SUSI'S AIRSHIP.
OTHER AIR NEWS.
$200,000,000 A YEAR.
THE KING RETURNS.

Susi, female gorilla, passenger on the Graf Zeppelin, interests the crowd more than the real lady passenger.

Froud man thinks, Poor Susi, she did not even know she was floating through the clouds in an airship. Man set her sailing, she had nothing to say about it.

What about us, Susi's second cousins? Not one in 10,000 white men realize that he is aloft in space, on an airship, the earth. God set us floating, as Susi's owners set her flying.

It's a wonderful airship that we inhabit, heavier than if made of solid steel, whirling round and round, its slowest speed 1,000 miles an hour, on its axis, its speed around the sun more than 1,500,000 miles a day, 60,000 miles an hour, 1,000 miles a minute.

Ours is a real airship going off through space, somewhere, with the sun. And we know and think as little about our real journey as Susi knew and thought about her trip. Don't despise Susi.

Human nature is fundamentally good with all its fighting and slaughtering. The French hesitated to let the Zeppelin fly over French territory—too many opportunities for taking photographs, useful in later wars, perhaps.

But when the big ship was in trouble, French soldiers were sent to help, French landing fields and hangars were offered, and at this hour, French and German mechanics are working side by side, putting the big dirigible in order.

Colonel Lindbergh announces regular mail service between New York and Buenos Aires in eighty hours. Later the line will be extended, and Lindbergh will start the line, as pilot, marriage, evidently, will not moderate his flying.

Those that oppose the debenture scheme for "farm relief" announce with horror that the "farm bounty plan" MIGHT cost the Treasury $200,000,000 a year. That wouldn't be much if it gave genuine farm relief.

The trouble is that the "debenture" or bounty plan would add many millions to profits of middlemen who do all the exporting and little if any of the bounty would reach the farmers.

King George has returned to his favorite residence, Windsor Castle, with years of life promised by doctors.

Loyal subjects turned out to cheer their king.

Newspapers print his picture headed "Long to Reign Over Us."

The idea that men do not want to be ruled is a mistake. To be ruled is exactly what they DO want, and to be freed from responsibility of self rule.

It is painful for a dog to walk on its hind legs, painful for human beings to rule themselves and think for themselves.

BARBEE-LUTHER WEDDING

C. W. Barbee, employed at the local station of the Humble Oil and Refining Company, and Miss Hazel Pauline Luther, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Luther of Barnhart, were united in marriage at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, Rev. W. R. Swinney officiating.

The young couple will make their home here, Mr. Barbee having just completed a new home on a lot south of the L. L. Bewley home.

M. M. FULMER RE-ELECTED LIONS HEAD

Ingham Says County Will Buy Site If One Available

10 ACRES SOUGHT

Lions Club Abandons Fencing Plan Pending Developments

M. M. Fulmer, first president of the Ozona Lions Club, was re-elected to a second term in that office at the regular meeting of the club Monday.

Rev. Fulmer was not present at the meeting when new officers were elected but he was interviewed last week by a nominating committee and consented to serve another year as head of the club. The re-election of Rev. Fulmer was highly gratifying to members of the club. The task of getting the club off to a good start and nursing it through its first year's existence rested largely on the president and it is the general opinion of club members and the town at large that his efforts in that direction were highly successful.

E. B. Lumpkin, who was appointed secretary of the club at the death of Nelson Hawkins, was re-elected to serve in that capacity for another year. Mr. Lumpkin's work has also been entirely satisfactory to the membership and his election was pleasing to the club.

Other officers elected for the coming year were as follows: Lion Tamer, Glenn Rutledge; Tail Twister, Hugh Childress, Jr.; First Vice President, W. R. Swinney; Second Vice President, Evert White; Third Vice President, J. H. Meredith; Directors, S. E. Couch, W. R. Baggett, George Harrell and Scott Peters.

Rev. J. H. Meredith was elected delegate to the International Lions Club convention to be held in Louisville in June, and a part of his expenses of the trip appropriated out of club funds.

James R. Kersey was elected to membership in the club. Mr. Kersey had applied for membership when the club was first organized, Secretary Lumpkin explained, but somehow his application had been sidetracked and was never submitted to the club.

The entertainment program for the day was furnished by Miss Mary Meredith and Mrs. G. Miller, Miss Meredith playing the violin with Mrs. Miller at the piano.

Ozona's New $40,000 Baptist Church

Robert Elledge Buried Here Sun.

Ozona Man Is Killed When Horse Falls Over Bluff

Robert Elledge, 30, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Elledge of Ozona and a son-in-law of R. J. Cooke of this city, was laid to rest in Cedar Hills Cemetery Sunday afternoon following funeral services held at the Baptist Church at 2:30 o'clock. Services at the church were conducted by the Rev. Joe Stephen of Sonora, who substituted in the local Baptist pulpit Sunday in the absence of Rev. M. M. Fulmer.

Young Elledge was killed Friday morning at 9 o'clock when his horse slipped and fell with him over a steep bluff in the Davis Mountains about 20 miles from Fort Davis. He was employed on the Jones ranch in that section trapping wild animals and working stock.

In company with a Mr. Putman and a boy about 12 years old, young Elledge had gone out early Friday morning with a pack of dogs hoping to jump a bear or panther in the wilder regions of that section. His wife, formerly Miss Clafin Cooke of Ozona, was in camp in the expedition.

On the side of a deep canyon the dogs bayed a coon and Elledge, thinking possibly it was a panther, went to the spot on his horse. One of the dogs was accidentally knocked over the bluff, some 40 feet high, and Robert started to ride his horse around the side of the incline to see about the injured dog. Thinking to give his horse a better footing, he urged the animal up on the rim rock a few feet higher but in making the jump the horse lost his footing and fell backwards. Elledge left the horse but fell directly under him and was crushed to death in the fall. He lived but a few minutes after his companions reached him.

The body was taken to Fort Davis where it was prepared for burial and shipped here.

Surviving are the widow, parents, two brothers and one sister.

Smallpox Case Is Under Quarantine

Sheriff Places Guards About Cloud Home To Prevent Spread

Strict quarantine is being maintained across the draw where one case of smallpox developed the first of the week, according to Dr. G. Miller, county health officer. A shift of guards has been furnished by the county to see that the quarantine regulations are not broken and no spread of the disease is anticipated.

Henry Cloud is the victim of the disease, Dr. Miller said, the case being an unusually light one. All other members of the family who have not had the disease have been vaccinated.

The disease is thought to have been brought here by the Maynard boy who was seriously ill here a few months ago and was cared for by the Lions Club, the county and local citizens.

House Cat Mothers Baby Skunk With Her Litter Of Kittens

A skunk by any other name smells the same, but a mother house cat with a good sized litter of kittens already on her hands can overlook this vice, especially while the skunk is yet too small to have attained the odoriferous stage.

At any rate a mother house cat belonging to Joe Oberkamp promptly adopted a proffered baby skunk and offers the little black and white striped orphan an equal chance with the rest of her brood at meal time without embarrassment, although she is subjected to the gaze of multitudes in the Oberkamp show window.

Stockman To Offer New Serial Story By Famous Humorist

Starting next week, a new serial story, "JINGLE BELLS" by Frank R. Adams, famous American humorist, will appear in the Ozona Stockman each week. "Jingle Bells" is a full length novel and is one of the funniest stories you ever read.

This story is different. It has the element of romance, it is thrilling and exciting and at the same time it has the added element of real humor. In fact, it is a humorous masterpiece, by the nationally famous author of "Meet The Prince," "The Place and the Girl," "A Stubborn Cinderella" and other novels and plays. Mr. Adams is one of the authors most in demand by the big-time magazines, and his stories are noted for their sprightliness and fast moving action.

Don't fail to start this story in next week's issue of The Stockman. You will enjoy every installment of it.

Couch To Celebrate Third Birthday With 2 Weeks Free Dancing

Mike Couch, southside grocer, cafe, tourist camp and bakery operator, is going to celebrate the third birthday of his business in Ozona with a two weeks' party beginning June 1.

Fifteen nights of free music and dancing will be the entertainment feature of the birthday party. Beginning Saturday night, June 1, the free music and dancing will continue two weeks. Music will be furnished by a big automatic combination radio and phonograph, a machine with a wonderful, full tone, with volume control. Dancing will be from 8:30 to 11 each night on the open-air concrete platform, and a loudspeaker will be arranged from the music-making machine.

"We realize that the people of Ozona have made it possible for us to do what we have done, and we are throwing this little free party to show our appreciation," Mr. Couch said.

John R. Weaver returned Monday from a trip to Dallas where he visited his mother, Mrs. A. C. Weaver.

Marquette To Be On Display Sat.

Wilson Motor Company To Show Latest Product Of Buick

The Marquette, the new six cylinder car produced by the Buick Motor Company will be offered to the public for the first time on Saturday, June 1st, by approximately four thousand Buick dealers throughout the country.

This new car is a tangible evidence that the field of automotive engineering is a dynamic one constantly striving to produce better transportation, to reduce ownership costs and to create new standards of performance, speed and beauty.

During the long months of development, Marquette cars have been driven over hundreds of thousands of miles in all kinds of weather to test the car's performance. The General Motors Proving Ground presenting all sorts of rough and smooth roads with all kinds of driving conditions—concrete, macadam, gravel, dirt, hills curves and straightways—was the scene of the grueling tests that prove the Marquette a car of brilliant performance.

The experiments with the car's ability as a hill climber well illustrate the severity of the tests to which the Buick engineers subjected their new product.

A five passenger, four door sedan carrying a total load of 450 pounds, was used to test the Marquette's hill climbing ability. This car was driven over a hill 1,400 feet long, one of the steepest on the Proving Grounds—a hill presenting a climb more severe than the average cross-country motorist encounters in a full season's driving.

The driver, under the critical supervision of the engineers, approached the foot of this grade at a crawling speed of five miles per hour. As the hill was actually encountered the engine was accelerated and, with a surge of power, the car swept upward at a rapidly increasing speed. As it crossed over the summit of the grade, 1,400

DUMP GROUND MAY BE MOVED FROM HIGHWAY

Consents To Serve Another Year As Club President

LUMPKIN IS SECY.

J. H. Meredith Named Delegate To International Meet

Removal of the dump ground from its present location to a permanent site away from any highway and easily accessible is the suggestion coming from the Commissioners Court as a substitute for the plan of moving the dump heap back from the highway and erecting a high board fence in front of it.

The Commissioners Court will buy a ten-acre tract suitable for a dumping ground at an attractive figure if one is available. E. B. Ingham, a member of the court, declared Tuesday at an informal conference of a committee from the Lions Club and H. L. Taylor, state highway maintenance superintendent for this district, who was here conferring with local people relative to elimination of the unsightly dump ground from the roadside.

"Two mistakes have already been made in the choice of a dump site," Mr. Ingham declared, "and I, and other members of the Commissioners Court are not in favor of making another mistake. When a new dump site is chosen it will be one that will permanently solve the problem. If a ten-acre tract can be found away from the highway and easily accessible, some arrangement will be made to keep a man in attendance at the ground at all times and keep it in order. Waste oil from the local garages will be available in quantities sufficient to burn all waste material that is inflammable and if this is done the dump will be much less offensive."

T. A. Kincaid volunteered a donation of $100 toward removal of the dump ground from its present location.

Acting on an offer from Mr. Taylor, made last week, to move the rubbish back several feet from the highway and to erect a high board fence along the highway in front of it, the Lions Club appointed a committee composed of A. W. Jones, Cal Word and Lee Wilson to get estimates on the cost of the lumber and such other data as would be necessary in carrying out the project.

Estimates from the lumber company on the cost of the lumber were given as around $150.

Following Mr. Ingham's declaration that the Commissioners Court is willing to aid in moving the dump site to the extent of paying a good price for ten acres of land, the Lions committee temporarily dropped the plan of taking advantage of Mr. Taylor's offer to erect the fence. The matter will be left up to the Commissioners Court to find out whether or not it will be able to secure a new site, with citizens committees from the Lions Club ready at all times to co-operate with the county in carrying out the project.

Mr. Taylor declared that he was ready and willing at all times to co-operate with the people of this county in this and any other projects where he could be of assistance. The highway crew while working near the present dump ground, ran a grader along the edge of the dump heap and moved the rubbish back out of the road some ten or twelve feet, improving its appearance some.

Miss Mary Meredith is spending the week visiting her parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Meredith. She will enter the University of Texas summer school on June 4. Rev. and Mrs. Meredith will accompany her to Austin to attend the Commencement Exercises at the University in Austin on June 3rd when Miss Ruth Meredith, another daughter, gets her degree from that institution.

A thankful heart is not only the greatest virtue, but parent of all other virtues. —Cicero.

The county has gone the Lions Club one better in solving the problem of the dump ground. With nothing better in sight, the Lions Club proposed to accept the offer of H. L. Taylor, State Highway road foreman, to push the dump heap back from the road and build a high board fence between it and the road, the highway crew to do the work free if the town and county would furnish the lumber. The matter was brought to the attention of Ben Ingham, a member of the Commissioners Court, and Mr. Ingham declared that the Commissioners Court was willing to expend a reasonable sum for purchase of a new site for the dump ground on a location away from any road and solve the problem permanently.

This method of procedure would be much more satisfactory from all angles than would the makeshift solution of fencing off the dump. If it is found impossible to secure a new site for the dump ground, however, the fence would be a considerable improvement over the present eyesore arrangement.

Mr. Ingham's suggestion carried a plan to employ one man as city scavenger and dump ground attendant. It would be the duty of this man to see that the dump ground were kept in order and that all trash that could be burned were thus disposed of. A ten-acre tract of ground cared for in this manner would serve as an adequate dump ground for Ozona for 25 years to come, it is believed.

The beautiful electric sign, purchased through popular subscriptions through the efforts of the Ozona Lions Club, will soon be in place on the southwest corner of the park. The sign is now under construction and will be shipped within the next few weeks. The committee in charge hopes to have the sign in place before the rodeo in July. "OZONA, BIGGEST LITTLE TOWN IN THE WORLD" is the wording on the sign. It will be a welcome beacon to visitors and a sign of the progressive spirit of Ozona people.

Since last a day was set aside in honor of departed soldiers, the ranks of the great war heroes have been thinned by the passing of Marshal Foch.

One of the great generals of all time, his brave spirit now belongs to eternity. Like many great generals, he espoused peace with all his might and main, yet proved a fierce and unrelenting warrior when struggling for a righteous cause. Unknown Soldier at the time of his death. Beautiful was the thought of saluting them both—one of the greatest generals, perhaps, of the World War; the other, unknown, obscure.

It is in that spirit that we must celebrate Decoration Day, reserving our honors not only for the famous and glorious leaders, but dividing them as well among the humblest of those who have served their people in a common cause.

Our tributes of gratitude and love must embrace all those who gave their lives—with equal emphasis for the rulers and ruled, the mighty and the humble, the known and unknown.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks to those kind friends who by their expressions of sympathy, beautiful floral offerings and kindly helping hands made our burden of grief easier to bear. Your kindness will always be remembered as a ray of sunshine and hope when the shadows hung low.

TWELFTH INSTALLMENT

His withered figure seemed to have gathered strength and dignity, and his appearance and tone, as he gazed scornfully down at the girl at his feet, was full of a strange dramatic force. Her heart sank as she listened to him. This was no idle, vulgar passion, no morbid craving for evil, which animated him. It was a purpose which had become hallowed to him; something which he had come to look upon as his sacred right. She understood how her drawing back must seem to him. As though a flash of light had laid bare his mind, she saw how weak, how pitifully weak, any words of hers must sound, so she was silent.

He had commenced walking up and down the room; and, watching him fearfully, she saw that his manner was gradually changing. The unnatural calm into which he had momentarily relapsed was leaving him, and he was becoming every moment, more and more excited. Fire flashed in his eyes, and he was muttering broken words and sentences to himself. "Once he raised his clasped hands to the roof in a threatening gesture, and in the act of doing so she saw the blue flash of a stiletto in his breast pocket. It frightened her, and she moved toward the door.

It seemed almost as though he read her purpose in her terror-stricken face, and it maddened him. He caught her by the wrist and thrust her back.

"You shall not leave this room, girl!" he cried. "Wait, and soon I will bring you news!"

She stood, still panting, overcome for a moment by the strength of his grip. Before she could recover herself, he had caught up his hat and was gone. Outside, she heard the sound of a key in the lock. She was a prisoner!

Her first thought was the window. Alas! it was too small even for her to get her head through.

She cried out. No one answered; there was no one to answer. She was alone in the cottage, and helpless, and away over the cliffs, toward Mallery Grange, she could see a small, dark figure walking steadily along, with bent head and swift steps. The cottage stood by itself, a mile from the village, and was approached only by a cliff path. She turned away from the window in despair. It seemed to her then that the time for her final sacrifice had, indeed, come.

It was a warm, drowsy morning, and the air which floated in through the open lattice window was heavy with the perfume of flowers, mingled with the faint ozone of the sea. Outside, the placid silence was broken only by the murmurous buzzing of insects and the soft lapping of the tide upon the shingly sands. Within the room, a pale-faced girl knelt upon the floor, with her long, slim fingers stretched upward, and the passionate despair of death in her cold, white features. The sunshine laughed upon her hair, and glanced around her, bathing her beautiful face in its fresh, bright glory. Was it an answer to her prayer, she wondered—her prayer for peace and forgiveness? Oh, that it might be so! God grant it!

There was no fear in her face, though only a moment before she had taken out and swallowed the contents of that little packet of poison which had burned in her bosom for those last few days. But there had been just one passing shade of bitterness. Her life had been so short, so joyless, until there had come to her that brief taste of wonderful, amazing happiness. She was young to die—to die with the delirium of that passionate joy still burning in her veins. "Yet, after all, it is best!" she whispered softly, at the end of that unspoken prayer; and with those words of calm resignation, a change crept softly in upon her face. It seemed almost as though, while yet on earth, there had come to her a touch of that exquisite spiritual beauty which follows only upon the extinction of all earthly passion, and the uplifting into a purer, sweeter life. And her eyes closed upon the sunlight, and darkness stole in upon her senses. She lay quite still upon the floor; but the smile still lingered upon her lips, making her face more lovely even in its cold repose than when the glow of youth and life had shone in her dark, clear eyes, and lent expression to her features. Saints like St. Francis of Assisi may die thus, but seldom women.

"Help! For God's sake, help!" A woman's cry of agony rang out upon the sweet morning stillness. Count Marioni, who had been hurrying on with downcast head, stood still in the cliff path and lifted his head. It was the woman whose memory he had cursed who stood before him—the woman on whom his vengeance was to fall.

Her face was as white as his own, and in the swiftness of her flight her hat had fallen away and her hair was streaming in the breeze. Yet in that moment of her awful fear she recognized him, and shrank back trembling, as though some unseen hand had palsied her tongue, and laid a cold weight upon her heart. They stood face to face, breathless and speechless. A host of forgotten sensations, kindled by her appearance, had leaped up within the Sicilian's heart. He had indeed loved this woman.

"Merciful God! to meet you here," she faltered. "You will help me? Oh, you will help me? My husband is being murdered there on the cliff by an escaped lunatic. Oh! Leonardo, save him, and you may strike me dead at your feet. It is I whom you should hate, not him. Oh, come! Come, or it will be too late!"

He stood quite still, looking at her seriously.

"And it is I to whom you dare to come for help—I whom you ask to save him—your husband? Adrienne, do you remember my words on the sands at Palermo?"

She wrung her hands, frantically imploring. "How can I remember anything—think of anything, now? For the love of God, help him," she begged, seizing his hand. "That was all so long ago. You would not have him killed here before my eyes? Come! Oh, do come!"

"Lead the way," he answered sternly. "Call your loudest for other help. I make no promise, but I will see this tragedy."

She ran back along the path, and he followed her. They turned suddenly an abrupt corner, and came upon two men locked in one another's arms, and swaying backward and forward upon the short green turf. The lunatic, an immense fellow, more than six feet high, was clutching his opponent's throat with his left hand, while with his right he brandished a long table-knife with keenly-sharpened edge. The madman's strength was more than human, and desperately though he had struggled, Lord St. Maurice was lying exhausted and overcome in his arms.

With a final effort he turned his head at the sound of footsteps, and saw them come—his wife and this shrunken little old man. But close at hand though they were, nothing could help him now. He saw the steel flashing in the sunlight, and he closed his eyes.

The knife descended, but Lord St. Maurice remained unharmed. With a swiftness which seemed almost incredible, the Sicilian had sprung between them, and the knife was quivering in his side. Behind, the lunatic was struggling helplessly in the grasp of three keepers.

There was a wild cry of horror from the Lady St. Maurice, a choking gasp of relief from her husband, and a horrid chuckle of triumph from the madman as he gazed upon his handiwork. But after that there was silence—a deep, awe-stricken silence—the silence of those who stand in the presence of death.

Count Marioni lay on the turf where he had sunk, very white and very still, with the blood dropping slowly from his wound upon the grass, and his eyes closed. At first they thought that he was already dead; but, as though aroused by Lady St. Maurice's broken sobs, he opened his eyes and looked up. His lips moved, and she stooped low down to catch the sound.

"Will you tell Margarita that this was best?" he faltered. "I have heard a whisper from over the sea, and—and the White Hyacinth forgives, I forgive. She will understand."

"Leonardo," she sobbed, "your vengeance—"

"This is my vengeance!" he said. "I have kept my oath!"

Then he closed his eyes, and a gray shade stole into his pallid face. A breeze sprung up from the sea, and the tall, blood-red poppies, which stood up all around him like a regiment of soldiers, bent their quivering heads till one or two of them actually touched his cheek. He did not move; he was dead.

Lord and Lady Lumley had lingered long in Rome, and now, on the eve of their departure, they had spent nearly the whole of a bright November afternoon buying curios of a wizened old dealer, whose shop they had found in one of the dark narrow streets at the back of the Piazza Angelo. Lady Lumley had taken up a curious old ring, and was examining it with a vague sense of familiarity.

"Ten pounds for that ring, my lady," the curio dealer remarked, "and it has a history. You will see that it bears the arms and motto of the Marionis, once the most powerful family in Sicily. I had it from the late Count himself."

Lady Lumley sank into the little chair by the counter, holding the ring tightly in her hand.

"Will you tell us the history?" she asked in a low tone.

The man hesitated. "If I do so," he said doubtfully, "will you promise to keep it absolutely secret?"

"Yes." "Well, then, I have told it to no one yet, but I will tell it to you. Many years ago I was a chemist, and among my customers was Count Leonardo di Marioni. His history was a very sad one, as doubtless you may have heard. When he was quite a young man he was arrested on some political charge, and imprisoned for five-and-twenty years—a cruel time. Well, scarcely more than twelve months ago he came to me here, so altered that I found it hard indeed to recognize him. Poor old gentleman, when he had talked for a while, I felt quite sure that his long confinement had affected his feet from the bottom, the car was going 25 miles per hour and steadily picking up.

Further tests prove that the Marquette not only has a powerful capacity to climb the steepest hills, but it has that unusual combination of abilities so long sought after by all automotive engineers—quick get-away, flashing speed and rugged power. No one achievement has been sacrificed at the cost of the other.

Under actual tests the car has consistently accelerated on a straight-away from 5 to 25 miles per hour in 8.8 seconds; from 10 miles per hour to 35 miles per hour in 6.3 seconds; from 19 to 40 miles per hour in 13.4 seconds and from 10 to 60 miles per hour in 31 seconds.

The results of these tests, together with a proven road speed well in the seventies, Buick officials say, create new standards of performance in a car of the weight and class of the Marquette.

Although priced within the reach of millions, only the finest proven materials have gone into the construction of this new car which is built to share in the prestige the Buick Motor Company has been accorded for the last quarter of a century.

Better Study

Dear Miss Vera,
I am engaged to a young man who seems to be very nice, and has always treated me with great respect. I love him dearly, and he tells me that he loves me. My love affair with him seems to be different from all others I have ever had although I am only seventeen years old. He is twenty-one. Do you suppose this is a "puppy love affair" or true love?

In the meantime I have planned to finish school and go to college, but he objects to this. He says it will be too long to wait. Which do you think is best for me to do, give him up and go to school, or do as he likes. Will he wait for me if he loves me truly?

PEGGY.

Dear Peggy, I think you should continue your studies. At least finish school even if you do not go to college. The young man, will, I believe wait for you if he really loves you.

You will have many advantages if you continue school and I am sure you can get the young man in question to realize that. Show him how sincere your desire for education is.

Explain to him that you feel you can be a better wife and mother if blessed with the advantages of a good general knowledge.

I'm sure if you reason with him, he will promise to wait for you. Do not be defiant about it, but hold your ground as well as you can and he may come around to your way of thinking.

A Tardy Correspondent

Dear Miss Vera,

I am a boy in my senior year in high school. I like a girl very much. Each time I write her she waits three or four weeks to answer, giving some foolish excuse.

What could you advise me to do? Do you think she cares very much for me? I do not love her enough ever to marry her.

A. M.

Dear A. M., you seem to be quite puzzled, but can't you stop to realize that many people always delay answering letters, and that this does not necessarily mean anything. Some people answer letters as soon as they get them, others keep putting off answering.

There is nothing about her delay in writing that should make you think she does not care for you; on the other hand, if you do not love the girl enough to marry her, and are positive of this, why be so concerned?

As long as you and she are just good friends, there is no reason why you cannot pardon a little tardiness in answering your letters.

mind, and his errand with me made me sure of it. He came to buy a celebrated poison which I used at one time to be secretly noted for, and I could tell from his manner that he wanted it for some fatal use. Well, I thought at first of refusing it altogether, but what was the use of that? Some one else would have sold him an equally powerful poison, and the mischief would be done all the same. So, after a little consideration, I made up quite an innocent powder, which might cause a little momentary faintness, but which could do no further harm, and I gave it to him as the real thing. I couldn't take money for doing a thing like that, so he pressed this ring upon me. You see, it really has a history."

Lord Lumley took his wife's hand and pressed it tenderly. In the deep gloom of the shop the curio dealer could not see the tears which glistened in her dark eyes.

"We will have the ring!" Lord Lumley staid, taking a note from his pocket-book and handing it across the counter.

The man held it up to the light. "One hundred pounds," he remarked. "I shall owe your lordship ninety."

Lord Lumley shook his head. "No, Signor Paschuli, you owe me nothing; it is I who owe you a wife. Come, Margharita, let us get out into the sunshine again."

And Signor Paschuli kept the not. But he has come to the conclusion that all Englishmen traveling on their honeymoon are mad.

THE END

BACK SEAT DRIVERS

At last there is a good word for the back-seat driver. The California State Railroad Commission comes out in her defense, declaring that most auto accidents occur when there are one or two in the car, and that fewest happen when there is a full complement of back-seat drivers. They deduce that the advice coming continually from the rear seat makes for safety if nothing else.

The commission is probably right. The railroad men are serious about this matter, of course, because they want the fewest possible damage suits brought against them for smashed autos. So let the back-seat driver have her meed of belated praise. As a matter of fact, most people are with her—when they ride in the back seat. It is really only the driver who has been impatient with her and intolerant. Let her keep up her good work—as long as the other fellow is driving.—The Pathfinder.

Is Now Preaching Good Sargon Did

"Since taking Sargon, I have felt in better health than in the last five years.

"My stomach was in such an upset condition that most everything I ate soured instead of digesting properly. I would have such bloating pains after each meal that I hated to eat. About twelve years ago I had a fall, injuring my hip and knee, and I have been troubled with rheumatism in my joints ever since.

"An inactive liver caused me to be constipated and I was continually taking laxatives. I had many a restless night from all this suffering and would be as tired in the mornings as though I had never gone to bed. Nothing I took helped me.

"Sargon made me feel like a different woman. My appetite has come back and I enjoy my meals. My stomach is soothed and my digestion improved so I don't suffer bad effects after eating. The rheumatism disappeared and I rest much better at night. I get up in the morning feeling refreshed and full of life and energy.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills toned up my liver and rid me of constipation in a natural manner. My whole system is reconditioned and filled with new health.

"Sargon has helped me so remarkably that I am preaching to all my friends about its benefits and will continue to praise this wonderful medicine every chance I get."

The above statement was made recently by Mrs. Lula E. Peterson, highly respected resident of 7814 Sherman St., Houston, Texas. Mrs. Peterson is a member of the Royal Neighbors society and also belongs to the Baptist church.

Sargon may be obtained in Ozona from the Ozona Drug Company. (Adv.)

Years of service in MODEL T FORDS

THE Model T was so strongly and sturdily built that it is still rendering reliable, economical service to motorists in every section of the country. Millions of these cars can be put in shape for two, three and five more years of use at very small cost.

So that you may have this work done economically and satisfactorily, the Ford Motor Company is still devoting a considerable section of its plants to the manufacture of Model T parts. It will continue to do so as long as they are needed by Model T owners. The following list gives the approximate labor charges for reconditioning the Model T Ford:—

Table with 2 columns: Part Name and Labor Charge. Categories include Engine, Rear System, Front System, and Chassis.

These prices are approximate and are for labor only, because the need and number of new parts depend on the condition of each car. The charge for these parts is low, however, because of the established Ford policy of manufacturing and selling at a small margin of profit.

Marquette ON DISPLAY SATURDAY JUNE 1ST

A NEW SIX AT A PRICE WITHIN THE REACH OF MILLIONS

On Saturday, Buick will present the new Marquette—designed by Buick engineers and built in Buick factories. Marketed as an additional member of the Buick family, it will in no way affect Buick itself. Buick will continue to express the policies that made it the leader of the fine car field for the past quarter-century. In the smart, comfortable bodies of the Marquette you will recognize the fine hand of Fisher design. In its balance and poise you will see experienced engineering. And in performance—that final standard by which all cars are judged—you will find the Marquette leading its price class by an impressive margin. Be on hand when this eventful new car is shown Saturday. See what a remarkable new automobile Buick has produced at a price within the reach of millions.

Not for long can we remain away from the subject of the hair and its most becoming arrangement. For in the summer—the barehead season—the coiffure forms a most important part of the picture.

One of the most attractive arrangements for summer is, of course, the feminized mode which is so delightful for the very young, charming for the not so young, and gracious indeed to the matron who is not young at all.

For the very young it can be achieved by soft waves, distractingly impudent tight curls, and even soft feminine bangs on the forehead arranged—if you please—with the skill and art of a master! For the matron chignon and transformation are very much the vogue.

One coiffure that is extremely attractive for the slender, youthful type is that wherein the hair is parted in the center, worn with bangs very slightly curving on the forehead and having a soft side wave terminating in blunt ends which are brought forward on the cheek. Pointed ends are slowly going out. General usage has killed them for the smart woman.

A second arrangement which is particularly good for wear with evening clothes is very much the same, except that the bangs are not in evidence, and a medium-sized chignon appears at the back.

A third feminine hair dress recalls the famous statue of Pallas Athene: Tiny tight round curls completely cover the back of the head. The sides are curled over—not under, which is demode—and are arranged with exact precision. In the coiffure the pointed back appears. Incidentally, it is an effect especially adapted to the smart woman with a rather long and slender neck.

Some Parisian masters choose to interpret the style with the loose cluster masses of ringlets which you may perhaps have seen in pictures of Empress Josephine. The fashion is distinctly Empire—and very feminine—but your hair must be shoulder length to achieve it.

An interesting although somewhat radical hair arrangement is already much seen in Paris and is beginning to take hold in New York and other cosmopolitan centers. It resembles nothing so much as a cock's comb of massed curls down the center of the head from front to back. I can hardly recommend this as a style for general use, but perhaps as an occasional evening coiffure it may be very effective.

Marquette Offered by Buick in Medium-Price Field

The Four Door Sedan is one of the six models comprising the new Marquette line just introduced by the Buick Motor Company

Buick dealers throughout the country today are displaying the Marquette, a new Six, produced and distributed by the Buick Motor Company. This car which will sell in the medium-price field, is offered in six models—a two-door sedan—a four-door sedan—a business coupe—sport coupe—a roadster and a touring car.

The Marquette is an exceptionally large car for its price class having a wheelbase of 114 inches. Prices on the car range from $2965 to $31035.

The six-cylinder L-head motor and the crankcase are cast in one integral unit. The engine has a bore and stroke of 3 1/4" by 4 3/4" and develops 67.5 maximum brake horsepower. Buick officials say the Marquette has remarkably quick acceleration and a maximum speed up in the seventies.

All models are designed along low swung rakish lines. The bodies are built by Fisher and finished in Duco color combinations that follow distinctive fashion trends. The radiator which is covered with a metal grille is deep with a narrow chromium plated rim that balances with the chromium plated hub caps. The wheels are sturdy and carry large section 28x5.25 balloon tires.

The Marquette has a new non-glare Fisher VV type windshield which sets at an angle of seven degrees from the perpendicular and eliminates all glare, whether from the rear, front or sides.

Other features embodied in the Marquette include large internal expanding Duo-Servo four wheel brakes, an adjustable steering wheel, adjustable driver's seat, built-in bumper mountings and all chromium plated outside hardware. The soft, but durable, mohair upholstery is waterproof, impregnated under a new process with a rubber solution.

A full pressure lubricating system is used on the new car insuring a constant flow of oil to main bearings, connecting rod bearings, cylinder walls, camshaft bearings and the timing chain. The water cooling system is thermostatically controlled and has ample capacity to keep the engine at normal temperatures under all driving conditions.

The tapered chassis is exceptionally sturdy and, together with the long semi-elliptic springs, gives the Marquette new qualities of restful, smooth riding at all road speeds.

Like a Flat Tire

A flat pocket-book is like a flat tire, practically useless when needed most.

A little care exercised in the way you spend your money will open your eyes to the fact that the other fellow is banking the money that you have spent needlessly.

Today is a good time to start saving

The Commissioners Court is again giving notice that Prairie Dogs in Crockett County must be exterminated. The County has on hand quite a quantity of strychnine purchased at wholesale prices and will turn it over to the taxpayers at cost to county. The county clerk has charge of it.

This notice is not meant to require operations at once, but merely as notice to all parties that the court will insist that every prairie dog in Crockett County be killed during the next six months.
