NATURE'S BALANCE.
THE PRICE FOR PICTURES.
EINSTEIN PUZZLE.
THE "FIVE AND TEN" LAW.

It is dangerous to interfere with nature's balance, one thing killing others, all kept in bounds.

Yakima County, Washington, offered a bounty to exterminate hawks and owls, and thousands were killed, to protect game birds and poultry.

Investigation by government experts, examining hawk and owl interiors, found that the birds lived on snakes, grasshoppers, field mice and ground squirrels, all dangerous to man—especially the ground squirrels that spread bubonic plague.

Yakima has withdrawn the bounty.

Kill off coyotes and foxes and you encourage a plague of field mice and jack rabbits. Montana made that discovery. The wise plan is to destroy the objectionable creatures by scientific means. Get rid of small vermin and the bigger nuisances will disappear.

When we see news films we rarely realize the risks run by cameramen. Those risks are great and occasionally death proves it.

At Daytona, Florida, Mr. Bible, trying for a new automobile speed record, was instantly killed when his car was going 202 miles an hour.

The crowd stood well back, watching the race, but Charles Traub, grinding a newsreel camera, knew it was his duty to show the machine, traveling four miles a minute, coming head-on. He stood with his camera planted slightly to one side of the straight course. When the driver lost control the car leaped and rolled.

It was too late for Traub to save himself. His dead body was laid out beside that of the driver.

That is the price paid sometimes for news pictures.

Professor Einstein, fifty years old, retired with his wife from public view, to think about relativity and the fourth dimension, and wonder why people make such a fuss over him.

He is especially amazed at the great interest in his discoveries in the United States. And he well may be. Not ten men in the United States understand them.

What Will Rogers calls the "Five and Ten prohibition law," five years in jail, and $10,000 fine went into effect in Chicago, and the first man caught in the Jones net was Carl Mahnke, a policeman. The Chicago federal district attorney expects 250 indictments per month.

The extent to which radio has transformed human life and enlarged its possibilities is understood as little as the importance of printing was understood when Gutenberg began setting up his movable type.

Printing opened all the knowledge of the world to everybody that could read.

Radio offers the speeches, music and information of the world to everybody able to listen.

Professor Card of Philadelphia, says women will soon wear dresses made of asbestos, fireproof, shiny as silk, more durable than any cloth, easily cleaned with a wet cloth, costing less than other materials.

All interesting, but women probably won't wear asbestos. Imitation pearls are as handsome as real pearls. Synthetic rubies and sapphires are made exactly like the real. But woman insists on having the real.

COUNTY MEET WINNERS ARE ANNOUNCED

DIVIDE LIT. HONORS

Better Attendance At Next Year's Meet Urged By Bishop

A full list of entries in most of the contests lent interest to the literary and track events in the Crockett County Interscholastic League meet held here last Saturday. The literary events were held in the high school building while the track meet was held at the fair grounds.

Earl Deland was high point man in the Senior track events with a total of 25½ points to his credit, according to the final tabulation of results in the meet. Raymond Swinney was second with 18½ points.

In the Junior track events, J. T. Patrick was high point man with a total of 21 points, Joe Friend emerging in second place with 15 points. The Literary events were equally divided.

"Many were on hand Saturday morning to hear the Literary events," Supt. John L. Bishop of the local public schools declared, "but many more should have been present. Every one should make an effort to help the meet in 1930 by being present at all of the events. Ozona and Crockett County has just as good talent as any of the other counties in this part of the state. Let us all get behind the winners and losers and encourage them to do more than ever before. All the participants in this year's meet worked hard and deserve a great deal of credit and praise for their efforts."

Meet Declaimers Entertain Lions

County Champions Are Guests Of Club At Monday Meet

The four champion declaimers of Crockett County were guests of the Ozona Lions Club at its regular meeting Monday and furnished the day's program by giving their winning declamations of the county meet Saturday.

Arthur Kyle, winner of the Senior boys declamation, Eugene Montgomery, Junior boys, Tommy Smith, Junior girls, and Ada Word, Senior girls, were the declamation champions who were guests of the Club. The talks of all the winners were excellent and were greatly enjoyed by the Lions.

Another entertainment feature of the program was a trumpet solo by J. H. Thornhill, local band director. Mr. Thornhill played a medley of southern and college airs which was greatly enjoyed.

The Club voted an appropriation of $50 to pay Jess Hancock, manager of the Hotel Dining room, for meals furnished members of the Old Spanish Trail Motorcade and also for the extra expense and trouble in preparation for the banquet, which was called off when the party failed to arrive.

Lamb Crop May Break Records

Ranchers Report High Percentage In Marking Now Under Way

Early reports from lamb marking indicate that the Crockett County lamb crop this year will be a record breaker.

An exceptionally mild winter, coupled with timely rains that kept the range in the best condition through the winter that it has been in years made conditions ideal for lambing and in addition to a big crop, ranchmen report that losses were unusually low this year.

Many ranchmen who have started marking have reported from 70 per cent among the young ewes to more than 100 per cent among the older ones. There has been very little feeding through the winter and sheep and goats throughout this entire section came through the winter with flying colors and with fair prospect of the greatest lamb crop Crockett County has ever produced.

Song Service Is Easter Feature

Members Of Music Club Stage Outdoor Song-Fest Sunday

Special Easter sermons and musical services in all the local churches followed by an outdoor Easter song service on the courthouse steps given by the Ozona Music Club featured the observance of Easter Sunday here.

The special outdoor song feast was announced in the churches Sunday morning and a big crowd was on hand at 6 o'clock Sunday evening, sitting in cars parked about the courthouse. A chorus of women's voices singing sacred songs with piano accompaniment made a splendid outdoor entertainment appropriate to the day. There were some twenty or more voices in the chorus, with Mrs. J. M. Dudley playing the piano accompaniment.

Sonora Nine Smothers Ozona Lions 23 to 7

Sonora High School's baseball aggregation turned a baseball game into a track meet on their home diamond last Friday when they defeated the Ozona High team 23 to 7. The locals used all available pitching talent in an effort to stem the tide but the Sonorans had the locals clearly out-classed.

A return game between the same teams has been matched for next Saturday on the Ozona diamond. The locals have been through some stiff practice since last week's game and expect to make a better showing here.

BASEBALL TO OCCUPY STAGE IN OZONA SOON

Giants Organizing Forces For Season Opening

J. I. HANCOCK MGR.

Bill Grimmer Named Captain; Practice Has Started

Spring is here. No more doubt about it.

The crack of horsehide and hickory and the old cry "Good eye, Ump," will soon be heard on the Ozona diamond as the veterans of last year's Giants and all available rookies are lining up for practice and getting the old batting eye trained in preparation for the opening game of the season, expected in the next few weeks.

This year's team will be managed by Jess Hancock, manager of the Hotel Ozona cafe, who has had many years experience as a baseball club manager. He was manager of the Miles Giants for four years and in that capacity developed one of the fastest teams of any small town in West Texas. Mr. Hancock was selected to manage the team at a recent organization meeting of players and fans. Bill Grimmer, veteran outfielder who will likely be shifted to an outfield position this year, was chosen as captain of the 1929 Giant aggregation.

Despite the fact that many veterans from last year's team will be absent from the line-up this year, Manager Hancock expects to develop a fast team that will hold the pace set by last year's nine if not better it. There is considerable new material showing up, he declared, and if the efforts that are now being made to bring in some additional hurling talent, the Giants will be able, with a little practice, to face the best of them.

Sam Cox is the only reliable moundsman left among the veterans. Sam took a preliminary workout in the recent game between a town team and the high school aggregation and showed in that fracas that he still can shoot them and that he can also get his eye on down the groove in the dark places when he is wielding the stick. With the development of a little more talent to assist him, Sam seems in fair shape to prove himself an appreciable cog in the Giant machine this year.

A few of the team aspirants were out for first practice Wednesday afternoon and it is planned to hold daily practice from now on. Teams in neighboring towns are already making efforts to match game with the locals and no trouble is expected in filling the season's schedule.

Ozona Specialty Shoppe In New Home

The Ozona Specialty Shoppe, under the management of Mrs. L. J. Kittle, opened last week in its new quarters in half of the building occupied by the Flowers Grocery. The shoppe in its new quarters is a handsome addition to that corner. An attractive show window has been arranged and the stock grouped in a beautiful display in the front.

The formal opening in the new home was held last Saturday and on that day many visited the shop to inspect the new line of spring merchandise on display. Mrs. Kittle has a three-year lease on the building.

Robt. Elledge returned Friday from San Antonio. He was accompanied as far as Del Rio by Mrs. Elledge who has just been released from a San Antonio hospital where she underwent an operation recently. She will spend a few days in Del Rio visiting her sister, Mrs. Virgil Oden. Mr. Elledge left Saturday for a visit in Marshall, Texas.

CLEAN UP! PAINT UP!

That's the great slogan of a great national movement: "Clean Up! Paint Up!"

One week in April is always put aside for this worthy cause. People the country over are urged to be clean—to brush away the cobwebs in their homes, in their offices, and in their minds.

Clean up and paint up that health may be the rule and not the exception.

Remember that cleanliness is next to Godliness.

National Clean-Up Paint-Up Week is promoted by a national organization that has nothing to sell—its aim is merely to promote greater cleanliness in towns and cities.

It is as high an aim as any organization can have—for cleanliness means health and happiness. And health and happiness are the twin blessings of life.

Clean Up! Paint Up! Not only your surroundings—give some thought, too, to the cleanliness of your mind and body.

BASEBALL TIME!

Some people call it Spring. We call it "Baseball Time."

It's marked by the growth of flowers, the songs of birds, and an irresistible impulse in every man's heart to "go out and do something."

Baseball Time is here!

The big teams are all ready for their battles. Men everywhere are already on their local diamonds, battling ball race away. They are doing something. Strengthening their muscles, intensifying their love of fair play. Playing.

Just watch the excitement! Again we are to hear of the exploits of the heroes of the diamond, again we are to thrill to the news of this and that home run.

Again our minds are to be given to the healthiest, happiest pastime yet invented by man. We are a nation that knows how to play—which is the same as saying that we know how to live.

The fellow who is always looking for something soft, will usually find it right under his hat.

Then there was the Scotchman who licked his glasses when he was through with his grapefruit.

Remember the steam kettle, although up to its neck in hot water, it continues to sing.

The only thing that gets hotter about the girls' dresses today is the distance to the ground.—Kitty Kat.

INSANITY

Judge: "But what evidence have you that these men are insane?"

Officer: "Well, your honor, the Scotchman was standing on the curb throwing handfuls of money into the street and the Jew was picking it up and giving it back to him."

DEVELOPMENT

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If you will have their children, come to the daily Bible readings, it will prove a greater blessing to them in other ways.

Love Is The Law of Heaven

John 3:16. For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.

John 13:34, 35. Jesus said: This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you. 35. Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. 14. Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you.

of Love be written by the Holy Spirit upon our hearts.

A GOOD RESOLUTION

My city is where my home is; where my business or job is located; where my wife is cast; where my children are educated; where my neighbors dwell and where my life is chiefly lived.

It is the home spot for me and mine.

My city has a right to my civic loyalty. It supports me and I must support it. My city wants my citizenship—not my parsimony; my friendship—not my selfishness; my cooperation—not my dissension; my sympathy—not my antagonism; my intelligent support, not thoughtless indifference.

My city supplies me with law and order, trade, friends, education, recreation and all rights of a freeborn American.

I should believe in my city and work for it. And I will—

First aid in entertaining!

GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator

First aid in entertaining, nowadays, is a General Electric Refrigerator. With it you can make those delicate, different salads and aspics and desserts. You can make them at your leisure—the same morning, or the day before, or whenever you wish. There's plenty of room to store them. There's the scientific cold to keep them completely fresh.

You will like the quietness and the simplicity of the General Electric Refrigerator. It never needs oiling. It hasn't a drain pipe or a belt or a fan. All its machinery is enclosed in the hermetically sealed casing mounted on top of the cabinet. And there is a remarkably large shelf area because the chilling chamber is so compact. All the models are up on legs, so the floor under them can easily be cleaned.

We want you to come in and see the various models. Only by studying them carefully can you fully realize how really revolutionary they are. And remember that they are made and guaranteed by General Electric.

Easy payments can be arranged, if you prefer.

THE DESIRE OF THE LOVER

By E. Phillips Oppenheim

ILLUSTRATED BY FRANK B. DRIEN

FOURTH INSTALLMENT

What Happened Before

Palermo is the scene. There an exile, Leonardo di Marioni, has come for love of Adrienne Cartuccio, who spurns him. He meets an Englishman, Lord St. Maurice, who falls in love with Adrienne on sight. Leonardo sees his sister Margarita, who tells him his love for Adrienne is hopeless. But he pleads with her to arrange an accidental meeting, to say farewell, between Adrienne and him.

She consents. That night the Englishman is informed of an attempt being made to carry off Signorina Cartuccio and Margarita, who are walking, by brigands employed by a rejected suitor, on a lonely road. He rushes to rescue the ladies.

Inflamed by the failure of his scheme, Leonardo sees Margarita who shows him she knows that he was the instigator of the attempted attack. The Englishman now sees Adrienne often. The Englishman, sitting in the hotel, finds a dagger at his feet. Looking up, he sees the Sicilian, and scents trouble. "We sat here a week ago," recalls Leonardo. Lord St. Maurice nods.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"It is well. It is of the events which have followed that night that I desire to speak, if you, Signor, will grant me a few moments of your time?"

"Certainly," the Englishman replied courteously. After all, perhaps the fellow did not mean to quarrel.

"I regret exceedingly having to trouble you, Signor, with a little personal history," the Sicilian continued. "I must tell you, at the commencement, that for five years I have been a suitor for the hand of the Signorina Adrienne Cartuccio, my cousin."

"Second cousin, I believe," Lord St. Maurice interposed.

The Sicilian waved his hand. It was of no consequence. "Certain political differences with the Imperial party at Rome," he continued, "culminated two years ago in my banishment from Italy and Sicily. You, I believe, Lord St. Maurice, are of ancient family, and it is possible that you may understand to some extent the bitterness of exile from a country and a home which has been the seat of my family for nearly a thousand years. Such a sentence is not banishment as the world understands it; it is a living death! But, Signor, it was not all. It was not even the worst. Alas, that I, a Marioni, should live to confess it! But to be parted from the woman I love was even a sorer trial. Yet I endured it. I endured it; hoping against hope for a recall. My sister and I were orphans. She made her home with the Signorina Cartuccio. Thus I had news of her continually. Sometimes my cousin herself wrote to me. It was these letters which preserved my reason, and consciously or unconsciously, they breathed to me ever of hope."

"Not Adrienne's, I'll swear," the Englishman muttered to himself. He was a true Briton, and there was plenty of dormant jealousy not very far from the surface. The Sicilian heard the words, and his eyes flashed.

"The Signorina Cartuccio, if you please, Signor," he remarked coldly. "We are in a public place."

Lord St. Maurice felt that he could afford to accept the rebuke, and he bowed his head.

"My remark was not intended to be audible!" he declared.

"For two years I bore with my wretched life," the Sicilian continued, "but at last my endurance came to an end. I determined to risk my liberty, that I might hear my fate from her own lips. I crossed the Alps without molestation, and even entered Rome. There I was watched, but not interfered with. The conclusion I came to was, that as long as I lived the life of an ordinary citizen, and showed no interest in politics, I was safe. I crossed to Palermo unharmed. I have seen the Signorina, and I have made my appeal."

The Englishman dropped his eyes and knocked the ash from his cigar. The fellow was coming to the point at last.

"You, Signor," the Sicilian continued, in a tone which, although it was no louder, seemed to gain in intensity from the smoldering passion underneath, "you, Signor, know what my answer was, for you were the cause. I have not told you this much of my story to win your pity; I simply tell it to make you understand something of the strength of my love for the Signorina. Do you think that, after what I have risked, after what I have suffered, that I shall stand aside, and see another man, an alien, take her from me? I come of a race, Signor, who are not used to see the women they love chosen for other men's wives. Have you ever heard of Count Hubert di Marioni, who, with seven hundred men, carried off a princess of Austria from her father's court, and brought her safely through Italy here to be one of the mothers of my race? It was five hundred years ago, and, among the ruins of ancient kingdoms, the Marionis have also fallen in estate. But the old spirit lingers. Lord St. Maurice, I am not a blood-thirsty man. I do not wish your life. Go back to your country, and choose for a bride one of her own daughters. Give up all thought of the Signorina Cartuccio, or, as surely as the moon yonder looks down upon you and me, I shall kill you."

Lord St. Maurice threw his cigar away and shrugged his shoulders. The affair was going to be serious, then.

"You must forgive me, Signor, if I do not quite follow you," he said slowly. "The custom in our countries doubtless differs. In England it is the lady who chooses, and it is considered—pardon me—ill-mannered for a rejected suitor to have anything more to say."

"As you remark, the ideas and customs of our countries differ," the Sicilian rejoined. "Here a nobleman of my descent would consider it an everlasting shame to stand quietly on one side, and see the woman whom he worshipped become the bride of another man, and that man an alien. He would be esteemed, and justly, a coward. Let us waste no more words, Signor. I have sought you to-night to put this matter plainly before you. Unless you leave this island, and give up your pretensions to the hand of the Signorina Cartuccio, you die. You have climbed for the last time to the Villa Fiolesse. Swear to go there no more; swear to leave this island before day breaks to-morrow, or your blood shall stain its shores. By the unbroken and sacred oath of a Marioni, I swear it!"

To Lord St. Maurice, the Sicilian's words and gestures seemed only grotesque. He looked at him a little contemptuously—a thin, shrunken-up figure, ghastly pale, and seeming all the thinner on account of his somber black attire. What a husband for Adrienne! How had he dared to love so magnificent a creature. The very idea of such a man threatening him seemed absurd to Lord St. Maurice, an athlete of public school and college renown, with muscles like iron, and the stature of a guardsman. He was not angry, and he had not a particle of fear, but his stock of patience was getting exhausted.

"How are you going to do the killing?" he asked. "Pardon my ignorance, but it is evidently one of the customs of the country which has not been explained to me. How do you manage it?"

"I should kill you in a duel!" the Sicilian answered. "It would be easily done."

The Englishman burst out laughing. It was too grotesque, almost like a huge joke.

"Damn you and your duels!" he said, rising to his feet, and towering over his companion. "Look here, Mr. di Marioni, I've listened to you seriously because I felt heartily sorry for you; but I've had enough of it. I don't know whether you understand the slang of my country. If you do, you'll understand what I mean when I tell you that you've been talking 'bally rot.' We may be a rough lot, we Englishmen, but we're not cowards, and no one but a coward would dream of giving a girl up for such a tissue of whimpers. Be a man, sir, and get over it, and look here—none of this sort of business!"

He drew the dagger from his breast pocket, and patted it. The Sicilian was speechless and livid with rage.

"You are a coward!" he hissed. "You shall fight with me!"

Rejuvenate Your Car for Spring and Summer.....

Guard Against Fixing Flat Tires on A Hot Summer Day. Get New Tires And Tubes.

The bane of all motorists is flat tires and more especially so is this true of Summer Driving. Nothing can mar a nice trip more quickly or more surely than to be driving along nicely and to have a tire blow out or hear the blump, blump, blump of one that has gone down gradually. The day is ruined. To prevent this happening to you, have your tires put on new or have them fixed.

If you are not contemplating buying a new car this year why not have your present one repainted. Besides adding much to the appearance of the car it increases its resale value considerably. Our modern Duco paint shop can do this for you at a reasonable cost. If the paint is still good let us make it look like new with genuine Duco Polish at a small cost.

A smooth running motor under the hood of your car will give you confidence in its ability to get you there and back. With a good mechanic to do the work, our service department can rejuvenate the motor—new rings, new spark plugs, valves ground and adjusted, etc.

Block 32, on what is now known as the El Masho Townsite (but which was formerly known as Grube) located in Crockett County, Texas, said Townsite covering part of Sections 71 and 72, I & G. N. Railway Company Surveys, more fully described in dedication recorded in Vol. 51, page 93 of the deed records of Crockett County, Texas, to which reference is made for all purposes, and plaintiff alleges that at the time of its sale of said goods, wares and merchandise to said

Cole and Brumme, the legal title to the real property above described was in defendants, George L. Thompson and wife, Ruby Thompson, but that defendants Cole and Brumme were by virtue of a contract, the exact terms of which are unknown to plaintiff, the owners of the improvements in the construction of which said material was used, and the defendants, M. R. Showalter and wife were the owners of an equitable interest in the surface rights of said real estate and the construction of said improvements thereon was in carrying out said contract, and with the full knowledge and acquiescence of defendants Thompson and wife and Showalter and wife. Plaintiff alleges the filing by it on the 30th day of April, 1928, of an affidavit duly recorded in Vol. 2, page 22 of the Mechanic Lien records of Crockett County, Texas, claiming a Mechanic's and Materialman's Lien against the real estate above described and the improvements located thereon, to secure the payment of the account sued on, and it also claims such a lien against the improvements under the Constitution of the State of Texas. Plaintiff alleges the sale of Lots 1 and 2 of the real estate in question by defendants, Thompson and wife to defendant, Mrs. Showalter, as shown by deed recorded in Vol.

27, page 250, of the deed records of Crockett County, Texas, but plaintiff alleges that deed is void for defective acknowledgment and that if it conveyed any title to said land or improvements, same is in all things subordinate to plaintiff's lien. Plaintiff further alleges that the various defendants to this cause are claiming right, titles and interests in the improvements and in the real estate hereinbefore described, the exact nature of which are unknown to plaintiff, but are by virtue of various affidavits enumerated in plaintiff's petition and of record in Crockett County, Texas, each of which plaintiff alleges is insufficient and void because not in the form nor filed in the manner by law required, and plaintiff asks that said affidavits be in all things cancelled and held for naught.

Plaintiff alleges that the improvements are capable of removal from the land without material injury thereto and it prays for a judgment against Cole and Brumme establishing the amount of its said debt and damage and for a foreclosure as against all the defendants of its lien on said land and improvements, or if no lien is found to exist against the real estate, then for a foreclosure of its lien on the improvements against all the defendants, and for an order of sale and for costs of Court and for general and special relief.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, and have you then and there this Writ, with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

GIVEN under my hand and seal of said Court at Office in the City of Ozona, this the 14th day of March, 1929.

"The Desperate Lover"

"That I won't," Lord St. Maurice answered good-humoredly. "Just take my advice. Make up your mind that we both can't have her, and she's chosen me, and come and give me your hand like a man. Think it over, now, before the morning. Good-night!"

The Sicilian sprang up, and looked rapidly around. At an adjoining table he recognized two men, and touched one on the shoulder.

"Signors!" he cried, "and you, Signor le Capitaine, pardon me if I ask you for your hearing for an instant. This gentleman here has insulted me, and declines to give me satisfaction. I have called him a coward and a rascal, and I repeat it. His name is Lord St. Maurice. If he forfeits his right to be considered a gentleman, I demand that his name be struck off the visitors' club."

The three men had risen to their feet. Two of them were gentlemen of the neighborhood with whom Lord St. Maurice had a bowing acquaintance. The third was a French officer. They looked inquiringly at Lord St. Maurice.

"It's quite true, gentlemen," he said with easy self-possession. "He's been calling me all the bad names under the sun, and I have declined to give him what he calls satisfaction. I haven't the least objection to your knowing it."

The two Palermians looked at one another doubtfully. The officer, giving his moustache a twist, stepped forward and bowed.

"Might we inquire your reasons for declining the duel?" he asked.

"Certainly," he answered. "In the first place, I am an officer in the service of Her Majesty the Queen, and duelling is strictly forbidden; in the second, Signor di Marioni is too excited to know what he is talking about."

"In England, Signor, your first objection is valid; here, it is scarcely so. As to the latter, Monsieur le Count seems now so perfectly composed. I am on the committee of the club, and I fear that I must erase your name if you persist in your refusal."

"I don't care two straws about your club," Lord St. Maurice answered carelessly. "As for the duel, I decline it, once and for all. We Englishmen have a code of honor of our own, and it is more to us than the custom of the countries which we chance to visit. I wish you good-night, gentlemen."

They fell back, impressed in spite of themselves by the coolness and hauteur of his words. Suddenly, with the swiftness of a tiger-cat, the Sicilian leaped forward and struck the Englishman on the cheek.

"Perhaps you will tell us all,

Signor, how the men of your country resent an insult such as that," he cried.

Every one turned round at the sound of the scuffle. The eyes of all were upon the Englishman, who Plaintiff alleges that on the 1st day of Jan. 1929 he was lawfully seized and possessed of Abstract

Suffers 20 Years; Then Finds Sargon

"I suffered from inactive liver for twenty years and about three years ago I became so horribly run-down I could not attend to my household duties without stopping to rest.

"I would have such severe pains in my stomach after meals that I would have to run for the soda box. Dieting did not help me, and even the best medicines I could buy did not reach my case.

"But Sargon went right to the root of my trouble without losing a minute's time. I never saw anything like it. I felt better without any ill effects. I am not the least bit nervous and I feel so well and strong that even after I get through with my housework I want to be up and on the go.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills completely overcame my liver trouble and constipation. They act so gently that they did not upset my system or make me the least bit sick.

"I know from experience that the Sargon treatment will end stomach and liver complaints. I feel just like I have been made all over like new, and I want all my friends to know what this grand medicine will do."

The above statement was made recently by Mrs. Julia Oak, well known and highly esteemed resident of R. F. D. 1, Box 157, San Antonio, whose motherly kindness has endeared her to hundreds of friends throughout her community. Sargon may be obtained in Ozona from the Ozona Drug Company.—Adv.

"King Of Kings" To Be Shown At Ozona Theatre Mon. & Tues.

The premier showing of Cecil B. De Mille's "The King of Kings" will take place at the Ozona Theatre Monday and Tuesday. This wonderful filmization of the life of Christ enlisted the energies of the De Mille organization for a year. It included the acting of hundreds of fine players and the construction of tremendous sets of Bible scenes such as has never before been attempted.

For the first time a picture producer has re-created the Temple at Jerusalem, the Palace of Herod and many other historical locales of the Gospel story. As an example of the physical elaborateness of the picture, it is worthy of mention that 10,000 objects or properties pertaining to the primitive Christian era were made for and used in the picture.

J. M. Baggett and daughter, Miss Beulah Baggett, left Friday for Abilene, returning Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cox and daughter, Lucy Lee, spent the week-end here visiting relatives.

"The Desperate Lover"

stood there, head and shoulders above all the crowd, with blazing eyes and pale cheeks. He was in a towering passion, but his voice never shook or faltered.

"You shall see for yourself, Signor!" he cried.

The Sicilian struggled, but he was like a child in the Englishman's arms. He had caught him up in a vice-like grasp, and held him high over the heads of the astonished onlookers. For a moment he seemed as though he were going to throw him right out of the restaurant on to the Marina, but at the last moment he changed his mind, and with a contemptuous gesture set him down in the midst of them, breathless and choking.

"You can send your seconds as soon as you like," he said shortly.

DON'T!—

Just think of your jeweler when you have the misfortune to break your watch. Come in, bring your rings, bar pins, etc., and let him see that the stones are secure in their settings. Also, if you have some pieces of jewelry that are out of date but have some nice stones in them, I will be glad to show you designs and give you an estimate on the cost of remodeling.

"Your Jeweler"
(At Smith Drug Store No. 1)

Good-evening, gentlemen."

They fell back before him like sheep, leaving a broad way right into the hotel, through which he passed, stern and self-possessed. The Sicilian watched him curiously, with twitching lips.

"There goes a brave man," whispered one of the Palermitans to the French officer. "But his days are numbered."

The Frenchman gazed at the Sicilian and nodded. There was death in his face.

Two men stood facing one another on a narrow belt of sand, stripped to the shirt, and with rapiers in their hands. One was the Sicilian, Leonardo di Marioni, the other the Englishman, Lord St. Maurice. Their attitude spoke for itself. They were about to fight for each other's life.

Here's One Thing You Can Bank On

If Goodyear Tires were not the best tire-buy for you—we wouldn't be recommending them.

We live in this town, and expect to be here for a long time.

Common sense tells us we can build our business only as we take care of our customers.

Selling a customer anything but the best is not taking care of him.

We know that—so we recommend Goodyear Tires.

They're the best tires—proved by the fact that more people ride on them than on any other kind.

That's why we handle them.
