cans of oysters, at one sitting—just after the doctor had called, and had told him he must not have solid food! And that farmer had about as much sense on dietary matters, as the ignoramus who tells you that a man can perform heavy manual labor on three quarts of milk a day. When shall common sense take the place of technical fooleries?

Dept. Of Vocational Agriculture Added To Local Hi School

A department of vocational education combined with the manual training department will be included in the curriculum of the Ozona High School during the 1927-28 session, according to John Bailey, president of the school board.

Provision for the new course of study was made at a meeting of the school board Tuesday when J. H. Bryson of Junction was employed as combination teacher of vocational agriculture and manual training.

Addition of the department of vocational agriculture will bring one-fourth of the instructor's salary in federal aid, it was declared and local authorities are hopeful that another fourth will be extended in state aid.

The new department will specialize in the study of livestock problems and agriculture.

All posts on the staff of teachers for next year have been filled, the president of the board reported. The only new teacher besides Mr. Bryson for next year will be Miss Emma Louise Garrett of Pittsburg, Texas, who will succeed Miss Florence Thompson as domestic economy teacher.

Misses Alice and Jean Henderson are home for the summer holidays. Miss Henderson has been attending S. M. U. and Miss Jean has been in WestMorland in San Antonio.

In Second Place School Contest

Miss Belva Ashcraft of Beards town, Ill., with a record of 11 years, 6 months of school attendance, without having missed a day of being tardy, this week jumped into second place. As announced last week, three pupils have been found with a record of 12 years perfect attendance, tying for first place.

The county commissioners court is sitting as a board of equalization this week.

To help you Select the Color

YOU want your home to reflect that feeling of "hominess." Harmonious colors will help do that.

There are a number of color groups that you can choose from on a Pee Gee Color Selector (which we will give you) which will quickly give you the desired effect.

The necessary Pee Gee Paints to carry out any one of these delightful color harmonies are available.

Never sacrifice paint quality for a temporary saving. No better paint is made than that bearing the Pee Gee label and the price is no higher than ordinary grades are sold for.

For Economical Transportation

Hour after Hour over any Road -and always in Comfort!

Scientifically balanced—swung low to the road—and with the body resting on chrome vanadium steel springs 88% as long as the wheelbase—the Most Beautiful Chevrolet provides the most astonishing riding and driving comfort ever offered in a low-priced car.

At every speed, up to wide open throttle, it holds the road with a surety that is a revelation—while rough stretches are negotiated in perfect comfort. A type of performance that will delight and amaze you!
